

● Streamlining of state government through consolidation of agencies with power centralized in the governor is the general theme fixed by the Michigan "Little Hoover" commission.

Administrators would be named by the governor who would become responsible directly for "good government." This centralization of power in one state official has been conditioned in most recommendations, on extension of the governor's term from two to four years.

● To what extent this streamlining pattern will be a political issue in 1952 is quite another matter. Several leading Republican officeholders are frankly skeptical of the wisdom of putting more state agencies under control of the governor with all of the resultant political complications. The highway department is one example; no governor can successfully bid for votes on a promise to deliver a road as long as the highway commissioner is chosen by the people.

● Governor G. Mennen Williams recently advocated public support for the state reorganization recommendations on the point that the cost of government would be reduced by consolidation of state agencies. This is the plea voiced by Harry F. Kelly and Kim Sigler during their terms as governor. The idea is shared by many voters who think that reorganization and economy are one and the same thing.

● A more realistic view is held by State Treasurer D. Hale Brake. Brake believes the state legislature has done a courageous job in holding down state spending during a postwar period of ever rising prices. He also concludes that any further substantial saving in the cost of state government must come from elimination of public services—an unpopular thing to do.

Transfer of public services from state to local government merely puts the tax burden on the local level.

Furthermore, the state of Michigan is already returning 75 per cent of the state sales tax proceeds back to home governments.

● For a candidate to public office to oppose the "Little Hoover" commission recommendations is to risk being tagged with a political label. This label is "enemy of tax economy." The same state legislators who voted more reductions in state spending may be criticized if they refuse to support the plans for state reorganization. In this dilemma lies the strength of the state reorganization program.

● The hubbub over the cent-and-a-half-per-gallon gasoline tax still is raising smoke around Lansing. With Fred M. Alger, Jr., committing an examination of the signatures on the CIO-sponsored petitions to put the tax to a referendum, dam, Robert Poe, CIO lobbyist, and Sen. Joseph P. Cloon (R-Wakefield) raised a ruckus over the Good Roads Federation lobby on the tax.

● The said an investigation of the GRF lobby "would make" the lobby look like a "punch" and "put up or shut up." Poe, "A lot of birds are shot illegally."

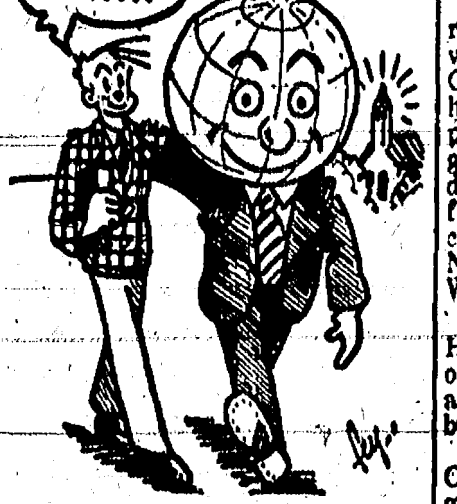

● And so on and on and on, but Gus Scholle, CIO state president, says there might be a grand jury investigation of the GRF lobby methods. Significant: Democrat legislators fought unsuccessfully to defeat the one-man grand jury bill.

● Michigan's farmers still pack a power punch in state government. Witness the atomic action initiated upon the banning of using rifles for deer south of the Muskegon-Bay City line and in the thumb. They got results. The ban was whisked into law, even if it required a special session of the legislature.

● Conservation officials previously had revealed they hadn't authority to enforce a commission ruling against rifles. Also they revealed that most previous violators had been— you guessed it, the farmers. (Continued on page eight)

Tie BallgameAnnual Rivalry with
Milan To Be Revived
Friday Evening

The Chelsea Bulldogs and the Roosevelt Roughriders battled to a 7-7 tie last Friday night, "Dad's Night," on the local field. Roosevelt scored in the first quarter with Chelsea's tally coming in the second period on a pass from Proctor to McClean.

The Roughriders' tally came during the first quarter when the Bulldogs fumbled on the 47-yard line and the Ypsilanti boys recovered—Roosevelt rolled for three first downs and a 6-yard TD run with J. Oney carrying the pigskin over the goal. Shiska converted and Roosevelt led 7-0 at the end of the first quarter.

The second quarter found Roosevelt forced to kick on their own 22. A short, 14-yard boot was returned to the 36, where Chelsea took over. The Bulldogs rolled to a first down on the 19 and another on the 9, where Proctor passed to McClean for a touchdown. Bars carried the all-important extra point over, and as the half ended, the score was knotted at seven points each.

