New Task-Force 57 Chevrolet Trucks

Six heavily loaded Chevy trucks ran all the way up the rugged Alcan Highway in less than 45 hours! That's cutting more than a full day off the normal running time! They ran right around the clock, stopping only to refuel.

But the important fact about this run was that it proved new Chevy trucks through and through. The Alcan Highway is a supreme test of every truck component. Engines had to prove their power up high-climbing grades and through washouts. Frames and suspensions flexed their muscles over axle-deep ruts and miles of pounding gravel. "And not a single truck turned back or dropped out due to mechanical failure," states the official AAA report of the test. Every model proved its over-all economy by its ironclad ability to stay on the job! Stop by; we'll talk about it.

Choose your model from among Chevrolet's famous economy-proved Alcan Champ! Short-stroke V8's are standard in all heavy-duty truck models and in many of the middleweights. They're loaded with modern features and built to take it!

U. S. Citizens Need To Learn Value of American Citizenship

A group of investigating Senators recently criticized the military services for failing to prepare American troops for the hazards of capture and interrogation in the Korean war.

The report of the Senate Investigations subcommittee made it obvious that too many Americans "collaborated" with the enemy in Korea and China. Yet, the report revealed the truth—which has not been generally known—that most of the prisoners were not brainwashed, if those who use the term consider it to mean the use of mysterious or irresistible psychological techniques and drugs.

Rather, the report expressed the belief that the Communists' technique was to progressively weaken the individuals physically and morally and find out their weak points and finally break down their resistance.

At some of the hearings carried on by the subcommittee, testimony was taken which stated that 70 per cent of Army prisoners committed at least one act of collaboration with the Communists under varying degrees of pressure and torture during the Korean war.

A total of 15 per cent of them were classified as active collaborators with their Chinese captors.

These are rather surprising and discouraging percentages. The indictment—if one is to be made—should not be primarily of the military services. True, the military services did not prepare our soldiers for such treatment, but the military services did not have much indication that the United States might be called upon to fight a war in Korea.

The indictment must be made against the American people. It is true that few of us know and understand our history, traditions, and the principles upon which this country's government was based. In the case of many Americans, their knowledge of our history, our culture and our American form of government is scandalously thin.

The solution of this problem seems to be in teaching and training Americans to understand and appreciate their country to a greater degree. This could be done in the schools, in the churches and in the homes. We must understand the advantages of our way of life and the disadvantages of the Communist way of life, in detail, if we are to be equipped to take on cunning interrogators, who often have a very good basic political education.

The fact that so many Americans gave in under pressure, or collaborated with the enemy, is a sign that we have taken our Americanism somewhat lightly—and every citizen should do what he can to correct this defect in our national character.

Germans Hint at Desiring Border Settlement with Poland

A very soft sound, and one which may finally become an ominous roar, seeped out of Bonn, Germany, recently.

Dr. Heinrich von Brentano, West German Foreign Minister, made a hesitant hint that Germany was ready to negotiate with Poland on settling the question of the disputed eastern frontier of Germany.

Having just returned from the North Atlantic Council meeting in Paris, Dr. von Brentano said he was confident a satisfactory arrangement could be worked out with a free Poland. This is a highly significant hint, even though it is not much more than a diplomatic ripple at present, since experts who understand the psychology of nations realize that Polish occupation of 40,000 square miles of pre-war Germany is a thorn in the German side which will one day be righted, in one way or another.

The situation, and the resulting problem, is highly complex and involved at present. The West German attitude is that Poland will have to "give it back." However, the Communists have maneuvered West Germany into a somewhat complicated dilemma.

First of all, East Germany is Communist and Communist-dominated, and has recognized and accepted the new frontier. The other satellite countries, and Russia, have recognized that the former German territory is now a permanent part of Poland.

In 1939, about 10,000,000 Germans lived in this area, and 9,000,000 of them have been expelled to make way for the new Polish administration and occupation. West Germany believes these persons should have a vote in determining the fate of this area, which is more than 100 miles wide on the northern Baltic Sea shore of East Germany and Poland, and varies in width all the way down to the middle of the northeastern Czechoslovakian border, where it is perhaps 50 miles wide.

It is difficult to see how this problem can be easily solved. Russia took part of East Poland and gave part of East Germany to Poland as a sort of reparations payment. If Poland is to give Germany back its territory, and reduce its size, the question then arises whether Poland will expect some Russian concession on her eastern frontier. A free Poland might conceivably look toward Russia for some sort of settlement, though chances are "extremely thin" that such an agreement would ever be reached.

We do not think anything will come out of this first German hint that the border question should be discussed, but it is a development which is sure to be increasingly seen in the headlines from Europe in the coming years. It might eventually cause another bitter war in Central Europe unless it is satisfactorily solved.

