CASINOS TAKE BACK SEAT:

Experts at Monte Carlo To Study Seas, Not the Odds

By Norman Lindhurst (Foreign Correspondent)

Monte Carlo—This summer, as has occurred every five years for the past three decades, world hydrographic experts gathered at Monte Carlo, Monaco, for a conference to make sea lanes safer for ocean liners and steamships, and for the men that sail them.

These experts came from such far-away places as Burma, Japan and Thailand. They met in the headquarters of the International Hydrographic Bureau on the quay of Monaco's harbor, in the shadow of the landmark symbolizing the tiny, fun-loving principality, the lace-towered Monte Carlo Casino.

The casino suggests all that is worldly and sophisticated. But the hydrographic bureau is a serious hard-working society which has labored tirelessly in surveying the sea floor and producing charts to make navigation easier, faster and safer.

Another contrast between the famous casino and the nearby hydrographic headquarters is the amount of publicity each receives.

Practically no one except navy men and shipping people realize its importance or even know it exists.

During its 85-year history, the bureau has been dedicated to establishing a uniform system by which hydrographers—the men who map the sea—could construct nautical charts easily and safely understood by sea lanes anywhere on the seaways of the world.

Long before the bureau was organized, however, the need was seen for such a uniform system.

One of the men who realized this most was Prince Albert I, grandfather of Monaco's present sovereign, Prince Rainier III. Albert was intensely interested in oceanography and had financed his own voyages around the world in this pursuit.

Later he built the Monaco Oceanographic Museum to display results of his discoveries.

Prince Albert was interested in the shape and formation of the ocean floor, of the depths of the oceans and other characteristics of the sea floor throughout the world.

This week culminated in the publication of his world bathymetric chart.

The prince was delighted when, in 1919, the first international conference was held. As one of the world's greatest oceanographic scientists, he was invited to participate.

During this conference he proposed that a permanent headquarters to further the study of all matters concerning the sea be established in Monaco.

He personally provided the building which today is the home of the International Hydrographic Bureau.

From then on, hydrographers and cartographers from every leading maritime nation began to pool knowledge and information.

French and English were adopted as official languages for communicating between member countries.

When the bureau was created there were 18 member states. Today 37 countries are associated in the organization, including the U. S. and Canada.

Rear Admiral C. L. Nichols (ret) U. S. Navy, a familiar figure around Monaco for the past several years is the retiring director of the bureau.

At this year's conference another American, Rear Admiral Robert W. Knox, deputy director of the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey Office, was elected for a five-year term to head the multinational staff and direct the bureau.

ON CAPITOL HILL

By Congressman George Meader

The first session of the 85th Congress will be remembered for passing the civil rights bill; for cutting the President's $72 billion 1958 budget by $5 billion; and for defeating the proposal for federal aid to school construction. Bills to exempt natural gas producers from federal regulation and for statehood for Hawaii and Alaska, although reported by committees, did not see floor action.

Although a compromise, the civil rights law is historic. It is the first law since Reconstruction days to carry out the 15th Amendment, which prohibits denial of the right to vote because of race, color, creed, or previous condition of servitude.

Many southern states, under their power to determine the qualifications of voters, had successfully developed devices to nullify the 15th Amendment. The new civil rights act creates a commission to discover these devices and recommend measures for doing away with them and provides authority in the Justice Department, through court injunctions and otherwise, for enforcing the 15th Amendment.

The economy drive and the defeat of the school construction bill were not unrelated. The American people let their representatives know their resentment against increased federal spending, especially in new fields. Furthermore, advocates of federal aid failed to meet the burden of proof that states and school districts, traditionally responsible for education, lacked the financial capacity to meet existing classroom shortages.

Although the figures are unreliable, since no two school districts compute their classroom shortages on the same basis, they show that shortages divided from an estimated 470,000 in 1953-54 to 169,000 in 1957.

Economy sentiment also led to sharp reductions in defense and foreign aid budgets. In my own view, even greater reductions could have been made without harm to any worthwhile programs. If the cuts can be shown to be too deep, however, Congress can always appropriate deficiency or supplemental appropriations.

This will be my last letter until the second session of the 85th Congress next January unless committee activities during recess should prove worthy of comment. Meanwhile, I expect to see many of you personally at home and hope you will give me the benefit of your views on the work of the recent session of the Congress and what you believe ought to be done in the next session.

Among ducks, the pintail is one of the strongest and fastest fliers. A flock of 22 pintails landed on Palmyra Island, 1,100 miles south of Hawaii in 1948 and one was a band placed on it in Utah 82 days earlier.

Sept. 27—Milan Football game at Milan.
Nov. 1—Junior Varsity and Manchester football teams meet here.
Nov. 1—Lyndon Studios will take high school pictures.
Nov. 2—Lyndon Studios will take grade school pictures.

