'Winter Weather' Elsewhere as Our 'Summer' Fades
In a letter written to the Standard on Jan. 25, R. W. Heller, of Orofino, Idaho, said they were having real winter weather there and the temperature that morning was below zero.

Another letter written by Andrew Hafley at Portland, Oregon, on Jan. 27, also mentions "real winter weather" there. He said there had been lots of snow and it had stormed every day this year following a blizzard on New Year's Day.

Chelsea's mild winter with almost no snow to speak of since the Thanksgiving week-end is quite a contrast. The former Chelsea residents in the west will probably find it almost impossible to believe that last Wednesday (the day Mr. Heller wrote his letter) the temperature here was 72 degrees. It was reported to be the "hottest" Jan. 26 in 44 years in this area. Of course, the next day it was much colder and by Friday morning the temperature hovered around 16 degrees above zero. And if we continue by describing the misty rain over the week-end, the 10-degree temperature on Monday and the snowfall of three inches on Tuesday, our correspondents in the west will probably be well satisfied with their own brand of "real winter."

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Adam and family, of Dearborn, visited Sunday at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Adam.

Rice Diet
Rice, basic food for half of the world's population, has proved useful in other ways. In the Orient, clothing and shelter are manufactured from rice straw. It has been recently discovered that a rice diet, supplemented by other vitamins, seems to help 60 per cent of patients with high blood pressure and kidney diseases.

Butcherbird
The North American shrike, commonly known as the butcherbird, gets its nickname for the unusual manner in which it kills its prey. A shrike captures small birds, mice, and grasshoppers in its strong beak and then forces them onto thorns, fence barbs, or broken twigs, in the same manner a butcher hangs meat on hooks.

District will present "How a Soil Conservation District Functions." Dr. Steiner has received his excellent knowledge of soil conservation through practical experience. He was raised on a farm in Ohio. For some years now he has owned a large farm near Saline. Most of the acres have been put into grass in order to reduce erosion. Washtenaw farmers will be greatly interested to hear Dr. Steiner's discussion on soil conservation.

Washtenaw county 4-H director, Don Johnson, will introduce Robert Breininger of Dexter, and Stanley Toney of Chelsea, who will present their state champion livestock demonstration "Grain Rations for Sheep," the demonstration which won each one of the boys a gold wrist watch and $20.00 at the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago.

Professor John L. Brumm, for many years chairman of the Department of Journalism at the University of Michigan and well-known throughout Washtenaw county for his ready wit and humorous observations, will entertain the audience with "Farm Yarns".

Vocal selections of "Old Songs You Like To Hear" will be presented by a Dexter male quartet—Rha Arnold, G. F. Craig, John F. Hoey and Rev. Harold Youngberg.

At the conclusion of the formal part of the program, Dr. James B. Davis, president of the Dexter Community Forum, expects a period of lively audience participation in the form of questions and answers. Farmers having questions concerning the Brannon bill or soil conservation have an opportunity to have them answered by experts.

The meeting is public and everyone interested in rural life or agriculture is cordially invited to this all-farm program.

VFW Auxiliary Gives Hospital Party

Eleven local women, members of the VFW Auxiliary, went to Howell Monday evening to provide entertainment for the hospitalized veterans at the sanatorium. They were met at the sanatorium by VFW Department Hospital Chairmen Mrs. Crystal Handy and her assistant, Mrs. Loretta Helm, both of Howell.

Ice cream and cookies were served and cigarettes were distributed to 57 bed patients, a Waco, and 27 patients who were able to come to the dining room. A few children also were served some cookies and a box of cookies was left there for distribution to the children in the wards the next morning.

Two Chelsea men, Astor Marshall and Harold Ripow, were among the veterans at the party.

The Chelsea VFW members provided prizes, consisting of various toilet articles, for the games which were played by the veterans during the evening.

The Chelsea party of ladies who went to Howell included Mary Knies, Josephine Hochstein, Iza Cary, Alura Coor, Iida Juergens, Eulalie Packard, Ruth Perkins, Florence Merkel, Loretta Doll, Gertrude O'Dell and Myrtle Price.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Satterthwaite and sons were Sunday evening supper guests at the home of cousin Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Finkbeiner, in Saline.

Club and Social Activities

WRC PAST PRESIDENTS

The Past Presidents of the WRC held a social meeting Thursday evening, Jan. 26, at the home of Mrs. Ernest Adam.

