CHS Gridders
Down U. High
Friday EveInexperienced Team
Makes Impressive
Start with Two Wins

League championships and successful seasons are not accomplished in one Friday evening football game, but that does not mean that coach and players cannot be very happy about a single important victory—and that is exactly how the coaching staff and Chelsea High school footballers feel this week after Chelsea's quite impressive 13-6 win over University High School of Ann Arbor at the local athletic field last Friday evening.

It is too early to accurately evaluate Chelsea's chances in the Huron League which opens mid-way, but it can be said with assurance that this initial league win will add measurably to the confidence of this inexperienced eleven.

Each team was able to move the ball during the opening minutes of the first quarter but neither could engineer a sustained drive, as fumbles and ineffective ball handling handicapped each team.

The Chelsea backfield seemed suddenly about midway in the first quarter after Johnston, U. High halfback and captain, had punted to Chelsea's captain, Don McClellan who had run the ball back to the Chelsea 30-yard line.

A try at left tackle by McClellan netted two yards, then on the next play McClellan, after deceptively faking a handoff to one of his halfbacks, tucked the ball into Al Knickerbocker's arms who slanted over a good opening at U. High's right tackle slot, then raced almost 70 yards into the end zone for the touchdown. It was a perfectly executed play and one which caught the U. High defense off balance. Bob Baris added the extra point with a kick from place.

Toward the end of the first quarter, U. High got a drive going from the 40-yard line in its own territory. Johnston had returned McClellan's punt to that point on a nice runback, and on the first play from scrimmage Johnston handed off to Howie Young, a halfback, who scampered past midfield over the Chelsea left guard. Pullback Leith hit the center of the Chelsea line to shut Chelsea's 43-yard line.

Johnston then went over the right tackle. Two passes by Johnston netted 20 yards and a plunge by Leith took the ball to the Chelsea 11. Five plays later Johnston went over for the touchdown on an off-tackle play. The right side of the Chelsea line rose up and blocked the attempted kick for the extra point and the 7-6 score held up at the half.

Although U. High had rolled up four first downs to only one for Chelsea in the first half, the local team reversed the advantage as they scored three first downs to two in the third quarter, but neither team was able to move the ball across the goal line, or even put together a sustained drive which could cover more than 20 yards.

The third period was highlighted by good defense play on the part of both lines with Chelsea putting a little better of it, although the U. High line had been more aggressive during the first half. U. High was able to make yardage over the tackles and the several plays which netted the most yardage featured this same Don Johnston, a good strong runner who will give any line a busy time.

On the Chelsea side of the ledger, Al Knickerbocker was the most consistent ground-gainer during the period with most of his runs being wide around the ends who tried vainly all evening to keep him from turning them. The consistent offensive performances of Captain Don McClellan and Bob Baris, who has pleased the coaching staff since the expectations were that the team would be strong defensively but only fair at moving the ball and scoring. By the end of the season it should not be too surprising if this team stacks up well at the linchpin over in the fourth quarter and it was appropriate that the honor of scoring the touchdown should fall to a fellow who played a lot of football all evening—George Winchester. George speared a pass thrown by Johnston on his own 36-yard line and made a limping blocker came down as several were not needed, up to him but were not needed. George is not going to push any body out of the Chelsea backfield by his sprinting but he is going to push a lot of the opposition back all over the field this season as he did last Friday night.

Yes, Friday night was a happy night for the local high school. This Friday night Chelsea will tangle with Saline at 8 p.m. on the Hornets home field.

Milan Tavern Loses
License as Village
Enacts Curfew Law

The Ideal Tavern at Milan, named by the three teen-age slayers of Pauline Campbell as the place where they had bought beer "with the questions asked" has had its SDM and tavern license permanently revoked by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission. The Milan Village Council passed a resolution at its meeting Monday night urging immediate revocation of the license and the Liquor Control Commission confirmed the action Tuesday morning.

Examination of the tavern owner, Octavian Petrascu, was set for Oct. 2 and he was remanded to jail when he failed to post $1,500 bond.

The Milan Village Council also passed an ordinance Monday prohibiting minors from being on the village streets between 11:30 p.m. and 6 a.m. on week nights and 12:30 p.m. and 6 a.m. Fridays and Saturdays unless accompanied by parents or guardians. More than a hundred Milan community leaders reportedly attended the Council meeting at which the resolution and ordinance were passed.

