C of C Sets Xmas Season Store Hours

Members of Chamber of Commerce held the regular monthly meeting in St. Paul's church last Tuesday evening, Nov. 15. Plans were made for the next meeting which is to be a Ladies Night and a Christmas program will be given. In charge of tickets and the program for the meeting is a committee named as follows: P. G. Schable, Waldo Kusterer, Norbert Merkel, Lloyd Heydlauff, John Fletcher and William Schatz. The meeting will be held Dec. 14.

There was a discussion on the subject of Christmas decorations in the downtown section, ending in a decision to follow the custom of previous years—the village furnishing Christmas trees and merchants furnishing the lights for the trees in front of their business places.

Plans were also made for Tuesday's meeting for store hours during the Christmas season. Stores are to remain open Thursday afternoon on Dec. 15 and 22, and will remain open in the evening on Dec. 21, 22 and 23. On Saturday, Dec. 24, which is Christmas Eve, the stores will close at 6 p.m.

Norbert Merkel brought up the subject of stores remaining open on Thursday afternoons in the future, but no action was taken although some discussion of the subject took place.

William Schatz, Julius Strieter, Elmer Winans, Waldo Kusterer and Lloyd Heydlauff were named as a committee to work with Fire Chief Thomas Young in making a study of the possibility of using incinerators to burn rubbish behind stores in the downtown section. The action was taken after Young gave his views on the danger caused by rubbish fires in the area.

Because of the number of members are away on deer hunting trips, only 24 members were present at Tuesday's meeting. Members of the Women's Guild of St. Paul's church served the dinner.

H. T. Moore Named Head of Kiwanis

David Hoffman, local Boy Scout who received an Eagle award at the Boy Scout appreciation dinner in Ypsilanti, Sunday evening, was a guest at the Kiwanis club meeting Monday evening. Also guests at the meeting were Bruce Rider of Ann Arbor, former Scoutmaster, and a Silver Beaver award winner, and Rev. Ray Barber, chaplain of Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson and former pastor of the Chelsea Congregational church.

Mr. Rider showed pictures of Troop 14, Ann Arbor Boy Scouts, taken on camping trips in the west and in Canada. Especially enjoyed by Kiwanians present was the portion of the film which depicted the 33 boys breaking camp and packing up ready to continue their trip, all in a period of just 20 minutes.

Kiwanis officers for 1950 were elected at Monday's meeting and include H. T. Moore, president; C. P. S. Holmes, vice-president; Robert Foster, treasurer; Paul F. Niehaus, secretary.

New board members elected are Dr. Edwin J. Sutter, Anton Nielsen and Lyman H. Walker, for two years, and Charles Lancaster for one year. Other board members still in office are Kenneth C. Runciman, Rev. Orville W. Morrow and Lawrence E. Riemschneider.

Traditional Rivals Swamped Under 69-6 Avalanche

By DWIGHT GADD
Chelsea High's Bulldogs became very ferocious last Friday night at Manchester as they "poured it on" a very helpless, hapless and inexperienced squad of Dutchemen, 69-6, in a contest which had more of the aspects of a track meet than a football game.

It was no contest right from the opening whistle and was at best a hollow victory for the local team even though it was over the Flying Dutchemen in their traditional game. No matter where it is or who does it in a one-sided run-away such as this, we are always mindful of that old saying "Never hit a man when he's down"—he may get up and beat the stuffing out of you!

The Bulldogs did pour it on unmercifully and it seemed to many of us, unnecessarily, but the exuberance of youth had to be served if only on one night during the season.

Chelsea's touchdowns were made as follows, it being much too great a task to relate this one play-by-play.

1. Stan Knickerbocker raced around right end for 12 yards to cap a 46-yard drive. George Heydlauff missed this conversion, but then made them all—nine straight after the other scores.

2. Knickerbocker drove over left guard and zig-zagged 61 yards on a good run in a broken field. Heydlauff converted.

Score, first quarter: Chelsea 13, Manchester 0.

3. Bob Robbins ripped through center for 32 yards and some fine downfield blocking helped. Heydlauff converted.

4. George Heydlauff intercepted an errant Manchester pass on their 38 and tight-rope down the right sidelines behind five blockers, and then he converted again.

5. Heydlauff passed to Arden Musbach for 40 yards and another touchdown. Again, Heydlauff converted. Just before the half Manchester got their lone score against the Chelsea third string on a long pass from Armand Dersch, left half, to Leo Lentz, right end, on a 55-yard pass. Dersch missed the point after.

Score at half time: Chelsea 34, Manchester 6.

6. On the first play of the second half Knickerbocker broke over left guard again and raced 56 yards to score. Heydlauff converting.

7. John Batsakes on a sweep around left end, went 45 yards to score untouched, with George doing it again afterwards.

Explain Use of Blood Plasma Given Locally

(For the convenience of those who wish to give blood at the blood plasma procurement center, Nov. 17 and 18, today and tomorrow, The Standard is providing this information as to eventual use of the blood.)

What happens to the blood I donate at the free blood plasma procurement center in Washtenaw county this month? Where does it go? How does it get to be plasma? Can I get the plasma back when I need it?

These are some of the questions being asked about the blood plasma procurement center set up in Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti on Nov. 15, 16, 17 and 18.

The answer is this: the blood you give here comes back here for local use in the form of blood plasma or blood fractions. It will be available if you need it.

The blood drawn here is taken in refrigerated containers to the Michigan Department of Health laboratories in Lansing.

