

SCHOOL BOARD MEMBERS, architects' representatives and advisory committee members are shown in the above photograph as they studied details of the new high school building program last Thursday. At the right is Dr. J. V. Fisher, president of the Board of Education of the Chelsea School District. Seated around the table, reading clockwise, are Clay Langston, Eugene Fisher, Harold Widmayer, Earl Beeman, Supt. Charles Cameron, William Jarrett, Robert Morris and Howard Flintoff. Standing next to Dr. Fisher, is William J. Kolb, and behind Morris, Dudley Holmes. Beeman, Holmes, Kolb and Flintoff are members of the school board; in addition to Dr. Fisher. The new high school is scheduled for completion by July 1, 1958.

Detailed Plans for New High School Studied by Board

Last Thursday afternoon and evening, representatives of the architectural firm of Yamasaki, Lavin & Associates, members of the Board of Education and building committee members met in St. Paul's church hall to go over plans for the new high school and for the additional eight classrooms to be constructed for elementary use.

It is now planned to advertise for bids on high school construction March 30 and on elementary additions April 6, bids on all the work to be due April 30. If the schedule works out as planned, construction will begin May 6; the football field will be ready for use Aug. 15, 1957; the elementary addition will be ready for occupancy by Nov. 4, 1957, and the high school will be ready for occupancy by July 1, 1958.

In a letter to the Board of Education, the architects explain in detail, the plans for the building program to date.

The letter follows:

In a meeting with Mr. Flintoff last week it was mentioned that perhaps the Board of Education should be better informed by the architects as to progress and status of your projects.

May we begin by stating—that the High School plan and architectural appearance is fixed as of our last meeting with the Board of Education. You will remember the study model presented that night.

The elementary additions, in addition, however, hinge on the decision whether to add two rooms to the South Elementary school and six rooms to the North Elementary school or to add eight rooms to the North Elementary School only. We recommend that you consider adding eight rooms to the North Elementary School only, as this seems the more practical and economical of the two.

Our recommendations are based on the following comparisons: The existing boilers in both schools are inadequate in size and arrangement to handle the additions in either case.

If two rooms are added to the South School outside piping will have to be installed direct to the Boiler Room. The existing York Shipley boiler shall have to be replaced whether we add to this school or not.

We intend to furnish a small heater for each two classrooms added to the North Elementary school. The existing boiler rooms are added. The existing boiler capacity is inadequate to handle an addition such as either of the above. The new system will be warm air which overcomes your problem of ventilation in the existing facility.

At the South school the existing parapet and porch must be removed and considerable patching and matching must be done at the points of connection of the new addition. The North School makes for a clean connection to the existing west entrance therefore matching and patching is a negligible problem there.

The two rooms and corridor added to the South Elementary School comprises 2120 square feet where 25 per cent of the area is corridor and locker space. These two rooms and toilets added to the North Elementary School comprises 2145 square feet where 13 per cent of the area is toilet and heater space.

The addition on the South School is on fill and very deep foundation walls are required to reach firm footing.

The addition on the South School is very complicated and costly where the North School addition is simple and economical.

If all classrooms are added to one existing school the contractors travel and supervision costs are considerably reduced.

Small amounts of materials and prefabricated parts are required for the South Elementary addition but large amounts of materials and prefabricated parts are required for the North Elementary addition which again makes for certain savings.

It is difficult to establish a price for the addition to the South Elementary school as you may derive from the above comparison. However, it is obvious that there will be a greater proportion of material and labor expended per unit in the construction of the South Elementary addition as opposed to the simple low silhouette of the North Elementary addition.

Therefore, we urge you to consider adding eight rooms to the North Elementary school at this time and abandon the proposed addition to the South Elementary school.

It is our intention to bid the Elementary addition at the same time the High School is bid.

HEARING TESTS—Using a Michigan State Health Department audiometer, Tom O'Connor of St. Francis Elementary school, Ann Arbor, is being given a hearing test by Mrs. Clair Simons while other pupils of the school await their turn. Site for Rural Activities, 4-H Building Still Undecided

At a meeting held Monday evening, directors of the Washtenaw County Council decided to delay a final decision on where to locate a planned Farm Center in the county to make "cost studies" of three parcels of property.

