Filing Date
Nears on OPS
Price Charts*About 70 Per Cent
in This District
Are Not Yet Filed

Retailers in the apparel, footwear, furniture, dry goods, jewelry, appliances and similar consumer goods trade, were warned today by Philip A. Hart, Detroit district director of the OPS, that they have only two weeks left in which to file charts under Ceiling Price Regulation 7.

Retail stores, originally covered under Regulation 7, have been given 30-day extensions, he said, and those covered by Amendment 2 to Regulation 7 have had six weeks in which to prepare these pricing charts and file copies of such charts at the district OPS office. The final filing date is May 30 and no further extension can be expected.

Approximately 70 per cent of the 10,000 establishments in the 35 counties of eastern Michigan which comprise the Detroit OPS district, Mr. Hart said, have thus far failed to file.

Non-compliance with the regulations, he pointed out, could result in court action by the Enforcement Division of the Office of Price Stabilization.

Where delays are occasioned by the inability of the retailer to buy sufficient manpower into the job of compiling his charts or where the burden of doing the job is one plainly beyond the capacity of the retailer, the OPS would be disposed to be understanding.

Generally speaking, however, this particular trade group has had available to it the willing assistance of the district OPS staff and its own trade organizations. Unfamiliarity with the regulation, Hart said, simply cannot be accepted as an excuse for failure to comply.

"If there is a disposition on the part of retailers to regard the price stabilization program with indifference and to assume that it can be ignored with impunity, I think they will soon learn that this is a mistake," Hart said.

"The OPS has had its share of criticism for failure to apply penalties where they appear to have been fully justified. As far as our Detroit district office is concerned, we have been completely satisfied with the law. If a retailer's standing attitude cannot accomplish this, the enforcement provisions most certainly can. We feel that our responsibility immediately following May 30 will be to determine why retailers did not comply and it will be safe to assume that the period of tolerance in this office will have passed."

Music Study
Group Holds First Meeting of Series

The first of the Library-sponsored music appreciation hours was held Wednesday evening, May 9, and the second in the series was scheduled for last night. Rev. David Bryce, pastor of the Methodist church, presides during the one-hour sessions which begin at 8 p.m.

Last week the recordings and study period were on the works of Haydn; last night Mozart and his compositions were the subject for the evening and next week Wednesday the period will be devoted to a study of Beethoven numbers.

Library officials report gratifying response to the newly inaugurated program. They emphasize that anyone in the community who is interested is welcome to attend.

Harveys Named
To Direct Recreation
Program Again

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harvey, who headed the summer recreation program here last summer are to be in charge of the activities again this year. Recreation Council officials have announced. Mr. Harvey will be activities director and Mrs. Harvey will serve in her former capacity as playground supervisor.

The Recreation Council announced also that permission has been granted by the Board of Education for the use of school buses for transportation for the summer program.

Four Tulip Blooms
on One Stem Reported
by Fred Sager

Fred Sager was downtown yesterday displaying some deep red tulips he had picked in the garden at his home on Dewey avenue. The blossoms, themselves, were perfectly formed but the unusual feature about them was the fact that four blossoms branched from a single stem. Another single stem had two tulips branching from it. Horticulturists might have an explanation for the unusual stem and flower formation but most persons to whom Fred showed the oddities said they had never seen tulips grow that way before.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Spaulding returned home last Wednesday after spending several months in Florida.

APPROVING SPECTATORBanquet Hall
Re-Opened to Public Use

Remodeling of the third floor of the Municipal building in compliance with state fire regulations has now been completed and the third floor may again be used for community gatherings. The third floor had been condemned for use the past year because of the old elevator shaft at the rear of the building and because of the location of stairway exits.

The elevator shaft has been closed on each floor by installing floors at each level. The front stairway exit has been moved to bring the doorway nearer to the front of the building and exit lights have been installed on a separate circuit in accordance with safety code provisions.

A new ceiling has also been installed. This improves the acoustics, eliminating the echoing sounds which had formerly been very annoying during programs.

Alfalfa Produces Best

When Well Fertilized

forage for more years through fertilization, says James A. Porter, Michigan State College Soil Scientist.

If the stand is good, 200 pounds of fertilizer each year or 400 pounds alternate years will usually keep production high and profitable.

