Bulldogs Win No. 6 Friday At U. High

The Chelsea Bulldogs won their sixth game of the season last Friday night at U. High's expense, 6-4.

Chelsea was leading 17-8 at the end of the first quarter and was never in trouble until three minutes to go in the fourth quarter when U. High pulled to within six points.

Chelsea's Loren Keizer and Hugh Weinberg were then allowed to drive in for dog shots and a couple of free throws ended the threat.

For Chelsea, Loren Keizer was high with 31 points, followed closely by big Bob DeFanti with 25. Frank Frederick and Hugh Weinberg had 6, George Mayer 4, George Stufan 2, and Odie Richardson 1. For U. High Bill Arnold was high with 10.

Chelsea will attempt to make it No. 7 Friday night when they host Saline with whom they are tied for third place. The win left Chelsea a 6-0 record for the year and 5-4 in the league.

Girl Scout Cookie Sale Starts Feb. 18

Chelsea Girl Scouts and Brownies have completed plans for the annual cookie sale, proceeds of which are devoted to camp operation and development and to apply on general expenses. The sale begins Feb. 18 and continues until March 1.

The customary method of taking orders will be followed with delivery scheduled for the period between March 15 and 20. Purchasers will pay for the cookies on delivery.

The aim of the Washtenaw County Girl Scout Council, of which Chelsea is a part, is to sell a total of 40,000 boxes.

In 1956, 1,475 girls sold 35,000 boxes with a profit of $8,800. This year 1,600 girls will be selling.

It is the National Girl Scout policy to approach only friends, neighbors and relatives unless the girls are accompanied by an adult. The girls are also permitted to take orders by telephone.

When taking orders the Girl Scouts and Brownies are to wear their uniforms or their membership pins.

It is also planned, this year, to set up "cookie cupboards" in convenient locations.

Girls are on their honor not to take orders before the opening date of the sale, Monday, Feb. 18. The cookies are cream-filled, vanilla and chocolate and chocolate mint.

Board Rejects All Bids on Sale Of Canfield School

All bids on the sale of the Canfield school property submitted at the Chelsea School District board meeting Tuesday evening were rejected.

Re-advertisement for bids sets the time for opening any new bids received for 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, March 12.

Other action at the meeting Tuesday included granting permission to Boy Scouts for a voluntary program of fingerprinting all pupils in Chelsea schools.

It was explained that the fingerprinting project is in line with Civil Defense recommendations as a means of identification in case of disaster or other emergency. Pupils will not be fingerprinted unless they have parents or guardians consent.

Boy Scouts participating in the work under the direction of Police Chief John Carman, will earn awards for their efforts.

Also announced was the fact that all bonds outstanding against the South Elementary school will be called April 1, 1957. The bond issue will then be paid off entirely.

Last night members of the Board of Education met with the architects to examine working drawings on the new high school building and the additions of elementary school rooms.

Space ship travel will not revolutionize astronautics, according to Harvard University scientists. The idea that it would—an idea which has been promoted by science fiction writers—is based on misunderstanding of Albert Einstein's theory of relativity, according to the Harvard experts.

Willadean Gullett, David Miles Wed In Methodist Church

Willadean Gullett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Gullett, of 617 Taylor street, and David Miles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Miles, now of River Junction, were united in marriage in a candlelight ceremony performed in the Methodist church here at 8 o'clock Saturday evening. The Rev. J. D. Kinde read the double wedding vows in the presence of approximately 300 relatives and friends of the couple.

Altar vases and tall floor vases held bouquets of white gladioli, snapdragons and carnations. The flower arrangement, together with the candelabras holding the lighted white candles formed an effective setting for the bridal party.

Before the ceremony, the Rev. Henry Campbell of Dexter, accompanied by Claude Isham, sang "I Love You Truly." Later, he sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gown in rose-pointe lace. The fitted, long-sleeved bodice had a square yolk of illusion outlined with the lace and finished with a Peter Pan collar of matching lace. The all-over lace of the bodice was underlaid with satin while the fully-gathered skirt with apron effect trim, was of lace over layers of tulle. Nylon net, pleated in tiers, formed a chapel sweep train. Her lace-trimmed veil was fingertip-length and was held in place with a pearl-trimmed lace-into hairpiece. She wore a white Bible-topped with a white orchid and streamers of satin ribbon.

