

Milan Game To Be Played in Ann Arbor

Yost Fieldhouse Will Give Needed Seating Capacity

By DWIGHT GADD

Displaying their usual second half power, Chelsea High's Bulldogs ripped the Lincoln-Railsplitters, 52-38, last Friday on the choppers' own small court, to run their record to 14 straight for the season and a league mark of 5 straight to remain tied with Milan for the Huron league leadership.

Lincoln was "up" for the game and was another big, rangy team with surprising speed. They jumped to an early 7-0 lead, and led 12-8 at the end of the first quarter.

Lincoln presented a good zone defense, which was especially effective on their smaller court, and during the whole first half they put an amazingly high percentage of their shots.

In the second quarter Lincoln began to lose their edge a trifle and Chelsea's tempo increased as the locals outscored their hosts, 11-9, but still trailed by 3 at the half, 21-18.

After being admonished by Coach Magiera and informed on how to handle the zone defense, the Bulldogs came out after the rest and proceeded to smash the Lincoln defense by whipping in 22 points to Lincoln's 8 for a comfortable 40-29, three-quarter mark score. Dave Crocker paced this blitz as he netted 12 of his night's total of 25 markers.

Chelsea's tempo was an anti-climax after this and Chelsea dropped to 12 points while Lincoln dropped to seven for the final, 52-36, total.

High point man for the winners was Dave Crocker with 25 to maintain his 25.6 league game average, while Gary Cullin netted 9 for the losers. After Dave, Chelsea's scoring was well-balanced as three men netted 10 points, two men 4, and two others 2. And a gratifying note in Friday's game was the way George Heydloff came off the bench to spell Tobin, after Marty had garnered his fourth foul in the third quarter and the team continued to check very efficiently. Team depth is needed as tournament time draws near for usually tournament games are officiated a little closer than usual.

Chelsea's "Pups" came through with another win in Friday's game, 45-23, over the "Matchplitters" to give the locals a clean sweep. Joe Greenwood southpawed in 15 points to lead the point-makers as he continues to make like another Bobby Vogel.

Tomorrow night Chelsea takes to the road again as they invade the Dundee Vikings' home court in what should be a breather for the Bulldogs. Dundee is in the cellar and has showed very little this year, but, as we've said before, they all point for the leaders, so the team can't afford to have any game won before they take the floor.

And then, a week from Saturday night comes Milan's Big Red and a chance to take an undisputed championship and settle some old scores. The important news this week on that game though is that it has been transferred from Chelsea to the Yost Fieldhouse so that all the loyal supporters of both school will be able to view the contest and not be turned away disappointed as would surely happen if it were to be held here in the local gymnasium.

As a final note we'd like to pay tribute to the two unsung men of this year's great team, Jerry Lehman and Ted Betts. Crocker, Tobin, and Knickerbocker have gained rams of publicity, the most recent being in Sunday's Detroit-Free Press, but Jerry and Ted are equally important in the unit's teamwork. Hats off to a fine team!

See you tomorrow night at game time in Dundee.

Experimental Fish Plan Expires on Sugar Loaf Lake

Time limit for experimental fishing has expired on southern Michigan's Sugar Loaf lake, announced by the Michigan Conservation Department and released by Don Boyer, conservation officer in this area.

Lakes affected by this order are Sugar Loaf lake, Washtenaw county, Big Portage lake, Jackson county, Whitmore lake, Livingston and Washtenaw county, Duck lake, Calhoun county, Chalk lake, Branch county and Bear lake, Hillsdale county.

These lakes will revert to their regular status, which means that fishing regulations are now applicable to them the same as they are to other lakes.

Under authority of Section 3, Act 250, Public Act of 1926, the Conservation Commission was given permission to establish a certain number of lakes for experimental fishing to cover a period of five years. This period became effective Jan. 1, 1946, and ended Jan. 1, 1951.

During this time Sugar Loaf lake was open to year around fishing for blue gill and sunfish.

Whitmore lake was open to year around fishing of fish on which there were no closed season, such as perch, calico bass and rock bass.

Big Portage lake was open to year around fishing of blue gills and sunfish.

