Polio Strikes
Two Adults;
One Fatally*Mrs. Ray Fuller
Hit Late Thursday,
Dies Friday Night

Two cases of polio, the 16th and 17th in the county since the first of the year, occurred in the Chelsea area during the past week, both cases being young adults and one proving swiftly fatal.

Mrs. Ray Fuller died Friday evening of the bulbar type of polio, it was verified by the Washtenaw county Health Department Tuesday of this week.

Mrs. Fuller had become violently ill Thursday night after going to the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Conville, when she did not feel well. She was rushed to U. of M. hospital, Ann Arbor, shortly after midnight and died there about 6 p.m.

A baby son was born to her by Caesarian-section performed at the time of her death.

The nature of her illness had not been announced until Monday afternoon when the report was given to the Washtenaw County Health Department.

Mrs. Fuller was the first polio death reported in the county this year and was the 16th case of the disease in the county since the first of the year. Five cases have been reported this month.

Her home was at Cavanaugh Lake.

Sunday, Ralph Stinehelfer, a 30-year-old Navy veteran, also of Cavanaugh Lake, was taken to U. of M. hospital where his illness was pronounced to be polio.

He had complained of some abdominal pain Friday night after returning from his job at Chelsea Products, but felt better later.

Saturday, although he still was bothered with pain which he moved to his back, he drove to Chelsea, at noon. Saturday night he became increasingly worse and consulted a physician early Sunday morning and was sent to the hospital.

It had not been determined yesterday whether any paralysis was involved in his case.

He is married and the father of three children, the youngest two and one-half months old.

Sgt. Schrader Reports
Today for Further
Army Assignment

M/Sgt. William Schrader, who has spent a 30-day furlough here at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schrader, Sr., is leaving today to report to Fort Sheridan for further assignment.

Sgt. Schrader's furlough followed his return from Korea, where he had been awarded the Silver Star.

Sunday, a family gathering was held in his honor at the home of his sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Strouse, in Pontiac. Members of the family present, in addition to Sgt. Schrader and his parents, were Mr. and Mrs. James Coluccio and son, Ronnie, of Rome, N. Y., who are spending the week here, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lantis and daughter, and Don Schrader.

Dinner guests Sunday at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Thomas Toy were their daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bowen, Jr., and daughter, Sally Ann, of Williamston.

There are several ways the commission handles delinquent tax payers. The big club is the right to revoke a merchant's license through legal action. This is a last resort. But a bond may be required from a consistently delinquent merchant which requires him to pay an estimated three months' taxes in advance.

"Putting people out of business is sometimes a favor to them," said Nims. "And sometimes we can perform a real service for a merchant we audit." He elaborated by explaining that department auditors accumulate vast amounts of information. Certain business facts become established, with defined patterns and norms.

"Often we can tell by examining books of a man unable to pay his taxes that he simply cannot make a go of his business—and long before he is willing to admit it to himself," Nims stated. The commissioner also described incidents where auditors were able to advise merchants that they were being robbed by either employee or customer.

"Conscience money" makes another problem. It amounts to more than $1,000 per year. Usually it comes in cash, mailed in an envelope with a note saying: "I've bought this for years and it's been bothering me," or something similar.

"Spite often motivates people to write or phone the tax office with tip that someone is cheating. These reports are investigated by a special group of agents, but about half are found to be without foundation."

Water Tower Gets
Fresh Coat of Paint
in Past Week

For the past week workmen from the Continental, Fremont Ltd., company, a firm of steel erectors and painters, have been cleaning, repairing and painting the village water tank.

The job was completed Tuesday morning and Homer Nixon, public works superintendent, and his men began the job of filling the tank. Capacity of the tank is 125,000 gallons.

The tank was completely emptied and the first crew of three men cleaned it and applied the special coating which covers the entire inside. A new ladder was also installed.

After the inside was renewed another crew of four men arrived and began the job of covering the outside with a coat of aluminum paint.

