Farm Council Will Vote Next Week on 4-H Building Site

Persons Interested In Farm Activities Urged To Attend

Next Thursday, Feb. 28, at 8:30 p.m., a public meeting of interest to all Washtenaw county people and to rural residents, especially, will be held in the basement of the County Building at Ann Arbor. At that time a decision will be reached on a site for the proposed new agricultural building for 4-H club work and other rural activities.

Leroy Heller, chairman of the site committee and a director of the Washtenaw County Farm Council, said yesterday that the Farm Council Board of Directors is recommending as desirable the two sites on Zeeb road on which the site committee has options.

The recommended sites are a 20-acre plot south of US-12 and one from 20 to 57 acres, as listed, to the north of US-12. Both have been approved by the Washtenaw County Board of Health as to sanitary facilities and both are also considered desirable locations for a future Farm Bureau office building. The Farm Bureau has been working with the site committee in the Farm Bureau's effort to select a location for its proposed new office. It is deemed advisable to have the Farm Bureau office adjacent to the proposed new agricultural building for mutual advantages to both groups interested. The Farm Bureau, according to present plans, will purchase one acre of ground from whichever site is decided upon Thursday night.

If the new agricultural building is erected on a site other than the former county fairgrounds at Ann Arbor, the Ann Arbor City Council has agreed, the rural interests will be reimbursed the $15,000 paid for a 99-year lease on six acres of the old fairgrounds, originally intended as the site for the new building.

Rural residents working through the Washtenaw County Farm Council, have stated from the beginning that the Ann Arbor site was inadequate.

With the $15,000 reimbursement added to the $78,000 now in the Farm Council treasury, the site and new building would be paid for.

The $78,000 represents $60,000 which rural interests received as their share of the proceeds from the sale of the fairgrounds to the City of Ann Arbor, together with proceeds of chicken barbecues and other fund-raising projects carried on by various groups.

Future facilities for either of the Zeeb road sites have been estimated to be approximately $12,000, complete as compared with quotations of $10 per foot for the 585 feet which would be necessary on the fairgrounds site at Ann Arbor.

Additional expense on the Ann Arbor site would include sharing costs of sidewalks, curbing and eventual paving of Dexter avenue adjacent to the old fairgrounds.

Everyone interested in the proposed 4-H and agricultural building program should plan to attend the meeting next Thursday, Heller said, since the decision to make then is of importance not only to present residents of the county but to future generations as well.

Band Boosters Work with School Advisory Group

In reports of activities of the Chelsea Band Boosters it was announced that the executive officers include Mrs. W. D. Pearson, president; Mrs. A. D. Mayor, vice president; Mrs. Alura Geer, secretary; and Mrs. Karl Koengeter, treasurer.

Acting as an advisory group are Charles Cameron, superintendent of schools; Charles Lane, high school principal; and Eugene Shroyer and David Sanborn, band instructors.

School representatives and committee chairmen are to be named and these, together with the executive officers, are available for information on ways for assisting in "boosting" the work of the band.

These channels for information to and from parents make it possible to eliminate frequent group meetings. Thus, parents and Band Boosters will meet only twice a year as a group.

However, it was pointed out, all are expected to "boost the band" by attending the various projects sponsored by bandmen and Band Boosters.

A "Country Store" sale is being sponsored by the Band Boosters Saturday.

Mrs. Charles Lancaster returned home Tuesday after being a patient the past five weeks at St. Joseph's Mercy hospital, Ann Arbor.

C. of C. To Elect Officers at Next Month's Meeting

At the regular monthly dinner meeting of the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening, Leroy Heller and Everett G. VanRiper, representing the Washtenaw County Farm Council, explained details of a public meeting to be held Thursday, Feb. 28, in the County Building at Ann Arbor, in regard to action on choosing a site for the proposed 4-H and agricultural activities building.

Originally scheduled for erection on the former fairgrounds at Ann Arbor, a choice which was in disfavor with many rural groups, the Farm Council committees have now selected two Zeeb road sites which they will recommend. A choice of the two sites will be the order of business at Thursday's public meeting.

Chamber of Commerce members were urged to attend the Ann Arbor meeting. Election of Chamber of Commerce officers for the coming year will take place at the March 19 meeting, it was announced. The nominating committee includes Paul Mann as chairman, Anton Nielsen and William Blaess. The dinner meeting will be held at the Congregational church dining room.

Bulldogs Eke Out Victory Over Saline

The Chelsea Bulldogs again squeezed out a victory last Friday over Saline by two points, 68-61. This time they did not have to wait for a victory lead at half time but again it seemed as though they relaxed and Saline caught up.

