School Board Bans Noon Hour Driving

Student Violators To Be Dismissed For One Week

Noon driving by students and excusers for hunting during pheasant and deer seasons are banned this year as a matter of school policy established at a special meeting of Chelsea Agricultural Schools Board of Education Thursday evening.

Both country and town students come under the noon driving ban. Town students who drive to school in the morning will be required to walk home for lunch at noon.

Violation of the rule will result in the student's dismissal from school for one week, it was announced.

Also announced after Thursday's meeting were plans to inaugurate an adult education program of sufficient interest is shown. A form to be filled out by interested persons will be included in next week's issue of The Chelsea Standard, Superintendent Charles S. Cameron stated.

Subjects suggested for the adult education program include art, physics, typing, home mechanics, driving training, mechanical drawing, painting, crafts and wood refinishing.

Formal acceptance of Fraser school district was tabled until tonight's regular meeting of the board to permit further inquiry into the district's financial statement.

It was announced that only the high school classes will be excused Friday, Sept. 24, for the Chelsea Community Fair. Elementary school children will attend classes as usual.

Game Supervisor Addresses Local Rod-Gun Club

Chelsea Rod and Gun club members and guests met Tuesday evening at the Christmas Seal camp at North Lake. There were 61 members and 18 guests present.

A letter was read from the Sportsman's Club of Detroit, urging members to attend a meeting in Chelsea High school gymnasium Saturday evening. The meeting, it was explained, is planned to "further the farmer-hunter relationship" and is specifically concerned with helping Lyndon township residents in their efforts to push improvement of Waterloo road.

Favorable reports of camp counselors were read into the club record regarding the boys sponsored by the club for a stay at the conservation camp at Ludington state park the past summer. The boys are Jim Weir and Dean Fowler.

Ralph Bailey, district game supervisor with the Conservation Department, stationed at Jackson, gave a talk at the meeting on the topic "Game Conservation and Its Relation to Good Farm Land." He pointed out that farmers who develop their land to make better crops possible are at the same time helping to foster better game propagation.

Plans were discussed for the club's annual jamboree Sept. 30, and announcement was made of a meeting of the lease committee to be held Sunday, Sept. 26, to post leased property. Committee members are to meet at Spaulding's garage at 8 a.m., bringing with them their own hammers and axes.

County 4-H'ers Win Places on State Judging Team

Three of the four Washtenaw county 4-H club boys who competed at the State Fair in dairy judging after placing in the top eight at the State 4-H Show in Lansing, won places on the team that was chosen to enter further competition in Waterloo, Ia., in October. The fourth boy, Kendall Rogers, of Saline, won a place on the second team which is to compete in Chicago contests.

The three Washtenaw county boys who made the first team are Gordon Schultz of Manchester, Alfred Harwood of Saline, and Paul Geiger of South Lyon. The fourth member of the team is Douglas Toppin of Huron county.

Washtenaw county 4-H workers feel it is an exceptional honor to have three boys from the county on the team which will represent the state in national competition. Two years ago two Washtenaw county boys competed at Waterloo and the team won a trip to England for international competition. The two were Donald Proctor of Chelsea and Robert Meyer of Ypsilanti.

Last year another Washtenaw county contestant, Arnold Girbach, of Ann Arbor placed highest in individual scoring in the national contest at Waterloo, Ia.

Public Discussion Slated on Waterloo Road Improvement

State, County Officials Invited To Participate

Ray Gauthier, president of the Sportsman's Club of Detroit and regional vice-president of Michigan United Conservation Clubs, has announced that a meeting will be held in the gymnasium at Chelsea High school at 8 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 18, as part of a volunteer program to aid residents "in their efforts to get some definite action" on the Waterloo road improvement residents have been seeking to speed up on the overall county road plan.

The Washtenaw county Road Commission's long-range road improvement program has the 4½-mile stretch of Waterloo road in question listed for completion by 1957.

Recently farmers of the Waterloo area decided to post their lands against hunting, an action described by Gauthier as "regrettable but only a policy of self preservation because of the heavy usage of the road, especially on week-ends."

Gauthier said he has sent letters announcing the meeting to Governor Williams, state, county and township highway officials, Conservation Department commissioners and officials, state senators and representatives of this area, county officials and MUCC officers requesting their presence at the meeting.

