

Political control of Michigan's correction system has bred unrest among inmates at the Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson, according to Garret Heyms, warden of the reformatory and a former corrections commissioner.

Heyms testified that this effect before legislative finance committees at Lansing. Riot damage at the prison exceeded $1,500,000. His allegation was another "hot" item tossed into the lap of Gov. G. Mennen Williams who, as former Governor Kim Sigler, has advocated more appointive power for the governor to run state government.

As quoted in the press, Heyms said: "When the director is appointed by the governor and is a political appointee, the nervousness of subordinates cannot be eliminated. It even filters down to the inmates."

Heyms' solution is a return to the five-man corrections commission law whereby prisons were taken out of control of the governor and were run by persons "chosen for the jobs on the basis of their training and experience in corrections work."

An obvious target is James C. Brooks of Holland, Williams' appointee as corrections director. Brooks, a Democrat, is in the in-business.

The so-called "model" correction commission law, interestingly enough was a product of a Democratic governor—Frank Murphy in 1937. It continued on the statute books 10 years until Governor Sigler convinced the legislature that the governor should be responsible. Sigler took great pride in his appointment of a career man, Joseph Sanford, former deputy at Atlanta's Federal prison.

When the voters' protest tide against Sigler swept unknown young Williams into the governor's chair, Sanford was promptly reappointed by Williams' own appointee, Brooks. Brooks is a successful business man and a former member of the State Senate. Sanford died in 1951.

The situation thus has some contradictory aspects. Heyms criticizes political control of prisons through a Democratic governor's appointment of a one-man commission. His solution is a return to a model law inaugurated by a Democratic governor. If a Republican legislature agrees with his recommendation, it will be admitting its error in accepting a Republican governor's solution: One-man control. And so it goes.

Who's right? Who's wrong? In the game of politics the answer depends largely on which side of the party fence you happen to be. So roll your own.

It is comparatively easy to create and build up a new department in state government, once the legislature accedes to public pressure and appropriates money for the manpower.

It is quite another thing, however, to get the equivalent of results through coordination of existing governmental agencies. An illustration at point is Michigan's civil defense program, a new postwar activity of state government. Last year this department spent $1,978,000, one million dollars of which went for blood typing. For this year's budget the governor asked $3,000,000, a good 50 per cent more. The legislature, trying to cope with a rising state deficit, granted only $271,575.

Gen. Lester J. Maitland, civil defense director, has practically shelved ambitious plans to conduct blood typing for an atomic war. He is turning the ground observation posts to trucks and medical supply trucks and set up special programs for key areas such as the Soo Locks.

By dire necessity he is now resorting to an appeal to existing state agencies for coordination. The health and highway departments, for example, are asked to help carry some of the load through their own manpower and funds.

Another illustration is the state department for economic development. Here a super-chamber of commerce, fathered by former Governor Sigler, to help build business and industry in Michigan.

Government again intervened to implant private leadership and private action, and all at the taxpayer's expense. The test of a new state agency, as we see it, is this: Is it needed? Can we afford it? Are we getting our money's worth?

A tax brevity: The state constitution says, in effect, that the legislature shall balance the budget. But Gov. Williams vetoed $18,000,000 of the Republican $28,000,000 program, creating a deficit of some $25,000,000 to be tacked on to the $65,000,000 accumulated deficit.

Who is now responsible for the balanced budget—Governor Williams or the Legislature? Sen. Frank Andrews (R-Hillman) says, "My position is to vote (Continued on page six)

Baseball Nine Gains Victory over Lansing

Marty Tobin Hurls Two-Hit Contest for Second Victory

With a brilliant pitching performance by Marty Tobin, and 10 base hits by his teammates, the Chelsea baseball team won their second consecutive game of the season last Sunday by defeating Lansing, 4-0.

Tobin gave up only two hits and walked none in the nine-inning contest. Ken Crowner, the Lansing hurler, got off to a good start as he gave up four runs and seven hits in the first four innings of the ball game. Included in these hits were two triples, one each by Arden Musbach and Jerry Lehman, and three consecutive singles by Richard Barrels.

