County Will Enter National Contest in Christmas Seal Sale

Judging To Be on Basis of Sales for
First Three Days

Mrs. Lois G. Hopkins, executive secretary of the Washtenaw county Tuberculosis Association, announced this week that Washtenaw county is being entered in the national Christmas Seal Sale contest, the "prize" being the premiere showing of "Silver Chalice" on Dec. 17, in the county showing the largest per capita contributions to the Christmas Seal quota during the first three days of the sale. The sale officially begins Nov. 22.

Christmas Seal envelopes are being stuffed tomorrow from 8:30 a.m. until 8:30 p.m. at VFW Headquarters, 314 East Liberty street, Ann Arbor, and Mrs. Hopkins is asking for volunteers from this area who might be in Ann Arbor to stop in and help with the work for an hour or two.

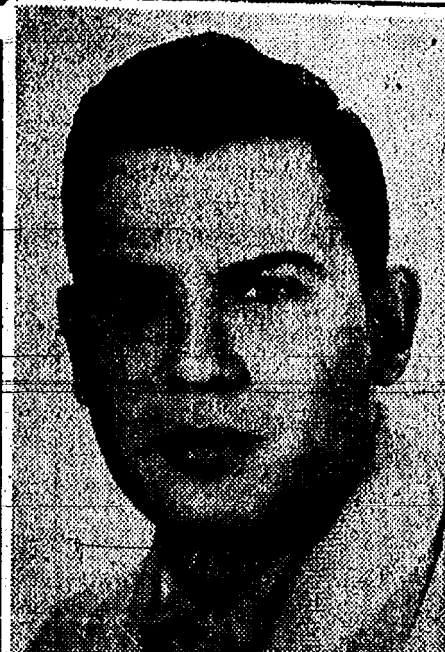

Contributions received from the sale of Christmas seals is divided to send 18 1/2 per cent to state and national associations for research and international co-operation in the control of tuberculosis, the remaining 81 1/2 per cent being allocated to stay in the county.

Last year Chelsea area residents contributed $881.89 in response to 1,125 letters sent out. There were 39,743 letters sent out in the entire county with total contributions being $24,088.57.

Mrs. Hopkins said yesterday, "Our current program is one of intensive health education leading up to a county-wide chest x-ray survey next fall. We are paying the salary of a Health Educator in the Washtenaw county Health Department who is available to schools, community groups, service clubs, etc. for talks on tuberculosis and who will have charge of the x-ray survey next year. We have to far this year put about $500 worth of general health education materials into the county, and are furnishing movies for use in teaching health."

"In addition to the health education program we are working with industrial groups to promote pre-employment chest x-rays and we are planning a rehabilitation program for which we are collecting data on the needs of discharged patients in the Washtenaw county area. In this latter connection we are vitally interested in promoting a sheltered workshop for Washtenaw county in which handicapped persons, including tuberculosis patients, may go for vocational training."

Currently there are 84 patients from the county receiving sanitarium treatment. Mrs. Warren Daniels is the Chelsea member of the Washtenaw county tuberculosis association and is a member of the executive committee.

Bulldogs Lose Final Game to Stockbridge

Eight Seniors End
Local High School
Grid Careers

Chelsea High's Bulldogs dropped their final game of the season Friday night to Stockbridge by a 37-0 count. In losing, Chelsea finished with a 5-4 record while Stockbridge had a record of 6-1-2.

Stockbridge took the opening kick-off, only to fumble on the first scrimmage play. However, the Bulldogs could not move the ball against Stockbridge's stubborn defense and was forced to punt.

Taking over on their own 20, Stockbridge marched 80 yards for their first touchdown, sending right halfback Jim Rowland over from 10 yards out. Mel Push's placement was wide on the extra point attempt.

Stockbridge scored again in the second quarter as Tom Basore cracked a punt from a yard out. Push's kick made it 13-0 at half-time.

Following the intermission, Stockbridge scored twice in the third quarter, first when Jim Rowland sprinted 80 yards after which Push converted; then Push kicked a 27-yard field goal when the Chelsea defense held for downs.

Following this score the Bulldogs started their only offensive threat of the game. Jim McLaughlin broke away on a reverse and sprinted 40 yards to the Stockbridge 15. Two line plays resulted in short yardage and on third down Tom Basore of Stockbridge intercepted a Bulldog pass on the 10 and raced 90 yards to score. Push again kicked the extra point.

Stockbridge moved again in the fourth quarter as fullback Don Miller raced 20 yards for the score. Push's placement completed the scoring.