A Lyndon township committee, appointed at a meeting of residents of the township with Washtenaw county road officials in August, 1953, is urging people of the community to be present Saturday "so that we can present our side of the case directly" to the state, county and township officials expected to be there.

Members of the committee who were appointed to try to expedite blacktopping of Waterloo road are Lyndon Township Supervisor Orson Beeman, Leigh Beeman, Burt Conway, Paul Papsdorf, Sam Markey and L. D. Guinan.

The decision to close off farms in the area to hunting was planned to focus attention of hunters on the committee's "efforts to get some definite action."

Both the Washtenaw county Road Commission and Lyndon township have stated they have no money available for the project and have also stated that they believe the state has an obligation to help because of the large area of state-owned land in the vicinity.

Plans Completed for Annual Four-Day Fairgrounds Event

Donated Steer To Be Butchered, Sold at Auction

The Chelsea Community Fair Association made final plans for the opening of the 1954 Fair at the meeting held Tuesday evening in the Municipal building. An informal meeting is to be held on the fairgrounds next Tuesday evening, it was announced.

Following last week's announcement that bands entering the Fair parade Saturday, Sept. 25, would be given cash prize awards it was learned that band leaders preferred trophies as awards. Board members decided Tuesday evening to comply with requests for the change of awards.

Car dealers of Chelsea will furnish trophies for all bands who participate, each trophy denoting the placing of the band.

There will be no new car show at the fair this year since new models are not yet available.

It was also decided at the meeting, that the steer donated for auction by Ezra Lesser of Dexter, will be butchered and packaged in five-and ten-pound packages for the auction to be held following the pig scramble Thursday evening.

The fairgrounds will have a flagpole so the United States flag can be raised this year. The flagpole on the school grounds in the former Fraser school district has been made available to the Community Fair Association and will be placed on the grounds to fill a need which had been felt during past years.

During the meeting Sunday Mrs. Ren Hutzel, of the local Auxiliary, will make her official visit to the district as president of the Department of Michigan.

The day's activities will begin with a school of instruction for all delegates and officers at 10 a.m. All local delegates are required to be present.

At the business session a junior vice-president of the district is to be elected to fill a vacancy. Men of the Chelsea VFW Post have been preparing the camp for the event.

Fremont Boyer is commander of the Chelsea Post and his sister, Mrs. Mac Packard, is president of the local Auxiliary.

Miss Fox was introduced by John Griffin, program director for the evening and gave a detailed report of a field trip to the J. L. Hudson company while she was attending work shop sessions in economics at Michigan State College. She has attended the workshops the past two summers.

During the business session there was some discussion of plans for the Kiwanis Halloween party for young people and it was mentioned that there will again be a window painting contest. Anton Niskanen is chairman of the contest.

The evening's program will open at 7:45 p.m. with a band concert by the Chelsea High school band under the direction of Eugene Shroyer.

The annual tug of war between farmers and villagers also takes place Wednesday evening. Captains are "Fritz" Irwin for the village team and Dorr Whitaker for the farmers. Timekeepers are to be Howard Miller and William Lubahn.

A new feature added this year for the Wednesday evening program is an archery exhibition by Dick Unstead and Ed Speer.

Rides on the midway will include merry-go-round, ferris wheel, thrill rides and numerous amusements.

Grandstand entertainment will be free each evening of the fair. The usual 25 cents admission charge will prevail along with the 25-cent parking fee for parking on the grounds. School children, including high school students, will be admitted free.

All exhibits are to be in place Wednesday and judging will begin Thursday afternoon. The pig scramble and steer auction will take place Thursday evening.

The complete program for the four-day event will be published in the Fair issue of The Chelsea Standard next week.

Tentative plans are for a Candidates Night, possibly Friday evening, when all candidates for the November elections would be introduced.

The big feature Saturday night is the promised appearance of Gov. G. Mennen Williams to crown the queen of the Chelsea Community Fair.

Burglars Break in Clare Fenn Store In Ann Arbor

Thursday night of last week burglars broke into the drug store of Clare Fenn at 105 North Main street in Ann Arbor, and took approximately $150 from the cash register, ransacked drug cupboards and tried unsuccessfully to pry open a 250-pound safe.