Chelsea jumped off to a two-run lead in the first inning when George Heydauff singled to center and then stole second base. He moved to third when Stanley Knickerbocker walked on a wild pitch. Richard Barrels beat out an infield hit, scoring Heydauff and sending Knickerbocker to second.

Dan Ewald then walked to load the bases, and Tobin walked, to force in Knickerbocker. Another run was scored in the third inning when a single and a double by Arden Musbach tripled to deep left centerfield and came home minutes later on a wild pitch.

The last Chelsea run was scored in the fourth inning. After Knickerbocker had fouled to the catcher, Barrels singled to centerfield but was out trying to go from first to third on Dan Ewald's single. Then hit two down Jerry Lehman hit his triple to right field, scoring Ewald.

That ended the scoring for the day as Crowner settled down and gave up only three more hits; two of which came off the bat of Marty Tobin, and the other by Bob White. Lansing's only scoring threat came in the sixth inning. With nobody out they loaded the bases on a single and a double by Arden Musbach, but Tobin buckled down to retire the next three batters on a strikeout, a pop-up, and a ground ball to Heydauff at short.

Bill Wenner allowed only four hits but his mates committed four errors.

Ann Arbor—The Ann Arbor entry opened the season yesterday by trouncing Saline, 14-5. Jack Ritter hurled four-hit ball, as the Ann Arborites pounded Al. Hoefst and Jack Burmeister for 14 safe hits. Hersh Barth was the leading hitter with three hits. Ritter struck out 11 and was never in trouble.

Supervisors Set New Courthouse Cost at $3,250,000

Cost of construction of a new Washtenaw county courthouse has been set at $3,250,000 by the post-war building committee of the Board of Supervisors. Possible cost increases before actual building could get underway were taken into consideration by the committee when setting the estimated figure.

The committee set 1.25 mills as the amount of the tax levy which would be asked to provide the necessary amount of money to pay for the proposed courthouse construction. Cost per $1,000 of equalized property valuation, at this rate, would amount to $1.25 per year for 18 years, if the full amount of millage were used.

It was pointed out that this amount of millage should be set in case it ever were needed for unexpected extras. Under ordinary circumstances the levy would be less than the 1.25 mills.

Preparations necessary to have the proposals for a bond issue and tax levy placed on the November ballot are going forward. Property owners of the county only will be eligible to vote on the proposed bond issue, while all qualified electors may vote on the millage increase.

Children's Day Services Are Planned

Several of the churches in the Chelsea area are planning Children's Day services for Sunday, June 8.

Children in grades three and four will graduate from the primary department and will each receive a Bible. The third graders are Susan Grossman, Charlotte Harris, Mary Jane Harris, Diane Holmes, Kay Runciman, Darryl Keizer and Carol Reddeman. Fourth graders are Jane McLaughlin, Nyla Kurtz, Wilson Morley and Thomas Brooks.

TWO POSITIONS OPEN ON BOARD OF EDUCATION

The terms of Russell McLaughlin, president of the Chelsea Agricultural Schools Board of Education, and Earl Beeman, trustee, expire this year and McLaughlin has stated that he will not be a candidate for reelection.

Petitions already being circulated to place the name of Earl Beeman on the ballots as a candidate for reelection. The school election date is July 14 and legal requirements are that petitions to have candidates' names placed on the ballot must be filed with the secretary of the Board of Education 20 days prior to the election. Final date for filing petitions is thus set for June 24. Polls will be open from 2 until 8 p. m. July 14, in Chelsea High school gymnasium.

MAIN STREET IMPROVEMENT—Drainage for the entire east side of the village will be provided by the 24-inch tile being laid under the roadbed on North Main street. The tile extends from behind the William Birch residence on East street, across the marsh north of the Chelsea Spring plant, to join the Main street section at Buchanan street. Another tile enters from Dewey avenue, thirteen feet below ground level at its deepest point, the storm tile will drain into the creek at the bridge. Smaller tile are being laid to take care of regular drainage along the street. Trenches for the large tile were being dug by a power shovel when the above picture was taken. The roadbed is now being cut down from 15 to 24 inches in preparation for filling in with the sand and gravel base for blacktopping. All preparatory work for blacktopping is expected to be finished by July 1.

