THIS is MICHIGAN

Following are excerpts from a series of broadcasts entitled "This is Michigan," sponsored by the Michigan Department of Economic Development. The series are written by Nancy Black, in charge of radio for the department, and produced by Larry Fyrite, program director of WKAR. Fifteen Michigan radio stations are carrying this series.

Michigan gives its citizens more advantages in their selection of apples than any other state!

Did you know that in Michigan some families use as much as 90 pounds of apples a year per person? Michigan apples are rich sources of minerals and vitamins and have been used for years for their flavor, color and roughage.

Today there are some 7500 varieties of apples that can be purchased. In Michigan the most favored varieties are the Wealthy, McIntosh, Jonathan, Grimes, Delicious, Greening, Northern Spy and Baldwin. Figures indicate that in Michigan about two-thirds of the apples used are Michigan apples and more than 62 per cent of the fresh supply move out of the state.

Manufacturers of baby foods furnish an important market for Michigan's huge crop. There is the processed apple juice, which now is sold widely. And did you know that credit should be given to Prof. Roy Marshall, horticulture department, Michigan State college, for the development of the apple juice industry? It has grown in Michigan from the original pack of about 50,000 cases

In 1937 to about half a million cases last year.

The outlook for Michigan apples is good. The crop last year was about two-thirds of the 10-year average while nationally the crop was about 16 per cent under the 10-year average.

Apple farmers are just typical of the thousands of the hardworking farmers in Michigan contributing to the state's agricultural diversity. The state also provides excellent aid to all farmers through its particular agencies such as Michigan State college, county agents, horticultural societies, etc., all working together to make the most of the fertile farming soil.

Michigan is located in the center of the "hay and dairy" region of the U. S. and ranks first in alfalfa cut for hay in comparison with other states in the nation. First also in the acreage of field beans, cherries and raspberries, second in the production of mint, third in the number of grape vines and sugar beets, fifth in the acreage of pear trees, sixth in the income from truck crops and dairy products, seventh in milk production, eighth in income from potatoes, oats and rye, and fifteenth among the states in total cash income from farm products. Michigan still holds the record, producing more than one-half of the country's sour cherry crop.

Michigan Plants More Trees Than Any Other Lake State

Michigan farmers and private landowners reforested nearly 10,000 acres of land in 1948 to lead all lake states by a wide margin and rank fifth in the United States. Dr. Paul A. Herbert, head of the forestry department at Michigan State college, says only four southern states outplanted Michigan.

"This record explains in part why there has been a shortage of reforestation stock available in Michigan. The enthusiasm of our citizens to plant trees has outstripped the capacity of our nurseries," Herbert commented.

He reports that this fall and next spring, approximately 14 million trees are available to planters from nurseries of the Michigan Department of Conservation and the State college. He doubts, however, that even this big supply will fill the demand, and urges farmers to obtain price lists and place orders as soon as possible.

Michigan farmers and other individuals planted twice the acreage that was put out in Wisconsin and ten times the acreage planted in Minnesota. U. S. Forestry figures show. Large plantings by industrial organizations in southern states were the cause of those states exceeding Michigan's total, the MSC forestry head relates.

Mich. Hatcherymen Meet Next Week

Local Pastor Speaks Out Against World Communism Threat

The following is a brief resume of the morning sermon, Rev. O. W. Morrow presented in the Methodist church Sunday, Aug. 14. Many persons in the community who heard the sermon felt there was a message for all and requested the editor to publish parts of it.

"There is no system of thought more before the mind of Americans today than 'Communism.' Statements are given over radios; newspapers carry facts and figures that make clear there is something afoot in the thinking of the present that is adverse to the ideals that have been the hallmark of the American way of life. Therefore, I am sure, the time has come when the Christian Church must speak out, as Communism is threatening the future of Christian religion in this country.

1. "I would make no hesitancy to say, first of all, that Communism is a competitor of Christianity.