Fenn said the burglars used a flashlight, hammer, tin snips and butcher knife, all property of the store, in their efforts to open the safe. They finally rolled the safe across the room, down a stairway and out a side door near East Huron street, apparently planning to cart it away. It is believed they were either frightened away or were unable to load the safe into a car or other vehicle.

The break-in, through a window 12 feet from the ground, was not discovered until 6 a.m. Friday.

Fenn said yesterday the door of a shop next door, near where his safe was found after the robbery, was smashed some time over the week-end and an undisclosed amount of cash stolen.

The store, known as the Glen Ann Shoppe, was formerly owned by Mr. and Mrs. James Birch, former Chelsea residents.

Quick way to loosen tomato skins for easy peeling: Dip the tomato in boiling water for a minute and then cool it at once in cold water.

Plans Proposed for Organizing Amateur Radio Operator's Club

Robert Schroen, a licensed radio "ham" operator, plans to organize an amateur radio operators club for girls and boys of all ages if a sufficient number are interested. He said he already has talked to several young people who wish to become members and he would like to have interested boys and girls contact him.

Principal goal of the club, Schroen said, would be to teach young people the fundamentals of sending and receiving radio messages with the prospect of obtaining their government licenses as operators.

Amateur radio operators are an important part of Civil Defense programs in the United States; it was pointed out, and a large number of qualified operators would be a great advantage in cases of emergency or disaster.

If enough young people are interested, Schroen said, he plans to hold meetings in a central location for the convenience of club members.

National Farm Loan Association Activity Described

One of the agencies represented in the newly formed "Washtenaw Agricultural Council" is the National Farm Loan Association, 2221 Jackson Avenue, Ann Arbor. The NFLA is a farmer owned cooperative and has its objective the providing of farmers with a source of credit available through farm real estate loans in all kinds of times. It is a service, not a profit organization.

The NFLA's and the Federal Land Bank system came into being in 1917 through an act of Congress briefly to meet the needs of farmers in a special type of credit required by the farm business. Although the federal government did provide the money with which to get the organization started, it also provided that this money would be repaid and eventually the organization would be owned entirely by farmers who have active loans through it. When a loan is made to a farmer he purchases stock in his NFLA equal to 5 per cent of his Federal Land Bank loan. Cost of this stock is included in the loan and is returned to him on the final payment of his loan. In this way, the organization became farmer owned and self-supporting and the federal government was repaid. Superiority of the system continues with the Farm Credit Administration, however.

The money being loaned comes from the sale of Federal Land Bank bonds and is not derived from government capital. All income over and above expenses and necessary reserves are paid out to borrowers in the form of dividends on the farmer-borrowers' association stock.

Federal Land Bank loans can be made for any agricultural purpose. They call for 4 per cent interest rate, can be made for terms up to 33 years in Washtenaw county, and can be repaid at any time without prepayment charges. Up to 65 per cent of the normal agricultural value of a farm may be loaned.

The Washtenaw Agricultural Council is made up of a group of people representing different agencies working with farmers in Washtenaw County who joined together for a common goal of "better farming". The National Farm Loan Association is represented on the Council by its Secretary Treasurer, Robert Hall.

"To the unknown Operator who saved my life..."

That's how the letter began. It was sent to Michigan Bell by Mrs. Ida Vaughn of Ann Arbor. Here's why.

One evening, Mrs. Vaughn, who then lived alone, suffered a severe heart attack. She was able to reach her telephone but was choking so badly the operator could hardly understand her.

The operator checked the address and notified the hospital. Then she learned the family doctor's name from Mrs. Vaughn and telephoned him.

She asked if there were any relatives she should call. Mrs. Vaughn gave the name of her daughter. The operator called her and soon she was on the way to the hospital with her mother.

Mrs. Vaughn's letter ended this way,

"I frankly do not think I would be living today if that operator had not been on the job that evening. Many, many thanks for wonderful service at a time when most needed."

The "unknown" operator is no longer unknown to Mrs. Vaughn, of course. She is Mrs. Bonnie Walker.

For her alertness, presence of mind and resourcefulness she has been awarded a Vail Citation, a telephone company award for outstanding service.