After a short business meeting games were enjoyed with Mrs. Florence Walker receiving high prize; Mrs. Catherine Hafner, low, and Mrs. Ruth Christwell, the door prize.

The next meeting of the group is to be held at the Wood home Friday evening, Feb. 10. Husbands of the members are to be guests at the party.

PNG CLUB

Mrs. George Barth entertained the PNG club at her home Thursday, Jan. 26. A dessert lunch, served by Mrs. Barth to the ten members present preceded the business meeting during which plans for the year's work were discussed. Plans for the year include the March of Dimes polo fund; providing a Thanksgiving basket of food to some deserving family next fall and a pledge of four cans of home-canned fruit or vegetables to be given by each member of the group to be sent to the Nekech and Odd Fellow Home at Jackson.

A pot-luck lunch was served after the games.

EDUCATING ONE'S PARENTS

I have often considered going into the teaching profession, not just ordinary teaching nor ordinary pupils, but I would attempt to educate those many "young in heart" but "old in manner" parents. The vital need of this "parent education" is becoming more apparent than ever, judging by the many old maids and old bachelors in the country today. Taking this point of view, I have decided to do something about it. I have decided to establish a school offering certain courses for parents. I haven't decided what courses I would offer and require each parent to take, but undoubtedly something in psychology and understanding and practicing present day methods and trends of raising children.

Some of the trouble between parents and children seems to be due to the misunderstanding, on the part of the parents, of their children. Parents don't seem to use their heads (it's probably more interesting if they don't) when it comes to the adolescent's social life with the opposite sex. Take the matter of dates. The average girl would like to hear a simple "Have a good time", from her parents as she prepares to leave with her date, but instead her parents have a barrage of questions: "Where are you going?" "Is he a good driver?" "What does his father do?" "How old is his mother?" and any other question to satisfy their curiosity for the time being. (The worst question is "Is he a good driver?" in the morning!) They can't understand that at the age of seventeen you're old enough to take care of yourself, and that you no longer need to be fed and babied, buttoned and unbuttoned, dusted off when you fall. Furthermore, you have a terrible time on the date, imagining your parents sitting at home clock-watching, making sure you're home exactly at the stroke of ten.

The most exasperating of these bad parental habits is the one that seems to occur only when your best beau comes over. Parents who are young enough to know better, make things very difficult by remaining in their chairs, long after their usual retiring hour, and sitting and sitting even though the conversation has just started to go down for the third time.

Finally coming to, they thoughtfully decide to retire, on, but not before forming you to come to bed in five minutes. At this point, the normal individual is convinced that there is no fairness in the world. It hasn't been proven, but this is undoubtedly the cause of many broken hearts.

Parents are so inconsiderate! If ever you want to go along with the gang by wearing white, mom always accuses you of wearing your dad's best one. She never stops to consider that it could have been a mistake. Dads are always griping because you're in the throes so long. They don't seem to realize that cleanliness is next to godliness.

Parents are so contradictory. They propagandize for the grown-up state, "When you're old as mother you'll be able to stay up late too," and in the next breath, they reverse their field and come out for childhood. "Wish I were a child again!"

I hope I have made clear by these illustrations the need for parental guidance. The most important points I would stress to the parents are those things which are most illuminating and provocative to their children.

Some of these would be: A parent should remember that his status as such doesn't automatically make him right when there is a difference of opinion. If Susan or Bertram make a silly mistake, the parent should hold his temper and remember that they have inherited at least one half of what they have from him.

He should practice what he preaches. He should ask, "What are other kids doing?" instead of the old familiar, "When I was your age..."

He should try to remember what it was like being young, he should try not to forget the agony of sitting at the movies with mom and dad and seeing Joe there with another girl. He should stop being parent long enough to forget how practical the green dress is and listen to the rustle of the blue one. A rustle means a lot at a party.

A parent should not pry, but should never go to the opposite extreme and be indifferent to his child's experiences outside the home.

He should not nag. A parent should laugh at his children's jokes.

Most important, a parent should remember these things.

From all my observations, I have decided that this training, unfortunately for the parents, should be compulsory. Don't get me wrong, however, because I don't think all parents would require the same amount of bringing up. For instance, the younger ones wouldn't require as much preaching to as the older ones.

