

Rev. Toy Describes Coronation

Cornwell, England
June 8, 1968

Dear Friends:
The coronation is over. It was a great and memorable day in Great Britain. The weather was not ideal, but could have been worse.

Mrs. Toy and I did not have the privilege of being with the crowds and service by radio. Before we arrived in my native town, commitments were made that compelled us to share the festivities with the local people. I helped to conduct the religious service held in the public park. The vicar of the Church of England presided and the local Methodist minister and I assisted. There was a splendid attendance.

The populace stayed at home and listened to a radio description of the actual coronation.

At 9 a.m. all children in the local school received a coronation mug and had their pictures taken as a group.

At 2:30 p.m. there was a parade to the public park and the girls, well coached, did the traditional may pole and folk dance.

Following the dance, competitive sports were held for all children up to 10 years of age. At 5 p.m. there was a public tea and at 6 p.m. sports for all young people from 10 to 15 years. This was followed by dancing in the public square and community singing.

The above program is similar to those held in all communities with less than 20,000 population.

The celebration continues today and Thursday. There will be a dinner for all citizens over 60 years of age, with entertainment, and again an open air Old Time Dance in the paved grounds of the public school.

All of this recalls memories of my boyhood here when in a similar manner we celebrated the crowning of Queen Elizabeth's grandfather, King George V.

Last Saturday we spent a few hours at the historic seaside town of Cornwell, nestled on Troms Bay. The thing of most interest to me was the two ships of the American Navy anchored in the bay and the American sailors on the streets. They were well behaved and buying all kinds of articles from the stores for their American relatives. I was very proud of them.

Not far from the sleek impressive American ships was the rusty broken hulk of the great battleship of the British war-time fleet, "Warrior." She was damaged in battle during the war and trying to reach the repair docks at Davenport was carried by a heavy sea upon the jagged rocks of the Cornish coast.

Dismantling her has gone on for a year, but this winter the battered her completely into two pieces and each part is gently sinking into the sea.

The weather is typically Cornish for May and early June. Not much sunshine and very cool. I have worn my topcoat all but one day since arriving here, and my relatives have kept the fireplace lit to keep the Americans from being uncomfortable. In the hotels we go on a shilling in the slot to furnish gas for the heater to take off the damp and chill.

We anticipate spending the weekend in the beautiful and interesting city of Exeter in Devonshire, which boasts one of England's great and historic cathedrals. We will add something about Exeter later.

Thanks so much for the copy of The Chelsea Standard which arrived yesterday.

There will also be opportunity for them to express their opinions on projects boys may enter to make their own communities better places in which to live.

Council Vote Favors Parking Meters for Business District

Showdown Comes After Request from C. of C. Delegation

The Village Council, at the regular meeting Monday evening, voted 4 to 2, to have parking meters installed in the business district. Date for the installation of the meters was not set.

Action was taken on the matter after a Chelsea Chamber of Commerce committee appeared at the Council meeting stating that the Chamber of Commerce had delegated them to request such action. The committee includes Walter Harper, Ferd Merkel and Reuben Lesser.

The three men had been appointed after members of the Chamber of Commerce, in a vote taken at last month's meeting, went on record as being in favor of the installation of parking meters.

The committee, in presenting their request for a decision by the Village Council, stated that it was the opinion of those in favor of the project that parking meters would be a good thing for Chelsea; would go a long way toward solving the parking problem; and would prove helpful for business as well as for shoppers.

Casting their vote in favor of the proposal were Councilmen Joseph Dryer, George Akkian, Claude Spiegelberg and Dahue Riker, while the negative votes were by Walter Gage and Raymond Cantine.

ROLLED BALE
Safe Deposit For Leaves

Reports from ROTO-BALER owners say that weather-resistant rolled bales contain more leaves. Livestock eat rolled hay better because it is soft, sweet and retains its natural color. Here are some of the things farmers wanted to know:

Would rolled bales really shed showers? Would they handle and transport easily? Would livestock eat them without waste, fed whole or unrolled? Could straw for bedding be rolled out without shaking?

