Farm Center To Locate on Saline Road

Board's Delayed Final Decision Stirs Further Controversy

At a meeting held Friday evening in the County Building at Ann Arbor, the board of directors of the Washtenaw Farm Council voted to locate the planned Farm Center on 20 acres of land on the Henry Leuthuser farm, on 5 1/2 miles south of Ann Arbor.

The other piece of property the council would have considered, if it had turned down the Leuthuser property, was 20 acres of land on the Wagner farm on Zeeb road, west of Jackson road (US-12). The total price for this land would have been $14,600 for the acreage plus $1,500 to level a cornfield, $2,000 for field tile and $800 for two driveway culverts.

Seven of the council board voted for the Leuthuser location, one voted against it and one abstained. Vote was by a margin of hands.

The Leuthuser property is at the end of Pleasant Lake road in Lodi township. It had been mentioned only the past two weeks as a possible site for the agricultural and 4-H activities building originally planned to be erected on six acres of the former Washtenaw county fairgrounds at Ann Arbor. Several other sites had been considered in addition to the Wagner road location.

Before the vote was taken at Friday's meeting, resolutions favoring the Leuthuser property were read. The communications came from the Washtenaw-Wayne County Holstein Breeders' Association, Field Union Grange No. 822, Washtenaw-Wayne county P. O. on a Grange executive board and the Washtenaw County Farm Bureau. The communications cited "easy access from every part of the county" and the opinion that the Leuthuser area would become urbanized as fast as other areas being considered for the new Farm Center.

An engineer's report was made at the meeting by George P. Frisinger of Lewis and Frisinger Co., and a firm engineer who had been requested by the Farm Council to survey the parcels of land under consideration. "From the standpoint of natural drainage, the cost of making the Wagner site comparable to the Leuthuser site would be prohibitive," the engineer's report to the board said. "We found that both the Leuthuser fields were well drained and contained enough gravel so that surface water had no trouble in getting away."

Ernie Heller, a Farm Council director and chairman of the Council's new site committee, who had recommended the Wagner road site, said yesterday that prior to the Farm Council directors' meeting Friday, a group who favored the Leuthuser site called a meeting which was held in the Saline hotel to "encourage other organizations to express preference for the Leuthuser site." He said he and other Farm Council members had not been told of the meeting.

Heller also said that Ezra Leach of Dexter, another Farm Council director, had declared his intention to resign after

Alfred Kuhl Named To Head MMPA 1st District

Alfred Kuhl was elected chairman of the 1st District of Michigan Milk Producers Association at the district's annual meeting.

The election marked the first use of a new system of selecting officers for the association and districts. The procedure was approved at a meeting of state delegates last fall and is now being put into operation.

Delmer Rupp of Morenci, was named vice-chairman; Albert Gall Saline, was chosen secretary, and William Hayes, Ypsilanti, elected Redistricting Committeeman.

Five members were elected to the financing committee. They are: Herman Kern, Chelsea; Arthur Schmitt, Carleton; W. Amsdill, Dexter; Bertram Stout, Clayton; and David Dajanzovich, Willis.

Four members of the 15-man state board of directors will be elected at district meetings this coming fall, in place of elections of those officers by state delegates. This system was devised to bring elections even closer to rank and file membership.

Last Payment Made on South School

A check for $85,078.78 sent to the Detroit Bank and Trust Company of Detroit, retires all the outstanding bonded indebtedness on the South Elementary school, it was announced this week by the Chelsea School District Board of Education.

The bond issue for $258,000 to erect and furnish an elementary school building was approved Feb. 7, 1951, by a vote of 461-484. The bonds were issued for the years 1951-1966.

The total bond issue was retired in a period of six years, effecting a savings in interest payments amounting to $17,000. Total scheduled interest cost of the issue from 1951 to 1966 was $42,891 while the school district, by retiring the bonds on the six-year schedule, has paid out only $25,866.12 in interest, premiums and agent fees.

The bonds were retired according to the following table: $8,000 in 1952; $10,000 in 1953; $28,000 in 1954; $30,000 in 1955; $88,000 in 1956; and $98,000 in 1957.

The millage levy for 1956 on this issue was 3.5 mills on the state equalized valuation of $6.60 per thousand dollars of assessed valuation in Sylvan township.

The amount per thousand dollars of assessed valuation in other townships depends on the percentage their assessed valuation is of the state equalized valuation.

Board Finds School Bus Costs Soaring

School bus transportation has been provided for pupils in the Chelsea School District since the reorganization of the district in 1947. Approximately 50 per cent of the pupils are transported to and from school every day at the present time.

Cost of the transportation to the school district has increased each year. Figures show the cost for 1955-56 to be $30,380 as compared to $14,487.71 for 1951-52.

Figures for the intervening years are $17,224.42 for 1952-53; $18,175.27 for 1953-54; and $21,906.73 for 1954-55.

Much of the increased cost is for transportation of pupils in primary districts annexed since 1947, it was pointed out in school reports.

Costs as listed include gas, oil, tires, maintenance, insurance, wages of bus drivers, field trips, etc., but the purchase costs of the buses are not included.

Transportation costs are reimbursed by the Department of Public Instruction up to $60.00 per pupil for those who are eligible riders. The reimbursement for transportation is included in the school's State Aid payments. Only those pupils who live more than a mile from the school they attend are eligible for reimbursement of transportation costs. At the present time the school district is transporting pupils who live within a mile of the school they attend and for whom no reimbursement will be received.

Elementary pupils in the rural area may be required to walk a half-mile to a bus route and secondary pupils in the rural area may be required to walk one mile to a bus route. The school district is not reimbursed for mileage traveled to pick up an elementary pupil with in a half-mile of a bus route or secondary pupil within a mile of a bus route.

The school board has been studying the costs of school transportation in consideration of a program to

4-H Plans Achievement Program

More than 600 Washtenaw county 4-H members will exhibit their 4-H projects at the Washtenaw county 4-H Achievement Show which is to be held April 10-11 at Ann Arbor High school.

Articles in clothing, woodwork, leather craft, plastics, electrical and photography will be on display. In addition, members will build educational exhibits and posters relating to good grooming, conservation, health, safety, home improvement, child care and personal money management.

The highlight of the two-day event will be the dress-revue and awards program which will be held in the Ann Arbor High School Auditorium at 8:00 p.m. Thursday. Three hundred and sixty 4-H girls will take part in the dress-revue and model clothing which they have made.

