

Central Fibre Co., Federal Screw Grant Union Pension Plans

Harold Jones, vice-president and general manager of Central Fibre Products company, announced yesterday that approval of provisions of the company's contract with the Union was received Tuesday from national UAW-CIO headquarters and that the contract will now be completed. The five-year agreement will provide for an annual wage increase of four cents per hour for each of the five years and includes a "cost of living" clause. In addition to the blanket raise of four cents per hour, skilled labor is to receive an additional five cents an hour increase.

Workers with 15 years' seniority are to receive three weeks of vacation with pay, and sick benefits are to be paid at the rate of $35 per week for a period of 26 weeks instead of 13 weeks as at present. Workers retiring at 65 years of age will be maintained by the firm in group life insurance to the amount of $500.

Hospital benefits are to be increased to $9 per day from the present $7 per day.

Pension provisions at Central Fibre are patterned after the General Motors plan which is the same as that adopted at the Federal Screw Works.

The Federal Screw Works has negotiated a five-year contract with the UAW-CIO which includes hospitalization, disability and surgical insurance, a "cost of living" clause, a blanket wage increase of seven cents per hour at this time and provision for a three-cent-an-hour wage increase for each of the four remaining years of the contract. Stuart R. Booker, general manager of the local plant, made the announcement of the wage contract yesterday.

The pension plan provides for payment of the difference between the amount of social security benefits and the maximum sum of $100 for workers retiring at 65 years of age and having had 25 years or more of service with the company. Proportionately reduced pensions are provided for 65-year-olds retiring with a record of service down to a minimum of ten years.

The "cost of living" clause provides for re-opening of negotiations for re-adjustment of wages up or down according to the rise or fall of living costs.

The seven-cent hourly wage increase was made effective as of June 1, 1950, while the pension plan and other contract conditions are dated July 1.

The entire Werkner-Stofer road link connecting M-92 and North Territorial road is now completely blacktopped, the remaining one and one-half mile having been blacktopped within the past few weeks, according to Washtenaw County Road Commission officials. The cost of this portion of the blacktopping was divided between the adjoining townships and the county, in accordance with an agreement made some time ago. Lyndon, Sylvan and Dexter townships, together, paid 50 per cent of the cost. The main part of the road (between three and one-half and four miles) was previously done with federal assistance. The intersection of M-92 and Werkner road has taken on an entirely different appearance with the high banks at either side of the road cut down. This was done when work on the intersection improvement was begun last year. The view is now unobstructed for drivers approaching the intersection from either way, a safety factor much appreciated by those who remember the former blind driving at this point.

Procedure Outlined to Establish County Zoning Ordinance

By GEORGE D. HURRELL
Director, Washtenaw County
Planning Commission

Washtenaw county contains 722 square miles. Of this area seven square miles are included within the city limits of Ann Arbor. Four square miles comprise the city of Ypsilanti, and the other cities and villages comprise an additional four square miles. The remainder, 707 square miles, is unincorporated, yet it is neither static in area or population.

Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, and Milan have annexed adjacent territory recently. In 1947 East Ann Arbor incorporated as a city. For the entire county the 1950 population totaled 133,323, or a 65 per cent gain over the 1940 figure of 80,810. In areas classified as rural the residents totaled 66,608 in 1940, compared to 37,644 in 1950. This represents a 50 per cent gain. The unincorporated portions of the county most densely populated are on the fringes of Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti and the corridor between the two cities.

This metropolitan region is expanding. Easy accessibility and attractiveness in the residential areas is rapidly spreading the urban growth. This growth is especially noted along major highways, around the lakes, and where good schools and school bus facilities exist.

During 1948 and 1949, 6 million dollars worth of new residential construction was located outside the corporate limits of cities and villages. New and relocated residences, businesses and industries have increased their construction values and stimulated the urban sprawl. Pittsfield Village, the Howard Johnson restaurant, and the King-Seely Corporation are examples of this trend.

Experience has shown that zoning is most valuable as an instrument to direct new residential, commercial, and industrial growth. It is inevitable that a large part of the new growth will continue.

to take place in the unincorporated areas of Washtenaw county.

