Oven Messiness
Avoided by Broiling
At Moderate Heat

Do you ever hesitate to use your broiler because it makes such a mess in your oven? Try using a moderate temperature such as 350 degrees, suggests Anita Dean, extension foods specialist at Michigan State University.

Not only will a moderate temperature cut down on smoking and spattering grease, but it will result in meat that is more tender, shrinks less and is more evenly cooked. To keep your broiler temperature at the desired setting, you will want to leave your oven door ajar while broiling.

The distance between your broiler pan and the heating unit will also make a big difference in the way your meat will look and taste, continues Mrs. Dean. Putting it too close to the unit will result in meat that is seared on the outside and rare in the middle. If you place the pan so that the top of the meat is three inches from the heat, your steak will be nicely brown on the outside and evenly cooked on the inside whether you like it well-done, medium or rare.

Since salt tends to draw the juices out of meat, you shouldn't season it until you are ready to turn it over on the broiler. You may find it easier to wait until you are ready to serve before you season.

Finally, says Mrs. Dean, know what "not" to broil. Although pork is generally tender, you need to cook it slowly and in the presence of moisture to develop its full flavor and to lessen shrinkage. The danger of trichinosis makes it necessary for you to cook pork to the well-done stage; by the time the inside of pork is well-done, the outside is almost charred if you're using your broiler.

Veal, because it has so little fat and so much connective tissue, also requires long, slow, moist cooking. You should broil both pork and veal chops and steaks, Mrs. Dean concludes.

FORTUNE IN BARN

Crete, Neb.—Les Burch, telephone lineman, bought an old barn at auction for $95. While wrecking the building, he found a tin can containing four $20 gold pieces and three $10 gold pieces, all in mint condition. Dates on the coins ranged from 1881 to 1900.

THOUGHT FOR NEWSPAPER WEEK

Accessories are an important part of any well-dressed woman's collection of clothes. This is never more important than it is right now when we use different accessories to completely change the effect of suits and basic dresses.

Accessories are used to add a touch of glamor but they can do this only so long as they are clean, fresh and pretty.

If you like to wear artificial flowers at your neck, keep them dusted and iron the petals and leaves when they begin to look wilted. Store them with tissue paper between each bouquet.

Every pretty belt should have a place on a belt holder. Make the holder by hammering short nails into wooden coat hanger. Hang the belt by the buckle or eyelet.

Keep your patent leather belts and handbags from cracking by wiping them with glycerin or petroleum jelly after each wearing. Plastic belts and bags can be wiped with damp cloth or, if they are soiled, with lukewarm soap suds. Always wipe them dry.

Leather accessories should be cleaned with saddle soaping and softening treatments. Always wipe dry and keep object away from heat until it is completely dry.

Keep costume jewelry in covered partitioned containers. Never wash it in hot water. A damp cloth may be used but no harsh cleaners.

If you are not completely satisfied with the features nature gave you, it is possible to improve on them with a few modern make-up tricks.

First, you must determine the shape of your face: square, triangle, heart, round or diamond. Next, you must learn to adapt your hair style and application of make-up to play up certain features and play down others.

Choose a stylish hair-do and make it conform to your needs. A square face will benefit from a side part and a soft fluff to one side of the forehead. Avoid center parts. Blend rouge up, then down and over the jaw line. A wide and not-too-heavy mouth will be flattering.

A heart-shaped face will look best with a fluff of curls below or behind the ears. Keep the hair smooth at the temples. Actually, the heart-shaped face can wear almost any hair arrangement. Wear rouge in a wide shallow triangle high on the cheeks. Avoid lipstick which is too bold in effect.

Get your hair up if your face is round. An up-on-one-side curl or roll is good. Avoid any circular effects. Blend rouge down and under the jaw line to make the face seem more oval. Try for wide curved lips.

The diamond-shaped face should be widened at both chin and forehead. Wide, fluffy bangs and curls below the ears are good. Rouge should be used on the outer cheekbone area. The mouth should not appear too wide.

News Notes

PUBLIC POWER

The Administration's decision to fight the Democratic program for Government atomic power plants with the charge of favoritism for public power resulted in defeating the program. Republican leaders used this issue and that of economy in attaining their victory.

THE RANGER

As one of his final official acts, Admiral Radford, the outgoing Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, commissioned the new $17,000,000 super-carrier, USS Ranger, and appointed for the military forces of the nation to act together as a team.

HIGH EDUCATION

The President's Committee on Education Beyond the High School has reported that the nation's colleges already over-crowded, would be confronted by 1970 by a number of young men and women double that of today's college enrollment. In contrast to today's enrollment of 8,000,000, the nation's colleges must find means of providing education for 16,000,000 young people.

LONG RANGE WEATHER

The establishment of an institute for long range weather forecasting has been recommended by the National Science Foundation in Washington by Jerome Mamas, chief of the U. S. Weather Bureau's extended forecast service.

FALL BOOM?

Industrial leaders appear to be counting on a big fall pickup in business activities to make up for a slight drop-off during the summer months. If the summer boom doesn't come along on schedule to put idle industrial facilities to work, the country will be in for a business recession—the degree of which is yet to be seen.

NEW SOIL BANK

In order for farmers to receive the $500,000,000 the Government is offering them to reduce acreage of surplus cotton, wheat, corn, rice and tobacco next year, they will have to cut their total harvested acreage below the average of the past two years. This is a new requirement which is designed to prevent the shifting of cropland from surplus crops to other crops, which soon create new surpluses and add to the total over-supply of farm commodities.

THE REA

Borrowers from the rural power development fund of the Rural Electrification Administration are meeting their obligations promptly. Of the 938 active electric borrowers only nine were in arrears on payments as of August 1. The amount of the past-due payments was $200,800 out of slightly more than $2,900,000,000 in extended loans. Most of the borrowers are farmer cooperatives, organized to extend electrical service to farms.

INVENTORIES

The rise in stocks of goods and materials in factories and stores is a source of worry to some economists. Manufacturing and trade inventories are $5,000,000,000 higher than for the same period a year ago, and have increased in the last few months after being cut back earlier in the year.