Mrs. Jesse Marshall, a cousin of the bride, was matron of honor, while Janet and Barbara Hoskins, also cousins of the bride, and Regina Eder and Sue Patrick were bridesmaids.

Their gowns were fashioned alike in princess style with a figure-holding bodice and V-neckline. Skirt lines were held in a bustle effect at the back tied with a velvet bow. Matching velvet ribbon streamers extended to the hemline of the waist-length skirt.

The matron of honor was in Dior blue while the four bridesmaids were in the new jewel blue.

All wore pearl-trimmed velvet hats matching their gowns. The hats were finished with shoulder-length, pearl-trimmed veils, also in matching color. Heart-shaped arrangements of pink carnations formed the bouquets carried by the bride's attendants. The maid of honor had white touches in the leaves entwined in her bouquet while the bridesmaids' were all pink.

Lynette Hoskins of Ypsilanti, a cousin of the bride, and Pamela Miles of Monroe, a cousin of the bridegroom, were flower girls. Leonard Risner, also a cousin of the bride, carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

The flower girls were in floor-length, rose-colored gowns and wore yellow flower headpieces. They carried baskets of rose petals which they scattered in the aisle before the bride entered the sanctuary.

The bride's mother wore for the wedding a navy sheath dress and matching sheath coat. Her accessories included a pink hat, matching pink gloves and a corsage of pink roses.

The bridegroom's mother, in a light blue gown and matching accessories also had a corsage of pink roses.

James Roberts of Chelsea, assisted the bridegroom as best man and Joseph Weber, David Gregory, Roy Miles, brother of the bridegroom, and Charles Trinkle, his brother-in-law, all of Dexter, were the ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church social center. Assisting were Mrs. Leonard Risner, of Grass Lake, who was in charge of the guest book; Mrs. Eugene Hageman, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Alvin Schroeder, of Trenton, aunt of the bridegroom, who cut the wedding cake; Mrs. Harkless Hoskins, another aunt of the bride, who poured coffee; and Yvonne LeVan, who poured punch.

When the new Mr. and Mrs. Miles left for a two-week wedding trip to Florida, the bride was wearing a baby blue jersey costume with black accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

A 1956 graduate of Chelsea High school, the bride is employed in the office at Federal Screw Works.

Mr. Miles, who graduated from Dexter High school in 1955, is employed as an electrician in Ann Arbor.

After Feb. 23, the couple will be at home at 12204 Trinkle road. The bridegroom's parents entertained at a rehearsal dinner Friday evening at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Trinkle.

The nuptial parties for the bride included three showers, hostesses being Misses Sue Patrick and Regina Eder; Mrs. Charles Trinkle; and Mrs. Jesse Marshall.

NEWS HOLLYWOOD

Warner Brothers has started the movie version of "The Pajama Game," the first thorough-going musical at Warner since Doris Day romped through "Lucky Me" with Phil Silvers in 1954. Doris, by the way, is the only familiar face in the company—the others were recruited from New York, where the show has been a sizzler for almost three years.

The filmed television budget in 1957 is expected to soar to some where around $90,000,000. The L. L. Ball-Ford Arnaz Company alone is expected to spend more than $15,000,000 with Walt Disney and Warner Brothers in second and third places, respectively, for TV expenditures.

Anthony (better as known as Tony) Franciosa is a young man to watch. He hit the Broadway lights with Shelly Winters in "A Hatful of Rain" and that started the Hollywood offers. Hal Wallis signed him for a picture a year, MGM wanted him to star in "The Vintager," but he passed that and a European trip up to work for Elia Kazan in "A Face in the Crowd." Now, he's appearing with Jean Simmons and Paul Douglas in "The Cowardly Lion." It all happens at once it seems.

Ginger Rogers is said to be seriously considering paying a TV actress in a filmed TV series, titled "Love That Channel," for CBS.

The Italian actor-director, Vittorio De Sica, will play the second male lead opposite Jennifer Jones in "A Farewell to Arms." He will be seen as the Italian Army officer, Lt. Rinaldi. The star to portray the American lieutenant, Frederic Henry, is yet to be chosen.

Jean Simmons and Paul Newman are set to co-star in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's adaptation of the James A. Michener story, "Until They Sail." Filming is set to begin next month.