Family Hobbies Will Pay Handsome Dividends

One of the most rewarding home pursuits the average citizen can follow is the development of a hobby, or family project, which enables him to enjoy the satisfaction of having done something constructive outside the realm of his daily work.

In the present age, when television, movies, automobiles and many other luxuries we now enjoy take so much time, the art of finding pleasure and satisfaction at home, in the form of hobbies or projects, is sometimes overlooked.

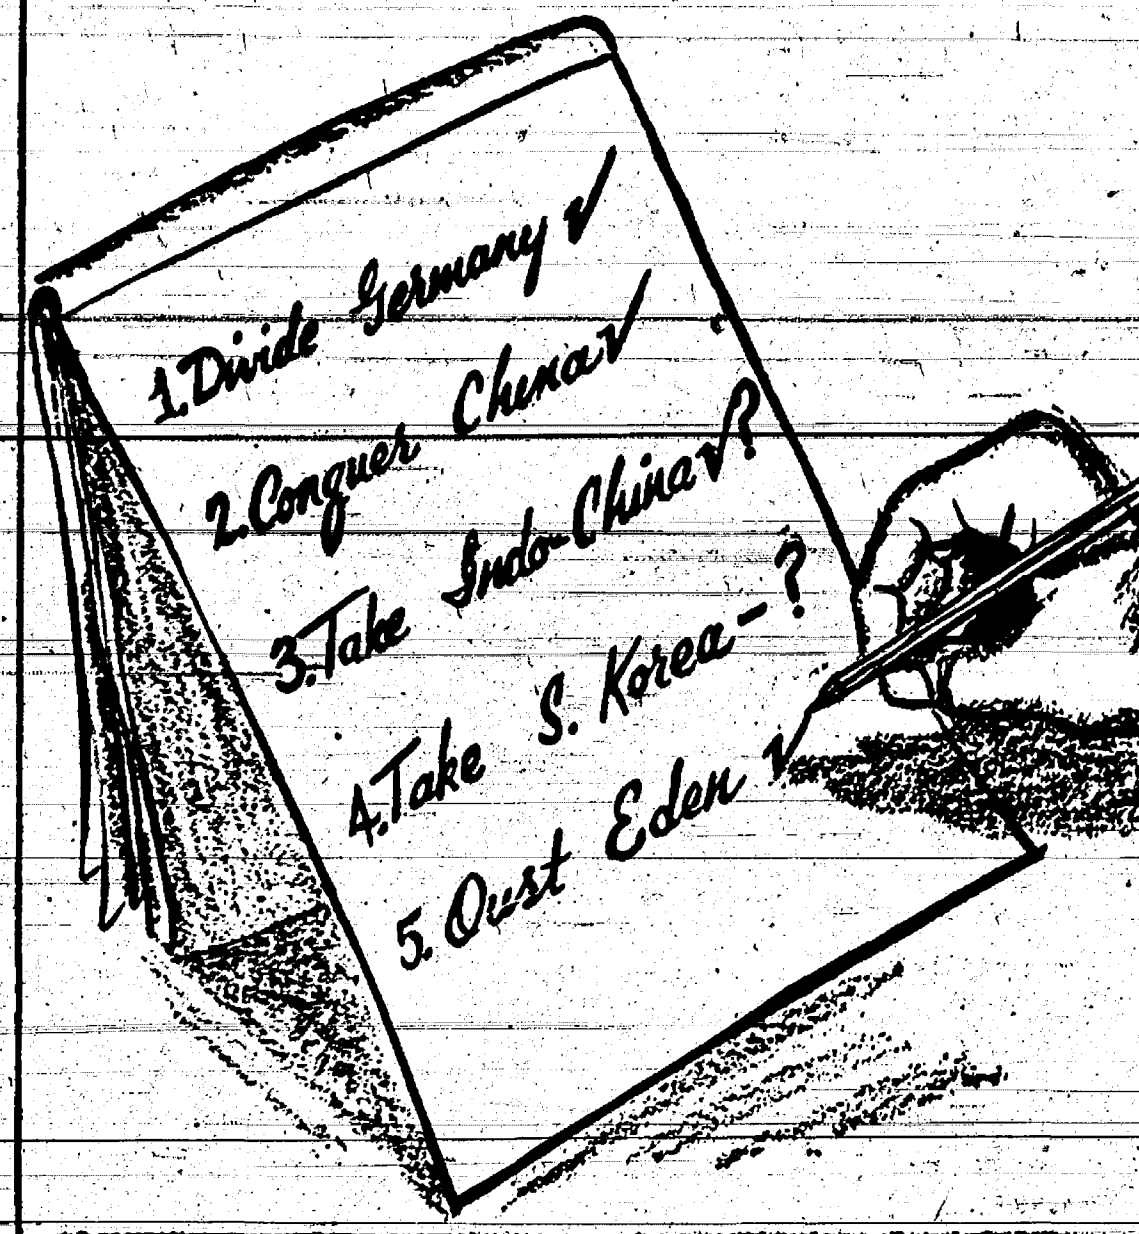

Yet, from a family standpoint, the development of projects, or the pursuit of hobbies, which provide both leisure and perhaps improvement of the home or yard, is entirely wholesome. If possible, families should work on projects together, with the children taking part and learning to take pride in what they achieve, as a family working together.