For Chelsea, Bob DeFaut counted 15 points; Hugh Weinberg, 11; Loren Keizer, 10; Jim Baxter, 6; Eldon Richardson, 5; Frank Erickson, 4; and Mavor, 2.

Dave Wagner from Saline was high scorer for the game with 21. By winning this game Chelsea now holds undisputed claim to third place in Huron League standings. They will attempt to keep winning Friday night as they play Lincoln in the Kaitapere rivalry.

The new redesign Travelall should create wide-spread interest, and if business conditions remain optimistic, a two-shift operation is being planned after the 1st of July.

Chelsea Mfg. Corp. Plans Expansion

Chelsea Manufacturing Corporation is expanding and extending its operations, according to an announcement made this week by L. M. Benkert, president.

Production on the 1956 model has been ended and the plant is shut down for plant rearrangement and installation of tools and fixtures for the new 1957 model. A skeleton force is being maintained to perform this work. Limited operations will be started approximately March 1 with full production expected about April 1.

It is believed with the introduction of these new models of the Panel Body and Travelall, that the consumer acceptance will exceed production in 1956.

Additional work has been received, and to facilitate the expanded engineering and development operations, Chelsea Mfg. Corp. has moved its general office, including engineering and product development, to Detroit in order to be in close contact with Advanced Engineering and Development Divisions of the customer.

Naturally, the officers of the corporation will alternate between the office and the manufacturing plant to provide the necessary personal management which has made this company a success.

Additional operations have been changed slightly with L. M. Benkert, president; R. J. Johns, vice-president and general manager; and F. P. Surmann, controller and treasurer.

Earl L. Gehring will be foreman in charge of production and development. Dave Wagner will take charge of New Product Development, Plastic Division, and certain phases of the new tooling programs.

Mrs. H. E. Lindow will be in charge of the local office, including the payroll and plant office. Benkert fully believes that the new approach to both industrial and personal transportation.

The new redesigned Travelall should create wide-spread interest, and if business conditions remain optimistic, a two-shift operation is being planned after the 1st of July.

The HERB CORNER Flavor, Fragrance, Beauty

In the Kitchen Garden of Mount Vernon, herbs are mainly planted in borders around vegetable beds, as in the days of George Washington. With the contrasting colors of the herbs and vegetables plus a few nasturtiums, whose seeds are used like capers, it looks much like a flower garden.

Catmint, with its downy, grayish, heart-shaped leaves, has been planted only in front of the espaliered fruit trees, as has English pennyroyal, a medicinal herb disliked by ants and flies.

Sanctum, basil, and sweet basil, too, are found in front of the fruit trees, but are also used as borders for vegetable beds.

The latter's bright green leaves contrast pleasantly with potato and cabbage plants.

Germanard, prized for edging plants in flower gardens, has been chosen to border five beds. Clipped, it forms a beautiful little hedge resembling boxwood. Unclipped, its rose pink blossoms are still a pretty border for the green shades of the vegetables.

Hysop, too, when clipped forms a small, almost evergreen hedge that edges another bed. Unclipped, its deep blue-flowering spikes are loved by honey bees.

Three beds of vegetables with dark green leaves are bordered by the contrasting silvery grey of lavender. One is edged with sweet marjoram, a favorite little soft, grey herb whose leaves enhance the flavor of many dishes. Four more are bordered with the beautiful grey-green leaves and blue flowers of rosemary.

Rue, with its blue-green leaves and small yellow flowers edges another vegetable bed. And the dark green leaves of lemon balm, that are so delicious in tea, iced beverages, fruit cups and salads, borders another.

A bed of salsify has a border of lavender cotton or santolina, another medicinal herb, varieties of which have either grey or green foliage.

The horseradish bed and one of parsley are edged with oregano, with its pink blossoms, while parsley is used to border a bed of nasturtiums, and they in turn edge a bed of summer squash and okra.

The strawberry beds and one of lettuce followed by tomatoes are edged with English thyme, a dark green, aromatic herb used in many dishes; white golden thyme, with its green leaves edged with gold borders beds of lavender. And two beds of varying green leaved vegetables and peppers, whose green fruit turn to yellow and bright red as they ripen, are beautifully bordered by the grey-green leaved French thyme.

See you in the Herb Corner next week.

YOU REAP THE BENEFIT

Nowadays, manufacturing plants don't have to put up with the expense and inefficiency of keeping large inventories of materials and parts on hand.

Trucks and truck-trailers, by providing swift, direct, door-to-door transportation service, have made such costly procedure a thing of the past.

