

Enrollment of 1,200 Seen For Schools

Elementary Grades Will Each Have Three Sections

An enrollment of 750 elementary pupils and 450 secondary pupils is expected on the opening day of school, Sept. 6, according to Charles Cameron, school superintendent.

All elementary grades will have at least three sections and it has been announced that all of the regular classrooms in both elementary schools will house classes as well as the art and music room in North Elementary school. In addition, Rogers Corners, Jerusalem and Lima Center rural schools will be operated.

Rogers Corners school will house the kindergarten, first and second grade pupils from Rogers Corners and Jerusalem schools; Jerusalem school will provide classroom space for third, fourth, fifth and sixth grade pupils from Jerusalem and Rogers Corners school; and the Lima Center school will be used for kindergarten, first, second and third grade pupils of Lima Center and McLaren schools.

Other pupils of these districts and the pupils of the remaining rural school districts will be transported to the schools in Chelsea.

Textbooks and workbooks are supplied by the school district for the elementary grades, but elementary pupils furnish their own paper, pencils and crayons. Pupils in grades 7 through 12 purchase their own books at the high school.

Pupils who attended the Chelsea public schools last year and the rural schools which were annexed this spring and summer do not need to register until the opening day of school. Only children in families who did not attend the above schools should register before Sept. 1.

It was also pointed out that all pupils who this year will be ninth graders but who have not made their subject selections should do so before Sept. 1.

The bus schedules as operated last year will be for the first week of school. The bus schedules for the pupils in the recently annexed districts are to be published next week. The schedules on these runs have not been timed as yet.

Rural kindergarten pupils will attend the morning sessions, including Jerusalem and Lima Center, and the town kindergarten pupils will attend the afternoon sessions. All kindergarten classes, except those in Rogers Corners and Lima Center schools, will be held in South Elementary school.

Transportation of the kindergarten pupils, both morning and afternoon sessions, and in Jerusalem and Lima Center schools will have to be furnished by the parents for the first week of school.

The bus schedules for these pupils will be established during the first week of school when it is known where the children live.

Community Action Urged To Combat Hessian Fly Threat

Washtenaw county wheat growers should adopt the motto "Fight Flies in Fifty-five." Of course every wheat grower knows we are referring to Hessian Flies which caused many thousands of dollars loss in this year's wheat crop.

There are two main reasons why the population of Hessian Flies is now extremely high. In recent years we have had what is often called late falls which has been very conducive to fly activity, even after what normally is fly free date. Second—more and more farmers have been planting before fly free date.

Dr. Johnson, County Agricultural Agent states he has been in many fields that yielded well and was able to find some flies. What may have been minor or no damage in '55 may be severe damage in '56, if precautions aren't taken.

Dr. Ray Jones, Entomology Specialist, Michigan State University suggests the following practices:

1. Plant wheat after "fly free date" Sept. 18.
2. Avoid if possible planting wheat following a crop of wheat, rye or winter barley.
3. Delay planting 7 to 10 days after the "fly free date" if wheat must be planted on land following wheat, rye or winter barley. Johnson suggests all wheat be planted 7 to 10 days after Sept. 18 because the fly population in Washtenaw county is very high.

4. Avoid tillage practices that leave stubble or volunteer wheat exposed on fields or near fields to be planted to wheat.

5. Use the plow rather than other machinery for preparing lands to be planted to wheat. Careful turning down of stubble is essential.

Controlling Hessian Fly is a community effort and all farmers must work together. If even more severe damage is to be avoided in '56.

The lower photo shows Arlene Lesser with her reserve champion Angus. Shown with them is Fred Schumm who bought both animals at the steer auction Friday afternoon, paying 35c per pound for the champion which weighed 1,080, and 40c per pound for the reserve champion which tipped the scales at 940 pounds.

Import Permit Needed To Bring Wild Pets to State

Mail order houses, game farms and individuals outside of Michigan, selling wild animals as pets are creating a problem in the state, according to Donley Boyer, conservation officer here, who reminds would-be purchasers that wild birds and animals cannot be imported into Michigan without first obtaining an importation permit from the State Conservation Department.

Such importation is possible when the purchaser obtains a free permit from the Conservation Department's Field Administrative Division, Lansing, 26, Mich.

Conservation officers have found it necessary to enforce the regulation several times in recent weeks to the unhappiness of persons who obtained wild pets without first fulfilling the requirements of the state law, it was pointed out.

Conservation Officer Boyer said several similar instances have occurred in this area recently. He explained that the ruling had been made for the protection of Michigan wildlife and applying for the necessary permit sets in motion an investigation into the possibility that animals to be imported are coming from states which have quarantines because of communicable animal diseases.

Boyer stressed the importance of applying for the necessary permit before importing wild animals or birds.

Additional Gas Heating Permits To Be Approved

Michigan Consolidated Gas Company will begin adding a number of space heating customers in this area just as soon as the necessary approval is received from the Federal Power Commission, M. W. McClure, branch manager said today.

A total of 1,474 heating customers will be added in the Ann Arbor District, which includes Chelsea, McClure said. He pointed out that Michigan Consolidated was presently serving as many space heating customers as it could under FPC orders which regulate Michigan Wisconsin Pipe Line company, the local utility's major supplier. McClure said permission from FPC has already been requested for an increase of 45,000 space heating customers throughout the company's service areas which was approved last week by the Michigan Public Service Commission.