School Board Rejects Plan For Extra Operation Millage

In spite of the fact that "appreciable salary increases" were granted teachers in the Chelsea School District, there will be no increase in tax levies, according to an announcement made following the school board meeting Tuesday evening.

In recent weeks, while working with the faculty and administration on salary requests, the Board of Education unanimously rejected a request to submit a proposal for additional operational millage to the electors for approval.

"The Board of Education has appreciated the support of the community on this issue in recent years and feels the electors should have some relief from the tax burden this year since the South Elementary school bond issue has been paid in full," it was stated following announcement of the pay raises for teachers.

The board's rejection of a proposal to ask electors to approve an increase in operational millage was further justified as a wise decision when it was learned that Monday's election had resulted in failures of bond issue and operational levy proposals in other areas throughout the state. The local board had appraised the situation well, regarding additional tax levies.

While the Chelsea School District operational budget for 1957-58 will not require an additional operational levy over the 1956-57 figure, none of the essentials of a good educational program have been cut, the school board's statement points out.

The teachers' salary schedule of the Chelsea District compares favorably with the school districts in the state.

The beginning salary for teachers with an AB degree is $4,000 and the beginning salary with an MA degree is $4,300. The maximum salary of $8,000 with an AB degree is reached in 11 years. Heads of households are allowed an additional $500 above the maximum salary and a student of $150 is allowed for 10 hours credit beyond the BA degree or when a teacher receives a permanent teacher's certificate. Year for year credit is also allowed on the schedule for military training.

EYES AND EARS of the nation focused last week on the Caucus room in Washington's Senate Office Building where television lights and camera flashlights shone on Dave Beck, general president of the powerful, rich Teamsters Union. Beck, under questioning by a special committee investigating rackets in labor and management, defied the Senate and the nation's top union leadership by refusing to answer or release his records.

Beck faces charges that he used hundreds of thousands of dollars of union funds for his personal ventures. It is deplorable that most one- and a-half million rank-and-file teamsters must watch such a performance by their kinsman. Certainly none of it reflects on the union membership but I have no doubt that they must be wondering—and rightly so—why top officials can freely dip into the union till while they, as members, are forbidden that privilege.

A union member, like a corporation stockholder, has the right to expect scrupulous handling of the money he entrusts to his organization. Now that the issue has been dramatized by the probe, I am confident that well-intentioned working men and women will red themselves of corrupt leadership whenever it may exist. ## Traffic Deaths in January, February Shows Decrease

Michigan has made an auspicious start in saving lives on the highway this year, although the figures for the first eight days of March are not so encouraging.
According to State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs, there were 87 fewer traffic deaths up through March 8. In January 125 persons were killed as compared with 104 in the same month last year, a drop of 20. February showed a reduction of 47, with 89 deaths as compared with 136 in the same month of 1956.
For the first eight days of March, however, 28 persons died in traffic, a saving of only one life under 29 in the same period a year ago.
The February death toll of 89 is the first monthly total of less than 100 since April, 1952.
The figures for this year are still subject to readjustment as final reports are received.
"The real test will come in the next few months," Childs said. "We have to watch out now for the rise in fatalities that always begins around April."
Although the nation-wide death toll mounted to a new high in 1956, Michigan showed a reduction of 200 under the previous year. Deaths totaled 1,747 as compared with 2,016 in 1955. The goal this year is to cut the 1956 toll by 10 per cent, or 174 lives.

COMING UP

April 5-6—Junior Play, "And Came the Spring" 8 p.m.

April 8-12—School closed for spring vacation.

April 15—Open House for parents in both elementary schools, 6:30-8:30 p.m.

April 18—Open House in the high school, 7 to 9 p.m.

The Latin Club has been planning a dance to be held May 24, 7:30-10:30 p.m. Sharon Smyser, Antje Menge and Marge Hopburn were appointed to plan decorations. Bob Smith is in charge of tickets. Other members include: Paul Fryfinger, Gene Rump, David Rowe and Art Haab are in charge of clean-up. Let's all attend the Latin Club dance and while helping to make it a huge success, have a good time!

Baseball players have had bad luck this year, weatherwise. They have had to practice in the gym instead of outdoors where they should be.

Some twenty-five candidates showed up for the first practice. Sore arms and bad timing were common. Coach Alan Conklin says he has been building up for a long time for this squad. He is depending chiefly on his seniors for pitching.

Shop workers have been busy. In the seventh grade a new group has just started their course. They are working on plaster cast, leather work, and cold metal. Shop I has a more general area to work in, and they lack a "main project" such as Shop II boys have. George Mayer is starting another cedar chest while Don Wood and Bob Eder are finishing their picnic tables on which they have been working for five weeks.

When the juniors produce their play "And Came the Spring" tomorrow and Saturday, the stage crew will be suffering the usual jitters. They may find that a usually well-behaved spotlight won't work. They will search and scramble, only to find that it is unplugged. Then a stage lamp won't work, and they may find they have forgotten to throw the main switch.

A prop is needed! Where is it?

Why isn't it where it should be? Where is the leading lady? Repairing her make-up, or adjusting her hair?

Take it easy, kids! All stage crews have such experiences. We are all suffering with you. Good luck! You've done a good job!

Plans are being made at present for the annual trip of the senior chorus to Kalamazoo, April 17, 1957. They will leave early in the morning, perhaps before school starts, and return late that evening.

The chorus is working on eleven numbers for the trip, for they will be singing in a mixed chorus with approximately 800 to 900 voices. Nine numbers will be sung by the entire chorus, one number will be sung by the girls' chorus and one number by the boys' chorus.

The participating schools will be from every section of Michigan. The festival is sponsored by Western Michigan University.

In the near future rehearsals will start for the "Spring Band and Choir Concert," and also the Student Fops Assembly which are scheduled for sometime in May.

The Junior and Senior members of the Future Teachers Association are busy making plans for some cadet teaching. Which is not usually employed until college. The local group decided that it might be good experience, and also allow everyone to find out, now, whether or not he has what it takes to teach.

Movies of the week have been "Spanish Influence in the U. S.," "Wonders of a Country Stream," "How the Ear Functions," "Let's Make a Casserole," "Kidnapped," and "Two Years Before The Mast."