The three youths who confessed the Sept. 12 bludgeoning slaying of the Ann Arbor nurse are David L. Royah, 17, of Milan; and William Morey, III, and Jacob Max Pell, both 18, of Ypsilanti. They are being held in the Washtenaw county jail.

The librarian's list includes all books in the library suitable for required reading as recommended by the American Library Association. The list, as compiled, simplifies the choosing of the books to read.

The books are listed in groups as follows: historical novels, sea stories, sports, science in fiction, drama, espionage, animal, western, pioneer, flying, religion, romance and war in our time.

Achievement
Day Is Set

Final plans for Achievement Day, Oct. 10, were made by the Washtenaw County Home Demonstration Council, at their meeting in the Supervisor's room in the Court House Friday afternoon, with Mrs. Alvin Marsh, county chairman, presiding. The extension clubs of the county will gather Wednesday, Oct. 10, at Ann Arbor High school auditorium for their annual Achievement Day. Mrs. Kenneth Van Buren, vice-chairman, will be in charge of the morning program, and Mrs. Marsh will preside in the afternoon. Dr. Elzada Glover will be the main speaker of the day.

Mrs. Van Buren reported on the National Homemakers Conference held in East Lansing in August. It was well attended with women coming from all over the United States and from Puerto Rico. Next year the conference will be held in North Carolina and the women of Michigan are planning to charter at least one bus so that they may go together. Mrs. Walter Schwartz told of her experiences at the State Homemakers Conference in East Lansing in July.

Changes Noted in Fair Premium List as Published Last Week.

On the Community Fair premium list as submitted for publication last week the rules in Division E (Livestock) stated that cattle "more than six months of age" must have reacted negative to official Bango test within the last 90 days if they are to be exhibited at the fair.

This is incorrect, according to fair officials and should have been changed prior to submitting the list for publication. The rule in question should read as follows: "Cattle more than one year of age must have reacted negative to official Bango test within last 90 days."

Another correction in Section E is the item listed as Section 3 under Class 7. Instead of reading, "Hog, Sow, any breed, 1 year of age or over," the listing should be as follows:

Sec. 3—Sow and litter, any breed, born after July 1, 1951—1st, $5.00; 2nd, $3.00; 3rd, $2.00.

NEW AREA RESIDENTS

Plan Announced
To Reorganize
Local Girl Scouts

At a Girl Scout Committee monthly meeting held last week Tuesday it was decided to reorganize the Girl Scouts here and divide the 32 Scouts and 30 Brownies into troops of eight girls each. Committee members said, however, that the success of the organization depends on recruiting ten or twelve leaders and assistant leaders. At present, there is one leader and one assistant leader, Mrs. Lewis Bernath and Mrs. Robert Wagner, respectively. They have already begun the first and second year Brownie program.

Beginning October 1, a two-week training course for leaders is being given in Ann Arbor. Chelsea leaders may participate in the course and the local Girl Scout Committee will provide transportation for those who wish to attend. The classes are held Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons from 1:30 until 3:30 for Brownie leaders, and evenings of the same days for Girl Scout leaders. Evening hours are from 7:30 until 9:30.

Committee spokesmen said that if leaders are not obtained the Chelsea Girl Scout program will lapse.

Fair Board Makes
Final Arrangements
at Tuesday Meeting

The Chelsea Community Fair Association held a meeting in the Municipal building Tuesday evening and planned final details for the 1951 Community Fair which opens next Wednesday, Oct. 3. It was decided to hold the programs in the outdoor arena in order to leave the Bowser plant building entirely free for display purposes. The fence around the Community fairgrounds was put up last week and fence posts around the arena were put in. Volunteer workers who go out this afternoon (Thursday) will help stretch the wire on the arena fence in readiness for next Wednesday's opening of the four-day fair.

Chelsea Boy Scouts will have a first aid tent on the grounds and the Sylvan Farm Bureau will have a rest tent for the convenience of those who attend the fair. The local Rebekah Lodge is to be in charge of the restaurant.

Fair officials added several new listings for exhibits. In the flower show first, second and third prizes of 50 cents, 35 cents and 25 cents, respectively, are to be awarded for a single cut flower in each variety and also for miniature bouquets.

ATTEND COURT OF HONOR

Adults who accompanied them are Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Staffan, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Collier and Mrs. E. J. Sutter.