The ROTO-BALER has answered "yes" to each of these questions, satisfying farmers everywhere. Stop in and ask us for a free booklet on rolled bales and the ROTO-BALER.

ROTO-BALER is an Allis-Chalmers trademark.

Heard About the Electric Weather Predictor?

Squint Smith built up quite a reputation last month by predicting the weather. What he said usually came true.

It got so that folks would sit around his little Antique Shop just to get his opinion.

Last Monday, though, he said he didn't know what the weather was going to be like next day.

That surprised us and when we asked what happened, Squint said, "Slipped up on my electric bill and was turned off. I'll get to my radio again tomorrow though." Squint had been getting the weather over the radio—just like anyone else!

From where I sit, that's the way it goes with some "experts." They often don't have any more inside information than you can get yourself. Like those who "know" cider is the only thirst-quencher after a day's work. Far as I'm concerned, I'll take a temperate glass of beer. But I won't try to "predict" your choice for you.

Wagner succeeds Harold L. Haines, who was named a member of the executive committee. Executive committee members and directors were chosen at the meeting.

Other officers named were Franklin C. Forsyth, first vice-chairman; Ernest C. Laetz, second vice-chairman; Mrs. Pauline C. Fife, secretary; and Ralph L. Merrill, treasurer.

Named to the executive committee besides Haines were Dr. Margaret Bell, Carl Scheffler, Mrs. Charles A. Sink, Mrs. M. Smith, Miss Edith A. Stearns, Dean W. Titus, Arthur Wood, Mrs. John S. Worley, and W. Charles Gregory. All of the above were elected to one-year terms beginning July 1. Directors were chosen for three-year terms.

Other directors and the areas they represent are Herbert H. Upton, Jr., Pittsfield Village; Mrs. J. H. Jones, Manchester; William M. Squires, Milan; Mrs. Jane Forstner, Ann Arbor township; Mrs. Kenneth Snyder, Freedom township; Mrs. Mary Clark, Lyndon township; Mrs. Gilbert Dicks, Shiloh township; Mrs. Walter H. The above-named represents one-third of the board of directors.

INSIDE THE CAPITOL

By Lee M. Thurston, Supt. of Public Instruction.

June is graduation time for high schools throughout the state. It is a good time for an inventory. It is an especially good time for parents to sit down with their sons or daughters who are graduating to discuss future plans.

The graduating classes of 1953 face a new kind of future. Our country itself has inventoried its activities of the past and its needs for the future and is looking for new leadership. Parents should point out to these young people that our country never before needed the leadership of the rising generations more than it does today. Youth in turn will undoubtedly direct some rather pointed questions to their parents. They may say, where will this young leadership appear? What is there for the young men or young women to turn to? What are the responsibilities to my country in terms of military service? What about my future education?

Fortunately for parents some of the questions this year are easily answered, especially the one—what is there for a young person to do today? The parent can say there are innumerable opportunities in the social professions; there is need for thousands of teachers, social workers, nurses, psychologists. We need hundreds of young dentists, doctors and religious leaders. Business and the trades are shouting for trained personnel. America's leadership in world affairs creates opportunities in governmental services, economic and political.

The wise parent will point out that the foundation for all these jobs must be built on a program of good, sound education. This kind of advice adds up to one thing: that the graduate, whether he lives in the most remote section of the state or in the metropolitan area, should continue his schooling whether it be in a community college—a particular professional school or in one of the larger institutions of higher learning.

The answer to the question about military life probably should be about like this: Accept it as part of your duty. As you join the military forces, do so with the idea of getting the most you can from your service. It is certain that the more you take into the military service, the more you will bring out at the other end in the way of self-improvement and the more you will contribute to the welfare and security of your country.

Dexter—The usual size audience was on hand for the annual Memorial Day program held Saturday morning at 10:00 o'clock at the Dexter Village Park.

The program was in charge of Dexter Post 507, American Legion, who were assisted by other organizations of the community. Dexter Leader.

Rochester—Senator Homer Ferguson came from Washington to give a eulogy here on Memorial Day to this community's War Dead.