Looking out upon the world today one finds that Communism is a powerful influence, that, no doubt, one half of the world's people are affected by it in their thinking. Communism since 1848 has continued to penetrate the world. It began with Karl Marx.

"Why do we have the Communist menace in all lands today? We have been given many economic, scientific, socialistic and political reasons; let me advise one answer: It is because Christians in the churches have taken over light, the importance of fair play and equal equality in society. That is why we have this monster, world-wide, dreadful, organized conspiracy against religion, state, organized industry, the home, and the Church. It may also be said, the 19th century, when industrialism came into being, the working classes of most countries came to believe that the churches were against them, and John C. Bennett in his very helpful discussion of "Christianity and Communism" reminds us that 'this notion of religion in the minds of the working classes, especially Communists and Social Democrats, has persisted until now. Which of these two ideas will win? Will it be Communism that believes in world brotherhood and internationalism based on resistance and force? Or will it be Christianity that believes in brotherhood and internationalism based on the Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of men, through persuasion and love?'

"The Communist parties outside of Russia act without moral scruples, intrigue without any sense of shame, are utterly careless of truth, sacrifice without any hesitation the means they use to the end they serve. Communism is devotion to human goals and trusts in a historical process with no God other than the process.

III. But Communism will not win against Christianity.

11. Communism promises a new world order.

"The new order is to come through total revolution. The emphasis is materialism. Communist interpretation of history is a guide in the revolution. This interpretation is supported by abstract thought that opposes philosophies which are idealistic and regard mind above matter, and which preoccupied mind is in reaction against religion, especially Christianity. It comes to be a creed that drives men—literally drives them—to change the structure of the whole social life. And, at what a cost! The cost of terrorism. Professor Harold Laski, known for giving Communists the benefit of the doubt, wrote in 1947:

"The Communist parties outside of Russia act without moral scruples, intrigue without any sense of shame, are utterly careless of truth, sacrifice without any hesitation the means they use to the end they serve. Communism is devotion to human goals and trusts in a historical process with no God other than the process.

III. But Communism will not win against Christianity.

"Communism is oppressive. It glazes with 'moral limitations' of millions who have been trapped with its falsehoods of a better day based on materialism.

"I see two facts with increasing clearness as the Communistic menace strides across the world: (1) First, that Communism is a warning against sentimental and self-satisfied religion—the wanting in vitality; (2) Second, that Communism acts as a good to Christian conscience. It awakens in sincere minds the rhythm of life characteristic of Jesus—Christ—spiritual, spaceless, timeless, eternal, co-extensive with humanity. Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceeds from the mouth of God (Matt. 4:4). It is emphasis on the essential of religion. But Christ who said this made this assertion also: 'Seek first the Kingdom... and all these things shall be added unto you' (Matt. 6:33). The New Testament impresses one with the mind of Jesus in relation to improvement of man's temporal condition. And, concludes Frederick F. Shannon: 'Ingenious analysis is not necessary to get the soul of the Master's thought; it unfolds itself as naturally and as beautifully as a flower—Order, Aim, Result.'

First Day of School

GO HOME, FAL . . . It's the first day of school, and the little boy can't be bothered by a little old dog, yelping and begging to go swimming and fishing. What if he goes sniffing around and puts his feet up on teacher's desk, upsetting an ink bottle? That would be embarrassing. The little fellow has hung up his catcher's mitt and roller skates and has taken down his lunch box and books. So, puppy, you'll have to go home and play with that little boy next door who's too small to go to school yet.

Writer for State Bar Assoc. Discusses Laws Passed by 1949 State Legislature

Editor's Note: This is one in a series of articles on laws which were passed at the 1949 session of the legislature. They affect you and every resident of Michigan. The series is prepared as a public service of the State Bar of Michigan under the direction of Russell M. Beatt, Executive Chairman of the State Bar Committee on Legislation and Law Reform. The articles are objective in nature and do not attempt to comment on the relative worth of the legislative enactments but rather to present the most important facts and alert you to the changes these laws represent as they become effective on September 25, 1949.