Elementary PTA
Members Meet
New Teachers

Basil Sheth, the new elementary school principal, and all elementary teachers were introduced by Supt. Albert C. Johnson at the first Elementary PTA meeting of the present school year. The meeting was held Wednesday evening, Sept. 13, in the Home Ec. room at the High school. Johnson spoke at the meeting regarding the Parent-Teacher Council formed last year. He said the "purpose of the Parent-Teacher Council is to give parents an opportunity to express themselves in a systematic manner." Meetings of the Council are held every other month, the next one being scheduled for Oct. 16. Johnson also explained the divisions of the classes necessitated by the large enrollment and said school officials feel the teacher-pupil ratio is good this year.

Mrs. Howard Flintoff was nominated as vice-president. All the vacancies caused by the resignation of Elwyn Beach because of other duties.

Committees for the year are to be announced at next month's meeting Oct. 17. The Brownies committee was announced at last week's meeting and includes Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Walter, Mrs. Gage and Mrs. Hugh Strueman. At least two new leaders are urgently needed for the Brownies and the committee members made a plea for volunteers who could take over the work.

A blueprint plan of the new Elementary school was on display at Wednesday's meeting.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Donald Fogg, Mrs. Mac Packard and Mrs. Edwin Dickelman.

The horse pulling contests Friday and Saturday afternoons are expected to bring out a large crowd of spectators. To help defray the expenses of this popular feature, fair officials decided to charge admission.

All indications point to a bigger and better Community Fair and parade. Many organizations, as well as schools and school classes, are planning to enter floats in the parade.

A number of antique cars from various communities will be in the parade, as well as new cars, farm machinery and horses. TV bands are expected to take part.

Navy Announces College Training Program Exam

The Navy announced recently that the sixth nationwide competitive examination for its College Training Program has been scheduled for Dec. 8, 1951, and will be open to high school seniors or graduates within the age requirements. Successful candidates will be given a four-year college education at government expense and will be commissioned as officers of the Navy or Marine Corps upon graduation.

The program is open to male citizens of the United States between the ages of 17 and 21, and quotas have been assigned to each state and territory on the basis of its high school population. Those who are successful in passing the aptitude test will be interviewed and given physical examinations; then, if they are found in all respects qualified, their names will be submitted to state and territorial selection committees composed of prominent citizens and naval officers. The Navy expects to enter about 2,000 students into the program, commencing with the fall term of college, 1952.

Students selected by these competitive examinations will be assigned to the 52 Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps units which are located in various universities and colleges in the United States. If accepted by the college, they will be appointed Midshipmen, USNR, and will have their tuition, books, and normal fees paid for by the Government. In addition they will receive pay at the rate of $50 per month for the four-year period. Upon graduation they may be commissioned as officers in the Regular Navy or Marine Corps and required to serve on active duty for two years. At the end of this time they may apply for retention in the Regular Navy or Marine Corps, or transfer to the Reserve and, depending upon the needs of the Service, return to civilian life.

Applications are available at high schools, colleges and Navy Recruiting stations.

Carl Chandler, of Chelsea High school, who is acting as the Navy's local civilian representative, will be pleased to provide specific information about the program, including time and place of the competitive examination, the method of making application, and the specific age and scholastic qualifications.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Lewis Wahl and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Walker returned home Saturday after spending a week in Birmingham, Ala., and other points in the South.

A Hymn Is Born

BY CLINT BONNER

He Leadeth Me

A Governor's son discovers a hymn he wrote

In the spring of 1865 a young minister took his seat on the pulpit of the Second Baptist Church at Rochester, N. Y. About to preach his trial sermon before a new congregation, he thumbed through a hymnal to select an impressive song. Over in the book his hand stopped. His eyes widened. Then he smiled. His wife must have played a prank on him. His thoughts went back to a night three years earlier.

It was March 24, 1862. The nation was in turmoil. The War Between the States had swung into its tragic stride. Abraham Lincoln had not yet issued his Emancipation Proclamation and nobody knew what the blood-shed was all about. . . .

He leadeth me! O blessed thought!
 O words with heavenly comfort fraught!
 What else I do, where'er I be,
 Still 'tis His hand that leadeth me.

The speaker and his wife went home with Deacon Thomas Watson for the night. The deacon complimented the young speaker on his selection of a text. Retiring to his room Joseph Gilmore set up into the wee hours writing some verses. The next morning Mrs. Gilmore was up ahead of her husband. She took the paper with its verses but said nothing. Gilmore forgot it completely. Mrs. Gilmore sent the poem to a Baptist periodical. Composer William Bradbury read it, set it to music and published it in his hymnal, "The Golden Center."