Altogether, the War Dead were appropriately remembered. A wreath was placed on the World War II Memorial, Main at Second. A flag was raised over the World War II plot in Mt. Avon, a wreath was placed at the monument to Civil War Dead by the Women's Relief Corps, then followed the Gettysburg Address of Lincoln by Roger Forbush, the eulogy by Senator Ferguson, the Fling Squad's salute to the dead, and a tap. A group of 150 citizens came to the "Open House" to meet Senator Ferguson following the parade to the ceremonies at Mt. Avon cemetery.—Rochester Clarion.

Northville—Veterans Memorial Plot, a final resting place in Rural Hill Cemetery for Northville's honored war veterans, was dedicated Memorial Day in a brief but stirring ceremony.

The new plot, carved out of the brown earth by hand over a year's period by American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars members is not yet covered by the grass which will grow there, but the level brown expanse gave away nothing in dignity of purpose at the time of the solemn dedication. Former comrades in arms bearing the nation's colors, flanked by Army and Navy firing squads, stood in the central circle where Lloyd Green, first Northville serviceman to die in World War I, is buried. They faced the halted and hushed parade as four village clergymen re-enacted the dramatic incident of the sinking of the ship "Dorchester" on January of 1943.—Northville Record.

Northville—Before a crowd of 4,000 people last Sunday, the 5th Annual—Northville Junior Horse Show's 28 classes were run off with the precision of a big-time circus. The unexpected large entries kept the show going until 8:30 p.m.

The big event, sponsored by the Northville Optimist Club, was the largest in the five years that the show has been running, and attracted national attention as the outstanding junior show of the year.—Northville Record.

Rochester—There was great excitement on South Rochester Road on Wednesday afternoon at 4:40 last week when a two-ton truck loaded with huge timbers used in moving heavy buildings and machinery turned up-side down into a ditch on the east side of Rochester road just north of Auburn road.

Don Gruber, of Ortonville, who was driving the truck for Wolverine Wrecking Company, of Pontiac, said that a lady drove out of her driveway suddenly, he took on him and stopped. He was going south on Rochester Road and veered to the left of the lady's car when the wheels of the truck went into the ditch.—Rochester Clarion.

Frankfort — Michigan farmers and canners will contribute to the nation's defense effort by helping make available an estimated 9,096,000 cans of fruit and vegetables to the armed forces during 1953, the American Can company reported today. —Benzie County Patriot.

Manchester—C. Norgaard, victim of a prankster-fellow-classmate who threw a lighted firecracker at him following the Junior-Senior reception and burned his leg.

Thinking that the burn was improving Clark left with his class on the Senior trip. However, in Washington, D. C., blood poisoning set in and it became necessary for him to return here. He returned plans to Willow Run and was taken to Mercy Hospital at Jackson last Wednesday and returned home Sunday.—Manchester Enterprise.

Bats Like Automobiles
Bats are like automobiles in certain respects. An example of this is the fact that bats keep from overheating by employing a mechanism very similar to a car radiator.

Air Conditioning on wheels* comes of age!

NOW you can have a car that's as comfortable on hot days as your air-conditioned home, office or favorite theater.

Now you can ride in draft-free coolness at the temperature level you choose—even when the outside reading is 110° and more.

Now you can take a full complement of passengers through the thick of traffic on a sweltering day—and each one of you will keep looking and feeling fresh as a daisy at dewtime.

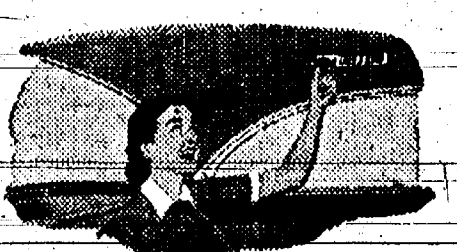

Air intakes on each side of car introduce outside air into system.

You do this with the compact Buick AIRCONDITIONER—the completely practical unit available at extra cost in 1953 SUPER and ROADMASTER Sedan and Riviera models.

But note this: what Buick put into its AIRCONDITIONER goes beyond the usual.

For the advanced design of this Buick unit provides dual roof ducts that distribute up to 300 cubic feet of cooled, freshened, filtered, air per minute to all parts of the car interior evenly and constantly—without icy blasts and drafts on your neck, shoulders, legs.