The three properties that will be studied are the Wagner farm on Zeed road, just south of Jackson road (US-12), and two properties owned by Henry Leutheuser on the Ann Arbor-Stirling road near Pleasant Lake road about five miles south of Ann Arbor.

The general membership of the council instructed its board of directors 2 1/2 weeks ago to locate a site outside Ann Arbor and the directors were authorized to take all necessary action to build on a site.

Leroy Heller, a director of the Washtenaw Farm Council, and chairman of the site committee for the new agricultural and 4-H activities building, said the Farm Council will continue to remain in session throughout this week to receive appeals from those who are receiving notices from the Supervisor, Maurice Hoffman, that the assessments which he made for 1957 have been changed.

If necessary, the present session will adjourn from day to day until all appeals are heard, Supervisor Hoffman announced yesterday.

A trip to Olivet College was discussed and has since been cancelled. A definite policy relating to absences from club meetings was discussed, and a rule made to cover absences. Monday night's installation ceremony was discussed and the ceremony was rehearsed. Refreshments were planned, and a recreation period following the ceremony was approved.

Mr. Charles S. Cameron, Mr. Donald H. Bacon, for whom the FFA chapter is named, and Miss Mabel W. Fox, representing the local teachers' club, were the guests at the candle light installation ceremony at which the members were installed as national Future Teachers of American members. Club officers were sworn in during the ceremony and were officially reminded of their duties.

Following the service was a social hour and refreshments of cake, cake, and sandwiches, prepared by the members, were served.

Mechanical drawing first year students are making machine drawings and covers for their architectural drawing books. They are also making up some of their architectural plates. The advanced students are drawing parts of machines and making their covers for their machine drawing plates.

Mrs. Haselwerdt's second grade at North School is busy working on their dinosaur project. A great deal of interesting material has been brought in by the students.

Linda Hughes had a birthday last week. Tommy Eisenbeiser, of Mr. Foulson's sixth grade, has been helping the boys with their baseball.

A fortnight ago, in Mrs. Fremlin's art class, everyone in Mrs. Lange's fourth grade made an original cut paper design of animals and plants. In health class the students have learned about the basic seven food groups which will help them to have better health. Everybody contributed in making a mural of match-stick figures with heads of proper foods, such as beans, carrots, oranges, meats, and others. They have also made a fruit and vegetable picture to remind them to eat properly.

Twenty-six cities have been written to as a language project. The class is now awaiting folders about these cities that they can use in Social Studies.

Wanda Fletcher, Margaret Vanderpool, Lanny Carr, Craig Osterle, and Bob Shackleton worked together to produce a map of New Orleans for Social Studies class. The seventh grade enjoyed a Saint Patrick's dance given in their honor by the eighth grade last Saturday (March 16). The gym was decorated with green and white streamers. A hat, pipe, and shamrock adorned the stage curtain along with the words, "Saint Patrick's Day Ball." Pop and cookies were served as refreshments and everyone had a good time.

The eighth grade has been slaving away at creative writing in English for the last month. The teacher, Mrs. LaGoe, is planning to send some of the better works to Ann Arbor this coming October. They will be used at the Creative Writing Meeting at the next Region III meeting of the MEA. Dr. Sheridan Baker of the University of Michigan will be the speaker. The writings will be discussed and criticized.

A Junior High concert has been planned for March 22. The seventh and eighth grades will sing separate numbers, then will join together in singing "Bless This House," accompanied by the Junior Band. The band will play some separate numbers also.

The Chelsea Band is working on new music, some of which will be used in a concert planned for later in the spring.

One of the numbers is the ever popular "Carnival of Venice," featuring a difficult cornet solo played by Byron Pearson. "Victory at Sea," written by Richard Rogers, is taken from the NBC television production of the same name. The numbers present a musical picture of the activities of the war and include themes such as "Song of the High Seas," "Ben-neth the Southern Cross," "The Guadalupe March," "The Sunny Pacific Islands," "The Approaching Enemy," "The Attack," "Death and Debris," and concludes with "The Hymn of Victory."