"We can go ahead with adding our new heating customers just as soon as the FPC acts," McClure said. The company expects to provide space heating to all persons who applied for gas heat prior to June 15, 1955. This will include some 846 applicants in this district. The remaining permits will be available for new homes, the Michigan Public Service Commission ruled.

The Michigan Public Service Commission also approved a slight increase in rates for the Gas Company last week. The increase in this area amounts to about 38 cents a month for space heating customers and about 17 cents a month for those who use gas for cooking and water heating.

Plans Told for 4-H Activities Building

Announcement has been made by the Washtenaw Farm Council of plans for a $200,000 4-H youth activities building to be erected on the former Fairgrounds property at Ann Arbor. The building will be situated on six acres of leased property located at the north edge of the former Fairgrounds, now known as Veterans Memorial Park which is owned by the city of Ann Arbor. The location is near Dexter avenue.

It is believed the proposed new building will be the first ever erected to be devoted exclusively to 4-H and rural youth activities.

According to preliminary plans, the building would be two stories high, of brick, steel and concrete construction, and will contain an arena for showing livestock. Bleachers are to be included for 2,500 spectators. Size of the building will be approximately 180 x 130 feet.

Other features will be an exhibition hall, office space, snack bar and caretaker's apartment.

The Washtenaw Farm Council plans to conduct an extensive campaign among industrial, farm and private groups to raise funds for the building, according to the announcement.

The farm group has a trust fund of about $70,000, which was set up following sale of the Fairgrounds property to the city.

Preliminary plans for the building are being drawn up by architect Ralph S. Gerganoff of Ypsilanti.

Dr. Hass has practiced dentistry here the past six years and was serving his second term as village councilman and county president pro tem. He has submitted his resignation as a member of the Council.

In Seattle he will be instructing in dentistry at the University of Washington and will also be in practice with Dr. Charles Meyer, a former classmate.

Pilkington. He and his wife and 13-year-old son, John, will be moving here by the first of the month. Dr. Thomas has purchased the Hass home at 385 Washington street and the family will live there.

Dr. Thomas received his B.S. degree from Middlebury College in Vermont; a master's degree in physics in 1944 and a doctor of dental surgery degree in 1949, both from the University of Michigan.

He had taught physics in secondary schools in New England, in Middlebury College and at the University of Michigan and practiced dentistry in Fair Lawn, N. J., prior to receiving his commission with the U. S. Dental Corps in August, 1953.

Dr. Thomas was stationed in Stuttgart, Germany, for two years and was named there for two years by Mrs. Thomas and their son.

Mrs. Thomas holds a bachelor of science degree in dental hygiene from Columbia University which she received in June 1954. QUEEN OF THE FAIR—Helen Jane Morgan, a beautiful brunette, was chosen queen of the 1955 Chelsea Community Fair at the Saturday evening program which concluded the four-day fair. A sophomore at Chelsea High school, she rode on the sophomore class float as the class candidate for queen. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morgan.

Red Cross Seeks To Join Local Community Chest

Representatives of the Washtenaw county chapter of the American Red Cross, here to work out details for participation in the Community Chest fund campaign as agency members this fall, attended the meeting of the Chelsea Community Chest board of directors Wednesday evening. The three Red Cross representatives are Mrs. Ethel Atkinson, executive secretary, Lawrence Oulmet, county chairman, and William G. Hayes, member of the board of directors of the Washtenaw county chapter.

Wednesday's meeting was held in the Council room of the Municipal building with S. R. Becker, chairman of the board, presiding. The meeting was preceded by a meeting of the campaign committee with 16 people present.

The Red Cross application for agency membership was turned over to the Community Chest's budget committee where remaining details are to be arranged.

Seven agency memberships were officially approved at Wednesday's meeting as follows: Boy Scouts of America; Salvation Army; Girl Scouts; Michigan United Fund (formerly known as United Health and Welfare Fund); Chelsea Social Service club; Chelsea Instrumental Music Department of Chelsea schools; and Chelsea Recreation Council. The budget committee is to recommend the amount of appropriations for each agency member.

Application was also made at Wednesday's meeting relative to help in uniforming the junior band composed of pupils in the 7th, 8th and 9th grades. The proposal stated that approximately 35 capes would be needed for the purpose. The request was made by Mrs. W. L. Geer and Mrs. Clair Smith representing the Chelsea Band Boosters organization. The application was submitted to the budget committee for study.

The matter of a possible appropriation for a visiting nurse program in Chelsea was tabled following receipt of a letter from Mrs. Maxwell G. Sweet who stated she was personally unable to devote the necessary time for administrative work necessary for such a program. Since by-laws of the Chelsea Community Chest restrict it to collection agencies without power to administer the funds allotted to agency members, a possible appropriation for the visiting nurse program must await an administrative set-up before it may be considered.

Mrs. Sweet had appeared at an earlier meeting of the Community Chest board of directors and broached the subject of the visiting nurse program for Chelsea.

Present plans call for the fall Community Chest campaign to be held early in October, with Alfred Mayer as campaign committee chairman.

