Johnson, Washtenaw county agricultural agent, has announced an emergency meeting to be held at the American Legion hall in Manchester tomorrow afternoon to acquaint sheep farmers with plans for the detection and control of sheep scab (scabiosis) which has appeared in Washtenaw county. Johnson said, "It's very important that we get this disease under control immediately so let's get our neighbors out to this meeting. Lindemer, Van Dusen Speak At County GOP Convention

At this week's GOP Convention, Washtenaw county Republicans Van Dusen and Lindemer were keynote speakers. Van Dusen, who was elected to the 1956 state administrative election losses were a possible turning point for the Republican party if gloom and doubt were cast off and a vigorous attitude adopted toward winning the spring elections. Van Dusen reminded the convention that the spring elections often have been taken for granted by the GOP. The convention was held in the County Building in Ann Arbor. In addition to Van Dusen, committees were heard from and election was held naming 38 delegates and alternates to the state GOP convention to be held in Detroit, Feb. 6. Delegates to the State Convention will elect a new state Chairman and candidates for various state positions. Lawrence B. Lindemer, 55-year-old Lansing lawyer from Stockbridge and candidate for the post of State Chairman, cited his position as being free from any factions in the party and with consequent ability to remove elements within the Republican party in Michigan. Lindemer was well received and will be a strong candidate for the State Chairmanship post at the state convention. Other candidates for this post

Health Report OK's Site for 4-H Building

Tuesday, Washtenaw Farm Council committees studying the proposed selection of a new site for the 4-H and agricultural activities building originally planned to be erected on the former Ann Arbor fairgrounds, received Board of Health approval of water supply and sanitary facilities for the two Zeeb road sites under consideration. Levoy Heller is chairman of the new site committee. Heller said yesterday that the Washtenaw County Farm Bureau is also checking on a location for a new office building and Farm Bureau committees and Farm Council committees are working together on the possibility of having both new structures—Farm Bureau and 4-H and agricultural—on the same site. It is believed such an arrangement would be advantageous to both groups. The site committee gave a report of its activities at a meeting of the Farm Council board of directors Friday evening. A committee report, also scheduled to be made at that meeting, was delayed until Board of Health approval of sanitary facilities and water supply for the proposed new sites could be obtained. The Farm Council board of directors is to be held in the County Building at Ann Arbor this evening. Indications are that a general meeting of the Washtenaw Farm Council will be arranged as soon as the special committees have definite plans to recommend.

The Rev. W. H. Skentelbury, former pastor of the Chelsea Congregational church and for the past four and one-half years pastor of the Litchfield Congregational church, is retiring from the ministry according to an announcement received this week. His resignation became effective Jan. 31 but he remained to conduct services last Sunday before he and his wife leave for a Florida vacation. The Skentelburys were honored at a farewell dinner at the Litchfield church last Sunday. Upon their return from Florida they will make their home permanently in Litchfield where they have purchased the house next to the parsonage. LESSON IN CITIZENSHIP—Mrs. Francis Smysor's fourth grade, putting into action some of the lessons learned in their citizenship and Americanism studies, voted to make a contribution of one dollar to the polio campaign and one dollar to CARE for overseas relief work. The two contributions do not seem remarkable until it is learned that the two dollars is the prize money won for their Halloween window painting contest entry and that customarily such prize money is spent for a party or treat for the pupils themselves. Monday morning, during the recess period the entire class and their teacher went to Chelsea Post Office and turned over their contribution to Postmaster Carl Mayer, at right. The two boys shown handing the contributions to Mayer are Charles Schmunk, class treasurer (left), and David Frisinger, class president.

Purple Finches Are Wintering at Cavanaugh Lake

Mr. and Mrs. Chandler Rogers of 82 Cavanaugh Lake, have discovered that purple finches, rare in this part of the country, are among the many varieties of birds which are spending the winter at the Chandler home. Several pairs of the purple finches have been seen there since the first of the year. Their native habitat is in northern Ontario, Newfoundland, Minnesota and North Dakota, and they customarily spend the winter from southern Ontario and the southern part of the New England states to as far south as the Gulf of Mexico. Their appearance here is unusual. Approximately the size of an English sparrow, the males have shaded red to pink breasts and topped heads. The bright color also appears in a streak down the back, extending from the head to the tail. The females are somewhat less colorful and have no top notch on their heads. Although their official name is "purple" finch the birds are not that color. The Cavanaugh Lake area is the only place where the birds have been reported in this vicinity.

A meeting will be held in the social center of the Methodist church. Al Easton was inducted as a member of the Chelsea Kiwanis club Monday evening. Temporary Matron Serving Juvenile Home When Needed

While awaiting recommendations of the National Association of Probation and Parole on staffing the Juvenile Home, Probate Judge John W. Conlin has made arrangements with Sheriff Erwin L. Klager for the Sheriff's department to provide a matron whenever it becomes necessary to place children in the Home. The arrangement will serve until a permanent worker is on the staff. Judge Conlin said the court has been fortunate in not having had to use the home much since the resignations of the juvenile workers. He has had to place only two children for short periods in the Home the past month. Former Juvenile Director Harold A. Nielsen left his position Thursday when his resignation became effective. Until such time as he is able to follow the recommendations of a report by the State Department of Social Welfare and hire a new juvenile director and caseworkers, Judge Conlin said he may ask the welfare department to provide temporary workers to handle cases in juvenile court. John Ferguson of the State Department of Social Welfare has recommended the juvenile division have three or four caseworkers in addition to the director, agent, assistant and clerical staff.

239 Dogs 'Shot' At Sylvan Rabies Vaccination Clinic

At the Sylvan township anti-rabies clinic, held in Sylvan Town Hall last Thursday, a total of 239 dogs were vaccinated. Dr. P. B. Sherrard and Dr. Wilfred Lane, local veterinarians, worked at top speed to handle the record turnout. The number of dogs vaccinated this year was an increase of 57 over last year's 184 vaccinations handled here. In 1955 the total was 126. Mrs. J. L. O'Hara, Sylvan township treasurer, sold a total of 162 dog licenses and Mrs. Hilda Pierce, Lima township treasurer, sold 40 licenses. Mrs. O'Hara was assisted by her sister, Mrs. Herbert Roy, and her son, Richard O'Hara. The township treasurers were at the clinic for the convenience of dog owners who wished to obtain licenses for their dogs as soon as the required vaccination was completed.

Local Fishermen Spear Big Pikes

Kenneth Livingston of Cavanaugh Lake, hauled in a 31-inch, 84-pound Northern Pike while spearing on Mill Lake Sunday. Another ice fisherman, Earl Kaimbach of Grass Lake, speared a 6-pound pike the same afternoon after taking a 9 1/2-pound one.