50 mph Limit Is Placed on Death Stretch

The so-called "death stretch" on US-12 west of Ann Arbor from Maple road to Parker road is now marked as a speed control zone.

The establishment of a maximum speed limit of 50 miles per hour on this portion of the highway has been sought by county officials for some time because of the large numbers of accidents which have occurred there.

Last August Scio township's supervisor, Albert Frinkle, together with members of the township board, held a special meeting and passed a resolution requesting the State Highway Department to set a 50-mile speed limit on the six-mile stretch of road before that, on July 20, a request that the entire stretch of US-12 from the Ann Arbor city limits to the Jackson county line be made a speed control zone has been turned down by the State Highway Department.

The request had been made by a group which included representatives of the sheriff's department, state police, Ann Arbor police, county road commission, U. of M. engineers and the AAA club. The group meets each month to study traffic safety problems.

In August, when the Scio township request for a speed limit on the six-mile stretch was made, Sheriff John L. Osborn quoted the following figures on traffic accidents on the highway: From Jan. 1 to Aug. 16, 1950, there were 64 accidents.

Herman Schatz Dies Suddenly Wednesday A. M.

Herman Frederick Schatz, 33, died suddenly at 10 a.m. yesterday at the old Schatz homestead, corner of Garfield and West Summit streets, where he had lived alone since the death of his sister Sophia, April 10, 1949.

Mr. Schatz had been shoveling snow and had just finished when he was stricken as he reached the front porch.

Mr. Schatz was one of the old pioneers of the Klondike gold rush in Alaska, and often related how he and his brother, the late Henry Schatz, traveled through Skagway Pass in 1898 to reach their destination. He remained in Alaska for four years and the brothers ran a dairy there after they gave up mining for gold.

On their return to the states, they traveled from Alaska to Seattle on the old S. S. Eldorado and established the Tawamus dairy there. They were also in the cement business under the firm name of Schatz Bros. Concrete Co. They later sold the dairy to the Gustavson dairy chain but continued in the cement business until his brother's death 21 years ago.

Before returning to Chelsea to make his home with his sister, he lived with another brother, George, at Fresno, Calif., for about three years.

He was a member of St. Paul's church where he was confirmed. Born in Sylvan township, July 2, 1887, he was a son of Joseph and Barbara Boos Schatz. He never married.

Survivors are the brother, George D. in Whitlitt, Calif.; a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Hayes, 416 Garfield street, Chelsea; one niece, Mrs. Doyle McMullen, of Whitlitt, Calif.; and four nephews, Clarence Schatz, with the armed forces, Earl Hayes of Jackson, and William and Elba Schatz, of Chelsea.

Funerals will be held Sunday at 2 p.m. at the Miller Funeral Home. Rev. P. H. Grabowski will officiate and burial will take place at Oak Grove cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home.

THE MEN WHO CAME TO DINNER

Fire Will Not Delay North Main Bridge

The $4,000,000 fire which raged in the State Office Building at Lansing Thursday and Friday of last week destroyed many valuable records of the Michigan State Highway Department.

As a result, the State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler, voiced the opinion that highway projects planned for next spring would be delayed. In Chelsea, it was feared by many who learned of Ziegler's statement that the North Main street pavement and bridge construction jobs would be affected.

Water, however, Ziegler's statement was qualified, pointing out that jobs on which contracts had been let would not be affected.

Village President M. W. McClure, when asked to comment on the matter, said that Ziegler's statement would seem to mean that Chelsea's bridge project will proceed as scheduled because the contract for its construction was let Jan. 18. McClure had no official word, as yet, whether the North Main street pavement records and plans were destroyed.

However, in the event they were, he said, it is reassuring to know that a complete set of the plans is on file here in Chelsea. This would seem to indicate that Chelsea's long-sought highway and bridge improvement at the north approach to the Village will proceed on schedule.

Thursday's fire was said to have started in the blueprint room of the State Highway Department. Survey records and field notes as well as plans for road work were among the records destroyed. Other departments suffering serious damage were the State Agriculture Department, Labor Department, Tax Commission, Court of Claims, Historical Commission and State Workmen's Compensation Commission.