New students not included in the Hi-Light last week are ninth graders from St. Mary's, Sandra Allil, Donald Blalock, Judy Blalock, Daniel Ellenwood, Leo Haffner, Caroline Hoffman, Kurt Howe, Alice Klink, Lawrence Kramer, Francis Laban, Nodine Lentz, David Lixey, Patricia O'Neill, Carol Roth, and Richard Wood. Eight graders are: Geraldine Harper from Grass Lake and James Boyd from Ypsilanti. Seventh grader is Jean Pajot from Manchester.

From a look at the annual textbook sale, held Aug. 27 and 28, it seems as though the students were actually anxious to get back to Chelsea High School this year. The books which were needed the most this year were ninth grade Biology and English grammar and literature, tenth grade English grammar and literature, eleventh grade American History and twelfth grade American Government and Economics. The books that were sold the least were, ninth grade civics, tenth grade World History, and twelfth grade English Literature. The high school still urgently needs ninth grade civics books and eighth grade general science books.

Barbara Maynard was chosen as president of the Future Nurses at their first meeting. Cathie Master is the vice-president, Carole Barr is secretary, and Kathy Kraft is treasurer.

It was decided to meet alternate Friday noons. Dues were also decided. The Public Health Nurse attended the meeting and talked to the members about their Future Nurse's Club.

The Future Nurses' Club Rally was discussed. It is to be held at Rochester, Mich. on Oct. 26. The club hopes to attend it.

A program planning committee of four girls was chosen to look into different things the club could do this year such as having speakers, visiting hospitals, etc.

The F.H.A. (Future Homemakers of America) served a dinner for the M.E.A. on Sept. 25. Members of the F.H.A. prepared the meal themselves. The menu consisted of turkey, potatoes and gravy, and peas. The dinner was held in the gymnasium of the high school.

At the first meeting of the F.H.A., a new president, Jim Gray and vice-president, Jim Heydlauff, were chosen. The treasurer has not yet been appointed. The secretary, reporter and sentinel are: Doug Stark, John Eisenbeiser, and Reggie Blough, respectively. Officers will be installed in October.

At a recent meeting the older members have been planning Freshman Initiation. This will take place at the next meeting.

At the second meeting of the 1987-88 Journalism Club, the highlight of the discussion was whether to include the grade schools in the "Bulldog Bark" this coming year. A motion was made and carried to omit the elementary section. This is temporary, though, until it is determined if enough money can be made without the support of the grade schools.

Both a banquet and a dance are being planned. Vice-president Nancy Mayer is chairman of the committee for the banquet and President Ellen Keusch is heading the committee for a dance.

Half the student body or 300 students were in the library working or checking out material the first day the library was open for business. The Library Club serves two purposes. It serves to train its members for future librarians and also as an outside interest for students who just want to work in the library during the year.

The dance given by the Varsity cheerleaders Sept. 13 and the help of the Athletic Club has made it possible for the cheerleaders to buy new football sweaters.

The football season was opened with a 40-minute pep rally on Friday, Sept. 20. Both Varsity and Junior Varsity cheerleaders took an active part in it. Junior Varsity cheerleaders gave a skit pertaining to the rules of football and the Varsity cheerleaders ran through a few cheers for the benefit of the newcomers. Speeches from Coach Conklin and Taylor and from Captains Denny Schumm and John Eisenbeiser completed the assembly.

The Junior Varsity football team has been working hard this year. Their first game is with South Lyon. The game starts at 4 p.m., Sept. 23 at the Athletic Field. Let's all be out and support the J.V. team. Boys on the team are: Guy Devine, Alton Nixon, Homer Nixon, Jerry Ringe, Mike Marsh, Tom Dunlap, Larry Kramer, Wilson Morley, Charles Waller, Bob Smith, Charles Cameron, Jr., Larry Schraeder, Jerry Abdon, Daniel Ellenwood, Don Forner, George Wilson, Richard Irwin, Phillip McDaniels, Darrel Keizer, Don Blalock, Dave Rowe, Peter Flintoff, John Meehan, Neal Sanders, Tom Brooks, Brian Leisinger and Matt Murphy.

Chelsea Junior High football team is having its first game of the season against Sailing, Oct. 16. They have a new coach, Mr. Alfred Smith. The boys would like to thank him for taking the responsibility of this team. They would also like to thank Mr. Musser for his assistance last year. The team hopes for a successful season; don't we all?

Mr. Conklin introduced the football players for this year at the all-high assembly. The players demonstrated various plays and Mr. Conklin told about the new rules involved. They also showed the illegal ways of playing football.

Mr. Conklin also reminded the students that tickets for the game will be on sale in the main hall.