Fox Hunt Scheduled This Sunday

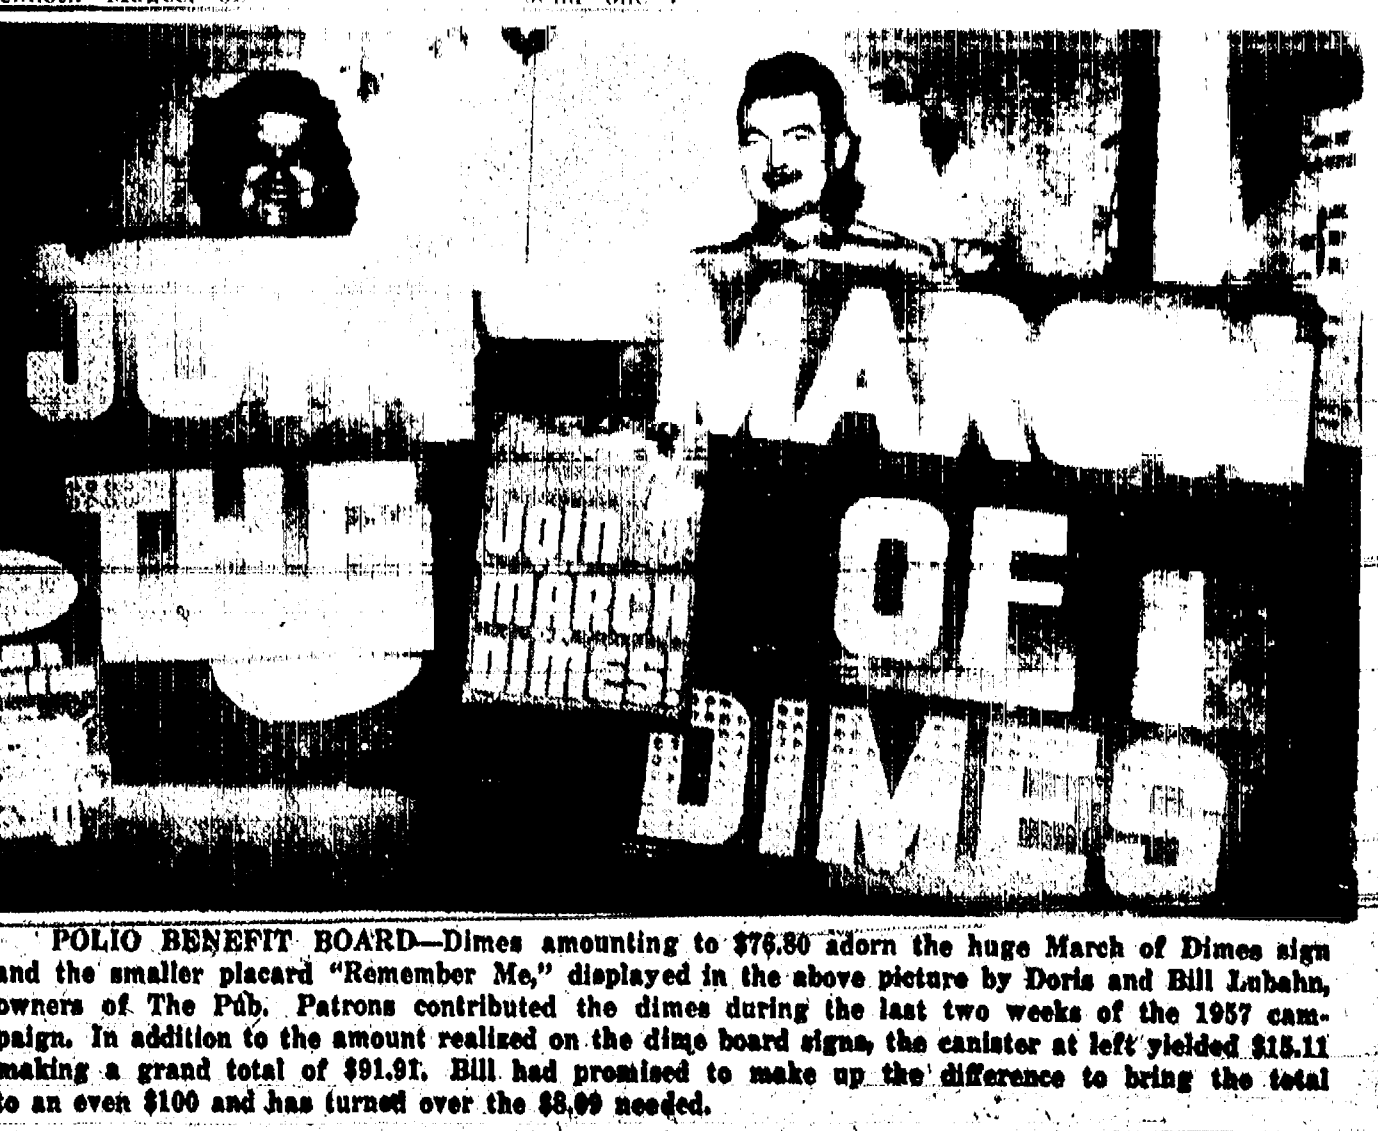

Crafty Reynard will test his fabled cunning against assembly of overwhelming odds Sunday, Feb. 10 when the Chelsea Rod and Gun Club, assisted by the Detroit Outdoorsmen and the Jackson Outdoors Club, will hold an organized fox hunt in cooperation with the farmers in the vicinity of Sharon Hollow. The avowed intention of the hunters is to reduce this predator's population for the benefit of poultry and game on the fox's diet. Any interested hunters or farmers are welcome to participate. Hunters will meet at M-92 and U S-12 at 8:30 a.m. for preliminary instructions and then proceed to the areas selected for drives. At 2 p.m. mulligan stew will be served at Lyndon Township hall to climax the affair. It is hoped that such cooperative efforts between land owners and organized sportsmen's groups will broaden their mutual understanding and lead to better hunter-farmer relations. These hunts were started three years ago when interested farmers, organized sportsmen's groups and the Conservation Department, in a cooperative effort, sought improved highway conditions on Waterloo road. Sponsors of the project said some success in improvement of the highway has been realized; also, that the Washtenaw County Road Commission has promised the committee that blacktopping would be applied to Waterloo road at the same time the state made improvements on M-92.

Tea will be served by the women of the Congregational church in Fellowship room immediately after the service.