Journalism class will present a movie entitled "Mr. Peabody and the Mermaid" about the end of April or the first of May. Funds from the movie will go to buy equipment, such as a typewriter. The committee which chose the movie included King Hanna, Mary Lou Sexton, Robert Brown, and Veretta Greenwood.

Journalism club plans to sponsor a dance May 10, from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. It will be a "plain dance" without decorations or refreshments. The club is also planning a pizza dinner on April 24 in the Home Ec. room.

Future Homemakers of America held a swimming party for April 8 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Ann Arbor High school. The homemaking students are planning a style show some time in May. Already the committees are working and planning for it.

The freshmen homemaking students are sewing garments, and the sophomores are on a meat-trip to the frozen meat lockers at Frigid Products, March 29. Juniors and seniors are finishing a clothing unit and then will start a cooking unit. The seventh grade brygnias are making cookies and cookies for a teachers meeting soon after vacation.

Committee chairman for the Sponge Dance reported at the last meeting of the Girls Athletic Association.

It was decided that this year GAA would hold elections for next year's officers some time in April. This way the new officers will be able to work with present officers and become acquainted with the duties and work of their office. There will also be spring tryouts for giving book reports. More recently, they have been writing letters and telegrams.

Girls' gym classes have just finished making. The high scorers of each class from first through fourth places are: seventh grade, Sharon Allen, H. Rothfuss, B. Luida Cook, C. Bechtman, S. Grossman, K. Kinder; high school class, Gloria Packard, M. Tarasow, S. Borders, S. Slane.

Senior high girls are now starting to practice baseball. Junior high girls are planning basketball tournaments.

The afternoon kindergarten class took part in an assembly program. They all wore bunny ears, and pantomimed a story, "Surprise for Mrs. Bunny."

Many children have brought beautiful Easter story books for us to enjoy reading. Clinton Gipson treated his class to cookies and suckers on his 6th birthday. Both classes are making Easter bonnets and egg shell flowers for Easter.

A very enjoyable afternoon was spent by the second graders of the South Elementary school in taking a train trip from Ann Arbor to Jackson. On March 28, students left Chelsea at 11:45 a.m.

Parents who drove to Ann Arbor were, from Mrs. Elsie's room, Mr. Lancaster, Mr. Spencer, Mr. Sweet, from Mrs. Smith's room, Mr. Winans, Mr. Werner, Mrs. Daniels, Mrs. DeFani, Mrs. Schneider, and Mrs. Burnett.

The mothers who took the trip with the children are Mrs. Sweet, Mrs. White, Mrs. Lancaster, Mrs. Flintoft, Mrs. Spencer, Mrs. Worden, Mrs. Frisinger, Mrs. Hanson, Mrs. Farrell, Mrs. Blacklaw, Mrs. Kind, Mrs. Davis, and Mrs. Taylor from Mrs. Elsie's room, and Mrs. Worden and Mrs. McClain from Mrs. Smith's room.

The group arrived at Ann Arbor station at 12:15. Each child purchased his own ticket, telling his destination, then boarded the train at 12:45 and arrived at Jackson about 30 minutes later. Children were permitted to inspect every inch of the coach, putting their coats on the racks above the seats, reclining the seats, etc.

After arrival at Jackson, candy was purchased and distributed to the children by Mrs. Kind, Mrs. Sweet, Mrs. Worden and Mrs. McClain. After inspecting the Jackson station, the group boarded the school buses and returned to Chelsea. The trip was enjoyed by all, as was the first train trip taken by the most of the children and adults.

Mrs. Patricia Schaefer, the seventh grade English teacher, returned to school after a two-month absence. She was in the hospital with pneumonia. While the grade enjoyed having Mrs. Mayer as a substitute, they were also happy to have Mrs. Schaefer return.

Junior high students have been very interested recently in the outcome of the grade spelling bees. Darlene Mappans, Alice Webb, Herman Hoskins, Linda Burghardt, Diana Hayes, Kay Runciman, Mary Ann Oesterle, Kathy Stalburg, Sherry Eisman, Ruth Prentice, Carol Cameron, Sue Reich, Mary Ann Steger, and Carol Reddeman were in the final eighth grade spelling bee. It was held Wednesday March 27 during sixth hour. At the end of period Ruth Prentice, Kay Runciman, and Carol Cameron were still unbeaten. Ruth Prentice was eliminated at noon, but not until 4:15 p.m. was Carol Cameron declared the official winner.

Patty Pastor, Carol Dancer, Donna Snyder, Elaine Pearson, Sherry Eisman, Joann Wojcik, Nowaki, Ruth Ann Sexton, Helen Rothfuss, Diana Miller, Judy Lee, Karen Aldrich, Andy Fletcher, Dot Brown, Ava MacDougal, and Nancy Carter were in the final seventh grade bee, held Thursday, March 28, first hour. Nancy Carter was the last one standing. Sherry Frisinger, who missed on "favorite" was runner-up.

Junior High Band and Chorus concert represented a great deal of hard work by the participants and provided a most enjoyable evening for a large audience. Among the high spots of the concert were "Night Herding Song" and "Blue Tango" by the eighth grade choir; "Green Grow the Lilies" and "Steamboat Comin'" by the seventh grade choir; flute solo of "Green Cathedral" by Ruth Prentice; and "Blue Nocturne" and "Bless This House" by the Junior band. The large attendance was greatly appreciated by the youthful participants.

The eighth grade choir is planning a trip to Livonia on May 10. Along with ten other Junior High choirs (Manchester, Saline, and other nearby schools included) they will present a vocal concert at Riley Junior High school. Mr. Sanborn, the choir director, has chosen as the choir's number "Green Grow the Lilies" and "Steamboat Comin'". After each choir has presented its own selections, all will join together in singing three or four numbers. The singing of each choir will be judged and criticized.

Mrs. LaGoo's eighth grade English class has been seeing movies on the more famous words of literature. Last week they saw Robert Louis Stevenson's "Kidnapped" and Richard Dana's "Two Years Before the Mast."

Freshmen biology students have completed their study of the less intelligent mammals such as the horse, dog, bear, etc. They have now turned their attention to the most complex and intelligent of the mammals, the human. They have studied digestion, respiration, and the release of energy, and blood and circulation.

In English they have been learning how to speak before a group by giving book reports. More recently, they have been writing letters and telegrams.