The entire last half was filled with fumbles and pass interceptions. Neither team's offense was able to move for a score and as the game ended, the scoreboard showed a 7-7 tie.

Chelsea completely outplayed Roosevelt on offense as the first down statistics show, with Chelsea picking up 16 to the Roughriders' 8. However, the Bulldogs could carry the ball long enough to score without experiencing a fumble on some other bad break, which enabled Roosevelt to hold on for a tie game.

Don McClean was again outplayed on offense, while Hoppe, Eder, and R. Bertke took the defensive honors for Chelsea. For Roosevelt, Kidd and Williamson stood out, both on offense and defense.

Tomorrow night Chelsea travels to Milan to try to knock the Reds from their position at the top of the Huron League. The game promises to be another first-rate thriller. Game time will be 7:30.

Reserves Walloped

The Chelsea Bullpups were defeated by East Jackson last Monday night to the tune of 55-0.

East Jackson struck in every quarter, one TD in the first, two in the second, three in the third, and two in the last quarter. Graff accounted for five touchdowns, while Alexandra racked up three. Graff also converted seven of eight extra points to make a very impressive showing.

It was a lop-sided game from the very start, and Bobby White's injury in the second quarter ended all of Chelsea's scoring threats.

Murphy and Hummel played good ball, but they were not able to move in to pay dirt. The team investigation of the GRF lobby methods. Significant: Democrat legislators fought unsuccessfully to defeat the one-man grand jury bill.

Fire Department
Called Out Twice
During Past Week

The Chelsea Fire department was called out twice during the past week. At 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 25, they answered a call at the home of Mrs. Maggie Shouse, 212 Jackson street, where the living room ceiling caught fire from an overheated stove pipe. Damage was estimated at approximately $200.

Monday evening, Oct. 29, at 7:25, a burning brake lining on the wheel of a moving van regulated in the 8500th street area. Firemen extinguished the blaze before the truck and its load of furniture were damaged. The van, owned by Weber Moving & Storage company, and driven by George Hutson, of Baltimore, Md., was reportedly headed for Chelsea and was at Old US-12 and M-92 when the fire started.

Morrrows Visit with Gifts for Meth. Home

Rev. and Mrs. Orville W. Morrow and Cynthia Lord, of Unionville, were greeted by friends in Chelsea Saturday when they came here with a group of 12 young people to bring gifts of canned goods and other food to the Methodist Home. The young people were from the Unionville Methodist church and from the newly-built New Prairie Methodist church at Waver.

Contributions brought to the Home by the group included a total of 178 jars of home-canned goods and approximately 200 pounds of beans and other food.

Rev. Morrow was pastor of the Chelsea Methodist church before going to Unionville in 1950.

High School PTA
Officials Plan for Coming Events

All High School PTA room representatives and PTA executive board members, except one, were present for a meeting held at the school Monday evening to make plans for coming events.

Stressed at the meeting was the announcement that the Parent Education Institute to be held in the Horace Rackham building, Ann Arbor, next week, may be attended without charge by PTA members. PTA membership cards, shown at the door, will admit those who wish to attend. The institute will be held Wednesday and Thursday from 8:30 a.m. until 9:00 p.m. PTA members may attend any part of the sessions they wish.

At Monday's meeting plans were also completed for the Nov. 28 PTA meeting.

Expect Funds
Drive To Top
Last Year's

Mrs. Herbert Sanborn and Mrs. Charles Lancaster, co-chairmen of the Salvation Army drive for funds here, said yesterday that approximately half the amount they had hoped to raise here had been tabulated by the first of this week.

The drive was to have been concluded yesterday but because of a number of call-backs scheduled it was decided to continue the drive until the end of the week.

Coin boxes will be left in the stores and business places until Saturday night and people who could not be contacted personally by block workers are asked to drop their contributions in these receptacles.

U. of M. Instructor,
Author To Lecture
Here Next Monday

John F. Muehl, instructor in English at the University of Michigan, lectures here next Monday evening, Nov. 5 at 8 p.m. in the current lecture series sponsored by the Chelsea Public Library. The lecture will be given in the library.

Mr. Muehl returned from India in 1948 after almost two years as a free lance writer. He wrote and published "Interview with India" as a report on a 2,800-mile trek by horseback, camelback, bullock cart and country-craft boat, through the village areas of India. The book has sold more than 25,000 copies and was distributed by the Book Find club as one of its selections.