On the whole I think the idea of having parents is a fine idea and a thrilling experience in all cases. So chin up, parents, graduation from my school doesn't take much money or time, and just think you too can have a diploma from my "School of Parentology". You just can't lose!

Excuse me, but your manners are showing.

"Hey! Wait a minute there, Speedy! You got a ticket for that!" No, that's not a voice of a policeman you just heard; but of a policeman who had been stationed in the hallway of C.H.S. from Jan. 23 to the 27. The punishment for all who attend Chelsea High, was "Manners Week" sponsored by the Home Making Clubs of Chelsea High. Tickets were distributed among the hall "cops" and any offender who was caught, issued a ticket for the stub of the ticket, which the "cop" kept with the offender's grade on it. At the end of the week, the grade with the most tickets was announced as the most ill-mannered class of C.H.S. Some of the offenses were speeding, hitting and running, cornering, passing on the right and many others.

Students can rest at ease again for awhile, as "manner week" is over, but we should admit that it did us a lot of good! Buck up and remember, was can always improve, which was proved this past week.

MARCH OF DIMES

The "March of Dimes" campaign came to an end last Tuesday. The grade school children were successful in their attempt to raise a hundred dollars, while the high school students did fairly well in reaching their quota. The seventh grade went so far as to go over its quota. In order for a class to reach its quota each member of the class had to donate twenty-five cents. On the whole the school did very well in this campaign.

SENIOR REVIEW

When basketball and bowling are mentioned, people automatically think of a certain senior girl who is always doing one of the above sports, dressed in jeans and a shirt while singing her favorite song "Stardust". For the boys who are interested, her favorite show is "The Stratton Story" and she simply loves fried chicken and French fries. By now I'm sure you have guessed that this senior girl is Marilyn Jean Johnson. Marilyn was born in Eaton Rapids on February 20, 1933. To keep in good favor with Marilyn, a person must have a good sense of humor.

Marilyn has participated in many school activities, some of which are: four years of G.A.A., Latin Club, Chorus, Journalism and Student Council. She was class president her sophomore and senior years and general chair- (Continued on page eight) that's strictly inside stuff!

HERE'S THE NEW 1950 BUICK SUPER 126, companion body-type to the equally new ROADMASTER 130. Both are shorter than last year's 4-door Sedans—yet 4 inches longer in wheelbase. In both, the difference is used to give you real stretch-out room in the rear seat.

What the boys did here really calls for some medals. That means easier parking, easier tucking away in family garages, easier maneuvering in crowded traffic.

We gave them the job of coming up with something that was bigger inside—for room and comfort—longer in wheelbase—always important to good riding qualities—yet unbulky and easy-handling in over-all dimensions.

Just look how well this tidy number meets these "impossible" specifications! Item one—rear-seat cushions are a full foot wider than last year's SUPERS and ROADMASTERS.

Item two—in every dimension—leg-room, head-room, hip-room, shoulder-room—this rear-seat compartment is bigger than previous models—and nearly four inches longer, fore and aft, than other 1950 Buick interiors.

Item three—wheelbases are the longest of our 1950 line. On the SUPER, it is 125 1/4" instead of 121 1/4"—on the ROADMASTER 130 1/4" instead of 126 1/4".

Yet—and here's where the magic comes in—the whole car is shorter over-all. Actually less from bumper to bumper than previous Buicks in these series.

man of the prom in her eleventh year. Merilyn has been a great asset to not only the senior class but the entire school.

Merilyn believes every student should take part in some sport in high school. She also believes a person should get a job if it does not interfere with school work, as it comes first in Merilyn's mind. Merilyn has attended Chelsea all her life.

Attention: Height five feet nine; weight 170 pounds; eyes blue; hair brown; age 20 years. This boy is often seen around Chelsea High School because it just happens that he is a member of the senior class. His name if you haven't already guessed is Coyne Holliday. He was born March 20, 1929 and attended the school at North Lake before he came to Chelsea High School. Coyne likes hunting and baseball and his favorite food is fried chicken. Coyne belongs to the FFA, the Hi-Y, and the high school chorus. Watch for him. You may see him driving a '37 Plymouth.

DEMOCRACY IN ACTION

The Journalism dance will be held April 21, instead of April 24. Mr. Fischer talked to the Student Council about spending a week-end at the Waterloo Arsenal. He said it would give the Council a chance to learn more about our surroundings. The members of the Student Council decided they would do this.