Santa Claus Schedules Visit To Community for Nov. 26

Santa's Private Mail Box
Will Be Ready Saturday

Santa Claus has made arrangements with the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce to have his special mail box placed in front of the Chelsea postoffice by the coming Saturday, Nov. 20. He has sent a word that children of the community are to write to him so he can pick up the letters when he arrives here Friday, Nov. 26, for the first of his weekly visits which will continue until Dec. 23. Santa Claus will come into Chelsea next week, Friday, riding on the Chelsea fire engine truck.

He has promised that he will answer all letters he receives from Chelsea youngsters as he did last year. It is important to remember that letters mailed to Santa Claus in his own private mailbox in front of the postoffice need no stamps.

Children should write their letters to Santa and have them ready to mail Saturday. A return address is necessary in order that a letter from Santa may be delivered by the mailman.

Santa has arranged his schedule of visits to Chelsea and other communities so that he can be here by 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Remember the date of his first visit—Friday, Nov. 26, at 2 p.m.

Seniors To Present Annual Class Play Friday, Saturday

The Senior class of Chelsea High school will present "Old Doc," by Jean Lee Latham, Friday, Nov. 19 at 7:30 p.m. and Saturday, Nov. 20 at 8 p.m. The Friday night performance has been scheduled earlier for the convenience of the children of the community.

"Old Doc" is the story of Dr. Hillary of Mason county, Massachusetts. The play is a phase of his life and of the people concerned with his life.

Mrs. Rossi, played by Betty Smith, is an Italian woman. Her husband is dead and she has the sole responsibility of raising her little Tony.

Janet, played by Joan Merkel, is a young girl in her late teens. She is devoted to her uncle, Old Doc, and is in the throes of puppy love when Dick Burns appears on the scene.

Dick Burns, a lad-in-his-late-teens, is played by Bill Eisenbush. His dreams of a future career change quite often, in fact sometimes once or even twice a day. He is played by Ralph Owings.

He is a jolly old man in his seventies and he's almost sure to say the wrong thing in a difficult moment.

Ma, a trim old lady in her seventies, is played by Mary Ann Klink. Her manner is quiet and matter-of-fact and it is quite amazing to watch her handle Pa.

Margaret, played by Norlean Klingler, is a nurse in her late twenties. She has a quick-hot temper which is very easily aroused.

Lou, a girl in her early twenties, is played by Mary Lou Ghidotti. She keeps up on the latest minute things, such as styles in clothes and is utterly impatient with what she feels is Margaret's blind, pig-headed stubbornness.

Mrs. Cronin, a hearty Irish woman in her late forties, is played by Linda Walker. Twenty years of marriage to a man who goes on "rare and magnificent tears" have not defeated her.

Mary, a young girl in her late teens, with a shy almost frightened manner, is played by Betty Leggett.

Hopple, played by Roger Stevens, is a man of middle age, a successful, small-town lawyer shrewd and brisk.

Old Doc is played by Bill Hoppe. He is a gruff and vigorous man of 70. Having worked like a galley slave for 80 years, he still moves at an impatient pace, coming in like a lion and going out like a lion, too. He is a father confessor, court of domestic relations, and physician, and in one, to his little town and most of Mason county.

Bob is played by Ron Satterthwaite. He is a perfect image of his Pupils who will be transferred to the new school are Mrs. Schaller's first grade, Mrs. Haselwerdt's second grade, Mrs. Balfour's third grade, Mrs. Smyser's fourth grade and Mr. Murdoch's sixth grade.

The pupils in these classes only will not come to school tomorrow (Friday) when books, equipment and supplies will be moved and teachers will get their rooms ready for the pupils for Monday morning.

There will not be a section of the kindergarten or the fifth grade in the new school at this time. Only 11 kindergarten town pupils live north of the railroad tracks while 52 town kindergartners live south of the tracks.

Town pupils in any of the classes who live south of the tracks and who will be going to the North Elementary school will be transported by bus both ways. The pupils may go home for lunch at noon with the consent of the parents.

The new school has seven classrooms, an all-purpose room, a music and art room, offices, teachers' work room and teachers' lounge. Each classroom has an outside entrance with two classes sharing each entrance.

Partitions between the rooms are storage cabinets made in four-foot sections and bolted together. The sections have chalkboard on one side (in the one classroom) and tackboard on the opposite side (in the next classroom). The tackboard side of the partitions are fitted as storage cabinets.

The front of the school grounds will be lawn, as well as the area between the two wings. The area between the sidewalks and the building will later be made into flower beds.

A gravel driveway around the school and gravel parking lot at the rear of the building are other features.

The building has oil heat and radiant floor heating.

