Survival Is Not All

Tremendous gains have been made over the years in the skill and knowledge of the medical profession.
Curing disease, accomplishing surgical miracles, and the discovery of new drugs can be classed as one of the wonders of the world.
But survival is not all! Even though broken bodies can be mended and diseases cured, what about the broken spirits and mental anguish caused by financial strain due to accident and illness? You and I have seen it time and again.

My Company, Woodmen Accident, has been furnishing protection against financial losses due to accident and sickness for 64 years. Such protection for you or your family costs only pennies a day! Let's talk it over—

Manager, 908 Maple St., Jack-

CARD OF THANKS

We are sincerely grateful to friends and neighbors for their many acts of sympathy during our sad bereavement in the loss of our aunt. We especially thank Rev. S. D. Kinde for his comforting words; Mr. and Mrs. Paul F. Niehaus for the music; and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Burghardt for their kindness.

Nieces and nephews of Mrs. Nellie Chamberlain.

THANK YOU

My sincere thanks to all my relatives and friends who remembered me with cards, flowers and fruit during my stay at the hospital and since my return home. I wish to express special thanks to those who donated blood. All these acts of kindness are deeply appreciated.

Mrs. Emanuel Loeffler.

Michigan Mirror

Big and small business will be bailing out the state treasury for a "temporary" tax not expected to die.

Tax authors in the legislature already are planning to expand the $22,000,000 business activities tax beyond its June 15 deadline.

Senator Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo), considered a tax expert of some talent, figures it's the way out because nobody has complained and the money is very nice, indeed.

Where else can we get $22,000,000 a year so easily? he asked.

The tax started as an unwanted child two years ago when the legislature was frightened by the deficit of $85,000,000.

Gov. Williams pointed out that it might help the state's financial position, but let it become law without his signature. He favored a corporation profits tax.

Businessmen fought it originally because they were hazy about it and a flexible tax bill in the hands of legislators can be a lethal thing. Later, after study, business and industry supported the measure.

Now everybody is happy about the whole arrangement. At least on the surface.

Legislators figure they can keep the tax on the books and keep the cash rolling in without causing a stir. Businessmen feel it's a better tax than one on incomes over $10,000 or others equally obnoxious.

Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler would like to build roads with the proposed $500,000,000 bond issue.

Gov. Williams would like to name a 50-member state-wide commission to tell him where they should be built, hinting broadly that Ziegler would bow to political demands.

Mayor Ralph W. Crego, of Lansing, is organizing one group to promote US-127 and US-27, which go through the center of the state, making local merchants delighted with their free-spending tourists.

Others are pushing for a super-highway along the routes, US-23 along the Lake Huron shore, on US-31 and 181, all figuring on a tourist bonanza.

Without premeditation, the groups are (1) becoming ready-made campaign organizations for the bond issue when it hits the ballot next year; (2) confusing Ziegler and his long range plans.

Ziegler is sure taxpayers will complain mightily if the $500,000,000 is spent on a single highway. He said a Detroit-Muskegon superhighway is one of the top priorities, anyway.

Then, Ziegler thinks the local promotion groups may have been misled. He put it succinctly: "Superhighways don't go through towns of any size."

Forest fires caused less damage this year than any since records have been kept.

The conservation department reported that total loss for the year is limited to 3,599 acres of land. This is well below 1951, the previous record low.

Michigan's undermanned State Police force has a better chance now of getting 114 more men from the 1955 legislature.

They have been praised and applauded in the past for their deeds, but the state hasn't had money to increase the size of the outfit. Now it's different.

"How can we hold off now, after the job they did last year?" mused one legislator.

The State Police, aided by the National Guard, sheriffs and local officers, held the holiday week-end toll to 22 deaths on the highways.

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. is continuing its drive for a $22,800,000 rate increase.

The company says it will amount to three cents more a day for every telephone in use. The extra cash is needed to meet recent pay increases and rising costs and to maintain a 6.5 per cent profit margin.