Mayer, Mrs. Stephen Slane, Donald Houle and Robert J. Greeenough. The directors will meet this month to organize and elect officers. A resolution was passed extending a vote of appreciation to Harold A. Jones, president of the board the past year, for his efforts.

POLIO BENEFIT BOARD—Dimes amounting to $75.80 adorn the huge March of Dimes sign and the smaller placard "Remember Me" displayed in the above picture by Doris and Bill Lubahn, owners of The Pub. Patrons contributed the dimes during the last two weeks of the 1957 campaign. In addition to the amount realized on the dime board signs, the cashier at left yielded $15.11 making a grand total of $91.91. Bill had promised to make up the difference to bring the total to an even $100 and has turned over the $8.99 needed.

Here's How You Can Help Junior Brush His Teeth

Ann Arbor—If you want junior to have healthy teeth, get him in the habit of brushing his teeth regularly at an early age, says a University of Michigan dentist.

Dr. Dorothy Hard, director of the curriculum in dental hygiene at the U-M School of Dentistry, says that parents are the key to accomplishing this habit in children.

Admitting that getting a three-year-old to brush his teeth regularly is a difficult problem, Dr. Hard makes some useful suggestions that will help parents:

1. Children are happier if they have their own child-size brushes. Make something of the purchase. Let the child select the color brushes he wants from the display counter.

2. Have at least three different colored brushes—one each for breakfast, lunch, and dinner. The child will associate a meal with a brush, a good step toward achieving a three-times-a-day brushing habit.

3. Select a dentifrice the child likes. If he likes the flavor, he'll like brushing.

Dr. Hard recommends that children use a paste dentifrice in that their unfamiliarity with dentifrices may cause them to choke.

It is most important for the parent to actually show the child how to brush his teeth when this routine is just getting started, says Dr. Hard.

Dr. Hard says that the parent can show interest and participate, being with the child while he brushes his teeth.

It is not easy for parents to spend time with the child three times a day, especially if children play around while brushing their teeth, she notes. But each parent should try to work with the child at least once a day. Evening, just before going to bed, is probably the most convenient for the parent.

Looking at your teeth while brushing them is extremely important for both children and adults, says Dr. Hard.

"Teeth would get a lot cleaner if people would only look in a mirror while they are brushing, about once a week in the bathroom hanging wall long enough for a child to see himself."

"Because the teeth are hidden, people very seldom look at them. Even if a person is not brushing his teeth, he can do a very good job if he looks at them while brushing."

Dr. Hard cautions against expecting too much from the youngsters when they start brushing their teeth.

"You can't expect a three-year-old to do the job well. It is very important, however, to establish good habits early, and parents can help a great deal in accomplishing this," she adds.

Half Million More Teachers Needed by 1965

Ann Arbor—"Schools will have to increase their teaching staff more in the next 10 years than in the previous 35 if they are to maintain present pupil-teacher ratios," says Francis W. Dalton, associate professor of vocational education at the University of Michigan.

"To find an adequate supply of teachers involves a task that will tax our wisdom and our means, but it most certainly will not exceed our powers," he says.

"Colleges and universities will have to add more teachers in the next 15 years than in all previous history combined. There will need to be one-half million more school teachers on the job in 1965 than today."

"But it is more than just recruiting about 50,000 teachers annually for expansion. It will require about three times this many annually to replace those that leave."

Where are the schools to get the teachers of tomorrow? Professor Dalton says, "They must come from three main sources—those we now have, the young people coming up through our schools and colleges, and the adults in our community. We are especially concerned at this time with encouraging capable young people to consider teaching as a career and to remove roadblocks in their way."

INCOME TAX FACTS No. 1

How to Save Tax Dollars

(This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax filing. These articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Accountants, and the Michigan Society of Certified Public Accountants in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.)

Between now and April 15 over sixty million Americans must file a tax return to report their 1956 income to the federal government. On the basis of past experience about 1 out of every 4 returns filed will contain an error of $2.00 or more. Last year these errors totaled over $100,000,000.

To help you prepare a correct return and avoid mistakes that cost you tax dollars, this newspaper is printing a series of eight articles prepared with the help of the national and state organizations of certified public accountants.

Today's article deals with problems faced by almost anyone who has to make out a return. Later articles will give special hints on deductions you may take, particularly if you own a car, home or business. Use this series along with the official instruction book which comes free with your tax forms.

Common Mistakes

According to the results of a sample of the Internal Revenue Service, the mistakes most often made by taxpayers fall into these four groups:

(1) Incorrect listing of income. This is the main source of error, partly because of misreading questions involving business income. Individuals make mistakes too by leaving out such items as interest on savings accounts, dividends and contest winnings, or by including items which are exempt.

(2) Errors in personal deductions. This category includes the deductions taken when the 10 per cent "standard deduction" is not used. Important deductions from income are: state and local taxes, interest paid on loans, charitable contributions, medical expenses, losses from storm, fire, flood or theft.

(3) Claiming too many or too few dependents. Exemptions are allowed for the taxpayer himself and for certain persons he supports, if they fit the definitions in the instruction book.

(4) Faulty arithmetic. This is the cause of the fewest number of errors, but approximately 30 per cent of these arithmetic mistakes are made by the taxpayer against himself, resulting in approximately $19,000,000 in overpayment of taxes.

The first thing to determine is whether you should file a return or not. Everyone whose gross income was $600 or more in 1956 must file.

WHEAT FARMERS

Wheat farmers of the nation have signed agreements placing 10,892,127 acres in the soil bank, a winter wheat acreage reserve program through the middle of November. The 1954-55 farmers in 36 states will be eligible for a maximum of $108,877,046 in acreage reserve payments if they comply with the requirements. Agriculture Department states.

"AGE OF AGE"

This is becoming an "age of age." By 1970, 20,000,000 Americans will be 65 years or older. Since chronic diseases take their toll in older persons and many will not be able to pay for medical care through insurance, Federal action to stimulate state programs to reduce the impact of chronic illness upon older persons is being considered.

The instruction book which comes with your tax forms gives further information. Help is also available by telephone or at offices of the Internal Revenue Service. The Revenue Service urges you to consult properly qualified advisors if you decide to seek outside help.

U. S. Embarks on Program of Free World Leadership

President Eisenhower's inaugural address recently was a historical foreign policy turning point for the United States. While many Americans might not realize it, the President's declaration that this country would hereafter take over an active responsibility as the leader of the free world, means that tough days and controversial times lie ahead for the country.

Consider the trials and tribulations such a policy—an inevitable development—will bring to the people and the government of the United States. Should we act in this crisis? Should we back this faction or that faction in a certain country? Should we support this ally or that ally in a sudden crisis? Should our military personnel be sent here, and if so, with what orders pertaining to action?