The Seniors had a class meeting Sept. 13 at which they listened to two magazine salesmen. They organized teams between the home and away, choosing as their captains Sandi Buehler and Judy Wagner, and began the magazine campaign. Bill Lake is business manager and Dennis Gary is publicity manager. The campaign will last for ten days, at the end of which, the home room will give the winning party. Their goal is $4,000.

They discussed and planned their stand for the football games and other ideas for making money.

At their class meeting, the Juniors elected Loren Keizer as president, Steve Bristle as vice-president, Sue Patrick as secretary and Anita Eisenmann as treasurer.

The class's student council representatives are Don Ferguson, Bob Smith and Pat Merkle. Dues for the Juniors are $20 a year, $10 a semester. These are due Jan. 20 for the first semester. If not paid by then, there will be a fine every day until they are paid.

A Christmas card committee was appointed by the president. Veretta Greenwood, Melissa Tarasov, Helen Lentz, Ellen Keusch, Rose Scribner, Anita Eisenmann, and George Wilson are members. Heller, Larry Schramm, Bob Eder and Pat Merkle make up this committee.

A money-making committee was also appointed. Members of this committee are: Earl Heller, Delores Scribner, Sharon Slane, Robin Wright, and John Klink.

The play committee was also chosen. Priscilla Neal, Sandra Karner, Carole Barr, Gus Steger, Fritz Wagner and Jim Mahar are on this committee.

The class had been awaiting the arrival of their rings Sept. 19, and were very pleased with them.

The ninth graders have finally begun to settle down to their first year of high school. After a summer of fun, the first school day began. After a week of class, a few schedules were changed. It seems that a few people "bit off more than they could chew." The ninth graders finally know their way around. They are all looking forward to their freshmen year.

Geraldine Harper, a new eighth grader, came from Grass Lake and would like to be a majorette in the Junior High Band.

Members of the senior band practiced industriously all week on their "half time" performance for the first football game of the season. This routine, presented last Friday, Sept. 20, was primarily a take off on the classic television "doodles." The band members formed the doodles. These original and humorous formations gave the audience some guesswork. On the whole, it was an enjoyable presentation for which Mr. Grove and the band members deserve much praise!

The band is also busy with a fund-raising project.

The Art students have finally completed their mosaic-making and sketching now gives them a chance to express themselves in pictures. Charcoal, pencil, and chalk drawings are featured. Such things as flowers, arrangements and people are the subjects for many artistic creations. All Art students agree that Art is fun!

The needles and thread are flying these days in Home Ec. With Miss Potter's help, the more experienced girls are making dresses and suits. The beginners, however, are sticking to simple patterns. Later on in the year, the girls are looking forward to cooking.

The movies shown this week included, "Date Etiquette" seen by Miss Potter's Home Ec. class on Sept. 19. Mr. Prining's class saw "Ancient World Inventions," "ABC of Internal Combustion" and "ABC of Auto Engines" were seen by Mr. Taylor's students. Miss Fox's class saw "Land of Liberty" on Sept. 23. Miss Potter's students saw "Beginning to Date," "Book-keeping and Accounting" was seen by Mrs. Smith's class. The Speech class saw "Conducting a Meeting," Mr. Taylor's Driver Training Class saw "We Drivers" and "Passing Fancy."

The Student Council meeting of Sept. 19, was called to order by advisor, Mr. Poulson. Lee Zimmerman, representative of a class ring company, discussed the benefits of contracting a class ring company for the class of "1960." The representative will return next week with further information.

Candidates for Student Council secretary were Donna Klink and Donna Moore. Donna Klink was elected.

Hi-Y dance for Sept. 20, following the football game, was approved. The Hi-Y will continue to sponsor dances after football and basketball games until further notified.

Vice-President, Bob Eder, appointed a committee to examine the council constitution. These people are the executive committee, Mary Ann Steger, and Bob Smith.

Promotion of school spirit was also discussed. A possibility of working out a plan with the cheerleaders and varsity club was considered. The discussion of school spirit will be carried over to the next meeting, on Sept. 26.

Students in the sixth grade language class have written letters to Gov. Faubus of Arkansas, regarding school integration. Three such letters follow. (Continued on page nine)

U. S. Public Health Service Issues Data on Asian Flu Prevention, Treatment

Influenza is an infectious disease. There are four known types—titled A, B, C, and D, and each type has been seen in various strains, each of these somewhat different from the other. In 1957 a new strain of Type A appeared and since it first appeared in Asia it has been named the Asian strain.

A single case of influenza appears occasionally, but usually the disease occurs in lesser or greater epidemic form. People catch it from each other. They catch it so easily that it is not unusual for a large part of a community to come down with it within the first few days of an epidemic. Most epidemics of influenza last less than a month in one community but may appear in a number of places in one country or in the world at the same time or closely following one another.