The motoramic Chevrolet for '55

Great new 8
It's the valve-in-head V8 as only the valve-in-head leader can build it!
Chevrolet's new "Turbo-Fire V8" puts a brand-new kind of excitement under your foot. The excitement of 162 horsepower! The excitement of an 8 to 1 ultra-high compression ratio! The new "Turbo-Fire V8" is so efficient that it requires only four quarts of oil instead of the usual five or more. And it has the shortest piston stroke in the low-price field, for longer engine life. Come in and let the new "Turbo-Fire V8" speak for itself!

Two new 6's
With enough new advances to fill a book!
There's the new "Blue-Flame 136" (teamed with Powerglide as an extra-cost option) and the new "Blue-Flame 123." Both bring you new, high-rated power—the zippy, thrifty high-compression kind. Both have new, more efficient cooling and lubrication systems... new engine mounts that result in almost unbelievable smoothness. And, like the new "Turbo-Fire V8," both are sparked by a new 12-volt electrical system. They're the liveliest, smoothest sixes Chevrolet ever put into a passenger car!

The 1st 12-Door Sedan

More than a new car... a new CONCEPT of low-cost motoring

Sportmen and resort owners breathe easier as the Michigan Water Resources Commission disclosed its latest stream and lake pollution survey.

Milton P. Adams, executive secretary, complimented industries on their waste disposal systems and said "marked improvement" had been made. "We're complimenting the industries involved because they deserved it," he said.

It was just a year ago that Michigan had its infamous fish-killing episode in Allegan Lake. Hydrogen sulfide in the Kalamazoo River at the same time gave off fumes which damaged the paint on nearby houses.

The survey completed this fall shows that pollution has been greatly reduced along the river, and in adjoining lakes. The fish are returning in great numbers.

Of the 15 sampling stations, one was above the city of Kalamazoo at Comstock bridge; three were inside the city; two below Kalamazoo and above Plainwell; two inside Plainwell; one at the Otsego dam; three below Otsego and above Allegan; and the final three were at M-89 and M-40 bridge and the municipal dam below Allegan.

Adams gave credit for part of the improvement to the Otsego Falls Paper Mills which disposed of its solid wastes and pulp mill liquors on the roads rather than in the river.

Others getting praises were Allied Paper Mills' Monarch Division, St. Regis Paper Co., Rex Paper Co., National Gypsum Co., Mill No. 2 of Kalamazoo Paper, and Divisions 4 and 7 of Sutherland Paper, the KVP Plant at Parchment, Michigan Paper Co. at Plainwell and Mac Sim Bar Co. at Otsego.

The survey and the compliments to the industries ended a typical cycle—with the commission directing an operation aimed at keeping the streams and lakes for resorters and sportmen.

Industries have been hailed before the commission, some of them taken into court, for polluting the streams with wastes. The result has been a new program of industrial waste development.

After it is all over, the commission will keep a continuing check on the streams and lakes—a part of government not often understood.

Michigan is starting a program of education in the school system based on the principal that the younger generation must know about alcohol for its own and society's sake. The state Board of Alcoholism isn't taking sides in the matter. Its director, Ralph W. Daniel explains it this way: "We have a perfect right to believe that drinking is bad. Others think differently. We just want to give young people the facts to go with what they learn at home."

He stressed that the home is where youngsters must get their first information about alcohol and the schools can help by teaching the economic, social and physical aspects.

Conferring both with state temperance leaders and educators, the Board of Alcoholism in cooperation with the State department of Public Instruction, will sponsor a series of courses in elementary and high schools next year based on these points:

1. Alcohol education has the same aim as all other educations: to develop wholesome personalities by promoting habits and attitudes that will be conducive to happy and healthful living.

"The boys and girls of Michigan are entitled to know about the economic, sociological and physiological effects of the use of alcoholic beverages," Daniel said.

2. Teacher training institutions should consider alcohol education in the preparation and training of teachers.

3. The major responsibility for alcohol education lies with the classroom teachers. They could be aided by outside organizations and state consultants.

4. The community, the school and the students should be included in making alcohol education part of the curriculum.

5. Methods used in teaching about alcohol should be appropriate to the philosophy of the teacher and to the grade level of the student.

Draft-age students in college will have a harder time staying in school for graduate work after Jan. 1, 1955. Col. Arthur A. Holmes, state selective service director, said the new college-deferment standards ordered by President Eisenhower will affect a large number in Michigan.

"It's going to hit a lot of them hard, but we don't know yet exactly how many," he said.

Now a student, to qualify for educational deferment, must be in the upper half of his class or score 70 on a special examination.

After Jan. 1, he will be required to be in the upper one-third of his class or score 75 on the tests. Hardest hit will be the big graduate school classes at University of Michigan and Michigan State College.