THE CANCER FIGHT

A four-scientist team at the National Cancer Institute, at Bethesda, Md., has found that three antibiotics—actinomycin, doxorubicin and adriamycin—seek out cancer cells. The antibiotics show a unique affinity for cancerous tissue, seek out a greater variety of tumors than any other known drugs, shining with a bright yellow fluorescence under ultraviolet light, and remain in the tumor tissues for periods up to twenty days. While they are not cures, they furnish better means of diagnosis.

OPERATION DEEP FREEZE

A large group of U. S. specialists has left for the South Pole in this year's "Operation Deep Freeze," the third and largest expedition to the Antarctic in three years. The 4,147 Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force men taking part were moved south aboard 31 airplanes and 10 ships.

BUSINESS

The state of business in the nation has some experts somewhat concerned. They see a definite slowing of business as a result of the recent boom having run out of steam. However, in the next six months, many believe that the people themselves will provide the steam necessary to keep the wheels of business going. By early 1968, employment is expected to take up any slack now apparent, and by summer, a notable improvement is expected to be evident.

A Short Story By Richard Hill Wilkinson

SERVICES
FOR

Michael that after all these years of hopeless hero worship he could be standing within two feet of the lovely Helen Rolster. Why, if he reached out his hand he could touch her! Actually, it was like living in a dream. And what was more astounding still, she was smiling at him. She had not acted the least bit cold or distant when, experimentally, he had made that casual remark about the weather. Instead, she had agreed: "It is warm, isn't it?" And little electric vibrations had scurried up and down Michael's spinal column.

Impulsively, scarcely recognizing his own voice, he said: "How—suppose we go out somewhere and get an ice?"

"Id love to!" You could have bowled him over with a twig. And then before he could quite collect his senses Owen Wheelock had called to her from across the stage. Owen, big, handsome, aloof, was her business manager. There were rumors that he and Helen Rolster were engaged.

Michael's heart sank into his boots when she crossed to where Owen stood. Sullenly he watched them. They seemed to be arguing. He saw the color suddenly flood in to Owen's cheeks, saw Helen Rolster turn away from him.

Looking at her across a table in Shapleigh's ice cream and soda emporium, still with that dazed, spellbound expression in his eyes, Michael poured out his soul in response to her questions.

"I've been stage manager at the Palace for five years," he admitted. "I started as assistant. Six years with Mr. Stein all together." His eyes devoured her hungrily. "And all that time—since your first picture I—I've worshipped you." He laughed apologetically. "I suppose this is an old story to you. I don't care, though. I've always known that if I ever got the chance I'd tell you this, even though you'd tell me."

Helen Rolster smiled, but she didn't laugh. "I've collected dozens of pictures of you. I've volumes of movie—critics—have written. You've been—well, rather an inspiration."

"In what way?" Miss Rolster wanted to know.

"Well, if it wasn't for you I guess I wouldn't have amounted to much. I'd have been satisfied to remain a stage manager. I'm going to have a theatre of my own some day. Over in Scaraport. I've almost enough saved up. Another thousand and I can start." Michael leaned forward, eager, intent. "Miss Rolster, do you mind my telling you that this is the biggest moment of my life. I knew when Mr. Stein said he'd sign you for a personal appearance that it would be."

Michael, thinking that this moment would be his only one, made the best of it. He was, therefore, astounded and delirious with joy.

FEDERAL PAY RISE

A House bill, calling for an eleven per cent annual pay rise, which would affect about 1,000,000 Federal white collar workers, is expected to be passed. It would add some $580,000 to Federal payroll costs.

FREIGHT RATES

The Interstate Commerce Commission has authorized rail freight increases which, together with earlier increases, total 14 per cent for the East, 12 per cent for the West and 9 per cent for the South.

A virus is a poison chemical created in the tissues of our bodies when something goes wrong with its cellular chemistry during an illness. Let's think of spoiled fish for a moment. It is poisonous. It contains a virus. It is spoiled because the cellular chemical changes have created a virus that is deadly. This virus is popularly looked upon as causing rather than resulting from an abnormal body condition.

Anyone who has fooled with a chemistry set knows that the slightest deviation from required measurements and processes will bring about unpredictable and sometimes disastrous and results.

Consider the chemistry of the body. The factories and laboratories within us are our glands which produce the various chemicals. The master controlling chemist is the nervous system which controls, correlates and integrates all bodily function.

Suppose this master chemist is unable to send proper messages to a factory or laboratory, causing it to create an inferior product or the wrong quantity. Then a hot nerve could set up a hot virus like the spoiled fish. Different type cells create different viruses. All because of an interference or disturbance in the nervous system.

A little girl 7 years old was brought to my office. The parents reported that she had a virus and spinal analysis seemed lacking in energy. My examination and spinal analysis disclosed nerve interferences brought about by faulty alignment and restored normal nerve transmission, all of which brought bodily processes back to normal integration and function. The symptoms vanished. No cause was left so there were no bad effects. A virus barricade is a normal nervous system.

Architect's Drawing: New Home Office, Kiwanis International, Chicago, Illinois

Kiwanis International Plans New Headquarters Building

Construction of a permanent office building in Chicago at cost of nearly a million dollars will begin late this winter, the president of Kiwanis International, Park Arnold, Glendale, Calif., announced recently in Chicago during the organization's late-summer annual meeting.

The new building, which will be headquarters for the international group, will occupy property at the corner of Rush and Erie streets on Chicago's near north side. The site is one block west of the city's famed "Magnificent Mile" and about five blocks north of the Chicago River. The building will contain approximately 85,000 provide facilities for the administration of approximately 7,000 Kiwanis clubs, the organization's 1955 goal. (Nineteen hundred and sixty-five will be the 50th anniversary of Kiwanis International.) Currently there are 4,400 Kiwanis clubs and approximately 251,000 Kiwanis members in the United States, Canada, Alaska and the Hawaiian Islands.