Recreation Program Will Start June 16

The Chelsea Recreation Council has sent out letters to all organizations of the community reminding groups that the recreation program is to get underway June 16, and enlisting their financial support. The year's quota because of increased costs, has been set at $1600. Actual cost of last year's work was $1830 but increased cost of supervision and the need for additional care during swimming periods as well as additional help for driving the buses make it necessary to increase the budget this year.

A meeting of the Recreation Council is being held tonight to arrange a schedule for the summer. Mrs. Lawton Steger has been appointed to be in charge of enrolling volunteer workers to assist on the playground and for additional care of youngsters while swimming.

Directors of the program this year are John Magiera and Mrs. Basil Shell.

The Village Council, at its meeting Monday night, voted $500 for the recreation program. This is an increase of $150 over the amount given for the purpose last year. Dr. J. V. Fisher, chairman of the Recreation Council, said it was "gratifying to have the Village Council back the project so generously."

WATERLOO SERVICE

Methodist Home Open House Event To Be Held Sunday

Rev. M. J. Betz, superintendent of the Methodist Home, has extended an invitation to the people of Chelsea to visit and inspect the Home, the newly-dedicated chapel and the new duplex home for two retired ministers and their wives. Open house will be held Sunday, June 8, beginning at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

It is hoped that organizations and individuals who have never contributed to the program in other years will find it possible to do so at this time.

Guests will meet at 3 o'clock in the chapel where Mrs. Albert Allinger of Detroit, will give a recital on the new organ. Mrs. Allinger is organist at the Northwest Baptist church on Grand River avenue, Detroit.

Following the organ recital the guests will be taken to the assembly hall where light refreshments are to be served, and will then be shown the new duplex home which is to house the retired ministers and their wives.

Guests may then tour the entire home or visit any part of the building or grounds they care to. Rev. Betz believes the church, school and civic groups will especially appreciate visiting the center lane of the three-lane highway.

Ten Injured in Three-Car US-12 Crash

A three-car crash on US-12 near the Jackson county line at 7 p. m. Saturday cost the life of a Fort Custer soldier and resulted in injuries to 10 persons, including an eight-month-old baby.

In another accident which occurred just east of Schumm's tavern on US-12 at 7:15 p. m. Friday, the driver, alone in his car, miraculously escaped injury when his car turned over after it skidded when he suddenly applied the brakes. A Manchester youth was killed in a collision near Fremont, Ohio, and four companions were injured.

Another Manchester man suffered mouth injuries when his car crashed into the rear of another about 1 a. m. Sunday on Pleasant Lake road near Fletcher road.

The accidents were all part of the heavy traffic toll over the long Memorial Day holiday week-end which caused 352 deaths in the United States. Michigan's death list was placed at 23.

The Friday night accident, as reported by Chelsea police, was the result of sudden application of brakes on the car ahead of one driven by Byron Joseph Kurry, 5661 Calhoun, Dearborn. When Kurry applied his brakes in an attempt to avoid a collision, his car swung to the right and over a slight embankment, overturning and landing on its top.

Kurry, an employee of the Chrysler Engineering division, Detroit, was unhurt. He was alone in his car at the time of the accident.

The three-car crash Saturday reportedly occurred when drivers of two of the involved cars were attempting to pass other cars in the center lane of the three-lane highway. The soldier who was killed in the crash was identified as Cpl. Cornell J. Perry of Canton, Ohio. His body was brought to the Staffan Funeral Home here and Army personnel from Fort Custer came for it at 2 a. m.

They also visited their son, Robert Smith, at Charlotte, over the week-end and returned here for the graduation of their granddaughter, Barbara Speer.

Sunday visitors of Mrs. Fred Bahnmiller and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Schneider at the Schneider home included Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kuhl and daughter, Marlene, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Lindauer and Mr. and Mrs. William Bahnmiller; also Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Nicolai of near Grass Lake. A Hymn Is Born
 BY CLINT BONNER

I Gave My Life For Thee
 A frail young woman visits an art gallery

Nearly a hundred years ago... 1858... a frail young woman of 22 sat in an art gallery in Chelsea, Mich., looking at a picture of a young man in military uniform. The picture was by the Rev. W. H. Havergal, hymn writer and composer in his own right. He encouraged her to add more verses. This began one of the most brilliant careers in the writing of Christian songs since the days of Isaac Watts.