Officials investigating the possibility of arson in connection with the fire reportedly obtained a confession from a 19-year-old employee of the Highway Department stating that he set the fire in a fantastic plan to escape being drafted. The youth is married and the father of a seven-month-old child. He reportedly told officers that he set the fire believing it would be quickly extinguished. He would then confess he had started it and be put on probation, he believed. He said he understood men on probation were not accepted for the draft.

Following a thorough discussion of the provisions of the bill it was decided to urge all persons interested in having good roads to write to Senator George N. Higgins and to Governor G. Mennen Williams stating that they are in favor of these bills.

The consensus of opinion in the group seemed to be that in view of conditions in other states studied the price of gas "at the pump" would not necessarily be affected should there be an increase in gasoline tax here. In the group's investigations of the gas tax situation in various states it was discovered that Michigan gasoline users are already paying more for gasoline "at the pump" than buyers in most other states, yet Michigan buyers are paying less gas tax per gallon than most of these states, according to Farm Bureau spokesmen.

Board of Education Takes Up Option on Maywood Property

Weather? Sure, We Have Every Known Variety!

Snow, sleet, fog, rain and ice have shared the spotlight in the weather of the past week making walking or driving equally perilous. Surprisingly few accidents have occurred in the community because of the ice and snow, however.

Sunday, shortly after midnight, two Fort Custer soldiers were hospitalized after their car and a truck collided on US-12 near M-92, but no other personal injury accidents were reported there.

Attendance at the first Union Lenten service of the present series last Wednesday was curtailed because of the extremely bad driving conditions. Snow and wind combined to make country residents decide not to risk the trip into town.

Sunday night and Monday it was very foggy and it rained most of Monday and Monday night. Tuesday morning a glaze of ice was covered with a very thin coating of snow and Tuesday night more snow fell and it turned much colder.

Michigan is a good place to grow peppermint and a small patch can provide many interesting food touches. Michigan State College home economists say the leaves alone are used and tea with peppermint is a favorite drink.

AS WAS EXPECTED, there is a wide-spread confusion over possible effects of the general wage-price freeze order as it will affect any given community.

The freeze order, which was more or less mis-named, since it is not a price freeze, as was pointed out by Eric Johnson, boss of the economic stabilization agency, is merely a temporary stop-gap order intended to halt the trend of rapidly rising prices until tailored regulations can be worked out to fit each industry and in many instances each commodity. These effects, however, may be noted:

1—Certain increase in retail prices over the counter and prices of raw materials will be slowed down until business leaders can see wherein their own industry is affected.

2—There will be some increases in wages, despite the order, in industries where wage increases have not recently been granted.

3—As a result there may even be some price increases, since the order tends to freeze mark-ups rather than prices.

4—When the specific regulations are issued there may be some roll-backs in prices.

Insofar as agricultural prices are concerned, commodities now selling below the parity figure may be raised to that figure, or to the highest figure at which they were selling between May 24 and June 24, 1949. For instance, on December 15, 1949, the parity figure on corn was $1.08 per bushel, while farmers were getting about $1.45. There is nothing in the new price freeze to prevent the farmer from boosting the price of corn up to $1.68, or higher if it sold higher during the May-June period; that is, if he can get that price. However, on those commodities such as cotton, cottonseed, beef, veal, soy beans, rice and others which are selling above parity figure, the freeze order fixes a ceiling as on other commodities as the highest price in the December 15 to January 15 period.

But there also is a reason why the government may permit prices on these latter commodities to increase since there is a definite need in the defense effort for increased supplies of livestock, feeds, cotton, dairy products, oil seeds and it will be the policy of government to expand production.

And according to the experts here in Washington, since these controls are expected to be in effect for several years as expansion of needed production is obtained, not only in farm commodities, but in shipping, railroads, electric power, basic chemicals, steel, iron, aluminum, fibers, and many other metals, where sufficient expansion is needed, direct controls may be used to be superseded by more indirect controls.

In the meantime, the government agencies are asking for patience, not an outstanding virtue of the American people, until they can work out definite and more permanent controls over the nation's economy.

According to the bureau of agricultural economics the farmer is now getting about 50 cents or better out of the consumer dollar spent for food. This compares to about 40 cents for the pre-war average, 1935 to 1939.