The modern assembly line extends, in effect, beyond the manufacturing plant itself to the commercial motor vehicles which continuously supply industry with round-the-clock shipments of materials and parts.

Yes, trucks and truck-trailers are indeed assembly lines on wheels, serving industry in a way that brings an ever-improving standard of living to all the people.

The rousing march, Anchors Aweigh, was played by the Dexter Band as members of the Chelsea student body filed into the gym for assembly last Wednesday.

The band, under the direction of Mr. Hubert Beers, played several numbers, including "Cathedral Canyon," and "Londonberry Air," featuring a concert soloist, "Fantasy for Band," "Emblem of Unity," which happened to be one of the numbers the Chelsea Band played at their trip to Bay City last June, "Mother Goose Jumps," a novelty number consisting of several well-known Mother Goose Rhymes put into modern musical style, "The Pennsylvania Polka," "South of the Border," a modern standard tune. The band closed an enjoyable program with well-known marches, such as "The Thunderer," "Our Director," and the University of Michigan fight song, "The Victors."

Future Teachers of America are planning to have a candle-light ceremony for the installation of officers, with Mr. Donald Bacon, for whom the club was named, as the guest of honor.

Journalism Club went on a field trip Friday, Feb. 15. They went first to Braun & Brumfield, to see the processes through which an offset paper is produced; and then to the Ann Arbor News building to see the processes by which a daily printed paper is produced. Somewhat their own efforts seemed to fall into place after these two visits. The school paper, "The Bulldog Barks," is printed by Mr. Walter Leonard publisher of the Chelsea Standard.

The club also plans to hold a dinner on February 27.

Girls' Athletic Association presented a corsage to the mother of each member of the varsity basketball team on "Mom's Night," Feb. 16.

Chelsea High Chorus presented the Lyra Male Choir, from Ann Arbor, under the direction of Robert Merrill, at a concert Feb. 18. Also on the program was the Chelsea High a capella choir, under the direction of Mr. David Sanborn, local vocal teacher. The concert was well attended and well received.

High school art students are learning rules of perspective and have been sketching cylindrical, square, and conical objects from different angles. Some finished drawings will be done in water colors and pastels.

In the near future the junior high artists will begin papier-mache animals. Meanwhile, they are also studying rules of perspective and are doing free-lance water color paintings.

The Future Homemakers of America sent 104 popcorn balls to the Children's Ward of the University hospital, Feb. 11. The edibles were concocted by Angie Murphy, Donna Moore, Carol DeMint, Maney Irwin, Jeanne Larson, Sandy Fraser, Sharon Slane, Susan Stager, Diana Gary, Tassie Mathews, and Barbara Hoskins. Stella Sexton was responsible for the delivery of these balls.

LIBRARIANS VISIT UNIVERSITY LIBRARIES

Student librarians are visiting the General Library and the William L. Clements Library of the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor: Senior librarians, Feb. 15 and Junior librarians, Feb. 22. The purpose of the trip is to become more aware of the role of libraries in study and research and to learn about career opportunities in libraries.

At the General Library which serves 24 divisional libraries, including Business Administration, Engineering, Law, and Medicine, students observe not only the flow of books to users in circulation and reference departments but also the processing of books behind the scenes.

What the students see at the Clements library is the 1483 edition of "The Polakia" in which Christopher Columbus reports the discovery of the New World and Waldseemüller's map of 1492 which gave the name "America" to the two continents. They also view books by and about George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, Thomas Jefferson, and the Adamses among others.

Senior student librarians are Joyce Bloch, Eve Trinkle, Stella Lewis, Steve Toth, Judy Rudd, Tootsie Owens, Phil McDaniels, Ron Papsdorf and Dave Pastor. The chaperone is Mrs. Merle Barr, Sr., aunt of Joyce Bloch. Junior student librarians are Karen Aldrich, Sharon Allan, Judy Carr, Judy Pitt, Linda Greenlee, Glenda Hardy, Roseanna Hiltz, Kathleen Joseph, Ava MacDougall, Patty Pastor, Malcolm Reinhardt, Donna Snyder, Barbara Suttin, David Tulliver, Duane Weiss, and Eva Wiloughby. The chaperone is Mrs. Dave Pastor.

Timothy Eisenman brought treats for his classmates in Mrs. J. Smith's second grade on his birthday. The children have enjoyed arranging and using the new book cases in their room.

February birthdays (and parties) in the second grade taught by Mrs. Eisele belong to Cynthia Blacklaw, Feb. 11, Roger Frisinger Feb. 14, Robert Smith Feb. 16, Daniel Cusack Feb. 17. The celebrants treated the class to ice cream and balloons.