What is Zoning?

Zoning is a regulation controlling the use of land and buildings (for residence, agriculture, business, and industry) the amount of open space around buildings (front yards, side yards and rear yards), the size of lots and the maximum number of families that may be housed in any dwelling or structure. Zoning does not control the cost of building, the architecture, or the type of construction. Zoning is not retroactive. Any use being made of the land or buildings at the time an ordinance was enacted may be continued indefinitely, at the option of the user, even though it does not conform to the provisions of the ordinance. Zoning only affects new or different or changed uses of land and buildings.

Why Should We Zone Washtenaw?

Zoning is required primarily for the protection of property values. No one wants to build or buy a new home and then find the land next door being used for a junk yard or for a store or industry. There is plenty of room in Washtenaw county for all types of land uses—for agriculture, for residences, for businesses, and for industries. Zoning is a method of providing plenty of room for each of these and then seeing that each is built in a place well adapted for it where it will not interfere with other uses. Under zoning the future environment of any parcel of land may be determined and investments in new buildings made with much more certainty. Zoning regulations will encourage new growth and increase the usefulness and value of the unincorporated parts of the county.

County zoning would apply only to the unincorporated areas which are not covered by existing township zoning ordinances. Townships wishing to withdraw from county zoning may do so, but are required by law to enact a zoning ordinance of their own. Townships already zoned may come under the provision (Continued on page ten)

Burning Rubbish Now Prohibited in Downtown Area

The ordinance regulating the burning of rubbish in the fire district (downtown area) is now in effect, and village officials are warning offenders that it must be observed or action will be taken. The fire district is the area bounded on the south by the alley between Orchard and Summit streets, on the north by the railroad tracks and on the east and west by a line 300 feet each way from Main street.

The ordinance also provides that open fires of any kind in the rest of the village must not be closer than 15 feet to any building. Village officials have provided a space on the village property near the sewage disposal plant where people may take their rubbish and burn it.

Broesamle Named to Picnic Committee

Fred Broesamle, Sylvan township supervisor, was elected vice president at the annual county officials' picnic at Dexter-Huron park Sunday. Jesse Hewens, supervisor of Augusta township, is the new president of the group and Harry Cole was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The day's program included group singing, instrumental music and a talk by Julius Doherty, a displaced person from Yugoslavia.

Mrs. Fremont Armstrong, with Miss Rachel Armstrong, of Minneapolis, Minn., who is spending some time here, visited the latter's nephew, Sanford Dean, and family in Columbus, Ohio, from Saturday until Monday.

Preliminary Plans Made for Community Fair; Board Seeks Location

At Tuesday's regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, a general discussion of matters concerning the Chelsea Community Fair was the order of the evening. The group is again supporting the fair project and voted at Tuesday's meeting that merchants would give away prizes Oct. 7, the last evening of the four-day fair. Prizes given away in this manner last year amounted to approximately $1,000, it was stated.

The C. of C. group voted Tuesday to enter a float in the parade planned in connection with the fair this year. A committee is to be appointed to prepare the float.

A committee will also be appointed by Howard Plintoff, C. of C. president, to work with the Chelsea Community Fair Board site committee on the matter of a possible permanent site for future fairs. This site committee includes Gordon Leaser, Everett Van Riper, and Doris Whitaker was present at Tuesday's meeting which was held in St. Paul's church hall.

Another new feature this year, expected to attract many entries, is a flower show with Mrs. Frank Lachowitz in charge. In addition to first, second and third prizes in the various divisions there is to be a grand prize of three dollars. Entries will include potted plants, vines, cactus and cut flowers.

A display of antiques will also be added this year. Concessions will be available for organizations of the community.

Another meeting of the Fair Board is scheduled for Monday evening, Sept. 11.

REGISTER TODAY! Next Wednesday, Aug. 23, is the final day to register with the township clerk for the Sept. 12 primaries. Anyone who is not sure he is properly registered should check with his township clerk as soon as possible. Official registration notices for Lyndon, Lima and Sylvan townships are printed in this issue of The Standard.