Michigan Bell has been trying for the increase for 15 months before the Michigan Public Service Commission without success.

The commission is composed of one Democrat and one Republican, who will give the telephone company the "busy signal" at least until after the November election.

A third position on the commission is unfilled.

"This is known as strategic procrastination," said one observer.

Here's a bit of irony: The late Ex-Senator Blair Moody whose name remained on the ballot after he died received more "memorial votes" than did three Republican candidates for governor combined.

Herbert Hoover is the only man of Swiss descent to be president of the United States.

Saturday, their brother and his family, Mr. and Mrs. George Peak, Jr. and two children, of Detroit, spent the evening here at a family gathering at the Guest home.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Douglas Lange and son, Roy, returned Sunday after spending the summer at their motel at Jackson Hole, Wyoming, at the edge of Grand Teton national park. The Langes were forced off the highway by the flooding of roads near Chicago Saturday night and were delayed several hours. They managed to reach New Buffalo, just inside the Michigan border and remained at a motel there Saturday night.

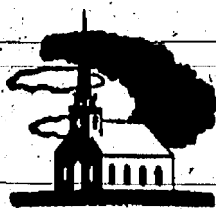

Early Sunday morning the grounds there became flooded and they hurried away, leaving home at approximately 10 a.m.

Vaccination of Poultry Made Easy With New Medicine

You may not need to handle each of your chickens to vaccinate them.

You may simply put the vaccine in their drinking water or dust the dried vaccine over the chickens with an ordinary hand duster.

Those are two new developments that soon will be available in Michigan, according to Dr. S. C. Schmitt, Michigan State College poultry disease specialist.

The drinking water vaccine is designed only to prevent Newcastle disease at present. But Dr. Schmitt's laboratories, the firm which manufactures the material, announces that it soon will be available for infectious bronchitis.

Tests at the Storrs Agricultural Experiment Station in Connecticut show this vaccine offers promise.

The dust vaccine works in much the same way as one dropped into the chickens' nostrils. Dr. Schmitt points out that it may not be necessary to get dust on each bird for the vaccination to take effect—the chickens breathe in the material.

This vaccine, designed for use against both Newcastle disease and infectious bronchitis, will soon be released by Lederle Laboratories. Dr. Schmitt says that the easy methods of vaccination may revolutionize the process. But, he adds, only widespread use will tell how they compare with the present individual bird handling methods.

Tax Law Aids Soil Conservation

Michigan farmers have a more attractive deal in saving soil conservation costs under the new tax law.

Extension Soil Conservationist Russell G. Hill points out that farmers can now charge off up to 25 per cent of their gross farm income for various soil improvement practices.

Included are leveling, grading, terracing and contour furrowing; digging erosion channels and drainage ditches; controlling and protecting waterways, outlets and ponds; building earthen dams; planting windbreaks and eradicating brush.

Softened Water Hard on Plants

If your home water supply has been softened, don't use it on your house plants.

That's the advice from C. E. Wilson, a horticulturist at Michigan State College. When water is softened, he explains, its calcium has been added. Most plants can't tolerate much sodium.

Wilson suggests catching rain-water for watering plants if your water has been softened, or you can buy distilled water.

The same advice is good if your water supply contains much salt, according to Wilson.

Bonnie Jean Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Moore of Mt. Morris, and Edwin M. Collins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Collins, were married at 8 o'clock Friday evening in the Mt. Morris Baptist church. Rev. Robert A. Behrken was the officiating minister.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore for the wedding a navy blue suit, matching accessories, a corsage of red roses and white carnations and a triple strand pearl necklace which was a gift from the bridegroom.

The bride's sister, Mrs. George Madwick of Flint, was matron of honor and an aunt, Mrs. Marshall Hudson of Pinconning, was bridesmaid. Both wore gray suits and corsages of white carnations. Mrs. Madwick's accessories were pink while Mrs. Hudson's were of matching gray.

