Michigan MIRROR

By Gene Allenman

During your leisure-time travel on Michigan state highways this summer, don't be surprised if you encounter miles of worn-out roads.

In fact, be surprised if you don't. The state 3-cent gasoline tax and other revenue sources afford about $85 million in road money for the fiscal year ending this June 30. That seems like a lot of money, but it really isn't so much, as Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler readily proves.

From this amount $700,000 are required for general administration, $5 million for engineering and supervision, $14 million for highway and bridge maintenance and operation, and $600,000 to cover operating loss of state ferries at the Straits of Mackinac, says Commissioner Ziegler.

This leaves a balance of only $15,750,000 of state funds for highway and bridge new construction and reconstruction, as well as to meet unforeseen emergencies not in our program such as the immediate loss of a bridge.

The legislature has approved a budget item of $2,500,000 to start construction of a double-ended ice-breaker ferry needed to handle adequately the increased volume across the Straits of Mackinac, both winter and summer. Money spent on construction of this ferry must also come out of the funds available for highway construction.

Lack of finances do not permit the state highway department to provide for normal depreciation of a trucking system of 9,400 miles. "We should be spending $25 million each year in order to take care of depreciation only," said Ziegler. "We still have about $160 million of highway deficiencies today. Finances have not been adequate."

From 1942 through 1945 regular highway construction was impossible because of war restrictions, but depreciation was stepped up by unprecedented traffic made necessary by wartime emergencies. Government statistics show that 75 per cent of all war production transportation in Michigan moved over Michigan highways.

In 1946, immediately after the war, we expected to get our post-war construction programs under way. We could not do so because of the impossibility of getting cement, steel, new equipment and other materials. Therefore, we had four years of wear and tear on five years when there was no new highway construction.

Cost of Michigan highway work has risen steadily from 1941 through the war years to 1945. Today our highway costs are 110 per cent above the costs of 1941. One dollar today purchases less than one-half what it did in 1941.

Two-lane 22-foot pavements, which carried traffic satisfactorily in 1941, are inadequate to handle properly and safely, the greatly increased volume of 1941-45 war-building these normal two-lane pavements, including preliminary grading and drainage structures, for from $40 to $45 thousand dollars per mile. A mile of the same volume of concrete pavement today, increased some 100 per cent, more heavily taxed to stand the heavier industrial traffic is costing about $100 thousand dollars per mile.

Ordinarily divided highways with a two-lane pavement in both directions cost about $200 thousand dollars or more per mile in a rural section. Because of the number of railroad and street grade separations and the high cost of necessary right-of-way in Detroit, the 10 and one-half mile section of the Ford and Lodge expressways we are now working on cost about 6 and one-half million dollars per mile. The state must pay $2 to make $1 of federal aid for right-of-way purchases.

There is inflation also in highway use. Passenger car traffic is up nearly 25 per cent compared with 1941; industrial traffic is up 50 per cent. More heavy trucks (Continued on page ten)

Bible School Classes Give Show Friday

The community vacation Bible school closed its two-week session with a demonstration program given in St. Paul's church hall Friday evening. Parents of the children taking part were guests. After the program, which was curtailed to some extent by the leaders because of the excessive heat, refreshments were served in the church dining room. Members of the women's organization of the three sponsoring churches served the home-made cake and coffee. The cakes had been donated by ladies of the three churches, the Methodist, Congregational and St. Paul's.

Donna Hinderer, who had been a helper in the primary department of the Bible school during the entire two weeks, welcomed the parents, and Phyllis Vogel, an other helper, conducted the program.

A free will offering of more than $23 was received, and this will be added to the amount raised by saving certain box-tops and soap wrappers. The entire amount will be used for a charity project of this first community vacation Bible school. People of the community, being asked to assist the children by saving these box-tops and soap wrappers and depositing them in boxes plainly marked and placed in stores in the business district.

Rev. W. H. Skentelbury, of the Congregational church, thanked the volunteers who had assisted with the vacation Bible school project, which was successful beyond any previous expectations. One hundred and ten children were enrolled in the three departments, kindergarten, primary, and junior. Experience this year with the kindergarten group, which had an exceptionally large enrollment, shows the need for separating this group into two-age groups another year. Mrs. Herbert Sanborn, the director, stated.

Mrs. Sanborn said she was very much pleased with the cooperation she received from the teachers and assistants and also the part-time specialized assistants, such as story-tellers, etc. She credits the success of the vacation Bible school project to their faithfulness and their willingness to give the necessary time and effort.

David Mohrlock Gets 21 Foxes in Past Eight Days

David Mohrlock has been carrying on a fox hunt on a grand scale the past week or so, and up until Tuesday had bagged 21, which he had taken in eight days. Among the 21 are three grown red foxes and 18 pups.

All were trapped on the John Hanna project property south and west of Chelsea, with the assistance of traps furnished by the state conservation department through Derrell Kniss, predatory animal control officer for this region.

Mr. Mohrlock said his success in trapping so many of the foxes could be credited to information in regard to their habits and placing of traps, etc., given him by Mr. Kniss.

The fox hunt, which is still going on, was undertaken by Mr. Mohrlock after neighboring farmers had complained that their poultry flocks were being raided.

Changes Made in Bus, Train Schedules

Several changes have been made in train schedules of the New York Central System, affecting Chelsea service.

The eastbound train, arriving here at 9:27 a.m., is now run daily including Sunday.

The westbound train formerly stopping here at 10:07 a.m., daily, now arrives here at that time on Sundays only. During the week this same train leaves Detroit daily at 2:30 p.m. and stops in Chelsea on signal to pick up and discharge passengers at 3:05 p.m.

During the week also, a train making local stops, leaves Detroit at 1:30 p.m., arriving here at 2:45 p.m.

The regular train leaving Detroit daily except Sunday at 5:35 p.m., and stopping here on signal to discharge passengers from Detroit, at 6:42, has not been changed.