The plans for the Christian Rural Overseas Program (CROP) campaign in the county were launched at a meeting called early this month in the county agricultural agents' office by Rev. Werner. The tentative date set for the canvass of rural areas to begin was Oct. 1.

Harold Osler, county agent, explained that this year the church relief agencies are taking a more active part in sponsoring the program on the county level and that each has appointed a clergyman and a layman in the county to act on a sponsors' committee.

The overall CROP campaign is sponsored jointly by the Catholic Rural Life Agency, Church World Service and Lutheran World Relief groups. The sponsors' committee in Washtenaw county representing these three agencies are: Father Albert Folta and Felix Siefker from Milan Catholic Rural Life Agency; Rev. Alvin Slesman of Saline and Luther Klager of Manchester Church World Service; and Rev. M. W. Bruckner of Chelsea and Ernest Mann of Bridge-water Lutheran World Relief.

Labor Local 437 Again Takes Over Tri-County Lead

In a thrilling hammer-and-tongs ball game, young Dave Crocker picked the Chelsea Labor Local 437 back into the league leadership as they downed a stubborn Mason Merchants team, 6-5. Trailing 5-4, Mason tied it up in the eighth but Chelsea came back in their half of the same inning to score the winning run when Crocker singled, moved to third on a walk and an infield out, and scored as Danny Ewald banged one through first base. Crocker gave up seven hits and struck out 12. Mason 101 100 010—5 7 5 Chelsea 002 300 01x—6 10 6 (Continued on page nine)

School Board Awards Fleet Insurance

At the Chelsea Agricultural school board meeting Tuesday evening the fleet insurance for school buses was placed with the Shehan Insurance agency, of which Gerald Luick is local representative. The insurance is carried with the Citizens Mutual Automobile Insurance company of Howell, which was low bidder.

The school building program was discussed at some length but no official action was taken.

The next regular meeting of the school board is scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 5.

Draft Board Needs Volunteer Workers

Mayor William E. Brown, Jr., chairman of the Washtenaw county draft board, made another plea yesterday for volunteer workers to assist regular clerks in such tasks as addressing envelopes and preparing material for mailing. Brown said that while regular volunteer help is desirable, even half-day of volunteer work is welcomed. He said that to his knowledge, no volunteer help has yet been offered by anyone in the Chelsea area.

First-Aid Program Will Be Directed by County Nurse

Miss E. B. McKinney, public health nurse in this area, complimented the Chelsea civil defense group on the progress already made here since the program was set up here ten days ago with the appointment of Willard Guest as local civil defense director. Miss McKinney attended the meeting as a representative of the Washtenaw County Health department and is to act in an advisory capacity in the medical and health division of the local program. Leon Marsh of Central Fibre Products company, and Nelson Kreider of Chelsea Products company, are to be in charge of this division of the defense program.

Appointments of deputy directors of civil defense, as announced by Guest, for the various divisions are as follows: (1) public safety, in charge of George Doe for the police department; Thomas Young, for the fire department; and Marion Longworth and Harvey Knickerbocker for communication; (2) public works and utilities in charge of Homer Nixon, superintendent of the Chelsea Electric Light and Water department; (3) medical and health, Leon Marsh; Nelson Kreider and Miss McKinney; (4) welfare, Marion Miller, Wallace Wood of the Chelsea Spring company, and Marion Longworth; (5) transportation, Charles Ritter.

In the police division there is to be an auxiliary force of 15 men and in the fire department an auxiliary force of 20 men is to be maintained. The auxiliary staff of the fire department, according to present plans, will join with five other community groups for a course of training being planned by the Ann Arbor Fire department.

Eight men, to be chosen from the various factories here, are to be trained in all phases of public works and utilities, agency work and, in the welfare division emergency feeding and housing records, compiled by Martin Miller in 1945, are to be brought up to date.

In the transportation division, preliminary work includes contacting factories to arrange for emergency use of equipment for transporting people to and from emergency feeding, housing and medical facilities, if it should become necessary.

A first-aid program is being planned and will be under the direction of Miss McKinney.