The Eisenhower Administration will not be able to dodge many world problems from now on. And our policy should be a consistent one. It will also have to be a firm one. We might face crises very soon which would require the use, or the backed-up threat, to use force if necessary.

All such occasions will put a strain on the administration in power, and if sudden crises result in the use of military force, controversies will certainly spring up. Yet the President feels he has no choice.

Our decision to oppose the British and French in attempting to crush Nassar and his Egyptian government, made it mandatory that we take over the leadership they had exercised in various parts of the world. By doing so we caused the Egyptian invasion to fail and caused the British and French to lose prestige all over the world.

The United States is now embarked on a program to captain the free world team in just about every part of the world. Formerly we were preponderant in some areas, the British in others, and at one time, the French in still others. If the job is done right it will take a far greater effort than we have made in recent years.

Everyone Has 'Cure' for Common Cold Except Science

We would not want to discourage those who think they have discovered a cure for the common cold, but so far as science is concerned, there is not yet any vaccine or serum which will prevent an individual from, at some time or other, "catching cold."

About the best defense for the individual eager to prevent colds, is to avoid those who have a cold; dress warmly and avoid becoming chilled or wet, eat properly, get enough fresh air, exercise and rest.

Of course, the above rules constitute sound advice, whether one wants to dodge a cold or not. They represent common sense applied to the job of living well. The advice will tend to prevent one from getting sick-nesses of any kind. About all that it will no help prevent is an accident, or the unexpected visit of an unwelcome relative.

The experts suggest of you do get a cold: (1) Get plenty of rest and, if at all possible, stay in bed. (2) Avoid mingling in crowds and, as nearly as possible, stay in an even temperature. By keeping away from others, you also protect them from your cold. (4) If the cold continues and you develop fever, call your doctor. There may be some other cause for the fever.

We are reminded of the old axiom that "if one does nothing for a cold, it will probably go away in a week; but with proper treatment and care it will last only 7 days."

Are You A Worrier?

It is surprising how time seems to take care of most of life's problems, even though some of them seem insoluble at the moment.

Nevertheless, time is the greatest healer of all, and even the most melancholy turn of events can be softened, and even erased, by the passage of time.

It is a great consolation to realize that time will solve about 90 per cent of your worries and, if you can keep this in mind; it will calm your emotions and improve your philosophy of life and your day-to-day performance.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Elimination of diseased poultry from Michigan markets is the aim of a program underway in the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

At present there are no Federal laws requiring inspection of poultry. Many of the chickens and turkeys eaten in Michigan come from southern states where there are few quality controls.

To combat the problem, the agriculture department is offering Michigan poultry producers an inspection service which guarantees the consumer that the "chicken in the pot" is entirely wholesome and free from disease.

It is voluntary for the farmer—and its success can only be insured if "Mrs. Housewife" demands the protection.

Any producer can avail himself of the service. He contacts the department of agriculture, which sends the machinery in motion. A veterinarian (usually local) is hired by the department to inspect the birds during processing for market.

The inspector removes diseased birds and assures that the processing is conducted under sanitary conditions.

The healthy poultry is tagged by the veterinarian with a special green and white metal wing-clip provided by the Agriculture Department, guaranteeing the wholesomeness of the produce. This clip identifies the inspected birds in the markets and grocery stores.

The producer's only cost is payment for the veterinarian's time. However, many poultry men are reluctant to add to their costs when they must compete with cheap, uninspected poultry coming from southern states.

The key to the success of the program is consumer "demand." If the consumers want a better product, they can have it. Unless they do, it is easier and cheaper to provide uninspected poultry.

Here's a knotty problem: Design a hollow metal ball capable of being shot 300 miles through space able to attain speeds of 18,000 miles per hour without disintegrating; strong enough to withstand the pressures of outer space, and light enough to carry delicate measuring equipment without harm.

Brooks and Perkins, a Michigan metal fabricating company located in Detroit is now working on this very problem. Last July the firm was awarded the government contract to manufacture the "earth satellite" sphere which the United States hopes to launch as its part in the international Geophysical year, beginning July, 1957.

Part of the ultimate success or failure of the project rests on the satellite weighs on the shoulders of this Michigan company.

"Perfection is our primary problem," says E. Howard Perkins, president of the company. Personnel connected with the project can only estimate some of the difficulties that may arise when the launching is accomplished.

The sphere is made from magnesium, a metal known for its combined lightness and strength. The manufacturing process includes machining the hollow globe to three-hundredths of an inch thickness. The outside is then polished to perfection to minimize possible friction. Finally the globe is taken to the firm's Livonia plant where a gold plating is applied to deflect the sun's heat rays and keep the recording instruments cool.

Five spheres are already completed. Plans are now scheduled for a launching some time after January, 1958 from a Florida site. And what does the firm of Brooks and Perkins think about the role they are playing in the history-making event? They couldn't be happier. As they point out, before the satellite contract came to Michigan, they were practically unknown in Detroit. The contract changed that and brought them a host of new friends.

If Michigan were suddenly cut off from the rest of the country for food supplies how well would we eat?

Michigan's diversified agricultural economy provides a pleasant "bury" of satisfaction in answer to this question once each year at an annual "All-Michigan Dinner."

This unique banquet is sponsored by the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Michigan Press Association every January for newspapermen from all parts of the state. Purpose: to show that Michigan food products lead the way in quality and "tastefulness," that Michigan's farms produce many different kinds of crops. Only Michigan food is served. And from the variety presented, no one should expect more.

This year's menu included such tasty items as half of a "golden fryer," spiced tomato juice, fresh rhubarb pie and cheese, buttered peas and mushrooms, fresh lettuce and cottage cheese, whipped potatoes, celery, carrot sticks and radishes.

Every bit was grown right in Michigan. Every year the menu is changed to include some of the many other products available.

Not only is a delicious dinner provided, but additional Michigan foods are introduced to the newspapermen. Michigan beans, sausage, apples (fresh and spiced), pickles, salt, cherries, onions, "Huffy" pancake and waffle mix, and other products all demonstrate Michigan's agricultural diversity.

It's a fact that carelessness adds to the cares of life.

Army Reserve Training Center To Hold Open House

Ann Arbor—The new Army Reserve Training Center in Ann Arbor will hold open house Feb. 22 and 23 with an exhibit of military material and equipment and a demonstration of reserve training and operations, Maj. Thomas D. Krenitsky, area advisor, announced today.