Jason Robards, Jr., now appearing on Broadway in "Long Day's Journey into Night," has been signed to a five-year contract by the Hecht-Hill-Lancaster Company, under which he will do one picture annually for the company. He will make his movie debut as the star of "The Rabbit Trap," which will be filmed later this year.

Valentine's Day with Full Moon... Wow!

Although the experts do not agree on the origin of St. Valentine's Day, it is most generally accepted that the day is the day for lovers. Chaucer believed that Feb. 14 was the day the birds chose their mates. Whether Chaucer was right or not, history shows that various races set great store by Feb. 14 as the day for human lovers, a choice of mates, etc.

It is possible that St. Valentine's Day originated in England from a combination of two other observances. The Norman word for a lady's man was "Galentine." Since the Normans pronounced a "g" as a "v," the word "valentine" could easily have been combined with the Chaucer theory of the mating of the birds to produce Valentine's Day. It is possible that the addition of the "Saint" stems from Roman days. There were three St. Valentines, all of them associated with Feb. 14 in ancient Rome.

As far as 1957 is concerned, St. Valentine's Day this year falls on a day of the full moon. This happens only once in several decades and will not occur again for many years. A full moon and St. Valentine's Day combined—what more do young lovers want?

Defense Chief Wilson Does It Again With His Foot

Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson recently again placed his pedal extremity in his food-intake valve. Wilson this time has slammed the National Guard for being the home of draft dodgers during the Korean War.

While there may be some truth in Wilson's charges, it is inappropriate for several reasons. For one thing, the National Guard is now under attack and is about to be taken over by Federal authorities. This should not be done because of any weaknesses in our military program during the Korean War or unfortunate circumstance concerning some Guard memberships at that time.

The answer to this would be to see that such a condition does not arise again, and this should be accomplished without subjecting the National Guard to complete federalization and control.

The Pentagon is seeking to have all National Guard enlistees serve six months on active duty, unless they have had previous basic military training. Wilson's remark about the National Guard does this proposal no good. His remark stirred the ire of most guardsmen and the President of the National Guard Association, General Ellard A. Walsh, called the Wilson statement "a lie."

We believe there may be some truth to the Wilson charge—that no doubt some guardsmen joined the National Guard to evade the draft. However, they also took the chance of being mobilized, and the National Guard sought to be mobilized when the Korean emergency first arose. Therefore, it is entirely possible that the Korean emergency could have worked in another way—that National Guard members would have been the first called.

Wilson's mistake lies in his method of presentation. Instead of making it clear that the majority of National Guardsmen are patriotic and deserving citizens, and noting that a few had been able to use the Guard as a way to dodge the draft, he leveled a fairly blunt attack which reflected on the National Guard as a whole.