Latest figures leave little doubt that National Guardsmen performed a valuable public service when they joined hands with local and state police departments to patrol streets and highways during the Labor Day week-end. The record is now accumulated and speaks for itself.

Under the plan, 682 volunteer guardsmen offered to help from Friday until Tuesday morning. Of these, 61 were assigned to cities, villages and townships; 156 to sheriff's departments. The balance worked with the Michigan State Police.

Guardsmen, who received a daily allowance according to rank and expenses, worked the same shift as police officers.

State Police totals show that 31 were killed in 1953. 20 people were killed last year in 14 accidents, had only four deaths in four accidents this year. Of the four killed this year, two were in an isolated area in the Upper Peninsula. None of the fatal collisions occurred in the most heavily policed areas known as the "49 high-accident sections."

The 22 killed in 1954 compares with 31 killed in 1953. It looks more impressive when compared with the average highway death during the summer of 1953—23.5 dead people per each Friday through Sunday. The Labor Day week-end total was slightly lower and included an additional 24-hour period.

Nearly twice as many arrests were made for violation of highway regulations. In 1953 there were 2,802 drivers ticketed. This week-end 5,208 violators had reason to wish they had been more careful. This increase of 2,407 resulted from the higher number of police officers and from a policy in force since spring that called for more arresting as well as cautioning of traffic violators.

Violations during the Labor Day period fell into the same pattern of percentages as other periods: 46 per cent speeding; 15 per cent disregarding stop signs or signals; 10 per cent driving on wrong side of road; 7 per cent improper passing; 5 per cent drunk; the balance for miscellaneous reasons.

Not one adverse criticism reached state police headquarters. Questionnaires sent to sheriffs were returned with glowing compliments. One sheriff from a sparsely populated county pointed out gratefully that his force without guardsmen would have consisted of himself and one deputy.

State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs, was also warm in his comments. He explained that use of guardsmen permitted twice as many state police cars at night. Troopers patrol in pairs after dark. A guardsman could act as the second officer.

During the day, when troopers work alone, the second man increased efficiency because only one car needed to be called to a collision. Since it takes two officers to handle an accident, two cars are summoned in usual procedure.

"Our experience with the National Guard was good," said the Commissioner. "They stayed on the job, worked about 10 hours per shift and didn't complain."

England's sea power came into being with the defeat of the Spanish Armada.

Understanding What Is Read Cited as Freedom Bulwark

By Dr. Mollie Compere
Assistant Professor of Speech
Michigan State College

Knowing the truth that sets us free is the motto and the ideal of every group which has worked in any fashion toward a good world and a better life. Knowing how to read has been a basic necessity of that ideal. Those who wished to keep people slaves kept them from reading. When slaves can read, slavery is partially abolished—the first essential step has been taken. "Reading," "rhetoric" and "rhythm" were for a long time the three "R's" of all education and of the three, reading was first.

school system has seemingly created the impression that most people know how to read and that therefore all can or do know the truth. In general, reading is not taught beyond the fourth or fifth grade. We assume that children can read and let them shift for themselves.

The assumption that they can read is false in a majority of cases. Few people can actually read, and by that is meant a great deal more than merely calling words. It is not enough to know the meaning of individual words; it is not their relationships, in their shades enough even to be able to say or mean. They must be evaluated. They must be known in all real enough—that the reader can identify himself with the ideas for which they stand. A good reader is one who can accept or reject content readily and intelligently.

One of the necessary methods of learning good reading is the oral reading method which is called Oral Interpretation. This means that the reader must first find the meaning and then share that meaning with listeners. The little black marks on the printed page come alive only through the understanding of the reader; the meaning is imprisoned until it is set free by the mind and voice.

Every person of every age and grade needs to read aloud constantly. If he is taught Oral Interpretation he is taught to share all the treasures of the world. Words become jewels of worth, tools for use, weapons of defense when they are shaped into being by good oral reading. Ideas become the property of the reader more readily when sound. Truth is more readily identified and lived when the form of its expression is shaped into being by word of mouth.

The color and fire and loveliness of the imagery is made more apparent when material is read aloud. Poetry was written to be read aloud and loses much of its color, rhythm and music unless it is spoken. Plays and stories can come alive through the use of the voice; the drama, suspense, fire, laughter and tears are more readily apparent and vicariously shared in oral reading.

No person at any age can afford to cease studying how to read, because that is a sure source of truth and power and beauty. Oral Interpretation is taught so that all people, old and young, may possess the entire wealth of the world's books. This method of reading develops individual personality and helps equip our civilization for progress. The method or oral reading is a sure check on the understanding of all students and is a positive way of enriching the content.