In the State Health laboratories each bottle is tested to make sure that it contains no germs of syphilis, then it is put through a centrifuge (a machine like a cream separator that turns 2,000 R.P.M.) to separate the red blood cells from the clear straw-colored fluid—blood plasma. The red cells are re-suspended in a special solution for later use in the treatment of anemia. The plasma is mixed with other plasma and irradiated with ultraviolet light to destroy any bacteria or virus present. Then it is either fractionated immediately or prepared for distribution as liquid plasma.

If it is to be distributed as liquid plasma, it is put through a fine filter, a preservative is added, and the product is tested to be sure it is free of bacteria. If all tests are satisfactory, it is put into containers and packaged for distribution. Finally each lot is again thoroughly tested to make sure it is safe for human use before it is distributed.

If the plasma is fractionated it goes through a complex process whereby each of the important products are separated, one at a time. These products are put in containers, packaged and tested as carefully as is the plasma.

For every pint of blood you give here, this county gets back an equivalent amount of plasma or fractions. This is no profit-seeking matter. It is a public health measure—free plasma and fractions to save lives.

Sylvan Farm Bureau Plans Xmas Party

The Sylvan Farm Bureau held its regular monthly meeting at the Lima Center Grange Hall Friday evening, Nov. 11.

The discussion topic, "Why I Am a Farmer," brought forth not only many thoughtful comments but also a number of humorous ones as well.

Gordon Van Riper and George Steele, Sylvan Farm Bureau representatives at the 30th annual Farm Bureau meeting at Lansing Thursday and Friday, each gave splendid reports of the activities there. Mrs. Walter Wolfgang, who attended the Farm Bureau Women's meeting at Lansing, is to give her report at next month's meeting.

A Christmas party was planned for the next meeting and is to include a planned pot-luck dinner. Members are to be notified later as to what they are to furnish for the dinner. All members are being urged to attend this Christmas gathering.

Hostesses who served a lunch at Friday's meeting are Mrs. Oscar Kalmbach, Mrs. Roy Kalmbach and Mrs. Emerson Lesser.

Three states in the Union have four-letter names—Ohio, Iowa and Utah.

Couple Married Here Will Live in Florida

Mrs. Grace Lake Stanton of Lakeland, Fla., who spent the summer here, and Herman L. Hoyt, of Lansing, were married Tuesday noon at the home of the former's niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Geddes. Only immediate members of the family were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt left Tuesday afternoon for Lakeland, Fla., where they will make their home.

Back to California

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mensing left Monday morning for their home in Ventura, Calif., after spending the past two and one-half months with relatives here. On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gentner entertained at a farewell party for them, the guests including Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gilbert of New Baltimore, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gilbert and children, of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Klingier of Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gilbert and Mrs. Minnie Broesamle.

SYLVAN EXTENSION GROUP

Sylvan Extension Group met on Thursday afternoon, Nov. 10, at the home of Mrs. T. G. Riemschneider, with 14 regular members and one new member present. The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Mrs. Harold Widmayer, and the "Extension Woman's Creed" was repeated in unison. Thoughts on the November poem were given by each member present.

The leaders checked on the number who had been helped by the previous month's lesson, "Meals for Middle Years," and also the number of those who had given help.

The November sewing lesson was presented by the leaders, Mrs. Oscar Kalmbach and Mrs. T. G. Riemschneider. Round buttonholes and collars were made by each member and then Mrs. Kalmbach also demonstrated how to put in zippers.

Delicious Chinese Chow, pretzels and coffee were served by the hostesses.

The next meeting, to be held Dec. 8, at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Proctor, will be the Christmas party. Each member is to bring a gift for her "mystery sister," also, a Christmas novelty or suggestion for an exchange of ideas.

ABSENCE MAKES THE MIND GROW WEAKER!

"I went to Jackson."
"I didn't want to come to school."
"It was too wet to walk to school so I stayed home."

These are some of the excuses given by the students. Is it necessary to go out of town on a school day? You could just as well go on the week-end. Just because it's raining, there is no reason for you to stay home. Put on your raincoat and come to school. If you haven't studied for a test you might just as well come to school—you'll have to take it sooner or later anyway, and the make-up test will be harder. Your school work isn't going to improve by staying home, so let's all try to cut down the absentee list by coming to school regularly. If you are seriously ill, then it is time to stay home.

WHY PENALIZE YOURSELF?
Did you ever think about the amount of time you lose just because of tardiness? Just stop to figure it out. If you are tardy only three minutes daily... In one little week you've lost 15 minutes; in a month, an hour is lost; and in the nine months of school you have lost nine hours. That's a lot of time to lose, isn't it? Just suppose one of our teachers lost nine hours work during a term due to tardiness. How long do you think teacher would have a job? Do you think about your tardiness excuses? Judging from the excuses found in Mr. Cameron's office, you don't. Of course there are the old familiar ones—I overslept; I missed the school bus; the car broke down; and, I had to go back home. I forgot my books. Then there are a few odd ones like: "please excuse Tommy; this noon he was detained longer than usual." Don't be content with the slogan "Better Late Than Never." It doesn't work out very well.

Organizations ...

STUDENT COUNCIL
The Student Council decided to extend the campaign for raising funds for a foreign school until Wednesday, Nov. 16. The Council also decided to allow the seventh grade to sell fudge in the halls at noon and after school for the purpose of raising funds for the campaign.

The motion was made and seconded that the Council approve of the Hi-Y's suggestion to appoint someone not connected with athletics to take care of the phonograph at the dances. They also invited the student body to see the football movie of the Michigan State-Notre Dame game.

HI-Y
F. Fischer, C. Holiday, B. Bycraft and J. Popp represented the local Hi-Y at the pre-legislative training session held Nov. 15 in Ann Arbor. Two representatives will be appointed to attend the Hi-Y Legislature in Lansing.

The Hi-Y will go swimming Nov. 22. Members of the Hi-Y attended St. Paul's church last Sunday.