As an author, his first book "American Sahib," was published in 1946 and was a journal of service with the British armies in India. Subsequently, he has published articles in Reader's Digest, International Digest, Asia Magazine, Far Eastern Survey, etc. Both NBC and CBS have used his material on coast-to-coast broadcasts and part of his first book was dramatized under government sponsorship on the program "Duffy's Tavern."

Family Dinner
Honors Birthday of Henry Schumacher

Mrs. Chauncey Freeman and Miss Minnie Schumacher entertained at dinner Thursday in honor of their brother, Henry Schumacher, on his 83rd birthday.

Guests present were Mr. Schumacher's son, Earle E. Schumacher, of Maplewood, N. J., who had spent the past three weeks here and in Detroit; also, the honoree's guests' brother and his wife, M. and Mrs. E. L. Schumacher, of Ann Arbor.

The dinner was given at the home of Miss Schumacher on South Main street.

The previous evening, Wednesday, Oct. 24, Mrs. J. E. McKune entertained at a small dinner in Mr. Schumacher's honor. Mr. Schumacher makes his home at the McKune house while he is in Chelsea. He spends his winters in Florida.

While in Chelsea, Earle Schumacher was a guest speaker at a Kiwanis meeting held Oct. 22 at the Methodist church. He told of the many interesting phases of his work as chief metallurgist for the Bell Telephone Laboratories at Murray Hill, N. Y. He also described his trip to Europe last fall when he visited a number of research centers and various industrial laboratories in England, Germany, France, Holland and Switzerland. He was the 1950 autumn lecturer at the Bournmouth Institute of Metals meetings in London.

Intrigue in Chelsea Barn
Figures in Early Auto Design

Chelsea popped into the foreground recently in a story told in the BCA News, published by the Barclay-Colman Association, in Rockford, Ill. The story is described as excerpts and adaptations from an article on "History of the Matheson Automobile" by Robert C. Laurens in the September, 1950, issue of The Antique Automobile.

The story as it appeared in the May-June 1951 issue of the BCA News told of a series of incidents which led eventually to the manufacture of Oakland cars by General Motors.

According to the story, two brothers, Frank E. and Charles W. Matheson, of Grand Rapids, became interested in automobile manufacture after purchasing a Stanley steam engine and an early chain-driven model turned out by the Stanley brothers. Experimenting with car and engine designing the Matheson brothers produced a successful model named after themselves, the first one being sold in July, 1903. The shaft-driven car had a 4-cylinder, vertical, 24 hp. (horsepower) engine with a 3 1/2" bore and a 4 1/2" stroke. The description of the car stated it had a 95-inch wheel base and a "fashionable detachable tonneau."

When it was decided a few years later, to purchase the Holyoke Automobile company in Massachusetts and combine operations there, Charles Matheson and the company's chief engineer, Charles Greuter, during the negotiations, drove one of the Holyoke cars from Massachusetts to Grand Rapids. This is where Chelsea came into the picture.

The car reached Chelsea during a terrific storm and the men decided to store it in a garage here over the week-end before continuing to Grand Rapids. Then, so the story goes, while the car was in the garage, here, engineers from the old Chelsea Manufacturing Co., Ltd., where the Welch car was made, dismantled the Holyoke car engine to copy the valve design. The next model of the Welch car, the story states, was a copy of the Holyoke (Greuter) machine. The

MR. AND MRS. JOHN F. STREIT

E. Riemenschneider, Owosso Man Married Here Saturday

St. Mary's Catholic church here was the scene of the wedding Saturday of Esther Riemenschneider and John F. Streit of Owosso. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Wilbur Riemenschneider of Detroit, formerly of Chelsea, and the late Mr. Riemenschneider. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Streit of Oxford. Rev. Father Lee Laige officiated at the 9 o'clock ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Richard W. Riemenschneider, wore a brown velvet suit with brown and champagne accessories and a corsage of bronze fluted lilies.

Mrs. Donald Higgins of Detroit, was the bride's only attendant. For the wedding she wore a teal blue velvet suit with black and teal accessories. Her corsage was of yellow fluted lilies.

Paul Lanigan of Stamford, N. Y., assisted the bridegroom as best man and Kenneth Corbett of Ann Arbor, and Thomas McElabor of East Lansing, acted as ring bearers. Mrs. Riemenschneider, in brown crepe with all brown accessories, wore bronze mums and the bridegroom's mother, suited in aqua with pink and black accessories, wore a corsage of pink carnations.