On Sept. 23 next, practically all of the 317 public acts passed at the 1949 regular session of the legislature and signed by Gov. G. Mennen Williams will take effect. The purpose of this series of articles is, first, to refresh the public in regard to the general provisions of such acts on the eve of their effective date, and, second, to call attention to a number of acts which are of general interest but which were not of sufficient importance to catch the headlines at the time of their enactment. Of the 341 bills introduced in the Senate and 546 bills introduced in the House of Representatives, a total of 831 were passed by both houses. Of these, 8 were vetoed by Gov. Williams, none of the vetoes being overridden. 1 was recalled by the legislature, and 5 apply to purely local situations and are classified as local acts.

Of the bills enacted, only one, Public Act No. 1, was initiated by petition. This measure would authorize the sale of colored oleomargarine. The initiation of bills by petition, although seldom resorted to, is authorized by our state constitution. Under the constitution, the legislature must either enact such legislation without amendment within forty days from the date the measure is received by the legislature or else the proposed legislation would be submitted to the voters at the April, 1949, election. The legislature chose to enact the bill.

However, it is still problematical whether this will go into effect on September 25, if at all.

Various associations of the dairy industry caused referendum petitions to be circulated and current reports are that they have already obtained sufficient signatures which, if filed with the Secretary of State, will prevent the measure from going into effect. This will cause the issue to be submitted to the voters at the general November, 1950 election. The referendum action was taken under the constitution which provides that if a petition is filed with the signatures of qualified and registered electors equal in number to five per cent of the total votes cast for governor at the last election at which a governor was elected, the act shall not go into effect, but instead the issue shall be submitted at the next general election. Thus, the unusual situation is presented that the bill was originally initiated by petition under the initiative provision requiring petitions signed by eight per cent of the total vote cast for governor—but the effect thereof was withheld by obtaining referendum petitions from 5 per cent of the voters.

Constitutional Amendment

The legislature proposed but one amendment to the constitution which will also be voted upon at the next general election. This is a non-controversial amendment to the constitutional provisions having to do with qualifications of electors by striking out certain language which, with the passage of years, has become obsolete.

Taxes

No new taxes were adopted. However, the threat of a potential deficit in the general fund before the end of the fiscal year on June 30, 1950, cast its shadow over the deliberations of the legislature throughout the session. Instead of passing the corporation income tax proposed by the governor, the legislature insisted on waiting for the appearance of any actual deficit before imposing any new taxes.

Sales Taxes

A sales tax upon used cars was proposed but it was defeated by a coalition of Republicans and Democrats. Measures were, however, adopted to tighten up "loopholes" in the general sales tax statute, mainly by providing the Department of Revenue with additional auditors. By other measures, the proceeds of certain minor taxes were transferred from special funds to the state's general fund.

Gasoline Tax

The proposed increase in the gasoline tax along with seven other related amendments to highway statutes were defeated, the main objection being, not the proposed increase, but, rather, the basis of allocation of the proceeds of the highway taxes between the state, county and local units of government.

Schools—Sales Tax Diversion

The general school appropriation bill, as required by the sales tax diversion amendment to the state constitution which requires the apportioning of 44 and 77-100 per cent of the total revenue from the sales tax for the last preceding year, totaled $82,094,298.80. That was based upon a total revenue for the year ending June 30, 1948, of $188,368,782.00. This was close to $12,000,000 in excess of that appropriation in the year 1948 which was based upon the total revenue of just over $167,000,000. Next year the legislature will be required to appropriate in excess of $87,000,000, inasmuch as the total revenue for the fiscal year just ended was approximately $196,000,000. While due to the sales tax diversion amendment to the Constitution the appropriation will be increased by some $4,000,000 in 1950, nevertheless it is anticipated that the state will enjoy a smaller total revenue under the sales tax. While estimates as to the total revenue during the present year vary, the estimate given by the budget office to the legislature was $180,000,000. If these estimates are correct, this will of necessity require either additional taxes or reduction of other appropriations. The 1949 legislature reduced appropriations below that recommended by the budget office, total appropriations being $278,000,000 as against recommendations of $290,000,000. This compared with total appropriations for the preceding year of $241,000,000 indicates that an increase in appropriations of $37,000,000 was made by the 1949 legislature.