Assisting Mayer will be Lowell Davidson in charge of the plant and industry division; M. W. McClure who is to head the business and professional division; Mrs. Warren Daniels, clubs and lodges; and Mrs. Walter Mohrlock, in charge of rural areas.

The next regular meeting of the Community Chest board of directors is scheduled for Sept. 21.

Attendance at Fair Hits All-Time High For Annual Event

National Champion Team Wins Horse Pulling Contest

The horse pulling contest Thursday afternoon offered a surprise feature when the national champion team, the 5,000-pound Fowler Brothers team of Montgomery, appeared to take part and to win first prize by pulling a 3,200-pound load the full distance. The first prize was $50.

Next in line was Lawrence Gier's 4,470-pound team from Oasah which won second prize of $40 for pulling the 3200 pounds 24 feet 2 inches.

Jacobs & Arbuckle of Clayton, with their 4,200-pound team, pulled the same load 18 feet 6 inches to win third prize of $30.

Next was Bud Sager of Saline, whose team weighed 3,800 pounds and pulled 3,000 pounds 19 feet 2 inches for fourth place and a $20 prize.

Clayton Woodard of East Lansing had a 3950-pound team that took fifth prize of $15 for pulling 3,000 pounds 17 feet 6 inches; and Robert Steimer of Jackson, whose 3,800-pound team pulled 2,700 pounds 20 feet 8 inches, won the $15 sixth prize.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce float won top honors in the Community Fair parade Saturday, competing for the prize against a number of well-decorated entries.

Selecting as their theme, "Community Builders," the JCC featured three of their principal projects of 1955—the outstanding Chelsea area farmer award, represented by a model barn and tractor; the teen-age rodeo represented on the float by a model steer; and the Cub Scouts with Tommy Tuttle appearing in full dress uniform.

The three projects were featured on the front part of the float while at the back, in a setting featuring a summer beach scene under swaying palm trees Mary Lou Ghidotti reigned as Miss JCC.

The JCC group indicated later that winning first prize showed that a great amount of work was expended and said entire credit for the achievement was due Claude Arnett, chairman, and his committee who were in charge of the project.

Second prize in the float contest went to the sophomore class of Chelsea High school and third prize to the junior class. Fourth place was a tie between the Chamber of Commerce and Central Fire floats.

Judges for the floats were Mrs. Howard Holmes of Ann Arbor, Mrs. Kenneth Letsinger of Dexter and Lyle Widmayer of Manchester. Chosen as queen of the Community Fair and announced at Saturday night's program, was Helen Jane Morgan, brown-haired, brown-eyed sophomore at Chelsea High school, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morgan. She was queen on the sophomore class float which won second prize in the parade contest.

Others who participated as queen entrants and the floats on which they rode were Barbara J. Collins, junior class float; Mary Lou Ghidotti, JCC float; Norene Packard, Chelsea Fire Department; Jean Young, Central Fire; Donna Hinderer, Chamber of Commerce; and Isabella Arlene Puxton, senior class.

Judges in the queen contest were Sheriff Erwin Klager, William Myers of Milan and Mrs. C. W. Glenn of Stockbridge.

Mrs. Anton Nielsen and Mrs. John Brooks were judges in the tricycle and bicycle division of the parade and chose the following as prizewinners: Judy Aronson, Robert Horste and Frances Reed in the bicycle division, and Judy Sanderson, Nancy Carter and Robert Reed in the tricycle group.

Donald Albee, general chairman of the parade, said yesterday that he and his committee certainly appreciated the cooperation, not only of those who entered floats, bicycles and tricycles in competition, but everyone who participated. He mentioned especially the commercial and industrial vehicles, the comic additions, the large number of horses, and the fine contribution of music by the Chelsea High school band and the Waterloo band.

The parade was headed by the American Legion Color Guard in natty blue uniforms followed by the mounted color guard of the Chelsea High school band and the band itself.

Sheriff Erwin Klager, state police, Village President Maxwell G. Sweet and Council members, supervisors of Sylvan and neighboring townships all rode in the parade.

There were antique cars, new cars, toy autos, tricky bucking autos, school buses and the Chelsea Fire Department's old-time hose cart as well as Chelsea's new street sweeper.

Ideal weather prevailed for the evening program but the excessive heat during each of the four days proved uncomfortable to many. Record attendance as well as record exhibits of livestock were reported.

The popular tug of war between rural and village men, which took place Wednesday evening, was won by the farmers headed by Captain Leroy Heller. The losing team's captain was Franklin Sweeney.

Approximately 850 children were present to participate in the Children's Day program Wednesday. An attempt was made to list prizewinners in the various games and contests but it proved too much of a task with the large crowd on hand.

The professional grandstand entertainment Thursday and Friday was well received and Saturday night's crowd was another record breaker with interest added by giving prizes to the oldest man present—John Wenk, 83; to the oldest lady—Mrs. Thomas Howe; to Mrs. Eulalie Packard and to Mr. and Mrs. James Good of Ann Arbor, present with the most children—4 and 6, respectively; and to the youngest child present, the baby

Two Men Sentenced On Drinking Charges

James A. Childress, appearing in Municipal Court, Ann Arbor, on a drunk and disorderly charge was sentenced to two days in jail and ordered to pay $75 costs, according to Chelsea Police Department records.