Safety Campaign Urges Winterizing Your Auto Now

Don't wait for icy streets before getting your car ready for winter, Chief of Police George W. Doe warned motorists yesterday. He also reminded all drivers that President Eisenhower has declared Dec. 15 as "S-D Day," the date on which it is hoped the public will be so careful that no serious accidents will occur.

"We join President Ike and urge all citizens to cooperate on Safe Driving Day, and show what can be done when everybody cares and tries especially hard. Then we'd like to continue trying 365 days a year," the Chief declared.

"This pleasant fall weather lures lots of people into a sense of false security," he said. "They think it will last forever. But it won't. All motorists know that, yet every year the first snow finds thousands of them unprepared. It might even occur on S-D Day."

It's lots easier to have brakes, headlights and other mechanical features of the car checked before the cold weather rush starts, Chief Doe pointed out. But he added that getting the car ready for winter means more than changing the oil and grease and putting in anti-freeze.

"It's just as important to check safety factors of vision and traction," he said. "Live rubber windshield wiper blades that do not streak, defrosters in working order and good headlights are all vital for adequate vision in winter rains, fogs, smogs, sleet, and snow."

"And for safer traction on ice or snow, there's nothing like a good pair of tire chains. National Safety Council tests proved that. And I mean full chains, not those emergency units you snap on for temporary help."

"Too much dependence cannot be placed in some of the so-called winterized tires, he said, particularly on hard-packed snow or ice. Also, he said, the inertia or gyro-type of anti-skid devices did not show up at all well in National Safety Council tests.

Michigan's prisons are bulging at the seams and everyone wants to do something about it. "That's the trouble. Everyone has a different idea on how to solve the problem," said Rep. Adrian de Boom (R-Owosso). DeBoom represents one of the major legislative groups. They have separate and sometimes conflicting plans about the prisons. It is now a matter of how much money they will cost the taxpayers.

Other legislators figure a 600-man prison at Ionia, an addition to Ionia State Reformatory, will be a stop-gap for a few years. To that end, they appropriated $100,000 for new prison plans and specified that it should not cost more than $2,650,000.

"We won't get a 600-man prison for that kind of money," said Corrections Director Gus Harrison.

Building officials in the Capitol suggest that the construction cost will go somewhere near $4,000,000, and still not give the prisons the extra space they need.

Telephone users face the chance they will pay more for their calls in the next few months. Michigan Bell Telephone Co. is before the Public Service Commission for another rate increase, this time $22,000,000 a year. Company spokesmen loathe the big figures and suggest that it be explained as three cents a day per telephone.

Some cities are fighting the proposed increase, figuring that rates already are pretty high, but the company has said it is not getting the profit to which it is entitled, 6.5 per cent on its investment.

The same rate request was turned down last May 11 by the commission.

Shortly after, Michigan Bell became tangled in a labor dispute which ended when the company agreed to increase wages. That's why it's back with the same petition.

In addition, company spokesmen say that the profit margin is so thin that investors are not buying their stock. They display reports from other utilities and industries to back up their position.

Assistant Attorney General Robert J. Derengowski won a point, however. He rammed through a motion which will empower the commission—two Democrats and one Republican—to expand the consideration to determine whether the company's existing rates are too high.

"We will make our findings known when we make the decision on the rate increase," said Chairman John H. McCarthy.

"Here we go round the mulberry tree" is correct. Mulberries don't grow on bushes.

HERE'S HOW...

MAKE A COLLAPSIBLE SAWHORSE

A sturdy, but collapsible, sawhorse, or a pair of them, will find many uses—for carpentry or as legs for a picnic table, or work table. The collapsible feature makes it possible to store the sawhorses along a garage or tool-shed wall in a space only 6 inches deep.

The sawhorses shown here can be made with just hammer and saw, using 2 by 4's for the legs and bar, and 1-inch lumber for the bracing. The bar, with its 1-inch blocking, fits snugly into the top of the legs. The only tricky feature is cutting the ends of the legs at the proper angles. For the dimensions shown below, the angles may be developed from the detail in the circles. (Shaded areas are sawed out.)

To make a sawhorse of different height, first draw the members to scale on cross-section paper, using the construction principles shown below. The scale drawing will show how to cut the angles.

Eight penny common nails are adequate for the job.

The clubs from this area who sent representatives to the Rows Corners session yesterday are Barton Light, Chelsea Homemakers, Freedom Ideal Homemakers, Jerusalem Homemakers, Manchester, North Sharon, Rogers Corners, Rows Corners, Sharon, South Sylvan and Sylvan clubs.

The fourth in the series of leader training sessions will be held Monday, Nov. 22, from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m., in Superior Town Hall. Clubs to be represented there are all in the eastern part of the county.