At Rochester when Joseph Gilmore, D.D. stopped his hand on a page in the hymnal his thoughts went back to that night in Philadelphia when he talked from the text "He Leadeth me beside the still waters." At any rate, he wanted to hear how a hymn sounded that he had written, so he asked the congregation to sing . . .

Guests this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schrader, Sr. are Mrs. Schrader's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Weaver, of Clifton, Ill. Sunday the Schraders and their guests visited relatives in Wyandotte and Trenton.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Guest and children, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Paul and George Pucak, father of Mrs. Guest and Mrs. Paul, spent Sunday in Detroit. The men went to the ball game at Briggs Stadium while the others visited relatives.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

nation. We seem unable to make ourselves realize this fact. We seem still to believe in the European adage that Providence protects fools, children, and the United States. We are showing ourselves to be a gullible, irresponsible, and foolish people. We refuse to look at the basic causes of our present situation and, like the French 160 years ago, we play with symptoms by creating, as did they, Laws of Maximum.

"We are rushing into totalitarianism through all the doors that our government officials have thus far been able to open. And when the President encroached upon the independence of the Federal Reserve System on February 1, there was opened another and very dangerous door which it was widely supposed no thoughtful President would ever dare to push through."

● This column of the "Michigan Mirror" is another reminder that the financial problems of Michigan government, state as well as local, are largely the indirect result of policies fixed at a national level at Washington itself.

As long as our dollar is continually depreciated in value, one of two things must follow. Our citizens must give up some public services they now enjoy. This means the lowering of our standard of living—something we all are loath to forego.

Or the citizens must be prepared to pay the price of inflation by ever higher taxes in a perpetual cycle until the point of diminishing returns is finally reached.

All of this may serve to publicize the need of reorganization of government itself whereby public services, instead of being ever augmented, may be actually curtailed. Reorganization itself will achieve little economy unless the citizen is willing to forego some of the benefits he now receives. The record of certain pressure groups in getting all they can for themselves at Washington and Lansing does not augur that reorganization can be accomplished, readily.

● What can you do about it? If you have not written a letter recently to your representative and senator at Washington and Lansing, insisting on reduced spending for public services from top to bottom, you have contributed indirectly to the inflation trend.

If you have not voted for candidates whose record is clearly one for fiscal sanity, you also have added to the fuels of more inflation.

The situation, serious as it appears, is not hopeless if enough citizens arouse themselves to do something about it.

4-H CLUB NEWS
By FRANK GENDRON
Washtenaw 4-H Club Agent

Through this column, so generously donated by this paper, I hope that I will be able to give you a better picture of what we are doing in our 4-H program, who our outstanding leaders and members are, and some of the highlights of the 4-H clubs. I wish my best to make this column both interesting and helpful to both leaders and members, and hope that you will get something out of it to help you enjoy a better program.

At this time I want to thank the 4-H leaders, members and friends, who have given me such outstanding cooperation in the summer club work. I would also like to express my appreciation to Don Johnson and the rest of the extension staff who have given me such able assistance and cooperation in orientating myself to the duties of 4-H club agent. I personally feel that the summer 4-H club work in this county has been most satisfactory and of very high caliber. My "hat off" to all of you.

As we are preparing to close our summer projects may I remind you that our Fall Achievement Day is set for Oct. 23. At this event awards, certificates, ribbons, premiums and recognition will be given to all who have helped make this one of the most successful years in our summer 4-H program. May I encourage you to save this day and plan on attending. A very outstanding program is being planned, on which you will hear more later.

The time has come to start organizing our winter clubs. In succeeding articles I will attempt to give you material on different projects which may be carried by the 4-H members and what the requirements for each are. If you have any questions please drop me a line and I will be glad to give you all the assistance I can in answering your questions.

With our expanding enrollment in 4-H club work we will need the assistance of more leaders. If you are available or would like to lead a club will you please get in touch with me.

Report from Washington

By Congressman George Meader

Washington, D. C.—Indications that the Michigan Democratic State Central Committee is conducting a subtle program of exacting contributions to political campaign funds from postmaster candidates has caused me to call upon the House of Representatives to act promptly to drive politics out of the Post Office Department.

I have asked for an investigation broad enough to include an examination of the injection of politics of a low order into what ought to be an example of how the people, through their Government, can render a public service with an efficiency and an economy comparable to the operation of a private enterprise.

This is particularly important at a time when the Congress has been called upon to increase postal rates and the pay of postal employees in a department which has had an operating deficit of more than a half billion dollars in several recent years.