SYMPTOMS—Influenza attacks the individual suddenly. The symptoms may be some or all of the following: fever, chills, headache, sore throat, cough, and soreness and aches in the back and limbs. Although the fever usually lasts only 1 to 5 days, the patient is often as exhausted or weakened as if he had gone through a long illness.

THE CAUSE—The cause of influenza is a virus. Viruses are smaller in size than bacteria and may be seen only with powerful electron microscopes. When a person has influenza, or is just coming down with it, the fluids in his mouth and nose contain the viruses. The disease is spread when these viruses get into the noses and mouths of other people. There are many ways this may happen: The most common is through sneezing or coughing virus-laden spray into the air for others to breathe. Some other ways in which the infection is passed from one to another are through the common use of drinking glasses, towels, or other objects and personal contact like kissing.

PRECAUTIONS—During an epidemic, when many people around you are becoming sick with influenza and the community air is so laden with viruses, it is almost impossible to avoid getting in the path of a few coughs and sneezes. However, there are a few sensible precautions to take at such times.

Keep up your resistance to disease by practicing good health habits such as getting plenty of rest and eating regular, well-balanced meals. For the short duration of an epidemic, you will be safer to stay out of crowds such as you find at movies and dances. At school or at work try to keep your distance from people who do not cover their coughs and sneezes with a handkerchief or tissue.

If anyone in your family has influenza, keep his dishes and towels separate from the rest of the family's. Persuade him to cover his coughs and sneezes with paper tissue which he may drop at once into a paper bag. Replace these bags frequently and wash your hands after disposing of the used bags. When there is influenza (or any other "catching" disease) in the house, wash your hands thoroughly and often with soap. Always wash them well before handling food and after waiting on the patient.

Methods used by health departments to combat the spread of slower moving diseases are of little help against the swift attack of an influenza epidemic. It is really up to you to understand how this disease spreads from one person to another, and to protect yourself sensibly during an epidemic.

If you feel symptoms starting, do not forget that your illness is catching, and that those around you are in danger if you are careless. Influenza is most easily transmitted during the early stages of the illness.

The only medical preventive of practical value known to medical science is influenza vaccine. A new vaccine is being manufactured to combat the Asian strain of influenza. It should be noted that this new vaccine is different from the influenza vaccine which has been available for several years, because it is made specifically to combat the Asian strain of influenza.

TREATMENT—No known medicine will cure influenza. Sulfa, penicillin, or other antibiotics have no effect upon it, although they are used to combat some of the complications which may follow. Your family doctor is the best judge of when to use these. Getting well without developing dangerous complications depends upon giving your body every known advantage while it fights the influenza infection.