Many interesting facts are being learned about Edison, Lincoln, and Washington. The group is studying and making maps. Jackie Biles brought a globe, and Roger Frisinger brought many different kinds of maps. They made individual folders for Valentine's Day, and had a party on Valentine's Day. Mrs. Kinde and Mrs. Sweet planned it and managed it.

The group is sad to know that Mark Brandebury is moving to California, that Jacqueline Biles is moving to Chicago, and that Pamela Renfro is moving to Ashland, Ky.

Robert Steele and Starlet Kiss in the morning session of Mrs.

Hinderer's kindergarten celebrated their birthdays Feb. 8. They treated the class to cup cakes, ice cream, and Hershey bars.

Sandra Lindauer and Stephen Bott celebrated their birthdays on Lincoln's birthday by treating the class to cup cakes, dixie cups, and candy.

Jimmy Crumbaugh treated the group in honor of his birthday on St. Valentine's Day.

On Thursday, Feb. 7, Mrs. Lange's fourth grade had perfect attendance for the first time since Sept. 14, 1966. The entire group helped to make large posters of Lincoln and of Washington to honor their birthday anniversaries. Each boy and girl has made a car for Valentine's day to add to their Valentine Express Train.

Excellent free hand drawings of different steps of weaving have been made to be used as posters in the social studies class.

Joyce Willis, Barbara Brown, Sue Stoll, Wanda Fletcher, Patsy Stanley, Phyllis Brady, Thomas Johnson, and Mike Musson made free-hand drawings to illustrate some of the stories in their new reading books. These will help to decorate their room.

The Junior High Dances Band has increased its number rapidly in the last two weeks. Many of the new members are seventh graders. More are encouraged.

Recently the seventh grade has started bowling in their physical education class. The cost is $1 per person. Their instructors, Miss Veres and Mr. Taylor, are instructing them how to select a ball, how to "follow through" with the body, how to roll it. Students like this very much.

In English the eighth graders are reviewing prepositional phrases, verb tenses, pronouns, and clauses. They are working through the Civil War in history; and through the atom, and various forces in science. In math, a small bit of simple geometry is being learned.

Freshmen are reading Roman and Greek myths in English classes. In algebra they are studying quadratic equations. Biology students are dissecting fish and are studying amphibians. In civics they are studying various forms of transportation, and the effects on communities.

Tryouts for the junior play, "And Came the Spring," will be held Feb. 19 and 20. The play directors will be Mrs. Bald and Mrs. Vandermeer. Judy Wagner, chairman of the main committee for the prom, submitted three menus at the last class meeting. Two were chosen, and will be discussed by a committee of mothers who will do the cooking. The decoration and theme committee of the prom will be reporting in the near future.

Progress Reported in Smoking-Cancer Controversy

A Vietnamese scientist, working in Paris, has discovered the substance in cigarette smoke which causes cancer in mice when injected into them. The chemical is identified as 3-4-9-10 Dibenzpyrene. This chemical develops only when tobacco is burned and is one of the chemicals which compose the "tar" in burning tobacco.

Tobacco tar has long been suspected of causing lung cancer. The French-educated Vietnamese scientist who recently made this discovery, is Dr. Nguyen Phoc Buu Hoi, 41 years old. His discovery was recently announced in a medical paper published by the French Academy of Science.

The paper revealed that the new substance was isolated after extensive tests by Dr. Hoi in the laboratory of the Radium Institute of the University of Paris. Part of the money for this research work was supplied by the U. S. Public Health Service.

Although U. S. researchers had announced in 1954 that the substance Benz-pyrene, which was present in cigarette paper smoke, had caused cancer in mice, Dr. Hoi did not think this was the complete answer to the problem. He used approximately 4,000 mice in his experiments and found that Dibenzpyrene, injected into mice, causes cancer in as little as 42 days in some cases and ultimately caused cancer in every mouse into which it was injected. The injection dose was one-half milligram.

With Benzpyrene, the 1954 discovery, a dose of five times as much was required to produce cancer, although, even then, cancer was not always certain.

The latest discovery is further indication that cigarette smoking should be performed in moderation. Dr. Hoi believes it is possible for a filter to screen out Dibenzpyrene, and it is to be hoped that research will be forthcoming shortly, giving smokers an accurate and honest report on present-day filters and their efficiency.

Moderation in Living Is Good General Philosophy

No word better expresses the proper philosophy of life than the word "moderation." We do not mean to suggest that moderation can be applied to any practice, since many practices are bad even when practiced in the slightest degree.