Cost of the job to the village light and water department was $1,300.

The last time the tank was cleaned and painted was six years ago.

While the tank was empty, a relief valve was installed on the fire hydrant at Main and Park streets to regulate the water pressure which was being pumped directly into the mains.

Sylvan Zoning
Ordinance
Is Published

The Sylvan township zoning ordinance, as approved by the zoning committee of the Board of Supervisors and the Sylvan Township Board, is printed in its entirety in this issue of The Standard.

In the event a referendum is not called for, the ordinance will become effective in 30 days.

The zoning ordinance was printed as the result of long hours of work on the part of the township zoning committee, headed by Floyd Rowe as chairman. Others on the committee are Harold Glazier, Doris Whitaker, Reuben Lesser and George Bretschneider.

Rowe, appointed originally for a one-year term, was re-appointed in April for a three-year term by Judge Jay H. Payne of the Probate Court.

The ordinance was discussed and read in part at an informal meeting at the Town Hall early this spring and a public hearing was held May 20.

The township ordinance does not affect the village of Chelsea. A separate zoning ordinance is in the process of being drawn up by the Village Council for the village.

Community
Fair Dates
Announced*Event Moved Ahead
One Week from Previous Years

The Chelsea Community Fair, usually held the first week in October, will be held a week earlier this year. Opening Wednesday, Sept. 23, the dates include Sept. 24, 25 and 26.

Lloyd Heydlauff, fair board president, said yesterday that plans for this year's fair are proceeding and include construction of a basement for the Red School building which the fair association purchased last week. The building will be moved to the fairgrounds and located on the rise of ground just east of the Gudeman company's plant and will face Old US-12.

The fair association is planning to serve meals in the building during the fair, proceeds to go toward paying for moving the building and building the basement. Cost of the project has been estimated at approximately $800.

For several years past, many fair exhibits were located in the building now occupied by the Gudeman company. Because the building is not available this year, all exhibits will be housed in tents, Heydlauff said.

Howard G. Minier, Washtenaw County Road Commission manager, said yesterday that it is hoped to have the blacktopping completed within the next two weeks.

Lyndon Residents
Ask 'Action Now' on Road Improvement*Group Meets with Road Commission
Manager Minier

Eighty-five Lyndon township residents attended a meeting in Lyndon Town Hall Friday evening to begin a concerted effort to push improvement of Waterloo road from M-92 to the Jackson county line.

According to the over-all eight-year county road improvement program the four and one-half miles of road in question is scheduled for blacktopping by 1958 and the general run of opinion expressed by residents at Friday's meeting indicated that the blacktopping is needed much sooner than that.

Bert Conway was applauded when he stated that "it looks like we're getting a 'run-around' again," referring to petitions presented to the Washtenaw County Road Commission, and then concluded by stating emphatically, "We want a road."

Conway's request for action occurred during a question and answer period following a general resume of road finance and the over-all county road program. This was set up under the motor vehicle fund program, following the one and one-half cent increase in gas tax in June, 1951. Howard G. Minier, Washtenaw County Road Commission manager, was the speaker.

Minier was introduced by Supervisor Orson Beeman who explained that he had called the meeting because he had received so many complaints about the condition of Waterloo road, both as to hazardous driving conditions and because of the dust.

Beeman claimed the road was surveyed for blacktopping in 1942 "but we never got it," and he and other Lyndon township residents "would like to know what happened and what could be done now" to get the desired work done as soon as possible.

Minier, in his opening remarks, stated that it is a big problem to administer a highway job so as to spend the money in an equitable way. "There just isn't enough money to pay for all the improvement that should be done," he said.

In the Washtenaw County Road Commission's plans, arrived at after extensive study of the county's 1,500 miles of roads, the present eight-year program was set up and approved by the Board of Supervisors, Minier explained.

He stated that of the 428 miles of roads in the county classed as primary roads in the program set-up, 312 miles are inadequate for the traffic they carry.