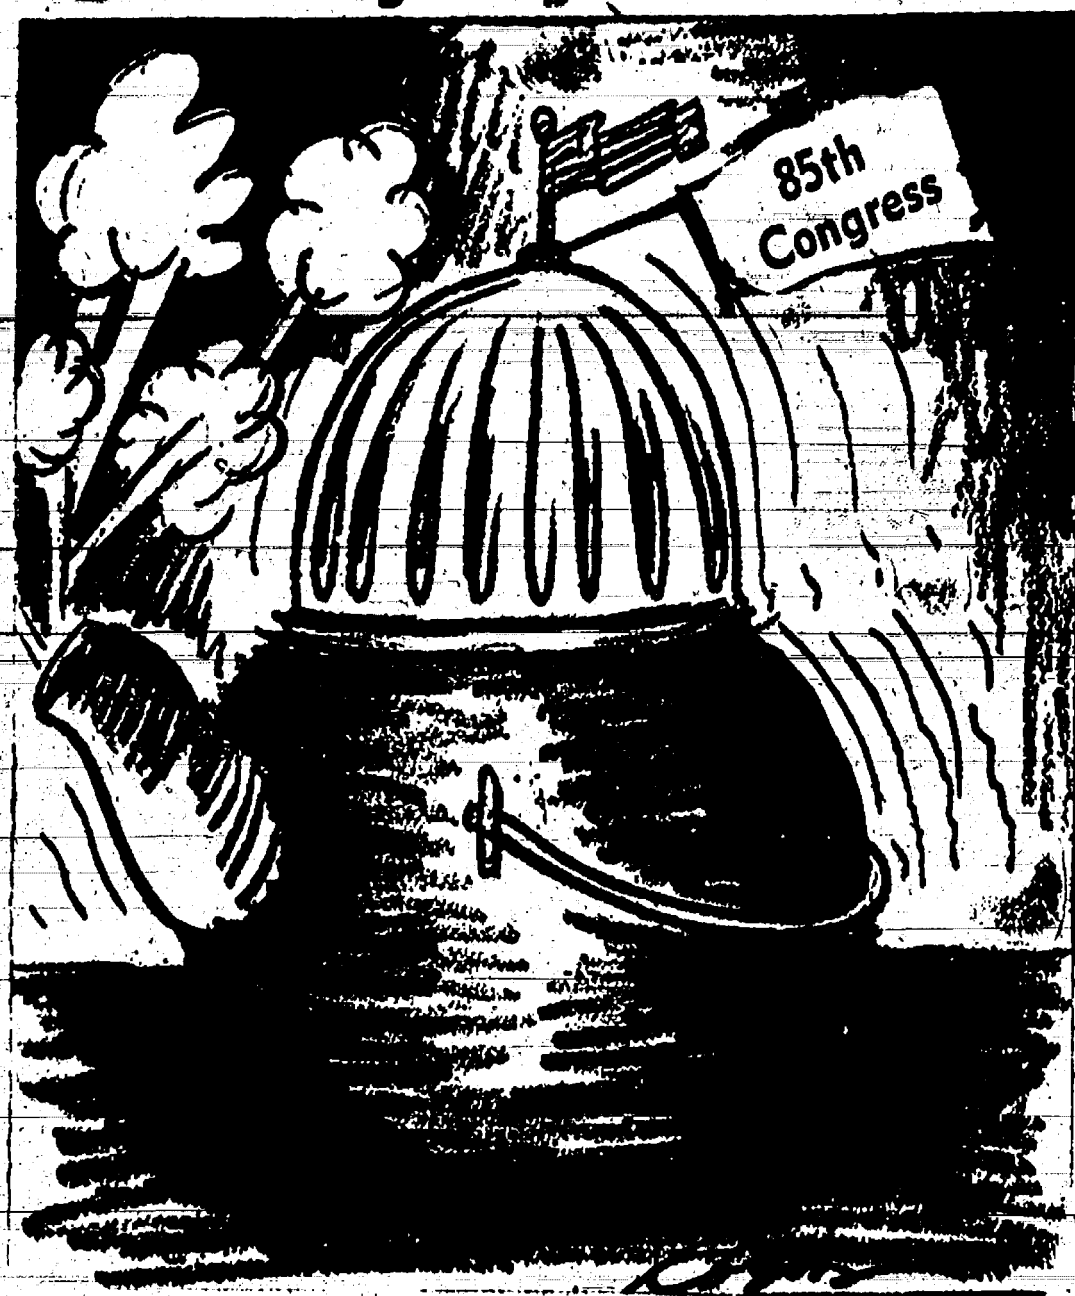

The Secretary is a blunt-speaking man, who would be more valuable if he were a bit more diplomatic. Meanwhile, he has damaged the case for requiring National Guardsmen to serve six months active duty, because he has unnecessarily stirred up a hornet's nest with his broad attack.

The world is getting smaller all the time, but it's still too large for you to carry around on your shoulders.

★ MICHIGAN MIRROR ★

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

What happens to a town when a major highway is routed around its limits instead of running "down the main street?"

This question will be raised with increasing frequency during the next three years when some 800 miles of new multiple-lane, divided highways are constructed across Michigan.

"Limited access" highways will form a large part of this construction program outlined last week by Highway Commissioner Charles Ziegler. These roads offer unequalled safety with divided multiple lanes, a controlled number of entrances, and by-passes around many towns and cities.

But merchants and villages depending on transients for much of their business are already beginning to voice fears that a by-pass would endanger their economic structure.

Fears may be unfounded. While Michigan's limited access highway program is still in its infancy, (there are 160 miles of fully limited or controlled highways in the state,) other areas have made exhaustive studies on towns bypassed by major routes.

A survey made by the United States Chamber of Commerce suggests a town is improved in every way by having a highway routed around it rather than down the main street. Reports from California and Texas confirm the results.