Members of the band spent one day last week working on a theme for the approaching concert season.

Ike Makes Wise Choice in Middle East Representative

Former chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee James P. Richards, now retired from Congress but a special assistant to the President, has left for the Middle East.

As soon as the Senate had passed the President's Middle East plan, Secretary of State Dulles, President Eisenhower and Richards got together in the White House to discuss the Richards' mission.

It is no secret that Richards undertakes a job which is one of the most difficult in the foreign policy field now facing any member of the administration team. Richards is admirably equipped to handle the task before him—no doubt better adapted to this particular job than any other American, as President Eisenhower told him in a confidential letter, thanking him for accepting the appointment, in January.

Richards has many friends in the Middle East, both among the Arabs and Jews, and his personal ties and persuasive personality will help him put over the Middle East plan. Nevertheless, he faces a difficult task because the animosity and bitterness which characterizes all relations in this area are so great that no one could be expected to bring complete tranquility to the chaotic scene which is now the Middle East.

In short, Richards will have to be content to get the Middle East program accepted by the various leaders of that area and to erase suspicion and Soviet-planted propaganda that the Eisenhower-Middle East plan is designed to enslave that part of the world.

Richards will stay in the Middle East for some time, and the success of his efforts may have a major bearing on the future peace of the world.

Accidents Cost Nation Staggering Amount Annually

It is most depressing to read, that the dollar cost of accidents in this country is rising. One reliable estimate puts last year's total cost at the staggering figure of $10,000,000.

This total includes damages, benefit payments, loss of pay, loss of production, doctor and hospital bills, with perhaps half of the total being chargeable to highway mishaps. With the heavy travel season just now getting underway for 1957, there are many who are fearful of what this year's accident toll will be.

While some safety officials pin their hopes for reducing the motor vehicle toll to the new national highway-building program, others fear that the increase in the driver population and the number of motor vehicles on the highways will cause the accident figures to climb even higher.

Motor vehicle fatalities in 1956 brought a record of 45,000 life insurance death claims, with payments amounting to approximately $97,000,000. This was 3,000 more claims and $7,000,000 more in benefits than was paid in the preceding year.

But, however high the economic and human loss from injuries and death from motor vehicle accidents, the loss from other types of accidents has also risen. On-the-job accidents cost industry and workers about $3,500,000,000 last year, according to figures released by the Institute for Safer Living of the American Mutual Liability Insurance Company of Boston. Off-the-job accidents cost much more—nearly $7,500,000,000, with highway accident figures being included in both categories.

Increased leisure time and higher incomes enable more people to travel these days—all too often into danger. The fact that so many workers seem to sustain more accidents causing time and production loss while away from their jobs than while at work has caused a number of companies to set up safety clauses, urging precautions at recreation, around the home and on the road.

It is both interesting, and alarming, to note how the institute's estimate of $10,000,000,000 accident cost, which is termed "a total economic loss," compares with the outlook for federal and state highway construction this year, which is expected to cost taxpayers $11,000,000,000, but is not a "total" loss.

Little city-bred Johnny was on his first real vacation with his father. The two were hiking in the mountains one morning when the father pointed out a colorful rainbow to his son. "It sure is pretty, Dad. What's it advertising?"

PROBLEM

★ MICHIGAN MIRROR ★

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

The terms "qualified engineer" and "registered engineer" may be battled around in front of Michigan's Supreme Court if John C. Mackie, Democratic candidate for state highway commissioner, receives the voters' approval for that office.

Currently, the Michigan Society of Professional Engineers (MSPE) is doing at slow burn because Mackie is not registered as an engineer. MSPE contends that according to Michigan law, this makes him ineligible for the highway post.

An MSPE attempt to force Democrats to select a new candidate for highway commissioner failed when the state Supreme Court refused to issue an order to Secretary of State James M. Hare to keep Mackie's name off the April 1 ballot.

The Mackie-MSPE dispute appears to be heading for further legal tests if the Democratic candidate is elected.

Robert E. Childs, attorney for the professional engineering group, says he assumes the court refused to rule on the issue before the election because the usual method of ruling on a candidate's qualifications is to wait until after he is elected.