Also remaining on its former schedule is the eastbound early morning train which stops in Chelsea on signal at 6:30 a.m. daily except Sunday, to pick up passengers for Detroit.

Changes have also been made in the bus schedules on the early morning runs.

The eastbound bus which formerly was due here at 6:45 a.m., now leaves here 11 minutes earlier, or at 6:34 a.m.

Instead of the two westbound buses leaving here at 7:04 a.m. and 8:16 a.m., there is now only one, which leaves here at 7:44 a.m.

Other runs during the day and evening have not been changed and follow the schedule as printed elsewhere in The Standard.

Cub Scout Committee Given Demonstration on Den Meetings

A meeting of Cub Scout Pack committee members and parents of Cub Scouts was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Sorensen Friday evening. Fourteen fathers and mothers were present and assisted two guests from Ann Arbor.

The latter were Joe Juncker, Scout Executive of the Western Lakes Region Boy Scout Council, and Mrs. Payton, a Den mother.

With Den mothers taking the part of Cub Scouts, Mrs. Payton demonstrated the method of conducting a Den meeting. She began with the opening ceremony and continued with a handicraft project, making hot plate table protectors. Closing ceremonies for the meeting were also demonstrated.

The next Pack committee meeting is to be held on July 30 with Mrs. Mildred Coffey in charge. The meeting will be in the form of a picnic.

Organization of dens is to take place until that date at which time they will be awarded. Mrs. Coffey is to award badges to Cub Scouts at the meeting.

Don Baldwin has been named as assistant Cubmaster. Willard Pearson is Cubmaster.

Fishermen Find Not Even Bait Necessary

Believe it or not, you don't have to have bait, hook or line to catch fish out at Crooked Lake. Just ask Vince Burg and his son, Jerome.

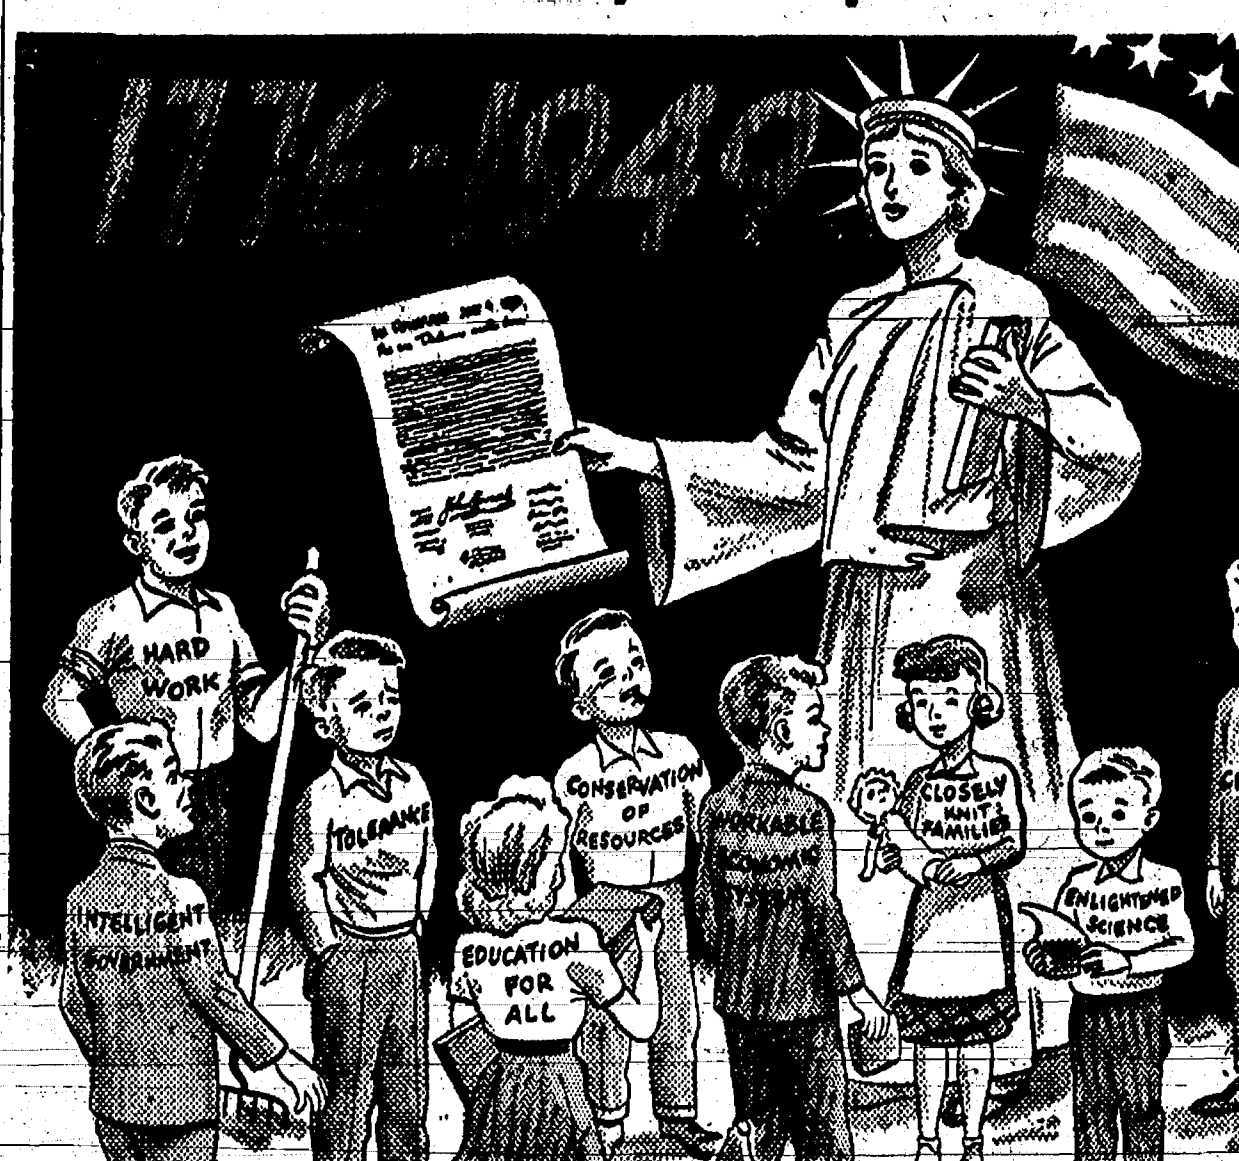

Early Monday morning, about 12:30, when Jerome and his dad were catching frogs around the edge of the lake, a pike jumped into the boat, much to the surprise of both frog catchers.