Watching television together at home is not necessarily the answer to the problem. This rarely helps one member of the family to know the other better, or to develop a sense of loyalty and love by working with him toward some common goal.

With the long winter evenings here, there are many projects which could keep a family occupied together. Try to develop such a program and devote some of your time to it. The rewards will not be insignificant.

COMMUNIST LEDGER

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Do you have more neighbors now than you did 15 years ago? It's entirely probable according to statistics released by Dr. Albert E. Heustis, state health commissioner.

Michigan's population passed the 7 1/2 million mark in 1958, says Dr. Heustis. What's more, the 8 million mark should be reached by 1960.

More births—less deaths are the biggest factors in the state's spectacular population increases. For each recorded death there are now more than three new babies entering the world in Michigan. In 1958 the birth rate was approximately 27 for every 1,000 residents. At the same time, deaths continued below nine per 1,000.

The birth rate continues to grow according to Dr. Heustis' report. "In 1941," the report states, "births surpassed 100,000 for the first time."

Medical advances continue to make inroads in the death rate. Maternity deaths decreased 90 per cent in the past 30 years. The death rate for newborn infants is down 55.8 per cent.

Among adults, heart disease and cancer continue as the No. 1 and 2 killers.

The "ups-and-downs" of medicine's fight against disease are recorded in the report. On the "good" side of the ledger the fight against infantile paralysis makes the most dramatic showing. With the first full year of immunization shots now past, poliomyelitis cases are not expected to go much higher than 600 for 1958. This is approximately half of the 1,177 cases reported in 1955.

Tuberculosis deaths are apparently leveling off. Last year's deaths are expected to number 500. Some 5,488 new cases were reported.

On the "bad" side, increases in typhoid fever and diphtheria are noted. The number of diphtheria cases is expected to exceed 300, although only 59 cases were reported in 1955. Typhoid's 50 cases are more than double the 1955 figure of 24.

A permanent residence for the governor will be discussed by lawmakers this year as one of the less "knotty" problems requiring their attention. Michigan remains one of the few states without a Governor's mansion.

A site survey report presented to the joint legislative state office buildings committee lists, among others, the novel proposal for a penthouse apartment on top of a new state office building as a possible solution.

While a penthouse differs from the conventional concept of a state mansion, it possesses some important advantages, says James W. Miller, state controller. "It is the only way a residence can be built adjacent to the capitol without the expenditure of approximately $350,000 for land," Miller states.

The proposed mansion would be used to provide facilities for visitors and rooms for official functions as well as living quarters for Michigan's Governor and his family.

"Pay-as-you-play" proposals to find additional revenue for the upkeep and improvement of state parks and recreational areas are gaining adherents both in the legislature and among sportsmen.

Several proposals, outlined in Michigan Mirror several weeks ago, now seem destined to be placed before the legislature early in the present session. Basically, the Michigan Conservation Commission wants to levy an admittance fee to state parks or sell year-long stickers to park users. All fees would be used exclusively on park expansion and upkeep.

Opponents of the idea charge that a fee program would be an unfair levy on a few persons. To check the attitude of the people most affected if the plan becomes law, the park patrons themselves the Conservation Department asked Michigan State University researchers to conduct an extensive survey. The MSU study showed that 85 per cent of the users were willing to pay a fee.

Year-long stickers are finding the most favor within the Conservation Commission. Wayland Osgood, deputy director of the Commission states that stickers would entail less administrative costs. Individuals fees would require that collectors be on hand at all state parks.

The Automobile Club of Michigan was one of the first groups to support the Conservation Department on their fee program for improvement. The Michigan United Conservation Clubs also are backing any plan the legislature adopts.

Jammed playground areas are forcing a decision. Park attendance swelled alarmingly after World War II and now reaches 18 million patrons yearly. Gerald Edley, director of the Conservation Department, estimates this will continue to grow to some 38 million people in 10 years.

Unless park growth continues to keep pace with this increase, facilities will deteriorate, and space will be cramped.

In a year when the legislature is having trouble paring the budget to meet available revenue, the suggested "users-pay" proposal will be greeted with a sympathetic ear.

A railroad solved the problem of transporting several 115-ton steel girders, 14 feet high and 126 feet long, by mounting each one on two sets of freight car wheels spaced 80 feet apart.