The site for the Kiwanis home office was purchased last year when it became evident that the continued enlargement of the service organization and the necessity for an ever-increasing staff was causing Kiwanis to outgrow its present quarters at 520 North Michigan Avenue. Headquarters personnel numbers 125.

Architects for the Kiwanis home office building are Melke and Smith of Chicago. Consultant is Leon Chastel, Washington, D. C., architect, who is President of the American Institute of Architecture.

"Construction of this new building is Kiwanis' declaration of faith in the future of Chicago, of the U. S. and Canada, and the organization into a 251,000 man force for good," Arnold said.

Kiwanis, now in its 43rd year, was founded in Detroit, Michigan. The organization has maintained its general offices in Chicago for 38 years.

The new home office building will also serve as headquarters for Key Club International, a Kiwanis-sponsored high school boys' service organization numbering 37,000 youngsters in 1,200 U. S. and Canadian high schools, and Circle K International, a college-level men's service organization with more than 35,000 members in 165 college clubs.

EUB Conference Organizes Church Promotion Group

The Michigan Conference of the Evangelical United Brethren Church has been divided into 17 promotional groups in the interest of more effective promotion of the denomination program. Group No. 4 is known as the Waterloo Group and includes the following E.U.B. Churches: Ann Arbor, Jackson, Grand Rapids, Jackson Greenwood Park, Jackson Zion, Milan, Seward, Sharon, Waterloo First, Waterloo Village, and Whitaker Zion.

The Rev. W. A. Williams of Ann Arbor, is the Ministerial Group Leader, with the following persons working as group leaders in their respective areas of the promotion: Adult Work, Joseph Rogers; Youth Work, the Rev. H. E. Mann, Waterloo; Children's Work, Mrs. Howard Bolles, Ann Arbor; Women's Society of World Service, Mrs. Gifford Cosselman, Whitaker; U. S. Men, Dr. A. W. Story, Ann Arbor.

Besides the promotion of work in their various departments, these group leaders will act as a committee to promote and coordinate the general program of the Church as well as direct various cooperative events within the area.

The committee meeting Sept. 28 at Waterloo Village formulated plans for promoting the Conference program of Faith Unlimited in Evangelism concentrating on Friendly Visitation during October and November; an "Open House" Banquet in January; and a Leadership Training School to be held in March. Rev. H. L. Mann of Waterloo, was elected Dean of the Leadership Training School.

It is hoped that this new promotional organization will prove successful in promoting the program of the Evangelical United Brethren Church and foster a more co-operative spirit among the E.U.B. churches of the area.

Free Chest X-ray Survey Scheduled

Washtenaw County residents will once again have a chance to have chest x-rays taken in a county-wide chest x-ray survey coming said Dr. C. K. Engelke, Washtenaw County Health Officer, this survey, similar to the surveys held in the fall of 1955 and 1956, will include all towns in the county.

The Health Department, in co-operation with the County Tuberculosis Association will, this year, have four mobile x-ray units in operation in the county. The units will offer chest x-rays to every individual over 15 years of age who will stop by to have the x-ray taken.

"These x-rays," said Dr. Engelke, "are used to help us discover unknown cases of tuberculosis, lung cancer, heart disease and a number of other chest abnormalities. In the past two years, more than 40,000 chest x-rays have been taken in Washtenaw county, and many persons have been alerted to chest conditions which they never knew existed before."

The x-raying procedure itself was said to take less than a minute, since no undressing is required. The average participant spends about 2 minutes completing the registration card and having his x-ray taken, according to health authorities.

Reports of abnormal x-ray findings are sent to the patient's family physician for any further medical attention which may be necessary. Reports of normal chests are sent directly to the person having the x-ray.

"A detailed schedule will be released soon listing locations and dates of the survey," said Dr. Engelke.

The Ann Arbor class for Expectant Parents held in the County Building at 1:30 p.m. Thursday will consider the essentials for a satisfactory layette," said Mrs. Catherine Gaskill, staff nurse in charge of the classes.

Sister of Local Woman Named 'Rural Teacher of The Year' for Michigan

Mrs. Erma West, who is a sister of Mrs. Elton K. Muebach, has been named "Rural Teacher of the Year for Michigan" by the Prairie Farmer magazine and Radio Station WLS of Chicago. It was announced last week.

Mrs. West is an eighth grade teacher at Warner school in Spring Arbor, where her husband, Alton West, is principal. The latter is a great-grandson of Elsie Congdon, one of the founders of Chelsea. The award includes a three-day, round-trip trip to Chicago, probably during October. She and the winners of the awards in Indiana, Wisconsin and Illinois, will appear on Radio Station WLS and will receive plaques for themselves and for their schools.

Purpose of the award, which is given in cooperation with the National Education Association, is to honor the work of outstanding rural elementary teachers and to call attention to the profession.

THE DRIVER'S SEAT

Harvey Skitzo suffers acutely from a disease known as highway-adjustitis. His symptoms range from wandering eyes, hunched shoulders, raggle-taggle nerves and tightly clenched fists to a pleasant mien, relaxed alertness and real zest for going.

As heavily as his doctor can determine, Harvey's affliction stems from adjusting and readjusting to constantly changing road conditions on his job as star salesman for Consolidated Collars, Inc.

Now, one of the reasons Harvey attained star status with his company is that he often travels at night in order to cover more distance at a time when roads are less heavily used. Some of this nighttime wheeling is over the modern turnpike-type expressway, and some is on old, poorly maintained highway routes and rural roads. His adjustment problems become correspondingly acute, therefore, with the increasingly decrepit state of the older trails.

Harvey wants it understood that he is by no means unhappy about the new expressways, with their well-engineered grading, highway dividers and reflectorized signs. These are wonders that make his job a pleasure, for he is a good driver and usually feels more at home on the road than otherwise.

No, it's just the terrible contrast between the sheer delight of the new road and the slow, writhing of the old, that is slowly changing him from a sane citizen into a quivering, shivering shell.