Charges of "politics" were levied against the suit by Democratic State Central Committee Chairman Neil Staebler. Childs refutes the statement saying, "A. C. Erial, president of the MSPE, has instructed me that the suit must be brought against any man running for highway commissioner, regardless of political connections, if he isn't a qualified, registered engineer."

The bone of contention centers around the word "registered." Mackie holds a degree in civil engineering from Michigan State University. However, he is not registered as an engineer. At present he is a registered surveyor at Flint.

Main basis for filing the original suit (and for any future legal action should Mackie be elected) is a 1937 law which requires the highway commissioner to be a registered engineer. This in turn is supported by a ruling of the Attorney General in 1946 that county road commissioners must be registered engineers.

If Mackie were elected and then disqualified, the appointment of a successor would be up to Governor Williams.

Michigan's new teen-age driving law is off to a flying start according to reports from schools around the state.

Since Feb. 1, no person under 18 can qualify for a license without an approved course in driver's education.

Few complaints have been received from either parents or students that the new law is creating any hardships, says Norman E. Borgerson, deputy superintendent of the state Department of Public Instruction.

All schools have successfully instituted the program. Prior to the adoption of the law in February some of the larger schools were afraid they could not provide adequate facilities. However, these fears did not materialize, Borgerson states.

About 68,000 students will receive the required course by the end of 1957. Many experts believe that driver education is a contributing factor in the reduction of accidents—Michigan experienced during the first two months of the year.

As the pioneer in this compulsory driving education, Michigan is being closely watched by other states contemplating the adoption of similar legislation.

Some changes are suggested for the present law. The Michigan State Safety Commission has heard recommendations that:

In the 24 Years Ago column (March 27, 1919), The Baptist bazaar on East Summit street was sold at auction Tuesday afternoon to Herbert E. Snyder; also, Chelsea Screw Co. has purchased two lots on Congdon street, adjoining its property, for future expansion.

M. L. Burckhart of Lima is preparing to build a new home on the farm, and Chelsea's High school's basketball team won the MSNC basketball tournament for high schools of less than 200 enrollment.

Thursday, March 23, 1933—With a large shipment of Jiffy Blacut flour to be made this week, Chelsea Milling Co., enters the new York City retail market in an introductory merchandising plan which promises to be exceedingly fruitful in results. Monday, April 8, has been set as the date which will herald the introduction of the Chelsea product to two grocery stores in the metropolitan area of the largest city in country. Radio broadcasting will be started under the direction of the Copeland Service, headed by U. S. Senator Royal S. Copeland over Station WJLB, and the two chains of stores will feature the Jiffy flour in their newspaper advertising. Production of Jiffy flour has increased steadily since its introduction several months ago.

Two local pioneers died here today. Frederick Kaimbach who was born in Chelsea, Aug. 12, 1855, and Daniel C. McLaren, president of Kempt Commercial & Savings Bank, who was born in Lima township, July 15, 1857.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Weinberg and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Cook escaped with a few minor cuts and bruises when their car skidded on the slippery pavement early Sunday and turned a double somersault.

Thursday, March 22, 1923—Tossing their way to victory in games which leave no doubt as to their supremacy over teams in their class, St. Mary's Reserves have established themselves as possible winners of the Michigan State Amateur Athletic tournament championship now being played in Detroit. Wednesday they defeated the Willard Athletic club in one of the fastest games of the season, 20 to 15. Members of the team are Phil Hoffman, r.f.; Paul Hoffman, l.f.; Julius Eder, c.; Edward Eder, r.g.; Paul Conlan, l.g. and Riedel and M. Hoffman, substitutes.

Chelsea Screw Co. has added four new machines to its equipment the past two weeks. Author Bret Harte's famous wild girl of the mountains will be portrayed here in the picture "The Girl Who Ran Wild," with Gladys Walton. Universal screen star is the title role. The picture is adapted from Harte's book entitled "M'liss."

The HERB CORNER

Flavor, Fragrance, Beauty

Mrs. Anna B. Brown, Washburn County Home Demonstration Agent, recommended using herb vinegars as one means of giving variety to salads when instructing extension club project leaders this month.