Richard Goltra of Chelsea, served as best man and ushers were John Aldrich of Chelsea, Marshall Hudson and Tony Siethoffer, both of Pinconning.

A reception was held in the church dining room immediately following the ceremony, guests being present from Pinconning, Saginaw, Bay City, Mt. Morris, Flint and Chelsea.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Moore chose a brown gabardine dress and brown accessories while Mrs. Collins, mother of the bridegroom, wore blue gabardine and matching accessories. Their corsages were of white carnations and miniature red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Schneider

Shirley L. Marsh, Donald Schneider Speak Wedding Vows

St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church in Jackson was the setting for the marriage ceremony uniting Shirley L. Marsh and Donald L. Schneider, both of Chelsea. Rev. Henry G. Kroehler, pastor of the Jackson church, officiated in the presence of 250 guests.

The double-ring ceremony took place at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon and was followed by a reception in the church hall.

Before the ceremony Robert Schneider, brother of the bridegroom, sang "Because," and during the rites Wilbur Beeman of Waterloo sang "The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. A. C. Grossman of Jackson, was the accompanist and also played the traditional wedding music.

The bride is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Marsh and is a 1954 graduate of Chelsea High school. She is employed at Central Fibre Products and A. D. Mayer Insurance company.

The bridegroom, also a 1954 graduate of Chelsea High school, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Schneider. He is employed at Ford Motor company, Ypsilanti.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of white net and lace over satin featuring two rows of ruffles at the bottom of the skirt. The net and satin extended into a train. The fitted bodice was finished at the neckline with a Peter Pan collar. A tiny lace hat, trimmed with sequins and seed pearls, held her tulle veil in place. The veil was fingertip length. An arrangement of white roses and ribbon, centered with a corsage of roses and three small yellow mums, was her wedding bouquet. She later removed the corsage and pinned it to the jacket of the beige, light wool suit which was her going-away outfit. With the suit she wore brown and burnt orange accessories and a wrist watch which Lorraine Paxton were in charge of the guest book.

Mrs. Leon Marsh who took the place of the bride's mother in the receiving line, wore an aqua dress with white and black accessories while the bridegroom's mother wore a navy blue suit. Her accessories were also white and black. Both wore corsages of pink roses.

Following a trip through the southern part of the state, the couple is now at home at 6860 Conway road.

Christian Education Director Is Guest Of Episcopal Mission

The Rev. G. Burton Hodgson, Director of Christian Education for the Diocese of Michigan, was guest at St. Barnabas' Episcopal mission last Sunday. He was celebrant and preacher at the 11 a.m. service of Holy Communion.

Spokesman for the mission state that Rev. Hodgson presented a new approach to Christian education at the morning service and at an afternoon meeting of parents which was held at the church.

The basis of his plan involves the participation of the whole family. Rev. Hodgson expressed his opinion of the formal church school when it is seen that in one month the child spends 596 hours with his family, compared to 126 hours in school and only four hours, at best, in church. He noted that, "If Christianity is caught and not taught, what chance then does the child stand of having a Christian life pattern if the family, which he spends 80 per cent of his time, is not Christian?"

He also expressed the belief that Christian living finds its most powerful application among the members of the family, and that is because the Christian family in itself is a small community of the loving and the loved.

Rev. Hodgson added that "the child's relationship to the Church is determined by the home from which he comes and the attitude of his parents. During his early years the Church has meaning only as it relates to the child's own life and that of his immediate family. Unless the parents share the experience it does not make much impression."

He summarized by saying that the child was a true product of the home and "we cannot have Christian children unless we have a Christian home."

County Juvenile Home Issue Will Be Decided at Nov. Vote

One of the most significant of the nine issues facing voters on Nov. 2 is that which would authorize a new juvenile home for Washtenaw county. Suitable quarters for the care of youngsters under 17 who come to the attention of the Juvenile Division of the Probate Court, whether neglected or delinquent, have long been sought by public and private groups in the county.