The next article in the series will treat legislation having to do with Labor Mediation, Unemployment Compensation and Workmen's Compensation.)

HOGLE REUNION

The 19th annual Hogle reunion was held at Clear Lake on Labor Day, with Mr. and Mrs. George Knoll as hosts. There were 30 members of the family present from Benton Harbor, Berrien Springs, Marshall, Olivet, Detroit, Minard Mill and Jackson.

Following a pot-luck dinner the business meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Viola Knoll. Mrs. Ethel Milligan read the secretary's report for her daughter, Mrs. Beatrice White, and Mrs. Jessie Garey, as historian, gave her report.

Elected as officers for the coming year were Charlie Hogle, president; Mrs. Emma Faulkner, vice-president; Mrs. Oscar Lindt, secretary and treasurer.

Talks were given by the following: Erwin Hogle, describing a trip through Canada; Roy Hogle, who told of a trip through Michigan and Wisconsin; Mrs. Wahnetta Lindt, who spoke of a visit with Mrs. Bertha Hoyaland of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Mrs. Ethel Milligan, who gave some highlights of her visit in Michigan.

The oldest person present was Mrs. Jessie Hogle Carey, 76 years old, while the youngest was John Campbell, 18 months old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Campbell. Reports given at the reunion brought out the fact that five members of the family have enlisted for military service, and a member of the family, Mrs. Rose Mary Watson, became the wife of a serviceman during the past year. The next annual reunion is to be held at Clear Lake, near Olivet, with Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Hogle as hosts.

ST. PAUL'S WOMEN'S GUILD

The first meeting of the 1949-50 season of the Women's Guild of St. Paul's church was held at the church hall Friday afternoon, Sept. 2. Thirty-six members and three guests were present.

The devotion on the topic, "Christian Citizenship," were presented by Mrs. Alfred Lindauer. In the absence of the program leaders, the program chairman, Mrs. Otto Lucht had arranged to have letters read over-voice read.

Mrs. John Osterle, Mrs. Harold Widmayer and Mrs. Lucht read several letters thanking the Guild for food and clothing sent to Germany and Hungary last fall and Mrs. Fred Seitz read a request for assistance received from Germany.

Wilma Paul and Nancy Eiseaman who attended the leadership training camp at Camp Limbich, La Grange, Indiana, this summer gave very interesting reports of their experiences there. The two girls were sent as delegates of St. Paul's Sunday school with the cooperation of the Women's Guild who assumed all the expenses. It was announced that the October meeting will be a men's night with husbands of the members as guests. The meeting will be preceded by a pot-luck supper in the church dining-room at 6:30 p.m. The meeting will take place October 7.

Dainty refreshments were served at the close of Friday's meeting by the month's committee, Mrs. Clarence Dietle, Mrs. Lawrence Dietle and Mrs. E. M. Eisenmann.

Mrs. James Mitchell, above, was the former Emily Margaret Almond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Almond, before her marriage Saturday to Mr. Mitchell of Ann Arbor. The couple will make their home in Ann Arbor.

Emily Almond Bride of Ann Arbor Man in Candlelight Service

Emily Margaret Almond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Almond of Chelsea, was married Saturday in St. Andrew's Episcopal church in Ann Arbor, to James Richard Mitchell, of Ann Arbor, son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Mitchell. The candlelight ceremony was performed by Rev. Koonet at 8:30 o'clock in the evening in the presence of 300 guests. Paul Barbour of Chelsea, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Perfect Love," before the ceremony.

The bride's gown of candlelight slipper satin featured a circular train extending from the bustle which finished the back of the skirt. The fitted square neckline was trimmed with a ruffle of heirloom lace and matching lace edged the train-length veil of French illusion. The veil was held in place with a halo-shaped tiara of matching lace and orange blossoms. Buffed lace edged her colonial bouquet of white roses and pom-poms centered with a white orchid which she later wore with her going-away costume.