To top matters off, in about ten minutes another pike jumped into the boat to join the first one.

It surely was a night of surprises, as later on Jerome caught two frogs sitting in the groch of a bush three feet above the water.

Donkey Ball Game Here Next Week

The Donkey Ball game which is being sponsored by the Chelsea Kiwanis club and which will play one night only, Wednesday, July 6, at the Chelsea Athletic Field, is billed as the sensation of the nation. Proceeds from the game will be used to benefit the Kiwanis-sponsored Chelsea entry in the Junior Tri-County Baseball League, and other community enterprises of the club.

It promises to be an evening packed with plenty of laughs. All of the players except the pitcher and catcher are mounted on donkeys and they must ride from base to base. The donkeys used are Santa Fe bred burros which have been specially trained at the famous Green Valley farms. Each donkey has a mind of its own and all of them have different traits and characteristics so they have been named after famous personalities.

According to Miss Loyce Weigel, the counselor, who is here working with the Kiwanis club in organizing the event, the string of donkeys which will be used in the game here will arrive by truck with their trainer on the afternoon of the game and will be paraded through the business district prior to the game. You can distinguish the donkey named Dick Tracey by his jutting jaw; Mae West is the gal with a mind to have fun; and the game will be played as a hometown world series. Village President M. W. McClure will throw the first ball. Willard Guest will use a public address system to give a play-by-play description of the event so that it can be heard in all parts of the park.

The game will be played between a team from Cassidy Lake Technical school and a team to be made up of Kiwanis club members. Those on the Kiwanis team will be Charles Lanoster, Russell McLaughlin, John Alber, Albert Johnson, Parker Sharrard, Kenneth Runciman, John Keusch, Victor Kohman, Anton Nielsen, H. T. Moore, Ed Pengally, Clark Parker, and Carl Schneider.

Hits of poetry of melody for the evening promises to be the Lady home.

The children's summer reading program, arranged by the Chelsea Public Library, has been planned on the "Story Book Castle" which may be entered by following a plainly marked path leading all around and into it. The journey around the path is made by reading a certain number of books which allows the reader to move a step at a time closer to his goal inside the castle walls.

Oily Wastes Give Trouble in Sewage

Village Officials Remind Offenders of Ordinance in Effect

The dumping of industrial waste, such as oil, kerosene, gasoline, dry-cleaning fluids, etc., into the sanitary sewer outlets here is causing so much trouble at the sewage disposal plant that village officials have called attention to a village ordinance prohibiting such dumping. The ordinance provides a fine of $100 or imprisonment not to exceed 90 days, or both fine and imprisonment, for violation of the rules and regulations regarding material which may be dumped into the sewer.

The above-mentioned wastes interfere with the chemical processes of the disposal operations. Action of the oily wastes also destroys the packing in the pumps causing leakage, continued over a period of time, it is said, passage of such waste through the disposal plant could cause serious damage to the plant equipment necessitating costly repairs and replacements.

Attention has also been called to the provision of the ordinance which prohibits draining into the sanitary sewer system of surface or storm water, overflows from cisterns, water from eave troughs and roof water.

Leon Fox, manager of the plant, has called at industrial plants and garages at various times in regard to the dumping of these wastes. For a time after these calls, he said, an improvement was noted. Recently, however, the problem seems to be getting much worse. Indications are that action will be taken against violators of the ordinance if warnings against dumping of these wastes into the sewers is not heeded.

In his visits to garages Mr. Fox noted that most places were provided with receptacles to hold waste oils. It was his opinion, however, that gasoline and cleaning compounds used to wash parts was thoughtlessly poured into drains connected with the sanitary sewer system.

In the industrial plants provisions should be made for disposal and personnel should be instructed in proper dumping methods to prevent the waste oil and other harmful material from getting into the sanitary sewers, Mr. Fox suggested.

Painfully Injured in Fall from Load of Hay
Herman Gross was painfully injured Sunday afternoon when he fell from a load of hay while working with others on his farm on US-12. Members of his family believe he was overcome by the heat before he fell, as he remembers nothing of how the accident occurred. He fell off the truck load of hay while it was being driven to the barn and was not missed by his companions until they stopped the truck to unload it. Returning to the field in another truck, they found him just beginning to regain consciousness. He was taken to St. Joseph's Mercy hospital, Ann Arbor, by ambulance. Examination disclosed that an injury included a broken bone in his right forearm and a splintered bone in the upper arm, fractured ribs, concussion and back injuries.

THE GOLDEN HILLS

By Bruce Hill, Howell

ONCE in a dark and troubled time
When I saw no road ahead,
A wise and kindly counselor
Sat by my side and said:
"Each morning I drive down a valley
To get to my work, and I Can often see nothing at all for the fog
That blots out the earth and sky.
But I say to myself, 'I shall drive ahead,
Carefully, without sight.
For I know I shall come onto higher ground'
Where the hills are gold with light.
And I just keep on..."
Oh, who kind words
That fall on my heart that day,
Nothing can blot them from my mind.
Nothing can take them away,
And now when a thick fog shuts me in
To choke me and blind my eyes,
I am so glad for the hills ahead,
For the friend who was kind and wise!