The next meeting of the civil defense group is to be held in the council room in the Municipal building Sept. 20.

In the civil defense program announcement published last week, Guest gave the name of Loren Knickerbocker as the radio man who is to work with Longworth in the emergency communication division of the program. He said yesterday that it is Harvey Knickerbocker who is to act in that capacity.

Pump Breakdown Gives Water Taste of Mineral Content

Because the village water supply the past week has been pumped from the wells to the mains, by-passing the filtering equipment, the iron content has been very noticeable, bringing reminders of the "old days."

Repair parts for one of the pumps which broke down had to be specially made and should be here before the end of the week, according to Homer Nixon, superintendent of the Electric Light and Water department.

Junior Baseballers Defeat Dexter in Return Game Here

Chelsea defeated the Dexter Junior baseball team by a score of 5-1 in a game played on the local diamond Saturday morning. This brought Chelsea's league standing to six wins and one loss and Dexter's to four wins and one loss. Winning pitcher Saturday was Bruce Hoffman, with Dexter's pitcher, Fred Cunningham, being charged with the game's loss. Phil Barlow was the other Chelsea pitcher and Dan Huttie the other Dexter pitcher. Richard Bareis was catching for Chelsea. Chelsea got its first run in the first inning on two errors and two walks. Dexter tied in the fifth on a walk and a hit and Chelsea's winning run was scored in the fifth on two hits, the first by Dan McClain and the second a double by Dick Merkel. Dexter was credited with one run, three hits and three errors and Chelsea with two runs, four hits and no errors.

READING CONTEST

The Library Board has announced that the children's summer reading contest will be continued until school opens this year. The decision to do this was made at Tuesday's Library Board meeting.

BUS DRIVERS CONVEENE—Part of the group of seventeen school bus drivers who were in Chelsea last week Tuesday for the first of four school bus drivers' conferences to be held four successive weeks in Washtenaw county are shown above. The group, including one woman, is shown in the classroom listening to Leslie Silverdale, director and instructor. Co-sponsors of the program are Michigan State College, the State Department of Public Instruction and the Washtenaw County Board of Education. The group met this week at Pittsfield. Next week the meeting will take place at Manchester and the following week the concluding session will be held at Dexter.

THIS WEEK IN Washington

AS THE 81ST CONGRESS moved swiftly on war legislation, it appeared that the Taft-Wheeler-Jenner line to slash away at presidential authority would be swept aside in favor of more power and a more general mobilization of resources even than the President asked in his original message to the congress.

The house banking committee approved the President's request for war powers and controls with only minor changes. As a matter of fact, the Bernard Baruch proposal to extend the controls to wage and price ceilings was rejected by only one vote, indicating a close vote on an extended controls on the floor of both houses.

Other proceedings included extension of armed forces enlistments a year, unlimited expansion of the armed forces, check on movement and anchorage of foreign ships in U.S. waters, repair and manufacture of merchant ships and the adjustment of the pay and taxes of military personnel.

In his mid-year economic report to the nation, the President told congress the expanding U.S. economy could cope with the new war effort and could well pay for the $5 billion yearly tax increase he asked to pay the bill.

The senate stepped up its legislative pace with a burst of speed and quickly passed 276 private and general bills while the house-senate conference committee reached tentative agreement on the social security bill which would bring 10 million more workers under coverage of the old-age and survivors insurance program and increase benefits about 77 per cent.

The general appropriations bill continued to pass through the senate and during the week survived all attempts to cut out any major part of its $34 billion for 1951 government financing.

The house passed a bill authorizing $25 million to stimulate copra, or manila hemp, production; passed a $350 million authorization for modernization of the navy.

Improve Service
Electric service in Jackson, Mich., and other communities has been greatly reinforced by means of new facilities just placed in service by Consumers Power company, Division Manager H. H. Koehel said today.

These new facilities permit the interchange of 100,000 kilowatts of power (more than enough to meet the entire maximum needs of Jackson) between the systems of Consumers Power company and The Detroit Edison company.