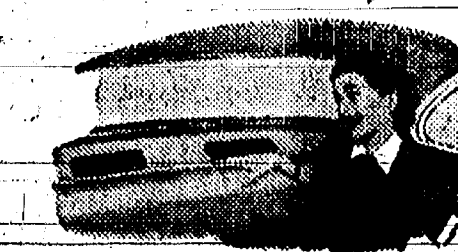

Grilles in Buick's exclusive dual roof ducts insure draft-free distribution of conditioned air—and also provide individual control of air direction as desired.

What's more, these exclusive roof ducts have individually controlled air directors above the side windows. So each window-seat passenger can guide a gentle breeze of conditioned air exactly where he wants it.

Of course, the Buick AIRCONDITIONER is automatic.

You switch it on, choose the temperature setting you want—and that level of coolness is maintained constantly. It thoroughly conditions the air around you—automatically. It carries off heat, stale air, tobacco smoke—automatically. It continuously introduces outside air into the system—automatically.

It's fast-acting, too. Even after an hour or more locked up under summer's hottest sun, the car interior can be brought to a delightfully cool comfort in a matter of minutes.

Return air grilles on package shelf help maintain continuous circulation of conditioned, pollen-free air.

And it's really compact. The cooling unit itself fits neatly on a narrow shelf in the big trunk compartment—leaves plenty of room for luggage and the like.

Why not drop in on us and try a demonstration?

You'll find that the Buick AIRCONDITIONER with its exclusive dual roof ducts is the ultimate comfort in hot-climate driving.

Railroaders to the Rescue— A New York Central Tradition

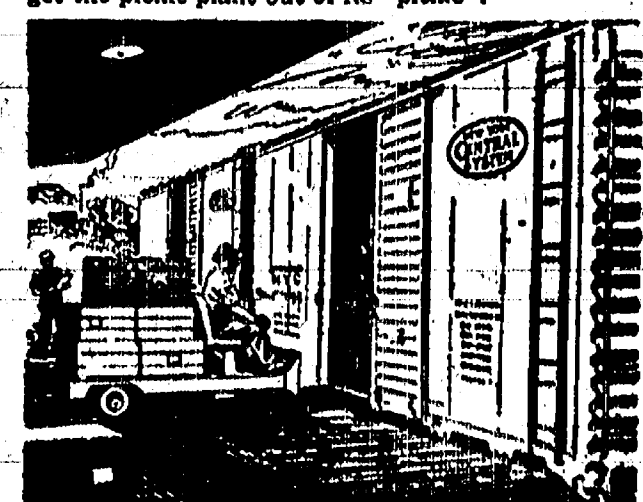

1. THIS IS THE BIKE TRAIN. Conductor Hotchkiss thought it up. A volunteer New York Central crew manned it. And from its mercy tour of old Dutch towns in the Hudson and Harlem Valleys, it gathered thousands of dollars for Holland flood victims, adding to your Railroad's tradition of helpfulness.

3. FIGHTING TO SAVE FORESTS. Last year's dry autumn caused many fires in the Adirondack forests. Time and again, New York Central's specially equipped Fire Trains sped to the rescue. Manned by trained railroad volunteers, they helped the Forestry Service halt the devastation.

2. HARRIS A DIFFERENT RESCUE! A while back, the boiler of a pickle plant broke down at the peak of the packing season. Tons of top-grade pickles faced spoilage. Then, in the nick of time, a Central locomotive puffed up alongside to furnish steam and get the pickle plant out of its "pickle!"

4. BUT EVERYDAY HAPPINESS is the usual job of New York Central railroaders. They carry your products to market and bring you things you need... without cluttering your highways. And they do this vital job all at low cost... in any weather... the year around. For that's the CENTRAL IDEAL!

Salem Grove Church Observes Centennial

Written by
Mrs. Truman Lehman and Mrs. Glenn Rentschler

"Tell me the stories of Jesus
Write on my heart every word;
Tell me the stories most precious
Sweetest that ever was heard."
—Fanny J. Crosby.