The plans for the Junior supper were accepted. The Juniors will give their supper February 3, before the U-High basketball game.

Kay Murphy, David Hoffman and Jean McClure were appointed by the president to investigate having a Student Court.

HI-Y All members of the Hi-Y attended church services at the Congregational Church last Sunday. In the last meeting it was decided that no one, not a member of the Hi-Y, would be allowed to go swimming with them in Ann Arbor every two weeks. They now are running a sale on socks which have C.H.S. on them. They have them for boys and girls. Prizes are awarded to the boys selling the most.

ATHLETIC BOARD

In a special meeting held by the Athletic Board, the following people were voted on to receive various awards: B. Eversatt, O'Connor, T. Betts and A. Muebach. These awards are to be the same as the others.

"MOTHER HELPER"

"Future Homemakers" is the name of the eighth grade's present unit. This unit will be about cooking, which will include learning to use recipes, how to prepare simple lunches and planning parties. They will also study ways of helping their mothers at home, such as caring for their rooms and clothes. Baby-sitting will also be discussed as it is a problem and a good way to get spending money.

Other units for this semester will be "Mannerful Miss" and "Cotton Time."

GOOD MANNERS

"Good Manners" is the goal for not only Homemaking I class but for the entire school. Everyone is trying to improve his manners. The girls are also working on good grooming which they call "Plain Jane's Change."

"CLOTHING CONSTRUCTION" Homemaking II is studying about advertising, labeling and buying points in clothing. These points will be very useful for future purposes.

HOPEST (less) CHEST

Hope? (less) Chest—Dish towels, sheets, pillow cases, linen, silverware, china—what's the meaning of this? Ask any homemaking girl and she will be able to answer. These are articles which they are studying in a unit called, "Hope Chest Unit." They are finding out how to buy and properly use these things. What about this studying, boys, will it be all in vain? Time alone can answer this question.

U. HIGH DEFEATS CHELSEA

The girls' basketball team lost to U. High by the slim margin of one point last Thursday. It was a close game all the way with a score of 10 to 10 at the half. U. High kept a one-point lead for the rest of the game to win 16 to 15. J. Hughes was high scorer for Chelsea with six points and B. Goldman led the winners with eight points.

The starting lineup for Chelsea was Captain P. Scott, J. Hughes, M. Schrader, M. Johnson, P. Schaible and J. McClure. Others who got in the game were W. Franklin, L. Eisele, J. Hughes, J. Murphy, G. Widmayer and R. Eismann.

The next game will be at Saline February 10, at four o'clock.

DOWN SOUTH AMERICAN WAY

The band has been practicing the "Overture" Argentine, very diligently. Being a number with South American rhythms, it is very difficult to play but the band is trying to overcome this.

The choice numbers for the contest have not been selected. On Thursday, January 26, the band director from Dexter was a guest of the Chelsea High Band. He directed a concert march.

Assemblies ...

On Wednesday morning all boys met in the gymnasium for the purpose of discussing some of the problems in the school, such as the student court, the noon hour council, stealing from the locker room, and the use of the gymnasium. A vote was taken on the student court; the decision was unanimous in favor of a student court. A student council member was chosen to bring it up before the student council.

Another discussion was held on the noon hour council. It ended in a deadlock between the pupils that go home for lunch and the pupils that eat at school. The controversy was over representation in the council. The pupils who go home for lunch wanted equal representation and the pupils who eat at school thought that they should have more representation because they were the ones who were concerned mostly in the noon hour program. The problem of playing softball at noon in the spring was also brought up. One solution was to have a new school with more playground space. Other possibilities were taking buses in the athletic field and letting the grade school children play in the gymnasium. No more, agreeable solution could be reached on the use of the gymnasium between the boys and the girls; and the only answer to the problem was to lock the lockers or put valuables in the equipment room during practice.

IMPROVING OUR ALMA MATER

At a meeting of the fairer sex, held Wednesday, the girls discussed the following items: having a student court; putting up shower curtains after home games; getting permission to practice in the gym more often; the display of affection which pupils show towards each other in school.

The girls came to no decision in the matter of setting up a student court for trial of pupils who are guilty of stealing articles from other students. Although the majority of the assembly stated that a court would be more effective than merely relying on a person's honesty, they agreed that being called before the court might ruin a pupil's self respect. The Athletic Board has promised to investigate furnishing shower curtains for the girls.