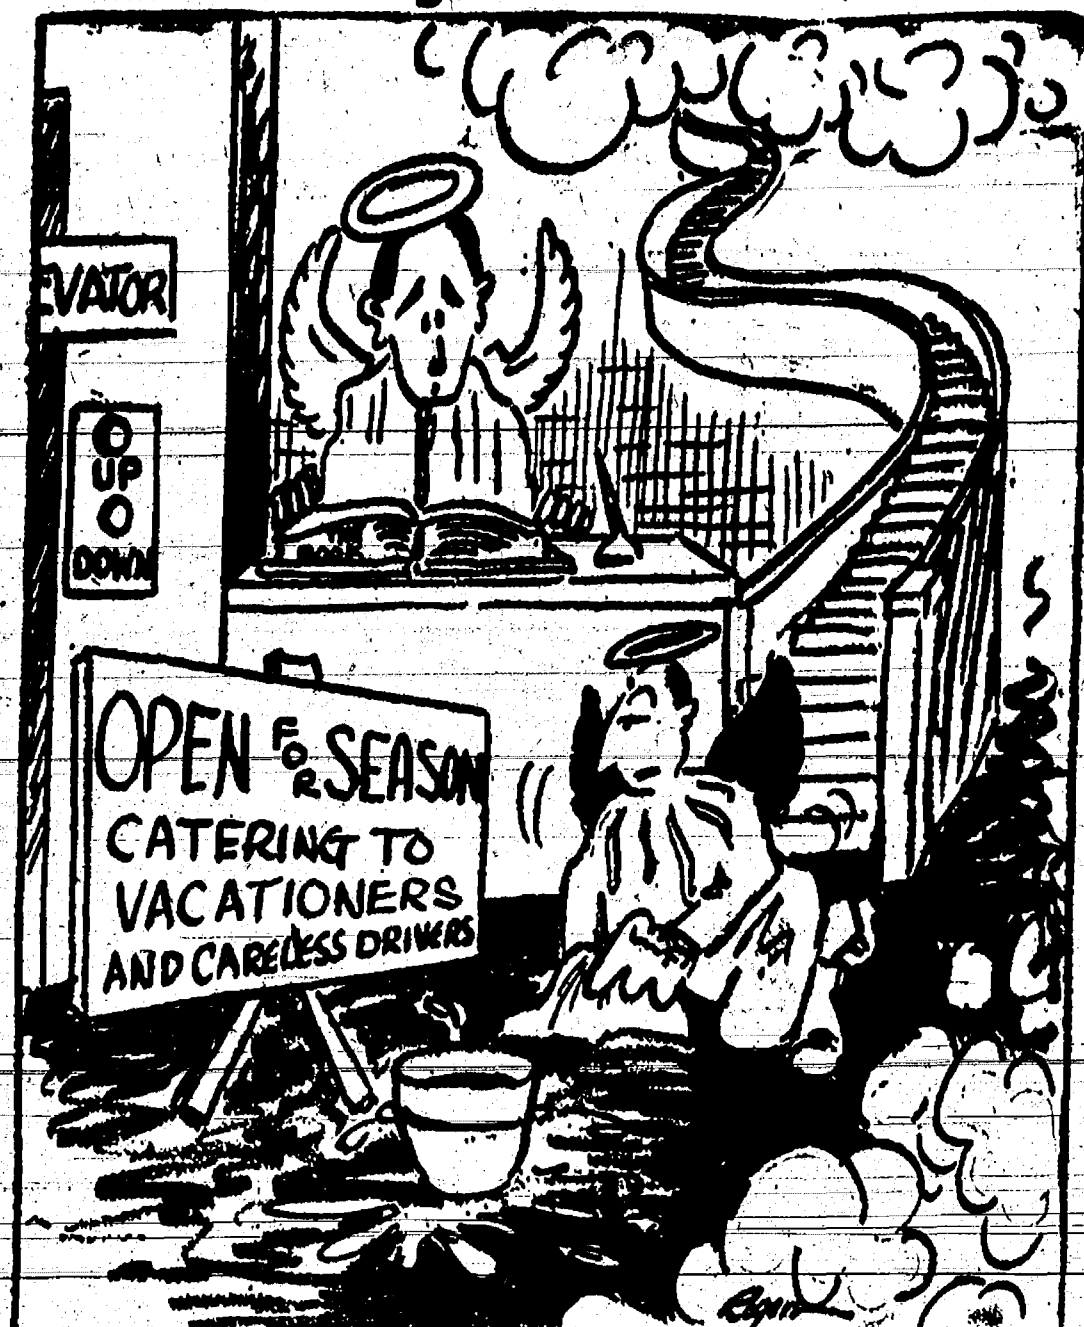

Go to bed when symptoms start! Even if the illness turns out to be nothing but a common cold, you will get well sooner; meantime you will not be giving your disease to others. Keep warm and out of drafts. Wear a warm robe and slippers if you have to get out of bed. Eat simple foods that agree with you. Don't receive callers—they might bring in new germs.

If you have a fever, call your doctor. He can make you more comfortable, and if you will co-operate with him, he can do much to protect you against dangerous complications. Be sure to stay in bed until your doctor says that all danger of pneumonia seems past. And, for the safety of those in your home, remember that you have a catching disease.

Preparedness has its various grim aspects, including the spare side of a memorial monument in Ludington, which is reserved for listing the dead of the next war.

Another thing the automobile has done is to cause a very large increase in the acreage of wild oats.

Ending A Good Season

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Republicans are looking for a carload of candidates for governor. The party made motions toward the "Big Switch" at a Mackinac Island rally of leaders originally expected to designate one or two potential candidates.

When the questions came, John B. Martin, Jr., of Grand Rapids—once a Republican auditor general and later candidate for other posts—sized up.

"If you mean when are a few men going to select the party's candidate for 1958, never," he snapped.

Martin is the Republican National Committeeman and the organizer of the Mackinac Island meeting. Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield did not attend. Martin's election to the top party organization position was seen as a rebuff to Summerfield's leadership of the past.

Party speculators figure House Speaker George Van Dusen, a young Zeeland lawyer, might be the choice to run against the Democrat. Everybody is convinced it will be Gov. Williams.

Rep. George Sallade of Ann Arbor, is an announced hopeful. There are others, none of whom have gotten enough of a nod to rise above the others.

Van Peursem was handed a summer speaking tour on behalf of the Republican legislature. He turned the job over to others when his voice gave out, and the campaign has been quiet since.

Williams, meantime, has the advantage of incumbency and the element of surprise working for him. He doesn't have to announce what he's going to do next year. Best bets now are that Williams will go for another term as governor, with Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart opposing Senator Charles Potter for the U.S. Senate.

Potter, whose strength next year will depend, in part, on the strength of the party organization and its candidate for governor, sides with Martin's idea.

He opposes the idea of picking a gubernatorial candidate now. It has been done in the past and Republicans have lost, taking nothing away from Williams.

The late Mayor Albert E. Cobo, of Detroit, was drafted. Donald S. Leonard was a front-runner from the start two years before.