HOME ECONOMICS
Home Ec. I girls finished their study of luncheon-desserts by making cup cakes. The girls had a cup cake sale Tuesday of last week.

The Men Behind the Game ...

CHORUS
The chorus' radio program was a great success. They are now learning two new songs, "There Is A Balm In Gilead," by Dawson, and "My Day Carol," by Deems Taylor.

Activities ...

PLAY BY PLAY
This is like seeing the game and hearing it over the radio at the same time. It was a remarkable play-by-play the happenings of the game at East Lansing, Nov. 5.

ASSEMBLIES ...
PEPPY, PRINCE OF PERSIA
When Carol and Jimmy Tait, the young authors and producers of the marionette show, "Peppy, Prince of Persia," were in high school, they decided that too many assembly programs were sugar-coated pills, and that sometimes even the coating wore pretty thin.

Chelsea students, both grade and high, found the puppet show was far from sugar-coated or boring when it was presented in the gymnasium on Thursday, Nov. 10.

Pep Meeting ...

TOUCH AND GO
The mighty football squad dashed onto the stage amid a roar of cheers—Sledgy Tain, Mavid Dyer, Wally Nut, Rob Bobbins and Eonnie Reder warmed up by flexing their muscles and going through some team formations. Some of the formations were: run around and in which the players briskly circled Sledgy the end, quarterback sneak, in which the players got into formation, hiked the ball and the quarterback very slyly sneaked out the door. The last formation was the famous sleeper play, in which the players very enthusiastically fell asleep. Mon DeCler then entered the scene and the coach asked why he was late. Mon replied, "That's OK coach, I'm the end anyway."

Speeches were made by the coaches, principal, and by the ten seniors players through popular demand. The cheerleaders led several cheers. The school song brought the pep-meeting to an end.

MOVIES ...
PROJECTION PERFECT
"Application of Pascal's Law" was shown to the Physics class on Tuesday. This movie was a Navy film. It explained the law and how it is used in the modern hydraulic jacks.

"Unfinished Rainbow" was shown to the chemistry class. It explained the progress made in aluminum. It also explained that there the residence was eagerly anticipating the new arrival. It had come—another girl—oh goodie! She was blessed with the name Joan Marlene Hughes.

Since she was five, Joan has spent all of her years attending Chelsea school. Now a senior, she plans to take up some field in art at Michigan State Normal.

You now know her name and plans for the future, but what about the description? Joan stands 5'4" with pretty brown eyes and brownish blonde hair.

Her pet peeve is any boy who is late for a date and then turns and blames the girl. Her favorite song is "I'm In The Mood For Love," movie, "Knock On Any Door," food, southern fried chicken; costume, skirt and sweater; sport, football (to watch), basketball (to play); recreation, dancing. Summing all this up, Joan has had a very successful and well-rounded high school career.

Mr. Murphy was expecting a boy so that he could call him Patrick, but when this daughter arrived he compromised by naming her Patricia. This important event happened on May 30, 1932, in Milwaukee, Wis.

When Pat entered Chelsea High, her fellow students and teachers were amazed at the great amount of intelligence contained in such a small frame. They soon discovered a number of her other assets, such as personality, kindness to everyone, and her now famous voice.

Pat considers a skirt and sweater her favorite costume, and angel food cake the most tempting of foods. She enjoyed immensely the movie "The Search," and she thinks that Irving Berlin is a "wonderful composer."

Offices which she has held during her three years in high school are treasurer of student council, president of the Latin club, treasurer of chorus, and vice-president of the senior class.

Patricia has spent some of her free time outside of school working in local stores.

She has never missed the "B" honor roll (unless, of course, she was on the "A" honor list). Last year Pat won the American Legion award and this year she is recipient of the DAR good citizenship award. These awards stress the opinions of the faculty and students as to her ability to succeed in anything which she chooses to undertake.

Class News ...

SENIOR NEWS
Pat Murphy was selected from the senior girls to receive the Daughters of the American Revolution award.

The Senior play, "The Inner Willy," a comedy in three acts, written by Bettye Knap and published by the Row Peterson and company, is especially suited for high school groups.

The senior class will surely present this production to full advantage on Dec. 9. Can't you just picture Inner Willy, Willoughby's innermost, acting his part to the extreme point of hilarity? The part of Inner Willy will be especially effective because he is only visible to Willoughby.

Genevieve Wheeler received an award certificate and pin from Crowell-Collier Publishing company in recognition of her sales ability in the recent senior magazine drive.

When peaches are being frozen, a crumpled wad of waxed paper placed under the lid of the container just before closing will help to hold the fruit under the syrup. This will prevent the peaches on top from browning, advises Dr. Pauline Paul, Michigan State college frozen foods researcher.

SHORT STORY

Bingo -- The Winner

By LOUIS CUNNINGHAM

ROCKY FELL, alias Phelan, alias Finn, turned the green coupe in at the sign that said "Meals—Overnight Cabins—Home Cooking." This out-of-the-way tourist camp, deep in Canada's New Brunswick, looked like a natural for Rocky, wanted in a dozen states, with $5,000 for the one who turned him in. Fat chance! They probably were still looking for a blue sedan with Illinois plates. This number, for instance, came from Arizona. The old bird who owned it never would squawk. A guy was a sucker on a lonely road to offer a stranger a lift.

"You're a pal, mister," said Rocky. He stuck a gun in the old boy's ribs. "Drive down the side road and behave yourself and everything will be lovely." The man, his face gray-green, drove down a narrow track and at the end was an abandoned quarry with lots of water. Rocky drove the coupe back alone. He had the money and passport. He was Phillip Sumpter. It was easy for Rocky to forget him and a dozen like him. He was looking forward to some home-cooking and a soft bed. He turned the corner of the drive and saw a white house with many gables—Robin's Nest. Sure looked comfy. Cabins here and there among the willows.