Graphs showing how the state's motor vehicle fund money is distributed to the counties show the total for Washtenaw county this year to be $812,358. Of this, $5,000 is allocated for emergency service; $224,356 for local roads (935 miles in the county); and $583,002 for the primary roads.

Minier said that, for planning purposes, the county was divided into three sections, the west half, which has only 12 per cent of the county's population, forming one third, with the east half being divided into a northeast and southwest section for the remaining two thirds.

Costs of road construction have already increased 25 per cent since the eight-year program plans were set up, Minier pointed out, saying that curtailment of some work must naturally follow.

When questioned by the Lyndon residents, Minier said that if Supervisor Beeman or anyone could show that the township had a commitment from the Road Commission for blacktopping road in 1942, he would take it back to the Road Commission for action.

Minier told the assembly "The Road Commission is willing to work with you." He said the Road Commission is trying to "spread construction dollars as far as possible. He said if the Commission considered only volume of traffic, the Ypsilanti area would be the one to get all the work done because that is where the traffic is heaviest.

The meeting adjourned on a hopeful note to await reports of the appointed committee's findings.

Community Band
Schedules Concert
for Friday Evening

This Friday evening at 7:45, the Chelsea Community band will present another of its summer concerts at the corner of Main and Park streets.

Old favorites to be included in this week's program are "In My Merry Oldsmobile" by Edwards; "Stout Hearted Men," by Romberg; "Comet March," by Olivetti; and "United Nations March" by Karl King.

All instrumental music classes are now being held at the band room at the high school building.

ler explained that the townships themselves were paying a large share of the cost. Leigh Beeman countered by saying it doesn't seem fair to expect 12 per cent of Washtenaw county people to pay for their one-third of the county, and that Lyndon township, with half its land state owned, should not have to pay in proportion to other townships where population and privately owned property are so much greater.

The general consensus of opinion seemed to be that week-end traffic in the area should be taken into consideration in the road construction program. Traffic surveys at present are made on certain week days to get the normal traffic load of roads.

Conway said it is his conviction that the state has an obligation to pay a just share of the cost of road improvement in Lyndon township because it owns half of the land in the township (Cassidy Lake Technical School), and because of the proximity to the state's Waterloo recreation area which draws large numbers of people to the vicinity each week-end. He asked Minier to tell Lyndon township people how they might proceed and what they needed to see in their favor to get the state to assume the obligation.

Minier suggested that a committee be appointed to approach Conservation Department officials as the lands in question are under its jurisdiction. He offered to go with such a committee and do anything possible to help, but was frankly pessimistic that anything can be done.

Supervisor Beeman appointed a committee naming Conway, Sam Markey, L. D. Guinan, Leigh Beeman and Paul Papendorf. The group is to work with his as a standing committee in efforts to get action on the improvement of the road.

Minier had previously suggested making preliminary road surveys and plans and interested residents of the township contributed a total of $200 for the work when the Lyndon Township Board did not provide an appropriation for it at a recent meeting.

L. D. Guinan, who said he travels a long, roundabout route to avoid driving on Waterloo road, which he described as "better than any proving ground," offered at the close of the meeting to provide all the gravel for the blacktopping project from his own gravel pit, free of charge, "if the county will begin work on the road within one year." He said the offer would be withdrawn if the road work had to wait until 1958. Minier suggested that he make the offer in writing to the Washtenaw County Road Commission.

Several men present, after hearing in Minier's report that $980 per mile is the average annual allotment for maintenance of the road under the present program, asked if the upkeep money could be earmarked for use toward payment of blacktopping costs and doing the blacktopping now. They claimed five years of upkeep cost on the present inadequate road would go a long way toward paying for the blacktopping.

"What can we do to get a blacktop road?" was the question put over and over again to Minier.

Minier's response was that the plan as submitted by the Washtenaw County Road Commission, for the entire county, were approved by the Board of Supervisors and the State Highway Department and that the Board of Appeals to the Road Commission is the Board of Supervisors.