Colon L. Schaibly, Kalamazoo Principal, Named as New President of MEA

Lansing—Colon L. Schaibly of Kalamazoo, today took office as president of the Michigan Education Association, succeeding Charles E. Brake of Plymouth. Mr. Schaibly is principal of the Roosevelt school in Kalamazoo, and has had more than 20 years of teaching experience in Michigan.

In a statement made on assuming office, Mr. Schaibly called attention to the fact that school-building needs remain the greatest barrier confronting education in Michigan today. Thousands of children, he said, are attending school in Michigan in buildings that are antiquated and unsafe, and thousands of others are attending only half-days, to make room for others. Many of these children have never attended school for a full day in their first eight years of school life.

"Three hundred millions of dollars will be required to meet the immediate needs of school building construction," Mr. Schaibly said, "while an additional 200 millions will be needed to complete the job of modernizing the school facilities for Michigan youth. The job cannot wait until construction costs come down; students are enrolled in our schools now, and thousands of five-year-olds will be waiting at the doors to enter when school opens in the fall."

The need for trained teachers for elementary grades is still acute, he said. The swollen enrollments in the elementary schools, caused by the increased birth-rate of the war years, is making demands upon the supply of elementary teachers, already inadequate, which will not be solved readily.

Mr. Schaibly is in New Hampshire this week, attending a conference of national leaders on the subject of teacher supply.

"In the coming year," Mr. Schaibly, "the Michigan Education Association will continue to seek improvement in the distribution of state school aid so as to obtain better equalization of educational opportunities for Michigan's school children. A study of all the special appropriations for education will be undertaken in an effort to streamline and simplify the formula for distribution.

The same need for equalizing educational opportunity as exists among the various states of the nation, he said, exists among the various school districts in Michigan. It would appear that such equalization can be accomplished nationally only through Federal grants to the states, to be spent by them in improving their educational systems. To that end the Michigan Education Association is interested in the consideration of Federal Aid to education by the present Congress.

Mr. Schaibly has been associated with the Kalamazoo Public Schools since 1935. Before assuming his present position, he taught social studies in the junior high school. Before coming to Kalamazoo, Mr. Schaibly taught in the public schools at St. Johns. He got his elementary education in a rural school in Barry county, and was graduated from the Hastings High school.

He received his training for teaching at Western Michigan College, in Kalamazoo, earning the degree of Bachelor of Arts there. In 1938 he received the degree of Master of Arts from the University of Michigan. He has been invited to attend the Institute for Educational Leadership, to be held at the American University, Washington, D. C., in August.

Mr. Schaibly helped to organize, and was the first president of, the St. Johns teachers club. He has been president of the Kalamazoo teachers for two terms. He served three years on the Board of Directors of the Michigan Education Association and was its vice-president last year. He was chairman of Region Eight of the MEA in 1939, and chairman of the MEA Services committee in 1948.

Plant Poisoning of Animals
Over three dozen different plants are capable of poisoning farm animals. Since livestock usually cannot distinguish safe plants from harmful ones, watchfulness on the part of owners is essential. Arrow grass, cocklebur shoots, water hemlock, larkspur and loco weed are just a few of the many plants that cause huge losses to the livestock industry. Suspect plant poisoning whenever an apparently healthy animal develops convulsions, breathes fast and falls to the ground. At the first sign of trouble the entire herd should be moved to another pasture or lot and a diagnosis obtained without delay to determine the exact cause of the trouble. Once the cause is known, steps can be taken to protect the rest of the herd.

First Lawn Tennis Site
Famed Leamington spa, Warwick, England, claims to be the site of the first lawn tennis club in the world. Four keen pioneers, including one Spanish merchant, are said to have formed the club in 1873. Lawn tennis was introduced in Britain under the name of "pelota".

SHORT STORY

The Man For The Part

By STEPHEN CORBETT

I KNEW the moment that I saw him that he was the type. Just the man for the part of Steve the old hillbilly in the second act. As he trudged the street toward me I noted with satisfaction his matted grey whiskers, long, untamed hair, and the look of defiant misery in his eyes. He was the part to the life.

The part had given me considerable difficulty in filling. You see the whole plot revolves around this Steve although he appears but a few minutes in the second act. Steve must be a very real person, or the point of the play is lost. I'd turned down dozens of applicants, even Tommy Kingston, the best character man of them all. "I hated to refuse Kingston, on account of past associations. Besides, he needed the work. But this last bit of casting was very important to the success of what I believed to be a sure-fire hit.

Kingston had argued that the judicious use of make-up would supply me with Steve that even the author would recognize. But I'd told him I was too old a hand not to know the limitations of grease paint. My man must be true to life.

I was sure I'd found him. When the old man was a few paces from me I said: "Pardon me, but would you like to earn some money?" He stopped and stared at me in amazement. For a moment he couldn't speak, then words tumbled from his lips in desperate, guttural tones.

"Yes," he said, "I want money. Work any kind of work so long as it is honest, strong, sir. I do not tire easily and I have no other means of support."

"This will require no muscular exertion," I interrupted. "I want you for a play I'm producing."

"A play?" he repeated, puzzled. "I believe you're just the man for one of the parts. My office is nearby. If you'll come with me I'll try you out."

He seemed nervous when we entered my office. I suppose his realization that the hopeful search for work might have over made him tremble that way. Reaction, psychologists term it. When he was seated in the big arm chair opposite my desk I gave him a drink, a rare concession. He gulped it down.

"I THUMBED through the script and showed him the part he was to read. I'd expected to hear him go through it once, then to show him how to put more into it. But I found myself on the edge of my chair watching him intently. The man was living Steve, getting the utmost out of every phrase, giving each word its proper value.

Much History Made In July And August

More history seems to have been made during July and August than during any other two months in the calendar, judging from the chronology of historical dates and data of big, little and no significance:

Saturday, July 2—Continental Congress passed resolution, offered by Richard Henry Lee, declaring the United States to be independent, 1776.