Highway Department experts point out that no new businesses can be built along roads having "limited access" because motorists turn off at some point to eat, find lodging and purchase gasoline.

An example of the added boom to business recently occurred in Sturgis when the Indiana Turnpike opened just south of the Michigan state line. According to officials, even though Sturgis was four miles away from the turnpike, motel and hotel business increased 25 per cent from persons who had to drive off the main highway to find lodging for the night.

Other advantages accrue to the bypassed town. The reduction of motorists and truckers who are just driving through should eliminate many accidents. The "home town" folks find they can once again go shopping without facing congested traffic and the long hunt for a parking place.

The picture isn't completely glowing. Several towns in Michigan are now by-passed and report differing experiences. On the one hand Parma lost 25 per cent of its business when a highway bypassed it two years ago. On the other, Chelsea, bypassed some 20 years ago, grew beyond the most optimistic hopes.

The biggest factor seems to be adjusting to the new situation. Planning ahead can ease the "shock" that accompanies any sudden change.

For example, in Chelsea merchants worked as a group. "We decided we had to become as efficient as the new highway," says Chelsea president Anton Nielsen. "Everybody decorated their restaurants and stores. Then when we were looking out best, we spent $1,000 each for two big signs out on the highway. We told people how to find us and what they would find."

Learning through experience, the residents of Parma now have a Community Improvement Group. To back up their plans they have the friendly advice of the Consumers Power Community Development Department headed by James Coates.

The highway of the future will probably by-pass many towns. Experts advise: If it's your town, the time to start planning is now.

Michigan's one-man grand jury may come in for some close scrutiny from the present state legislature. Latest to urge repeal of the controversial statute vesting grand jury power in one man is

Attorney General Thomas M. Kavanagh.

"The system itself is contrary to the original principles of justice in this country," Kavanagh recently told the state legislature. "It concentrates in a single judge more power than was intended when we turned to English common law and the Bill of Rights as a foundation for our system."

Primary purpose of any grand jury is to obtain evidence and testimony that cannot be obtained under normal courtroom procedures.

The key to success lies in the power to grant immunity against prosecution to persons who testify. In many instances when it is hard to obtain evidence, a grand jury is the only means of reaching the "top men." Persons criminally involved only in a minor way can be granted immunity or "traded off" so that a strong case can be built against major offenders.

Michigan law provides for both the one-man grand jury and also a panel of 25 citizens to sit as a grand jury. However, only the former is given the power to grant immunity.

Kavanagh suggests that the immunity power be vested in the multiple-man grand jury. He hopes that a system patterned after federal court procedure can be established. This would call for a citizens' panel to sit regularly four times each year.

At present, the one-man grand jury is only called in special cases. This results in a great deal of publicity for the particular case.

Kavanagh stresses that he is not critical of grand jurors now sitting to hear cases in Wayne and Macomb counties. Abuses were abundant in the past, but he asserts that present judges are working "skillfully and impartially." "It's the system that is wrong," he explains.

When your pharmacist hands you a small bottle of one of the "new" medicines and tells you the cost, it may seem like a high price to pay for a prescription.
But when you consider what these new medicines your doctor prescribes can do—in getting you well quicker, back on the job, earning money again—you realize what good value you're getting.
Due to the constant advances in medical science and the development of more potent drugs, a siege of sickness costs a person less today than ever before in history.

Twenty years ago, for example, hospital patients stayed an average of 14 days, as compared with 9 days average now. An appendicitis operation used to mean a hospital stay of 3 weeks—now it's usually 5 days. Hernia cases were usually hospitalized 21 days—now they're often home in a week. And pneumonia patients, if they survived, had to stay 3 to 6 weeks. Now they're usually home in a week—if they leave it at all.
Any way you look at it—in terms of saving days of hospital time, the fewer visits needed from your doctor, or your return to income-producing work much sooner—the money you spend for prompt and proper medical care can well turn out to be one of the really big bargains of your life. —Reprinted from a copyrighted advertisement published by Parke, Davis & Company, Detroit 32, Michigan.

Mrs. Raymond Schaefer is general chairman and Mrs. Robert Schaefer is president. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. James Gaunt, who will be in charge of the program. The purpose of the program is to be a history of the World Day of Prayer entitled "The Day Thou Gavest."