Manchester is a special beneficiary since the former 50,000 kilowatt interconnection line, extending from Manchester to Jackson by way of Cement City, will be used to supply service to Manchester at 34,000 Volts. The village has been receiving service over an 11,000-volt line from the Chelsea substation, with a tentative service at the same voltage available via Cement City. The construction of a new and larger substation has been completed in Manchester, and it will be put into service within a short time, Manchester Enterprise.

Secretary Charles Brannan sought a bill to provide $50 million to help dispose of spoilable foods he has been forced to buy under the price support program.

There was considerable favorable comment here over the victory of Congressman Mike Monroney for the Oklahoma senatorial nomination over incumbent Elmer Thomas.

The defeat of Thomas, plus the defeat of Gov. J. Strom Thurmond, Dixiecrat presidential nominees for the senatorial nomination in that state, plus the defeat of Rep. Lacey, chairman of the Dixiecrat party by Governor M. Mah of Arkansas, plus the rejection of Sen. Russell Long over the opposition of Stetson.

Rep. Emanuel Celler of New York introduced a resolution in the house to set up a special house committee to keep a close check on military defense contracts similar to that of the wartime Trustee committee in the senate. A similar group has been set up in the senate armed services committee.

President Truman has put politics aside for the duration. The chief executive missed in his vote in the Missouri primary and says he has no place as yet to campaign in the Democratic fall. In the meantime, the Republicans were having internal troubles again with the resignation of Arthur W. Clegg, Jr., of Michigan as chairman of the GOP strategy committee. Summerfield charged that National Chairman Guy Gabrielson planned to let the committee "die on the vine." Gabrielson said proposals had been made to supersede the committee with regional party conferences.

The house was scheduled to vote about mid-August on a resolution to cancel Postmaster General Jesse Donaldson's curtailment of certain postal service.

U. of M. Aleutian Expedition Will Trace Early Man's Path with Geiger Counter

Ann Arbor—Trails of America's first inhabitants will be traced with a Geiger counter by the University of Michigan Aleutian Island expedition this summer. Ancient village sites and burial caves in the islands off Alaska will be studied. Materials uncovered will be processed by the Carbon 14 method of dating by radioactivity to determine, if possible, when man crossed from Asia to America, according to Theodore P. Bank II, expedition field director.

Anthropologists believe man's earliest migrations into North America were made across the Bering Strait or along the Aleutian chain of islands—or both routes.

By determining the age of materials from each end of the chain, Bank hopes to establish the direction man came into the Aleutians.

If the oldest materials are found on the Asiatic end this would indicate that the islands were used as stepping stones to the continent. However, if the oldest remains are found nearest Alaska man probably came across the strait first and then moved out onto the islands.

Bank does not expect to find all the answers this summer. He was a member of a similar expedition in 1948-49 jointly sponsored by the U. S. Navy and Michigan and plans on making other trips to the islands.

Members of the 1950 expedition are Harvey A. Miller and Louis S. Jorale, assistants in the University's Botanical Gardens, Donald S. McClain, Jr., Trinity College, Hartford, Connecticut, and Bank.

Miller, a graduate student, lives on Rural Route 2, Sturgis.

The Botanical Gardens is making an extended study of plants on the islands. Michigan's Memorial Phoenix Project, devoted to peacetime uses of atomic energy and its implications, is building the Geiger counter to be used in dating the materials found by the expedition.

The counter, nearing completion at the University, will separately establish the age of former living matter by detecting the radioactivity remaining in carbon parts of the materials.

Mr. and Mrs. Philia Case and two nieces, Jacqueline and Mary Alice Adkins, of Pikeville, Ky., arrived Monday to spend a week here with the former's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Ellenwood. Christine and Donald Rowe, who spent the summer in Pikeville with their grandmother, Mrs. Maynard Case, and other relatives, returned to their home here with them.

All In The Game

PRECEDENT is against Joe Louis in his comeback attempt. Five have tried it before and failed. Moulton and Moulton are the best one-two punch in the National . . . The Yanks are banking on Johnny Mize and Joe DiMaggio to stop the Tigers . . . The last place Pirates are first in box office attendance . . . Our Neighbors

Dexter.—Modernization of Dexter's Main street lighting system as well as the addition of lights in and around the Village Park is now underway by the Detroit Edison company. The new program calls for complete renovation of the present lighting plan for the downtown district, on Main, Ann Arbor street from Baker street and the C street side of the Park.