However, in living one's life, moderation is a general guide which can be used to solve many of life's problems concerning habits, work, play and other activities. It is difficult for anyone, whether he is a teacher, a preacher or a parent, to outline a flat rule of conduct which covers all students, all members of a church or all children. In each case, the answer may differ slightly.

The individual must learn to think for himself and exercise self-discipline. He cannot rely upon iron-clad rules to guide him through life, and become his philosophy or substitute for common-sense and the ability to make decisions in life. Each individual must live his own life, and must decide, as best he can, what is best for him.

Jesus himself believed in moderation, as any student of the Bible knows, and laid down comparatively few arbitrary rules of conduct for his followers. Rather, he taught that man should believe in God, and dedicate his life to Christian living, and helping his fellow man.

The great strength of many of our religions is that they encourage the thinking process and discourage fossilized, mummified doctrine and dogma, which may seem a bit out of place in the modern scientific world. While religious principles never change, human beings should continue to seek enlightenment, and the true spirit of Christian living in the hope that further progress may be made.

While blind obedience to a set of rules may be in the best interest of many, it is not necessarily in the best interest of Christian progress and enlightenment. Civilization's greatest leaders have been thinkers, and many of them have been branded as radicals or revolutionaries in their day. Nevertheless, they refused to blindly conform to the demands of the narrow-minded of their time.

An Old Familiar Sound

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

A big test for the new Republican state chairman, Lawrence B. Lindemer, comes right on the heels of his election as Michigan's GOP chief.

April 1, the Republicans will muster all strength to prevent Democrats from capturing their last two seats on the state administrative board—Highway Commissioner and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

It's a tough assignment. The Democratic powerhouse led by Governor Williams has proven strength. Unlike the fall election, the Democrats also have a natural offensive position. The Republicans hold the major offices up for election, and they must defend their administration of these offices.

Confident optimism seems to prevail in the GOP. Lindemer, 35 represents the "New Guard" Republicanism. His strategy is to bring Eisenhower concepts to the state and county level.

"It's a working theory of government which ties in the rights of the individual with the responsibilities of the individual," he told party leaders at the Republican state convention.

Republican leaders agree that the party must be strongly organized from the grass roots level up. They believe Lindemer can do the job. Lindemer has strong faith in his own abilities.

Plans are under consideration to make Lindemer's chairmanship a full-time position. (Former state chairman John Peltola was paid $75 a day, but only for the days he actually spent working.) A full-time staff may be organized.

While the April 1 test is a big one, that election won't be a "true test" of Lindemer's ability. The time is too short to build a complete organization.

Lindemer recognizes that much of Williams' political success comes through campaign tactics waged between elections. Lindemer wants a permanent organization that can meet the governor on equal ground.

Besides taxes, paychecks, education and tutoring are some of the many subjects covered in bills awaiting legislative action in Lansing. Some will pass. Most will never receive favorable committee action or come before the legislature as a whole.

Higher pay for state administrative offices are in a bill introduced by six members of the House of Representatives. Salaries of $17,500 are asked for the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the State Highway Commissioner, the Secretary of State, State Treasurer, Auditor General, and Attorney General. Except for the first two, the increases would not take effect until 1959.

In addition, Rep. George Sallade (R-Ann Arbor) is asking that the Highway Commissioner post be taken out of politics by creating an appointive commission of seven members. In turn, they would be empowered to appoint a Highway Commissioner. But it is so close to a new election that such a change will probably not take effect for another four years, even if it is approved now.

Commons receive a boost from eight senators in legislation granting the Superintendent of Public Instruction power to approve their formation.

Sen. Clyde Geerlings (R-Holland) wants the highway department to post signs along state trunklines to indicate the penalties for scattering litter and dumping rubbish.

A bill that would prohibit the sale of "alertness pills" except by prescription is supported by Sen. Charles S. Brady (D-Detroit). Regulation of milk marketing is the subject of a wide-ranging proposal introduced by Bert Storey (R-Belding). His bill would authorize the licensing of milk dealers, establish marketing areas, regulate prices and trade practices, define the powers of the director of agriculture, and provide penalties for non-compliance.

Water sports enthusiasts can study a bill presented by Robert E. Faulkner (R-Coloma) which prohibits water skiers from being towed by boats if the operator is alone.

Finally, three state representatives have banded together to urge the passage of a bill prohibiting the tattooing of persons under 21.

The "unpleasant" side of the St. Lawrence sawway was emphasized recently in a special interim legislative committee report.

In effect the report states that Michigan will reap benefits from the new saw lane. But—and it's a big "but"—there are still many problems covering transportation and taxes that must be faced.