If the Government is to engage in business, its operation should be conducted in an efficient and businesslike manner. An investigation should explore all of the basic and fundamental problems which involve an efficient operation and not the least of these is the extent to which politics controls the operations of the department.

The country was shocked by the disclosures of Post Office job sales in Mississippi by a Democratic committee. The Investigations Committee of the Senate conducted these practices in no uncertain terms.

Now a similar situation, but less obvious, in the State of Michigan is indicated in a letter which I have received, written on the stationery of the Democratic State Central Committee of Michigan and addressed to an applicant for a position as postmaster. Deletions, names, dates and places which might serve as foundation for reprisal, this letter reads:

"Our State Chairman has just recommended your appointment as postmaster of Chelsea, Michigan, to Senator Blair Moody. We know, there are still several steps to be taken before your appointment is finally confirmed, but judging from past experience you can now be reasonably sure of the final appointment."

Checking our contributor files, I do not find your name listed in our Democratic Green Book as a 1951 contributor.

"Contributions to the Democratic Party are strictly voluntary and certainly your appointment is not contingent on a contribution. Yet strong party organization is essential to our American Form of Democratic Government, and we can't have such organization without a broad financial support from all members of our party."

"I am sure that no lengthy argument is needed to convince you of the importance of contributing to the party of your choice. For your convenience, I enclose a pledge card and business reply envelope and hope that you will soon join the several thousand other Democrats who now pay their party dues by this method."

"Receipts for all contributions are issued by the National Committee as well as the State Central Committee."

"Sincerely,
"Howard P. Hunt,
"Finance Director"

That this letter is no isolated instance is suggested by another letter which I have received. It reads:

"I am writing to ask your assistance in regards to my appointed postmaster. I received my rate from the Civil Service Commission, and was number one on the list for appointment, having a 10-point preference for my service disability. The law states that a veteran with a service disability should receive the appointment, unless he has a bad record, and not eligible for the appointment for the position, which is not my case."

"I have been informed that the now acting postmaster has contributed about $200 to the Democratic Committee. . . . for his appointment. If this is the way the Civil Service Commission makes its appointments, what is the sense of conducting any examinations, or allowing any service connected veterans' preference? The acting postmaster, I understand, was rated third on the examination."

A further indication of the moral consequences of the injection of politics into what ought to be an efficient service is contained in a news story which appeared in the Monroe, Michigan, Evening News last June 25.

The story revealed that an acting postmaster who was awaiting his appointment had been detected opening mail directed by a Senator to another candidate for the position.

Perhaps one of the worst effects, however, is the deterioration of morale throughout the employees in the service. I have received numerous communications from postal employees who are sincere, devoted, hardworking people who love their work and wish to be proud of the institution of which they are a part. I doubt that there has been any time when the morale of the Postal Service has been as low as it is today.

The order of the Postmaster General, curtailing delivery service, directory service, window service, and imposing increasing hardships upon postal employees, issued as everyone knows for the purpose of clubbing Congress into an increased appropriation for the Post Office Department, has had its inevitable reaction on the clerks and mail carriers who actually do the burdensome work.

The answer to this problem is not in political exhortations such as those made in addresses to the National Association of Postmasters by Vice-President Barkley and Assistant Postmasters General Joseph Lawler and John Redding. Such remarks merely tend to cast a reflection such as is contained in the Mississippi and Michigan instances over the entire Postal Service.

WOMEN ARE SMART

(A Short Story)
By RICHARD HILL WILKINSON

YOU CAN FOOL a woman. A smart woman, I mean. Camille Squier was smart. So was Elena Talley. But there was a difference. Camille was better-looking. She had charm and grace and could wear clothes. When she entered a room, men gravitated in her direction. She knew this. And because she knew it, she was sure of herself—confident.

Elena knew it, too. She knew there was no sense in making a conquest when Camille was around. If Camille took a fancy to you, conquest, you might as well give up. This was the situation when Elena met Val Randall. She met him at a dance in January, two weeks before she was due to leave with her going to beat Camille at her own game.

Elena left with her folks for Miami on the 21st of January. Val was to come down a week later. Camille and Candace Usher and Gail Sharon were already there. As always, the four families would stay at the Whitlock Hotel on Miami Beach.

"Darlings!" Elena exclaimed when her three friends greeted her at the station. "I have the most wonderful news!"

Call Sharon said bluntly: "I hope it's a flock of men. There's absolutely no one here. It's positively dull."

"Only one, darling. One lovely, adorable handsome man. He's a writer. His name is Val Randall. I met him at a dance two weeks ago." She turned to Camille. "A new conquest for you, my sweet. You'll adore him."