At a 1 o'clock reception honoring the newly-married couple, Irene Ringel of Jackson, was in charge of the guest book. Pouring were Mrs. C. W. Scott, Jr., of Birmingham, and Mrs. Bruce Love of Howell, sisters of the bride, and Mrs. R. W. Riemenschneider, her sister-in-law.

The bride is a graduate of Chelsea High school and of Michigan State Normal College where she became affiliated with Alpha Sigma Tau sorority.

A graduate of Oxford High school and Michigan State College, Mr. Streit spent two and one-half years in the U. S. Army and is now with the J. C. Penney company in Owosso. He is a member of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Streit are living at 418 West King street in Owosso.

Thomas Reed of Shelby, was an overnight guest of Rev. W. H. Skentelbury and Ruth, Friday.

PNG CLUB
The PNG club enjoyed a Halloween party at the meeting held last Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Donovan Sweeney. Ten members and two guests were present. Mrs. Lloyd Keeny, one of the guests, was dressed as a ghost and greeted members at the door. Jack-o-lanterns and other traditional Halloween table decorations provided the setting for the party. Refreshments of pumpkin pie and coffee were served by Mrs. Sweeney and her assisting hostess, Mrs. Rose Munro.

EUCHE PARTY
Mr. and Mrs. Loren Hinderer entertained friends at a euchre party at their home Saturday evening. Guests were present from Grass Lake, Manchester and Chelsea.

Ellis Pratt of Manchester, received the traveling prize, and high point prize, and Mrs. Calvin Clark was awarded high prize for the ladies. Consolation awards went to Mrs. Loren Hinderer and Calvin Clark.

The hostess served refreshments after the games.

Paul Schabbe, who is doing graduate work in business administration at Northwestern University in Chicago, and Carl Bieser, of Cincinnati, fellow student at Northwestern, spent the week-end here with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Schabbe. The Schabbe's daughter, Peggy, and Gretchen Meyer, of Coldwater, both students at the University of Michigan, joined the Schabbes and their guests for Sunday dinner.

Miss Lillie Wackenhut entertained at a pre-Halloween party at her home Thursday.

COLD, UNINSULATED FARM BUILDINGS CAN ACTUALLY WASTE UP TO 1/2 OF ALL THE FEED YOUR ANIMALS GET

Low Cost Zonolite Insulation Easiest to Install

ZONOLITE vermiculite Insulating Fill pours easily from the bag into attic or low joists, or sidewall studs. Fills snugly, leaves no heat leaks or voids. Will not settle. Cuts feed bills in farm homes up to 40%—will maintain a temperature of 50° in your barns when it's below zero outside.

AS LOW AS $67.60 TO INSULATE YOUR FARM HOME!

(Up in today for free estimate for your home.)

— Available at —

and Finkbeiner Lumber Co.

Animals kept in cold, uninsulated buildings require more body heat, so that feed that should go for more meat, milk or eggs, is used instead for maintaining warmth. Let us show you how to increase your production, how to stop wasting feed by insulating those buildings with the wonder insulation — ZONOLITE vermiculite Insulating Fill. You can insulate your farm buildings in an afternoon or day, and once it's in, ZONOLITE is there for the life of the building. ZONOLITE is rodentproof, verminproof and FIREPROOF.

ZONOLITE Insulating Concrete Aggregate, used with cement in place of sand, can be poured over old floors or directly on the ground. Easily installed in poultry houses, hog houses and dairy barns. Provides warm, dry floors.

Ever-Changing Your eyes see differently at different times in your life, according to the Better Vision Institute.

At the age of 12 a normal "near point" of distinct vision is about 2 1/2 inches from your eyes. This point recedes with age until at 60, it may be more than 36 inches away. This is one of the reasons why older people usually wear glasses for close eye-work.

AN OPEN LETTER TO YOU!

"Because Of Eve" is a frank, straight-talking film about birth and procreation.

The story is simple and direct, woven about the three short subjects, "The Story of VD," "The Story of Reproduction," and "The Story of Birth."

The realism, simple dialogue and problem presentation does much to ease the shock of this hard-hitting picture.

Educational briefs use both live models and animated drawings.

It is my personal recommendation that fathers and mothers should view this film with their children.

While we do not admit unaccompanied children under high school age, we believe that you as parents with an intimate knowledge of the intellectual maturity and understanding of your sons and daughters, must yourselves determine whether or not your child is too young to benefit from this dignified expose of one of life's most closely-guarded secrets.

By viewing this film with your children in the privacy of your automobile you are in a position to discuss with them immediately or later, the delicate details of sex on a common ground of intelligent experience.