The farm credit administration in a recent report said that farmers have recently added 38 new production credit associations, which are now fully farmer owned, making a total of 176 of these credit cooperatives now owned outright by farmers. This is about 35 per cent of the 500 production credit associations in the nation and represents an investment by farmers of about $70 million dollars.

Aside from legislation already introduced intended to give small business a large share of government defense business, the national federation of independent businesses, during this session of the congress, will concentrate its prestige on anti-trust action to protect small business at the local level.

First point in the federation slate is adequate appropriation for enforcement of anti-trust laws and increase in the federal trade commission appropriation for enforcement of the Robinson-Patman act. The small business organization also is interested in rigid enforcement of the new amendment to the Clayton Act.

Rod-Gun Club Plans Ladies' Night

The Chelsea Rod and Gun club, at its regular monthly meeting at the Legion Home—Tuesday evening voted a contribution of $15 for the Boy Scouts.

er urged members to turn in their Conservation Officer Don Boy-1950 game reports on their hunting license reports immediately. He said many hunters seemingly do not realize that they are violating a Michigan law if they do not report their kill by the February deadline. Boyer made a plea for the feeding of birds during the time the ground is covered with snow and ice. He also spoke on the subject of deer population in this locality.

President Lyle Haselwerdt appointed a nominating committee for the election of officers to be held at the March meeting. Raymond Canine is chairman of the committee. Others named are Robert Walz, Martin Miller and Joe Dreyer.

Haselwerdt also appointed a committee to work with him on the proposed acquisition by the club of a plot of from 20 to 40 acres of land in this vicinity to be used as a club conservation project. Ferd Merkel is to act as chairman of the committee which includes Lyle Haselwerdt, Harold Spauld-

The bugbear of carried lunches is monotonous. Michigan State College home economists say that the person who "puts up the lunch" should be alert for new ideas. True, you have to eat what's on hand, but don't serve it the same way over and over again.

Hadleys Honored by Lyndon Farm Bureau Members

Thirty members and friends attended the Lyndon Farm Bureau meeting at the Homer Stofor home Friday evening, Feb. 9. In honor of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hadley who celebrated their Golden Wedding this week, the meeting was opened with a recording of the hymn, "Faith of Our Fathers." Mrs. Stofor, on behalf of the Farm Bureau then presented Mrs. Hadley with a corsage and Mr. Hadley with a carnation boutonniere. After the close of the meeting ice cream and cake was served. The dining room table was covered with a gold lace cloth and centered with a bouquet of sweet peas. Gold candles and an anniversary cake topped with a miniature bride-and-groom ornament further carried out the gold color scheme. The sweet peas, together with an original poem read in honor of the Hadleys by Mrs. Leonard Keith, were later sent to Mrs. Edmund Cooper, a Farm Bureau member who is a patient at a Jackson hospital.

Mrs. Lawrence Shanahan served the cake and Mrs. Emory Pickell poured.

During the regular meeting, Miss Cora Simpson, of the Methodist Home, as guest speaker of the evening, addressed the group on the topic "Farming in China." Miss Simpson was a missionary worker in China for forty years. She said the Chinese farmers declare that American farmers have lost their land in China, she said, every available bit of land is cultivated. During her talk she mentioned that she and a Chinese couple were over-night guests of the Hadleys about twenty-four years ago when they came here for a visit to the Judson Collins burial spot which is in the Collins Plains cemetery. The spot of the Hadley farm, Judson Collins was a famous missionary worker in China. Mrs. Tom Masterson led the evening's discussion on "Communism, Socialism, and Capitalism." Miss Simpson also participated.

Old-Timer Shows Shearing Technique

Manchester—Last week at East Lansing Theodore Uphaus who has been a sheep shearer round these parts for the past fifty years demonstrated the kind of shearing they did fifty years ago when he first began to shear with the blade shears. Back in those days he did 13 sheep at seven cents a head—that was when he began to do the work his first day. In 1904 he reached the peak of his shearing when he clipped the wool from forty sheep in one day at the astounding price of 20 cents a head. Last year and also in 1940 Mr. Uphaus took part in the shearing at the State Fair in Detroit and placed second—not the old time blade shears—which he abandoned long ago, but with the power clipper of today. Mr. Uphaus is 72 years old and if everything goes as he plans he will do some sheep shearing again this year—Manchester Enterprise.