Mrs. Anna B. Brown, Washtenaw county Home Demonstration agent, pointed out that if local leaders were unable to attend the sessions designated for their own clubs they could contact her office in Ann Arbor and make arrangements to attend one of the others.

The lesson "Take It Easy," is planned to save time and energy in doing work in the kitchen.

The front and rear of one car and the grill on another car were damaged in a three-car collision on US-12, just west of M-92, at 11:40 a.m. Saturday. It was reported in Chelsea Police department records. No one was injured. THE 1955 BUICK

New thriller in Style-Power-Performance

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

A BRIGHT NEW FRESHNESS greets your eyes and tells you: Buick's done it again.

You see it in the bold distinction of that gleaming Wide-Screen Grille. You see it in the rakish sweep of the rear-end contours. You see it in the whole fore-and-aft newness of fleet-lined grace that marks Buick the beauty thrill of 1955.

New horsepower—up to 236

You learn more when you get the power story. Up to new peaks go the horsepower of every Buick V8 engine—a wallowing 188 hp in the low-price SPECIAL—a mighty 236 hp in the CENTURY, SUPER and ROADMASTER.

And it's new, more responsive, far abler power you can literally feel as you go.

But even bigger Buick news for 1955 is something more than style and power. It's what the "variable pitch propeller" now has done for Dynaflo Drive.*

Up goes performance—and gas mileage too

When you find it necessary to push the pedal to the floor board, you do more than call on the greatest high-compression V8 power in Buick history.

You do what a pilot does when he heads his plane down a runway.

You do in oil what he does in air—you cut down your take-off time by using "variable pitch propellers."

In this case, the propeller blades are inside the Dynaflo unit. But they're engineered to swivel or change their "pitch" just like plane propellers—and with the same result: one pitch for getaway, another pitch for gas-saving fuel efficiency.

And what you get in the way of instantaneous safety-surge with absolute smoothness, you can only believe when you feel it.

This you have to try

Of course, we want you to come and see the trend-setting new Buicks—look into the betterments in gasoline mileage that add new thrift to these spectacular cars.

But this year, "seeing" is only the beginning. So—while you join the crowds viewing the new Buicks this week end, make a date to get behind the wheel as soon as you possibly can. We promise you the thrill of the year.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Granny Drives
But Won't "Shift"

See Grandma Taylor parking her 1934 Franklin out front the other day. Next as a pin, radiator and hub caps gleaming—the whole car is as shiny as the day she bought it 20 years ago.

Then I stopped and looked again—for there, hanging on the spare tire was a sign: "This car NOT for sale."

Asked Granny what was going on, "Joe," she says, "It's this car for old cars. Everybody wants to buy my Franklin. But it has served for years and it's not for sale at any price."

From where I sit, it's strictly the new cars for me—but Grandma Taylor, and others, are certainly welcome to their "old faithfuls." It's simply a question of preference. Same with a choice of beverages. For instance, I like a temperate glass of beer with supper. You may prefer coffee. Fine! The important thing is that we respect each other's choice—and "ride along smoothly" together.

Recent Changes in Social Security Law Affect Survivor Benefits of Widows

The new social security law has a special provision for the survivors of the deceased workers who were not eligible to collect benefits before because the workers weren't considered insured under the old law. If this was the case of the deceased breadwinner in your family, you will be interested in the story of the young widow who lost her husband before Sept. 1, 1950. Because she came to her social security office, she will receive the benefits to which she is entitled. You'll want to take definite action to get the survivors benefits to which you may be entitled under the new law.

A few months after her husband's death in 1948 the young widow paid her first visit to the social security office. She wasn't sure how long her husband had worked in a job under social security or if he would be insured. A few days after the local social security office checked their Baltimore files they told her that because her husband hadn't worked in his job under social security long enough, neither she nor her children were entitled to benefit checks.

For this young widow and for thousands like her who lost their loved ones after Dec. 31, 1949 and before Sept. 1, 1950, the 1954 amendments will make a big difference. Her husband is now considered fully insured under the new law because he had about a year and a half of work under social security. She has applied for survivors benefits for herself and the children and will be getting them from Sept. 1954 until her twins are 18, unless she marries again. Under the provision, the eligible survivor of a person who died before Sept. 1, 1950, and who is now considered fully insured by the law, may not collect benefits for the months before September, 1954. And no lump sum death payments may be collected by these survivors.

The new law applies only to those survivors of workers who died after 1939 and before Sept. 1, 1950. Dependent widowers and divorced wives may not collect survivors benefits under this provision.

If you are the survivor of a worker who died before Sept. 1, 1950, and if you weren't eligible for social security benefits before, you may be now. Maybe you didn't apply before or waited too long to apply for the benefits to which you were entitled. Under the new law you may apply for your survivors benefits until Sept. 1956.