The training center occupies the former Gill Lumber Co. building at 624 South Main street, Ann Arbor, interior of which has been undergoing alterations since it was leased by the Army last fall. Maj. Krenitsky disclosed that the present quarters will serve for an indefinite period pending arrangements for and construction of a permanent Army.

Local Reserve units, 16 of which train regularly in the center, are cooperating in the open-house program designed to illustrate unclassified aspects of their functions. The University of Michigan Army ROTC organization and the Michigan Military District headquarters at Ft. Wayne are also lending a hand, Maj. Krenitsky said.

Among the items to be seen during the open house will be various types of rifles, machineguns and other weapons. In addition, a complete radio broadcasting station, Bailey bridge, floating bridge and timber trestle models, and other training equipment will be shown. Reservists will perform some of their military specialties, such as life-saving and first-aid techniques of medical corpsmen. There will also be brief explanatory remarks from Reservists in charge of various displays.

The public is being invited to attend. Hours will be from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Friday, Feb. 22, and 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 23.

NEW VEHICLE TAX

Owners of trucks and other high-way motor vehicles weighing more than 26,000 pounds must soon start paying the use tax on them. Forms for filings will be available at district Internal Revenue Service offices beginning Dec. 8, and the deadline is Jan. 31, for returns on vehicles used at any time in July through December of this year. Thereafter, the returns must be made by the end of the month following the one in which the vehicle is first used. The new tax this fiscal year is for use in the highway construction program.

Senator Potter reports

the latest news from Washington of special interest to Michigan

A BODY BLOW at Michigan's future as a seaport was struck by a group of eastern and southern railroads last week. Lake shippers are fighting back and they have my full support. Before in this transportation tug-of-war, the Interstate Commerce Commission and within a few days we should know who comes out on top.

The ICC's decision will determine the competitive position of Michigan's Lake ports. It has a bearing on the healthy growth of traffic on the St. Lawrence Seaway. The way I want to tell you about it in some detail.

Bay City, Detroit, Sault Ste. Marie—any port which hopes to build its Seaway trade—has a stake in the rules formulated by the ICC. The crux of the present dispute is "free time" at port cities. Since ocean-going ships do not pursue hard-and-fast schedules, outbound cargo often sits at the dock for days awaiting pickup. Realizing this, railroads permit certain amount of "free time" before storage charges are levied.

A shipper can move his products to the Atlantic, Pacific or Gulf Coast, comfortable in the knowledge that if they are not taken promptly into the ship's hold, no storage charges will pile up for the first six days. Great Lakes ports certainly are entitled to equal treatment. But last September an ICC order limited free time at Lake ports to two days. What would you do, in those circumstances, if you were a shipper? You'd ship out via Baltimore, New Orleans, or Norfolk where you could count on six days of free time. Why patronize Muskegon or Monroe where, after 48 hours, you'd be billed for storage?

Obviously, the substantial Seaway trade which would be stifled by this discrimination, I protested vigorously to the ICC and urged immediate cancellation of the two-day rule. There were letters, telegrams, conferences, and a full-dress hearing in Chicago which dramatized the hardships suffered by lake interests under the order. Finally, on Dec. 8, 1956, the ICC canceled it.

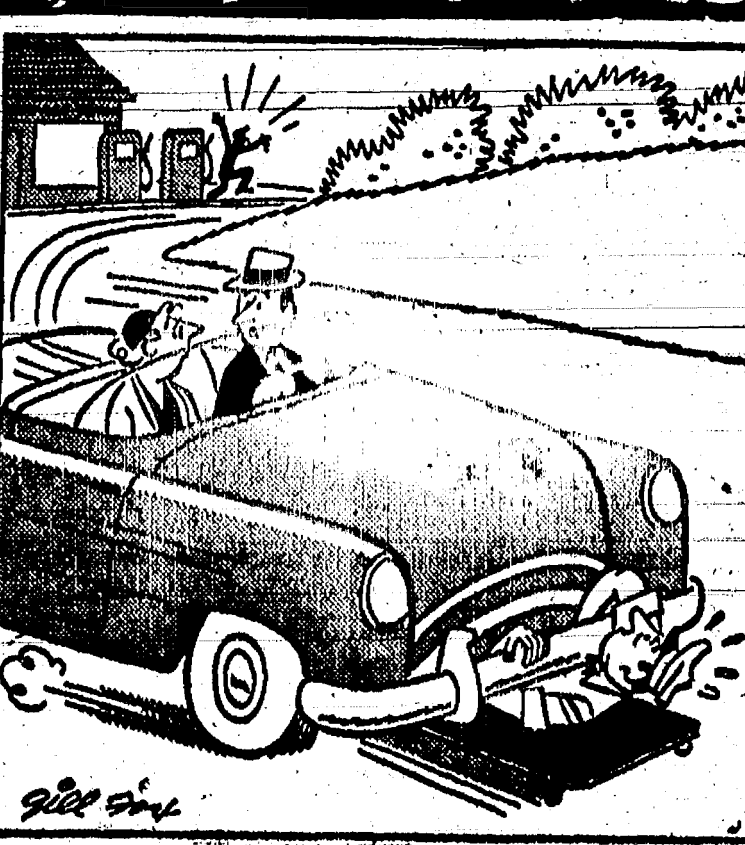

At once western railroads serving Lake ports announced their intention to grant seven days of free time, effective Feb. 1. Victory, I thought, had been achieved.

The next move came swiftly. Within a matter of days 12 eastern and southern railroads filed protests, urging the ICC to suspend the liberalized tariffs. Several of these railroads are the very same which in 1954 fought us every step of the way as we pushed through the Seaway legislation. Now as the Seaway approaches reality, they aim to kill its appeal to shippers.

RECIPE REQUEST

London—We cannot permit Communism to take over the vitally strategic Middle East, but American tax monies, trust funds, must be administered prudently, economically and honestly and with full accounting to the American people. Squandering our money in the Middle East or elsewhere and, by excessive generosity, encouraging those governments to perpetuate their weaknesses will not further but will defeat our objective helping them to become self-sufficient and stable enough to resist Communist aggression.

Dies at Home
In Ann Arbor

Col. Ambrose C. Pack, a former Ann Arbor postmaster, Washington county sheriff and onetime commander of the 125th Infantry regiment, died of a cerebral hemorrhage Thursday, Jan. 31 at his home at 1808 Granger Avenue, Ann Arbor. He was 88.

Col. Pack served in the Michigan National Guard and Army for 29 years, rising through the ranks from private.

He trained and commanded the 31st Michigan Infantry prior to and after its induction into federal service during World War I, when the Ann Arbor National Guard unit was renamed the 125th Infantry.