The program period opened with the song, "America, The Beautiful," by the assembly. An article on blood typing was read by Dean Schweinfurth and this was followed by a discussion of the subject. Roy Broesamle reported on his visit to the Farmers' Week program at Michigan State College and the program closed with the song "Whispering Hope."

SYLVAN FARM BUREAU

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Kalmbach, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kalmbach and Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Lesser entertained the Sylvan Farm Bureau for a regular meeting held Friday evening, Feb. 9, in the Masonic Hall. Guests at the meeting were Mrs. Earl Wolfinger, Mrs. Mary Eder, Mrs. William Broesamle and Allen Broesamle.

As a result of the resolution passed at last month's meeting and at other Farm-Bureau groups in regard to proposed deferment of essential farmers and farm workers, the Westland County Farm-Bureau has named a committee to meet with the local draft board in an effort to solve the problem.

The entertainment feature was movies of the Chelsea Community Fair and parade and two comedies shown by Walter Harper.

Lunch was served by the hostess and hostesses at the close of the meeting.

Speed Limit . . .

accidents on US-12 from Maple road west to the Jackson county line. Of these, 49 occurred on the six-mile stretch west of Ann Arbor. The 49 accidents included 30 involving property damage, 14 involving personal injury and five involving fatalities. The 14 personal injury accidents resulted in injuries to 43 persons. There have since been other fatalities on the six-mile stretch of highway, the number of fatalities up until November 9 being given as nine, which was half the number of traffic fatalities for the year in the entire county up until that time.

Commenting on the 50-mile speed limit which went into effect last Friday on the six-mile stretch, K. L. Hallenbeck, Washtenaw county Road Commission superintendent-manager, said that many people have a misconception of what such a speed limit really means. He explained that 50 miles an hour is the maximum speed allowable at any time when conditions are at the best, as signs on the road indicate. In other words, a speed limit of 50 miles per hour does not mean drivers must travel that fast. It means only, that it is the maximum speed allowable under ideal conditions.

No special lesson is planned for the next meeting to be held March 12 at the home of Mrs. Floyd Parr.

SYLVAN EXTENSION GROUP

The meeting of Sylvan Extension Group was held at 1:30 Thursday afternoon, Feb. 8, at the home of Mrs. Fred Layher on Hayes road. There was 17 members present.

AFTER WASHING stuffed toys, you may find they need new rad tongues or bells or shiny ribbons. Add these to the toys before they're put back into circulation, and they'll be almost like new. -31

Always plan to sew tears or rips on toys before placing in the washing machine, so their stuffings won't ooze out. -31

The two colors which are most apt to run in overwashed toys are red and brown. Cold water before washing helps to set the colors, but they should be washed separately from other toys. -31

Very dirty spots on toys should be brushed with dry soap or detergent before you wash the whole toy. -31

Stuffed toys have a tendency to float on top of the water when they're being washed. Push them down occasionally after washing has started so they can be immersed in the water. -31

Spin dry toys when possible, and get much moisture out of them, as they'll dry faster and have less of a tendency to get a musty odor. You can squeeze some of the moisture out with heavy Turkish towel towels, too, if you're hand washing. -31

When drying toys on a line, try to tie the necks or arms to the line to prevent them from falling into the soil or ground. Several ties are good, and clamp type pins can be used on ears, hands or tail. -31

Broiling is a good way to cook bacon. Just arrange the slices of bacon on the rack of the broiler pan. Then set it under a moderate heat, turning the bacon when it's lightly crisped. The bacon will cook quickly, so it must be watched closely. -31

Michigan State College home economists say that fixing up leftovers can be quite a fascinating game. The possibilities are limitless and the rewards are large. You can save time, money, and energy by making good use of the food left over from previous meals. -31

Much of the wear of sheets and pillow cases comes in the laundry, say Michigan State College home economists. You can avoid some of this if you wash the sheets and pillow cases before they become very soiled. Take stains out before you tub the bed clothes.

Bouquets of daffodils were carried out in silver, orchid and white. The anniversary cake was baked by Mrs. Brueckner.