Monday, July 4—Declaration of Independence, penned by Thomas

Jefferson, adopted by Continental Congress, 1776. Bank holiday in every state of the Union and in the District of Columbia, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands, Guatemala, Nicaragua and Panama Canal Zone.

Saturday, July 9—Independence Day for Argentina, that is, Sunday, July 10—Bastille Day in France, a national holiday celebrating storming of the Bastille, 1789.

Thursday, July 21—Belgian Independence Day, marking separation of Belgium and Holland, 1831.

Monday, July 25—Netherlands declares independence from Spain, 1813.

Tuesday, July 26—New York admitted to Union, 1788.

Thursday, July 28—Gen. San Martin declares Peru's independence from Spain.

Monday, August 1—Swiss Independence Day.

Friday, August 5—First atomic bomb dropped on Hiroshima, population 345,000, on this date in 1945 by U. S. air force. A second bomb was dropped five days later, on Nagasaki, population 243,000.

Saturday, August 6—Bolivia's Independence Day—a holiday celebrating partition from Peru in 1825.

Wednesday, August 10—Independence Day in Ecuador, marking first action for independence from Spain, 1809.

Sunday, August 14—Victory Day, marking surrender of Japanese to Allies, 1945.

Monday, August 23—Briham Young dies at Salt Lake City, 1877, leaving 17 widows and 47 children.

He finished reading and turned to me anxiously: "Did I do all right?"

"All right? Man you were perfect. The part is yours," and I meant it.

The occasion called for a celebration. After weeks of searching hotels, park benches and flop houses I'd found Steve. We drank to his success.

There were contract forms handy on my desk. I filled in a few spaces till I came to "salary." "The part pays $100 a week," I told him. "Please sign here."

He hesitated. Was this old fellow, half-tired, jobless, going to be difficult? He said, "It is this way. This acting I do better than anyone else."

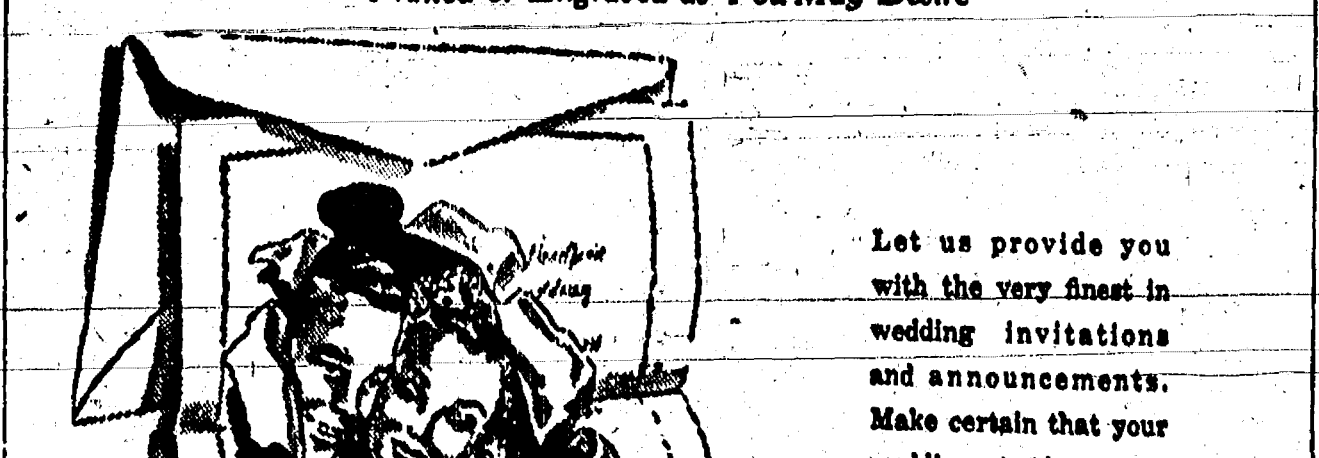

I needed impatiently. "Then should I not get more than you would ordinarily pay?"

I was getting sore even though there was a kind of logic to his argument. "Good heavens, man, this is just a bit part. A hundred dollars is high pay for such."

He remained obstinate. Maintaining that an artist such as he should receive more than a lesser person. I regretted now the brandy I'd given him. Taken on an empty stomach it had undoubtedly gone to his head. He agreed to accept $150. He signed and it occurred to me for the first time that I didn't know his name. I picked up his contract. Then I reached for his brandy bottle. I really needed it this time for the signature written in a familiar, round hand was "Thomas Kingston."

New Animal Repellent Will Lessen Free Meals

Animal wildlife will find free lunches fewer and farther between next year. A new product developed by the B. F. Goodrich chemical company and tested by the state of Maine fish and game department at its Swan Island wildlife refuge, may be just what farmers have been seeking.

At Swan Island, the new material has been sprayed on leafy crops by biologists who observe that it will not wash off and that a deer, after nipping at the treated leaves, will turn up his nose at future free meals. Certain types of insects also are discouraged by the action of the repellent, researchers revealed.

Crop damage by raising wild deer runs in excess of $150,000 annually in some districts of Maine and amounts to millions nationally. The search for satisfactory repellents has been a major project.

Beef Cattle Reported Liking Citrus Molasses

Beef cattle really go for citrus molasses.

Cattle having access to this feed not only have shown no hesitation about tapping it up from troughs, but have seemed to prefer it.

Cattlemen feeding the molasses are using a combination of trough and drum molasses for making the material available to their animals. The trough used is 30 inches wide and about 12 feet long.

its public reception made Pontiac history. Yet today, some six months later, it still continues to grow in public popularity and demand! For this extraordinary situation, there is a very simple and obvious reason. This big, distinctively styled beauty enables people to enjoy fine car ownership at a very low price.

fine car performance wherever you drive. Its handomely appointed Fisher body affords fine car spaciousness and fine car atmosphere. Because of the exclusive Travelux Ride, Pontiac comfort over every road is fine car comfort. Its fine car steering and general handling ease are the happy result of fine car engineering and design. As you have the right to expect of a fine car, Pontiac ownership carries with it the definite promise of satisfactory, dependable performance over the years.