Sophomores are setting in motion the machinery for the selection and purchase of class rings.

with president Delores Scripser and treasurer Barbara Balmer sparking the activity.

The juniors are working diligently in the different committees in preparation for the prom, the biggest social event of the year. Chairman Bob Brown, of the serving committee, sends out a plea for workers. Sophomores and freshmen who volunteer to wait table will be allowed to attend the dance afterward. Chairman Brown says "See me, please!"

Seniors are having very visible jitters all over the place. Why? They fear they may be able to fly back from New York, since some parents object. Seniors heard three members of the class of '56, Llewellyn Lehman, David Briston, and James McLaughlin, tell of their experiences during their first year at college. Much useful information was dispensed; many questions were asked; and much interest in advanced education was generated.

Second Atomic Submarine Now Undergoing Tests for U.S.

The Navy has sent its second atomic submarine to sea. The first run of the Seawolf was only a test run but the fact that the new atomic sub is about ready for duty marks another milestone in Naval history.

The Seawolf is powered by a different atomic engine than that used in the Nautilus, the first atomic sub. Some experts believe the power plant to be less efficient than that which powers the older atomic submersible.

The Seawolf reportedly uses liquid sodium as a coolant for its atomic reactor and this system was expected by designers to have certain advantages. Trial runs of the new sub may provide valuable data to the Navy on the controversial question whether such a plant is more or less efficient.

The Navy is already busy on plans and work on other atomic submarines, and plans to some day have a fleet of atomic subs capable of great underwater speed and tremendous range.

Information released on the Seawolf discloses a cruising range of at least 80,000 miles is possible without refueling. And that is to be made possible by a small package of atomic fuel no larger than an ordinary softball.

Meanwhile, it is good to have the atomic subs flying the flag of the United States and not that of some foreign power.

Filibuster Tactics Useful But May Be Misunderstood

The filibuster has been very much in the news in recent years and a number of senators, some Republicans and some Democrats, have been advocating that the cloture rule in the Senate be changed so that two-thirds of the senators voting could bring about limitation of debate.

The cloture rule in the Senate, as it has worked for many years, requires two-thirds of the Senate membership to invoke a closing of free discussion on any issue. This means that 64 senators, of the total membership of 96, must vote to end debate on any measure—to break the back of a filibuster. This has never been considered an unreasonable rule and is a cloture rule which may be invoked if those behind closing of debate are actually determined to close off further discussion.

The danger in reducing the number of senators required to shut off debate is a serious one which could destroy many freedoms in the upper legislative body. If a two-thirds majority of those voting could shut off debate, it would be rather easy for advocates of an issue to see to it—at a certain time—that they had a two-thirds majority, even if that majority were only a comparatively small group of senators.

It would, actually pave the way for the ramrod tactics which are used in the House and which may be necessary in that body because of the large membership of 435. However, the Senate's membership is less than 100 and there is no necessity for the steamroller tactics which the House leadership must use to insure passage for certain legislation.

Actually, though most people do not know it, Southerners gave up their foolproof filibuster weapon in 1949 when they agreed to an amendment of the Senate's rules which ended their right to unlimited debate on the motion to bring up a bill. As the rules operated up to the year 1949, there was no way to invoke cloture on the motion to bring up a bill in the Senate. Therefore, a small group of senators could wilfully delay action and prevent the two-thirds constitutional majority from exercising its will. Now, however, that has been changed and the two-thirds rule, as applied to cloture, is a safety device.

The few evils in this system are prob- outweighted by the many safety features included in the requirement. It is not true that filibusters cannot be broken, since when 64 senators decide they have heard enough there is no way whatever for 32 members to stop them.

Proposal Would Require States To Assist in Relief Program

The Eisenhower administration has proposed that states be required to pay at least 25 per cent of the cost of drought and farm disaster relief programs. We are in full accord with this proposal, for it is, in effect, a state's rights proposal which takes the federal government out of the position of being Santa Claus, doling out untold sums of money to various states when the states are often not helping themselves.

The federal proposal means that the U. S. government will pay as much as 75 per cent of drought and disaster relief program costs, but it makes it clear that the states affected should move to help their own citizens when drought or other disaster strikes their area.

One of the disappointing things discovered when President Eisenhower and other members of the administration toured the Southwest recently, inspecting drought conditions, was the fact that some states in that area were doing very little to help their citizens, even though they were in dire need of relief.

The new farm relief program is partly a result of this tour and while we realize that the federal government has some responsibility in moving to relieve an emergency which affects farmers in a drought or other disaster area, the states also have some responsibility. If the state is not willing to put up 25 cents of every dollar for relief of its own citizens, then that state is not entitled to the other 75 cents being furnished by tax monies collected from all 48 states.

Your Home May Be Your Most Dangerous Thing You Face

We all know something of the dangers that lurk in the average American home and the statistics which show that about half of all the accidental deaths in the nation are due to mishaps within the home.

One survey of a large city revealed that more than half of such deaths are caused by falls. Analysis revealed that nearly half of the falls occurred on the same level, more than one-third of them on stairs and about one-sixth from one level to a lower level.

Safety experts suggest that the number of accidents caused by tripping over objects and rugs on floors is of such size as to deserve special caution in every home. Moreover, the need for well-lighted stairways is important and everyone should exercise care and patience in using stairs.

We call these facts to your attention in the hope that we may help prevent accidents in the home. It will take only a few minutes to look over your home and eliminate some of the accident hazards. Parents who do this may save their children from suffering, and themselves from unnecessary medical expenses—and maybe save their own lives.

★ MICHIGAN MIRROR ★

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

More tourists and more competition for the tourist dollar are predicted for Michigan's recreation trade in the near future.

Already drawing some five million out-of-state visitors annually, plus countless residents, the tourist industry forges additional advantages developing on the horizon.

Most tangible factor is the announcement that construction on the Straits of Mackinac Bridge is proceeding rapidly and, according to Director Prentiss M. Brown, should be open for deer season next November.

Elaborate dedication ceremonies planned for June 1958 are expected to draw nationwide attention and thousands of tourists who want a first-hand view of the bridge.

Not to be overlooked from the tourist industry viewpoint is bigger and better retail business along the line.