On heavy soils, Porter suggests use of 0-20-10 fertilizer, on medium soils 0-20-20 and on sandy soils 0-10-20 or 0-9-27. This fertilizer can be applied in April or in June after the hay harvest.

Wolfgang Saturday afternoon. Following the regular business meeting the group discussed the model kitchen which Lella Trinkle had made as her club project for the week.

Plans were made for the work to be done by the first, second and third year members at the next meeting to be held at the Wolfgang home May 26.

At Saturday's meeting first year members cooked rhubarb; second year members baked a cake. The food was later served as the afternoon's refreshments.

Contractors have been warned that a rush in industrial construction for defense could push building costs still higher. Skilled workers also will be needed—this means another influx of labor to Michigan.

Some $18,000 hunters harvested nearly 1,797,000 cottontails during the 1950-51 season. Previous seasons saw 351,000 persons take 1,970,000.

Conservation department fishery crews have planted 250,000 legal sized trout for the benefit of the trout enthusiasts. The department doesn't forget Michigan's tourist industry is rated as second only to the automobile business.

The highway department plans a $10,000,000 heavy-duty highway between Detroit and the Ohio line. With a Telegraph road (heaviest traveled truck route in the U.S.) disintegrating, the new road will serve as a defense highway.

TV NEWSREEL

This is a rosy time for summer vacationists... and maybe the best time. It's the anticipation stage... when the family gets all excited about the idea and the possibility of rain, poison ivy, sunburn, mosquitoes and assorted discomforts. It's fun to spread all those travel folders out and to be dazzled by Yosemite, Key West, Catalina, the North Woods, Yellowstone, the High Sierras or the Grand Canyon. And if you can't manage to get away, there's no law against sitting on your front porch with a batch of folders. Nothing'll take you farther or faster than a good imagination. In Toledo someone stole 4,700 sets of false teeth. There's a fellow who is apparently planning on eating regularly for some time to come.

Your family can eat regularly and you can save time and money by keeping food fresh in an Amana Home Freezer. See it at Chelsea Appliance and Television Hqrs., 115 Park St. Phone 3063.

THE CENTRAL IDEA

Things you'd like to know about your Railroad

The Story of a Railroad Dollar

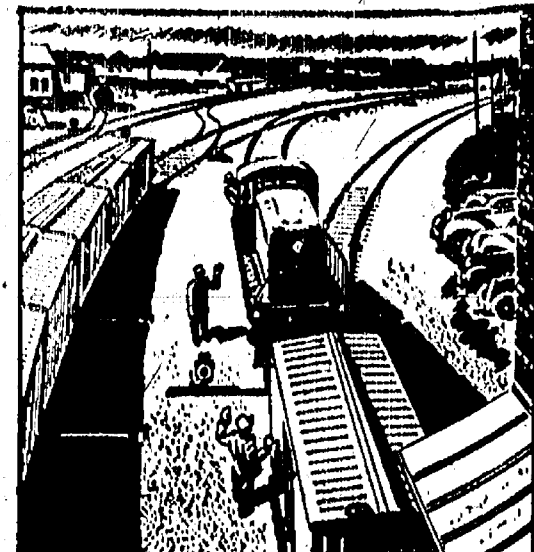

HOW IS IT EARNED? New York Central earned 69¢ of each dollar it received in 1950 from hauling freight, and 15¢ carrying passengers. Another 12.5¢ came from other operations. The final 8.5¢ of New York Central's income dollar last year was yield on its investments.

RAILROADERS GOT MOST of that dollar, over 56¢ in wages, salaries, pensions and Central's contribution in the form of payroll taxes to provide security. Their share of New York Central's income came to $448,000,000. And these men and women spend their money where they live!

ANOTHER 25¢ of New York Central's 1950 dollar went for coal, Diesel oil, rails, ties, wheels and all the other items that go into a railroad's market basket. Depreciation took 4.6¢. Interest, rentals, etc., required 5.8¢. Federal, state and local taxes accounted for 5.7¢.

LAST AND LEAST came net income of 2.3¢. Probably no one in town works for so small a profit as your Railroad. Compared to most cost-of-living items, fares and freight rates are bargains. But then, giving a lot for the money always has been the CENTRAL IDEA!