The specific proposal, No. 1 on the ballot, is to give the Board of Supervisors authority to transfer $110,000 from the General Fund of the county to a special fund for a juvenile home. No increase in taxes is necessary since this is money which has accumulated over and above the county's annual requirements.

The need for such a home is serious; 343 new cases of neglected and delinquent children came before the Probate Court in 1953; it is estimated that new cases in 1954 will total 500. About 80 per cent of these ought to have been detained until their cases could be handled by the court. This would have given time and opportunity to better examine the children, look into their background and home environment and arrange for permanent care for them in foster homes or otherwise. But with no place to house these children while such activity is carried on there was nothing the court could do but release them to the same situation from whence they had come, with little chance for real study of those cases.

Records show that there are about twice as many dependent children needing care as there are those who are delinquent. These children come from all types of homes, from all parts of the county. While there are more from the city than from the rural areas, in proportion to the respective populations there is very little difference. It is a problem of all the people in the whole county that needs a solution.

For almost two years Washtenaw county has had no quarters in which to house these children. Early in 1953 Judge Payne of the Probate Court announced that he would no longer send children to the cell-like rooms in the basement of the County Infirmary which was being used at that time. Arrangements were made with nearby counties to use their facilities and on occasion this has been done, but these counties have now indicated they can no longer accept children from our county.

The Committee on Juvenile Affairs of the Board of Supervisors spent many months searching for new quarters. At first an effort was made to find a large dwelling that might be altered to provide suitable, home-like surroundings for detained children, many of whom are frightened and upset by a sudden change in their family living, and at the same time would have some rooms for "secure detention" for advanced delinquent cases. Several possibilities were investigated but it became apparent that the many problems involved, not the least of which was the total cost and the objections of neighbors, made this solution unlikely.

Efforts were made to find suitable families who would be willing to take one or more children into their homes for a few days care whenever this was needed.

But the fact that such care would have to be available at any time, day or night, and in most instances with little or no warning, complicated the search and nothing could be done about it.

In recent months the effort has been turned toward planning the construction and financing of a cottage-type home. The fact that the county has a large unexpended balance of funds made it feasible to ask the voters for authority to use some of this money. There is plenty of space on the grounds of the County Infirmary for the contemplated building and for an additional unit if such should become necessary in the future. Voters are being asked to authorize the transfer of funds for the construction of one building on the Nov. 2 ballot.

More information about the building and its use will be presented in a later edition of this paper. Everyone in Washtenaw county should know all the facts concerning this pressing need and the method whereby attempts are being made to solve it at the least possible cost and with the most effective results of good for our children.

Former Chelsea Resident Wins Trip to Hawaii

Mrs. Anthony Topolka of Flint, formerly of Chelsea, recently won a limerick contest put on by a large Flint food market, the prize being an all-expense airplane trip to Hawaii for herself and her husband. Mrs. Topolka is the former Nelda Scherer, daughter of Mrs. George Scherer of West Middle street.

The Topolkas decided to take their 8-year-old son, Paul, with them, paying his expenses themselves.

In addition to the trip Mrs. Topolka and her husband were given a complete wardrobe for the trip and seven pieces of luggage. The family will leave Flint Nov. 7 to fly to Seattle and will board the plane there to take them to Honolulu.

November 9, 10, 11 and 12 they will be taken, by limousine, on tours of many points of interest including Schofield Barracks and Pearl Harbor. November 13 they will fly back to Seattle and the next day they will return to their home in Flint.

Mrs. Topolka is a school teacher and while teaching radio broadcasting at Northern High school in Flint had two books published by the Northwestern Press of Minneapolis, Minn. The first, published in 1941, was entitled "Radio Skits for High Schools," while the second, published in 1944, was entitled "Days to Remember." Both are still listed in play catalogs.