"Oh, my!" A scolding tune was talking to an old lady in blue gingham on the steps. Rocky felt the gun under his arm. Nothing to worry about. When Rocky stopped the car, the old lady came briskly down. The Mountie went into the house. "Good day, sir. Welcome. I'm the proprietress—one of them. Miss Abby Stubbs. My sister Rachel and I run Robin's Nest. You'd like dinner, a cabin—"

"Sure," grinned Rocky. "Sure. Miss Abby—I want the works. Chicken and hot biscuits and coffee."

"Very good sir. Here's the key of No. 4, the cabin by the pond. Dinner will be ready when you are, Mr. Sumpter."

"We're so glad to have you, Mr. Sumpter. You have no idea," Miss Abby actually dimpled.

"Swell," said Rocky. Just the same, after he had washed up he did not go directly to the front but strolled around to the rear.

"I SAW him first," Dear, Sweet old Miss Abby's voice. "I spoke to him first. It's the money car—it's the one that pays."

"Abby Stubbs! I noticed first I swear I did. You never even got

"You're trying to cheat me," him to register. That's what you were supposed to do."

"You're trying to cheat me. I know you, Rachel."

"We'll call it a tie. We'll split the money—" Harpies—both of them! Rocky straightened up.

"I have the proof," crowed Miss Abby. "I was talking to Corporal Renault. He stopped for dinner. I told him, and he's waiting when Mr. Sumpter comes in—Well, I'm not going to wait; I'm going to get the corporal now."

That was why Rocky pulled the gun on Corporal Renault when they met at the corner of the house. "Not so easy, copper," Rocky snarled, and stared at the two trembling old sisters behind the Mountie's broad back. "Those old dames can fight some more over the $5,000 prize. I'm not caught yet. Damn you!"

That Mountie was a funny cop. He didn't look boyish any more, though he still was smiling. And he didn't back up. He kept right on coming. The gun roared but its muzzle was knocked up and a fist caught Rocky in the middle. He was still on the lawn when he came to and there was a familiar feel about his wrists. Bracelets.

"Well, it's a pinch, I guess," said Rocky. "I—anyway, those old witches will have to split the dough with you, copper."

Miss Abby and Miss Rachel, said the Mountie, "had a little pool. They put a dollar in it for every car with a different state license-plate. They were up to 47 when you came in with Arizona. Arizona was Bingo. That's how Miss Abby came to be claiming the money—$48. It seems there's a bit more coming."

Amendments to Bonine-Tripp Act Interpreted by State Bar Writers

Editor's Note: This is one in a series of articles on laws which were passed at the 1949 session of the legislature. They affect you and every resident of Michigan. The entire series is prepared as a public service of the State Bar of Michigan under the direction of Russell A. Searl, Lansing, Chairman of the State Bar Committee on Legislation and Law Reform. The articles are objective in nature and do not attempt to comment on the relative worth of the legislative enactments but rather to present the most important facts and alert you to the changes these laws represent as they become effective on September 25, 1949.

The amendments to the Bonine-Tripp Act represented one of the more important pieces of legislation enacted at the 1949 session of the Michigan legislature. These were the latest amendments to the original Michigan Labor Mediation Act, which sets up the state governmental machinery for settling labor disputes and maintaining labor peace.

The original Michigan Labor Mediation Act, adopted in 1939, was notable for its effectiveness. The measure had no teeth aside from penal provisions which were impractical to enforce. Under the leadership of Senator Elwood Bonine of Vandalia and Harold D. Tripp of Allegan, the 1947 Michigan legislature re-wrote most of the act in an attempt to make it effective. This 1947 version prohibited strikes in public utilities, and required that such labor disputes be submitted to arbitration. The findings of the arbitration board were to be binding on both parties. Last fall, when this act was reviewed by the Michigan Supreme Court, it was held to be unconstitutional due to the fact that it provided that one of the members of the arbitration board should be a Circuit Judge. The Supreme Court held that this was imposing administrative duties upon a judge, and, consequently, was unconstitutional.

As a consequence of the ruling of the Supreme Court, further amendment to the Labor Mediation Act became a must at the 1949 session of the Legislature.

In considering what amendments should be placed upon the act to make it effective and workable, both labor and management representatives in the public utility field recommended that a "fact finding" panel be set up. The difference between these two lies in the fact that under the arbitration panel findings of the three-man board must be followed and were binding upon both parties, while under the fact finding panel system the findings were simply recommendations and binding upon no one, but would rely upon the force of public opinion to obtain the consent of both parties to its recommendations. Under the fact finding panel type of procedure, it is possible for a strike to take place in a public utility. However, the legislature felt that the chances of a strike in an important public utility were rather remote because the governor has the power to seize a strike-bound utility and keep it in operation.

The whole theory of the labor mediation act as it now stands is the solving of disputes by voluntary agreement and the encouragement of negotiations for that purpose. The point was made by both labor and management that the inclusion of compulsory arbitration in the law reduced the chances of the parties reaching an agreement by negotiation, because in practically every case neither party would make its best offer before actual arbitration began.

In order to encourage voluntary arbitration of such disputes, the act also outlines the mechanics to be followed in voluntary arbitration where there is no provision in the contract between the parties which determines a procedure to be followed.

Under the 1947 act, before a strike could be legally called, employees were required to vote upon the question of whether or not they would strike. This vote would be a last resort following the failure of mediation to solve the matter under dispute. Such a vote would be by secret ballot, and in order to insure the maximum turnout for such election it was provided that the election be held upon the premises of the employer.