Some fellow has invented a gadget called "the golfers' pal." It's a sort of golf club with a strap on your wrist and it counts every golf stroke you take. Some pal! That'll sure take a lot of the imagination out of the ancient and honorable sport, and it'll bring inflation to the score of many a duffer. Next somebody will come along with an electronic fish measurer that will prevent the fisherman's super-stretch in describing the one that got away. Then there will be a gadget to click off the number of minutes we actually work in a day. Somebody's going to carry those gadgets too far.

Washington, D.C., Feb. 7—There is, I believe, a lesson for those of you interested in representing the work of your representative in Congress growing out of my experience last week in connection with the defense contracts renegotiation bill.

The lesson is that the final vote on a bill does not necessarily express the real views of the individual Member of Congress on the legislation involved.

The Renegotiation Bill was adopted by the House unanimously. I voted for it, but that did not signify my approval of all of its provisions, as my protest against the provision for permissive exemptions in the bill reveals.

In my second speech on the floor of the House last Friday regarding the Renegotiation Bill, I produced evidence showing that renegotiation officials of the War Department, as well as both Republican and Democratic members of the Senate War Investigating Committee, had unanimously recommended the elimination of discretion to exempt certain war contractors from renegotiation, either individually or by type.

I quoted from testimony before the Senate War Investigating Committee by responsible renegotiation experts, who strongly recommended against this discretionary authority on the basis of their experience in renegotiation during World War I.

There still is hope that the Senate Finance Committee, to which I sent a letter of protest, may strike the exemption provision from the Senate bill. In that event, the matter will come before the House of Representatives again after a conference of Representatives and Senators has ironed out the differences between the House and Senate versions of the bill.

Because I believe the House members should be more fully informed on this matter and that the record should contain a more complete foundation for my recommendation, I made this second speech on the subject. In it, I explained to the House that my failure to make a better presentation in the first instance was the result of the extremely short time allowed for consideration and study of this measure before it came up for vote.

This is another example of the condition under which bills are presented to the House which contend thwarts wise, sound legislation through denying Members of Congress adequate factual background for their decision.

Another such example was contained last week in the bill to extend for three years the authority of the State Department to negotiate trade agreements. After general debate, consideration of the Trade Agreements Bill was postponed until Wednesday, Feb. 7. I will not discuss it at length in this report, therefore.

However, I do want to call attention to the fact that Members of the House generally did not know this measure was to come before them until Monday afternoon, only a day and a half before the debate was to begin. Hearings of the committee, on which the bill was based, were not available until 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, only two hours before the House was to take up consideration of the bill.

I protest that this blitzkrieg procedure deprives individual members of the opportunity to inform themselves of the facts, arguments and reasons bearing upon the desirability of any measure.

Such a condition is not calculated to lead to intelligent and wise decisions. I have registered this protest on the floor of the House and will continue to do so. As the days and weeks of my service in the House of Representatives roll on, my conviction becomes intensified that one of the great needs of the country is for Congress to strengthen itself by acquiring the facts and giving the consideration so necessary to the adoption of wise and sound legislation.

Buchanan—The freeze of Nov. 25, last year, was the most disastrous in the history of the fruit industry of Berrien county as far back as there are any records, stated Clifford Conrad, assistant agricultural agent of Berrien county in a talk before the annual dinner-meeting of the Galien River Soil Conservation district, held at the First Methodist church here.

As a result of that freeze, stated Conrad, large peach growers in the northern part of the county are ordering new trees for their entire orchards, trees as well as buds having been destroyed. Many of the smaller plants in the county entering industrial plants in the assurance that their 1951 crop, and perhaps their orchards, have been killed. By Congressman George Meader

Washington, D.C., Feb. 7—There is, I believe, a lesson for those of you interested in representing the work of your representative in Congress growing out of my experience last week in connection with the defense contracts renegotiation bill.

FIREBALL!
(Only Buick can make this statement)

BEND an ear to the deep baritone song of this marvel motor, and you'll know we aren't fooling when we call it Fireball.

What happens beneath that brawny Buick bonnet happens in no other car in the world.

Years ahead of the rush to high-compression valve-in-head engines, Buick was in there pitching for more power from every drop of fuel.