Words such as these which were taken from a beautiful hymn, exemplify the thoughts that filled the hearts and minds of our forefathers of this community, and eventually brought about the founding of Salem German M. E. Church one hundred years ago.

Most of these early pioneers were of German descent; their homes being humble log houses.

In 1852, Rev. Jacob Rothweiler, a German minister, came into this quiet countryside to visit in the homes of the people. His pastorate was in Detroit, but he decided to include this community in his circuit. He was soon convinced that a church should be organized. However, the organization of a church society was not accomplished until late in the spring of 1853 when Rev. John Schweinfurth came to this community from Ann Arbor, and preached in the various homes. This method was pursued for five years. During this time, Rev. Jacob Krehbiel, Rev. E. Bauer, and Rev. Seb Barth ministered to the people.

Rev. John Schweinfurth came here for a second term in 1857. Due to the gradually increasing number of worshippers, many folks felt the necessity of building a church edifice. After considerable discussion regarding a suitable location, Mr. William Riemenschneider, who had just lately taken up land from the government, donated the church site and the adjoining church property. Thus, in 1858, a frame building was erected by volunteer workers from the community.

"This little church of long ago was not a structure huge;
It had no hired singers, or other subterfuge
To get the people to attend; 'twas just a simple place
Where every Sunday folks were told about God's saving grace."

During the next ten years, Rev. Andreas Mayer, Rev. Henry Krell, Rev. Gustav Bertram, Rev. Valentine Jahraus, Rev. Jacob Braun, and Rev. Gustav Herzer ministered to the needs of an ever growing congregation.

By 1869, the congregation had grown to such an extent that a resident pastor was desired. Therefore, during the third pastorate of Rev. John Schweinfurth, a parsonage was built in 1870. However, his successor, Rev. C. A. Reuter was the first to occupy the new parsonage.

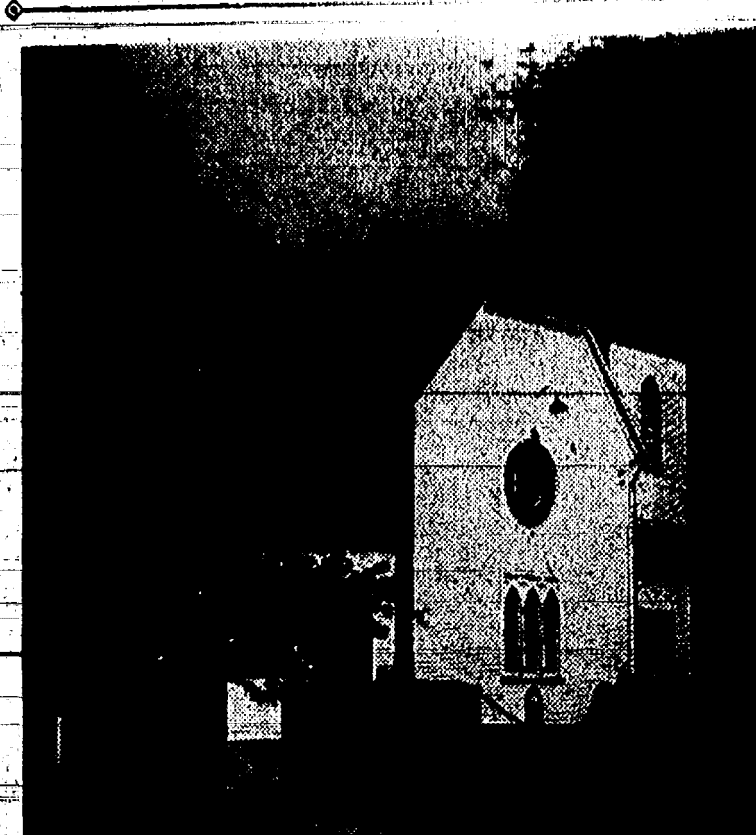

During these years, Salem German M. E. Church had been one of the preaching places in the Ann Arbor District. In 1874, this church and Zion Church at Trist, near Waterloo, severed connection with Ann Arbor, and became what for many years was known as the "Francisco Circuit."