Harvey is aware that, like every other driver today, he spends a good four-fifths of his hours bouncing and braking over local roads. Since he travels most of the time, this amounts to quite a few car hours. Almost immediately after leaving the smooth security of the expressway, his whole system sets up a shocking reaction. Lunched and hungry, he hurries with one eye to pick out hidden direction and warning signs that are hard to find in the daytime and virtually invisible at night.

The other eye peers hopelessly for non-existent lane markings and for the edge of the road. His speed drops to a crawl.

Small wonder that Harvey finds life anything but lulling. Quite frequently, though, he is encouraged to find that many areas and towns through which he drives have taken steps to eliminate these problems by making inexpensive but effective improvements on their existing roads. Their officials have erected new signs with greater day and night visibility, painted lanes and shoulders with sparkling white stripes and cleared obstructed signs and intersections.

When other state officials reach a point of progress that means similar improvements for their county roads, Harvey may return to his breezy, star-salesman personality and every other part of the driver's seat will be spared the afflictions accompanying these country road blues, too.

HOW LONG WILL
A WASHER WASH
Did you ever wonder how soon you'll need to replace that automatic washing machine? One manufacturer estimates the life of his product at 10 years with eight cycles a week. That amounts to turning out 4,100 loads of clean laundry. However, agricultural engineers at Michigan State University figure most machines will do even better than this with proper operation, maintenance and possibly some major overhauls.

Two Chelsea Girls Enroll in Mercy School of Nursing

Among the 175 prospective nurses who began their nursing careers in September by enrolling in the three-year nursing program of the Mercy School of Nursing of Detroit are Barbara Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Collins, and Olive Ann Reddeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Reddeman.

The Chelsea area girls are enrolled in the Ann Arbor St. Joseph Unit, but will take their freshman training in Detroit. A total of 47 girls are enrolled in the Ann Arbor Unit. Others in the freshman class are enrolled at Mt. Carmel hospital and St. Joseph's Mercy hospital, Detroit.

Saturday, Oct. 5, an Open House will be held at the Nurses Home of the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Unit of the Mercy School of Nursing of Detroit, 2217 East Grand Boulevard, Detroit. The doors will be open from 4 to 6 p.m., and all high school students interested in a nursing career are invited to attend.

Members of the St. Joseph Unit's faculty, instructors and student nurses will be on hand to answer any questions.

Prospective students will be conducted on a tour of the Nurses Home and the Nursing Demonstration Laboratories, so they can get an idea of the training program offered.

Mrs. Grace Radford To Head Red Cross Volunteers in County

Mrs. Grace H. Radford of 422 Packard, Ann Arbor, has been appointed Chairman of Volunteers for the American Red Cross in Washtenaw county. E. G. Laetz, Chapter Chairman, announced this week. Mrs. Radford, who has had a remarkable business career and been very active in community and civic activities in Ann Arbor, was formerly Personnel Services Manager at Argus, Inc.

In addition to her work as Chairman of the Red Cross voluntary workers in this county, Mrs. Radford is Executive Secretary of the Ann Arbor Chapter of National Conference of Christians and Jews. She has served on the Boards of the Michigan Children's Aid, City club, the Perry Nursery School, and others. A past President of Zonta in Ann Arbor, she continues active in this field.

Laetz stated that Mrs. Radford will assist the Program Chairmen of the Red Cross in the different communities in recruiting, and training of the volunteers needed to provide essential community services. Active as a member of the Board of Directors of the Washtenaw county chapter, and a member of its Executive Committee for more than three years, she is familiar with the operations throughout the county. "We need a minimum of 600 voluntary workers," Mrs. Radford said today. "This is in addition to the several thousand we now have in Red Cross activities serving in all communities." "Volunteer services have been carried on by the Red Cross in Washtenaw for 40 years," commented Mrs. Radford, "and the needs increase as our population increases."

Reds Far Behind U. S. Agriculture, MSU Group Told

East Lansing—"The Russians are 50 years behind us in their agricultural methods."

So stated Everett Mitchell, director of Agriculture for the National Broadcasting Company, Chicago, in an address to a farm conference at Michigan State University. He debunked Russian agricultural claims as he described his observations on a recent tour behind the iron curtain.

"All the work is done with hand tools on farms there," the speaker revealed in his speech at the Agricultural Ammonia conference. "The only modern farm equipment we saw was on a 750-acre demonstration tract in Moscow. And there was no evidence this equipment would actually work."

"Based on the equipment used on farms, the type of soil and the number of daylight hours each day, the average Russian farmer would be lucky to combine 40 acres a day."

