Farm Council Votes To Consider Rural Site for 4-H Building

Kiwanis Club OK's Farmers Plan For 4-H Fairground

Everett Van Riper, LeRoy Heller and Lima township Supervisor Leigh Heller were guests at the Kiwanis club meeting Monday evening. They explained the position of Washtenaw county farmers who are seeking to have the proposed county agricultural activities building erected on a Zeab road site instead of on the six acres of the former Ann Arbor fairgrounds as planned following sale of the fairgrounds to the city of Ann Arbor.

The speakers pointed out that with 4-H club membership increasing steadily in Washtenaw county, the fairgrounds site is inadequate to provide space for a combined exhibition building and auditorium and for parking facilities for 4-H activities alone.

Farmers have proposed a Zeab road site next to the property purchased by the Washtenaw county Road Commission for its proposed main yards. The site is almost exactly in the center of the county. Kiwanians were urged to attend the annual Washtenaw County Farm Council meeting Tuesday night when the question was to be brought up.

Seniors who were guests at the meeting included Edward Went Jackie Gibbs, Carole Adkins, Betty Pierce, Norene Packard, Mickey Talbot, Linda Wright, Mary Patrick, Barbara Greenwood, Gayla Markie and Patricia Biaznek.

Rural Interests Consider Ann Arbor Location Too Small

At the annual meeting of the Washtenaw County Farm Council Tuesday evening, following a lengthy discussion, it was voted to reconsider the location of a site for the proposed 4-H fair and general agricultural building for Washtenaw county.

The Council, for some time, has been studying the situation as related to dissatisfaction with the proposed plan to construct such an agricultural building on six acres of the former Washtenaw county fairgrounds at Ann Arbor which is under 99-year lease to agricultural interests of the county.

Two new directors were elected at the meeting—LeRoy Heller, of Chelsea, and Ezra Lesser, of Dexter. Re-elected as a director was Robert Mast of Dexter.

Directors and other officers of the Washtenaw County Farm Council point out that the matter of the site of the proposed agricultural building and 4-H fair facility is so important that it should be brought to the attention of everyone interested in 4-H work. Council members suggest that all people interested in the vital 4-H program for young people keep informed

U-M Survey Shows Girls Solve Home-Career Conflict

New York—Today's adolescent girls are resolving the conflict between homemaking and career that plagued previous generations of American women. They plan to continue their education and work for a time before marrying, and then want to share jobs for themselves and for their husbands. Only 7 per cent wish to marry men who work in factories, on farms, or at a trade or craft.

These are some of the findings of the first nationwide survey of the personal and social interests and aspirations of girls 11 through 18 years of age, conducted by the University of Michigan's Survey Research Center and made public Tuesday by the Girl Scouts of the USA. The study was directed by Elizabeth Douvan, under the supervision of Stephen Withey of the Center.

Based on interviews with a scientifically selected sample of nearly 3,000 girls representing all girls now in grades 6 through 12, the survey covers girls' hopes, worries, relations with parents and friends, dating, plans for education, work and marriage. Data were collected from February through April, 1956.

It is the first section of a two-part survey. The first section, titled "Girl Scout organization on the needs of adolescent girls and ways in which these needs can be met," is expected to be completed early in 1958.

The study reveals that adolescent girls are under most stress between the ages of 14 and 16 when they are beginning to establish relationships outside the family that are equally important to them.

According to the survey, most girls start dating at 14. While only one fifth of those under 14 reported any dating, 70 per cent of those in the 14 to 16 age bracket not only date, but date regularly, often every weekend. Of the girls over 16, 90 per cent date regularly.

Contrary to popular opinion, only 10 per cent of girls 11 to 18 "go steady." Asked what they thought of "going steady," less than one fifth said they liked the idea. Sixty per cent of those over 16 thought there were more disadvantages than advantages to this practice.

Most girls interviewed rated personally higher than physical appearance as a factor determining popularity with boys.

The majority of girls think it is legitimate and necessary for parents to make rules for their children, and they agree with the specific rules their own parents make. More than half believe the rules governing their behavior are fair and helpful.

When adolescent girls do disagree with their parents, the issues are most likely to be clothing, dating, and hours. The survey indicates, younger girls, under 14, report conflict over clothes and use of makeup. "Driving and dating are most often issues for girls in the 14 to 16 age group," the study continues, "and the oldest group disagrees with their folks about these."

Although 84 per cent of the girls expect to get married "someday," only 3 per cent said they wish to become housewives. The survey points out that this may be owing to the fact that most girls covered by the study are thinking about the next few years rather than the relatively distant future.

One-third of the girls want college educations. This figure, the report notes, is much higher than the number currently enrolled in the nation's institutions of learning.

Friendships play a very important part in the lives of adolescent girls, the study reveals. They need and want loyal girl friends whom they can talk to and confide in. Six out of 10 girls interviewed said they felt a friend could be as close to them as a member of their own family. Consideration for others, skill in social activities, and good moral character were cited most frequently as the basis for liking another girl. Only a handful gave social status as a criterion for choosing friends.

Most adolescent girls, according to the study, do some kind of work to earn money. Nearly 60 per cent hold jobs outside their homes and 20 per cent earn money for home chores. Baby sitting is the most common type of work for girls over the age of 12 on. Of the girls over 16, a sizeable group have jobs in offices and stores.

Half of the girls interviewed reported they were currently getting an allowance and among these, more than 50 per cent said they received from their parents between $1 and $5 a week as spending money.

Removing snow and ice from the tracks, keeping the lines open and the trains running, costs the railroads about $30 million every winter.

The oldest railroad bridge in America, and perhaps in the world, has been in constant daily use since 1829 and is as good as ever.

Student Council heard the assembly committee report that absolutely no reply had been received from people who have been contacted about presenting assembly programs. Dennis Gary was appointed to get in touch with someone who could give dancing lessons to the 24 students who have signed up for this activity. On Jan. 23 a basketball game will be held with the opposing team being faculty and the Kiwanis Club. Proceeds from the game will go to the March of Dimes.