"Really?" said Camille, smiling faintly.

"He's the best-looking thing you've ever laid your eyes on!" Elena babbled on. "Oh, you'll love him. I can just see you two together. The best-looking couple on the beach!"

And so Elena continued to talk about Val. For six days she talked about him whenever she could get anyone to listen. And mostly she talked to Camille.

Camille was bored. After two days of it she had heard enough. She was sick of the sound of Val Randall's name. Her replies to Elena's enthusiastic build-ups became sharp and irritated.

Then at last Val arrived, and Elena, entering the hotel with Camille and Candace and Gail and seeing him in the lobby, cried: "There he is! Oh, there's Val! Isn't he wonderful!" And she crossed the lobby to speak to him. The other girls trailed behind. Elena held her breath and then watched and waited.

Val looked at the other girls and looked at Camille. Camille's eyes were fairly puzzled, faintly shocked. Presently she excused herself and went to her room. Elena found her there a half hour later.

"Wasn't he grand, darling? Wasn't he wonderful?"

Camille stifled a yawn. "Honey, you never did know what to look for in a man. I'm sorry, but please don't try to promote a romance between your writer and me. I'm quite satisfied with my present set-up."

It was frustrating. She couldn't tell him how she felt. It wouldn't ring true. Then she learned that he was going to Miami in January, and her heart beat with wild joy. Almost instantly, however, replaced the joy. The crowd would be there. Camille would be there. Camille would take one look at Val Randall and that would be the end.

Elena was desperate. Before it hadn't mattered, because she hadn't really been in love. This was different. She couldn't let Val go without a fight. Even if it meant losing face, even if it meant humiliation and being laughed at. Val was hers. Camille couldn't have him. Somehow, some way, she was family for the annual sortie to Miami. Val was a writer and soft-spoken and gentle and understanding, and Elena knew she loved him before they had danced around the floor once.

The discovery confused her, changed her, carried her to dizzy heights and dropped her to depths of despair. She knew he loved her. She could see it in his eyes. She could feel it. She knew he was restraining himself because of convention. She knew he was afraid to say what was in his heart because he was afraid she wouldn't believe him.

U. of M. Senior Students Assist in High Schools

Senior students at the University of Michigan spent the first two weeks of the present school year at various schools observing and offering assistance with their reopening. In this vicinity, the Gregory and Dexter schools cooperated in the plan proposed by the University School of Education to many local public schools in the state, thus allowing future school teachers to gain the experience of the opening weeks of the fall session. Jacqueline P. Joffries, of Gregory, was at the Gregory school and P. David Aberdeen spent the two weeks at the Dexter Public school. He lives at Portage Lake, Pinckney.

Although, as senior students, their course of study will include supervised practice teaching in Ann Arbor schools, the University schedule does not begin until after the early weeks of the semester have already taken place.

At least 63 schools throughout the state and 19 in other states permitted University seniors to participate in the plan.

Guests the past week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Peck were Mr. and Mrs. Peck's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Peck of Green Bay, Wis., and his sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Shingler, of Sidnaw, in the upper peninsula. They left yesterday to return to their homes.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Conway of Sistriville, W. Va., were overnight guests Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Maroney. Mr. Conway has been with Standard Oil of New Jersey for more than 30 years and his work has taken him and Mrs. Conway to many countries throughout the world. They are now at home on vacation after six years in Cairo, Egypt.

POACH YOUR EGGS and serve them on corn fritters for a nice supper dish. You'll like tomato or mushroom sauce to go over them.

Like an old-fashioned decorated cake for a change? Try frosting devil's food or white cake with a heap of boiled or seven minute icing, then decorate with stick candy.

Next time you bake fingerbread, serve it a bit differently and see if the family won't like it! Slice ripe bananas over the warm squares and top with sugar-sweetened whipped cream.

Pork chops take on a delicate flavor when you braise them and add some pineapple juice and apple cider as the liquid in which they're cooked.

Heat together some honey, cream and a dash of cinnamon. You'll like this sauce on both pancakes and waffles for something different.

Nice to serve with chilled tomato or vegetable juice as a first course: roll small balls of well-seasoned processed American cheese in grated carrots, then place a small pretzel stick on top for easy handling.

Dress up that canned applesauce for desserts: place a mound of powdered sugar on top of the sauce in a sherbet glass, then decorate with candied fruits. Another way is to chill the applesauce, then serve with melted currant jelly drizzled over the top.