Another Chelsea man was sentenced to five days in jail and assessed $50 fine and $15 costs by Justice of the Peace William Pritchard. If the fine and costs are not paid the sentence is to be 20 days in jail. The man, Paul Whitlock, was arrested Sunday on a charge of reckless driving and appeared in justice court Monday.

NEVER BEFORE in the American League's 55-year history has the pennant race gone this far with so many teams still in solid contention for the title.

Where in years gone by, two or at the very best three clubs still could be considered in the running at such a late stage, this year New York, Chicago, Cleveland, Boston and Detroit all remain in the thick of the fight.

Naturally, with five of eight teams fighting for the pennant, interest in the American League is much greater than in many previous campaigns.

The rugged dogfight has drawn attention almost completely away from the National League, where Brooklyn is making a run-away of the race, a situation completely reversed from a few years back when the Yankees were way out in front but five teams were blanketed out front in the senior circuit.

Powerhouse Gone

Several factors are responsible for the dramatic American loop race. For one thing, the Indians are not as strong as the champions of last year and the Yankees certainly are not the powerhouse of old.

For another, the Red Sox and the Tigers show vast improvement over last year, both at bat and on the mound.

In addition, Chicago is enjoying the natural improvement of an upcoming team of the past few years and even sixth-place Kansas City is vastly superior to the Philadelphia A's of 1934, knocking off the top teams frequently (consider the four straight they took from the Tigers recently.)

Not since 1916 has the race been as tense, but in that one it boiled down finally to Cleveland and Boston, with the Indians beating out the Red Sox in a playoff.

Before that, New York, Detroit and Cleveland were comparatively closely bunched in 1930, with the Yankees winning out over the Tigers in the final week.

Wasn't Around

Old time sports writers tell O'Diz that the 1908 pennant race was likewise close and exciting, but I can't report about that one. I wasn't around then.

But O'Diz can write plenty about this year's humdinger.

Casey Stengel tells me the Yankees are having their headaches because only Yogi Berra and Elton Howard are hitting consistently.

"It's hard to believe we're sixth in team batting," he says.

Pinky Higgins tells me that the Red Sox are up there because of the hitting and fielding of shortstop Billy Kins and first baseman Norm Zaichin, improved pitching and inspirational spark provided by Ted Williams.

Chicago has obtained needed batting power—through the addition of former Tigers Walt Dropo and Bob Nieman—to go with its fine pitching, speed and defense.

Cleveland is not doing as well as last year because the pitching has slackened and the power hitters are not connecting as often in the Hickory and Horsehide game.

Egg Cooler Means More 'A' Quality

The average egg storage on Michigan farms isn't cool enough. That's what Larry Dawson, a Michigan State University poultry research researcher, says. He found in a survey that the average egg holding room has a temperature of 73 degrees F.

That's 13 degrees higher than the thermometer should be, according to Dawson. So he is trying to develop a practical, inexpensive storage.

Working with a power company, Dawson and J. M. Moore had a test storage built early this year—large enough for eggs from a 400-hen flock.

The 20-cubic-foot cabinet was insulated with four inches of wood shavings. It is cooled with a reconditioned home refrigeration unit. Full cost of materials: $85. Cost per week to bring 75-degree air down to below 60: 17 cents.

Here are some of the results when eggs were marketed once a week during June of this year:

More than 70 per cent of the eggs from the cooler graded double A. Eggs in a basement the same length of time had only 27 per cent in that class. A feed room did just about as well as the basement for keeping egg quality.

Even in February, Dawson indicates, the cooler yielded a higher percentage of double A grade eggs than either the basement or the feed room—30 per cent as compared with 14 and 12 per cent, respectively.

The reason for higher quality eggs from the cooler: Constant humidity couldn't be maintained in the basement or feed room. Taking an average of the five months—January to June—the cooler yielded more than twice as many double A eggs as did the basement.

Would such a cooler pay? Dawson says a farmer can figure that out for himself. In June, for example, there was a spread of seven cents a dozen between A and

B eggs. And the more double A eggs coming from storage the more will be in the A grade when they reach the final customer.

The number of rooms required and the size of the rooms is of first concern when purchasing a home.

Hitler's Armored Car Will Be Displayed At State Fair

Adolph Hitler's personal armored automobile, the "Great Mercedes" will be shown at the Michigan State Fair in Detroit, Sept. 2-11.

For protection against assassins, the car has bullet-proof glass, one-half inch thick armor plate inside the regular heavy body, specially constructed pistol compartments, and a movable metal shield which can be raised or dropped out of sight.

The car is almost 20 feet long, has a capacity of 50 gallons and gets from three to four miles to the gallon.

could have saved $8,000 of the $6,000 the state spent for first plans for a dormitory at Ionia

State Reformatory.

"Eventually, this will save the state thousands of dollars and give us a better idea of projects before they are built," he said.

Michigan now has $100 million in buildings under construction.

The total architect fees are $5 million. With the building staff

Languis figures the state could have saved $1 million.

It may be too late now to keep your house cool during the 1955 summer, but the state health department came up with a two-way idea that can help in the winter, too.