Seventh grade homemaking class made muffins as a part of their study in planning and preparing breakfasts. Planning and preparing luncheons will come next. Home Ec. 1 girls are finishing a unit of foods including preparation of vegetables, meats, cookies, and party giving. Second-year classes are studying child personality development and manners. Child development and parenthood are the subject of third-year home economics. Term papers are expected of this class.

Miss Betty Sulez, English teacher, is leaving, and will be replaced by Mr. Alfred Smith, a graduate of the University of Toledo. Mrs. Patricia Gonsler girls' physical education instructor, is leaving and will be replaced by Miss Betty Vores. In the elementary schools Mrs. Louise Grossman will replace Mrs. Rosslen Zimner of the fourth grade. Mrs. Shirley Reynolds of the third grade is also leaving.

NORTH SCHOOL BUILDS SEPARATE LIBRARY

With all elementary grades now enrolled in the North School the demand for books to satisfy the reading curiosities and interests generated by the units of study in the classroom is constantly increasing. To meet in some measure the requests for material on American and World History and Geography, several hundred books in the popular American Heritage, Landmark, and World Landmark series have been purchased especially for the North School library. This is the first step in the establishment of a separate collection of library books for the North School. Although these titles supply only a part of the need, others in all categories of knowledge will be purchased as funds permit.

In order to provide a wider assortment of books, selected titles are borrowed regularly from the State Library Juvenile Collection for lending for regular class units of study. Others are picked from the library in the North School and shipped to the North School. The South School library serves grade K-6. Eleven classes use the library once a week. Thirty to forty minutes are assigned to each class.

The great interest in reading after vacation is revealed by these figures from the North School library: 222 books were borrowed for home reading by about 180 students in six classes the week of Jan. 7. Student assistants who worked in the library to help their classmates were Linda Pritchard, grade 3, Mrs. Reynolds; Cathy Suter, grade 4, Mrs. Lange; Janet Rohr and Sandra Sexton, grade 4, Mrs. Uphaus; Ellen Eckhardt, Gloria Heydlauff, and Mike Shrader, grade 5, Mrs. Gordon; Lynn Adams and Sandra Mahn, grade 6, Mr. Murdock; and Jim Reed, grade 6, Mr. Foulson.

On Thursday, Dec. 20, the French Club held a very festive Christmas party. The students enjoyed punch and home-made French pastries. Entertainment consisted of the singing of Christmas carols in French and the telling of French stories. No business meeting was held.

Stencils are the subject for study for Art I and II. They are learning several tone and texture techniques in this craft. They have just completed making color harmony charts. Units on figure drawing and art history are planned for the near future.

The seventh grade is discussing a dance party with the eighth grade, but date has not been set. In history they are studying about farming. In English, prepositional phrases are being studied. Section C made and served breakfast in Home Ec. Drawing and painting pictures are lots of fun in Section B. The girls' physical education class is learning instructions for basketball.

Ninth graders are dissecting worms and lobsters for biology. Algebra students have been factoring. English pupils have been reciting poems; civics students have been studying civic rights, community protection.

Juniors have chosen a committee to work with Mrs. Bald in the selection of a play. Angie Murphy, Bill Lake, Silas Hopkins, Nancy Mayer, Nancy Irwin, and Clyde Mosier will read seven previously approved plays and choose among them. More and more plans are being made for the Junior-Senior Prom, May 18. Junior supper was held Friday, Jan. 11, from 5 to 8:30. Menu chairman for the cafeteria meal was Peggy Miller; advertising chairman was Elyon Pearson; cashiers were Nancy Mayer and Janet Bernath.

Craines Studios took group and organization pictures for the Annual.

Senior class meeting on Jan. 10 was postponed due to school being closed by the snow. This class meeting was held Jan. 14 for the purpose of listening to representatives of various travel bureaus who presented various trips that could be taken. Such information as cost, places transportation facilities and places to be seen and be visited were presented.

The day the eighth grade got back from their Christmas vacation, they were greeted with a history test. Then they started a new unit about the United States and its boundaries. In English the grade is reviewing verbs and pronouns. Interest and cancellation problems are the subject in Math. Sections A and B in Science are now studying the solar system. The classes were divided into groups, each group presenting a skit or a panel discussion on their specific planet. Section B, on the other hand, is studying the weather and climate, about clouds, rain, wind, and comparing the climate of Michigan with that of other states in the United States. Health, under the direction of Mrs. Gonsler, the former Miss Perigo, was shown a calf's heart, and were able to see the aorta and other veins and arteries of the heart.

Library—Mr. Vines' classes are collecting information on occupations. Career, college, and Armed Service pamphlets, books on careers and want ads in the New York Times and Detroit newspapers will be of great value in collecting this material.

The following movies were shown from Jan. 7-14: Mr. Conklin's classes saw "Butterflies," "Solar System," and "Celestial Navigation." Mrs. Bald's class saw "Machete," and "Library Appreciation of English Literature." Miss Fox's students watched "Our Basic Civil Rights," "Johnson and the Reconstruction," and "The law protects the people." Mr. Sanborn's students saw "Tomb of the Unknown Soldier." Some elementary school students saw "Medieval Castles," "Medieval World," "Daniel Boone," "Arts and Crafts of Mexico," and "Flatboatman".

Army Streamlining Its Organization for Atomic Warfare

The Army is preparing to reduce the manpower in its divisions, making them highly adaptable for atomic warfare. The Army's modernized division will be made up of "pentomic" units, so they say, five of them to a division.

The word "pentomic" is a combination of the Greek "penta," meaning five-element, and "atomic," which seems to indicate rather clearly that the divisions will be adapted to new type atomic warfare.

Since the new program would reduce an infantry division by some 3,000 men, a manpower saving is seemingly effected, though the actual firepower and hitting strength of the new divisions will be far greater than that of the old division.