Minier said, too, that if Supervisor Beeman or anyone could show that the township had a commitment from the Road Commission for blacktopping road in 1942, he would take it back to the Road Commission for action.

Minier told the assembly "The Road Commission is willing to work with you." He said the Road Commission is trying to "spread construction dollars as far as possible. He said if the Commission considered only volume of traffic, the Ypsilanti area would be the one to get all the work done because that is where the traffic is heaviest.

The meeting adjourned on a hopeful note to await reports of the appointed committee's findings.

INSIDE THE CAPITOL

By Clarence A. Reid, Lieutenant Governor

It is the belief of many persons engaged in the field of government that methods of amending state constitutions are antiquated in that they do not permit ready and speedy amendment of those basic charters.

Because of that belief a movement has been under way for a number of years to reform constitutions and particularly to reform the methods of amending them.

In several of the states, notably New York, considerable periods of time must elapse before the will of the people in respect to their constitutions can be translated into an adopted and effective amendment. To illustrate—in New York an amendment to the constitution must be adopted by the legislature and then rest until a subsequent legislature readopts the same proposal. Thereafter the proposition may be placed before the people for their approval. Under this system it is apparent that a period of four or more years may elapse before an amendment seriously considered and adopted by the legislature may be voted upon by the people.

In contrast to such a system, that of Michigan is extremely flexible, speedy and responsive to the will of the electorate. For instance, in January, 1935, there was introduced in the House of Representatives, a proposal to amend the constitution to provide for annual instead of biennial sessions of the legislature. The joint resolution was passed by both houses and deposited with the Secretary of State on the 14th day of February. The proposal was placed on the ballot at the general election and adopted by the people on April 2, 1935. In other words, in less than three months the entire process of proposing an amendment and having it voted on by the people was accomplished.

I submit that in the state of Michigan there is no need for any reform in the method of amending the constitution. If any criticism of the system could be valid, it might be that of being too responsive and too speedy in its final results. It is true that the method of amendment by initiative cannot in the very nature of the process be as quick as the illustration cited above, yet even under that slower process which requires the obtaining of signatures from persons all over the state, it is possible to complete the process and have it voted on by the people in something like six months. I doubt that for the very safety of the amendatory process that any system should permit a faster method than has been available in Michigan for many years.

This state has had three conventions which resulted in Constitutions which were adopted, the last having been held in 1908. Fifty-five amendments have been adopted since then. To any student of the Constitution, I believe it is quite apparent that major questions of policy determined by action at the last Michigan convention were comparatively few. It is true that the Constitution then presented to the people did contain a considerable number of changes over the 1850 constitution but examination discloses that many of the changes had been adopted by the people prior to the convention. It is equally apparent that much of the work of that convention was devoted to rearrangement and attempts at simplification. Although much of the change in that respect was beneficial, there were left pending numerous minor questions which could well have been solved at the time.

If a constitutional convention were to be held today it is entirely possible that the only effective work of such a body would be in the area of minor and clarifying changes. There is a definite need for amendment to the Constitution of Michigan, particularly in the field of taxation. It is easy to say that a convention could solve all of the problems but it is equally easy to assert that any solution proposed in this field would inevitably involve adverse reaction which in the judgment of competent persons would end in the defeat of the proposal.

Any constitutional convention attempting a single solution involving radical changes in the present tax structure would be foredoomed to defeat unless the people were deceived in the process. One need look only at the 1948 proposal to repeal the sales tax diversion amendment, when the affirmative votes were 843,217 and the negative votes were 1,446,016, or to the first proposal relative to an income tax which was defeated by a vote of 216,487 yeas and 913,883 nays, or the 1934 proposal to abolish the uniform rule of taxation for income tax purposes which was defeated by a vote of 245,648 yeas to 778,193 nays, to reach the conclusion that the people are averse to removing limitations which they believe redound to the protection of their pocketbooks. In passing it might be noted that the last two proposals cited above were placed on the ballot by initiative petition. I am a firm believer in the right of the people to rule by direction as well as representation and I think that the philosophy of government which are embodied in the Constitution of this state have been used judiciously in the main and are sufficient at this time.