Patricia L. Mitchell, the bridegroom's sister, was maid of honor, and Luella Boyd, of East Orange, N. J., and Claire Mills, of East Lansing, both cousins of the bride, were the bridesmaids. Their gowns were styled alike with Queen Anne collars and sweetheart necklines. The skirts were of tulle, as were their matching gauntlets and picture hats. The maid of honor was in autumn green, while the bridesmaids were in gold and mauve, respectively. Miss Mitchell's bouquet of aqua, gold and orchid colored pom-poms, was edged with ruffled gold satin with matching streamers; Miss Boyd's, of gold and aqua pom-poms, was edged with orchid satin, and Miss Mills' of orchid and gold pom-poms, featured aqua satin edging and streamers.

Robert Courdway, Jr., of Ann Arbor, nephew of the bridegroom, was ring bearer, while Stephanie K. Potter, of Bear Lake, was flower girl. Both were dressed in white satin, the latter carrying a colonial-bouquet-matching that of the maid of honor.

Robert Ryan of Ann Arbor was best man while Robert Courdway, the bridegroom's brother-in-law, and Gend Royce, Jr., also of Ann Arbor, seated the guests.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony at the American Legion Home. Mrs. E. C. Burns cut the cake and Mrs. Carl Jaeger and Mrs. Edward Sayers, of Ann Arbor, poured. In charge of the guest book was another cousin of the bride, Anne Mills, of East Lansing.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell will be at home after Oct. 1, at 523 Packard street, in Ann Arbor.

When the couple left for a trip through the southern states the bride was attired in a black faille suit with black and white accessories.

To wear for her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Almond chose a dinner gown and hat of seersucker. The hat was trimmed in pink and she wore a corsage of pink roses. The bridegroom's mother, in a cocoa brown hat and gown, wore a corsage of ivory white roses.

The bride, who attended Olivet college, is a graduate of the South Chelsea High school, is a graduate of Mercy College of Nursing, of Detroit, and is employed at Mercywood sanitarium.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Ann Arbor High school, served almost two years in the South Pacific during World War II. He is employed at the Michigan Consolidated Gas company.

Mich. State Fair To End Season Sunday, Sept. 11

Michigan's great centennial state fair goes into its final days with its record exhibits still going strong. Thousands have poured through the gates at the fair grounds here to see an all-time record entry of agricultural features by Michigan's farmers, plus a variety of features that have struck the fancy of everyone.

The fair will wind up its 10-day stand Sunday, and a 100-mile auto race, the first held on the fair grounds track since 1933, will be featured. Most of the top drivers in the country will be on hand.

In the meantime, a major attraction on the fair grounds has been the complete, official atomic energy exhibit presented in cooperation with the United States Atomic Energy commission. It is the first time that such an exhibit has been shown anywhere.

Singers Jo Stafford and Bobby Breen, close Thursday night as headliners of the coliseum show, which features an 8-act vaudeville revue, and Tommy Bartlett, star of NBC's "Welcome Travelers" broadcast, will take over the headline spot Friday through Sunday.

When small areas of a rug's surface have been crushed by furniture or the shuffling of feet, you can bring the pile back to normal by applying a hot iron on a damp cloth. Brush the pile briskly after this suggests Ruth Peck, extension home economist at Michigan State college. Rug corners which curl can also be remedied by applying a hot iron on a damp cloth to both sides of the carpet.

Exports of all grain from the United States will probably total 10 million bushels this year to an all-time record, according to government estimates, representing a tribute to the free marketing system in America which makes this gigantic movement overseas possible.

There are approximately 6,000 deer in the U. S. and Canada, or an average of four deer per square mile.

The largest brook trout of record weighed six pounds and one ounce and was caught in Whitefish Bay of Lake Superior in 1934.

Deadline Approaches for Williamston Hunt

Applications for participation in the Williamston controlled hunting plan are lagging with the Sept. 10 deadline near, the conservation department's game division reports.