Armored divisions would apparently require about the same manpower as today, although a slight reduction is envisioned. The five-unit divisions would be highly flexible, and it is indicative of the destructiveness of the atomic weapons that the army has decided to create five semi-independent units in a division rather than use the conventional three regiments.

Because the United States maintains a relatively small army—in comparison to its potential adversaries' forces—it is vital that U. S. Army strength be completely modern, highly mobile and trained in the latest kind of warfare. Therefore, we think modernization of the Army is a project of first importance to the country, one which should be carried out with all possible speed.

Considering the fact that we maintain only 19 divisions, whereas the Russians can field probably 175 divisions, the obvious necessity is for a U. S. division to be highly potent, mobile and widely dispersed—characteristics which the new divisions will possess to a high degree.

China and the U. S. May Eventually Become Friends

There are several indications, perhaps insignificant, which create the possibility that the United States and Communist China may be able to somehow work out an understanding between themselves.

The most promising ray of hope is the possibility that China will gradually become more and more independent of Moscow. It was noted that China sided with Poland in Poland's recent dispute with Soviet Russia, and Prime Minister Nehru of India told President Eisenhower recently that China wanted to effect an agreement with the United States.

While all this may be propaganda, and while the United States can only hope that something will come of it, the possibility is too important to be brushed off lightly or completely ignored. China, with 699,000,000 people, is the most populous country on earth and is of immense value to either side in the cold war. She is now counted on the Communist side, and will probably be on that side for some time to come because of prior commitments, but the United States should not give up all hope of ever winning her over to the other side.

The Chinese Communists have been rather quiet on the question of Formosa and Quemoy in the last year although their intentions no doubt still are to acquire these islands. However, they have refrained from open hostilities and they have not been as bombastic in recent times as they were a year or so ago.

The tremendous benefits to be achieved, if a wedge is ever driven between China and Russia, are worth serious consideration. This should be the goal of U. S. foreign policy, even though in pursuing this goal, we should not resort to appeasement, or desertion of Nationalist China.

But—being practical—one must realize that Nationalist China has almost no chance of resuming authority on the continent, and that the Chinese Communists are pretty solidly entrenched at the present time.

U. S. Fritters Away Time in Middle East Crisis

The United States is frittering away valuable time in the Middle East. The British-French invasion of Egypt counteracted, for the time being, a strong Soviet arms build-up in that country.

It caused Egypt serious military losses and will cause her grave economic problems. The withdrawal of the British and French left a vacuum, after somewhat checking the military build-up in that country, and the United States must move into it now or see Russia resume her activities there.

From London come reports that the British are deeply disturbed by the unwillingness of the United States to take decisive action to halt the growth of Soviet power in the Middle East. The British claim they bought time in going into the Canal Zone, although they had to withdraw, and now ask what the United States is going to do with this time.

British concern is backed by intelligence reports from the Middle East indicating that the Soviet Union is making real progress in gaining power in the Syrian government. Although earlier reports that Russia actually controlled the Syrian government were inaccurate and exaggerated, Syria is steadily increasing its drift to the left, and a new government has been formed in addition to a "National Front."

The National Front is a typical Communist front and now counts most of the Syrian Congress among its members. They are from the Left-wing parties, although the Conservatives have not yet joined. The Conservatives have been hurt by charges that many prominent members of their parties plotted to overthrow the government.

Free Thinking Minds Mean Progress

The essence of an educated mind is the welcome accorded a free inquiry into all of the subjects that touch the mental life of man, and the willingness of the individual to question the real values that former generations have placed upon all things.

This does not mean that one should lightly discard the wisdom that has come to us through the ageless experience of the race, but, with all our confidence in accepted values, we should look openly at questionings that arise in other minds. To fear the test of impartial intelligence is to betray our own insecurity in relation to our opinions and beliefs.

The freedom of the individual to explore the thinking and conclusions of the human race, and to weigh them in the scales of new intelligence, is the spark-plug of human progress. No race moves ahead by blindly following the past and accepting, without question, thoughts which have been handed down to us. Without inquiries into the values of the past, human improvement would come to a standstill.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

You can influence legislation in Michigan more than you realize. Your state senator and representative wants to hear from you. He is acutely interested in the views of those he represents.

State lawmakers must vote on hundreds of bills during each session. They cannot know everything contained in all of them. This gives your views real meaning. Legislators want to know what you think about proposed bills. An explanation of facts and your sincere opinion are therefore welcome.

Legislators can be contacted several ways. A common but efficient method is a letter. Literary eloquence is not important. He values your message most if it weighs pros and cons of a matter under consideration, gives him facts and your thinking.

Short telephone calls and telegrams are also effective. Least important are the signed form letters that are distributed for your signature. Even these have some effect, particularly if he receives large numbers of such messages.

One important "Don't." Do not demand that the legislator vote a certain way or threaten him. Lawmakers are human and it is human nature to react negatively when someone tries to say "you must vote this way or else."

Lawmakers like to speak with authority. A single fact from you can give him that authority. A legislator is often expanded by the legislator into the impersonable, but larger "they say."

Letters to your legislator will reach him addressed to the State House of Representatives or the State Senate at the Capitol. Direct telephone calls can be made through special legislative switchboards. To reach your senator call Lansing, IVanhoe 4-5464. The House is IVanhoe 4-1461.

Biggest Atomic Battle since the blast that rocked Hiroshima is now shaping up in Washington hearing rooms of the Atomic Energy Commission.

The fight involves a $40 million public atomic power plant now under construction near Monroe. The question is: Can the power plant operate safely or will it endanger millions of lives in the Detroit-Toledo area?

Michigan has a large stake in the answer. The Power Reactor Development Co., a non-profit corporation made up of 26 companies to build the plant insists operation will be safe. Six are Michigan corporations.