Others on the committee are Mrs. Lawton Steger, Mrs. Walter Mohrlock and Mrs. Lee Weiss. Mrs. Steger and Mrs. S. D. Kinde will preside at the tea table.

Guest speaker at the meeting was the Rev. Fr. Dayton Kirby, director of the Holy Ghost Seminary near Ann Arbor.
He showed a movie depicting the life and hardships of the Holy Ghost fathers who are engaged in spreading Christianity at the Killmanjaro Mission in the mountains of Southeast Africa.

LYNDON FARM BUREAU

"Hills-Aplenty" was chosen as the new name of Lyndon Farm Bureau group in a vote taken at the regular meeting Friday evening. The change in name is the result of an insurance company requirement.

Eight families attended the meeting which was held in Lyndon Town Hall with Emory Pickell presiding as chairman.
Other business included election of Stephen Baker as minute man to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Edmund Cooper.
Guest speaker at the evening's discussion on the subject, "Milk-Marketing Laws," was Mrs. Schooner. Led the group in a number of games in observance of Valentine's day and this was followed by refreshments carrying out the Valentine day theme.

The HERB CORNER

Flavor, Fragrance, Beauty

In honor of St. Valentine, let's consider the herbs we can grow for sachets, heart-shaped or otherwise, and not pourris. Lavender is probably the first one that comes to mind. There are almost 30 species of lavender of which half are quite hardy perennials. The one most usually grown and used is English Lavender, sometimes called True Lavender (Lavandula vera), a grey-green (spring) to neutral grey (summer) herb with a most delightful scent.
Both Lemon Balm (Melissa officinalis), a hardy perennial with light green leaves and Lemon Verbena (Lippia citriodora), a half hardy perennial with glossy yellow-green leaves, exude, as their names imply, a pleasant lemony fragrance.
The soft, fern-like leaves of Sweet Cicely (Myrrhis odorata) have an exotic spicy odor. Costmary, also called Alecost, Bible Leaf, Mint Geranium and Sweet Mary Ann (Chrysanthemum Balsamita var. tannacetoides) contributes a scent that is a mingling of balsam and mint.
The hay-scented, dried leaves of Sweet Woodruff (Asperula odorata), a dainty ground cover for shady, acid soils are also a welcome addition to sachets and pot pourris.
The rose geranium, a polarganum with round, scented leaves, a tender perennial that must be grown as a house plant in this region, is frequently used. Some flowers which can be included for both fragrance and color are: carnations and pink, lilacs, of-the-valley, violets, wall-flowers, and, of course, roses—the more robust and potent, the better. See you in the Herb Corner next week.

Elementary School Children To Attend Musical Concert

Washtenaw county elementary school children will attend a concert in Hill Auditorium, Ann Arbor, on Friday, Feb. 22 at 2 p.m., which will offer more than just a musical experience.

The theme of the concert, "Dances of the World," lends itself to visual as well as aural illustration. This year, for the first time, dancers will appear with the orchestra as part of the concert. The "Junior Ballet Corps," composed of children 9-12 years of age from Sylvia's Studio in Ann Arbor, will dance "The Wild Swans," a fairy tale by Hans Christian Andersen, set to familiar dance music. This is the highlight of the concert and will be presented with the Ann Arbor Civic Symphony Orchestra with a narrator who will also explain the "mime."

The orchestra alone will present a variety of concert dance forms, including Tchaikovsky's "Waltz of the Flowers," a Strauss Polka and Bennett's "Rhapsody in Rhumba." The instruments of the orchestra will be demonstrated and a Round "White Coral Bells" will be sung by the children of the audience.

Each year these children are prepared for this concert by their school music teachers both in the instrumental and voice departments. The program, together with interesting comment by Orlen Bailey, Jr., Director of the University of Michigan Broadcasting Service WUOM, is broadcast to the schools on two special programs preceding the concert to provide a background of appreciation.

The Ann Arbor Civic Symphony Orchestra draws its personnel from the surrounding area as well as from Ann Arbor. Some of the players drive as far as 40 miles each week to attend rehearsal.

Lloyd Grau and Edson Whitaker returned home Saturday after a 10-day stay at Daytona Beach and Clearwater, Fla.

Mrs. Mary Boyle is a patient at St. Joseph's Mercy hospital, Ann Arbor, where she underwent major surgery on Wednesday of last week.