Dr. Arthur Holstein made a suggestion at the council meeting that all persons in the village might have their blood typed. This would help immensely should an emergency arise and save a great deal of time. We were glad to note that steps are being considered should an unforeseen emergency take us unaware.—Manchester Enterprise.

Williamston.—Monday, Aug. 14, will be a day long to be remembered in the annals of the history of this city when the memorial to the World War II dead of this area was fittingly dedicated on the city hall lawn, the program beginning at 2 p.m. Stores were closed from 2 until 3:30. Veterans, civic groups and various organizations participated. Frank Engardio, VFW commander, and Keith Anderson, American Legion commander, unveiled the monument.—Williamston Enterprise.

Dexter.—Since the reorganization of the Dexter Public Schools into the Dexter Agricultural Schools, vocational agriculture will be one of the new subjects taught. Agriculture has been taught in high school before, but not under the direction of a regular vocational agricultural teacher. All who enroll in vocational agriculture will be invited to join the Future Farmers of America.—Dexter Leader.

Manchester.—The Rev. H. S. Von Ragge resigned as pastor of the Manchester Evangelical and Reformed church after 21 years of service. His resignation has been submitted to the church council, effective Nov. 1 of this year. The resignation prompted by illness, was presented to the congregation Aug. 13. Rev. Von Ragge completed his religious education with theological studies at Halle University in Germany and was ordained into the ministry in 1907. He held pastorates in Chicago, Ill., and at Middletown, New Bremen and Elmore, Ohio, before coming to Manchester June 16, 1929.—Manchester Enterprise.

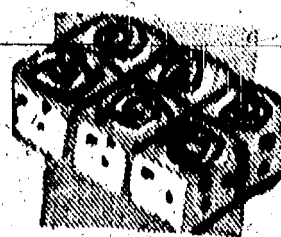

Cherry processors, buyers and growers appeared to be in a very confused state of mind this week as the local harvest began to get underway. So far, and for the first time in many years, the price of the red sour cherries has not been set. Most of the plants in this region are buying on a day-to-day basis with variable prices being quoted. Prices have been running from about 6 cents per bushel.

Spends Two Weeks at 4-H Youth Camp

Marjorie Proctor, who attended the national American Youth Foundation camp near Shelby the past two weeks on a 4-H scholarship, returned home Sunday night with glowing accounts of her experiences there and plans for attending again next year. She hopes to be able to get the next three years and graduate as a qualified camp leader. Marjorie was the only Michigan girl attending the camp as a 4-H club representative. She was awarded the 50-dollar scholarship in recognition of her leadership in 4-H work in the community.

Cam p curriculum included classes in principles of leadership, the life and teachings of Jesus, creative living and four-fold living, the latter comprising mental, social, physical and religious levels. Marjorie also took swimming and tennis as elective activities.

The camp comprises three hundred acres along the shore of Lake Michigan and the day's activities were climaxed with vegetable services on the sand dunes overlooking the lake.

Seven hundred girls and leaders were at the camp. Every state in the Union was represented with the exception of Arizona and Vermont. Marjorie said: "There were also girls there from Germany, Korea, Alaska, Hawaii, India, Africa, China and Japan. Marjorie said she has autographs of girls from every state and country represented."

The camp at Shelby is one of two such camps in the United States, the other being located in New Hampshire.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Klingler of Jackson are spending part of their vacation here with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Klingler. Tuesday, the Klinglers and gentlemen were dinner guests of Mrs. Klingler's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gilbert.

EVER SINCE SECURITY has fallen into disgrace and pronunciation of the word has become blasphemous and unpatriotic, discussion of welfare precautions has become indecous.