The 1949 act, as a result of the experience of the past two years, modified the latter provision by giving the State Labor Mediation Board power to determine where the election should be held, in the event that it "cannot be fairly held there (on the premises)." The Board is also authorized to adopt rules, regulations governing such elections, including provisions for absentee voting. The expense of such elections are now defrayed by the public treasury instead of the parties involved. Provision was retained for the printing upon the ballot, at the request of either party to the dispute, the employer's most recent offer of settlement.

The 1949 version of the Bonine-Tripp Act was one of several pieces of legislation passed by the 1949 legislature which was given immediate effect. As a result it is now in operation as is evidenced by the holding of recent elections at the Ford Motor Company and the Detroit Edison Company plants. Both of these companies are engaged to a large extent in interstate commerce and the fact that these elections were held under the state act gives some indication of the role that the state Labor Mediation Board is playing in the attempts to maintain labor peace.

Workers' Compensation Act

The final amendments to the Workers' Compensation Act as passed by the 1949 legislature, while not as all inclusive as that recommended by Governor William Weaver, nevertheless substantially increases benefits payable to injured parties and to dependents of deceased employees.

Previously under the Workers' Compensation Act, if an employee were killed under circumstances which entitled his dependents to compensation, his dependents would receive two-thirds of his weekly wage, subject to certain maximum and minimum amounts. Under the old act, maximum payments were graduated from $19 in the case of one dependent to a total of $27 if the deceased employee was survived by five or more dependents. Under the amendments, this maximum limitation was increased so that in case of one dependent $24 per week is paid and payments are then graduated in accordance with the total number of dependents surviving up to a maximum of $36 in case of the survival of five or more dependents. Increases were also made in the minimum amount which might be paid so that, if the employee leaves one dependent, $11 per week will be paid regardless of how small his weekly wage might have been. These minimum payments are graduated up to $19 in case of five or more dependents.

Previously there existed no provision for increasing the amount payable to a partially or totally incapacitated employee based upon the number of his dependents. Such an employee simply received two-thirds of his weekly wage up to a maximum of $21 or the minimum of $10 per week. The 1949 amendments provide that such employees will receive a maximum of $24 per week if he has no dependents. If he has one or more dependents these payments are increased in accordance with the number of dependents to not more than $34 per week and not less than $21 per week. Similar change in the maximum limitation was made also in case of partial incapacity.

Changes were also made in the length of time employees were entitled to medical care. Previously, employees were entitled to medical care for six months with an additional six months permitted at the discretion of the Workers' Compensation Commission. Under the new amendments, the Commission may authorize medical treatment for three additional six-month periods upon the expiration of the original six months.

Another change of importance to the employees is that now he is given access to the reports of medical examinations by the employer's physician.

A change of importance to small employers is that, previously if the employer had eight or more employees he must come under the act. The new amendments change this provision to four employees.

Unemployment Compensation Act

Increases similar to those in the Workers' Compensation Act were made in the benefits available to unemployed under the Unemployment Compensation Act. Previously those having no dependents received a maximum of $20 per week, while those having dependents received an additional $2 per week for each dependent up to a maximum of four dependents. Under the new amendments, unemployed persons with no dependents will receive $24 per week, while those having dependents will receive an additional $2 per week for each dependent up to four.

The legislature made certain other minor changes designed to improve administration of the act.

The entire Unemployment Compensation Act will be studied by a special joint committee of the Senate and House of Representatives between now and the date the 1951 Legislature meets. The act was originally rushed through the legislature in a one-day special session held on the last day of 1936 in order to comply with time limitations set up by the Federal Social Security Act which granted financial aid to the states to carry out the program. The law has been the subject of rather extensive amendments at every succeeding general session of the legislature with the result that it has grown like "topsy." It is expected that the legislative study committee will consult with both labor and management, as well as the administrators of the act, and will either draft extensive amendments or a complete revision to offer the 1951 legislature.

(The next article in the series will treat legislation having to do with the Old Age Assistance Law.)

RED CROSS CHAPTERS MEET

VARIED NEEDS OF SERVICEMEN

The Red Cross Home Service worker looked up from her desk to find an old man holding a telegram and twenty-five dollars and a long-absent son it meant a lot.

"My boy wants to come home, but he hasn't got the money for such an expensive trip," the old gentleman said. "He has just returned from 2 years overseas service and is getting a leave before his reassignment. His mother has been very sick and I think he might help her to get well. We are living on our family allowance and what money my son can send, but I've scraped together this $25. Can you give me enough more to bring him home?"

After verifying the facts, the Home Service worker sent a telegram to the Red Cross field director at the boy's camp, telling of the father's request and of the offer of the twenty-five dollars he could so ill afford. The following day she received an answering wire from the field director:

Under federal statute and regulations of the Army, the Navy, and the Air Force, the American Red Cross furnishes volunteer aid to the sick and wounded of the armed forces and acts in matter of voluntary relief and as a medium of communication between the people of the United States and their armed forces.

"Return twenty-five dollars to father. Army granting emergency leave and arranging for air transportation home. We are arranging for maintenance and return transportation."

It was only one item in a busy worker's day, but to two old people and a long-absent son it meant a lot.

Often the need is not for financial aid but for help with the unexpected problems that may hit any family and are more acute when the head of the family is thousands of miles away.

It was so with an Air Force sergeant who reemailed after overseas combat service. He left his wife and children in Kentucky on a farm with his mother-in-law. He also left 25 head of cattle, through which the family income would be supplemented. He thought his family secure for the 3 years of his new enlistment. Then disaster struck. The wife's mother became ill and was compelled to sell the farm and go to live with a distant sister. This left the sergeant's family without housing, and 25 head of cattle without care.