Fred Alger was handpicked before Leonard and Harry F. Kelly, now on the Michigan Supreme Court, was recalled in 1950 after the Kim Sigler defeat by Williams.

Kelly had won before, had served as governor and was the No. 1 vote-getter. He lost.

This time, Republicans contend, the push should be toward a young man who has never lost an election, one the party can unite behind.

Washington Report

By Senator Charles F. Potter

The latest news from Washington of special interest to Michigan.

Maybe the switch will work—nothing else has in the past decade. The next general election will be held Nov. 4, 1958.

Whether there will be another telephone rate increase this year is in the hands of the Michigan Public Service Commission. The Michigan Bell Telephone Co. has asked for a re-hearing of its original request for a $125,000,000 boost, after the commission approved $2,835,000 several weeks ago.

THE PRINS CASIMIR, a chunky little freighter flying the red, white and blue Dutch flag, took on a load of canned cherries at Muskegon last week, then swung north around the Straits of Mackinac, down past Port Huron, and opened her hold at Detroit to receive machinery and drugs. Outbound for Rotterdam and Antwerp, she belongs to the Pjell-Orange Lines and is typical of the small vessels plying the lucrative Lakes trade.

By the time the Prins Casimir had passed Cleveland, Buffalo, and Toronto, Captain Pierre Hullmand had taken on trucks, flour, hides and acid. His ship, expertly handled by a 30-man crew, was drawing almost 14 feet, maximum for passage through the shallow canals north of the St. Lawrence River. Only at Montreal could she lead to her 1,800-ton capacity for the deep-water voyage across the Atlantic.

Not as long as a football gridiron and only 42 feet across her beam, the Prins Casimir takes a week to sail from Detroit to the sea. But she steams along comfortably at 10 to 12 knots, she has a window on the future. She threads around giant dredges cluttering the lush Thousand Islands and bypasses mammoth half-completed concrete works, getting a glimpse of tomorrow's great Seaway route as it comes into being.

By 1959, when the Seaway opens, the Prins will trim 14 days from her 44-day round trip. New Canadian and American locks will reduce to a matter of hours the present tortuous two-day passage through the bounties and bane of the canals.

Banking on the Seaway's potential, her owners are planning two 10,000-ton, 100 passenger freighters for exports of American farm implements, chemicals and manufactures, returning with European glassware, clocks, liquors and the like. United States ship operators are making their plans, too. Farroll lines, for example, is studying Seaway-Africa possibilities.

No doubt about it, the St. Lawrence Seaway will corner the bulk cargo tonnage of iron ore, wheat and wood pulp. But at the moment no one really knows how much of the highly profitable cargoes of manufactures will move over the new route. Reason: Seaway tolls, which will have a bearing on freight rates, have not yet been set.

I plan to report on tolls in future letters, but in the meantime you should know that there is a move afoot by the railroads, long-time Seaway foes, to render the route useless by boosting tolls. Right now the enemies of cheap water transportation are trying to shift the Seaway Corporation into the Department of Commerce, where they hope to strangle it stillborn. As one who has worked for years to bring the Seaway to reality, I do not intend to stand by and watch this happen. I have alerted President Eisenhower to the danger.

Compost Components

Now that autumn leaves are gliding earthward, you might want to start a compost pile. If you don't already have one. Until you've watched a yard of earth scarcely believe what beautiful black loam is produced in the course of a year from the decay of organic refuse, such as leaves, corn husks, and table scraps.

Some people just make a pile of leaves on the ground and leave it alone. Others say they got better results by making a bin of cement blocks and dumping their refuse into that. Some dig a hole in the garden—call it a "salad bowl"—if you will—and drop lawn clippings and weeds into it.

Kenneth Karr has a dual-purpose compost pile at his summer home. Under a pile of leaves, woods, and pine needles, he buries over-ripe eggs that are discarded from a hatchery, and he tells me this always assures him an abundant supply of earthworms for fishing. Why an earthworm should be attracted to a rotten egg is beyond me, but, as the Romans used to say, "there's no accounting for tastes."

It's tremendously encouraging to me that dead vegetable matter can so soon be ready to nourish a new crop of living plants. If we "human" beings should destroy all trees and animals with the blast of a super-bomb, there would still be microbes and mosses to grow among the ruins. In time they would produce enough soil to support the daisy and the dogwood, and finally the maple and the oak.

An old Congregational church at Union, Conn., has withstood the ravages of New England weather for many a decade. Once when it seemed advisable to make some repairs, the little congregation wondered how they could afford to do it.

It happens that the church owns a number of acres of woodland donated by members of the congregation. I presume, in years gone by. When it was suggested that some of the timber on this land be sold to pay for the repairs, there were some true Yankees who felt it would be wrong to dissipate their capital by selling the timber.