A committee consisting of Jean McClure, Richard Shirley Williams, and Mary Ellen Moore was appointed to inquire about practicing in the gym.

The girls decided that, although other schools are more lenient concerning "puppy love," holding hands and "looking like a sick," does not give visitors a good opinion of the school. The students feel that if the above suggestions are practiced, the school will be considerably improved.

BASKETBALL BANQUET

Plans for the junior supper are complete and they have been accepted by the Student Council. The plans include: (1) supper will be served at 5:30; cafeteria style from tables in the lower hall; (2) the teachers will eat in the Ag. room, and the students in the study hall; (3) the price is 50 cents per plate; (4) there will be dancing from 5:00 until 6:30, before and after supper.

The work has been divided into groups and committees have been assigned for these groups. Those groups and committees are: Tables and Study Hall Clean Up—Allen Erke, Melvin Leach, Jimmy Robards, Claude Deatrick, and Duane Hall.

Money—Kay Murphy and Joan Scholander.

Why Should a Dollar's Worth of Travel
Continue to Cost You $1¹⁵?

"IS THIS TRIP NECESSARY?" you were asked in 1941, when every inch of space was needed for troops and war supplies.

To discourage travel then, a tax was added on your travel dollar, a tax that grew to 15% during the war. The Federal Government collected it through the railroads. The Government still collects it, though your travel need not be rationed now.

Today, the original purpose of this tax is as obsolete as an Air Warden's helmet. But, four years after the war's end, YOU are still paying the Government at the rate of $250,000,000 a year in travel tax.

And, of the billion and three quarters collected since 1941, over half came out of your pocket after the green light on travel went on again.

You don't have food rationing today... you don't have gasoline rationing today.

Yet, a very real brake is still being put on travel. On a coach trip from New York to Chicago, for example, YOU are still paying $4.61 in Federal tax.

And the same with the goods that are shipped to your home community. On every dollar you pay for freight, you pay the Government an extra 3 cents (4¢ a ton on coal). That means YOU are still paying over $300,000,000 a year—freight tax alone.

This tax should be repealed NOW. There is no longer any reason you should pay $1.15 for every dollar's worth of travel... $1.03 for every dollar of railroad freight.

security benefits, now admittedly out of balance with today's inflated dollar.

● The coming economic squeeze on "little businesses" illustrates why many thoughtful business men are genuinely concerned over the present steady drift toward the welfare state. If farmers are guaranteed fair prices for their crops, if workers are guaranteed economic security from cradle to grave, what will be the final outcome?

And if to oppose such new Utopian protection for the masses is to qualify a critic for the odious label of a "reactionary," then the business man may arrive at the philosophical fatalism recently expressed in "Trends," a journal of the National Association of Manufacturers:

● "There has never in past history been any large state that controlled its citizens as completely as they are controlled in the Soviet Republic or even in modern England."

It may be that the present tendencies toward centralization are too strong to be resisted until they have led to disaster, and that, as happened in the fifth century, the welfare state must break down with all the inevitable results of anarchy and poverty before human beings can again acquire that degree of personal freedom without which life loses its savor.

● State socialism and inflation go hand in hand. It is high time that every American re-appraise the ultimate price of the inevitable outcome: Disaster for the nation and loss of freedom for the individual.

DEATHS

Mrs. Edgar Nichols

Mrs. Edgar Nichols, former Webster township resident, who, with her husband, had made her home with Mrs. Mabel Foster, of 127 Park street the past two and one-half years, died there Sunday evening after a short illness. She was 87 years old and a native of England, having come to Chatham, Ontario, about eighty years ago. She later lived in Ann Arbor.

Formerly Mary Ann Buckley, she was married to Mr. Nichols in Ann Arbor about 50 years ago. The couple had no children.

Following their marriage, they lived near the Webster church in Webster township for about a year and then on the Kalmbach farm in Ann Arbor township before moving to their own farm home on Nichols road in Dexter township where they lived until their retirement about four years ago.

Mr. Nichols and a number of nieces and nephews survive. The funeral services were held at the Miller Funeral Home at 10 o'clock yesterday afternoon, with Rev. O. W. Morrow officiating. Burial was in Munith cemetery.