You are urged to apply for the benefits now if you think you are eligible.

Measure Quantity of Softener Needed For Hard Water

How do you determine how much water softener to use for laundering?

It isn't easy says Lucile Ketchum—Extension-home-management specialist at Michigan State College. But Miss Ketchum gives you these suggestions which may help.

First, you need to know how hard the water is. If you live in a town or city, your water commissioner can tell you. In the country, you can usually find out about getting water tested for hardness from your local health department.

A kind of general rule of thumb—not an exact guide—is to use about one-fourth one-third of a cup of softener in an eight to ten-gallon capacity washer for water of medium hardness (five to ten grains).

For hard water (11 to 20 grains) about a cupful of softener would probably be required.

And remember—you need this amount in the first rinse—before the deep rinse for an automatic washer—as well as in the wash water.

These figures are not exact because requirements will vary depending upon the hardness of water, the amount of water your washer holds, and the kind of softener you choose.

Follow directions on the water softener package and experiment until you find what seems to be the right amount. Then measure that amount each time, advises Miss Ketchum.

When Hitler said the "Nazis march while the democracies talk," he didn't know what he was saying. He forgot that communicating through language is man's greatest accomplishment. People as well as nations must express themselves. When he made that remark he, himself, was relying on speech to accomplish his aims. His words were speaking louder than his actions. Thinking people usually learn that the ability to communicate effectively is as important to all of us as anything else in the world.

One of America's great educators said, "The inability to communicate effectively has caused more people to fail in life than any other one thing and the ability to communicate effectively has brought more success in life than any other one thing."

All of us need to improve our speech. Some of us think we can avoid exposing our inability to express ourselves by side-stepping public speaking. When we do this we are as misguided as the ostrich who hides his head in the sand to keep from being seen. Every day we talk in our homes, in our offices, on our jobs, in our clubs, at church, or with our neighbors and friends. We are constantly paying the price for the inadequacies of our poor speech and reaping the benefits from the effectiveness of our good speech.

Everyone should have some training in speech. You can receive this training in your home or in your club as well as in the classroom. The important thing is that you make an effort to help yourself. You are always improving your speech or allowing it to deteriorate. You can't be static.

Seven simple rules are recommended for improving your daily speech:

First: Learn to hear yourself as others hear you. Listen to your self-talk. After saying something to a friend, remember how it sounded and think how you would react to the statement if you were the listener. Better still, have a recording made of your voice as you speak in conversation or in an informal interview.

Second: Speak simply and directly. Be yourself by avoiding any affectation. Do your best to convey your own thoughts as clearly and effectively as you can.

Third: Make sure you are understood. Speak distinctly. Avoid distractions such as putting your hand over your mouth when you talk or drumming on the table or fumbling with an object.

Fourth: Develop an adequate vocabulary. While it is good to have a large vocabulary it is more important to use well the words you know. For example, it is infinitely better taste to say that a man has "strength" or "fortitude" than to use the crude, worn term "guts."

Don't say one thing when you mean another. Some people try to alter their speech just as McCarthy's staff altered the picture of Private Schine and Secretary Stevens. Honesty does not mean brutality, nor does it imply lack of diplomacy. Some excuse their sharp cutting language by insisting they must be honest.

Sixth: Learn to listen to others. Avoid monopolizing the conversation. Remember that others like to be heard, but more important, you can learn through listening.

Seventh: Relate what you have to say to the listener himself. People can understand better in terms of their own activities and interests. With this in mind, some experts in human relations insist on hearing what others say about a problem before they speak. Only in terms of the listener's point of view can they make their own ideas clear.

THE FORWARD LOOK

"7 top fashion designers find Chrysler Corporation's 1955 cars a stimulating new concept of good design."

At a special advance showing in New York, the celebrated fashion designers, above, saw a line of motor cars that was bright and alive and completely new. And what they saw, you can see soon!

They saw Chrysler Corporation's new 1955 cars—Plymouth, Dodge, DeSoto, Chrysler, Imperial—the cars with the brilliant all-new concept of style we call THE FORWARD LOOK.

These experts found THE FORWARD LOOK a design that matches the moods, needs and attitudes of today's modern-minded motor car owners ... and does it in a fresh and imaginative way.

They admired the all-new contemporary design, the long, low lines that America's motorists have been eager for. They were struck by the look of motion these cars give even when they are standing still.

The beauty and astonishing visibility offered by the New-Horizon windshields delighted them—for these are the only fully swept-back, fully wrapped-around windshields on any American cars today.

They were attracted to the rich fabrics and the compelling new colors. They found wonderful convenience in the unique new position of the PowerFlite Range Selector.