The continued success of the Michigan Tourist Council under Director Robert J. Furlong to promote winter sports and lengthen the tourist season is another big factor in expansion. Formerly only the short time from the end of June through Labor Day could be normally counted on as the "tourist season."

Coupled with the longer season are the new developments which stimulate outdoor recreation and more travel. Boat trailers and water skiing, almost non-existent five years ago, are boosting summer water sports to new heights. Conventional winter skiing is proving so popular that 28 resort areas were open to enthusiastic last winter.

Biggest potential for the tourist trade may be "just around the corner" now that labor unions are setting their sights on a shorter work-week.

Michigan recreational facilities would be one of the first to enjoy additional benefits should the state's large labor force have more leisure time.

Meanwhile, all efforts are being directed towards the biggest tourist potential in history: the more than 40 million possible tourists who live within 600 miles of northern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula.

fact that traffic deaths were down by 269 compared to 1955. But they overtook another fact: the actual number of accidents rose by 1,183.

This means there were 1,183 more chances that people would be killed during 1956 than in 1955. They were not, but was this just luck?

A possible answer may develop this year. Deaths from traffic accidents totaled 2,016 in 1955. Last year they dropped to 1,747. If the number of accidents can again be reduced, safety experts might then feel that people are beginning to drive more carefully.

The biggest decrease in deaths last year was achieved in rural areas. There it was down 15 per cent compared with only a 10 per cent decrease in the cities.

Actually, traffic danger continues to grow due to increases in "exposure factors." An exposure factor is the number of chances or possibilities that exist for accidents.

The number of miles driven in the state is an important exposure factor. So is the number of drivers; the number of cars.

Last year drivers covered some 687 million miles more than in 1955. There was a substantial increase in cars and licensed drivers.

Whether 1956 was a lucky year or not, the important fact is that the death and injury rate is improved.

An even more important fact: The death rate is still as high and the risk is so great that there can be no relaxing in the battle to save lives.

GRUENTHER

General Alfred M. Gruenther, military colleague of President Eisenhower and former supreme commander of NATO forces in Europe, received an official army farewell in a review held at Fort Myer, Va. Gruenther's retirement became effective on December 31. He will now take over the presidency of the American Red Cross, at a salary of about $32,000 a year.

Put the kids to work on Michigan Week activities.

That's the opinion of a committee of public school, college and university officials that met recently to discuss plans for their participation in the Michigan Week celebration, May 19-25.

"School-age boys and girls are not well enough acquainted with their own home communities," Don Weeks, director of the sponsoring Economic Development Department, told the group.

"Most of them don't know the color of the Michigan flag and few know the state has a motto or a song," Weeks said.

A state flag will be received by every school in Michigan for display during Michigan Week to help overcome this lack, and all teachers are asked to form classroom committees to arrange programs in conjunction with the celebration.

Dr. Clair L. Taylor, Superintendent of Public Instruction, adds that school lunch menus will serve only Michigan grown foods one day.

A little too late in the school year, is the only objection heard against full educational participation. Education day is now scheduled for Thursday, May 23, when many rural classrooms are winding up activities before summer vacation.

However, educators agree that students should know the essential facts about their state.

By the way, do you know the color of the Michigan flag?

Was 1956 a lucky year? Many persons point with pride to the

Wheat Mixture Seedings Must Be Counted in Quota

Max M. Kalmbach, chairman of the Washtenaw ASC Committee, states that the field check of fall sown wheat in Washtenaw county has disclosed a situation that may cause serious trouble for some farmers. Reports on 1957 wheat indicate that there is a considerable acreage of wheat mixtures in past years these mixtures were recognized as such and there were regulations on them. This is not true since allotments and marketing quotas went into effect in 1953. If wheat is planted—even with other grains it is classed as wheat and will be treated accordingly. Any farmer who finds himself in excess of his quota because of seedings of this type, can dispose of such excess by plowing, pasturing, cutting for hay or silage any time but not later than June 10. Kalmbach urges that it is not too soon to make plans to dispose of any such excess wheat acreage.

G.I. Dependents May Now Receive Civilian Medical Care

Ann Arbor — Dependents of servicemen are now taking advantage of civilian medical care at armed forces expense in Michigan. Maj. Thomas D. Krenitsky, of the Ann Arbor sub-office of the Michigan Military District, reports that families of men on active duty need not seek medical care at military posts, if not convenient, for most types of ailments. Under provisions of congressional legislation that became effective in December, the Army has arranged for "at home" medical care for dependents of active duty personnel of the Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, Coast Guard and those of commissioned members of the Public Health Service and Coast and Geodetic Survey are also eligible. Outpatient care, except for injuries, and dental treatment is not authorized from civilian sources. An education is what you have left after you have forgotten all you ever learned.

REPORT FROM GERMANY:

Social Democrats Pose Threat to Adenauer's Post

By Norman Lindhurst (Foreign Correspondent)

So far the Social Democrats have chosen to take no heed of warnings by East German Communist leaders that German unity would entail the bolshavization of West Germany.

The Social Democrats insist that a Germany reunited by free ballot would be immune to Communist subversion. But foreign observers are not so sure. The history of the SPD in no way justifies optimism as to the fate awaiting a united democratic Germany—standing in lonely neutrality in the center of Europe.

The SPD was founded in 1869 by August Bebel, a Prussian, and Wilhelm Liebknecht, a Hessian pacifist. It emerged as a powerful political force in 1912. Incassant fratricidal strife, however, sapped the party's strength. In 1914 the party split over support of the Kaiser's war, the left-wing minority organizing into the Independent Socialists.

This leftwing minority in turn fissured, with Karl Liebknecht (no relation to Wilhelm) and Rosa Luxemburg leading an extremist element into the Spartacus Union, forerunner of the German Communist Party. The Majority Socialists, led by Friedrich Ebert and Philipp Scheidemann, formed the first German republic in 1918, after collapse of the Hohenzollern regime.

Forming workers' and soldiers' councils on the 1917 Leninist pattern in Russia, the Spartacists tried to overthrow the new German republic, but were suppressed in bloody Berlin street fighting in which Liebknecht and Rosa Luxemburg were assassinated by nationalists.

In 1922 the Independent Socialist Party was fissured a second time, the radical majority joining the Spartacists and the minority returning to the Majority Socialists. The SPD attained its peak strength in 1930, in 1932 being elected a constituent assembly to write the Weimar Constitution, the combined vote of Majority and Independent Socialists reached fourteen million (forty percent of the thirty million votes cast).