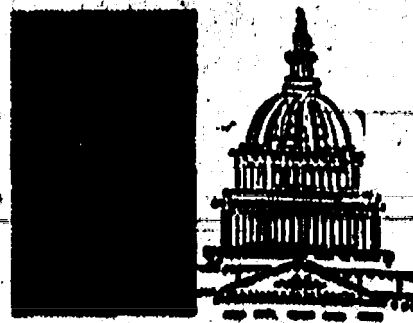

Port development is a primary issue. The committee points out that general cargo may be limited by the eight-month shipping season imposed by weather conditions.

In addition, the report notes that rail and truck transportation charges on imports and exports are non-existent. Oil levels must be worked out. Existing legislation does not adequately cope with the problems which are certain to arise.

The committee recommends that planning and development of port facilities be left to local communities. The report advises that the state should not appropriate money for port construction, maintenance or operation.

Some public ports may be necessary. If constructed, the committee believes that a rigid set of principles be applied. These include: 1—Charges (tolls, rents

Senator Potter reports

... the latest news from Washington of special interest to Michigan ...

LOOK IN THE MIRROR and try to visualize yourself as you will appear in 1970. By then 21 million of us will have reached the age of sixty-five or older.

We must, of course, be fit as fiddlers. But there's no doubt that "mature citizens" or just plain "grandmas" and "grandpas" have their problems. These problems, we are learning, go far beyond a few gray hairs and a tendency to ride the elevator rather than walk the stairs.

Because so many more of us are living to enjoy this ancient and honorable estate, the special needs of the aging and aged have become more acute. Youthful American society is flunking the problem of understanding the aging. We have neglected this to a truly shocking extent.

THAT IS WHY a bill I introduced on Jan. 7 deserves prompt consideration and passage by Congress. It reads in part:

"It is hereby declared to be the policy of the Congress to assist in defining the problems of the aging and aged segment of the population, and in finding solutions therefore, by providing for an immediate study leading to recommendations for integrated action, particularly with respect to employment and employability, income maintenance, health and physical care, housing, living arrangements, family relationships, and effective use of leisure time."

The bill would establish a federal commission on the aging and aged which would bring together for the first time the sum total of existing knowledge and programs.

The ten commissioners and their staff would study, investigate, analyze and assess the data. Their single-minded aim would be better and fees) should pay all operating expenses; 2—Any use of tax money for public development should only be by a majority vote of the people; and 3—Public ports should not be granted a tax-free status.

Biggest advantage for Michigan will be the addition of world-wide raw material sources for industry. The sawway will also add vitality to steel production in the Great Lakes area.

Committee advice: Communities should prepare through extensive study and real planning, rather than astronomical predictions.

integration of older people into the social and economic life of the nation.

PROFESSIONAL BUSINESS AND LABOR groups, or any others concerned with the problem, would be asked to cooperate. Government agencies would contribute their information and experience. If necessary, hearings would be held to bring out the most advanced thinking on the subject.

Six members of the commission would be Presidential appointees, three from the executive branch of government and three from private life. Two members would be appointed from the Senate and two from the House of Representatives.

These men, after studying and reporting to Congress, would be in a position to make recommendations and propose legislation. Then, and only then, will you and I be able to look forward to our later years with some assurance that these questions will be answered.

Will you have job? Will your pay scale equal that of younger people? Will your employer have changed his attitude from the one he holds today? Right now job-seeking is heartbreaking business for any one past middle age. Will your social security payments be enough to live on? Will you occupy an apartment? A house? Will you live alone? With married children? Or with another "old" person? How will you spend your leisure time?

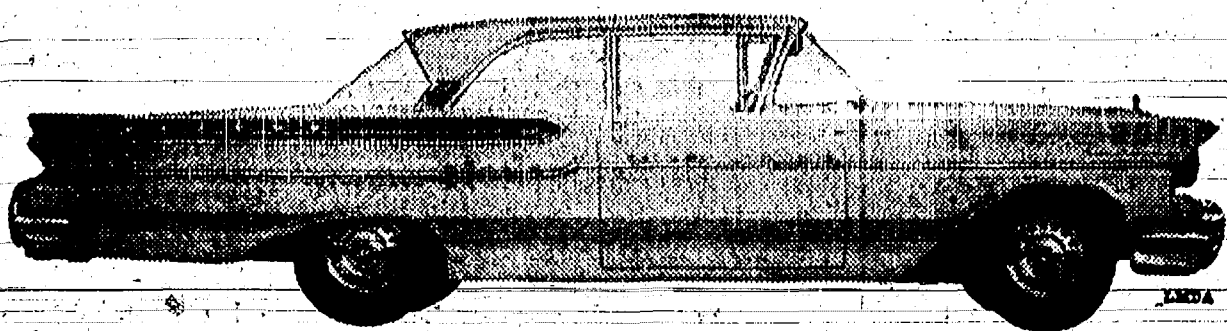

TOO MANY of our aged are pushed aside from the mainstream of community life. One day they are useful, occupied members of society. The next they are without something to do, without employment and completely at a loss for daily interest.