The plan, originating in Ingham county in 1929, covered a half million acres of farm land in 1939, its peak year. It provides posting of lands by co-operative farmer groups and allowing hunting by written permit. The department provides printed signs to post the lands.

Advantages cited include the opening of hunting of some lands which otherwise might be closed, more even distribution of hunting pressure and promotion of better farmer-sportsmen relationships. The Williamston Plan is designed to help the farmer in controlling his hunting season trespass problem and to provide sportsmen the hunting areas which are not overcrowded.

Reports of Bear in Jackson Area Are Termed 'False Alarm'

Reports of a bear lurking in southern Eaton county, causing parents to keep their children indoors, have proved groundless.

Alleged bear footprints proved to be only dog tracks, reports Derrell Kniss, conservation department investigator from Jackson, following a thorough inspection of the area with conservation officers.

Last November Kniss checked 20 different reports of a prowling bear south of here in Jackson county only to find dog and raccoon tracks.

Although bear are seldom found in southern Michigan, the department investigates all complaints. Persons can help the department by being more careful in reporting they have seen bear unless they also have spotted some of the tell-tale signs such as large tracks, droppings, broken fruit tree limbs or pawed stumps and logs.

Michigan First in Number of Cattle Breeding Groups

Michigan ranks first in the number of artificial breeding associations for dairy cattle and eighth in the total number of cows bred artificially, a recent U. S. Department of Agriculture report shows.

On January 1, 1943, Michigan had 133 associations, 29 more than Minnesota, its nearest rival. In number of cows bred during 1943, however, Michigan ranked eighth with 120,000. Wisconsin led with 420,000 cows serviced artificially. Every state in the United States now has an artificial insemination program for dairy cattle and nearly 2,500,000 cows are in herds being serviced.

O. E. Reed, chief of the bureau of dairy industry of USDA, returning to school are reminded that the first week of school when safe walking habits must be relearned, is most dangerous for children in the whole year, according to the auto club's safety and traffic director.

cently pointed to the Michigan program as an example of what artificial breeding can do to spread good inheritance to a large number of cows. The former MSC dairy department head cited that 12 percent of Michigan's dairy cattle are now being bred artificially.

Figures of the Michigan Artificial Breeders Cooperative at Michigan State college, East Lansing, show that 40 percent of the dairy cows in Ingham county are bred artificially. In far away Emmet county, at the top of the lower peninsula of Michigan, the figure reaches 28 percent. Dairymen interested in the local artificial breeding associations in their county may obtain information from county agricultural agents.

There are 600 hatcheries in Indiana and more than 100 in these hatcheries.

Grand Haven—Nine new local industries, none of them branch plants. A few examples: Michigan Plastic Products, toys, aquarium, automotive-refrigerator parts. Electrical Assemblies, Inc., transformers, cord sets, relay saddles. Royal Oak Industries, contractors' and masons' levels.

Coldwater—Federal Mogul Service, branch of Detroit firm, has expanded.

These examples indicate the opportunity still exists for new industry in Michigan small towns. New industry brings new payrolls. Everyone benefits—merchants, professional men, farmers and workers themselves.

Pasture Grass
Green pasture grass is rich in nearly all the vitamins required by farm animals. It also keeps the soil from washing or blowing away in the soil.

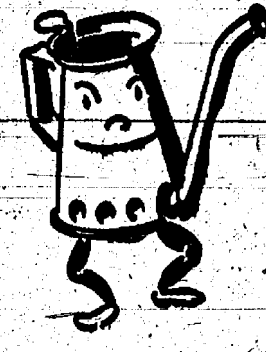

"THE TRACK OF THE CAT"

By Walter V. Clark

The black panther that dominates the author's new novel is an embodiment and evocation of evil. It is a fierce, elemental and supernatural danger that must be hunted and destroyed. As symbol and reality, the novel is a western valley and a storm to a western valley and a storm to a western valley and a storm to a western valley.