After 1928 the SPD's strength declined steadily. It remained the largest party in the badly splintered Reichstag until the 1932 elections. The political tensions stemming from the German economic crisis broke the SPD and, with it, the Weimar Republic. The SPD was incapable of devising a program to cope with the crisis. The German masses shifted to the demagogic parties—the Nazis and the Communists.

In the momentous Reichstag session of March 23, 1933, the SPD was the only party to vote against Hitler's Enabling Act. But in May the Social Democrats supported a motion of confidence in Hitler after he had delivered his peace speech. Ollenhauer has inherited, in uneasy measure, the SPD's bitter conflict between its right and left wings. Today, the right wing is headed by Carlo Schmid, a professor of international law at Frankfurt University and vice-chairman of the Bundestag's foreign affairs committee, Schmid

Talc Can Make Milady Beautiful Or Peel Potatoes

East Lansing—Talc, the mineral used to make women's face powder, may soon be used to peel potatoes. A proposed new automatic process for peeling vegetables uses either talc or rice hulls in a high velocity, high pressure stream of water directed onto the vegetables to be peeled. The new type peeler is just one of the ideas to be explored in Michigan State University's new present automatic machines.

Food service laboratory, where latest scientific developments are tested and studied for practical use in the food processing industry.

The laboratory, supported in part by National Restaurant Association grants, is directed by J. Lon Newcomer, whose own studies have included using sound waves to homogenize milk. Newcomer said preliminary studies show that only the outer layer of the potato or other vegetable is removed in the new process; in contrast with the high percentage of waste in vegetables peeled by present automatic machines.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank all my relatives, friends and neighbors who remembered me with cards and visits while I was at Foote Memorial Hospital at Jackson. Special thanks to Pastor Kaiser for his visits and prayers and also Drs. Hanson and Lewis for their excellent care. Ruth Eschelbach.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our sincere thanks and appreciation for the messages of sympathy, beautiful floral offerings and many acts of kindness received during our recent bereavement in the loss of our beloved wife and mother. We especially thank the Rev. S. D. Kinde for his kindness and comforting words and the Staffan Funeral Home for their thoughtfulness. The family of Lula May Isham.

THANK YOU

I wish to express my grateful thanks to Rogers Corners Extension club members and to members of the Women's Guild of St. John's church at Rogers Corners for their thoughtful kindness in making and presenting various sizes of pillowcases and colorful napkins for the use of patients at Colonial Manor hospital. These articles provide special comfort and pleasure for the people here. Greatly appreciated, too, are the articles of a utilitarian nature, such as bandages and pads, contributed by the Rogers Corners groups who became interested in the work through the efforts of Mrs. Herbert Hinderer; also, the pillows, pillowcases and napkins made and presented recently by other friends, Marian Allan and Mrs. Floyd Walz. This interest in our work for the comfort of patients is gratifying and deeply appreciated. Nellie Elaad, Colonial Manor Hospital.

Can Any Reader Remember Hearing of 'The Chelsea Echo'?

Mrs. David Lixey brought to The Chelsea Standard office this week a January 26, 1937, issue of a newspaper called "The Chelsea Echo," listing A. Allison as "editor and proprietor."

News included a column entitled "Congressional" in which it was stated a bill was passed Jan. 17 for pensions to dependent parents and honorably discharged soldiers and sailors, disabled and dependent on their own labor. It affected 33,000 persons and involved a disbursement of $6,000,000 per annum.

Also mentioned was the fact that in a fight of six rounds "on the 13th at Minneapolis, Minn., between John L. Sullivan and Cardiff, the former broke a wrist."

Michigan state news included an item stating that ladies of Caro, in Tuscola county were circulating a petition to be presented to state and national legislators asking that more stringent laws be enacted for the promotion of social purity.

S. Drury, owner of Central Meat Market on East Middle street advertised that he was prepared to furnish to the inhabitants of this city and vicinity.

Other advertisers included Frank Shaver's Tonsorial Parlor; Edward H. Boyd's Central Barber Shop under L. Winans Drug Store; U. H. Hinkley, watchmaker and jeweler; Fred Kautleher, watchmaker; George Davis, auctioneer; L. B. Gates, physician and surgeon; Chelsea Restaurant operated by C. Heselochwerdt; and the McKune House, best house in the village for the traveling public with fine rooms, well furnished and everything first class.

The church directory listed Rev. W. M. Campbell as pastor of the Methodist church; Rev. John A. Kaley, pastor of the Congregational church; Rev. Mr. Gallup, Baptist church; Fr. William Corsidine, Catholic church; and Rev. G. Robertus, Evangelical Lutheran church.

Mrs. Lixey said the old newspaper had been used as padding in a picture frame.

"The Chelsea Echo" was one of several small publications which were started here for brief periods. The paper stated the office was in the "McKone" building on Main street.

Get Burning Permit Before Starting Fires Out of Doors

Conservation Officer Donley Boyer, pointing out the fact that the Chelsea Fire Department made five runs to extinguish grass fires in about six hours Saturday, March 25, repeated warnings that permits must be obtained for burning over grass land.

When permits for burning are issued, instructions are given for proper setting of fires and for the precautions necessary to prevent spread of the fire. Those who plan to burn off grass and weeds are advised to have plenty of help on the scene and to remain on the scene until the fire is completely extinguished. "Never leave a fire, even for a short time," Boyer said. A change in the direction of the wind might send the fire raging in a few minutes and start a dangerous blaze.

Boyer said people are often advised to burn early in the forenoon and to "watch the fire" constantly.

Permits are issued by Conservation Officer Boyer and by Chelsea Fire Chief Ted Balmer.

An additional advantage of the permits is that the Fire Department will not be making needless costly runs in response to calls from passersby who might notice the fire. Certain arrangements for authentic calls for help, if needed, are made at the time the burning permit is issued; thus, the fire chief will automatically know if it is necessary to send out a truck.

In Conservation District 11, composed of 18 counties, including Washtenaw, 10 arrests have been made for violations of the requirements for securing burning permits.

People who burn domestic rubbish in containers are advised to watch for sparks that might ignite weeds or grass and result in a run for the Fire Department if not noticed immediately. Permits are not required for these domestic fires but during this season of the year, extra precautions should be taken. Moisture from rain and snow dries off quickly, Boyer said, and the danger of costly fires, lessened temporarily by these factors, will be as great as before.