90% For! 10% Against

Railroad workers are represented by 23 standard unions. By mutual agreement, 20 of these unions—comprising about 1,200,000 men, or more than 90%—are working under wages and rules agreed to by them and the railroads. But leaders of three unions—with only about 130,000 men, or less than 10%—still refuse, after more than a year of negotiations, to accept similar wage and rules agreements. These are even more favorable than the terms recommended by the Emergency Board appointed by the President.

Yes, it certainly seems to be finally about time that the leaders of the three unions stop their delaying tactics—their quibbling. But the leaders of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the Order of Railway Conductors continue to refuse. They continue a course of dillying and dallying. It is definitely time to END THIS QUIBBLING!

On June 15, 1950, an Emergency Board appointed by the President under the terms of the Railway Labor Act—an Act largely fathered by the unions themselves—made its recommendations on certain wage and working conditions ("rules" in railroad language) which had been in dispute between employees and the railroads.

More Than 90% of Employees Accept Since then, terms equal to or better than the Board recommendations have been accepted by about 1,200,000 railroad employees—more than 90% of the total of all workers. They are represented by 20 of the 23 standard railroad unions.

Less Than 10% Refuse But three unions—with about 130,000 men, or less than 10% of the total—have refused to accept, even after months of negotiations. These three unions are the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the Order of Railway Conductors. These are three of the so-called "operating" unions. Already the highest paid men in the industry, their leaders demand still further advantages over other workers.

In all, there are about 270,000 operating employees. But not all of them, by any means, are represented by BLE, BLF&E, or ORC. As a matter of fact, less than half—132,000 to be exact—are in these three unions. More than half—about 140,000—are in other unions, principally the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. What makes the whole situation so hard to understand is that these 140,000 operating employees are working under wages and rules which the leaders of the other 130,000 say they cannot agree to.

What Do the Railroads Offer? They offer those three unions the same settlement which was contained in a Memorandum of Agreement signed at the White House on December 21, 1950, by four brotherhoods and the railroads. Later these brotherhoods sought to repudiate this agreement. But on May 25, 1951, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen signed a complete agreement carrying out the principles of the Memorandum Agreement of December 21. They have been working under this agreement since May 25.

What About Wages? Under the terms of the agreement, yard engineers, firemen and conductors would now be receiving a wage increase of $3.4 an hour ($2.72 a day) and road engineers, firemen and conductors would now be receiving an increase of 19 1/4 cents an hour ($1.56 per day). Large sums of retroactive pay have already accrued and if the agreement is carried out, will be paid promptly.

What About "Cost of Living" Increases? The White House Agreement includes an "escalator" clause under which wages will be geared to changes in the Government's cost-of-living index. Two such increases—April and July, 1951—have already been paid to the 90% of railroad employees covered by signed agreements.

What About the 40-Hour Week? The White House Agreement calls for the establishment of the 40-hour week in principle, for employees in yard service. The employees can have it any time after January 1, 1952, provided the manpower situation is such that the railroads can get enough men to perform the work with reasonable regularity at straight time rates. If the availability of manpower, the question of availability of manpower, the White House Agreement provides arbitration by a referee appointed by the President.

What Else Do the Union Leaders Demand? The continued quibbling of the leaders of the three unions has to do principally with rules changes, which have already been agreed to by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. Of these, the principal one seems to be that having to do with so-called "interdivisional service"—runs which take in two or more seniority districts.

The union leaders would bar progress and efficiency in the industry, and better service to the public, by maintaining a situation where they can arbitrarily stop a railroad from establishing such interdivisional runs. The carriers propose that if a railroad wishes to set up an interdivisional run, the railroad and the unions should try to agree on such run and the conditions which should surround its establishment, and if the railroad and the unions can't agree, the matter will be submitted to arbitration.

But the three union leaders still refuse. Rules Can Be Arbitrated The railroads have not only offered these three unions the same rules agreed to by the BRT and covered by the White House Agreement, but have even agreed to submit such rules to arbitration.

The Industry Pattern Is Fixed With the pattern so firmly established in the railroad industry, it seems fair to suggest that the leaders of BLE, BLF&E, and ORC stop their quibbling and take action to make the railroad labor picture 100% complete. Certainly today's economic and international situation calls for a united front. And certainly no good reason has been advanced why these three unions should be preferred over all other railroad employees.

What Do the Railroads Offer? They offer those three unions the same settlement which was contained in a Memorandum of Agreement signed at the White House on December 21, 1950, by four brotherhoods and the railroads.