Yet for all its fine car quality, Pontiac is not expensive. Few cars undersell it. In fact, it is America's lowest-priced straight eight. Buy this fine car at its very low price and you'll be very happy for a long, long time!

Plant Corn Thicker to Increase Per Acre Yields and Reduce Crop Production Costs

CHICAGO—If you want to get top possible corn yields this year, suit your rate of corn planting to the fertility potential of your soil, says
the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

Where the land is fertile and has a good moisture-holding capacity, you can average 14,000 stalks to the acre.
The ears will be smaller with such a planting rate, but the overall yield will be much higher.

The higher yield from more stalks per acre means a greater turnover of your soil's fertility. Higher yields will lower your production costs and increase your profits.

University of Minnesota agrono-mists found that 1/2-pound ears give the most corn per acre. They averaged ears of this size when they planted corn at the rate of 4 stalks to the hill in rows 40 by 40 inches.

BUSHEL-BOOSTING TOPSOIL... Missouri University agronomists proved crop-boosting worth of thick topsoil. Corn yield was only 30 bushels per acre on field with no topsoil (left), 50 bushels on one layer of topsoil (center) and 70 bushels when grown on double layer (right). Topsoil can be thickened on any farm by growing deep-rooted legumes in rotation and feeding them well with phosphate and potash fertilizer.

Two hundred thousand dollars has been collected by 4-H club members for overseas relief during the first two-year postwar period, according to a report issued by the cooperative extension service, United States department of agriculture. Another important contribution of 4-H club members lies in increasing the local food supply to free more food for export. For the two years 1946 and 1947, they produced 250,000 acres of gardens, raised 18 million head of poultry, 1,450,000 head of livestock, 72 million quarts of food, and dried, froze, or stored 25 mil-

Farm Outlook Bright For Coming 5 Years

U. S. Economists Show Optimism in Forecasts

In spite of some recent declines in farm prices, agricultural economists of the U. S. department of agriculture took an optimistic point of view at their recent outlook conference in Washington, D. C. In the past, these economists have confirmed their estimates of the outlook to the coming 12 months. This time they tried to look five years ahead. And, they decided that things look fairly good for the farmer for that long.

Of course, they made two basic assumptions that some people still are a little doubtful about—that a stable peace will be established and that there will be no serious de-

PURCHASING POWER

America's economic boom continues as buying power outpaces prices.

pression. If time should prove them wrong about one of the two, the effect may be drastic. And they hasten to point out that these are assumptions, not predictions.

They then go on to point out that the population will increase between one and two million persons a year until 1952; that industrial output per worker will increase, and that yields per acre and per livestock unit probably also will increase.

High incomes for industrial workers will mean a steady market for foodstuffs and clothing. High yield per worker might mean more stable prices for industrial goods.
Higher yields per acre and per animal unit will mean more economical production for the farmer.

All in all, this shapes up to just about the kind of five-year period that the farmers themselves would like to enjoy. High production at fair prices means a break for producers and consumers—a square deal for both.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Now I'm Going Back To High School!

When I saw lights burning in the High School auditorium last night, I looked in to see what went on. About twenty people were listening to Buzz Ellis, the electrician, talk about television.