But when queries begin to pour in from the presidents of such companies as U. S. Steel, Firestone, Chrysler, General Motors and American T. and T., all asking, "How can I best achieve security?", it is time we ignore our aversion to the word and refer the question to a renowned economist. Prof. Gladstone Debitals, instructor in panhandling at a prominent American university and world's champion amateur check-raiser.

"First, let us assure our readers that we loathe security and consider it un-American, unpatriotic, unrepentant, unfrugal, unbusiness-like and un-un. We shun all safeguards against unemployment, old age decrepitude and the ravages of diseases. We don't care if such a staunch character as Daddy Warbucks is drawing his social security; we want none of our and hereby donate it to the Republican campaign fund. Hurrah for insecurity! We're making arrangements to starve in our old age in the best tradition of our forefathers."

Professor Debitals deplores the search of the present generation for security. "Americans are milk-sops," he laments, "a people unwilling to bear the adversities and travail visited upon millionaires. No one wants to put down the full dinner pail to reach for a fortune—afraid of drawing back a nub."

"I saw a college graduate refuse a janitorial assignment the other day, just because the wages wouldn't feed his family. For the sake of a little insured gastronomical satisfaction, he turned down the first step toward the presidency of a corporation."

"Where are the adventurers, the plungers, the pioneers of business? Debitals asks and sadly replies, 'In jail!'"

Then he adds his credo: "Nothing ventured, nothing embezzled."

Kiwanis Given Report on Boys' State Trip

Stanley Knickerbocker, who attended Wolverine Boys' State at East Lansing in June, under the sponsorship of the Chelsea Kiwanis club, was present at Monday's Kiwanis meeting and gave an interesting report of his various experiences at Boys' State. The meeting was held in the dining room of the Methodist church.

The Kiwanis softball team later played a game with a team representing Wacker's Grocery, the Kiwanians winning "by a comfortable margin," according to club spokesmen.

INDIAN SIGN

(A Short Story)
By RICHARD HILL WILKINSON

WHEN THEY WERE CHILDREN
DREN called it the "Indian Sign." It was a feeling of inferiority and inadequacy that one person exhaled upon another. If a man had the Indian sign on you you couldn't hope to cope with him.

Curiously, when Hilma saw Jake Hayford coming toward her across the crowded floor she remembered her own childhood experience with the Indian sign. When she was 12 and Jake 14 and they both lived in Ashtaburgh, Jake had the Indian sign on her. She felt inferior and inadequate whenever he was around. It made her furious, even then, but

Jake went so far as to compliment her casually. Then he climbed to the top landing of the diving tower and made as perfect a dive as she had ever seen, swimming back to the floor with an effortless and powerful crawl. Hilma didn't go near the water again. They sat on the sand and after awhile Hilma, said, striving to sound light and amused: "You know, when we were children, I used to think you had the Indian sign on me. I used to feel inferior and inadequate when you were around."

"That's so?" said Jake, looking straight at her and smiling. Hilma could have scratched his eyes out. "If he'd only kiss me!" she thought furiously. "If he'd only try to kiss me. All I want is one chance to kiss him."

The chance came on the last night of Jake's stay. He kissed her and, instead of rising above it, she wilted. And then Jake asked her to elope with him. He said he was mad with love for her and would she run away and marry him right then and there. Tonight!

The whole thing was a vague, delicious memory in Hilma's mind. A week later she realized that a lot had happened, that she and Jake were married and living in New York and she was happier than she had ever believed possible. Yet—oh, curses—it had all been Jake's doing. She still felt inferior.

There had to be an end to this Indian sign business. She couldn't go on forever feeling this way. Two years later, her chance came.

"Jake," she said to him solemnly one day, "you've had the Indian sign on me ever since we were kids. Well, right now you're through. At last I've found something that you can't do; something where I'm tops and you don't rate at all, and couldn't if you wanted too. By Jinks, I'm to have a baby!"

FIRST OF THE FINE CARS IN VALUE

BIG MOMENT- with a Double Impact

It's a big moment when any new car rolls up to your door and you start out fresh and spanking bright.

Think, then, what it's going to mean when that new car is a ROADMASTER like this one pictured here.

You'll swing wide the door and slide into a car that's truly fine—and looks it.