Between the years 1878-1887, the following ministers served the church: Rev. Conrad Wehnes, Rev. John Schneider, Rev. G. H. Fiedler, Rev. Adam Weber, and Rev. Theodore Schumann.

Now it became evident that the first little church no longer sufficed for the needs of an ever increasing congregation. A meeting was held to determine what steps might be taken toward erecting a new church building. Michael Schenk attended the meeting, and being determined that a new church building was definitely needed, took the first steps by making a generous donation. Then he went about the community enlisting the financial aid of his fellowmen. Thus, enough money was finally raised to warrant building a new meeting house. This took place in 1888 during the administration of Rev. George Mitter. The old frame building was moved across the road and used as a shelter for the minister's horse; later, it was remodeled and used as a garage.

The pastor's chair, which is still in use, was donated by Rev. Weiler who was District Superintendent at that time. In 1902, a system of gas lights was installed in the building.

Rev. Andrew Kruemling came to serve Salem Church in 1889. He served only one year, and was succeeded by Rev. C. A. Miltzer in 1890. Mrs. Miltzer was always ready to carry her part of the church work. In Nov. 1890, she organized the first Ladies Aid Society here with nineteen members from this community; she also became its first president. Many of the men said that an organization placed entirely in the hands of women would never last. Although this little group felt very humble at first, they have proved to be of much helpful service to the church. One of their first projects was to purchase a bell for the church belfry. Next, a Communion service was purchased; many other projects were undertaken and completed. The fiftieth anniversary of the society was celebrated in 1907 with an appropriate program. It was also in 1907 that the Ladies Aid Society and Missionary Society were united into one organization to be known as the "Woman's Society of Christian Service." Truly the women have held an important place in the church.

Rev. Paul Wuerful was sent here as the pastor in 1894. An organization for the young people was started in 1896. This was known as the "Epworth League." Sunday evening church services were preceded by a short program of worship by different members of this group. Monthly meetings were held in the homes of the members. Rev. Wuerful served the church for five years, to be followed by Rev. L. S. Kaetherhenry, Rev. Henry Lenz, and Rev. J. E. Beal, who each served four-year terms.

The Junior League was organized when Rev. Beal was pastor of this church. He also arranged for a girls chorus which took an active part in all special church programs. In 1911, Rev. George Nothdurft came to Salem Church. During his pastorate of seven years, the desire became evident for a special meeting place for the social functions of the church. The result was the enlarging of the basement of the church. This has certainly proved to be a great help to the community at large as well as to the church. Much remodeling has been done since then, and new and better equipment has been added.

Rev. Nothdurft helped to organize a "Standard Bearer Society" composed of young women. Their work was of a missionary character. The first meeting was held at the church on April 30, 1916. This society continued until 1925 when it became known as the "Young Women's Foreign Missionary Society."

Rev. Henry Lenz came to serve a second term in 1918. However, this term was for only a year. The following year, Rev. Hartman Bau of Ann Arbor acted as supply pastor for this church. Succeeding him were Rev. Carl Ertel and Rev. Fred Schweinfurth.

Rev. Fred Ross came here in the fall of 1925. While he was the pastor, in May 1929, fire destroyed the parsonage. Many of the old church records, which were kept in the parsonage library, were destroyed at that time. Plans for replacement of a parsonage were started immediately. Therefore, during the summer of 1929, a new more convenient, and better equipped dwelling was built. This was first occupied by Rev. and Mrs. H. Lenz who came here for a third term which was to last for thirteen years. While here, Rev. Lenz was asked to change the name of this church in some way to distinguish it from another charge by the name of "Salem." He gave this church the name of "Salem Grove," by which name it is now known. The congregation was saddened by the death of Mrs. Lenz in January, 1942.

In the fall of 1933, the merger of Salem Grove Church with the Detroit Conference was effected. Although many new problems arose at the time, several splendid things have developed as a result of the merger.

Rev. Lewis Green, then a student at Adrian College, followed Rev. Lenz in 1943. After two years, Rev. Robert Vanderhardt served as our pastor for only one year, to be followed by Rev. Ernest O. Davis in 1946.