Report from Washington

By Congressman George Meader

Washington, D. C., May 16—In a period which demands concentration of government spending on rapid construction of a strong national defense, the tremendous volume of publications turned out by the federal government invites serious study.

The most superficial kind of survey shows the Government Printing Office producing 140 periodicals and an assortment of more than 2,400 other prints.

The Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications for April, 1951, devotes 76 pages to a listing of approximately 1,950 publications, ranging from leaflets to books, and this is not an accurate measure of current government publications. The catalog, for example, does not list the many publications of the Federal Security Agency or the estimated 450 bulletins, leaflets and similar prints produced by the Department of Agriculture.

The Department of Agriculture's Office of Information, which prepares and distributes the department's publications, had, alone, a total appropriation in 1949 of $1,800,000, of which $460,000 was spent for the printing of 28,250,000 bulletins and leaflets, and the Agricultural Yearbook—in 1950, this department produced nearly 42,500,000 bulletins and leaflets.

Annual cost of the government's publicity program has been estimated at $100,000,000, on the basis of a 1946 survey.

Many government publications undoubtedly are legitimate products devoted to necessary public service.

However, a program which involves many thousands of publications, running into millions of copies, and the expenditure of millions of dollars a year should require the justification of each publication. Each should be measured against the yardstick of whether it is justified by the public interest, whether it is required by law or is the result of voluntary activity by a particular federal agency; whether it is devoted to information which could not be supplied by private sources; and whether it is obsolete, wasteful, or is designed as propaganda to influence public opinion toward any particular national program.

When increased federal taxation is asked, the government expenditure for this volume of printing becomes an important consideration.

When newspapers, magazines and other industries, consuming huge quantities of paper are struggling for supply in a short market, these tax-supported publications become serious competition.

When the Post Office Department, operating at a loss and unable to meet the increasing requests of its employees, seeks to increase postal rates paid by the public, the handling of a large volume of publications under free mailing privilege demands appraisal.

When the national capital is being crowded for additional space in which to conduct the expanded governmental operations accompanying the defense effort, the question of the amount of space devoted to storage of these publications requires an answer.

When the growth of the defense production effort creates the threat of a manpower shortage, the man-hours expended on research, study and production of these publications becomes worthy of consideration.

The answers to these questions would require long and careful study by competent and disinterested investigators. Therefore, as a member of the Government Operations Subcommittee of the House Committee on Expenditures in the Executive Departments, I have proposed to the chairman, Congressman Porter Hardy of Virginia, that this subcommittee engage in a thorough investigation of all federal government publications. Congressman Hardy has agreed that this is a matter which ought to be assumed by the subcommittee.

Such a study may not accomplish a great deal in a short period of time. However, by concentrating on publications which appear to be least in the public interest, the subcommittee could strike at waste and extravagance throughout the course of its inquiry.

Everyone knows that Pontiac is famous for dependability. If you want personal confirmation, talk to a few owners who have driven Pontiacs over the years. You'll be surprised how many say: "Pontiac is the most dependable car in America!"

That's an important reason why the 1951 Pontiac is in such tremendous demand. True, it's the most beautiful thing on wheels—a joy to drive and ride in. But Pontiac dependability is convincing a lot of people to make Pontiac their first choice.

Diddle, diddle, dumpling, my son John, Went to bed with his work shoes on. His WOLVERINE Shell Horsehides were so comfortable, so soft. He hated like the dickens to take them off!

No Other Work Shoe Leather in The World Like...

WOLVERINE Triple-Tanned SHELL HORSEHIDE

TAINT' funny, wearing work shoes that dry out stiff-as-a-board after soaking. Michigan Family Becomes

Business history has been made in Michigan. A Saginaw family has become the millionth owner of the most widely owned business in the world—the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

No other company has even half as many owners. The Bell System is owned by stockholders in 19,000 communities... in every state, in cities, in towns, on farms, people in all walks of life sharing the same faith in the strength and integrity of American business.

The savings of these million stockholders have improved and expanded the Bell System's service to the nation—made it the best telephone service in the world. And that's especially important today. Good telephone service is a valuable asset in peacetime... but vital in time of national emergency.

We're proud to welcome our new owner, the Dentons of Saginaw. And we're especially proud that this historic milestone has been reached in our state.