Opposing PRDC are three national unions in the AFL-CIO. All are strong in the Detroit area. A conditional construction permit was issued by AEC to PRDC in Aug. 1955. It is limited to construction only. AEC officials are withholding a license to operate the plant until construction is completed some time in 1960 and proven safe to the satisfaction of the commission.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has given the University of Michigan more than $5.2 million for polio research, rehabilitation and related activities.

4 Years Ago...

Thursday, Jan. 22, 1953—

Ice and sleet of the past week is the worst to strike here in some time but Chelsea's record of no accidents is an enviable one considering the great number which have occurred throughout the county and state.

The Legion Home at Cavanaugh Lake was broken into the past week-end but apparently nothing was stolen.

Approximately 150 people attended the welcome reception for the Rev. and Mrs. Thomas Toy at the Congregational church Sunday in spite of treacherous walking and driving conditions.

Because of ice on side roads services at St. John's church, Rogers Corners, and North Lake Methodist church were cancelled. Chelsea churches, however, reported a good attendance at the Sunday services.

A new Farm Bureau group was organized at a meeting at the Allen Alber home, choosing the name Sharon Tower Farm Bureau.

14 Years Ago...

Pfc. J. R. Seitz, stationed at Camp Hood, Texas, spent two days at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Seitz, having been selected as military escort for the body of Harold Raymond of Howell, who died suddenly while in army training at Camp Hood.

Supervisors Edwin Schable of Freedom township, and Fred Broesamle of Sylvan township, were appointed delegates of the Washtenaw county Board of Supervisors at the State Association of Supervisors in Lansing.

A fall of 10 inches of snow, on top of what was already on the ground, makes walking simpler than driving these days.

In the "34 Years Ago" column (Jan. 21, 1909) is the following: Walter Mack of Ann Arbor has purchased the old Chelsea Manufacturing Co. building of the Chelsea Stove and Manufacturing company, consideration, $3,000. The upper floor will be used for wool storage and the lower floor will be used for Chelsea's first garage.

M. A. Lowry having leased the space for that purpose; also Adam G. Falst has a large force of men at work getting out buggies for spring and summer trade.

The "24 Years Ago" column (Jan. 23, 1919) states: Sylvan township board, at a recent meeting divided the township into two election precincts because of the large vote that has been polled and which will be still larger when the women start voting.

The Kodiak, largest of all bears, averages less than 1,000 lbs., although 1,800 has been claimed.

Thursday, Jan. 26, 1933—

Kindergarten enrollment of 35 has dwindled to 22 because of the measles epidemic.

"The Seepless" forerunner of the Hi-Light as Chelsea High's school paper notes that Ralph Dinger, new fourth grader from Cleveland, O., was appointed president of the Girls' and Boys' Council to succeed David Potts who has moved to Grand Rapids.

Kent Walworth, local businessman, received word of his appointment as temporary postmaster at the Chelsea office to fill the vacancy caused by the death of O. T. Hoover.

Specials in Chelsea stores this week are Gold Medal Flour, 53 cents per 24 1/2-lb. bag; 1 lb. best oleo, 10 cents; sugar-cured bacon, 2 lbs. 27 cents; fresh side pork in chunks, 8 cents per lb.; and veal shoulder roast, 2 lbs. 25 cents.

34 Years Ago...

Thursday, Jan. 25, 1923—

Robert Foster, for many years a respected and admired citizen of this community, was honored at a public celebration of his 98th birthday in the Maccabee hall.

The school in District No. 7, Freedom township, was closed last week because of an outbreak of scarlet fever.

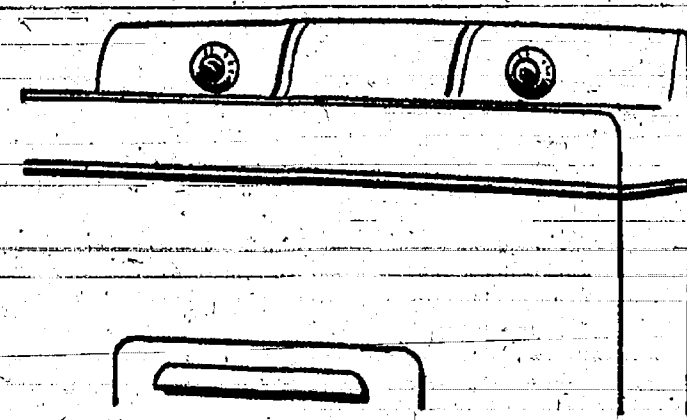

Practical jokers caused the death of Ross Glenn at the Reynolds Spring and Axle company in Jackson, having been electrocuted when he grasped the handles of his wheelbarrow which fellow workers had wired while he was at lunch, thinking only to give him a slight shock.

The best reason yet...

for owning a modern, automatic Gas dryer!

Seems like a baby just naturally uses more clothes than anybody. And seems like a baby just naturally takes up all your time, too.

That's why, with a baby in the house, you'll find an automatic Gas Dryer wonderfully convenient. A Gas Dryer saves you both time and energy. What's more, you can do the laundry as often as you need to—at any hour, day or night.

A Gas Dryer will dry clothes in minutes, leave clothes sanitary, sweet-smelling, fluffy, and so soft they won't irritate baby's sensitive skin.

So Economical, Too!

Gas Dryers run for a whole hour at a cost of only two cents, one-fifth the cost of operating other automatic dryers. Choose your automatic Gas Dryer from models on display at Gas Company and Dealers' showrooms. (Gas Dryers purchased from Dealers or the Gas Company installed at no extra charge.)

Flint Industrialist To Head State's Cancer Drive

Russell E. Bowers, president of the Michigan Division of the American Cancer Society, announced today the appointment of Arthur H. Sarvis, Flint industrialist and banker, as Division Campaign Chairman for the Society's 1957 independent fund-raising drive.

Sarvis will lead more than 80,000 volunteers during the month of April, national Cancer Month, in the eighty counties which make up the Michigan Division. Goal for 1957 is $877,400.00.