I realize that it is far easier for us to ignore a problem of this magnitude than to face it. But fact it we must, whether we like it or not. No one can say how much talent we are wasting today by our disregard of abilities built up through a lifetime, and which we are now casting off as unwanted. I believe as a rough guess that we are wasting $2 billion a year in talent of our perfectly healthy, perfectly alert aging and older people.

These folks are a magnificent untapped potential for our nation. My bill would capitalize on that potential.

Weekly Papers Are Nation's Healthiest Publications

New York — Weekly newspapers today are the fastest-growing publications in the U. S. Time magazine says in a special report in the current (Feb. 4) issue out this week.

"Metropolitan newsmen who daydream of retiring to a country paper have long viewed weeklies more as a rural retreat than as an influential segment of the press," Time says. "But, with the swift growth of suburbs and small towns since World War II, weeklies have largely shed their cracker-barrel ways, developed sophistication and a new sense of mission."

Editorial Vitality

Weekly Newspaper Representatives, Inc., last week reported that 8,478 weeklies in the U. S. in 1956 reached a paid circulation peak of 18,529,198, up 6.5 per cent over 1955. Estimated gain for the 1956-57 season (total circ. more than 56 million); about 2 per cent. Advertising in weeklies increased 1.2 per cent, to a record $112 million; this includes a 30 per cent jump to $25 million in national ads since 1954 vs. an estimated 10 per cent gain for dailies.

"The weeklies' resurgence reflects editorial as well as economic vitality," Time says. "In addition to relaying the back-fence chat on which weeklies have traditionally thrived, the papers are the only interpreters and watchdogs of local governments in hundreds of U. S. communities, whose problems, aims and achievements go largely unrecorded in the metropolitan press."

According to one editor, weeklies "are giving back the home town" to suburbanites who have lost contact with community responsibilities. In many areas, fast-growing suburbs have produced weekly and semi-weekly chains that are as slick in appearance and informative in content as their city cousins.

"Even outside metropolitan areas," says Time, "most small-town weeklies have thrown out the smug, type and pompous prose that once characterized the weekly press, now run staff-written stories and editorials instead of the boiler-plate and canned sermons that once crammed country papers. The old-time jack-of-all-trades country editor has been largely supplanted by trained staffs. Lured out of the cities by the prospect of editorial and economic independence, trained newsmen in increasing numbers are bringing professional standards to weekly newspapering."

Crusading Spirit
Though once renowned for their timidity, many weeklies have developed the crusading spirit that has vanished from many a fat-cat daily. Time notes: "In the South, many weeklies have consistently taken a more liberal stand than the region's big dailies on the touchy desegregation issue."

Since weeklies are closer than dailies to readers and advertisers and more vulnerable to the pressure of advertisers, they are often hit by economic boycotts. But few editors cave in under such threats — or worse. In Granite City, Ill., after Editor Cornelius E. Townsend had waged an editorial campaign against organized gambling in the community, a hoodlum recently emptied his revolver into Townsend's Press-Record office. Echoing many a fighting editor before him, Townsend said: "Maybe they'll scare hell out of me someday and I'll quit. But I don't think so."

REPORT FROM BONN:

Social Democrats Pose Threat to Adenauer's Post

Bonn, West Germany — West Germany's Social Democrats are organizing an all-out challenge to Konrad Adenauer's political leadership in this autumn's national elections.

The SPD is aiming a two-pronged offensive at the Chancellor's uneasy ranks.

On the domestic front, the Social Democrats are tightening party leadership and going after conservatives. SPD organizers are concentrating, in particular, on the labor front, which heretofore has been theoretically neutral in the political wars.

For many years the Social Democrats have been under criticism for neglecting social demands in their preoccupation with their quixotic foreign policy struggle against Dr. Adenauer's political alliance.

Now the SPD is turning more attention to labor's demands for a 40-hour week and pay hikes and to the claims of pensioners and war victims that they are being short-changed in the distribution of the German prosperity.

On the foreign policy sector, the Social Democrats are demanding that the Chancellor slow rearmament, which, warns the SPD endlessly, will seal the division of Germany.

Dr. Adenauer's "position of strength" collapsed after his 1955 visit to Moscow. He has got nowhere in the quest for German unity.