The Red Cross helped the soldier get emergency leave, helped him find suitable living quarters for his wife, and arranged for quick sale of his livestock. The sergeant then returned to duty, content in the knowledge that his wife and two small children were provided for.

Often, the need for help extends beyond the time a man is separated from the service. If, as a veteran, the man and his family continue to need aid, the chapter is ready to help.

That is Red Cross Home Service—a friend and counselor to the perplexed, to those in need, to men and women with problems.

Plucks of Waterloo Visit Mme. Flagstad

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Pluck and Mr. and Mrs. Georg Pluck were in Chicago the week-end of Nov. 12 and 13 for the Kirsten Flagstad concert. Mme. Flagstad, world-famous soprano, had sent a personal invitation to the Plucks to meet her there for one of the last concerts of her present tour. Mme. Flagstad, acknowledged the world's greatest singer, was greeted by a cheering audience of 3,000 persons and was wildly acclaimed for the beauty of her voice and the perfection of her art. The Plucks talked with her for some time at her suite in the Hotel Bismarck where she was staying with her daughter and son-in-law. Her three-year-old grandson was able to accompany his celebrated grandmother for the first time and they had great pleasure in playing together before his bedtime.

Mme. Flagstad, who has just returned from triumphal appearances in London, Milan, Paris and Salzburg, renewed her pre-war acquaintance with the Plucks upon her return to America in 1947.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Rabley and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rabley spent the week-end with relatives in Spencerville and Lima, Ohio.

Approximately 50 Christmas cards and stamps for hospitalized veterans were donated by members of the WRC at the social party held Thursday afternoon, Nov. 10, at the home of Mrs. W. G. Price. Mrs. John Steinbach was the assisting hostess.

Refreshments were served after the games which were the afternoon's diversion and Mrs. John Steinbach was awarded the door prize.

AFTERNOON PHILATHEA

With Mrs. Harry Prudden as co-hostess, the afternoon group of Philathea Circle of the Methodist church was entertained Wednesday, Nov. 9, at the home of Mrs. M. J. Betz. Dessert refreshments were served when the members arrived.

Ms. Leigh Beach presented the devotionals, and the topic, "Doing Little Things That Count," and Mrs. A. E. Hollidge was in charge of the program. She was assisted with readings pertaining to Africa, by Mrs. Leigh Beach, Mrs. Lester Schulze, Mrs. Ed. Gault and Mrs. W. C. Price.

During the business session it was decided that each member bring a gift to the next meeting. These gifts will then be sent as Christmas gifts to the Florida girl taking nurses' training under the sponsorship of the local group. Thirteen members and two guests attended Wednesday's meeting.

CHURCH FAMILY NIGHT

Approximately 40 persons attended the Family Night supper given by the Central Circle of the Methodist church in the church dining room last Thursday evening.

The devotions were given by Mrs. Harry Litteral and the study, "The Women of the Bible," was presented by Mrs. Mabel K. Foster.

During the business session it was decided that the next meeting will be the group's Christmas party and that instead of exchanging individual gifts, each one who attends will make a cash gift to the Circle. A Christmas program is to be given at the meeting.

Mrs. D. E. Beach

Honored on Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. David Beach entertained at a surprise one o'clock dinner at their home on Sunday for the pleasure of the former's mother, Mrs. D. E. Beach, on her 80th birthday. There were 25 relatives present, those from out of town being Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Schairer, of Parker road, and Mrs. E. J. Blackmore and two children, and Barbara Luick, of Battle Creek.

The buffet table decorations included a centerpiece arrangement of pink roses and carnations and white stock, one of the many gifts received by Mrs. Beach. She had also been remembered with many cards and messages of congratulations and good wishes during the preceding week.

Adding much to her enjoyment of the day was a telephone call from her son, Col. Dwight Beach, at Norfolk, Va., during which all members of his family talked with her and extended their best wishes.

DESSERT BRIDGE CLUB

The Dessert Bridge Club was entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Walter Kantlehner.

VFW AUXILIARY

At the VFW Auxiliary meeting held Monday evening, Nov. 14, in St. Mary's hall, plans were discussed for the annual bazaar to be held this month. A cake party was also planned in connection with the bazaar.

Mrs. Julius Reule returned home last Wednesday from Foote hospital where she had been a patient and had undergone a major operation. Her sister, Mrs. Gilbert Beemer, of Grass Lake, is visiting her and caring for her during her convalescence.

Mr. and Mrs. William Beach were Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Grossman, in Ann Arbor, and accompanied the Grossmans to the home of Mr. Grossman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Grossman, near Manchester, to spend the afternoon.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank all my friends, relatives and neighbors and members of the Rebekah Lodge for the kindnesses shown me and for the flowers, cards, candy and other gifts sent to me while I was at the hospital and since my return home. I especially wish to thank Rev. Grabowski for his calls.

Mrs. Julius Reule.

TAKEN IN 1909, in the Lynn Gorton store at Waterloo, this picture shows members of the Waterloo Cornet Band organized by Aaron J. Snyder, of Stockbridge in 1904. In August, 1908, this band won seventh place in competition with 22 bands from much larger communities in the Michigan state Band tournament at Lansing. The winning band selection was "Rose of Sharon," composed by their leader, Mr. Snyder. Band members are shown in their new blue broadcloth uniforms, trimmed in white, which had just replaced their former uniforms of green wool. Beginning at the left in the top row are John Lehman, Guy Westfall, Erle Notten, Ben Barber, Lynn Gorton, Carl Straub, Emory Runciman, Reuben Palmer and Will Barber; bottom row, William Henry Lehman, who, during World War I, was drum major for General Pershing's band, Victor Moeckel, Gottlieb Rothman, Herman Rothman, Aaron Snyder, Florenz Moeckel, Reuben Moeckel, Clarence Lehman and George Beeman. Substitute players, who often played with the band (although not shown in picture) were Wesley Smith, Faye Palmer, Ehler Notten, Erle Notten (shown in picture), George Clark, and M. W. McClure. The present Waterloo band gave an enjoyable concert at Chelsea's Community Fair last month, and also at the Kiwanis Amateur Show in the High School gymnasium, Saturday evening, Oct. 29. (Deceased). A previously organized band (organized in 1878) had as members Prof. White of Jackson, Ben Johnson, Louis Hubbard, Herbert Yocum, John Bachman, Charles and Albert Archenbrenn, William, Melvin and Fred Siegfried, Edward and Ben Lantis, Edward Croman and Dell Yocum.