Taking over the helm of the drive, Sarvis said, "This Crusade offers us all an opportunity to strike back at cancer. It is far more than a fund-raising campaign. Trained volunteers will call on their neighbors offering them life-saving facts about cancer. New cancer patients will be found who can use the Society's services. More than 25 per cent of the money raised will broaden the attack through research, which seeks cancer's cause and cure, while 50 per cent of the money will be used where it was raised, fighting cancer through education and service."

Born in Stratford, Ontario, Sarvis came to Flint in 1909 as a newspaperman. Changing his career to the field of industry, he soon became an executive with General Motors. He was service manager and assistant sales manager with Buick Motor Company for 15 years until his retirement in 1934.

Chevrolet shows you some important differences in low-priced cars just by the look on its face!

Wouldn't you say that most of the '57 cars look good from 50 feet away, but what about from 50 inches away?

What does a close-up of the grille tell you, for example? Is it solidly made like the new Chevrolet grille? Or, in comparison does it look less rich in design—feel less strong and solid? Compare the quality and construction of the bumpers and headlights, the fit of the chrome trim.

The more closely you look all around the car, the more clearly you'll see that Chevrolet has the edge in the way it's put together. You'll find, for instance, that Chevrolet is the only car in its field with a lacquer finish . . . that only Chevrolet Bel Air models give you foam rubber cushions in front and rear seats as standard equipment. These are just a few of the advantages of Body by Fisher. And Chevrolet, you know, is the only low-priced car that has a Fisher Body.

We'll be glad to give you a close-up, comparative look at this new Chevy any time you care to come in. This week, maybe?

Only franchised Chevrolet dealers display this famous trademark

HOLE IN GLOVE FATAL
Alton, Ill.—Frank Bennett, 54, drove into a filling station and noticed that an ice storm had knocked down an electric wire across the street. He put on a pair of rubber gloves he kept in his car and went across the street to move the wire. He was electrocuted. Examination of the gloves revealed a small hole in the right forefinger.

CATCHES 200 BASS
Cleveland, O.—Willard Burton and his stepson, Roger Pennington, were nine hours overdue from a fishing trip. They explained to Mrs. Burton, who had already notified police of their absence, that the fish were striking so good, they just could not leave. They brought in 200 white bass to prove their story.

VIVID DREAMER HURT
Oklahoma City, Okla.—Felix Barnes recently had such a vivid dream that it caused him to jump from his bed and leap through a second-story window. The 49-year-old man was taken to the hospital suffering from a broken hip, wrist and finger.

REUNION-AFTER HOLDUP
Marion, Ohio.—Two former Marines who hadn't seen each other since 1945 recently met under unusual circumstances. R. D. Caldwell, manager of a supermarket here, was robbed of $5,000 and kidnapped by four bandits. They dumped him, bound and gagged, into a roadside ditch. Caldwell managed to free himself and hail a passing car. The driver of the car was Alfred Beley, of Delaware, Ohio who served with Caldwell.

Farmers' Week To Show New Tractors, Tools

More-work-in-less-time is a new feature built into new tractors that will be on exhibit at Farmers' Week, Jan. 28-Feb. 1, on Michigan State University campus in East Lansing.

With more-work-in-less-time feature, engineers point out there will be less operator fatigue. MSU's engineers have been working to make changes in new tractor designs to give them more versatility and better adapt them to variety of operating functions required in today's farming.

And, while they have tried to step-up operating efficiency, new tractors they haven't forgotten economy. They will also show during the annual farmers' get-together a wider choice of fuels for tractor operation. These fuels are designed to help meet the farmer's needs.

They also plan to preview better seed bed preparing tillage machinery which promises lower cost of operation, new seeding, fertilizer placement, and harvesting machinery equipment.

All of the new developments MSU's engineers have worked on will be on display at Farmers' Week.

BOYS REWARDED.
Leighton, Ala.—The three boys who found a missing mail pouch filled with $44,000 in 41 bills have received rewards from the Post Office Department. Ingram Mitchell, 15, and Eddie Chambliss, 13, received $250 each. The boys found the pouch stuffed under a barbed-wire fence along a railroad right-of-way. The pouch had disappeared from a railway ship, about 85 days before.

well in the Marine Corps during World War II.

ELECTRICITY RUNS WILD.

San Francisco—Electric current, racing across transformers, ran wild for an instant recently along a street. Two homes caught fire. Light globes burst in their sockets, appliance motors flew into fragments, flames spurted in clothes dryers and television sets were damaged. The explanation: rain wet the seasonal accumulation of dust on transformers. The resulting arc broke a high voltage line, which fell across secondary wires. This created a "blue flash" which lit up the block like a roman candle.

MICHIGAN'S POLIO MOTHER OF YEAR—An amazing comeback despite the handicaps inflicted by the ravages of infantile paralysis has earned for a St. Johns mother of three the mantle of Polio Mother of Year. She is Rhonda, 3, does all the baking, cooking, sewing and housework for her family and in addition gives piano lessons to 26 pupils although confined to a wheelchair. She will head the St. Johns Mothers March on Polio for the March of Dimes on Jan. 31.

Good wool blankets are no small investment and should be well taken care of. They will give years of comfort and enjoyment if cared for properly.

Correct laundering or dry-cleaning by a reputable cleaner is necessary to keep blankets fluffy, warm and soft.

The way blankets are stored and the every-day care and use they receive are important in retaining their serviceability and beauty.

Brush blankets often, with the nap toward the binding to remove dust and dirt. Every now and then air them outdoors.

Solled bindings must be washed with a thick mild soap lather, using a soft-brush. The next step is to pull the binding straight and press with a moderate iron. Use a pressing cloth and don't crease the outer edge of the binding. When bindings become frayed or soiled beyond cleaning, replace them.

Always store blankets clean, in a cool, dry place in a tightly sealed case. Do not pile other things to be stored on top of blankets because the weight will flatten their nap.

Don't try to remove stains or re-dye blankets. Instead send them to a professional. Never iron a blanket, it can quite easily be ruined by doing this.