Col. Pack served under General Pershing in 1918; saw action in the Spanish-American War; was Sheriff of Washtenaw county from 1919 until 1923 and served as Ann Arbor postmaster from 1923 until 1935. He later served for five years as chairman of Michigan Selective Service Board No. 85.

He was a professional photographer for 25 years prior to 1917, helping to operate Randall & Pack, a local studio.

Col. Pack was born Dec. 14, 1870, in Ann Arbor, a son of Theodore and Helen Marx Pack, and married Roba A. Pulephor on May 9, 1894, at Ann Arbor. She died Dec. 28, 1951.

Survivors are two sons, Brig. Gen. Philip C. Pack, retired, of Beaverton, Mich., and Prof. Robert A. Pack of Ann Arbor; a daughter, Mrs. C. C. Scott of Detroit; six grandchildren; and five great-grandchildren. A sister Mrs. Ruby Olaver, also of Ann Arbor, also survives.

Funeral services were held at 1 p.m. Monday at the Lutheran Chapel, with the Rev. Erlend J. Mangiala officiating. Burial was in Forest Hill cemetery, where graveside services were conducted by the Golden Rule Masonic Lodge.

Yost Lodge at
Boy Scout Camp
Damaged by Fire

The Boy Scout building known as Yost Lodge at Camp Newkirk, Dexter, was extensively damaged by fire of undetermined origin early Friday morning.

Since the water system was destroyed, it is believed the camp will be closed the remainder of the winter. No one was present when the fire started, probably around 2 a.m.

The east end of the building was destroyed. The blaze is believed to have started in a pump house wing of the building where an electric light bulb had been kept burning to prevent the pump from freezing.

The flames swept into the kitchen and large fireplace room.

The lodge, named in honor of the University's late Fielding H. Yost, was built in 1927.

The camp is owned by the Fortage Trails Council, composed of Scouts in Livingston and Washtenaw counties, and accommodates 40 Scouts at a time during the summer camping season. It includes 12 buildings in addition to the main lodge.

Firemen, donning smoke masks, entered the burning structure and trained four high pressure hoses on the walls. They kept the fire from spreading into the remainder of the lodge, which houses the main dining room, a storage room and office. Those rooms sustained smoke and water damage.

The
HERB CORNER
Flavor, Fragrance, Beauty

Have you noticed how frequently recipes in current magazines and new cook books call for a bit of thyme, savory, marjoram, oregano, or some other herb?

Our great-grandmothers all had a corner for herbs in their gardens. They not only grew herbs for seasoning and for fragrance, but they also had good books for recipes for household remedies.

It may have been the wild remedies some of them brewed that caused the gradual disappearance of the herb garden, although a few of the plants from the herb garden have stayed with our vegetable gardens through the years.

We are really "cooking with herbs" even though our use of herbs has, perhaps, been limited to a sprig of dill, a little chopped parsley and some chopped chives.

Fortunately, there has been an increasing return to the use of herbs in cooking and the delightful subtle flavors herbs impart, and many gardens again have a corner for them.

Why don't you plan for a few herbs in your garden this year? You'll find from ten to twenty listed in your favorite seed catalogs.

See you in the Herb Corner next week.

WRONG CAR FLAGGED

Gateville, Tex. — Two inmates fleeing from the State School reformatory for boys tried to flag a ride 15 miles west of town.

The boys, who were actually on the way to the school superintendent, Herman Sapler, who had started on a business trip, but detoured long enough to take the boys back to the institution.

POSITIVE PROOF

Rhineland, Wis. — Accused of trying to steal a tape-recording machine, a boy was arrested but vehemently denied the charge.

Police turned on the recorder and heard the youngster's voice saying, "I guess I'll steal this machine." No further proof was needed.

COUGAR ATTACKS MAN.

Big Lake, Minn. — Allen, out deer hunting, escaped but scratched neck, torn coat and damaged gun stock when a wounded cougar jumped him. Allen said he shot and wounded the big cat while looking for deer.

METEORS

Scientists calculate that meteors, or shooting stars hit the earth's atmosphere 2,300 times a second but only a few of them actually fall to the earth's surface. The scientists said the meteors could be one of the greatest barriers to the promised age of space travel.

SOVIET SUBS

Russia now has more than 400 submarines, having built more than 30 last year. This is more than all of the free nations together built. At the beginning of World War II, Russia had fewer than 75 submarines.

Cub Scout Pack
Meet Held Thursday

The January meeting of Cub Scout Pack 125 was held at the South Elementary school, Thursday.

Den 7 took the roll as the Cubs and their parents entered the multi-purpose room where the meeting was held.

Den 8 had a display of leather purses which the Cubs had made, and their advancement wall chart and souvenirs of their trip to CKLW-TV.

Den 4 displayed wolf and bear heads of plaster of paris which they had made in their Den meetings, also hot pads which they had made of beads.

Den 2 showed their scrap books. The meeting was called to order with Mrs. Edward Vial's Den conducting the flag ceremony. The new Cubs were presented with their Bobcat pins. Douglas Lange then introduced David Sanborn who lead the Cubs in some Scout songs. William Hitchingsham asked the boys if they would like to go to Ann Arbor for a swim in the near future. The response was practically unanimous. Plans have been made for the swim on Feb. 18 at 8. The boys leave the South school at 5 o'clock. It is required that each boy have a written permit from his parents in order to participate. Registration cards were given out to the Cubs who had not yet received them. Mrs. Dorothy Orthbrink then asked the boys of her Den questions about their visit to the Justice Colt program on CKLW-TV. Their experiences were very interesting.

Cubs of Den 9 put on a short skit on space travel and communication. Cub Scout Max Steger showed a trick with paper and shears.

The closing ceremony was conducted by Den 2.

THANK YOU

I wish to express my thanks and appreciation to my friends, relatives and neighbors for the gifts, cards, flowers and letters that I received during my stay at the hospital.

Edna Loeffler.

The Army has announced a lightweight, 7.62-mm. machine gun developed to replace all three of the present 30-caliber machine guns. It can be fired from the shoulder, hip, bipod or an aluminum tripod mount.

Ross Hunter wants Donna Reed for his star in his Universal-International picture, "Step Down to Terror," so he plans to wait until after her baby is born to make the picture.

While making "House of Numbers," Jack Palance used a cell in San Quentin prison. Since no portable dressing room was available, the warden gave him a cell in which to change clothes and relax during setups.

A young man who seems to have a career opening up for him is Warren Berlinger. On the strength of his excellent performance in "Teenage Rebel," he has been cast as Harry, son of Ernest Borgnine, in "Three Brave Men," which Twentieth Century Fox is producing. The story is based on the Pulitzer-prize winning series of articles by Anthony Lewis.