John Guthrie

John Guthrie, of Fulton, a nephew of Samuel Guthrie, died suddenly at his home Friday afternoon. He had been a frequent Chelsea visitor through the years and only the Sunday before his death had been here to attend the funeral of Miss Alma Pierce. He had also visited his uncle and other relatives.

A son of Thomas and Amy Pierce Guthrie he was about 69 years old at the time of his death. His mother was one of eleven children born on the old Pierce farm to Hiram and Catherine Cassidy Pierce, Sylvan township pioneers.

Survivors include his wife, Maude; a daughter, Mrs. Gladys O'Dell of Battle Creek; two brothers, Hiram Guthrie of Victorburg, and Sherman Guthrie of Marcellus; a sister, Mrs. Walter Young of Fulton, and a number of cousins and more distant relatives. Chelsea cousins who survive are Elmer, Paul, Charles and Miss Alma Pierce, Harry Prudden, Mrs. Charles Wortley, Mrs. E. M. Elsmann, Miss Lida Guthrie, Mrs. Alice Floyd, Mrs. Mabel Hoppe and Mrs. William Fahrner.

Funeral services were held at Fulton Monday afternoon. Those from Chelsea and vicinity who attended the funeral are: Miss Lida Guthrie, Mrs. Horace Robinson, Mrs. Gerald Luick, Harry Prudden, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wortley, Mrs. Effie Mee, Mrs. Elmer Pierce, Charles Pierce and Nathan Pierce.

Kiwanis Club

Henry Fenn

the former Winans store under the name of R. S. Armstrong company, Dr. Armstrong and Henry Fenn, until 1938.

At this time, Mr. Fenn became a traveling salesman in Ohio for a short time for the Foot and Shoe Company, of Cleveland, Ohio, and then took a similar position with the Frederick Stearns company of Detroit. While employed with the Stearns company he traveled throughout the western part of the United States from Nebraska to the Pacific Coast. It was later in 1938 and while he was still a salesman for the Stearns company that he and Mr. Vogel bought out the Armstrong company which they operated under the name of Fenn and Vogel until 1949.

In all his experience in the drugstore business Mr. Fenn always operated a grocery business in conjunction with his pharmacy until he sold out the grocery business in the present Red and White store location on December 18, 1947. An archway had connected the two stores.

Mr. Fenn remembers that when his business was located in the present location, groceries, alcohol, gasoline and kerosene, his stock of gasoline and kerosene was kept across the road in a shed on the west side of Main street. The shed also housed a watering trough for horses which was kept filled by the village windmill. When gasoline or kerosene was ordered by a customer the can was carried across the street and filled.

On November 19, 1890, Mr. Fenn was married to Margaret Staffan, a daughter of another pioneer Chelsea family. Her father, Frank Staffan, is said to be the first undertaker-embalmer to locate here. He also built a number of the business places in the downtown section in addition to the Staffan Block of which the Fenn store is a part. The Staffan family homestead was on South Main street where the H. T. Moore family now resides. When the present brick house was built the original frame dwelling was moved to the northwest corner of Taylor and Pierce streets where it still stands. However, its former appearance was entirely changed when it was remodeled about fifteen years ago.

Following their marriage, which took place in St. Mary's church with Father William Considine officiating, Mr. and Mrs. Fenn lived for a time in the Newton house on South street where Kenneth Schans lives now. Then they lived for several years where the Joseph Wrights now make their home, on South Main street, the house having been built by Mrs. Fenn's father. They moved into their present home in 1897.

The Fenns have a son, Clare H., a pharmacist in Ann Arbor, and a daughter, Mrs. Frederick Trous, of Buffalo, N. Y. They have one grandson, Howard Fenn, who is a student at Notre Dame.

Mr. Fenn is now a privileged member of the Chelsea Kiwanis club. He is one of six local charter members of the club who received 25-year honor certificates at the Kiwanis anniversary party last year. He is also honored as the oldest member of the local club.

In celebration of his birthday, a card was sent to him containing the signatures of all the Kiwanis members.

Miss Lida Guthrie, herself a registered pharmacist, has been employed in the Fenn store since 1908.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gage entertained Mr. and Mrs. Elba Gage and Mr. and Mrs. Leigh Luick and sons, Duane and David, at supper Sunday evening, the occasion being a birthday of their son, Lynn.