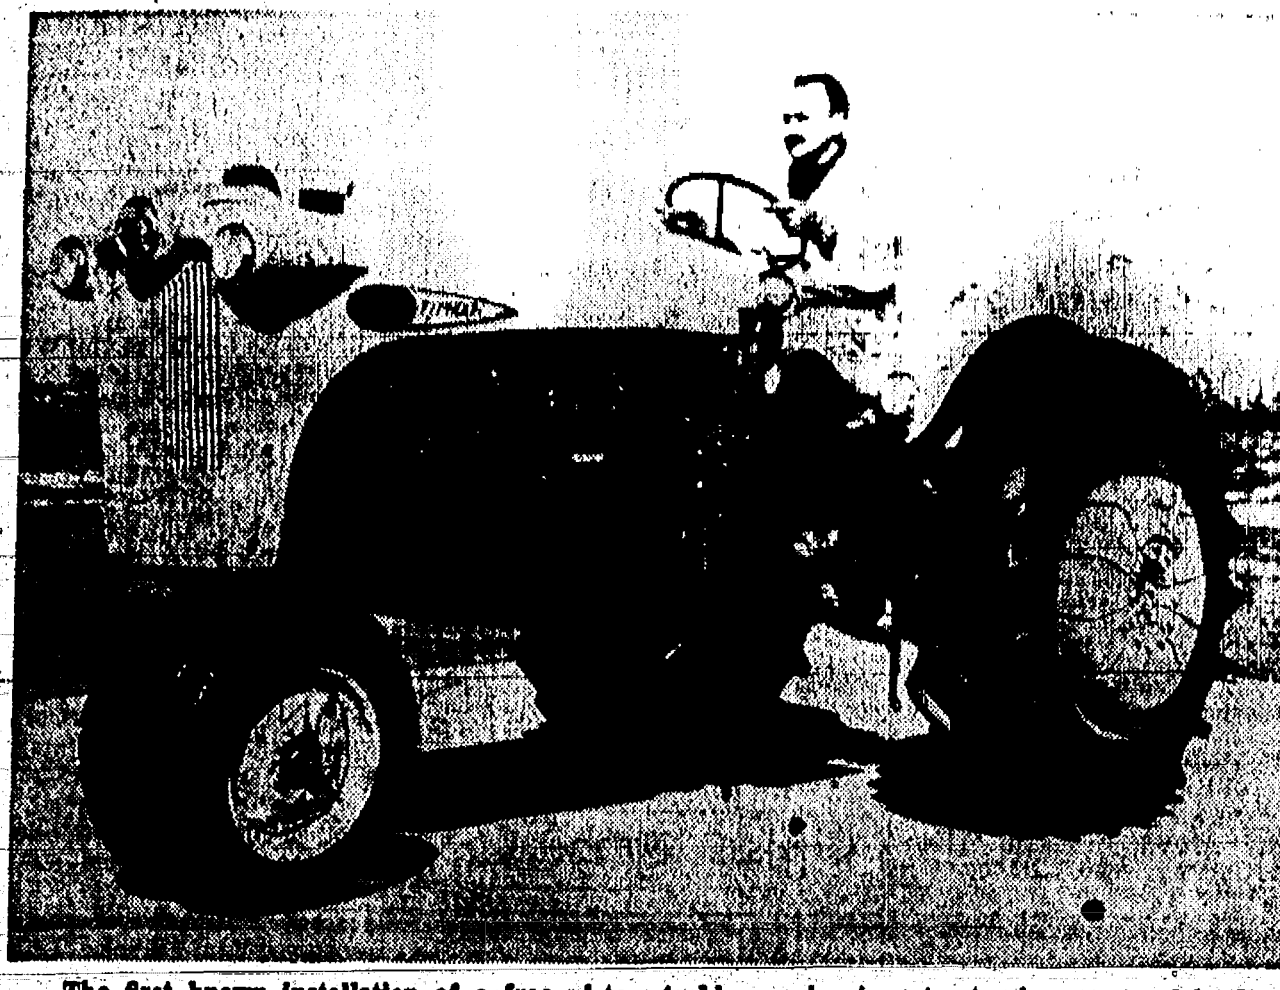

The speaker, who recently headed a 16-member delegation on a five-week, 5,000 mile tour behind the iron curtain, pointed out the Russians claimed their farmers could put 200 pounds of weight on a hog in 11 months. "The average American hog farmer should be able to do the same thing in less than half the time," Mitchell said.

"One Russian 'Rube Goldberg-type' corn harvester described by Mitchell, reputedly picked and shelled the ears, tossed them into a bin, chopped up the stalks and residue and pulled the root systems out of the ground. "There was no evidence that this contraption ever worked," said the speaker.

Women do most of the work on Russian farms, he said. "On a 750-acre farm which we visited, 375 of the 450 workers were women," he added. Crowded living quarters, a lack of clothing for the workers and antiquated methods and equipment characterize today's Russian farms, the speaker stated.

GETS BARGAIN
Salem, Va.—John H. Tingler bid $125 for an old house that had to be razed to make room for an addition to the water plant. In dismantling the house, Mr. Tingler found a tin box in the attic, containing $500 in old-sized bills, now out of circulation.

First Free Piston Tractor

The first known installation of a free piston turbine engine in a tractor is announced by Ford Motor Company's Tractor and Implement Division. Strictly experimental, the Ford Typhoon tractor is powered by a single cylinder engine having two free-moving pistons. The pistons produce gas under pressure which drives a turbine, providing smooth power with greatly reduced vibration. The Typhoon now utilizes about half of the 100 horsepower which the engine is capable of producing.

The HERB CORNER Flavor, Fragrance, Beauty

Not all herb garden catalogues list Betony, which may be planted in this area about the first of November, but I find one lists three varieties: Woolly Betony (Stachys olympica - lanata), also called Lamb's Ears because of its large leaves covered with a silken fleece; Green Betony (Stachys officinalis - Betonica) and Gray Betony (Stachys Hirta).

They are all perennials and all have lavender or violet flowers. Woolly Betony grows only to a height of about a foot and is somewhat of a border plant, but it should be confined by a metal turf edger, for instance, to keep its roots from spreading.

The low tufts of leaves of the Green and Gray varieties of Betony are topped to a height of about a foot and a half by flowers from May until July. Many of our herbs have such inconspicuous flowers, it is a pleasure to have these herbs with their lavender or violet blossoms in the herb garden. They are attractive cut flowers, too.

Another herb whose seeds may be planted here about the first of November is Salad Burnet (Sanguisorba minor), a culinary herb grown for the cucumber-like flavor of its leafy leaves which grow in rosettes, are verdant most of the winter and make it an attractive border plant. It has small, velvety red, thimble shaped flowers that bloom intermittently from April until August.

Other herbs which may be planted about November first and are probably known by many of our readers are Catnip (Nepeta Cataria), whose fresh or dried leaves are known to most of us only as a special treat for our feline pets, but can also be used to make a tea, not at all unpleasant, which used to be given as a sedative and to alleviate the discomforts of a feverish cold.

Core hound (Marrubium vulgare) from gray, pebbled leaves of which is made the infusion that is an ingredient of the well-known horehound candy.

Parsley (Petroselinum hortense) perhaps the best known culinary herb, is less likely to winterkill if it is planted in the fall. In addition to its culinary uses, it makes an attractive border in the garden and is said to help keep pests away when used as a border around a rosebed. It has been used between the rows of commercial plantings of onions and carrots to reduce the attraction of harmful flies.