Tarragon vinegar is the best known of the herb vinegars, but basil, dill, fennel, garlic, mint, rose-geranium, salad burnet, and mixed herbs are also used to flavor vinegars.

These herb vinegars can be purchased, though not all culinary herb distributors have all flavors. However, it is not difficult to make your own.

If fresh herbs are available, fill a wide-mouthed bottle or jar loosely with leaves and fill with red or white wine vinegar. Cider and white or distilled vinegar are too strong to make the best flavored herb vinegar. Cover bottle or jar tightly, set in a warm place for a couple of weeks, then strain and pour into glass container of your choice.

To make herb vinegars with dried herbs, use two teaspoons of the dried herb per pint of vinegar, and heat the vinegar before pouring it over the herb.

Tarragon vinegar is particularly good with a seafood salad. Dressings made with mint or rose geranium vinegars are delightful on fruit salads.

Senator Potter reports

... the latest news from Washington of special interest to Michigan ...

CONVENTIONS, like crocuses, sprout in Washington's springtime. Last week 2,000 members of the building trades unions met here for their annual legislative session. Michigan sent 200 delegates and 16 of them came into my office for a talk. Painters, roofers, carpenters, bricklayers, plumbers and electrical workers, led by Andy Virtue, Secretary of the Michigan State Building Trades Council, and Fergus Johnson, president of the State Conference of Bricklayers, came to call. Detroit was well represented, with a sprinkling from Grand Rapids, Dearborn, and Lansing. These gentlemen have some pretty sound legislative aims which I wholeheartedly support. They did a thorough job of getting around to all 18 Michigan congressmen and both senators, and are building solid support for their bills.

A TOUCHDOWN has been scored by Michigan's Capitol Hill team, and a fast one at that. We've persuaded the Department of Agriculture to abandon its plan to lower moisture requirements for tough wheat and to make other changes, all of which would have downgraded Michigan wheat and cost our farmers well over half a million dollars a year. On Wednesday, I called on Secretary of Agriculture Benson, accompanied by four wheat-district congressmen. We presented our case. On Friday, I was notified that wheat won. It took exactly 48 hours. That's speed by any standard, but in the Washington world of red tape, it's a supersonic!

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER

last week asked me to express to all those of Hungarian descent in the State of Michigan his most friendly greetings on Hungarian Freedom Day. March 16, as you may know, commemorates the Hungarian people's struggle against foreign domination in 1848. The date takes on new significance in the wake of the recent Budapest uprising, where Hungarians once again shed blood for freedom. The resettling of Hungarian refugees in our state, the President said, is a proud chapter in Michigan's history. I should like to add my own words of pride in the heartfelt welcome Michigan extended to these victims of the Soviet terror. The new homes and new lives you are so generously helping to provide for them are already bringing dividends in valuable human resources to our state.

PARKED on Washington's doorstep is a Goliath which public officials are trying to slay with scissors, pencils and loud talk. The gigantic $72 billion federal budget comes over the small but spunky David, last week Republican David readied the almighty veto.

At a party conference, Republican senators adopted an economy resolution highlighting the need to avoid inflation and reduce taxes. Mindful of the national defense and essential government functioning, it recommended that the Appropriations committee consider carefully each appropriation with a view to keeping expenditures within the lowest practicable bounds.

In reporting bills to the Senate, each committee include a statement of initial and projected cost of any activity authorized in the bill.

Congress limit civilian jobs "to the lowest level consistent with the authorized operation of the Department or agency involved."

Certainly no issue in recent months has monopolized conversation to the extent the budget has. One wit, describing heavy congressional mail on the subject, claimed it was rivaled only by the furore raised when the Army suggested trimming Elvis Presley's sideburns. And there's about an equal chance to trim both," he predicted. I disagree. It will take hard work to cut these expenditures, but we intend to do it.