WILLIAM BAHNMILLER BUYS REGISTERED AYRSHIRE
William Bahnmiller of Chelsea recently made an initial purchase of one registered Ayshire, according to the Ayshire Breeders' Association executive secretary, Chester C. Putney, of Brandon, Vermont.

The transaction was recorded in the National Office of the Ayshire Breeders' Association in Brandon where complete records on all registered Ayshires in the United States have been maintained since 1875.

Because of their ability to produce at a low cost an abundance of milk with an average butterfat test of 4%, the Ayshire breed of dairy cattle has become increasingly popular with dairymen throughout the country.

Five Plead Guilty to Drinking Charges in Municipal Court

Epp Webb, arrested by a sheriff's deputy at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, on North Main street, pleaded guilty to a charge of being drunk and disorderly when he appeared in Municipal Court, Ann Arbor, Monday morning. He is to return for sentence Aug. 18.

Eiden Weinberg's driver's license was ordered revoked and he was assessed $50 fine and $50 costs when he pleaded guilty to a drunk driving charge Monday morning. He had been picked up in Chelsea at 12:45 a.m. Saturday.

Homer and Ellis Howard, brothers of Stockbridge, were assessed $15 costs on drunk and disorderly charges to which they pleaded guilty Saturday. At 11:15 p.m. Friday their car had been found standing crossways and blocking the driveway at the Rieger farm.

Leebern Allen of Stockbridge, arrested by a sheriff's deputy on North Main street at 11:15 p.m. Saturday, also pleaded guilty to drunk driving in Municipal Court, Ann Arbor, Monday, and is to appear for sentence Aug. 18.

pear for sentence Aug. 18, according to the deputy's report. Roy Howard, of Stockbridge, riding in the car, was picked up for allowing a drunk person to drive. He pleaded not guilty and trial was set for Aug. 18.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

A new law permits Nims to pay up to $5,000 for tips on tax dodgers but he has had no occasion to use it yet. "One man did offer to tip us off to 10,000 cases of tax evasion at $10 each," chuckled the chief tax collector, "but we had to pass that one up."

Is taxpayers' money wasted? Of course, it shouldn't be. And it's the job of the Auditor General to see that it isn't. The department he administers makes certain that all money is used as the legislature intended and approves each of the 200,000 checks written each month. This means handling about $650,000,000 in state expenditures this year.

Present Auditor General is John B. Martin, Jr., a tall, quiet, handsome man, with wavy hair, prematurely gray. Because he deals every day with Michigan's bank account, he is in a good position to discuss state financial matters.

Little danger exists of a deficit in this year's state budget," states Mr. Martin. "In fact," the Auditor General continued, "if sales tax returns maintain their present level and we collect what we expect from the new business receipts tax, we can probably reduce the deficit—perhaps by as much as $10,000,000." Best estimates of revenue to come from the business receipts tax, according to Mr. Martin, amount to $36,000,000 per year.

When smoke of suspicion rises in state finance, the Auditor General is called in to see if there's actually a fire. If things are not in order, it's his job to find the cause and recommend a way to prevent a recurrence.

This is exactly what happened several months ago when it was suspected that a school district in Michigan had been overpaid in state aid money because of false enrollment figures supplied to the state department of public instruction. An investigation carried out by the Auditor General, working with state school authorities soon showed that Michigan taxpayers had been defrauded out of some $359,000 over a 10-year period. In addition, about $28,000 could not be properly accounted for.

This school scandal, and a few others involving much less money, led to a new law requiring annual audits of all school districts. The legislation was recommended by the Auditor General to the state Superintendent of Public Instruction. It was passed in the last legislative session.