Judy Garland is heading back toward Hollywood soon, for a movie—"Born in Wedlock."

Since Carol Baker's fine work in "Baby Doll" based on the Tennessee Williams story, the studios made a dash for her. Hecht-Hill-Lancaster got her, and she'll play Judith opposite Burt Lancaster's Reverend Anderson in "Devil's Disciple." Sir Laurence Olivier will arrive the latter part of February for a role in the same picture.

It may be a coincidence, but Jane Russell's "Pink Nightgown" is a kidnapping story, in which she will play a movie star who does everything to cover up her kidnapping—because she thinks people won't believe her.

Toni Francesca, who used to be a messenger boy for Time, Inc., will now appear between their covers—as a motion picture star.

In his next film, Bing Crosby won't sing a note. He saw the like, "Man On Fire" on TV and liked it so much he secured a kinescope of the show, had it run for Producer Sol Siegel and promised to star in it if it could be expanded into a full-length picture.

Tyrone Power and Marlene Dietrich are expected to appear together in "The Tunnel of Love," which will be made in Hollywood.

For her first film since late in 1955, Janet Leigh will co-star with Charlton Heston and Orson Welles in "The Tunnel of Love," which will be financed by MGM under the terms of an arrangement recently concluded. Tom Ewell and Nancy Olson are co-stars in the play, which is now undergoing pre-Broadway tryouts. The movie version will not be started until after the New York engagements end.

For "Desk Set," Katharine Hepburn not only selected four young beauties to appear with her, but she coached and tested with them. The girls are Sue Randall, Dina Merrill, Diane Jergens and Merry Anders.

During its showing at Radio City Music Hall, in New York City, "Teahouse of the August Moon" amassed $1,125,000.

Mrs. Bill Holden recently left to join her husband who is about to start a picture in Ceylon. Bill was to join her in Bangkok, where they will visit the King of Siam. When the picture is finished, they expect to return home by way of Rome.

While officers composing the troop's court of honor were seated at one of the tables discussing plans for the next meeting the remaining Girl Scouts played games and sang a number of songs.

Carol Danforth and Linda Steele were the hostesses who served refreshments.

Announcement was made that the annual Father-Daughter banquet will be held March 15 and that a swimming party is scheduled for March 21.

There are local ordinances in some communities like those that require registration of bicycles with the police department and age limits for those allowed to ride bicycles on sidewalks. But the most important laws are state laws.

In Michigan, for example, the law says a bicycle rider must abide by all rules that the driver of a motor vehicle has to live up to. He can't "hitch" a ride on a street car or another vehicle. He can't carry passengers unless it's a "bicycle built for two." He must keep both hands on the handle bars, sit on the bicycle seat, obey all traffic signals, ride on special paths if they are provided and never more than two abreast.

There are other rules but those are some of the main ones. His bike, too, must be in for some legal attention. If used at night it must be equipped with a lamp that will emit a white light visible from a distance of at least 500 feet to the front and with a red reflector on the rear which shall be visible from all distances from 50 feet to 300 feet to the rear.

Every bicycle has to have a bell or horn that can be heard for at least 100 feet but it can't be a siren or a whistle.

Those are just some of the "bicycle" laws—but all the laws are important. Seems to me that the schools might do well to give at least that much legal information to all the students. They'd be better drivers of cars later and it might keep more of them alive to drive later, too.

It may be a coincidence, but Jane Russell's "Pink Nightgown" is a kidnapping story, in which she will play a movie star who does everything to cover up her kidnapping—because she thinks people won't believe her.

Toni Francesca, who used to be a messenger boy for Time, Inc., will now appear between their covers—as a motion picture star.

In his next film, Bing Crosby won't sing a note. He saw the like, "Man On Fire" on TV and liked it so much he secured a kinescope of the show, had it run for Producer Sol Siegel and promised to star in it if it could be expanded into a full-length picture.

Tyrone Power and Marlene Dietrich are expected to appear together in "The Tunnel of Love," which will be made in Hollywood.

For her first film since late in 1955, Janet Leigh will co-star with Charlton Heston and Orson Welles in "The Tunnel of Love," which will be financed by MGM under the terms of an arrangement recently concluded. Tom Ewell and Nancy Olson are co-stars in the play, which is now undergoing pre-Broadway tryouts. The movie version will not be started until after the New York engagements end.

For "Desk Set," Katharine Hepburn not only selected four young beauties to appear with her, but she coached and tested with them. The girls are Sue Randall, Dina Merrill, Diane Jergens and Merry Anders.

During its showing at Radio City Music Hall, in New York City, "Teahouse of the August Moon" amassed $1,125,000.

Mrs. Bill Holden recently left to join her husband who is about to start a picture in Ceylon. Bill was to join her in Bangkok, where they will visit the King of Siam. When the picture is finished, they expect to return home by way of Rome.

While officers composing the troop's court of honor were seated at one of the tables discussing plans for the next meeting the remaining Girl Scouts played games and sang a number of songs.

Carol Danforth and Linda Steele were the hostesses who served refreshments.

Announcement was made that the annual Father-Daughter banquet will be held March 15 and that a swimming party is scheduled for March 21.

There are local ordinances in some communities like those that require registration of bicycles with the police department and age limits for those allowed to ride bicycles on sidewalks. But the most important laws are state laws.

In Michigan, for example, the law says a bicycle rider must abide by all rules that the driver of a motor vehicle has to live up to. He can't "hitch" a ride on a street car or another vehicle. He can't carry passengers unless it's a "bicycle built for two." He must keep both hands on the handle bars, sit on the bicycle seat, obey all traffic signals, ride on special paths if they are provided and never more than two abreast.

There are other rules but those are some of the main ones. His bike, too, must be in for some legal attention. If used at night it must be equipped with a lamp that will emit a white light visible from a distance of at least 500 feet to the front and with a red reflector on the rear which shall be visible from all distances from 50 feet to 300 feet to the rear.

Every bicycle has to have a bell or horn that can be heard for at least 100 feet but it can't be a siren or a whistle.

Those are just some of the "bicycle" laws—but all the laws are important. Seems to me that the schools might do well to give at least that much legal information to all the students. They'd be better drivers of cars later and it might keep more of them alive to drive later, too.

NEWS

Ross Hunter wants Donna Reed for his star in his Universal-International picture, "Step Down to Terror," so he plans to wait until after her baby is born to make the picture.

While making "House of Numbers," Jack Palance used a cell in San Quentin prison. Since no portable dressing room was available, the warden gave him a cell in which to change clothes and relax during setups.