Experts assured people they wouldn't be overburdened if they believed the house was cool during the heat of the day and hot as blazes after the sun went down.

Dr. Albert E. Houtz, state health commissioner, said it happens that way because of "heat lag."

It takes hours for the heat from the sun to penetrate the roof, work down through the ceiling and bounce into the first floor living quarters.

By the time the sun sets, the heat is reflected from the ceiling and it's hot inside and cool outside.

The same principle works in reverse in the winter, he said.

His experts recommend a full type insulation between the joists

in the roof to reflect the heat and cold back outside which permits families to regulate the temperature inside.

"An idea. And it's free, from the

Bonnie June Anthony,
Norman Wallace
Wed in Manchester

Bonnie June Anthony, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Anthony of Manchester, formerly of Chelsea, and Norman Wallace, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wallace of Manchester, were married in St. Mary's Catholic church at Manchester, at 10 a.m. Aug. 13. Rev. Fr. Walter Henes, of St. Joseph's Catholic church, Wyandotte, former pastor of the Manchester church, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bersuder, accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Mary Swank, sang "Ave Maria," "Ave Maria Stella" and "Panis Angelicus."

For her wedding the bride wore a gown of white rosepointe lace and nylon tulle over slipper satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice of the lace. The V-neckline was outlined with pleated tulle and scalloped lace trimmed with sequins and seed pearls. An apron-effect panel of lace trimmed the front of the fully-gathered, tiered skirt which extended into a chapel train. Her veil, in fingertip length, was of French illusion and was held in place with a lace cap trimmed with pearls and sequins. Her bouquet was a cascade of white roses and fugi mums.

Mrs. Elizabeth Anderson, of Saline, for her role as matron of honor, was gowned in blue crystal-ette over tulle, styled with a fitted, strapless bodice of pleated blue crystal-ette, a cummerbund of pleated white crystal-ette, and a full, ballerina-length skirt. Her ensemble was completed with matching blue bolero, a crown-shaped headpiece of sheer white crystal-ette trimmed with sequins, and a bouquet of white fugi mums and blue maline.

Mary Walz, Mary Ann Wallace, cousin of the bridegroom, Mary Lannon, Mrs. Marion Ahrens and Joan Troz, all of Manchester, were bridesmaids. They were dressed alike in white crystal-ette with blue cummerbunds and wore white headpieces. Their outfits were fashioned to match the style of the gown worn by the matron of honor. Their flowers also matched hers.

Linda Platt of Columbus, Ohio, cousin of the bride, in a floor-length gown of light blue crystal-ette, was flower girl. Her gown featured a fitted bodice with a Peter Pan collar and she wore matching mits and a crown headpiece of matching crystal-ette.

James White of Manchester, served as ringbearer. Men in the wedding party included Leo Lentz as best man and Ronald Whittington, Harold Breitenwieser, Ekron Lamb, Robert Ahrens and Richard Widmayer, who acted as ushers.

The bride's mother, in light blue crystal-ette with white accessories, and the bridegroom's mother, in light blue crystal-ette with white accessories, each had a white orchid corsage.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, out-of-town guests present being from Columbus and Logan, Ohio, Jackson and Monroe.

When the couple left for a week's trip to Niagara Falls and Windsor, the bride was wearing a zebra-brown winter cotton dress with white accessories and a corsage of white gardenias. The couple will make their home at 211 Riverside Drive, Manchester.

The bride is a graduate of Manchester High school and is employed at Ann Arbor Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Mr. Wallace, who is manager of the Mings Market, in Manchester, also graduated from Manchester High school.

The United States produces the greatest amount of iron and steel in the world.

Texas breeds the greatest number of Jersey cattle.

NEWLYWEDS 50 YEARS AGO—Mr. and Mrs. Erle Notten are shown here as they appeared at the time of their wedding, Aug. 31, 1915, and as they appeared last week as they were planning to hold open house for friends, relatives and neighbors next Sunday in observance of their golden wedding anniversary. Their plans for the celebration have been cancelled for the present, awaiting their complete recovery from injuries suffered in an automobile accident near their home as they were returning from church last Sunday.

Local Delegates Named To Take Part in VFW Auxiliary National Encampment

Mrs. Mary Kniss and Mrs. Ren Hutzel, elected delegates from Chelsea Auxiliary No. 4076, will go to Boston, Aug. 28 to Sept. 2 to take part in the 42nd National Encampment of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars. They plan to leave Saturday by plane. Mrs. Thomas F. Holz, of Philadelphia, national president, will preside over the sessions, which will be held in Boston's Symphony hall. Encampment headquarters will be the Hotel Sheraton-Plaza. Mrs. Hutzel has been appointed by the national president to serve as an assistant guard during the encampment.

General Charles W. Christensen, New York, president of the American-Korean Foundation, will address the delegates on Tuesday, August 30th. During the past year, the Ladies Auxiliary has made aid and education for Korean war orphans one of their major welfare projects. Announcement of large sums given to cerebral palsy and cancer research will also be made.

As a sample of the Auxiliary's volunteer hospital program for hospitalized veterans throughout the nation, there will be a visit to the Jamaica Plain Veterans' Administration hospital, Boston, with Auxiliary hospital representatives from every state taking part.