Always frail in health, Frances Havergal died at the age of 43. When the physician told her the end was near she said, "Splendid! To be so near the gates of Heaven!"

Her hymns are still in use around the world... and foremost among them is the one that would have been destroyed in the fireplace but for a chance gust of air.

*I suffered much for thee,
 More than thy tongue can tell,
 Of bitter agony,
 To rescue thee from hell;
 I've borne it all for thee,
 What hast thou borne for Me?*

*My Father's house of light,
 My glory circled throne
 I left, for earthly night,
 For wanderings sad and lone;
 I left it all for thee,

*I suffered much for thee,
 More than thy tongue can tell,
 Of bitter agony,
 To rescue thee from hell;
 I've borne it all for thee,
 What hast thou borne for Me?*

*And I have brought to thee,
 Down from my home above,
 Salvation full and free,
 My pardon and My love;
 I bring rich gifts to thee,
 What hast thou brought to Me?*

Parade to Cemetery, Decoration of Graves Marks Memorial Day

David Strieter, commander of Herbert J. McKune Post No. 31, American Legion, who was in charge of arrangements for this year's observance of Memorial Day, said he had been told of a number of favorable comments made regarding the Memorial Day service as carried out Friday.

All children who marched were given flags and were treated to ice cream cones after returning from the cemetery.

IOOF, Rebekahs Join in Memorial Service

Thirty members of IOOF Lodge No. 101 and Rebekah Lodge No. 144 attended the Congregational church service Sunday morning for a joint memorial service as guests of the church. The service also commemorated the founding of the Odd Fellows organization. Rev. W. H. Skentelbury, pastor of the church, took for his sermon the Bible passage concerning the story of the Good Samaritan. This topic was especially good for the occasion since the "Good Samaritan" principles are the foundation of the Odd Fellow and Rebekah orders, a spokesman for the lodges stated.

Picture of a Pair who just waked up

HERE in the driveway is a Buick. It has just arrived. It belongs to this proud young couple. They've just "arrived" too.

They've arrived at a discovery—the discovery that owning a Buick instead of a "low-priced car" isn't so much a matter of money.

It's a matter of knowing the facts of life. Buick prices are closer to the prices of smaller, less powerful, less distinguished cars than most people think.

Why don't you check into this?

You'll find you could pay $300 to $400 more—and still not match the horsepower of this nimble beauty.

You could pay hundreds of dollars more—and still not get any more interior room, or richer fabrics.

But that's only part of the story.

The big thing about any car is the way it goes. So you ought to find out how this car rides the road—the freedom from bobble and sway that cost a million real dollars to develop.

You ought to sample the way Dynaflow Drive® feeds the power—with a steady swoop and unbroken smoothness in city traffic, on hills, or out on the open road.

And you ought to know how it feels to touch off that Fireball 8 Engine. With all its might, this high-compression valve-in-head gets a lot of miles from a gallon of gas.

We'll tell you this—because a lot of folks have told us this: No matter what car you're driving now—no matter what cars you've looked at—they'll never seem the same after you try this one.

Just give us a chance to prove it—and you'll have a lot of fun.

EASY DOES IT

IF YOUR RANGE has aluminum burners, wipe with a damp cloth after each use. For burned foods, use a metal cleaner. Chromium burners should be cleaned with a damp cloth, also.

Chromium burners on gas ranges need cleaning as soon as any food spills on them. If allowed to remain, it becomes difficult to remove.

A soft brush is best for cleaning the coils on an electric range. On the closed units a damp cloth or a brush are indicated, never some sharp instrument.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Potato Pancakes O'Brien

(Makes 8)

- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1/2 cup milk
- 2 tablespoons each, minced onion, green pepper, and pimiento.
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 2 cups (firmly packed) grated raw potatoes.

Mix eggs and flour until smooth; stir in milk, add remaining ingredients. (Peel and grate potatoes just before adding to batter to prevent their darkening.) Drop mixture in circles (1/4 cup each) on well greased griddle. Bake over medium heat about 4 minutes on each side, or until potatoes are tender. These are delicious with pot roast or with ham or bacon and eggs for breakfast.