The problem was resolved to everyone's satisfaction when somebody pointed out that if left alone, the lumber in the building would decrease in value, while the living wood in the forest would grow in value. So the timber was sold and the church was renovated. That would have been a good time for a sermon on the text from Isaiah, "Give unto them beauty for ashes." Or flowers from compost piles.

Private developers have filled in parts of the lake near the shore for their own purposes. The state, still working under the law, has taken more than 30 into court.

The reasoning is that some of the land is no longer needed for its original purpose and, by selling or leasing it, the state can be assured of a constant and continuing income.

My proposals will be made to the 1958 legislature.

You don't buy safety, you build it.—Drive safely.

34 Years Ago...

Thursday, Sept. 27, 1923—The work of laying the concrete driveway under the bridge at Leon was begun this week. Several Chelsea men are engaged in the work.

Coming as a surprise to their many friends, Miss Milda Fais and Oscar Lindauer were married at St. Paul's parsonage Wednesday evening with the Rev. P. H. Grabowski officiating. The bride, accomplished musically, has served as organist of St. Paul's church for several years.

A new switchboard, said to be the latest in designing for its size, is being installed in the Chelsea Electric plant at a cost of $1,700.00. The new switchboard will eventually take care of power for the entire village when all preparations are complete for the change to alternating current of 110 volts as compared to the present 220 volt Householders will need to buy new appliances.

The following from this vicinity are enrolled at North college at Ypsilanti: Anne Rogers, Flora Turnbull, Gertrude Eppler, Dorothy Dancer, Margaret Canfield, Ruth Loeffler, Dora Chandler, Emily Weinmann, Mabel Fischer, Lucille and Ruth Liebeck and Rosa Waltrous.

The Choral Union series of concerts at Hill Auditorium, Ann Arbor, will begin Oct. 19, according to an announcement by Earl V. Moore, musical director. Appearing in the first concert is Amelia Galli-Curci, soprano. Extra concerts include Sousa's Band Oct. 22, and the Detroit Symphony Orchestra with Oskar Groblich conducting, on Nov. 12.

NEWS * HOLLYWOOD

Olivia de Havilland has been informed that, in order to keep her American citizenship, she'll have to spend 12 consecutive months in this country, since she has been living abroad for the past five years. This won't be easy to do, however, since her husband, Pierre Galante, has a job in France he can't leave and both of her children are now in France.

Screen rights to "Bridge To The Sun" by Owen Torson, have been purchased by Paramount. The story, now appearing in Readers Digest, is an account taken from life, of an international marriage between an American girl and a Japanese diplomat.

Expert first-hand advice will be given by Clark Gable and Burt Lancaster by Rear Admiral Rob Roy McGregor, Retired, who will be technical director on "Run Silent, Run Deep." McGregor distinguished himself in the late war in the South Pacific.

So as not to be confused with his brother, Pat, Nick Boone has taken the stage name of Nick Todd. Nick, by the way, is making a name for himself as a singer, recently making his singing debut on records.

When June Allyson makes her first live TV appearance for Jimmy Durante, she will receive $50,000.

THE DRIVER'S SEAT
Motorists and pedestrians on many of our city streets were astonished, not too long ago, by the appearance of U. S. Post Office department trucks wearing sparkling new paint jobs of red, white and blue.

Some staunch citizens were curious enough to inquire into this turn of events. Had a new national holiday been declared—or had the postal authorities hired a decorator with new ideas?

The explanation is that the Post Office department trucks are very interesting experiment back in 1954. Looking for an extra dividend of safety for its fleet of some 29,500 vehicles, it launched two separate groups of trucks on a test run of about 10 million miles of operation. One group bore the brilliant patriotic colors; the other retained its olive drab dress.

Accident records were carefully watched as the two equal-sized groups cruised about 42 major American cities and just recently Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announced the highly gratifying results of the new paint job.

The red, white and blue trucks came out 27 per cent lower in accident tallies than their O-D companions, with a record of 622 against 849. They showed even more in the rear-end collision category, having had only 24 back-bumper mishaps, as compared with 50 for the olive drab.

Faced with such indisputable facts, postal authorities couldn't help but conclude that the spiky new demeanor of their trucks is helping to boost safety.

In case you haven't noticed, claiming white adorns the top of the vehicles and the middle strip is of red reflectorized tape; the rest is blue. That red strip really increases night visibility too, according to department authorities.

Summerfield said that eventually all the trucks will parade the new colors.

The Post Office department now enjoys an all-time record low for 0.000,000 miles driven, and it has won three consecutive citations from the National Safety Council, to boot.

There's a moral to every story, and there is to this one: as Uncle Sam's postal people have discovered, you don't have to be somber to be safer.

Lake Michigan also derived its present name from a native original. In the Jesuit "Relation" of 1666, in one of the earliest references to the lake, Fr. Allouez refers to it as Match-i-lig-anong.