Garden Sage (Salvia officinalis) one of the best known of all herbs, has been used both as a medicine and as a flavoring agent since before the beginning of written history. When other herbs were most forgotten, sage was still used by every cook, at least when poultry stuffing was seasoned. If planted in the spring, it may bloom the first year in August. But if planted near the first of November, its purple flowers will probably appear early in June.

New York—After a passenger left his taxicab, Harold Petrie, 65-year-old cabbie, found a sealed package of worn and brittle bills. He told his employers and they notified police. The money, fairly new, had apparently been soaked in water or exposed to smoke, water, or heat of a fire. Police returned the money in the presence of Petrie and other police and newsmen—it totaled $11,200. If no one claims the money in 90 days, it will be turned over to Petrie.

REPORT FROM ROME

Italy Making Good Gains In Her Economic Recovery

By Norman Lindhurst (Foreign Correspondent) Part II

Rome—Italy's aircraft industry, too, has begun to boom of late. The Aerfer Company, a subsidiary of the engineering and shipbuilding firm of Finmeccanica, has just unveiled an entirely Italian-designed supersonic jet fighter, the Sagittario II.

But some of Italy's most spectacular export successes have been achieved in light industry. Motor scooters are the No. 1 exhibit. Developed in Italy after the war, the motor scooter has revolutionized Italian transport and become a major Italian export to 80 foreign countries.

Outside Milan, the Innocenti factory, covering a 600,000 square yard area, produces 600 Lambretta motor scooters a day. This is exclusive of Lambretta's production under Innocenti license in Argentina, Spain, France and India.

Business machines have become another big-time Italian export specialty. Olivetti has even invaded the American typewriter market. The Serie works of M. L. and Crema boasts that it sells its Everest machines to every country which imports office equipment.

Of late, Italy has been striving to get a foothold in the world petroleum monopoly, the Ente Nazionale Idrocarburi (ENI). ENI has signed an agreement with Iran to drill the rich Qum fields, 100 miles south of Teheran. The Italians snatched this plum away from American and British companies and thereby put Italy into the petroleum big-time.

ENI's Iranian deal was not happenstance. Petroleum Production, fostered under the country's industrialization program, is becoming a pillar of the Italian economy.

Italy last year boosted natural gas production nearly 25 per cent. ENI drilled 66 exploration wells and 80 development wells.

Near Ravenna, the Italians are completing a plant—the largest in Europe—for the production of synthetic rubber and nitrogenous fertilizers from natural gas.

Italian refineries last year handled five million tons of crude oil. Italy's pipe-line system reached a length of 2,701 miles and the tanker fleet a tonnage of 109,205 deadweight tons.

And all this was accomplished without sighting the pasta industry, which employs 10,000 workers in 160,000 plants turning out the Italian delicacy in over 100 forms.

WELL, WELL—

Fresno, Calif.—California Highway Patrol officials recently received a report from Valeria Potter of Puente, Calif., who said her car struck a temporary road barricade in Fresno. She enclosed a bill for $55.05 for repairs to her car, with the statement, "I would appreciate a check by return mail. She didn't get it."

Modern Homemakers Rival Chemists in Today's Kitchen Work

A chemist in a laboratory has nothing on you in your kitchen, declares Mary Kroodema, food and nutrition instructor at Michigan State University. You deal with chemical changes every day as you cook for your family.

You've heard all about "how" to cook many, for instance, broil or roast tender cuts and braise tougher cuts. But do you know "why" do you know what happens to meat as it cooks?

As you heat meat, Mrs. Kroodema explains, four changes take place. For one thing, the color changes from red to brown. The flavor of the meat also changes as the fat melts and blends with liquids from the muscle tissue. Of most concern to you as a cook is the change that takes place in the protein fibers that make up meat.

You probably know that meat is largely protein, but did you know that as protein heats, it coagulates? It is this coagulation that causes meat to shrink; the more it shrinks, the tougher it gets.

Connective tissue undergoes still a fourth change. It is already tough, but if you heat it in the presence of a liquid, it will change to a gelatin and the meat will be more tender.

You can see that you have two opposing actions taking place as you cook meat; the protein is coagulating and toughening the meat. At the same time, the connective tissue is changing to gelatin and tenderizing the meat. The kind of cut you have will determine which of these is most likely to happen.

A cut of meat which you consider tough, a chuck roast, for instance, is tough because it contains so much connective tissue. This connective tissue must gelatinize before the meat will become tender. So you have to braise the roast; or cook it slowly in a covered pan in the presence of moisture.

A tender cut, such as a steak, has little connective tissue so you don't have to worry about tenderizing it. It will be tough only if the protein coagulates too much. To prevent this, Mrs. Kroodema concludes, you broil it, or cook it just long enough for the color and flavor to change.

TAX CUTS. It now seems probable that there will be more emphasis on the part of both Congress and the Administration on the reduction of taxes in the next session of Congress. The proposed cuts in Government spending are seen as signals for a slight cut in taxes for everybody all down the line next year. It must be remembered that 1958 is an election year and this fact alone makes reductions more probable.

Kiwanis Club Fetes Faculty

School Superintendent Charles S. Cameron was in charge of the introductions at the Kiwanis club meeting Monday evening. Held in the social center of the Methodist church, the meeting was the annual Faculty and Ladies' Night when school teachers were guests of the club.

Supt. Cameron introduced Elementary School Principal Arthur Schumuk who presented the elementary teachers present. Supt. Cameron also introduced the high school principal, Charles Lams, and asked him to introduce the high school teachers.

A Kiwanis guest at the meeting was Armand Hewett of Ann Arbor. Other guests included Shirley Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Smith.

Among the announcements made at the meeting was one by the Rev. E. J. Welles, administrator of the Methodist Home, who attended an invitation to those present to attend an open house reception at the new superintendent's home on the Methodist Home grounds from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m. Saturday evening. He also invited the ladies present to an afternoon reception Friday from 1 p.m. until 4 p.m.