"SKELETONS" in State closets brighten our government archives and here's one Michigan you may enjoy. "Around 1880, one of the highlights of Bay City, as of other lumber towns, was the regular arrival of swagging lumberjacks, released from months of monotonous winter labor, thirsty and pleasure-bent. Water street, a staid commercial thoroughfare, was then lined by saloons; many are said to have had catcombs, from the trapdoors of which dead brawlers and victims of skulduggery were sped into watery graves. The lumberjacks and rivermen, who patronized 'Hell's Half Mile' on Water street, were entertained with whiskey, women, dancing, and fighting."

WHO KNOWS?

1. How many humps does a Dromedary camel have?
2. When was Millard Fillmore President of the United States?
3. Name Europe's longest river.
4. Name the highest mountain in continental United States.
5. What three rivers flow into Boston Harbor?
6. Name the present Mayor of New York City.
7. In what war was the Battle of New Orleans fought?
8. From what event does the Moslem calendar start?
9. Spingar, Hollandia and Nicosa are capitals of what territories?
10. In which document does the phrase "a decent respect to the opinions of mankind" occur?

(Answers on page 8)

"VORTAC" Combining what it considers the best features of competing military and civilian systems, the Government has come up with "Vortac" as the answer to air-traffic control in the jet age. The decision is expected to settle a controversy that has raged several years. The new system, expected to be in use by 1960, will "provide the most comprehensive and modern distance-measuring equipment and directional navigation service."

Farmers and ranchers are building one to two-acre ponds on their lands at a rate of about 75,000 a year, according to the Agriculture Department, which estimates that around 1,500,000 such ponds have been constructed in the last fifteen to twenty years. Michigan Mirror...

1. All students who have driven for a year or more under temporary permits be granted a license without the formal training.

2. The mandatory $3 fee for a driving permit be eliminated.

This fee can be collected when the student applies for the regular license, Borgerson suggests. At present, the fee is returned to all those who take the course but do not choose to apply for a license.

One conflict exists with present driving regulations.

Under the training program a student is eligible to take instruction any time after his 15th birthday. Some students complete the course within eight weeks after they become 15 years of age. Law then prevents them from driving for the next 44 weeks until they reach 16.

The Department of Public Instruction is also considering a change to grant restricted permits to any "graduate" of the driver training course.

Photographs may soon be necessary on Michigan driver licenses if a proposed bill meets with favorable legislative action.

Currently, the State Highways Committee is taking testimony on the proposal which would require that motorist's photograph be imprinted on his license.

Trade groups and safety organizations are generally in favor of the bill. Retailers, bankers and liquor licensees point out that driver licenses are often used for identification of customers. They believe a photograph would assure positive identification.

Realty spokesmen also believe had check passers, who often rely on stolen or counterfeit licenses, would be greatly deterred.

Big questions to be answered are how much would such a program cost and how can it be handled efficiently? No information exists at present because other states do not require photographs.

Sidney H. Woolner, deputy Secretary of State, suggests that such a program be put on a trial basis. By limiting the requirement to only a few counties at first, costs and administrative problems could be determined. Beyond this single reservation Woolner said the Secretary of State's office recognizes the soundness of the proposal and endorses the basic idea.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Shipley of Plymouth, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Proctor.

Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Proctor called at the Walter Bauer home.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Forner, Jr., and family, spent Sunday in Windsor, Canada, at the home of Mr. Forner's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Robinson.

They were accompanied there by Mrs. K. Waldeger, wife of Mr. Forner who has been their house guest the past three weeks. Mrs. Waldeger will be a guest of the Robinsons for a few days before returning to her home in Dysart, Saskatchewan, Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gieske had as week-end guests Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Melville and family, of Lansing, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lucas of Lansing, and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Sanford and children, of Hillsdale.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Kalmbach and Mrs. Leon Sanderson spent Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. James Beal and family, in Saline.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Widmayer were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Noah at North Lake.

Last Friday, a large white whistling swan arrived on Pierce Lake, remaining for several days. The lone swan had the company of two pairs of Canadian wild geese who arrived three weeks earlier and, if they follow the pattern of the past two years, will remain until after the nesting season.

Two years ago the two pairs of geese raised six young ones and last year they had four.

Ducks, loons and other wild birds also stop at the lake for varying periods while migrating north in the spring and south in the fall.