But the Social Democrats believe they have the answer: pull West Germany out of NATO and offer Russia a general East-West security system devoid of "power blocs."

The Social Democrats are now in a position to remind the Germans that it is they and not Dr. Adenauer who have consistently championed the cause of unity, first and foremost.

With Dr. Adenauer, West Germany's integration with the West and rearmament came first and unity second. The first integration, was to treat the position of strength which would achieve the second unity.

There is no doubt that the SPD can give the 81-year-old Chancellor a hard time.

The Social Democrats are a powerful party of 650,000 dues-paying members which polled nearly eight million votes (twenty-eight per cent of the total) in the 1953 elections.

Trend Seen to Socialized Medicine

East Lansing — The United States is moving "toward more socialized medicine" and related care, according to the man who "fathered" the original Social Security Act.

Dr. Edwin E. Witte, president of the American Economics Association and University of Wisconsin professor, explained his views in a speech at Michigan State University.

Without accepting compulsory health insurance, the United States, he said, "is rapidly moving in the direction of more medical and related care financed from general taxes and controlled by the government."

The trend toward socialized medicine, he opined, is unlikely to be checked by growth of voluntary health insurance.

Dr. Witte, a principal author of the Social Security Act in the Roosevelt administration, claimed "there is good reason to expect some further improvement this year in social legislation."

Christ Died" based on an as yet unpublished manuscript by Jim Bishop, which is expected to hit the bookstands sometime this spring. It will be remembered that Bishop is the author of "The Day Lincoln Was Shot" and also wrote an account of the tragic drowning of Marine recruits on a disciplinary march last year, which Mr. Zanuck plans to film under the title of "Parris Island."

Burt Lancaster and Carroll Baker who plays the title role in the controversial movie, "Baby Doll" will co-star in "The Devil's Disciple." Carroll will have the role of Judith Anderson, wife of the Rev. Anthony Anderson, portrayed by Lancaster.

Although under contract to Fox for two years, without making a picture, Joanne Woodward, young contract player, is being given an opportunity to achieve recognition as a star, when she portrays a trio of personalities in the heroine of "Three Faces of Eve," a psychological study of a woman with three distinct personalities. Miss Woodward will play the three roles.

Come in!
One look is worth a thousand pictures—
one ride is worth ten thousand words.
IT'S THE DRAM CAR TO DRIVE
—THE BIGGEST VALUE TO BUY

WE'LL tell you frankly — we're proud of this car and the price level you see published here.

Only a few dollars more than the price of a smaller car — for a big and brawny Buick! But that's not all!

Do you know this spanking Buick is new from the rubber up?

Do you know it has an all-new body — and a windshield with more than 200 square inches of new visibility?

Do you know its roof line is inches lower — yet there's full headroom, legroom, footroom for six passengers?

All this took some great engineering. But where the engineers went all out was in making this the dream car of the year to drive.

New engine — new Dynaflo* response — new steering — new ride — more than 150 other chassis changes that make this, in fact, the most completely new Buick in years — offered at a price level that makes it literally true: if you can afford any new car you can afford a Buick.

And what a buy you'll get for your money! See your Buick dealer, take the wheel — and find out for yourself.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick build today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century — optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

In addition, the coverage will apply even when the injury occurs while the insured is not occupying an automobile as, for example, if struck by an uninsured car while walking or bicycling. A "hit-and-run" car will be regarded as an uninsured car, even if the owner or operator cannot be ascertained.

Limits of liability will be 10/20 to conform with those required by the present Financial Responsibility Law. Rates for the coverage are very modest and may be added to your existing insurance by calling

In addition to the displays of traditional infantry type arms and "mock-ups" of larger weapons, and ammunition, the public will be treated to exhibits of models of three kinds of Army Engineers' bridges, a propeller-type aircraft engine, and 17-scale models of tanks and mobile cannon.

On the program also are illustrated lectures on Engineering, activities, demonstrations by Medical Corps aid men, and Army-style foreign-language instruction.

Another highlight will be a disc jockey show with tape-recorded interviews of visitors, using equipment of an Army overseas radio station outfit.

Army-produced movies will be shown, one of which will be a reel narrated by Walter Cronkite on the story of the Reserve.

The open house will serve to introduce the new Army Reserve Training Center at 624 South Main street to the community. The quarters were leased by the Army last fall for use by Reservists who train regularly as members of 16 organized units. The former Gill Lumber Co. building has been undergoing alterations since its acquisition.

Open house hours are from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Friday and 8 to 9:30 p.m. Saturday. The public has been invited.