Study Committee
Forming To Decide
Huron River Future

Ann Arbor—Southeast Michigan communities from Dexter south to Flat Rock have been urged to join in deciding what should be done about the troubled waters of the Huron river, the Michigan Department of Health announced today.

Willard F. Shephard, department engineering director, said a study committee of river valley spokesmen is being called to probe conflicts in the multiple use of the river. The Huron serves as a source of water supply, as a channel for conveying pumped water from sewage plants, an area-wide recreation site, as well as for other purposes.

Shephard said representatives of several area agencies and of 14 units of local government along the river asked the health department to help organize the study committee.

He said the move was requested by local groups "with a sense of urgency over deciding promptly how the river can best be used on an area-wide basis, protecting common rights and the needs of all communities along this important waterway."

The health department, Shephard added, is convinced that projected demands on the Huron in years just ahead poses an extremely serious problem, demanding careful appraisal by all concerned and joint action now.

County School Children Will Receive Immunization

"County-wide clinics to give immunizations against diphtheria and tetanus (lockjaw) and smallpox vaccinations will be held beginning Jan. 28," said Dr. Frank Bethell, President of the Washtenaw County Medical Society.

"These clinics, which are conducted each year during the spring, are being held earlier this year because of the concern created by the unusual outbreak of diphtheria in Detroit," said Dr. Bethell.

Children are scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 28, for South and North Elementary schools, Chelsea High and St. Mary's school. Primary objective of these clinics is to offer "booster" immunizations to children who have already had their initial immunizations completed. Booster injections are recommended every three years for protection against diphtheria and tetanus, and every five years to protect against smallpox.

Children who have never had immunizations will be given their first injection at the clinics but the two remaining injections needed to complete the procedure must be obtained at the offices of the family physician.

"Attendance at the clinics has increased each year," said Dr. Otto K. Engelke, Washtenaw County Health Officer, "but in 1956 our attendance exceeded 10,000 children for the first time. Statistics for 1956 show that 11,120 children were seen at the clinics. A total of 6,547 smallpox vaccinations were given, 8,847 immunizations against diphtheria-tetanus, and 537 immunizations against diphtheria-tetanus and whooping cough. In Chelsea school a total of 395 smallpox vaccinations were given, 427 immunizations against diphtheria-tetanus and 15 diphtheria-tetanus-whooping cough immunizations were administered.

Parents can assure that their child receives these protective measures by signing a simple request slip which will be sent home by the school a few weeks preceding the clinic. Separate requests must be signed for diphtheria-tetanus and the smallpox vaccinations. No child will be given the immunization unless he has a signed request slip on hand at the time the clinic is held.

Richard Schneider Touring California Labor Camps

The Office of the Administration at Eola Village has announced that Richard Schneider, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Schneider of Chelsea, has accepted the invitation of the California Council of Churches to visit and review the various migratory labor camps and areas throughout California.

Schneider, who was a staff member of the Migrant Ministry in Oregon for a year before becoming manager, will leave by plane for San Francisco tomorrow. He will meet and confer with Rev. Theodore Van Dyck, western area president of the Evangelical and Reformed Church, before beginning the tour with Rev. Douglas Still, director of the California Migrant Ministry.

Rev. Still and Schneider will motor from the San Francisco area to the border of Mexico and into Mexico, visiting the migrant concentration areas and reviewing the various programs under the direction of the California Council of Churches, as well as seeing firsthand the points at which many migrants from Mexico enter the United States.

Monday they will return to Los Angeles to confer with Dr. Dean Goffine, western director of the Migrant Ministry and associate director of the National Council of Churches. From there Schneider will return to Oregon by plane to resume his duties and continue his studies as a senior at Linfield College.

Complete control of Eola Village, settlement for transient farm labor, was assumed by the Yamhill county housing authority at a meeting held Jan. 14.

The action was based on final relinquishment by the United States government of title to the property, which has been a joint operation for many years.

Guy Shumway of McMinnville, was elected chairman of the housing authority, William Hostettler, vice-chairman, and Richard Schneider, secretary-treasurer. Schneider also serves as manager of the village.

Monday, Jan. 28 Is Horse Day at Farmers' Week Event

Monday, Jan. 28, Farmers' Week is "Horse Day." Michigan horsemen are sponsoring the afternoon program, followed by a livestock banquet.

The program is held in the Livestock Pavilion, MSU campus, at East Lansing, beginning at 1:30 p.m. The famous Clydesdale Hitches, Wilson and Company, Chicago, Ill., will be a feature of the show. These hitches include their Champion Four and Six Horse Hitches at the 1956 International Livestock Exposition. The champion gelding, included in these hitches will be featured in a fitting and showing demonstration.