THE FORWARD LOOK that intrigued these famous designers will no doubt intrigue you, too. We believe you will find in these cars just what you've wanted, just what you've asked for and hoped for in your next motor car. In a few days, you will be able to see THE FORWARD LOOK. Don't miss it!

The bride's gown of imported lace over satin and nylon featured accented-pleated tulle trimming on the long-sleeved, lace jacket and approximately 12 inches of pleated tulle showing at the bottom of the skirt which was caught up to form four large scallops. Her veil was fingertip length and was held in place with a sweetheart-style headpiece of satin and lace, trimmed with pearlized sequins. She carried a white Bible and an arrangement of stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

MAYFLOWER CHAPTER

Friday, Nov. 12, Mrs. William Geddes' group served a dessert luncheon at 1:30 p.m., to the members of Mayflower Chapter of the Congregational church. The luncheon took place in the church dining room and was followed by a regular meeting in charge of Miss Nina Belle Wurster, president of the group.

Miss Bertha Spaulding presented the opening devotional service and Mrs. John Hale was in charge of the program on the topic, "Stewardship." In her talk, Mrs. Hale emphasized that Christian stewardship of time, talent and material wealth must begin at home if it is to bear results in schools, communities and churches.

LYNDON FARM BUREAU

Lyndon Farm Bureau members held their November meeting in Lyndon Town Hall Friday evening, with Vice-Chairman Emory Pickell in charge.

Lawrence Shanahan led the evening's discussion on the topic "The Job of a General Farm Organization."

Games and visiting were the diversion during the social hour. Refreshments were served by Mrs.

John O'Connor and Miss Frances McIntee.

Hostesses for the annual Christmas dinner at 7 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 11, in Lyndon Town Hall are to be Mrs. Guy Barton and Mrs. W. C. Boyce.

Mrs. Lauryn White opened the program period with a devotional service during which she read the 25th Psalm and led the group in unison prayer.

The business session included election of officers; plans for the dinners to be served during the month; and voting to exchange gifts and have a Christmas program at the next meeting, scheduled for Dec. 9.

New officers elected are Mrs. Leonard Eder, president; Mrs. Stanley Beal, vice-president; Mrs. Kenneth Luncman, treasurer; and Mrs. Wilbur Werner, secretary.

Toys contributed at the meeting are to be sent to the Delmo Project in Tennessee, it was announced. Mrs. Lauryn White was in charge of the toy ingathering.

November Birthdays Honored Tuesday At Methodist Home

Nine residents of the Methodist Home were honored at a joint party during the noon dinner hour at the Home Tuesday in observance of their birthdays which occur during November.

Among the nine are Mrs. Margaret Harper and Miss Lottie Hankinson whose birthdays occur on the same day, Tuesday, Nov. 23. Mrs. Harper will be 91 years old and Miss Hankinson 90.

Others whose birthdays were celebrated are Mrs. Mary Glass, Mrs. Sarah Harrison, Mrs. Florence Higley, Mrs. Mary Wood and the Misses Rose Colby, Lucy Pifer and Mabel Kerr.

The table where the honored ladies were seated with members of the staff, was centered with a cornucopia of fruit and vegetables. A brown and yellow color scheme was carried out by means of corn-shaped candles and other decorations. The dessert and salad were also planned in the two colors.

Each of the nine honored ladies received a toilet article as a gift from the Chelsea Home Friends of the Methodist Detroit Conference.

Wednesday of last week 12 ladies who live at the Home and who reached their 80th birthday this year, celebrated the occasion by dining out together.

A feature of the dinner was a birthday cake especially decorated for them by Robert Geer. The cake represented an open book inscribed with the words "Happy Birthday" and the names of the 12 ladies.

SYLVAN FARM BUREAU

The job of a General Farm Organization was the discussion topic at the Sylvan Farm Bureau meeting Friday evening at the J. V. Burg home. The discussion was led by Gordon VanRiper of Lansing, in the absence of his father, Everett Van Riper, who was a patient at St. Joseph's Mercy hospital, Ann Arbor. The meeting was presided by a pot-luck supper.

Hosts and hostesses for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Anton Nielsen, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kalmbach and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kalmbach. There were 80 members and guests present.

The business session was in charge of Calvin Clark who announced that he and his family will be leaving soon to make their home on a farm near Bradenton, Fla. His resignation as president necessitated election of a vice-president to fill the vacancy caused by elevation of Roy Kalmbach, former vice-president, to the office of president.

Carl Heller was named vice-president.

At the close of the meeting the Calvin Clarks were presented with a gift.

Guests at the meeting included the Gordon Van Ripers of Lansing, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Riemenschneider and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Widmayer.