"To Help The Living," a documentary film showing the volunteer service of the VFW Ladies Auxiliary in every state will be shown to the delegates. Reports of work in Americanism, youth activities, savings bond and community service programs will be presented.

Founded in 1914, the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars has a membership of more than 375,000 and local Auxiliaries in 7,000 communities covering the 48 states, Alaska, Hawaii and the Canal Zone. National headquarters are located in Kansas City, Mo.

U-M Has Strongest
Radioactive Source

Ann Arbor—The most powerful radioactive source ever released to a non-governmental laboratory now is in use at the University of Michigan in research on combustion. The metal is gold and was 100,000 curies in strength when it was delivered by the Air Force.

It marked the second time the University had received the strongest such source. Several years ago 30,000 curies of Cobalt 60 came to the U-M for use in the sterilization of food and chemicals and other research.

Friday afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Thomas were the former's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Jones of Washington, D. C., and Mr. and Mrs. William Thomas and Mrs. Peterson of Detroit.

Erle Nottens Will Observe Golden
Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Erle Notten, who will have been married 50 years next Wednesday, had planned to celebrate the event at an open house reception at their home, 4387 Loveland road, Sunday afternoon. The reception, however, has been postponed until after they recover from injuries suffered in an automobile accident which occurred last Sunday. Both were taken to St. Joseph's Mercy hospital, Ann Arbor, following the accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Notten have lived in their present home since their return from a short wedding trip following their marriage Aug. 31, 1915. They were married in the former parsonage of Salem Grove church by the late Rev. Henry Lenz.

Mrs. Notten is the former Eva Main, youngest daughter of Henry and Zilla Main and was born on the Main homestead June 2, 1880. She is a member of Salem Grove Methodist church and the Women's Society for Christian Service of the church.

WATCH FOR CROWDS OF SHOPPERS

When shopping is heavy down town, and you notice a couple of dozen pedestrians standing in the street waiting at the red light, watch out. A small child, whose mother is holding his hand, may suddenly break loose and step out into traffic. Jostling in the crowd may push somebody forward.

Going past a crowd of pedestrians at 25 miles per hour and missing them by only a foot or two is as foolish as standing on a railroad track and stepping off just a foot or two before the train arrives. It is a set-up for disaster. So, slow down for crowds of pedestrians. Don't pass too close to them — be prepared to stop quickly — dodge quickly.

Service Station Operator Held on Fake Robbery Report

Robert A. Riggs, who operates Hill Top Service on U.S. 12 west of Chelsea, was jailed for investigation of attempt to defraud and making a false report of a robbery after he had notified authorities he was slugged and robbed at 1:30 a.m. Monday, Aug. 15.

Riggs reportedly told sheriff's deputies that he was struck on the head by an unseen prowler as he stepped out of a rear door of the service station and when he regained consciousness he discovered his wallet had been robbed of $235 and that $234 had been taken from the cash register.

Investigating officers became suspicious when they learned from the company's books that its financial condition was poor and that Riggs was insured against loss up to $500, slightly more than the amount reported stolen.

Subjected to lie detector tests Riggs reportedly broke under questioning and said he needed money to pay for a fuel shipment and got the idea of faking the robbery to collect the insurance.

Appearing in Municipal Court, Ann Arbor, for arraignment Friday afternoon, Riggs was held under bond for a hearing at a later date.

Howell—Fowlerville retained a slim one game advantage over Chelsea as both teams split their doubleheaders Sunday. Fowlerville found the going too easy in the first game as they downed the Lansing Latin Americans, 14-3, but were surprised in the second game, 5-4 on a good squeeze play by Lee Coryell in the sixth. Zeke Vogt and Ernie Maranack each had three hits for Fowlerville in the first game.

Marty Tobin and Al Hoef hooked up in a fine pitchers' duel in the first game with Saline scoring its winning runs in the third on singles by Vern Drake and Dick Hoef and a two-base throwing error. Chelsea collected only six hits off Harry Fosdick but Saline committed seven errors to hand the game to young Phil Bareis.

Wolverine Parking Company pounded out 22 hits to score an 11-5 win over Fischer Local 602, after 602 had taken the first game, 7-4. Rudy Hanel was the winning pitcher for 602 in the opener, as they pushed across three runs in the seventh. Ypsil-Ford Local 849 shut out Stockbridge 7-0 in the first game behind five-hit pitching of Don Schwall who struck out 14. The second game was a marathon going 10 innings before being called because of darkness with the score knotted at five-all. The game will be replayed at a later date if it has a bearing on the standings.

Howell had the easiest time on this hot afternoon as they took both ends of the doubleheader from Leslie by forfeit. Leslie failed to field a team.

Many Dairymen
Are Still Using Scrub Bulls

Twenty-four per cent of Michigan's dairy farmers still are using scrub bulls.

That's what a Michigan State University survey indicates. MSU Extension Dairyman Donald L. Murray, who compiled the survey information, said the results also indicated that:

Thirty per cent of the 230 farmers surveyed were using artificial breeding, 28 per cent were using registered bulls with production records on their ancestry, 18 per cent used purebreds with little or no information on production of ancestry.

That means 68 per cent were using the services of well bred bulls and 42 per cent had sires of unknown quality.