Both lightweight and heavyweight horse pulling contests will be a part of the afternoon program.

Four heavyweight teams, champions of the four states they represent, will compete in the heavy contest. These closely-matched teams, selected from the first five teams at the 1956 National, include the national champions, owned by R. F. Oakleaf, Tiffin, Ohio; Michigan champions, owned by John Hultzen, Grandville; Indiana champions, owned by Russell Hensley, Daleville, Ind.; and the Kentucky champions, owned by Alvin Cummins, Brookville, Ky.

The lightweight field of teams, likewise comes from four states. They include the 1956 Michigan champions, owned by Hugh Davis, Bronson; the Missouri champions, owned by Harold Gilbert, Shelbyville.

State Officer Tells Ways To Expand Services of Crippled Children's Society

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Washtenaw county Chapter of the American Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., G. S. Bossee, field secretary from the state organization, discussed the ways in which local chapters could expand their services to the public, said Mrs. Vladimir H. Bibicoff, president of the local organization.

Bossee suggested that the local chapters investigate the hiring of a paid worker who would institute such programs as day camps for crippled persons, the organization of activities of this area for socialization activities for particular groups such as cerebral palsied patients who normally do not have such relations. This worker could also find many persons in need of assistance and bring their needs to the attention of the board for possible aid.

At the present time, said Mrs. Bibicoff, the entire income of the local organization, which is received through the sale of Easter Seals, is spent in direct aid to crippled children and adults of the county. There is, as yet, no administrative expense in the organization since the work is being done entirely by volunteers.

The direct aid to individuals takes the form of payment for orthopedic devices such as braces, crutches and wheel-chairs. Other persons receive funds for rehabilitation purposes. An example of this was presented at this meeting when a request for payment of the expense of an extension course was approved for a crippled adult who is unable to earn his living in his usual manner. ZETA BETA CHAPTER

Shirley Rihimelki was the hostess for the Jan. 22 meeting of Zeta Beta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority and also presented the cultural program on the topic "The Dance."

During the business session ways and means of raising funds were discussed and a homecoming candy sale for Feb. 9 was decided upon.

Mo.; the Kentucky champions, owned by Lucas Brothers, Georgetown, Ky.; and the Indiana champions, owned by Archie Hensley, Muncie, Ind.

Champions in the 1957 Little International Block and Bridle Fitting and Showing Contest will put on a demonstration, using animals which they used to win the contest.

1956 4-H Scholarship and Trip award winners in the saddle horse project will stage demonstrations in the Western Pleasure, Three Gaited Pleasure, and Parade classes. The Grand Champion steer at the 1956 International Livestock Exposition will be on exhibit during the afternoon program.

Michigan horsemen sponsor a livestock banquet and program at 6 p.m. in the Union building.

Appearing on the program is Dean A. D. Weber, Kansas State, Manhattan, Kan.; and William Gilvill, secretary-manager of the International Livestock Exposition, Chicago, Ill.

Michigan horsemen will present to the Animal Husbandry Department, MSU, a picture, "The Turnpike Gate," painted in 1793 by the famous English painter, George Morland.

The 1956 Heavyweight National, a colored movie, will be shown by Don and Pearl Stickney, livestock photographers, of Royal Oak.

Senator C. T. Prescott, Prescott, is Toastmaster at the evening program.

work will prepare him for a new vocation.

The program of the organization is designed to accommodate any person who is incapacitated because of any condition. This, of course, is not only those persons, but also mental retarded children and adults and a host of the other conditions for which funds may not be readily available.

Home Freezers Give Family More Food for Less

Farm families with freezers have more total food at a little less cost than farm families who do no home freezing.

According to figures from a family food consumption survey done by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in north-central United States, farm families with freezing facilities had more home produced food, especially meat and frozen fruit and vegetables.

For example during the week of the survey, farm families with frozen storage ate food with a retail value of $7.25 a person, but the food they bought cost only $3.75 a person. Of this food, 46 per cent was home produced.

In contrast, farm families without frozen storage ate food worth $6.70 a person and of that $4.15 was bought. Only 97 per cent of this food was home produced.

Non-farm families with freezing facilities had somewhat more home-produced food than those without, but they spent as much to buy food. Those using freezing space had about $7.10 worth of food a person during a week, including $5.75 bought. Home produced food amounted to 13 per cent. The non-freezers had food worth $6.40 per person with $5.05 bought and 8 per cent home produced.

Contest To Select 'Mrs. Michigan'

Four lovely ladies arrived in town this week to help find the state's best homemaker of 1957 who will be crowned Mrs. Michigan on April 4.

They are current state titleholders: Mrs. Michigan, Nila Dreger, of Grand Rapids; Mrs. Indiana, Catherine Oatis of Marion; Mrs. Colorado, Adeline Morris of Denver, and Mrs. Illinois, Phyllis Rouse of Graylake.