When removing blankets from beds, don't twist or pull, or allow them to drag on the floor.

COMMENT on SPORTS

By Pete Fritchie

★ Boxing
Washington — Ancient Archie ran into lightning in his recent encounter with Floyd Patterson and, like any other boxer in the world, he could not do anything about it.

The lighthavvy king seemed tense and fearful from the first round on. He is the advocate of "relaxation" but he didn't relax in the recent Patterson fight. Patterson was so much faster, and punched so much harder, he had Archie defensive-minded and tightened up from the initial round on.

We had thought Archie would stay with the youngster for four or five rounds. But he took a cuffing in the second round, and several times thereafter, which made him putty for a good left in the fifth. It was hard to believe that Floyd had put him down with such ease, far more than was demonstrated by Rocky Marciano.

While we hail Marciano as one of the greatest champions, Floyd Patterson was a good man to avoid for the Rock, and had not Marciano retired, Patterson would have retired him. Marciano could not stand up under the speed, boxing ability, and constant punching power that Patterson would subject him to, today. A few years ago that was not true. Patterson had not come along.

Patterson hard to say who will give Patterson much of a fight for a long time. Certainly he is a worthy successor to Marciano. It is regretted of course, that the boxing racket didn't give old Archie a chance at the heavyweight crown until he was too old to win it.

But that's been the story in this business. Right doesn't necessarily prevail. Jack Dempsey never fought the man, many thought could easily defeat him. Schmeling didn't get the title shot he deserved after beating Joe Louis—one of the ring's greatest upsets—because he was a German—but what should that have to do with boxing matchmakers?

A heavyweight champion fight is always dramatic. Maybe it's because everyone knows there's an awful lot of money involved. And, certainly there's a lot of tradition behind the heavyweight championship.

Young Floyd Patterson will add some more, and maybe a lot more before he bows out. Right now he's the youngest heavy champ ever to hold the title.

THE DRIVER'S SEAT

The other day in a barber shop I heard a fellow exclaim, "Just wait until they get the new super-highways in. Boy, 15 hours, New York to Chicago—why you can get across the country in a day and a half."

Yes, just wait. And while you are waiting don't forget to bury the dead and care for the mangled that result from today's traffic accidents.

The fellow in the barber shop was concerned with how fast you can get from one place to another; he was concerned with speed. Speed is a dangerous enemy, the nation's fourth highest killer, and it exerts its powers through America's drivers.

Let's not wait for the super-highways that will allow us to go at even faster speeds, for even superhighways can't solve all our problems. The National Safety Council reports that 6 of 10 traffic deaths occur within 25 miles of the fatally injured person's home. Is the superhighway going to protect us just outside our driveways? And on the roads that lead to principal highways?

Statistics are boring—until we stop to think that each small mark in the records was once a living person that roamed the nation's highways and byways. Of the nation's 38,000 traffic deaths the largest number occurred at night, when there is just one-third the traffic on the road that there is during daylight hours. More than 21,000 people were killed at night and more than 80 per cent of these 21,000 were killed in a particular type of accident—non-collision. The non-collision accident victims were in such a hurry to get there they didn't see that fatal curve, culvert or bridge approach.

If we can eliminate this one type of accident—the night-time non-collision accident—we can save one-third of all the people killed in traffic accidents, and we can save them now.

How can we prevent these accidents? First of all by slowing down when driving at night. You can see only as far as your headlights light the road. This means if you have the best reactions and the brightest lights, you can safely drive at 55 miles per hour. The National Safety Council recommends 50 miles per hour for average conditions.

Better marking of that fatal curve, culvert or bridge approach is another immediate step that can be taken to save traffic victims. A striking example of the benefits of nighttime marking that saves lives occurred in Louisiana recently. In less than a month six persons lost their lives at a bridge approach just outside Baton Rouge. Then highway engineers installed reflective guardrails and traffic deaths fell to less than one per year.

Don't wait for the superhighways to save your life. Slow down now to enjoy the superhighways of tomorrow.

At present, there are 80,000 handicapped polio victims. Your contribution to the 1957 Washtenaw County March of Dimes will speed their rehabilitation.

Do You

Contests Planned To Select Cherry Pie Champion

Girls, if you can bake a cherry pie, here's an opportunity to earn $700 toward a college education, plus free trips to New York City and Washington, D. C.

The awards are being offered in a cherry pie baking contest now under way in local high schools and 4-H clubs.

Girls 14 to 21 years old are eligible," said Mrs. Ruth Stewart, home service director of the Michigan Consolidated Gas Company, a co-sponsor of the event in this area.

Every Washtenaw county high school has been invited to select its cherry pie baking winner prior to Jan. 15.

School and 4-H club champions will compete in the county contest Jan. 26, at the Home Service Department of Michigan Consolidated in Ann Arbor.

The Washtenaw county winner will receive a prize and will compete in the State contest at Grand Rapids on Feb. 14. Her expenses and those of her chaperone will be paid.

Michigan's top cherry pie baker will be awarded $200 toward a college scholarship. She will take part in the national finals at Chicago, Feb. 21, with all expenses paid.

First prize at Chicago will be a $500 scholarship to any college, plus a visit to the White House and New York where she will appear on a nation-wide television show.

Contest sponsors include the Michigan Canners and Freezers Association, Michigan Cherry Producers Association and the Michigan Cherry Commission.

Mrs. Stewart advised students to contact their home economics teacher or 4-H club leader at once if they wish to enter.

In one of the nation's great railroad centers a "Red Cap" of West Indian parentage conducts prayer meeting in a railroad coach at noon every Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Your records are everywhere except where you can find them.

Have you ever thought of the fact that your memory can't do the whole job of keeping together all the legal facts you may need and need in a hurry? You may waste valuable time and then not find what you want. And I'm not talking only about money facts. I mean all the facts about yourself.

I checked on this the other day and here is what I was advised:

"Get a notebook and list the names, dates, places and main points of interest about yourself, your parents, your family, children, property, and so on.