Mr. and Mrs. David Beach returned home Sunday afternoon from a two-week vacation trip during which they visited Dr. and Mrs. Merle Wood at Miami, Fla., and Major General and Mrs. Dwight Beach and family in Washington, D.C.

SCIENTIFIC TRAINING
The biggest student increase in American colleges and universities in 1955 went into engineering and teacher-training, according to an eminent educator. Enrollment in the fall of 1956 exceeded the previous peak years of 1947-48, when campuses were swollen with more than a million returning World War II veterans. Total enrollment figures for accredited universities and four-year colleges are: 1,724,897 full time students, or 6.5 per cent higher than last year, and 559,222 part-time students or 11.5 per cent more.

The decision of Arthur Maxwell

There once was an intelligent young man named Arthur Maxwell. He thought he would like to "step up" to a "medium-priced" car. So he went and looked at a model just "a few dollars more" than a Ford. At first glance it looked good. But when he got inside he exclaimed, "No radio? No heater? No automatic transmission?" You call this Luxury?? He soon saw that a Medium Priced car with equipment he wanted became a High Priced car. So, being an intelligent young man he dashed off to his Ford Dealer and bought a Ford Fairlane 500—the true luxury car in the low-price field—with all the equipment he wanted for less money than the stripped-down model he had thought he wanted.

The luxurious Ford Fairlane 500
 There is nothing like it in the low-price field.

Judith Ann Karvel, Winston Boyer Speak Vows Saturday

Judith Ann Karvel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Karvel of 7074 Jackson road, Ann Arbor, became the bride of Winston Earl Boyer of 302 Lincoln street, in a ceremony performed at 8 o'clock Saturday evening in the Methodist church here, with the Rev. S. D. Kinde officiating. The bridegroom is a son of Mrs. Alpha Sanders of Charlotte, and the late Fremont Boyer, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Winston Boyer

Soloist for the service was Paul F. Niehaus who sang "I Love You Truly," and "Because."

For her wedding, the bride chose a walk-length gown of Dresden lace and tulle. The bodice featured a scalloped, embroidered collar. Accented with a mandarin collar, the fullness of the skirt were tiers of tulle, organza, and a plumed effect, achieved by means of a scalloped hip yoke. An artistic blending of pearls, sequins and lace formed a regal crown which held her veil of ivory tulle in place. Stephanie entered with a white orchid topped the prayer book the bride carried.

Jeanna Karvel, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Beverly Ehnis of Dexter, and Gloria Packard, a niece of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. All were gowned alike in mint green.

Their gowns were styled with a Chantilly-type lace top over tulle. Fully gathered nylon tulle over taffeta formed the skirt attached to the elongated princess style bodice.

They wore matching lace mitts and crown style veils and carried bouquets of white carnations and roses. The maid of honor had pink roses in her bouquet while the two bridesmaids had yellow roses.

Tarri Boyer, a cousin of the bridegroom, dressed in accordion pleated pink nylon with puffed sleeves was the flower girl.

Others in the wedding party were Fremont Boyer, brother of the bridegroom, as best man, and Arthur Karvel of Ann Arbor, brother of the bride, and Duane Boyer, another brother of the bridegroom, serving as ushers.

The bride's mother wore for the wedding a gown of navy blue lace over taffeta, with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The bridegroom's mother, in navy blue silk with matching accessories, also had corsage of pink roses.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church social center. Mona Jordan was in charge of the guest book and Mrs. Gale Gilson and Mrs. Danley Boyer poured. Others who assisted included Mrs. H. P. Middleitch, Mrs. Clifford Jordan, Mrs. Mae Packard, Mrs. Marilyn Benson, Ann McGister and Marilyn Guenther.

The couple left later for a tour of the southwestern states. They will be away this week. For going away the bride wore a pink and grey wool suit with pink accessories.

New Spring Hat Fashions Take Seven Basic Shapes

It's not a case of "what's to be will" when it comes to buying Milady's spring bonnet. There are some rather definite shapes and fabrics in the hat fashion news; and they can be pinned down into seven basic silhouettes.

Spring hats, in general, are small to moderate size with deep brims. The turban, in textiles, clothing and related arts at Michigan State University. According to her the seven basics are these:

1. The roller is just what it says—a softly rounded crown with an asymmetrical brim rolled up all around.
2. The high crown hat also explains itself and is being shown in crushed shapes using straws and fabrics.
3. The casual cloche is a close fitting helmet shaped hat with a deep crown with or without a brim. This spring, side detail such as flowers, ribbons and beads, is found low on the crown accepting the brim.
4. The upturned profile hat frames the facial contour with an upward brim.
5. The traditional sailor has a shallow crown and a straight flat brim. Worn flat on the top of the head, this hat will appear with lots of ribbon trim this spring.
6. The turban, not too easy to wear, is a softly draped fabric or straw close-fitting hat. It's popular this spring, tells Miss Werner, because it carries through the softness of the dress silhouettes in the spring fashions.
7. The bucket, a sailor with an upturned brim, is popular this spring in fluted soufflé straw.

Inspecting Officer Approves Local Masonic Degree Work

Thirty Masons from Manchester, Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor were present Friday evening for the inspection meeting of Olive Chapter No. 140 R.A.M. Marvin Frye of Excelsior Chapter No. 25, R.A.M., Ypsilanti, who is district deputy, was the inspecting officer.

Local degree work was carried out in a manner which won the approval of the inspecting officer and guests.

"Blouson" is the fashion-byword this spring. It's an important fashion detail, first introduced by Balenciaga, which has changed the silhouette of the American figure. Generally, it is any kind of soft blousing in the bodice, usually seen above a slim skirt. Jackets and blouses achieve this new softness with drawingstring or elasticized waistbands.

A person can have more money than brains, and still be broke.

If you like a Waldorf salad, you'll like the jellied Waldorf style. Just mix diced tart apples, chopped celery and nuts and fold into a partially thickened gelatin mixture made with the apple flavor gelatin. For one package of gelatin, use 2 cups of apple, celery and nut mixture. Try using one cup of water and one cup gingerale for the liquid to dissolve the gelatin.