Rev. Davis was instrumental in organizing a Cemetery Association for our church. Since then our cemetery has been kept in a much better condition, and a sizeable sum has been placed in a Trust Fund in Ann Arbor for the perpetual upkeep of our cemetery.

In June 1949, Rev. Vern Panzer and family came to minister to the people of Salem Grove. When he resigned to accept a call to Reinbeck, Iowa, Rev. Hans Leitner, our present pastor, came to supply the pulpit.

North Lake Methodist Church became a part of Salem Grove church in the summer of 1951. It has remained with us to the present time.

The name of the "Epworth League" was finally changed to "Methodist Youth Fellowship." Throughout the years, the young people of this church have accomplished many projects for the church. Through their efforts a fine Hammond electric organ and chimes were installed in the church in 1951 and are enjoyed by the congregation. The young people have also taken an active part in the program of the church.

Records do not show just when a Sunday School was organized here. However, the Sunday School has been a strengthening factor of the church for many, many years. At present we have eighty-four members in our Sunday School. Many fine programs have been presented by the children of the Sunday School throughout the years.

Classes in catechism have been held whenever a sufficient number of boys and girls were ready for the work.

This church can boast of many fine choirs at various times during this past century. We now have a very active choir, and their songs are much appreciated by all who attend the services of the church.

Thirty-four pastors have served Salem Grove Church during the one hundred years of its existence, and mention must also be made in this connection of William Riemenschneider, who served the church as local preacher during the entire first half century.

Time passes by and many changes occur, but God always remains the same. Through a sincere faith in our God, the church fires have been kept burning by ministers and laymen alike, working together for the good of all mankind.

Police Offer List of 13 Safety Tips To Avoid Trouble

Police Chief George Doe states that the traffic safety campaign, sponsored by the State Safety Commission, and conducted under the leadership of State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler, who is also chairman of the commission, has received the enthusiastic cooperation of local motorists.

The slogan of the campaign, which has been in effect since May 4, is "Keep in Lane—Don't be a Road Hog."

Chief Doe offers the following 13 safety tips—likely ways to have trouble, he calls them:

Not enough time to complete pass.
Passing on hills and curves hiding traffic.
Pulling in front of a driver who is passing.
Passing at intersections hiding traffic.

Speeding up when another car tries to pass you.
Cutting in on the car you are passing.
Straddling two lanes, making it harder for others.

Passing on the right, interfering with traffic.
Passing several cars at the same time.
Crossing centerline of four-lane highway.

Passing in third lane of three-lane highway.
Following so closely cars behind can't pass.
Following a car ahead which is passing.

The Chief says that if motorists will remember these tips, there will be fewer accidents.

Rev. Toy's Diary...

Monday, June 8
Had a very delightful two days at Exeter, one of England's oldest and most interesting cities. Like Plymouth, the center of the city was almost totally destroyed during the war. The great cathedral, which was started by the Saxons in 1055 A.D. and added to by the Normans, was badly damaged, a bomb crashing through the roof and so shattering the various wooden gables as to drive splinters of wood into the cement columns.

A great piece of reconstruction work is in progress by excellent craftsmen.

The shopping center has been about 50 per cent restored and all residential property damage compensated for and restored. The restoration funds came mainly from all British property owners on a per-capita tax being levied, from which allocations are made to individuals and firms by a special board of War Damage Review and Allocations.

The weather is very much as it should be now for June, and holidays are in full swing. It is a four-hour train ride from Exeter to Cambridge and the train was so crowded with people going to the seaside that I stood in the corridor for two hours, having managed to find a seat for Mrs. Toy after she stood for one hour.

Sitting on a bench in my relatives' garden, I have this afternoon listened to the marvelous song of a skylark as it climbed into the sky, and the song of the cuckoo, from near-by woods. This odd bird is heard in May and June in these parts but is extinct in most of the world.

A few relatively quiet days now and on Friday we shall be on our way for London, Stratford-on-Avon, a short excursion to Paris, and up to St. Andrews, Scotland for the World Council of Congregational churches.

Kindest regards to everyone.

Rev. Thomas Toy.