BEN LANTIS of Waterloo, the only surviving member of the original Waterloo band of 1878, is shown above in a picture taken recently when he was a guest of honor at a party given to honor all past and present members of the band. Mr. Lantis, a life-long resident of Waterloo township, will celebrate his birthday Feb. 13, 1950.

Thanksgiving Facts

The first Thanksgiving day was celebrated by the New England colonists after their first harvest in 1621.

In Biblical times, the Canaanites held a harvest festival, and the Hebrews observed the harvest form of worship to Jehovah.

"It's a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord."—32nd Psalm.
Thanksgiving day was originally a fast day for the Popham colonists who landed at Mokenag Point near Kennebunk, Me., August 9, 1607. The day was set aside to give thanks for a safe arrival.

The first Thanksgiving in America lasted three days and there were more Indians at the celebration than white men.

"Give thanks unto the Lord; call upon his name; make known his deeds among the people."—Psalm 105:1.

Rural Tele-news

TINY TUBE—A new electron tube, developed by Bell Telephone Laboratories, is so small that it must be assembled under a microscope. It is six times more sensitive than present tubes used in radio relay Long Distance circuits and mobile telephone service. It will save space and save power and have a longer life. It's another step in the parade of telephone progress.

GOOD NEIGHBORS—In Michigan Bell territory there are more than 450 "roadway telephone companies"—small organizations whose farmer-members own and maintain some 6,000 telephones and 640 lines which connect with Michigan Bell switchboards. Michigan Bell charges the roadways only for switching and Long Distance calls, but as good neighbors, the company's technicians are available for assistance. They inspect the lines, demonstrate proper construction methods, help the roadways to obtain materials, and loan them special telephone tools. This helps to assure better rural telephone service for everyone.

HOW LONG IS A LONG DISTANCE? It may be across several counties, across the state or across the nation. But actually today, distance doesn't matter when you want to talk to someone. Your telephone will take you anywhere in a few minutes. If it's a buyer of farm products or a supplier of farm equipment you want to reach, one Long Distance call may make or save you many dollars. Service is friendly and courteous. And it costs surprisingly little.

THE HI-LIGHT

Franklin, Peggy Schaible, Gertrude Widmayer, Jeanne Schultz, Marlene Schneider, Linda Bradbury, Marilyn Johnson, Bill Kosselka, Bob Toney, Ronnie Eder, Corky Dreyer, Arden Musbach, and J. Neil Lantis, Chaperones were Mrs. Vogel, Mrs. Schaible, and Mrs. Franklin.

The College Day program consisted of short classes directed by some of the instructors and professors from the 14 colleges represented, of which the most important were: University of Michigan, Michigan State, Michigan

State-Normal, Western-Michigan, Albion, and Cleary.

Each student had the opportunity to attend two classes from 14 for discussion in which the students could ask questions in regard to these colleges. Pamphlets and booklets were also available to the students. One of the important points which was advised by the professors was that students should make their applications to colleges early; even as early as the junior year.

Much valuable and interesting information was given to those in preparation for college. However, since the time was so limited, the students were unable to attend many of the classes.

So if, in the near future, discussions on colleges or comments about professors for future careers are heard, it is undoubtedly those lucky seniors conversing!

now eliminated with the

GAS Garbage Burner

Now you can get rid of that smelly old garbage can that draws flies, vermin and stray dogs in summer and freezes up in winter. The modern, sanitary way is to dispose of all garbage, waste, trash, etc. in the gas-fired INCINOR installed in your basement.

Reduces fire risk from oily rags, waste paper and rubbish stored in the basement.

The gentle gas heat used in the INCINOR helps keep basement dry, takes off chill, helps dry clothes, makes basement comfortable for work or play.

No more garbage cans to lug and have to clean. No more unpleasant odors—whew!!—around the back door. Incinor reduces all trash and garbage to a thin, dry ash containing lime and potash that makes an excellent fertilizer for lawn and garden. Come in and see Calciner. Delivered and installed for a small down payment. Use 2 years while completing payments in small monthly amounts.

Eagle Convention Speech Is Entered in Congressional Record

Excerpts from the Congressional Record, dated Aug. 18, 1949, show that Hon. Mike Mansfield, of Montana, speaking that day in the House of Representatives in Washington, D. C., asked to have the 1949-50 convention speech of Vice Admiral Ross T. McIntire included in the Record. Admiral McIntire is chairman of a committee working under the supervision of the Secretary of Labor, in bringing the employability of the handicapped to the attention of our nation's employers and to all people, according to the Hon. Mike Mansfield. Describing himself as a member of the Eagles, Mansfield said, "I have been proud of their sponsorship of many programs in the public interest, and I am happy to report that they are in the forefront of this work on promotion of the employment of the impaired worker. I should like to have Admiral McIntire's remarks available for all my friends in the Congress to read, for what he is asking for in his talk to the Eagles is greater community efforts to help solve this problem."