Murray termed this an improvement over the number of scrub bulls used by Michigan dairymen 20 years ago. But he expressed surprise at the large number of inferior sires in use.

Fumigating Feed
Sacks Now Practical

Feed sacks, long thought to be carriers of poultry diseases, now can be fumigated easily to prevent the spread of Newcastle, coccidiosis and pullorum.

Scientists from Michigan State University's microbiology and public health department developed a practical way for the feed manufacturer to do the job. They have shown that fumigating to kill the Newcastle virus can be done at less than half a cent per sack.

To kill the virus of coccidiosis and pullorum would cost slightly more.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert G. Powell and family, of Galena, Kans., arrived Wednesday evening for a few days' visit with Mrs. Powell's brother, Mr. and Mrs. Francis G. Smyser and family.

GM Builds New Train

CHICAGO — GENERAL MOTORS LIGHTWEIGHT TRAIN, shown here in artist's conception, will be unveiled at the GM Powerama — a "world's fair of power" — in Chicago August 31 — September 25. GM's Electro-Motive Division at La Grange, Ill., is building the revolutionary train at the request of a committee of railroad presidents. After its introduction at the spectacular Powerama, the train will be tested on major railroad lines.

Straits Span Employs Two of World's Oldest Principles of Bridge Building

East Lansing—Two of the world's oldest principles of bridge building will go into the modern new Mackinac Straits bridge now under construction between Michigan's upper and lower peninsulas.

Dr. C. L. Sherman, professor of civil engineering at Michigan State College, says the suspension and beam-span features of the new bridge are among the world's oldest and most useful.

"Thousands of years ago the Chinese constructed bridges by building walkways on ropes or 'suspension' walkways from ropes which they had strung across a river or a gorge," he said. "Our suspension bridges today differ only in that modern construction materials and scientific knowledge enable us to build longer spans."

Although the dominant feature of the Straits bridge is the suspended portion, this section comprises less than a third of the total length of the project, Dr. Sherman explained. Two-thirds of the length of the bridge consists of shorter spans extending from one pedestal or pier to another over the water.

"This beam-span principle is perhaps the earliest one employed in bridge building," he said. "A log across a stream is a beam bridge. Instead of logs we now use beams of steel or concrete or, for longer spans, we use trusses. Probably 99 per cent of all bridges built today are of this basic type."

The ancient learned to lengthen the span of a bridge by projecting a cantilever over the water from each bank much as a diving board projects over a pool. Then the center distance between the ends of these cantilevers is bridged with a span which is thus much shorter than the over-all length of the bridge. The famous Quebec Bridge, across the St. Lawrence river, with a clear span of almost 2,000 feet, is of this cantilever type.

Dr. Sherman says the pontoon bridge, still in use today, is another bridge which dates back to the pre-Christian era. Darius, the Persian, crossed the treacherous Bosphorus by anchoring boats closely together and laying his bridge floor across these boats.

The modern movable "bascule" bridge, a descendant of the draw-bridges of old, is still another type. It is used over navigable rivers when it is impracticable to build the bridge high enough to clear river traffic. Chicago probably has more movable bridges of all kinds than any other city in the world, he said.

Dr. Sherman believes that "most of us become conscious of bridges only when the sign 'Bridge Out Detour,' looms up on the highway."

Like good health, we usually notice a bridge more by its absence than by its presence."

Aspects of Soviets Revealed In U. of M. Summer Course

Ann Arbor—Various aspects of life in the Soviet Union were outlined by experts on the USSR for University of Michigan students in a Russian studies seminar this summer.

Visiting speakers included Herbert Block from the U. S. Department of State; Prof. John N. Hazard of the Russian Institute, Columbia University; Robert D. Hicks, Lt. Col. USAF Air Command and Staff College; Prof. Walter W. Rostow, Center for International Studies, Massachusetts Institute of Technology; and Lazar Volin, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Block spoke on the Soviet economy, stating that the philosophy behind it was one of "power before welfare" with six per cent growth per year in rate of production. He gave several reasons why their economy moves faster than ours, including the fact that centralized investments play a big part and heavy industry receives 40 per cent of these investments.

A 48-hour week and a majority of their labor force in industry are two other factors influencing Russia's rapid economic advancement.

He labelled the economy "a promise cooker," citing agriculture as the weakest part because of poor soil and climate, erratic agricultural policy and lack of incentive among the farmers.

"Housing is also a sore point in Russia," Block declared, adding that each person is allotted about 45 square feet, less than the space in a cell of a U. S. prison.

Some further remarks on agriculture came from Volin, who pointed out that only 10 per cent of Soviet soil is tillable. This compares with a U. S. figure of 25 per cent; and when pasture land is included in the comparison, the Soviet total becomes only 26 per cent while the U. S. figure rises to 65 per cent.

And, said Volin, even less favorable than the soil is the climate in Russia. Short growing periods, freezing winters, lack of rainfall, all make the lot of Soviet farmers harder, he pointed out.

In addition, of the 90 thousand collective farms in Russia, about 30 thousand are inefficiently managed, he declared. Introduction of farm practices from central party offices, regardless of local needs or special problems; untimely farm operations; late sowing and delayed harvesting contribute to making the problem acute.