This charming quartet are appearing at the Automobile Show this week at the Detroit Artillery Association, where they are giving entry blanks for the 1957 Mrs. America contest.

On Monday they will prepare their favorite recipes for representatives of the press, radio and television at the home service kitchens of Michigan Consolidated Gas Company.

The winner and her husband, in addition to many valuable prizes, will also have all expenses paid during a fabulous week in May at the exclusive new Beach Club hotel in Fort Lauderdale where Mrs. America will be picked from the 49 finalists. Mrs. America will make home more than $15,000 worth of prizes, including an all-gas kitchen and laundry, new De Soto, two weeks with her family at the Beach Club hotel and a host of other gifts.

Mrs. Dreger, 37-year-old mother of three girls, is quick to assure all who enter that the Mrs. Michigan and Mrs. America contests are not beauty contests. "I haven't had to appear in a bathing suit once," she said.

W. H. Glines, of Michigan Consolidated, local sponsor, said the main object of the Mrs. America Contest is to find the nation's outstanding homemaker.

"She need not be beautiful, nor the best cook, but she must be an all-around good wife and mother who loves her role as housewife, has poise, personality and knows how to run a happy home," Glines said.

He added that there were probably hundreds of could-be winners in Michigan who might feel reluctant to enter the Mrs. America contest, and he called upon husbands to urge their wives to enter. He pointed out that Mrs. Dreger's husband, Wayne, had to convince her that she was an outstanding homemaker.

Glines said that Mrs. Michigan of 1957 will be chosen from eight state finalists, selected by the American Gas Association panel of judges. The eight will compete in Detroit April 2-4 where kitchens will be set up at the Veterans Memorial Building. Each finalist will be asked to prepare a meal set a table, iron and sew during the competition. Each of the finalists will be given the automatic gas range she uses in the competition.

Entry blanks available at Michigan Consolidated offices and De Soto dealers, must be received by March 15, Glines added.

Home Freezers
Give Family More Food for Less

Farm families with freezers have more total food at a little less cost than farm families who do no home freezing.

According to figures from a family food consumption survey done by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in north-central United States, farm families with freezing facilities had more home produced food, especially meat and frozen fruit and vegetables.

For example during the week of the survey, farm families with frozen storage ate food with a retail value of $7.25 a person, but the food they bought cost only $3.75 a person. Of this food, 46 per cent was home produced.

In contrast, farm families without frozen storage ate food worth $6.70 a person and of that $4.15 was bought. Only 97 per cent of this food was home produced.

Non-farm families with freezing facilities had somewhat more home-produced food than those without, but they spent as much to buy food. Those using freezing space had about $7.10 worth of food a person during a week, including $5.75 bought. Home produced food amounted to 13 per cent. The non-freezers had food worth $6.40 per person with $5.05 bought and 8 per cent home produced.

Deer Hunting Questionnaires Ready for Mailing

Lansing—The first mailings of regular season deer hunting questionnaires will be made during the next few weeks. A total of 10,000 hunters will be asked to supply information in the Conservation Department's annual postcard survey of hunting activity and success.

Meanwhile, about 1,000 of the 8,000 special season questionnaires have not been returned by permit holders who were asked to participate in the poll this year. Replies in this survey are used to gain information on special season hunting, by areas.

The special season questionnaires were mailed out to hunters early in December, but mailings for the regular season survey cannot be made until final reports are made by license dealers throughout the state.

In the regular season survey, every 40th hunter on the license lists is contacted and asked to supply information on his hunting activity and success postcard survey.

This method gives a statistically-based cross-section of information important in determining total kill, hunting distribution and other basic data used in establishing hunting regulations and in other aspects of deer management.

Registration is now open for mid-winter adult classes at the Ann Arbor YWCA. Most begin the week of Jan. 28.

Registration may be made in person at the YWCA, 343 South Fourth avenue from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. or 10 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, Friday, Monday, classes last 10 weeks. $1.50 YWCA membership is required in addition to class fee.

For further information telephone NO 2-2581. Most classes are open to men.

SAVINGS BONDS

Small investors of the country now hold $41,125,000,000 in savings bonds, according to a report by the Government. Reports that sales of the bonds have not rolled up the expected 1956 volume. Even so, sales have averaged $446,000,000 a month, not too far below the goal $471,000,000 set by the Treasury.

Faculty members and graduate students at the University of Michigan College of Engineering publish between 10,000 and 13,000 pages of new research findings yearly.

THE TINY TRANSISTOR

The tiny transistor (shown here with a pen point to give you an idea of its size) is an electronic marvel. One of these days when you make a Long Distance call, your telephone operator will use transistors like this to help put your call through. This tiny electronic device generates musical tones which will automatically connect you with the number you're calling. For inventing transistors, three telephone scientists working at Bell Laboratories were recently awarded the Nobel Prize.