"For example, get a copy of your birth certificate—you may need to prove your citizenship to get a passport, prove your age for insurance or social security benefits, etc.

"List your debts, debts, mortgages, contracts to buy or sell, leases, stocks and bonds, bank accounts, safe deposit boxes, your will, important letters, income tax and other tax returns.

"List the places you have lived and worked and the people you know best there. List the schools you have gone to along with the dates of graduation and degrees.

"Make a note of the employment benefits you may have come across—such as insurance for life, accidents, medical and hospital service, etc.

"Note the facts about your marriage: date of license, who married you, and where you put marriage certificate.

"Make an inventory of your household goods."

Ann Arbor—Russia will have a tough row to hoe in her efforts to keep farm production abreast of population increases, a University of Chicago geographer predicted recently at the University of Michigan.

Chauncy D. Harris, professor of geography and dean of the University of Chicago's Division of Social Sciences, foresaw low yields per acre compared to the United States, "poor possibility" for high yields per acre, wide fluctuation of yields from year to year, and restriction on the variety of crops in the Soviet Union.

Agriculture is one of the weak spots in the Soviet economy, said Dean Harris, noting a decrease in the quality of the average Soviet diet over the past 25 years.

Collectivization and low prices are partly to blame, he said, but short growing seasons and lack of moisture are the chief obstacles to increased production.

Consequently, Dean Harris explained, Russia needs large inputs of management, manpower, fertilizers, and technology to achieve even modest gains.

He pointed out that most of Russia's farming is done in the Fertile Triangle—with Leningrad, Odessa, and Lake Balkal at the apex—an area roughly comparable in climate to the Dakotas and Canada's prairie provinces.

The Kremlin has put tremendous effort into expanding total area under cultivation, increasing yields per acre, and shifting from crops of management, manpower, fertilizers, and technology to achieve even modest gains.

Ann Arbor—Russia will have a tough row to hoe in her efforts to keep farm production abreast of population increases, a University of Chicago geographer predicted recently at the University of Michigan.

Chauncy D. Harris, professor of geography and dean of the University of Chicago's Division of Social Sciences, foresaw low yields per acre compared to the United States, "poor possibility" for high yields per acre, wide fluctuation of yields from year to year, and restriction on the variety of crops in the Soviet Union.

Agriculture is one of the weak spots in the Soviet economy, said Dean Harris, noting a decrease in the quality of the average Soviet diet over the past 25 years.

Collectivization and low prices are partly to blame, he said, but short growing seasons and lack of moisture are the chief obstacles to increased production.

Consequently, Dean Harris explained, Russia needs large inputs of management, manpower, fertilizers, and technology to achieve even modest gains.

Senator Potter Reports

Happy New Year! As the old year sputtered out, Mrs. Potter and I found ourselves driving back to Washington with satisfying memories of recent months spent in Michigan. This is my first opportunity to wish you good health and success in 1957.

Personals—The aim of these direct reports is to keep you up-to-the-minute on what we do in the United States Senate, how it affects Michigan, and—more important—how it affects your purse, your job, and your relationship with your government. You'll get the congressional highlights each week and a glimpse of what's coming up. Be sure to send me your reactions and suggestions.

Back to work—Now that the 86th Congress has assembled, I find my newest assignment: a seat on the Republican Policy Committee, a source of pride. It carries an opportunity to help shape our party's program in directions that will best serve 170 million Americans.

My other two committees remain the same. Both have proved valuable to Michigan and I expect will become more so. For example, the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, where we concentrate on shipping, business, communications, and related areas, is a key spot for a Senator from a diversified and water-circled State, its future tied to the fabulous St. Lawrence Seaway. We should also be well content, I believe, with my assignment to the Appropriations Committee where I have special responsibilities in health, education and welfare matters. We portion out federal money for harbor development, schools, hospitals and the like. You'll be kept posted on all of these committee activities.

New Senate Rules—The very first order of Senate business was our push to ease the "filibuster" rule. Rules, of course, might be termed Senate "housekeeping." The filibuster rule is knottier than most, but it touches every one of us who subscribes to the great principle embodied in our Bill of Rights that all Americans, regardless of race, creed or color, are free and equal.

In the past this rule has enabled a handful of Senators to block a Senate vote on major issues. With the many problems facing us, this rule constitutes a danger, for it can be used to stymie the Senate when calm and decisive action is needed.

Right-thinking Senators of both parties are working hard to modify this rule. Although we lost our first attempt, we gained the support of the Vice President and within the past few days both the Majority and Minority Leaders of the Senate have swung to our side. So prospects for the change are rosy.

Action—I have introduced several bills but wish to call your special attention to one. Because I believe this nation is not capitalizing on the terrific potential of citizens over 65, I am proposing legislation to establish a Commission on the Aging and Aged. Jobs, health, housing, family relationships and effective use of leisure are a few of the problems the Commission would study. Too often older people are pushed aside from the mainstream of community life and my bill would open the door to happy, useful lives for them.

Coming up—Did you know that ten per cent of the price you pay for your automobile is a "luxury tax"? If your car or truck cost $3,000, $300 of that was federal excise tax. I fought this unfair levy in the last session of Congress and will continue to do so. Next week I shall introduce a bill to abolish the automobile excise tax.

Inaugural Doings—Fast-hatching plans for entertainments, balls, and a mammoth parade for President Eisenhower's second inaugural next week-end have given a holiday atmosphere to Washington.

Michigan visitors who flock into town for the occasion will enjoy watching the performance of four outstanding units from home: The Calumet High School Drum and Bugle Corps, the Detroit Post Office Band and the Detroit Commandery No. 1 of Knights Templar will add color to the inaugural parade. Lending vocal beauty to the indoor spectacle will be the Michigan State University's Men's Glee Club.

News for Mr. Webster

Mr. Webster defines a truck as "an automotive vehicle for . . . long distance hauling" and this is technically true. But to the millions of Americans whose everyday life is geared to the flow of motor transport, a truck is much more than this.