The HERB CORNER

Flavor, Fragrance, Beauty

It is true that enough herbs for the average family can be grown in very little space; a few feet of a row in the garden for each annual and a half dozen plants of each perennial will generally supply enough for family use. But if you wish to receive the most pleasure from growing herbs do try planting them in a small formal garden—as was the custom in colonial times.

The most simple plan for a formal herb garden is probably a group of rectangular beds separated by paths, which may be surfaced with the material of your choice. The color of used bricks combines beautifully with the greens and greys of the herbs.

The traditional basil-knot garden is a square in which alternating circular rows of purple and green leaved basil have been planted with varieties diminishing in height toward the center. The corners of the square are planted with taller varieties of green basil to contrast with the outer circle of purple. Four paths are laid out from the middle of the sides to within two rows of the center.

Circular herb gardens can be divided into individual herb beds to form many patterns. A most attractive herb garden of this type is the quaint "Garden of the Leavened Heart" in Greenfield Village at Dearborn.

This was a project of Mrs. Henry Ford, expressing her interest in herb gardening. An Italian design of the thirteenth century was chosen. In the center of the central maids cross-shaped bed a brass sundial bearing the inscription, "Ye Shaddowe Teecheth" was mounted on a very old stone pedestal brought from London, England. Surrounding this central bed are alternating heart-shaped and roughly triangular beds forming the circumference of the circle.

Among the herbs that can be seen growing here are sweet marjoram, thyme, mother-of-thyme, rosemary, tarragon, chives, spearmint and peppermint, sage, sorrel, lemon-balm, hyssop, true lavender, spike lavender, tansy and wormwood.

Mrs. Ford knew that, for utmost enjoyment, every herb garden should have a place to sit. Against a background of young evergreens she had placed a stone bench on which is inscribed "Garden of the Leavened Heart," a quotation from the writings of Jacob Boehm, a seventeenth century German mystic. Truly this is, as your own herb garden can be, a place in which to lighten a heavy heart.

Mrs. Mary Pielemeier Is Honor Guest at 90th Birthday Dinner

Mrs. Mary Pielemeier, who will be 90 years old April 10, was honored at a pre-birthday dinner Saturday at the Albert Pielemeier home. A niece, Mrs. Harry Nolting her son, Wallace, of Vincennes, Ind.; flew here to be with her for the day. They were met at Willow Run airport by another niece, Mrs. George Frauman of Pleasant Ridge, who also was present here for the birthday observance. In addition, Mrs. Walter Garthe of Ann Arbor, and Mrs. Herbert Paul were dinner guests. Mrs. Mary Pielemeier accompanied Mrs. Frauman home and spent Sunday at Pleasant Ridge.

At its 1956 session, the State Legislature appropriated funds to construct a University of Michigan North Campus Fire Station and Training Center and planning funds for a second unit of the Fluids Engineering Laboratory for a School of Music building, and for a building to house the cyclotron and synchrotron, which are the University's "atom-smashing" machines. Eventually, all the work of the University of Michigan College of Engineering, the School of Music and the College of Architecture and Design will probably be concentrated on the North Campus.

Spring Vacation To Start This Week-End For Local Schools

Spring vacation for Chelsea schools begins at the close of school tomorrow after noon. Classes will begin again Monday morning, April 15.

That first day of school after vacation, the elementary schools are holding open house for parents, and on Tuesday evening, April 16, the high school will have open house.

No special program is planned, other than having students act as hosts and hostesses. Teachers will be in their rooms to receive parents from 7 until 9 p.m., according to present plans.

Mrs. Fred Schuitz and Mrs. Helen Langowski visited Mrs. Mike Misalesides Monday.

Martin Luther Film To Be Shown at Assembly of God

Martin Luther, the dramatic film classic of the Protestant Reformation will be shown at the Chelsea Assembly of God Chapel, located at 116 South Main street, tonight at 7:00 p.m.

This half million dollar feature with a running time of 105 minutes, was produced by a cast and crew of seven nations on location in West Germany. The film, dealing with the 16th century monk who defied excommunication and burning at the stake in his demand for religious reform, was produced by Louis de Rochemont Associates.

The title role is played by Niall MacGinnis, British actor, who heads a cast and crew of 500 drawn together for the production from the United States, France, Ireland, England, Scotland, Germany and Austria.

Lothar Doff, de Rochemont veteran of the March of Time series films, produced the film on location in the towns, castles, and churches of West Germany.

The script, prepared by Allan Sloans and Wolff, is based upon Catholic and Protestant sources and leans heavily on historic documents for its dialogue.

Craftsmen of both faiths enlisted the support of museums in Berlin, Mainz, Wiesbaden, and Brettan for authentic costuming and reconstruction of such scenes as the Diet of Worms and the Diet of Augsburg. Music was furnished by the Munich Philharmonic Orchestra with an original score by Mark Lothar.

There will be no admission charge. A free will offering will be taken. The church doors will be open at 7:00 p.m. All churches are invited.

directors' meeting but had reconsidered and would be present at a meeting to be held tomorrow night to consider proposals for the types of buildings to be located on the Farm Center site. Representatives of neighboring counties have been invited to attend the meeting to discuss farm activity buildings in their counties.

Controversy over locating the proposed farm buildings in the Arbor created such interest in the entire county that a special meeting in February was attended by approximately 400 people. At that time, by a vote of 294 to 94, it was decided to have the planned center located outside of Ann Arbor.

Polio Directors . . .

Mrs. Raymond Kerr of Manchester; Mr. and Mrs. William Goodwin of Milan; Mrs. Everett Wozniak of Sable; and Leo Hoy of Dexter.

Mrs. Robert Langford, executive secretary of the chapter, reported the chapter spent $45,024 for patient care during the past year. She explained that the chapter has paid for a large number of surgery cases for patients who had had polio several years ago.

In the group of surgery cases were 17 patients from the polio epidemic of 1940. Mrs. Langford stated that the cost of patient care would continue to be high for several years.

Mrs. Clarence Markeson, county March of Dimes chairman, reported that $29,915 was contributed in the county fund drive held last January. Total expenses of the drive, including postage for dime cards, posters and materials from the National Foundation, were $2,950.

Problems related to polio immunization in the county and the chapter's responsibilities were discussed. The matter was referred to the chapter's new executive committee for further study.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Guest and daughter and the Misses Masses and Anne Miller spent Sunday in Detroit as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Quinlan.