East Lima Farm Bureau

Group Changes Name to Agricultural Entrepreneurs

East Lima Farm Bureau, at its Jan. 17 meeting, changed its name to Agricultural Entrepreneur Farm Bureau group. The name was decided upon after one of the group gave the definition of entrepreneur as one who assumes the risk and management of a business, explaining that a farm is a business with both risk and management involved.

The evening's discussion on Michigan's need for agricultural research was led by Charles Powers, the group agreeing that more research is desirable on cattle and crop diseases but less on machinery.

Harold Gross and Lloyd Boyce who represented the Farm Bureau group at a meeting pertaining to the proposed organization of a Community Chest in Dexter, gave their report at Thursday's meeting and announced that another meeting on the question is to be held at Bates Elementary school in Dexter, Feb. 20.

Other business at the meeting included a discussion of the controversy over the insurance company's requirement for listing members as active or inactive on the group's roster. Thirteen families were present for Thursday's meeting which took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schairer.

The next regular meeting is to be held Feb. 21 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leigh Beach, 10410 Dexter-Chelsea road.

The bride-to-be received many lovely gifts at both parties.

The big hats which are so fashionable this year seem to be revivals of fashion around the turn of the century and the early 1920's. You will see them as very elaborate creations with flowers, fruits and frills. They are toques and drum-shaped, chapeaus. Clothing specialists predict that if this new style really takes hold in the next few years, we might see a trend towards long hair for the ladies. After all, she says, they will need something to which to pin the big hats.

Maryann Musolf

Maryann Musolf's engagement to Clyde Myers, has been announced by her parents, Mrs. Janette Musolf and Harold Musolf of Grass Lake. The bride-to-be is a senior at Stockbridge High school.

Mr. Myers, who is employed at Palmer Motor Sales, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Myers of Citra, Fla., formerly of Chelsea. The couple plans a summer wedding.

Nothing is more "homey" and delightful on a winter evening than a fire in an open fireplace. The know-how of modern brick masons and builders have largely eliminated the mess and bother connected with an open fire.

There are endless kinds of fireplace equipment to add pleasure to fire building. New types of dampers on the market do away with the draft usually associated with a fireplace when it is not in use. Modern fire screens and more efficient fire logs make it much safer to have an open fireplace in your home.

A fireplace, even when not in use, is an attractive addition to any home. During the summer it will look cool and lovely filled with growing house plants or cutgreens. It will provide a center of interest for an otherwise dull room.

Large, Early-American type fireplaces are popular for a den or kitchen these days. They have a double use, providing a perfect charcoal cooker during the winter months.

A wood fire is by far the most attractive kind of fire to have. Hardwoods make the best firewood because they burn longer and hotter. It is a good idea to have a sheltered place to keep some logs dry. These dry logs will catch quickly and in turn keep the greener wood burning.

Slightly green wood burns more slowly and after it catches, will make a fire that lasts a long time. There are chemical products on the market that can be thrown into the flames to give many different colored lights, to a fire. Pine cones also make an interesting fire patterns.

If your coffee table, end tables or dining table has become stained by some careless person placing a glass of liquid on it and leaving it there too long, don't be alarmed. You can remove it by making a mixture of soft soap, butter and cigarette ashes. Rub the mixture over the stain and it will blend into the wood. Water spots and glass rings on wood surfaces need be a problem no longer.

There is an easy way to get those hard-to-clean bottles bright without soaking them for hours. Fill the bottles with soapy water, add a little ammonia and a tablespoon of rice. Shake well for a few seconds. The dirt and film will be removed almost at once. If you are in the process of repainting your home, be sure to fill empty nail-polish bottles with some of each color you are using. Later, when a scratch appears on your walls you are set to do a touch-up job yourself. The small brush is just the right size.

When ironing any article trimmed with fringe, you will find a hairbrush will help you do a much neater job.

The tangled, hard-to-press fringe can be dampened and smoothed down with the brush. Then it is an easy matter to press it to look as good as new.

Michigan Pastors Hold Conference

The 18th annual Michigan Pastors' Conference, sponsored jointly by the University of Michigan Extension Service and the Michigan Council of Churches, was held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week at Ann Arbor. Headquarters of the conference was the Horace H. Rackham School of Graduate Studies.

Special worship services, luncheons and dinners during the three-day conference took place in the First Methodist church, Congregational church, First Baptist church and the Michigan League.

Chelsea area pastors attended the conference and the Rev. Thomas Toy, an appointed official representative of the Congregational church, attended the General Assembly of the State Council at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon. The session took place in the First Methodist church at Horace and State streets.