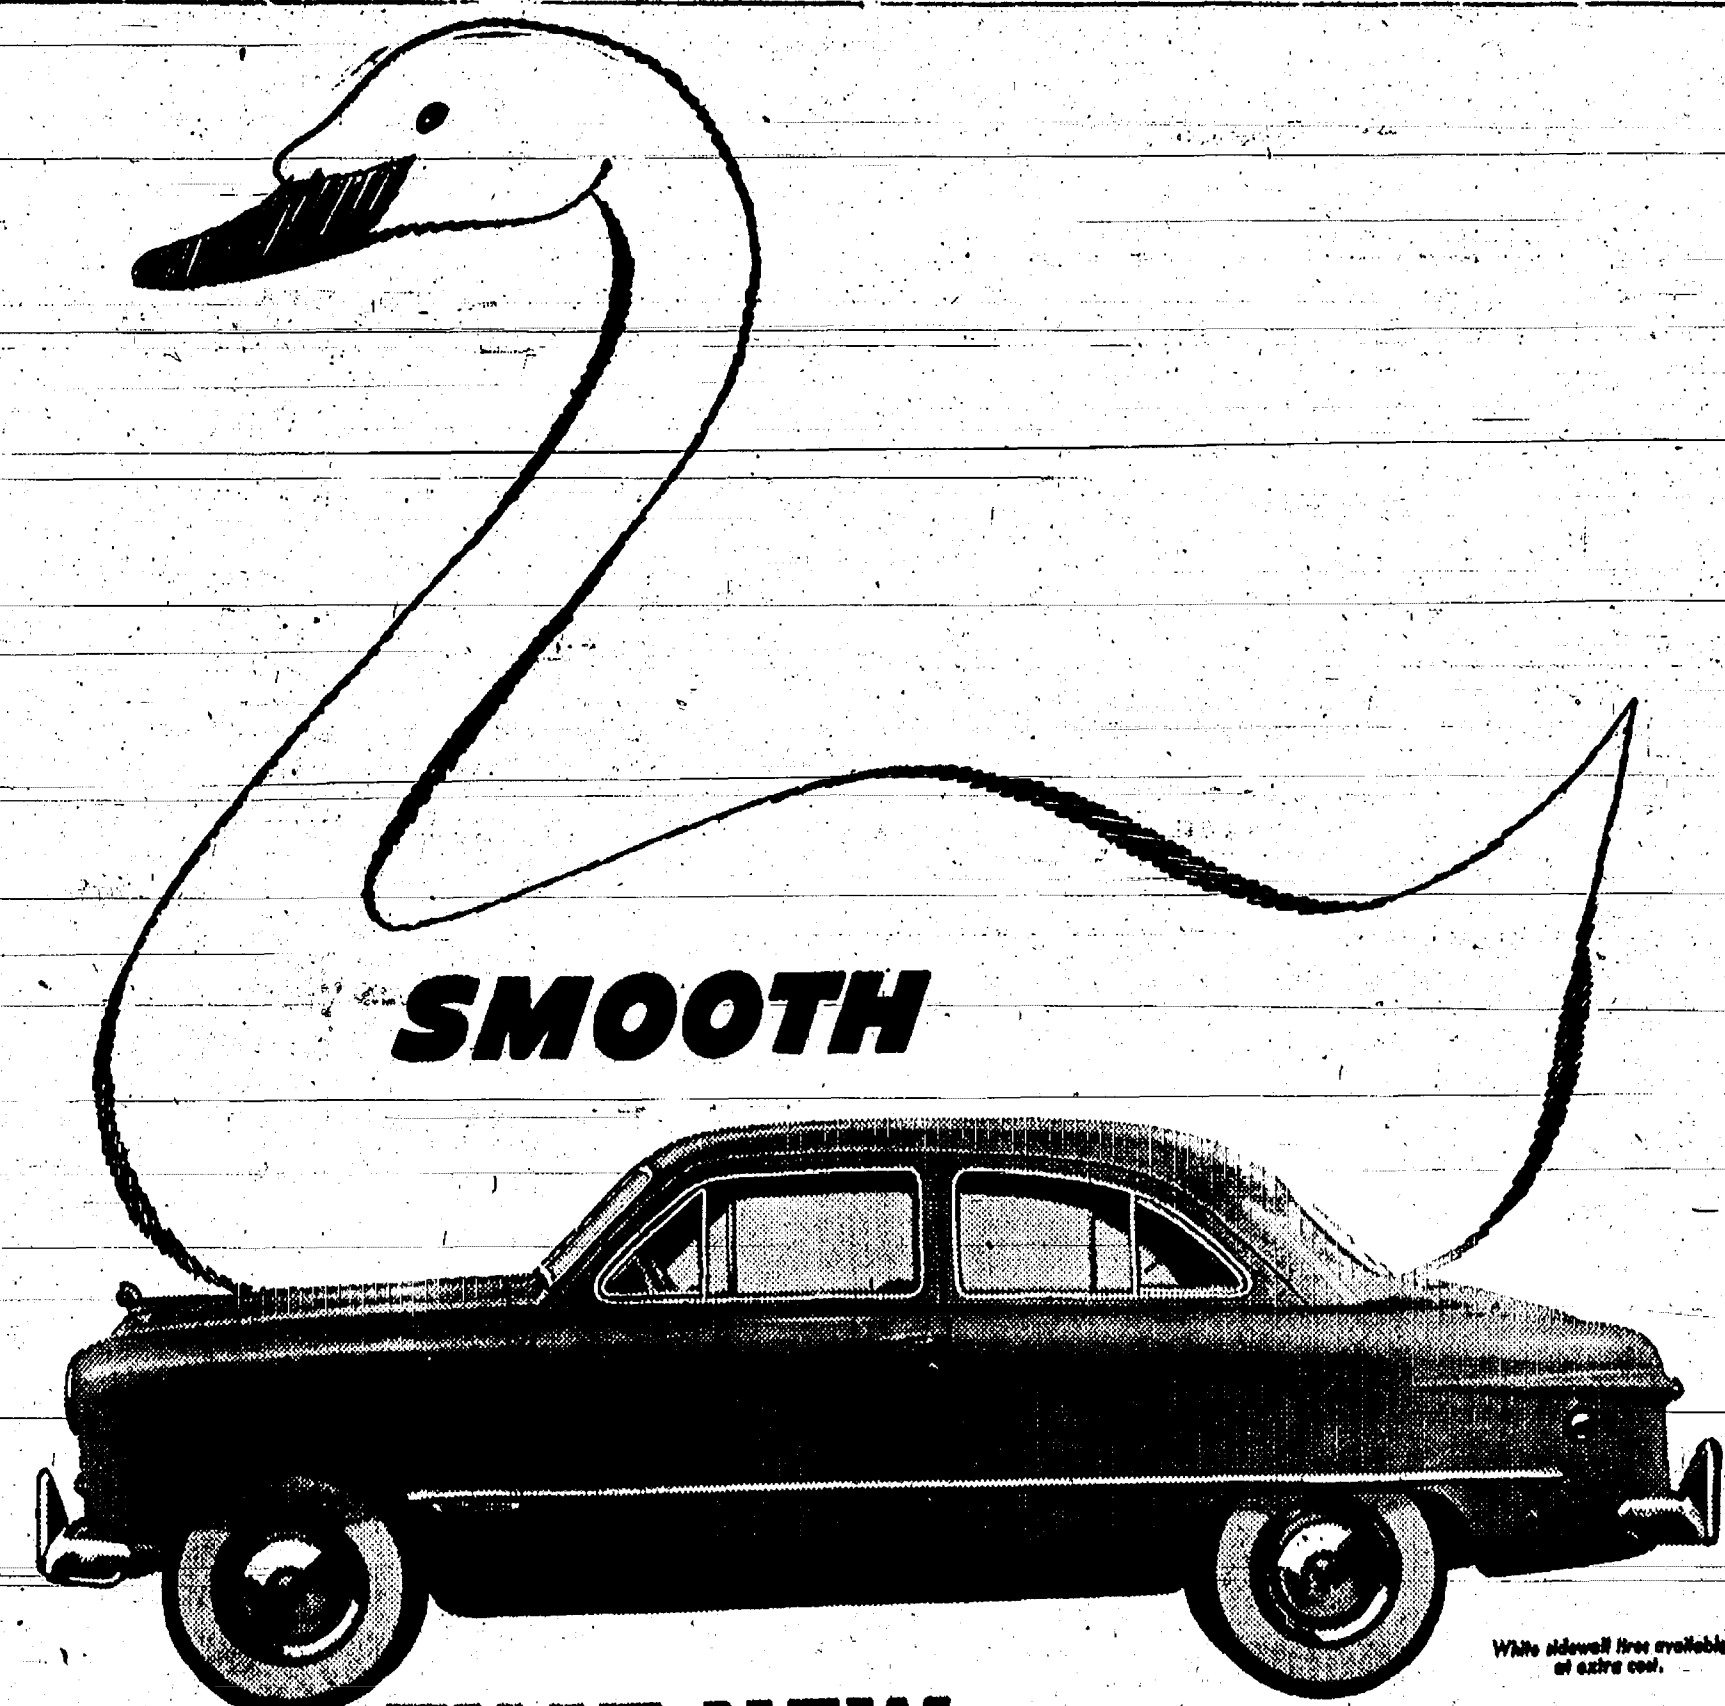

I slipped into a back seat and asked Hap Thomas what was up. Hap told me it was the new Self-Improvement Club. I stayed to listen—and learned a lot. Buzz really knows his stuff.

Turns out this club meets every Friday night. Each member gives a talk on the subject he knows most about. I joined on the spot because learning new things is one of my favorite hobbies.

From where I sit, it's willingness to learn from the other person that makes Americans tolerant towards so many different viewpoints and tastes in things. Just because Buzz Ellis goes for chocolate malteds, while I prefer a mellow glass of beer, doesn't mean I'm right and he's wrong. Incidentally, next week I'm going to talk on how to run a newspaper.

and buses found the pavement. Commissioner Ziegler has favored the Good Roads Federation program for an increase in the state gasoline tax. He points out that Michigan is one of three states which have a 3-cent gasoline tax; that the average tax of all states on Jan. 1, 1949, was 6.7 cents per gallon; that Jan. 1, 1949, a total of 14 states increased the gas tax load so that the average is now approximately 6 cents per gallon—double that of Michigan. If all state roads are not ideal, just remember this: Better roads and higher taxes go hand in hand.

Battle Against Afosa

In a drive to stamp out afosa (foot and mouth disease) from Mexico in two years, John V. S. Mexico commission has taken the job of vaccinating from eight to 10 million cattle in the affected area by the end of 1949.

Trained teams go ahead of the nine teams of vaccinators to preach the benefits of vaccination and convince the sometimes ignorant cattle owners that vaccination is the only alternative to disaster.

By the end of 1949 the program will have cost approximately $6 million dollars. It includes five points: constant inspection, disinfection, eradication, vaccination and quarantine.

The vaccination process itself is simple. A needle of the vaccine is shot into the animal and that's all there is to it. It will take from eight to 10 million shots to complete the job. The vaccine protects for six months.

APOLOGIES
The Kiwanis committee in charge of the Donkey Ball game wishes to express their apologies to the Tri-County Baseball League and especially to the local team, the Independents, and to their sponsor, Schatz Cigar Store, for the committee's neglect in not identifying Chelsea's Kiwanis-sponsored team properly as the Junior League Tri-County baseball team.

Although most grain is harvested in this country within a space of four months, it is consumed in its finished form during the entire year. In this connection, the centralized grain exchanges make it possible to accomplish an orderly distribution of the grain throughout the entire year with a minimum of price fluctuation.

United Welfare Fund Begins Plans for '49 State Campaign