You'll put foot-to-treadle and touch off the might of a great, 152-horsepower Fireball straight-eight that's ready to master any road—or anything it meets there.

You'll have the silken magic of Dynaflo Drive to simplify your driving, ease your way. A handsome flexible steering wheel, automatic windshield washers, soft Foamtex cushions, and many other items that are "extras" elsewhere are standard equipment here.

But even while you enjoy all that, you've a still deeper satisfaction enriching your pleasure.

For here you have not only a fine car, but a sound and frugal investment as well.

You have paid less per pound than any comparable car costs—and automotive men will tell you price per pound is the soundest measure there is of solid, thoroughgoing merit.

You've bought quality—top quality—all the fine things a fine car should provide. But you haven't spent a penny more than a fine car need cost.

And that can mean a lot. For instance—

Drop in on your Buick dealer. Try out a ROADMASTER. Match it, feature by feature and point by point, with any other fine car on the road.

Then get the price.

You may well find that you can get not only a new ROADMASTER for the sum you had in mind—but maybe a new fur coat for your wife as well!

FOUR-WAY FOREFRONT. This rugged front end (1) sets the style note, (2) saves on repair costs—vertical bars are individually replaceable, (3) avoids "locking horns," (4) makes parking and garaging easier.

The American Way

The words "Michigan" and "fishing" are practically synonymous at this time of the year. And after an exciting day's fishing, it's the "American Way" to enjoy a glass of cool, refreshing Michigan brewed beer to top off the day.

For beer is the kind of beverage Americans like. It belongs ... to pleasant living, to good fellowship, to sensible moderation. And our right to enjoy it, this too, belongs ... to our own American heritage of personal freedom. Beer Belongs... Enjoy It

Zoning Ordinance

ions of county zoning by repealing their own zoning ordinance. Thus, all unincorporated portions of the county would be under zoning, either township or county.

How Is County Zoning Accomplished?

The County Board of Supervisors appoints a County Zoning Commission of five men. Four members shall be chosen from the electors of the county. The fifth member shall be a member of the Board of Supervisors. At least three members shall be residents of the unincorporated areas of the county.

The County Zoning Commission shall adopt and file with the Board of Supervisors recommendations as to (1) a zoning plan for the county, (2) establish the zoning districts and boundaries thereof, (3) the text of the ordinance with necessary maps which describe exactly what uses would or would not be permitted in the different districts, and (4) the manner of administering and enforcing the ordinance.

Before submitting its recommendations of a tentative zoning plan to the Board of Supervisors, the County Zoning Commission may, if it so desires, hold a public hearing on its proposal in each township. (However, the Enabling Act states that only one public hearing is required for the entire county.) Full notice of these hearings and over the radio. Following these informal hearings, if any, and the one legally required public hearing, the tentative zoning plan will be approved by the County Zoning Commission and submitted to the Board of Supervisors. They in turn shall consider the recommended zoning plan and vote upon the adoption of a zoning ordinance for the county. Following the adoption of a zoning ordinance by the Board of Supervisors such ordinance shall be submitted to the Michigan State Planning Commission. The county zoning ordinance becomes effective 60 days after approval by the Michigan State Planning Commission.

How Is The Zoning Administered? After it becomes effective the zoning regulations are administered and enforced by an official or officials appointed by the Board of Supervisors. With Washtenaw county having a County Building Inspector possibly enforcement might become the responsibility of his office. The zoning may be changed at any time. Modifications may be made to adjust it to developments that cannot now be foreseen. A Board of Appeals, established under the regulations may vary the zoning provisions in exceptional cases which present unusual difficulties.

What Should You Do As A Member of Your Community? When and if public hearings are scheduled in your township, attend these meetings. Look at the tentative zoning plan, find your property and see how it is proposed to be zoned. Make constructive comments and suggestions. Your County Zoning Commission wants the regulations for each zone to be the best that can possibly be devised. They will need your help.

A good zoning ordinance will protect and improve the value of your property. It will be insurance for your community against undesirable land uses.

Your community needs this protection just as surely as your home needs a good roof.