Blackbird; an Ottawa Indian, states that the word "Michigan" is an Indian name which was pronounced Mi-chi-gum, and simply means monstrous lake."

The northernmost of the Great Lakes, the largest, deepest, and perhaps the grandest, Lake Superior, derived its present name directly from the French mission-aries. The Chippewa nation, who from ancient times have lived about its shores, referred to it as Gitchi-Gami, meaning "great lake or sea." Fr. Allouez writes in the "Relation" that "the Savages revere this Lake as a Divinity, and offer it sacrifices." Fr. Lalemant wrote, "We call this lake-Superieur from its position above that of the Huron."

Our present name for Lake Erie, last of the five to be discovered, is derived from that of the Indian nation which, at the time the first French explorers and missionaries penetrated the region of the Lower Lakes, was living along its southern shore. Charlevoix stated that the name came from the large number of wild cats found in the region. (Erie was the Iroquois name for cat.) A more widespread theory is that the name was given by the Iroquois to those Indians in some derision because of their prominent eyes, which characteristically reminded the Iroquois of that animal.

There seems to have been some uncertainty regarding the name of Lake Ontario. Fr. Enchebure in his "Relation" of 1685 refers to this body of water as the Lake of the Huron, Fr. Lalemant in 1644 refers to it by its present name, Ontario, said to mean "beautiful Lake," Professor Walton concludes.

Ever since, we have wanted to do something about it. I think colored children should mix with white, or why shouldn't they? The Bible says all men are created equal. Why don't you read your bible. Yours truly,

IF YOUR TEEN-AGERS
are like everybody else's teen-agers, they'll be busier than ever now that school's open again. Why not have an extension phone installed for them—right in their own room? Then they'll be able to keep up with their hectic school and social activities in privacy, and the rest of the family will love the peace and quiet. An extension telephone in your home would cost less than four cents a day. And in a teen-ager's family, there's hardly an easier way to make everybody happy.

OF COURSE, the kids aren't the only ones who'll be busy this fall. With P.T.A., service clubs and church affairs all going strong, the whole family is pretty active. Think how hard it would be to make plans and keep track of things without your telephone! And wouldn't you be lost without the day-to-day help your phone gives Mahar for the extra point, the Chelsea rooters breathed easier. However, Dexter came right back. On the first play after the kick-off, Right Half Bob Schneider took a hand-off and raced 86 yards to score. With the score 14-13 Dexter tried again to pass for the extra point. However, this time the Bulldogs were not fooled and John Eisenbeiser intercepted the intended pass so the Bulldogs still led.

Chelsea added the clincher in short order. Aided by some excellent blocking by linemen Gus Steger, Dennis Gary and Don Woods, they marched goal-ward. Richardson scored from the six-yard line, and after Danny Schumm scored the extra point on a keeper play the game was out of Dexter's reach.

With reserves in action, as all of Coach Al Conklin's 25-man squad saw action, the Bulldogs moved to the Dexter 20-yard line when time ran out to end the game.

The victory was especially pleasing to coach Conklin as it marked the first time the Bulldogs have been able to defeat Dexter at home since he came here in 1952.

This Friday the Bulldogs travel to Milan for the first Huron League game of the season.

The game has special significance as the two teams will also battle for the two-foot Kiwanis trophy. The trophy donated by the Kiwanis clubs of the two communities has been in the possession of the Bulldogs since its origination in 1954. Chelsea won 14-6 in '54.

The game also marks the return of Coach Conklin to his home town where his Bulldogs have never failed to win.

Milan was impressive in its opener as they downed a good airport community team, 19-0.

Game time will be 7:30 p.m.

Wins Expense Paid Trip To Complete in National Baking Contest

Mrs. Rae Judson, 139 Orchard Street, today was named one of the 100 finalists in Pillsbury Bake-Off contest, to be held Oct. 14-15 in Berkeley Hills, Calif. This year for the first time the big baking event will be held in the new Beverly Hilton Hotel; previous Bake-Offs were held in New York's Waldorf-Astoria.

Chosen on the basis of a bread recipe she submitted for contest judges earlier this year, Mrs. Judson will compete with 99 women and girls from all parts of the country for over $100,000 in cash and General Electric appliances.

She will bake her prize recipe, along with other contestants, in the main ballroom of the Beverly Hilton Hotel, which will be turned into a world's largest kitchen for the Pillsbury Bake-Off event.

In addition to being eligible for the $25,000 top prize and other awards, Mrs. Judson will receive an expense-paid trip to California and the General Electric range and mixer she uses during the contest.

Mrs. Judson learned of her good fortune today when Raymond Ewe, Pillsbury branch manager for this area, called to present her with a $100 check and to arrange transportation and final plans for her trip to California.