With a recommended campaign goal of just under $2,000,000, and the possibility of adding an additional five or six agencies to the 19 present members of the United Fund, the United Health and Welfare Fund of Michigan opened its plans for its second annual campaign by re-selecting James M. Shackleton of Saginaw, president, at its annual meeting in Lansing on Thursday, June 23.

Directors elected from Washtenaw county are: Prof. James E. Adams, Richard Berhart, Dr. Otto K. Engleke, Wendell J. LaCoe, W. M. Strickland, all of Ann Arbor; L. W. Menz, A. F. Nissley, D. T. Quirk, D. M. Silkworth, Roscoe Smith, Joseph H. Thompson, all of Ypsilanti; and H. W. Denham, Jr., of Milan.

In a report prepared by James K. Watkins, chairman of the Admissions and Budget committee, it was reported that all of the 19 present participating members of the fund had requested inclusion in the second campaign. He indicated that the committee probably would recommend the inclusion also of The National Foundation for Cerebral Palsy, Michigan Welfare League, Leader Dog League for the blind, Epileptic clinic, Sister Elizabeth Kenny Foundation for Polio and the Roscoe B. Jackson Memorial Laboratory for Cancer Research.

J. M. Maynard, state campaign chairman, reported that Michigan United Fund campaigns raised $1,091,865. He pointed out that the job this year was more than a job of raising money, but also introduced a new idea. Average production of the campaigning counties, he said, was just over 80 per cent.

Thirty-four counties, representing 80 per cent of the state giving potential, actually organized for campaigns, he said.

In commenting upon the five large agencies which still insist upon conducting separate campaigns, Mr. Watkins said many county leaders are not greatly concerned with the campaigns of the two seal agencies, the Michigan Tuberculosis Association and the Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Disabled Adults.

Red Cross was not considered a logical participant in the United Fund when it was started, the report said. It continued, however, to point out that many county leaders thought that the Red Cross could justify its separate campaign, but that many others, particularly leaders in industrial counties, look upon Red Cross as just one more campaign for highly essential services, but a campaign which should be united like others for efficient and adequate support.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and the American Cancer Society, the report said, seem to most county leaders, of floors and board members to have no logical grounds for insisting upon a separate campaign in Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gage, son, Lynn, spent Sunday in Saginaw, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wilcox. The Gage's daughter, Patsy, who had spent the week there, returned home on Monday.