School districts receiving more than $100,000 from the state each year must have a certified public accountant handle the audit; districts receiving less are not required to employ a CPA but must have an audit.

"This will supply protection for everyone," explains Mr. Martin.

"We like to see the commanding officer."

"Local school boards and superintendents will be free from suspicion and the taxpaying public won't be overcharged."

Main responsibilities of the Auditor General's office amount to a sizeable task. Briefly the staff members must perform these duties: 1. Audit records of all state agencies. 2. Audit books of all counties (except Wayne which maintains its own Auditing Board). 3. Handle the collection of delinquent taxes. 4. Pay bills.

Mr. Martin, now in his second term as Auditor General, is particularly suited for this task. A native of Grand Rapids, he graduated from U. of M.'s law school. During World War I he was at various times a naval secret service agent in Europe, head of the National Office of Civil Defense, and a member of the prosecutor's staff at the Nurnberg war trials. He has also represented Kent county in the state senate.

"Government can be as efficient as private business and often is," Mr. Martin stated. "But it is more difficult to maintain efficiency because there is no profit motive." But he tries to supply a similar incentive.

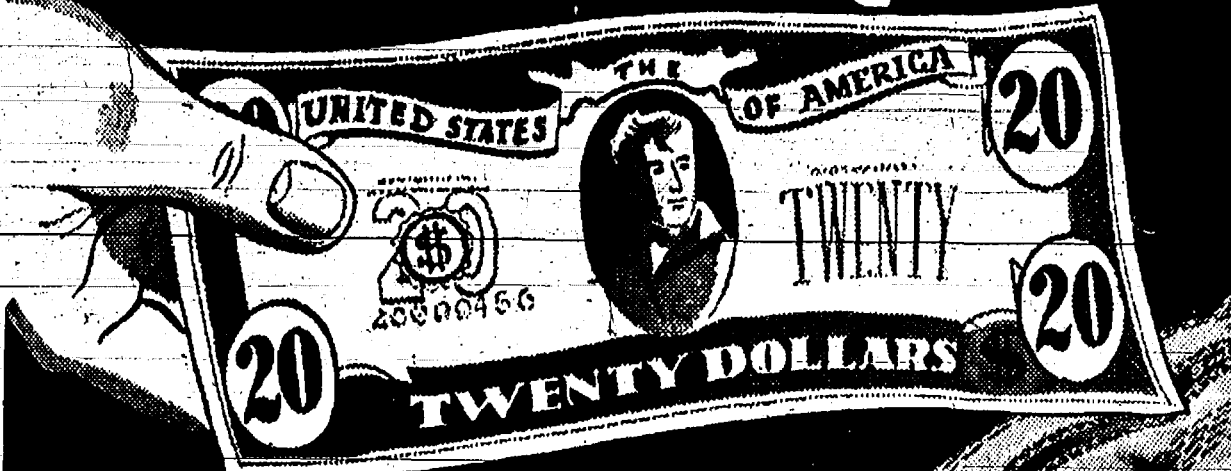

When each audit is completed,

Michigan Farmers-Up Fertilizer Use to Get Extra Yields per Acre

MICHIGAN farmers used nearly 600,000 tons of fertilizer last year to boost crops per acre, cut production costs and increase net profits, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, in a statement based on compilations of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The total of 590,821 tons of plant food used on Michigan farms in 1937, says the committee, was 16 per cent more than in the previous year and carried 19 per cent more plant nutrients.

The United States as a whole used 22,422,418 tons of fertilizer last year. This was 6 per cent more in tonnage and 10 per cent more in plant nutrients than in 1931.

Farmers are buying higher analysis fertilizers, the committee says. They are getting more crop feeding power per ton. In the past five years the percentage of primary plant food content in an average ton of fertilizer has increased from 19.6 per cent to 24.8 per cent.