Following are excerpts of Admiral McIntire's speech as included in the Congressional Record. "As a naval officer responsible for the health and physical well-being of many men and women I am familiar with what has been done, and what can be done, and what should be done in the rehabilitation and readjustment into employment of our casualties of war and peace. I stand here today and remind you that more must be done than is now being accomplished. I ask you here today to join me in developing one phase of a national program aimed at creating more employment opportunities for the handicapped. "The Eagles have already worked out their own blueprint for co-operation in this program.

"The blueprint of which I speak is the Community Institute on Employment of the Physically Handicapped. This is essentially a management-labor program of mutual understanding and mutual interest. But it won't be successful unless management participates by sending its top personnel, medical and administrative officials to attend the sessions of the Institute. Nor will it be successful unless other elements of your communities co-operate, attend and then become advocates of the program based upon the convincing evidence they see and hear at the Institute.

"This Institute not only provides an excellent community opportunity for the Fraternal Order of Eagles to carry on in the high tradition of public service for which it is so well known, but also to secure employment for brother Eagles or members of their families who may be seeking work for which they are qualified and for which they have been trained. "You have already given the answer in your stamp program to finance yourselves the higher education of those children of Eagles who gave their lives for us. You can help give the answer also in your adoption of this Institute program as a major project for 1949-50. You won't be working alone, however. Vice President Barkley recently stated on a national radio hook-up that the response of businessmen, industrialists and labor officials to the President's plan to place more handicapped workers on the job has been highly gratifying. He also said we must intensify our efforts so that a war wound or an industrial accident is not a one-way ticket to the side lines."

MICHIGAN MIRROR

tion recommending to the Governor and to the State Highway Commissioner that every effort should be made at an early date to bring about the construction of the bridge. The resolution pointed out that the structure could be constructed 50 per cent of its cost being paid by grant of the Congress and the remaining 50 per cent being paid by sale of revenue bonds to private investors "without obligation of any kind on the part of the state." Hotel men feel keenly that Michigan will miss a good bet if the traffic bottleneck at the Straits is not removed in the near future. Leading argument: Modjeski and Masters, bridge and traffic engineers, forecast that motor traffic across the Straits would triple in one year after completion of a bridge.

● Approximately 5,000 employees of the Ford Motor company at Dearborn will be eligible for retirement in April, 1950, at pensions of $100 per month including Social Security benefits. The company estimates that 13,000 employees are 60 years of age or over. The new pension plan will cost the company $20,000,000 per year. Increase in the price of Ford automobiles may be an indirect result.

● With election of Wyley R. Kirk of Fairgrove as chairman of the State-Agricultural-Commission, speculation has increased that Charles Figy, director of the State Department of Agriculture, may be replaced in the near future. Figy was reappointed by the old commission early in 1948, but the usual one-year appointment was withheld.

● Governor G. Mennen Williams continues to utilize the Attorney General and State Controller as agencies to put Republican state elective officials on the defensive. The Attorney General has ruled that purchases by the Highway Department must be cleared through the Department of Administration of which the controller is director. As Republicans hold a majority on the state administrative board, headed by the Governor, the recent moves by Williams have been largely nullified.

● Banks of Michigan paid a record sum of $3,503,873 as interest earnings on funds of the State Treasury. It is announced by State Treasurer D. Hale Brake. Brake has been mentioned as a possible Republican candidate for Governor in 1950. Accordingly, he has been the target of criticisms by Governor Williams, well publicized in the press. When the Governor asked the State Treasurer to collect interest on some $32,000,000 in state funds on deposit at banks, Brake replied with a press statement that such was not practical in view of the state needs for funds and requirements of banks for 30- to 60-day or longer withdrawal notice for money on deposit drawing interest.

● The October term of the Michigan Supreme Court is being watched carefully by Lansing observers. Among the cases before the court is the suit brought by Attorney General Stephen J. Roth contesting appointment of former Gov. Kim Sigler as Special Macomb County Prosecutor. The case involves a charge that former Senator Ivan A. Johnston, Mt. Clemens, allegedly accepted a bribe while serving as Macomb County Prosecutor. Special Macomb Judge Paul R. Cash, Alma, ruled in favor of Sigler.

● The continued trend of high school graduates to colleges and universities is shown by the all-time enrollment record at Michigan State College, East Lansing. The 1948 total was 15,886, the new record is 16,051. Of this number 49 per cent are war veterans. To re-visitors that most of the new buildings are being financed with out cost to the public, the college administration has erected large signs in front of new buildings with this reminder.

● Contracts have been awarded by the state administrative board construction of the first 500-bed unit of the new Michigan State Mental Hospital. Total overall cost of the hospital development is expected to approximate $12,000,000 with facilities for 3,000 patients. The hospital is only 30 minutes from downtown Detroit.

● Grass root sentiment on state issues are to be studied by a Republican policy planning committee headed by Dr. Robert M. Ford of the University of Michigan. Ford was a former administrative assistant to former Governor Harry F. Kelley, Vice-Chairman are Herman H. Luhrs, Royal Oak; Mrs. Isabelle Schwaderer, Cass City, and George A. Osborn, Sault Ste. Marie.

Polio Victim Showing Steady Improvement

Curtis Hanselman, who is a patient at the Farmington Convalescent hospital for treatment of conditions resulting from an attack of polio, was taken to the bone and joint clinic at U. of M. hospital last Thursday for a check-up. Doctors at the clinic told his mother, Mrs. Ruby Hanselman, that he might be ready to return home in about four weeks. He is to be fitted with a brace for his left foot. Mrs. Hanselman said the doctors said her son is improving nicely. She said Curtis enjoyed the trip to Ann Arbor and a stop in South Lyon for supper.