Lowell Davidson, M. J. Anderson and A. D. Mayer were named as a nominating committee and are to report at next week's Kiwanis club meeting.

James Daniels, in charge of the evening's entertainment, presented a group of five Filipinos and one Japanese student from the U. of M. International Center who presented several dance and vocal numbers. They concluded with the folk dance known as the bamboo dance.

HAS FUTURE AT 97

Ames, Iowa.—Andy Anderson who recently celebrated his 97th birthday, received a congratulatory telegram from his employer, a shoe company. It was advised that when Anderson reaches 100, his commission would be doubled. Anderson is saving the telegram, says he intends to collect on it.

FINES SELF $10.

Lexington, Ky.—In enforcing the local dog quarantine, Trial Commissioner Nelson Hoskins accepts no excuses about broken chains or children turning dogs loose. The owners are fined. However, to his chagrin, the other afternoon he went home and found his boxer—always kept chained in the backyard—waiting to meet him at the front door. The next day, Hoskins stated the facts in the case in court to one and all and then fined himself $10 and costs.

NO CHARGE.

Muncie, Ind.—Knowing that the battery of his wife's car was dead, Jesse Gilmer and a neighbor pushed the car for several miles without result. The two men stopped the car, lifted the hood. There was no battery—Mrs. Gilmer had had it taken away to be charged.

BOYS WILL BE BOYS.

Kenosha, Wis.—A recent tussle between two "boys" ended with one striking the other with a glass jar knocking him over a table. The "boys" were residents of an old folks' home. The striker was in his late 70's, while his companion was 65.

back in the third period. The defense especially weak in the first half suddenly became almost invincible as the Big Reds could muster only one scoring threat in the second half and that when the outcome had already been decided.

Richardson, who turned in the outstanding game of his career, put the Bulldogs back into the lead in the third period. With the ball on their own 35 with third down and seven, Quarterback Danny Schumm reached into his bag of tricks and came up with the ancient but effective Statue of Liberty play. Schumm, taking a pass, dropped back sucking in the Milan line. At the last instant he slipped the ball to the illusive Richardson and the little halfback was alone gone. Breaking into the open again on R. H. Keizer's key block, he cut back as End Dan Wood's tremendous block cleared the last red shirt. The play covered 65 yards and broke the Calgame wide open. The Bulldogs piled up an extra point as Quarterback Schumm flipped a pass in the flat to R. H. Loren Keizer.

The Bulldogs, now scoring victory, stopped the Big Reds cold in their tracks after the kick-off and forced them to punt. Willie Heligh returned the punt 15 yards to the Chelsea 40. From this point the Bulldogs drove goalward as Quarterback Schumm sent Richardson and Keizer pounding off tackle time after time. Richardson broke away once for a 29-yard gain, while Keizer carried for gains of 8 and 10.

On the six Q. B. Schumm, seeing that Milan's secondary had sucked in, tried to pass. End Don Woods was in the open but just as Schumm was about to throw the ball he was hit by a Milan lineman and fumbled, with Milan recovering. Chelsea held, however, and forced Milan to punt. Richardson took the punt on his 35 and started picking up blocks by Gus Shroyer, Jim Mahar, Dennis Gary and George Mayer, until the end zone untouched. Richardson also picked up the extra point on an off-tackle smash.

The Bulldogs added their final tally on the last play of the game. Milan had moved down to the Chelsea 12-yard line. The Chelsea line surged in as the Big Reds attempted to pass, and deflected the ball where the alert Loren Keizer grabbed it on the fly. Linebacker Bob Eder's block cleared the way and Keizer only had to elude the referee who got in his way as he raced 92 yards to score. On the extra point attempt with reserves in action, Willie Heligh was stopped short.

At the game's end the Bulldogs hoisted Richardson on their shoulders as they left the field. The little scat back had picked up 187 yards rushing in 11 attempts for a 17-plus yard average, plus turning in a magnificent defensive game.

Linebackers — Bob Eder, Jim Mahar and Rogers Jensen also sparkled, especially in the second half. Fullback Robin Wright also turned in a fine defensive game as he replaced co-captain John Eisenbeiser who again twisted his ankle.

In winning, the Bulldogs retained the coveted Kiwanis trophy which goes to the winner of the Milan-Chelsea game.

Coach Al Conklin was especially pleased with the victory as it marked the third successful invasion of his home town, Milan.

Conklin coached Chelsea teams have lost only once to Milan in six years. The lone defeat was in 1952, Conklin's first year, by a 18-12 score.

This week the Bulldogs return home to entertain U. High Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Records Straightened Out with Publication Of 'No Polio' Story

Following the publication of the Washtenaw county Health Department report in last week's issue of The Standard, stating that on Sept. 28, a full year would have passed without a single new case of polio in the county, it was learned that a case of paralytic polio had occurred at South Lake near here; however, because the post office address there is Grass Lake and the patient had listed his employment as a Jackson prison guard, it was erroneously listed as a Jackson county case.

Another case of polio—the non-paralytic type—was reported from the Willow Run area the day the story was published. This was a one-year-old child.

The South Lake case is that of E. J. ("Jerry") Hancock, a retired Detroit fireman who has been employed as a prison guard at Jackson. At first believed to be suffering from bursitis of the right shoulder, a local physician detected a swollen joint and sent him to the University of Michigan hospital where the diagnosis was confirmed. Hopkins was discharged from the hospital Sept. 18 but returns at intervals for treatment of the affected arm on an out-patient basis.

LUCKY MAN

Salem, Ill.—While parking cars at a Soldiers and Sailors' Home, here, Arch Sorrell kissed his wallet containing $75. Three young boys from Addicks returned the wallet to Sorrell. It seems that it had fallen on to the bumper of their car, and rode there for forty-seven miles without becoming dislodged.

