A 50-Star Banner on Flag DayWhile it is held unlikely Hawaii and Alaska will be granted statehood before June 14, there is a possibility Americans will be honoring a 50-star flag by Flag Day, 1950. In fact, E. L. Bartlett, congressional delegate from Alaska, already has presented President Truman with a 50-star American flag proposed in the event that the territories are granted statehood.The new banner has six rows of seven stars and one row with eight stars. Traditionally, the red stripesrepresent red-blooded American courage, the white stripes signify purity and honor and the blue background of the stars denotes true-blue loyalty.Historians doubt the legend that attributes the making of the first Stars and Stripes flag to Betsy Ross. It is probable, they agree, that Francis Hopkinson, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, designed the Stars and Stripes, which was authorized by congress in 1777.PERSONALSMr. and Mrs. Samuel Tush-ingham spent the week-end in Chi-

"IT'S ALL OVER"

Whew! We made it. That is, we hope we did.

Exams are over and now everyone is beginning to settle back to the normal life of just loafing. It seems that these last minutes for studying exams tire everyone.

Let's hope that next year we can come back to school with our minds made up to try hard and make the best grades we can. Let's not have any of this last minute studying before classes or exams. Just make up your mind to do your work faithfully, daily, and to do it well. If everybody tries, he can do it.

We hope you'll all be back next year, along with some new additions to our student body.

JOURNALISM DANCE

"Boy, did we have fun." Yes! that was the statement heard from the 60 students who attended the Journalism party which was held June 8. The purpose of this party was the same as that of the party held May 27. What is the purpose?? It's to send two girls to Michigan State to take a two-week course in journalism. The results, we hope, will be a better Hi-Light and a better yearbook. Chaperones were Mrs. Bert White, Miss Fox and Miss Scheil.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council will turn over $32.85 to the Junior class for money—they received for pencils and can't find. It is believed Student Council used the money, but the slip saying so was lost.

The Hi-Y was given permission to sell pop at the school picnic at seven cents a bottle.

Fine money collected during the year for overdue report cards will be used to buy prizes for the picnic today.

The Journalism club was given permission to sponsor a dance last Friday night, for the benefit of getting money to send representatives to Lansing. The use of the photograph is to be donated to them.

HI-Y

The Hi-Y members held a picnic at Clear Lake last Sunday. They all chipped in together and bought their lunch. The report was brought back to your inquiring reporter that they all had a very good time because they went "bachelor-like." How about that, girls??

Hi-Y is selling pop at the school picnic. John Popp is the sales manager.

Office-holding members for next year have been elected as follows: president, Coyne Hoday; vice-president, Arden Musbach; secretary, Dan Maroney; chaplain, David Myers. The treasurer has not as yet been appointed.

MOVIES

"America Marching On" and "Frontier of the Future" were the titles of the two movies shown to the Economics class on Tuesday, May 31. Both of these movies stressed opportunities in different jobs for the people in America. They also showed how more jobs are created through research.

JOURNALISM ELECTS

Nellie Marie Akkinson and Roslyn Reule were chosen by the Journalism club to represent the group at the Journalism Clinic at Michigan State College, June 20 to July 2.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

$511,179, the effect was to get $1 state bonus for every $2.50 of county taxes.

Getting "something for nothing" thus is the financial blessing conferred by Michigan's present hocus-pocus tax setup upon 49 counties.

The situation becomes more involved, politically at least, when the populous counties which pay the bulk of state taxes demand reapportionment in the legislature. Then you get a city vs. country argument. It was the so-called neglect of big cities which prompted Mayor George Welsh, Grand Rapids, to join forces with the Michigan Education Association for the diversion amendment victory.

Will the legislature receive credit or condemnation for refusal to enact new taxes at the 1949 session? The lengthening shadow of the coming state debt presents a challenge.

It has already provided Governor Williams with a new issue: "do-nothing" legislature lacks "guts" to avert a deficit.