Church leaders who took part in an ecumenical worship hour in the sanctuary of the First Methodist church Monday evening included the Rev. Herman R. Bay, Bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Michigan; the Rev. J. L. Roberts, pastor of the Bethel African Methodist Episcopal church of Detroit; the Rev. Carl B. Martenson of the Park Street Congregational church, Grand Rapids; the Rev. Kenneth G. Neigh, president of the Michigan Council of Churches and executive head of the Presbyterian Synod of Michigan; the Rev. Henry G. Polio prevention doesn't rank very high in the thoughts of many Washtenaw county young adults. Getting educated, starting work, and raising a family are all more important, unless you happen to fall on the wrong side of the law of averages.

Then, as Bob Gantz and Bob Claire can tell you, even a little polio can be quite disrupting.

Gantz, 22, a University medical student, noticed his polio symptoms shortly after the UCLA football game last fall. Since then, a good deal of Bob's daily routine has been devoted to therapeutic treatment—designed to get his hands, arms and upper extremities back in good working order. Fortunately, he didn't plan to become a surgeon.

Claire, 26, was hospitalized in October after two weeks of home care. Most severely involved was his left leg, but he's already getting around on a wheelchair and crutches and can spend week-ends at home with his parents at Whitmore Lake. Even so, it will be a while before he can resume regular work in the homebuilding business he shares with his brother.

In a sense, both Bobs were lucky: neither had a wife and neither was as hard hit physically as many young adults are by polio. Gantz was discharged from University Hospital recently, while Claire home to live with his mother.

Both will continue receiving March of Dimes treatment on an outpatient basis.

For Gantz, polio has put a damper on an amateur's interest and participation in such sports as hockey, basketball, touch football and tennis. From a medical standpoint, however, he's profited greatly from recent advances in protecting and developing muscles attacked by polio.

Both he and Claire were surprised and relieved to learn that all their medical costs stemming from polio would be covered by March of Dimes, which spends millions of dollars annually for medical aid and rehabilitation of polio patients.

Claire doesn't anticipate much difficulty with his leg after his out-patient therapy is completed, although both he and Gantz have been three to four months to recover from even a mild polio infection. Claire is very much impressed by the high morale evident throughout the polio ward at the hospital.

Come Fall, both patients hope to be back at their former resumes. Claire's partnership with his father and Gantz as a junior medical student at the U-M. Both will have spent nearly a year and thousands of dollars getting back where they were before polio struck.

Polio vaccine was not widely available for young adults when the two Bobs came down with the disease. But today, plenty is available. Other young men and women in a hurry to get ahead with careers and family can be sure they and their friends won't be delayed by polio simply by taking three Salk shots and by donating to the March of Dimes.

First Robin Reported Tuesday Noon

To Mrs. Frank Reed and her brother, Alfred Titus, again goes the distinction of being the first to report seeing a robin here. In fact, they saw three at one time in the yard at the Reed home Tuesday noon. Mrs. Reed maintains a feeding station and has had blue jays and cardinals as regular visitors for some time.

Roumanian Refugee Arrives Under Sponsorship of Rogers Corners Church

Johann Barth, a Roumanian refugee, who was brought to the United States under the sponsorship of Zion Evangelical Lutheran church, Rogers Corners, arrived here Sunday and is now making his home with the Harold Eschelbachs where he is also employed. His wife and child are living in Roumania and do not plan to join him here at this time.

Barth made the ocean trip from Bremerhaven, Germany, on the U. S. Naval transport General Langfitt, having boarded the ship Jan. 8. He arrived in Ann Arbor at 8:45 a.m. Sunday and was met there by the Eschelbachs.

The program to assist refugees in the resettlement program is sponsored by the Lutheran Refugee Service, a project of the National Lutheran Council and the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod. The Rogers Corners church decided in December, 1955, to sponsor a refugee as a project of the entire congregation and three couples of the church were appointed to make all arrangements necessary. They are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Eschelbach, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Schoenberg and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Koengster.

The newly-arrived refugee was born in Arbegen, Roumania, and worked on his father's farm until drafted into the Roumanian army in 1938. He served as a front line soldier in Russia in 1941. After his marriage in 1943 he took over his father's farm but was soon drafted into the German army and served until May, 1945. Two months after his discharge he fled to Austria and worked as a farm hand. In 1947 he fled the Russian Zone of Austria, working as a farm helper in the United States zone in the vicinity of Wels, Lambach and Linz; as a forest laborer; and as an unskilled laborer in a brick factory in upper Austria until he came to this country.

He has no relatives in Austria. He speaks German, Hungarian and Roumanian; understands French and Italian; and plans to learn English as quickly as possible, according to the Rev. Robert C. Kaiser, pastor of the sponsoring Rogers Corners church.