The steady rise in fertilizer use, says the committee's statement, "indicates that farmers realize that plant food is not an expense, but a high-yielding investment. U. S. Department of Agriculture economists estimate that each dollar spent for fertilizer returns farmers at least $4.83 in additional income from crops."

With new ones, the weeds that were torn up were laid in 1911.

Dr. G. W. Palmer has a force of men at work moving the house at the corner of South Main and Summit streets which he purchased from Conrad Lehman. The building will be converted into two small dwellings and will be located in the eastern part of the village.

"Other factors influencing the greater use of fertilizer are: 1—Recognition by farmers that fertilizer is still one of the best buys they can make. Fertilizer prices have risen less than those of virtually any other production item a farmer buys. 2—Realization by farmers that plant food reserves in the soil are declining and must be replenished if long-range high production levels are to be maintained."

Protects Dry Batteries

Harvesting a Better America

Rubbed my eyes yesterday when I saw Hap Jackson's truck in Biff Morgan's alfalfa field... helping Biff get in his cutting.

Since they've been carrying on a friendly argument for years (over how much fertilizer to use per acre of alfalfa), I had to ask Hap what was going on.

"Got my own crop in safely last week," he says. "And since Biff's boy is at the summer encampment of the National Guard, I figured the least I could do was to help him out. After all," Hap went on, "there's no argument over how important the National Guard is to all of us."

From where I sit, a fellow like me, who's too old to get in the Guard, can still vote, do a turn at jury duty, and respect others' rights. Even a little thing like respecting a neighbor's right to have, say, beer or buttermilk at dinner is important if we want to keep America strong. We have to be on "guard" in more ways than one these days!

Family Saving Plan in 2nd Season on New York Central

1. FIVE TRAVEL FOR 2½ FARE! Family Tickets let 1 or 2 parents take youngsters under 12 free, under 16 half fare... any day on any coach round trip where the regular fare is $8.45 or more with tax. Started in 1952, this money-saving family travel plan is now in its second season on New York Central.

2. EVEN CHEAPER BY THE DOZEN! The bigger the family, the longer the trip, the more you save. For instance, the St. Louis family, saves nearly $260 on a New England vacation trip! They have plenty of vacation gear with them, too... all the hand luggage they want, plus trunks in the baggage car.

3. SO MANY EXCITING PLACES! New York City, Niagara Falls, the Adirondacks, Canada, the Great Lakes and Western Wonderland. New York Central Family Tickets help fit them all into your travel budget. And these tickets, good for 90 days, let you stopover on request for visits and sight-seeing along the way.

4. SO MUCH FUN ON THE WAY! Robert Lee New York Central drive... over a smooth, traffic-free, all-weather highway of steel. Plenty of room for youngsters to roam and avoid "back-seat sickness." It all adds up to travel that's easy on you and on your pocketbook, too. And that's the CENTRAL IDEAL.

MSC Survey Shows Farm Workers Average $172 Monthly

If you're an average farmer with hired help, you're paying your employees about $172 a month or an average of $1 per hour, a Michigan State College survey shows.

The average figures were obtained by Karl A. Vary of MSC's agricultural economics department from 721 farmers in all parts of the state. The survey indicates that monthly cash wage rates vary widely, from $100 to $300 a month and hourly pay ranges from 75 cents to $1.75.

While 77 per cent of the farm operators included in the survey hired labor in addition to that furnished by their own families, only 40 per cent of the farmers paid total wages of more than $200 a year. Of those farmers paying at least $200 a year or more for non-migrant labor, about one-half hired on the hourly basis. About one-third hired by the month and others employed labor by the day or week.

Vary figured the total wage from the amount of cash paid plus the "extras" such as meat, milk, eggs, light, fuel, etc. Dollar value placed on the extras averaged $31.42 a month.

Forty-three per cent of the farmers who gave a bonus in addition to the monthly wage based it on three to six per cent of the milk check. A small percentage gave a bonus of three to five per cent of the net farm income at the end of the year.