The result: a spectacular engineering phenomenon you feel the instant you touch toe to gas treadle. A rapid-fire sequence of tiny tornados, let loose their pent-up power every five inches a Buick travels.

If you could look inside that Fireball engine, you'd see why. Instead of the flat-topped pistons used in other cars, Buick uses a turbo-top piston, like this:

So the intruding fuel whirlwinds into a compressed ball that adds a super-urge to the downstroke of the piston.

"And you get the thrill — and thrill — of this Buick 'first' in every mile you drive.

More, you get a tried-and-true engine that's been polished and perfected in every detail up through the years

Again and again, compression ratios have been stepped up to keep pace with advances in fuels. Self-setting valve lifters contribute to silence. Micropoise balance and Hi-Poised engine mountings add two more Buick exclusives.

And the silken might of this Fireball's power has been made more beautifully obedient by still another "first"—Dynaflo Drive.

So we list as a prime reason why "smart buy's Buick" this Fireball power plant—and a host of happy owners will say "Amen."

Better see your dealer soon.

In Battle Creek on the day of June 13, 1932, the stork dropped a bundle by the name of Duane Hall. Besides Chelsea, Duane has attended Roosevelt, Emerson, and Studebaker schools.

Duane's favorites are hamburgers and apple pie, basketball, bowling, bookkeeping and listening to the song "So Tired."

His pet peeve is learning poetry. He has enjoyed the activity. His happiest moment is when he got a car of his own.

If Duane suddenly found $1,000 he would buy a television set and save the rest.

He has traveled in New York, Chicago, Connecticut, Canada, and Niagara Falls.

As yet Duane has not made any future plans.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

Lester C. Maitland, state civil defense director, has called a Feb. 19 conference in Lansing of all local defense directors. He has asked the atomic energy commission and federal civil defense authorities to send teams of experts to answer queries.

● No matter how remote your home community in Michigan, a bombing attack at any place in the State is likely to seriously affect your way of life. That fact became evident last Saturday when Gen. Lester C. Maitland, Michigan Civil Defense director, met with about two score Civil Defense directors in the metropolitan area for an emergency feeding demonstration.

● The demonstration followed the stockpiling of some 2,000,000 paper cups and containers for disaster use only by the Paper Cup and Container Institute. The paper service is being stockpiled without cost to the State by 16 paper manufacturing companies in the Institute.

● Use of paper service is essential, of course, when bombs knock out water and gas supplies for dishwashing, hospitals, restaurants, and hotels are helpless in such emergencies after their dishes have been used once.

LAFF OF THE WEEK

"It's The Only Way I Can Get Him To Have His Hair Cut."

Library Head Says County on 'Mental Starvation Diet'

Mrs. Loleta D. Fyan, State Librarian and president-elect of the American Library Association, said today that Washtenaw county is on a mental starvation diet. She went on to explain that her statement is based on a recent study conducted by the Michigan State Library as to the number of books per resident for each of Michigan's 83 counties. Of the 83 counties surveyed, 76 have inadequate food for the mind. Five counties—Arenac, Keweenaw, Lake, Lapeer and Montmorency—are without any mental nourishment; they have no libraries at all.

"According to the American Library Association's minimum standards for counties of Washtenaw's size, there should be 1.75 books per capita. Washtenaw county has only .50 books per capita," said Mrs. Fyan. "An inadequacy in books is certainly mental starvation. A solution to Washtenaw county's diet problem is an adjustment in the present State Grants to Public Libraries. These state allotments have been based on 1940 population figures. Since then the state has increased by almost 1,000,000 new residents. Also, the dollar has shrunk to 60 percent of its value."

"In these days of uncertainty," Mrs. Fyan went on to say, "it is necessary for libraries to furnish food for the mind, good books that serve the need of all residents; practical books of how to do and what to do, as well as books of faith and hope. Unless an adjustment is made of the present State Grants to Public Libraries, Washtenaw County will continue on its starvation diet."

The Michigan State Board for Libraries is asking the State Legislature for $699,421 in order that more regional and county libraries may be established and local libraries better supported. This sum is merely an adjustment to new population figures and decrease in the dollar value.

The new homes come equipped with every modern convenience—except low monthly payments and taxes.