It's a shipment of supplies for the corner drugstore where you buy; a crate of spare parts for the auto repair garage you patronize; a load of food-stuffs for your favorite grocery; shoes for little Junior; eye-glasses for Mary; paint for that bedroom you're doing over; the TV set you've been waiting for.

Life in Michigan just couldn't go on as it does today without trucks. Agriculture and industry depend on them. So do the butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker. So do you!

Household Hints

When everything you have planned to do doesn't get done, maybe you have tried to undertake too many things. After conducting research on why mothers of preschoolers get tired, Dr. Elizabeth Wiegand of the home management staff at Michigan State, points out that a cluttered house and undone work tend to make some women frantic and frustrated. She interviewed 100 Lansing women in her search for the answer to why mothers are fatigued. She suggested that perhaps these young mothers need help in learning how much they can expect to get done. Then, they might find their days more satisfying and less fatiguing.

Rice muffins are unusual because of the color and texture contrast provided by the white rice in the yellow batter. If you have a little left-over cooked rice, here's a good quick bread. For 6 or 7 muffins the ingredients are: 1 cup flour; 2 tablespoons sugar; 2½ teaspoons baking powder; ¼ teaspoon salt; 1 egg, beaten; ¼ cup milk; 1½ tablespoons melted shortening; and 2½ cup cooked rice. Sift dry ingredients; mix egg, milk, shortening and rice. Add to flour mixture and stir only enough to moisten. Fill muffin tins and bake at 375 degrees for 20-25 minutes.

Farmers' Week Style Show Has 'New Look'

The whole family will be interested in seeing the new look of the traditional style show during Farmers' Week held Jan. 28 - Feb. 1 on the Michigan State University campus. The show attracts nearly 5,000 onlookers each year.

In addition to presenting styles designed for and made by college coeds, models representing all ages will show clothes for the whole family. In order to do this, the MSU textiles and clothing department of the College of Home Economics will cooperate with a local department store in the selection of wearing apparel for all occasions.

Sportswear, playclothes, work clothes, house dresses and fashions suitable for church, civic activities and social functions, as well as a wedding ensemble, will be modeled by home economics students and staff members and their families.

According to Dr. Marion Neiderpruem, chairman of the Thursday afternoon event, the purpose of this year's style show is threefold. First, it is a learning experience for girls majoring in retailing in home economics to have the responsibility of planning and executing a top-notch style show. It also gives them experience in working with a retail store in showing clothes for the whole family. In this way Michigan farm families can learn of the available fashions for consumers.

And, as in past years, the style show gives the home economics students majoring in clothing a chance to show Farmers' Week visitors the garments which they have made and designed in their home economics courses.

Held in the University auditorium, the style show will begin at 1:30 p.m., Jan. 31 and will be put on under the direction of 75 home economics students and staff members.

Bay County Wins Award as Bangs Disease Free Area

Bay City—Recognition to Bay county as being the first of Michigan's 83 counties to be certified as a modified brucellosis-free area brought out state and county officials today when awards were presented the county board of supervisors and County Agent Carl J. Hanson.

Brucellosis is a highly contagious disease of cattle which under certain conditions is transmissible to man in the form of undulant fever. In cattle it causes contagious abortion, and has cost cattle owners millions of dollars over the years.

The Michigan department of agriculture and the U. S. department of agriculture are co-operating in a joint eradication program to make all of Michigan brucellosis free by 1960. The program entails testing of cattle, quarantines, and a slaughter program on which indemnities are paid. Assisting on educational phases of the program is the Michigan State University extension service.

Among those present to honor Bay county for the progress made in eradicating brucellosis were Dr. Asa Winter, veterinarian in charge of Michigan for the U. S. department and the state veterinarian, Dr. Lee A. Davison, of the Michigan department.

For Bay county to be certified as a modified brucellosis-free area means that the disease exists in not to exceed 1 per cent of the cattle or 5 per cent of the herds. All herds in which reactors are known to exist are under quarantine, and are under a testing program designed to eradicate the disease.

4-TON TREE VANISHES

Detroit, Mich.—A four-ton tree had to be moved to make way for an expressway and the Detroit Department of Public Works planned to get the tree on the lawn in front of P. W. headquarters to be used as a Christmas tree. However, it disappeared before they could haul it away.

NOT SO FUNNY

Lander, Wyo. — When bartender Jack Clark opened the tavern where he works, he looked up and there 4 feet away was a mountain lion, crouched ready to spring. Clark scaled the side of a cooler cabinet, backward. Jokers entered and rescued Clark. Belatedly they told him the lion had been shot by local hunters, frozen into a crouched position and placed in the bar during the night.

Automation Seen For Banks Within Next Few Years

Ann Arbor—Many of the nation's larger banks will be using automated check handling and bookkeeping systems within the next three to five years, a conference of Michigan bankers heard recently at the University of Michigan.

Duane Watts, associate director of management advisory services for Price Waterhouse & Co., Boston, said magnetic ink will be used to imprint information on checks processed with automated equipment, eliminating many of the manual sorting operations now necessary in check handling.

Explaining how such an automated system would work, he said: "The first bank handling each check would imprint the dollar amount, in magnetic form. Since this magnetic imprinting does not require elaborate printing equipment but can be done, for example, with ordinary typewriters, the amount would be printed as a first step in the proof and sorting operation. All subsequent operations could, in theory at least, be done completely automatically, both by the bank first handling the check and by all others handling it, including finally the bank on which it was drawn."

"In this respect the smaller banks will have some advantage since the large proportion of their checks which clear initially through large banks will be returned with amounts imprinted and ready for fully-automatic processing."

Even so, he concluded, "It seems to me to be particularly important at this time for smaller banks to make sure that, whether mechanized or not, they are as efficient as they can be made to be. While mechanization has often been the way to reduced costs, it is also true that most organizations with paper-work problems can find substantial savings within the framework of their existing manual systems."