A young man who seems to have a career opening up for him is Warren Berlinger. On the strength of his excellent performance in "Teenage Rebel," he has been cast as Harry, son of Ernest Borgnine, in "Three Brave Men," which Twentieth Century Fox is producing. The story is based on the Pulitzer-prize winning series of articles by Anthony Lewis.

Judy Garland is heading back toward Hollywood soon, for a movie—"Born in Wedlock."

Since Carol Baker's fine work in "Baby Doll" based on the Tennessee Williams story, the studios made a dash for her. Hecht-Hill-Lancaster got her, and she'll play Judith opposite Burt Lancaster's Reverend Anderson in "Devil's Disciple." Sir Laurence Olivier will arrive the latter part of February for a role in the same picture.

It may be a coincidence, but Jane Russell's "Pink Nightgown" is a kidnapping story, in which she will play a movie star who does everything to cover up her kidnapping—because she thinks people won't believe her.

"LET'S GET THE FAMILY TOGETHER"

If "the" weather's good, that "it" used to be a mighty-big one. But now you can get the family together no matter what the weather or how far apart all of you live. A Conference Call will do it. You just give the operator the names and addresses or telephone numbers of the members of your family. She'll get them all on the line at the same time, whenever you want. Call the Long Distance operator soon and have her arrange a Conference Call. It'll be fun.

HERE'S A WONDERFUL IDEA

for you folks with a son or daughter stationed with the armed forces in Europe. Why not enjoy a telephone visit with them over the new overseas telephone cable. After 6 p.m. or all day Sunday you can call just about any place for as little as nine dollars, plus the 10 per cent federal tax. Would be quite a thrill to talk to loved ones across the ocean, wouldn't it? Lots of people are doing it. More than 15,000 made overseas calls during the first month the cable was in use. And the number is growing every day. To place your call to Europe, just call Long Distance and ask for the "Overseas Operator."

Scarlet Fever Shows Seasonal Increases in County

Scarlet fever, a manifestation of streptococcal throat infections, is showing its usual seasonal increase in Washtenaw county said Dr. Otto K. Engelke, Washtenaw County Health Officer. The number being reported, however, is not in excess of the cases reported at this time in other years, he added. So far, cases have been reported from Ann Arbor, Manchester, Ypsilanti, and from Ann Arbor township.

Those children who contract the disease should have early and adequate medical care to prevent the development of possible complications, said Dr. Engelke.

In discussing the disease itself, Dr. Engelke said scarlet fever is the result of an infection with a Group A Streptococci organism, although not all persons being infected with this organism display the characteristic rash of scarlet fever. The disease is spread by direct contact with a patient or carrier through objects handled by these persons, and by droplet spread whereby the germs are inhaled. Casual contact rarely leads to infection, he said.

Since many people develop the infection without showing any outward signs, it is of little value to quarantine families in which a case is found except in those instances where food handling is involved by a member of the family. For the protection of the family members, however, discharges from the nose and throat of a patient should be burned.

Signs of the disease which are most commonly noticed are fever, sore throat, and a rash which is described as a fine, evenly distributed red rash. This rash is most commonly found on the neck, chest, under the arms and on the insides of the legs. This rash will blanch or become pale momentarily under pressure from the hand. The scarlet fever rash seldom occurs on the face but there is a flushing of cheeks.

Although capable of producing serious consequences, if not treated adequately, the disease itself has been decreasing in severity in the United States to a point where the fatality rate is about one death for each 400 cases.

Highest incidence occurs in winter and early spring, explaining the rise being experienced presently. The five to nine-year age group is most commonly affected. Susceptibility seems to be general though many persons gain immunity through the unpleasant infections mentioned above. Even this immunity lasts only a few years. There is as yet no practical immunization procedure.

"The important thing to remember is that the earlier treatment is started, the better your chances of preventing complications," said Dr. Engelke, "or if you notice any of these signs of scarlet fever, call your family doctor immediately."

Here are some temperature tips from MSU foods specialists for best cooking with eggs: Separate eggs as soon as you take them from the refrigerator. Cold yolks are less likely to break. Egg whites whip to a larger volume when at room temperature. When eggs are used in casseroles, the dish should be set in a pan of water to keep the temperature low during cooking. The water in which eggs are cooked should be kept below the boiling point, better in which eggs are fried should be kept below the smoking point.

ABOUT YOUR HOME

If you dream of quick color for your flower border or window box the coming summer, try coleus. With them you don't even have to wait for bloom. All the color you could want is right in the leaves.

The flower spikes are pale by comparison with the lovely brocade, velvet leaves. There is a wide range of bright clear colors: from pink, rose, bright yellow-green, and salmon; to bronze, deep purple, mahogany, rust and magenta.

The seeds are easy to raise. When they first push through the ground the seedlings are green, but when the third or fourth pair of leaves has formed, they begin to take on adult coloring.

For the best results, coleus like a permanent place in the semi-shade. A little pinching is necessary to shorten over-zealous shoots and develop bushy clumps. Any favorite colors can be perpetuated from year to year by taking cuttings. The seeds do not reproduce replicas of their parents.

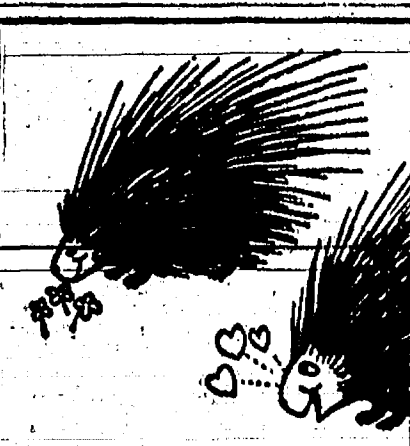

Cuttings root easily at any time of year, but with a little spring or early summer is most favorable. The most pleasing companions for coleus are blue flowers like ageratum, blue lobelia, veronica, Bachelor's buttons, delphinium, and forget-me-nots.

Coleus foliage is a favorite for flower arrangements. If you grow coleus indoors in winter, you will have fresh foliage on hand to use for this purpose. It is possible to preserve coleus foliage for dried winter bouquets. Try pressing it between absorbent paper or placing it upside down in a box and covering it with borax until completely dry.

In late summer you can select your handsomest specimens for cuttings to bring inside and carry over winter as pot plants on your sunniest windowsill. Regular pruning of potted plants is necessary to keep shape.

The soil for mature plants should be equal parts of sand, loam and leafmold. At two-week intervals, feed plants a balanced soluble fertilizer to help produce strong, sturdy growth.