Speaking on another phase of the USSR, the new Soviet elite, Professor Rostow pointed out that the present rulers are not young hotheads, but are old men who have much to conserve for their comfort in the communist system which war would destroy. He expressed the belief that there is better than a 50-50 chance of avoiding a third world war.

But, he cautioned, we mustn't expect the Soviet system to grind to a halt under pressure of internal problems. "An enemy's society doesn't depend on your behalf," he said, and expressed the opinion that the arms race, not agriculture, was posing the biggest problem for the Soviet.

Referring to a free arms inspection pact, Professor Rostow pointed out that Soviet leaders know this freedom would mean the end of the Iron Curtain and thus of their political and social control over the USSR.

DR. LOUIS H. EVANS

Rev. Louis Evans To Speak at Fair Sunrise Service

The Reverend Dr. Louis Hadley Evans, considered one of the 12 outstanding religious leaders of America, will be the Sunrise Service speaker at the Michigan State Fair on Sunday, Sept. 4.

This was announced by Don L. Swanson, general manager of the State Fair which sponsors the service in cooperation with the Detroit Council of Churches.

Dr. Evans is minister-at-large of the Board of National Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, a new position created for bringing the message to groups in government, education, colleges and universities, armed forces, lay conventions of industry and labor, radio and TV broadcasting, etc.

Life Magazine described him as "a man whose energy seems inexhaustible and whose sermons are full of well thought out Christian doctrine and plain speaking."

Tau Kappa Alpha, national college honor society in speech, selected Dr. Evans as recipient of its National Award as "Speaker of the year 1951 in the Field of Religion."

News Week chose him as one of America's ten leading clergymen and Christian Century Magazine lately chose the Hollywood Presbyterian church, where Dr. Evans held tenure for 12 years, as one of the 12 outstanding churches of America.

At present Dr. Evans is summer supply at the National Presbyterian church in Washington, D. C., among whose members are President and Mrs. Eisenhower, Mr. and Mrs. John Foster Dulles and many other Cabinet and Congressional figures. He has held this post since 1953.

Michigan's Copper Deposits Over 500 Million Years Old

Ann Arbor—Upper Michigan's impressive copper deposits are over 500 million years old, according to Russell C. Hussey, professor of geology at the University of Michigan.

The copper was deposited during the Keweenaw period, as the result of two main occurrences—one associated with conglomerate rock (composed of rounded pebbles) and one with a series of lava flows.

According to the first occurrence, extremely hot copper-bearing water, driven by pressure, worked its way up to the surface through volcanic rock, and deposited the copper in the spaces between the rounded pebbles of the conglomerate rock. This is the way copper is found in some of the Calumet and Hecla mines, Professor Hussey points out.

Successful lava flows were responsible for the other type. Emerging from long cracks situated where Lake Superior now is, basaltic lava flowed out for miles and miles, again and again. Each flow cooled. Then, long after, copper-bearing water worked its way up through the porous lava, and filled up the blow holes.

Those blow holes, produced originally by escaping steam, were filled with copper in solution. Sometimes large cavities in the rock were completely filled. Deposits have been found which weighed thousands of pounds. All this happened over 500 million years ago.

"Michigan's copper deposits, once among the most productive in the world, and still important, extend along the western side of the Keweenaw peninsula which juts north into Lake Superior," Professor Hussey says. "The copper forms a belt from two to four miles wide and 100 miles long. Twenty-six miles of this have been highly productive. Mining began in 1845 and the belt was the premier district of North America until 1887 when Butte, Mont., mining surpassed it."

According to the geologist, "Michigan copper was mined in pre-historic times by the Indians. To get the precious metal, the Indians built a fire against an outcrop of rock. When the rock was highly heated, they threw water on it, causing the rock to crack and pieces of copper-bearing rock to break off. The Indians then pounded the rock until it was pulverized and the copper fell out."

He points out that the Keweenaw peninsula has supported 100 mining companies throughout its mining history and these companies have paid dividends approaching 350 million dollars.

Some of the mines have been closed and will be closed permanently, he says. "The copper has not been exhausted but it is so deep, at 8,000 feet down, that it can't be mined at a profit. However, there's always the possibility of finding a new vein," he asserts.

"And sometimes old mines are put to work again. In Ontonagon, at the far western end of the Upper Peninsula," Professor Hussey continues, "the old White Pine mine has been re-opened in recent months and is expected to be productive for 50 years."

After-Dinner Speaker Gets His "Deserts"

"Red" Thomas tells about a dinner party he and his Missus went to in Center City last week. He said it was a wonderful party—except for one guest who was a real "know-it-all," right from the start.

Whatever the subject, this fellow considered himself an "expert." Wasn't quiet about it, either. He told different people what automobile to buy, what books to read—even told some who they "just had" to vote for.

When it came time to leave, this fellow must've felt a pang of conscience. He turned to the hostess and said: "I suppose I was a bit outspoken tonight." Quickly she replied, "Of course not. No one could have out-spoken you."

From where I sit, it's all right to have opinions as long as you don't try to force them on neighbors. Take those who would deny me an occasional glass of beer simply because they prefer something else. They're welcome to their choice but shouldn't try to force me to be a "party" to it!