AUDIT REPORT

June 30, 1957

Board of Education
Chelsea School District
Chelsea, Michigan

We have examined the receipts and disbursements of the General Fund, Debt Retirement Funds, Building and Site Fund, and High School Student Funds of the Sylvan Township School District No. 1 Fractional, known as the Chelsea School District, for the year ended June 30, 1957. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing procedures, and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

The accounting records are maintained for cash receipts and disbursements only, no balance sheet accounting being undertaken. Our examination did not include any tests of the child accounting records or state enrollment reports based on these records.

In our opinion, the accompanying receipts and disbursements statements present fairly the cash transactions of the Chelsea School District and the High School Student Funds for the year ended June 30, 1957.

Very truly yours,

NEWS MOOD

Screen rights to F. Scott Fitzgerald's "Tender Is the Night," which was bought by David Selznick, who is busy putting it down on film, with his wife, Jennifer Jones as the star.

Before the cameras at MGM at present are "Gigi" with Maurice Chevalier, Leslie Caron and Louis Jourdan; "Bay the Moon," with Jose Ferrer, and "Mock Trial."

After two successful years on Broadway, David Wayne has returned to the screen in the 20th Century-Fox production of "The Three Faces of Eve." He joins Joanne Woodward and Lee J. Cobb in the Cinema-Scope production based on an actual psychiatric case involving a woman with three distinct personalities.

In order to spend a little quiet time with her current beau, Robert Wagner, Natalie Wood left the rest of the cast of the "Marjorie Morningstar" company fly back to Hollywood, while she and Bob took the train from the New York State location.

For her third straight, non-dancing role since she did "Silk Stockings," Cyd Charisse has a starring role in "Night of the Quarter Moon," an original play by Frank Davis and Franklin Coates, which she will do "Twilight of the Gods" with Rock Hudson and "Party Girl."

David Ladd, son of Alan Ladd, will probably emerge from "Proud Rebel" as a star in his own right. Although the case includes his dad, Alan Ladd, Olivia de Havilland, and others, David's role of a mute is the outstanding role in the picture. It will be good to watch the boy.

Screen rights to "To Have and Have Not," which Humphrey Bogart and Lauren Bacall made and Ernest Hemingway wrote, have been bought by Audie Murphy. Audie plays Bogie's role and Ben Hecht has written the script.

Evelyn Rudie, who played Eloise in "Star Location," will have Lauren Bacall and Bob Stack as her foster parents in the film.

Ernie Kovacs, who has won quite a following with his any brand of humor, made his debut as a dramatic actor in "The Topaze," the Marcel Pagnol satire, on TV on September 26. The story concerned a school teacher, who is dismissed from his post because he refuses to alter a report card to satisfy a rich mother.

Paramount has signed both Martha Kitt and Nat. King Cole for "St. Louis Blues," and they hope Dorothy Dandridge will appear with them, too.

He who lives at high tension usually blows a fuse.

Future meetings will be held at the members' homes.

The Student-Council meeting of Sept. 26, considered some necessary changes in the constitution of Chelsea High School Student Council. Letters will be sent to each school organization, requesting a charter, which is to state the name of the organization, its officers and advisor, the purpose of the club, and its constitution. These charters are due Oct. 10. If they are not approved the organization is not recognized as a school organization. Several committee chairmen were chosen. Bob Eder is chairman of the Assembly Committee, Bob Smith and Roger Herman are chairmen of the Building and Ground Improvement Committee, and the Chaperson Committee, respectively.

A Homecoming was approved by the council for Nov. 1. It will be sponsored by the seniors.

Miss Fox gave the group some pointers on reporting. Now everyone will strive to produce reports with a "professional touch".

Editors Carol Barr, Judy Wagner, and Loren Keeser, are working overtime so that the first issue of "The Bulldog" can be published soon. Discussion of the time and work that goes into the school paper was a highlight of the meeting. All members agreed on a system of better selling articles and features of more interest, and more efficient help to make the "Bulldog" the best paper ever!

During the meeting the possibilities of sponsoring a dance were also brought up. The club hopes to hold this dance sometime this month. The problem of securing a chaperone committee with dependable helpers slowed any progress.

The Latin Club has been discussing what to do as a money-making project for this year. Selling salt water taffy was decided upon. Mr. A. Smith, the club advisor, has written a company which sells taffy, hoping to secure some samples.

The FHA prepared and served a dinner for the County Education Association Wednesday, Sept. 25, 1957 at 6:30 in the High School gym.

peets to take ownership on Thanksgiving Day but needs funds to complete its permanent shrine for the Mayflower. The new owners are a non-profit group. However, they would expect the Seaway voyage to produce some financial return to defray costs of the ship's berth.

Therefore, these questions must be answered: Will there be an admission charge to view Mayflower? Who will man her? What itinerary? Are the cities who want the vessel willing to put up a moderate financial guarantee for her appearance?

Since I proposed the voyage last summer, letters of enthusiasm have poured in from ports, civic groups, individuals and tourist associations. Even the U. S. Department of State favors the trip. I am confident a Mayflower II voyage into the Middle West would build international good will and dramatize the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway and Mackinac Bridge.

HEDGEHOPPING through Michigan to fill a heavy schedule of speaking dates has stretched, but not slashed, my pipeline to Washington. I am continuing to maintain close contact with all Defense Department procurement agencies in a steady effort to bring more contracts into the state. We need those jobs.

NEW Larro

SURELAY

(FORMERLY LARRO EGG MASH)

You may THINK you're saving money by buying a cheap feed. But you're probably really losing potential PROFITS. A better feed that produces just one extra egg per bird every month is worth $1.12 MORE per bag.

A Leghorn hen eats about 40 lbs. of Larro Surelay a year, so 50 hens will eat about a ton. An extra egg each month from 50 hens is 600 eggs or 50 dozen each year. Fifty dozen eggs at 45 cents a dozen is $22.50 EXTRA PROFIT for each ton of Larro Surelay fed.

Just one EXTRA EGG from each bird every month makes LARRO Surelay worth $22.50 more per ton of $1.12 more per bag. And you'll probably find that your hens will produce an extra 2, 3 or even more eggs each month when you feed them LARRO Surelay.
