Bulldogs Tie Flat Rock in League Game

Homecoming Game Friday Will Be with Lincoln Consolidated

Last Friday night Chelsea High graders fought to a 6-6 tie with the Flat Rock Rams.

The Bulldogs kicked off to Flat Rock and when Flat Rock couldn't gain they punted out to Chelsea's 35.

The Bulldogs started to drive with the Chelsea line opening up holes for backs Loren Keezer, John Eisenbeiser and Odie Richardson. An 18-yard end run by Richardson was the biggest ground gainer of the drive. On the five Loren Keezer fumbled on or near the goal line and Flat Rock recovered in their end zone.

Flat Rock then started to drive and reached the Chelsea 10 where Quarterback Bob Stevens' pass was intercepted by Loren Keezer, who returned the ball to his own 40. On the next play the Bulldogs fumbled again and Flat Rock recovered on Chelsea's 44. On the first play Charles Parker, Flat Rock right halfback, broke away on a cross buck to go all the way unopposed. Stevens' extra point attempt was wide.

The Bulldogs didn't stay behind for long as they took Flat Rock's kick-off and drove 63 yards for the T. D. On this drive Fullback Denny Schumm gained much of the yardage. A Schumm to Richardson pass picked up 21 of the yards. Richardson cracked one block by Karl Riemenschneider and Gus Steger for the T. D. on the two yard line. On the extra point attempt Quarterback Schumm was hit attempting to hand off and fumbled.

The Bulldogs again held the Rams and drove deep into Flat Rock territory before time ran out on them at the end of the half.

In the second half neither team penetrated beyond the other's 30-yard line. The Bulldogs mounted three good drives but missed a first down by a foot on one occasion while penalties stopped the other two.

The defense, after a shaky first quarter, limited Flat Rock to 34 yards in the final three quarters. Buck O'Dell and Danny Gray stood out in the middle of the Chelsea line, while Eds Don Woods and Willie Hellig both did a good job of stopping Flat Rock's wide plays in the second half. Line backers Odie Richardson and Jim Mahar, plus Halfback Eisenbeiser, also turned in excellent ball games.

The tie dimmed the Bulldogs' title hopes but did not put them out. The Bulldogs must win their remaining three games to win the Rock must lose one in order for the Bulldogs to tie.

This Friday the Bulldogs host a tough Lincoln team in the first annual Homecoming game. Last year Lincoln beat the Bulldogs 65-0 and the players, fans and coaches have forgotten that one. Lincoln, the season favorite, has lost twice to Milan; 13-0, and Roosevelt, 7-6.

Tomorrow night's game begins at 7:30 p.m.

Results of last week's Huron League play is as follows: Milan, 20; Sine 7; Lincoln 47; Dundee 0; U-High 91; Roosevelt 6.

HURON LEAGUE STANDINGS

Team	W	L	T	Pts.
Flat Rock	3	0	1	7
Milan	3	0	1	6
Lincoln	3	2	0	6
U-High	3	2	0	6
Roosevelt	3	2	0	6
Chelsea	2	1	1	5

Note: Chelsea, Flat Rock, Saline, Dundee have played one game less because of the flu.

Assembly of God Organizes Men's Fellowship Chapter

On Saturday night, Oct. 26, men of the local Assembly of God Church organized a local chapter of the nationally organized Men's Fellowship, Kenneth W. Akita, the State Men's Fellowship president, presided over the organization and the elections as delegates from the church cast their votes. Elected to the presidency of the local chapter is Chester Younk; vice-presidency, Frontiss Davis; and secretary, treasurer, H. J. Meppe.

Although in its infancy in the state of Michigan, there are already more than 700 members in the state and it is growing rapidly. The purpose of the organization is to provide Christian fellowship for the men of the community. Objectives include assisting whatever way possible with the program of the local Assembly of God, providing Christian recreation for the boys, and to lead other men to Christ.

The next meeting of the local Men's Fellowship will be held Saturday night, Nov. 9, at the home of Frontiss Davis, 801 Cavanaugh Lak. All men are invited to attend. There will be refreshments served.

The group is sponsored by the local Assembly of God church located at 116 1/2 South Main street.

Co-Op Nursery Representatives Attend Area Meets

Four representatives of the Chelsea Co-Operative Nursery were in Ann Arbor on Tuesday of last week to attend a state board meeting and Thursday evening 11 were present from Chelsea at an area leadership and orientation meeting, also at Ann Arbor.

Those from Chelsea present Tuesday evening at the state Co-Operative Nursery board meeting were Mrs. Charles Powers, Chelsea Co-Operative Nursery state representative, and Mrs. Paul Boehler, Mrs. Raymond Schairer and Mrs. Keith Poulsen. The meeting took place at the First Methodist church in Ann Arbor.

A panel discussion on the subject of methods of communication within the group occupied the afternoon program period. Mrs. Rankin Tippens, formerly of Chelsea, and now a member of the Ypsilanti Co-Operative Nursery, was a member of the panel.

At the Thursday evening meeting, which was an area leadership and orientation session held at the Evangelical United Brethren church at Ann Arbor, those present from Chelsea were Mr. and Mrs. William Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Musser, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Powers, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Poulsen, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schairer, Mrs. James Gaunt and Mrs. Jack Merkel.

Mrs. Marion Barkley, founder of the Ann Arbor Nursery group and now principal of Saline Elementary school, spoke on the topic, "The Happy Parent."

Following her talk, parents participated in discussions on various phases of nursery work.

Mrs. Jack Musser, equipment chairman for the Chelsea Nursery, led the discussion on equipment and maintenance.

Sunday afternoon visitors at the home of Edwin Beutler were Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Jedala and family, of near Saline.

List Changes In Vehicle Licensing

Beginning with the 1958 license plates the owner of a motor vehicle will retain his original plates throughout the year regardless of the number of times he disposes of his car and replaces it with another. If he trades cars he simply removes his 1958 plates and puts them on his newly acquired car, paying the difference in fees, if any; however, if he disposes of his car without replacing it, the plates must be turned in at once to the local branch office of the Secretary of State. The plates may only be transferred to a newly acquired car, not to another car already owned but not licensed.

The 1958 license registration or a transfer registration must be turned in whenever the new license plates are transferred.

Titles must be presented to the local branch office within 10 days after they are assigned to a new owner. If the title is presented after the 10-day period an additional $5.00 fee will be charged.

Other license and registration changes for 1958 include a new "pick-up" license plate classification. This covers pickups weighing under 4,000 pounds, used for both farm and commercial uses. The title must describe the vehicle as a "pick-up." The fee for this classification is 50 cents per 100 pounds.

Another new regulation, according to Wallace Wood, manager of the Chelsea Secretary of State branch office, provides for a 48-hour moving permit for a fee of $2.00 for moving unlicensed mobile homes within the state.

The 1958 plates will go on sale Friday, Nov. 1.

The new plates have black letters and numerals on a pale grey background.

E.J. Weinberg Dies After Long Illness

Elmer Jay Weinberg, founder of the Weinberg Dairy, died early Sunday, his home, 115 South street, following an extended illness. He was 81 years old.

Born in Kalamazoo county, Feb. 20, 1876, he was a son of Joseph and Sarah Hettrick Weinberg. He came to Chelsea in 1900 and worked for the former Glazier Stove Works for a few years and then went into dairy farming. He founded the Weinberg Dairy in 1917.

Upon his retirement in 1941, his son, Jay, continued the dairy business.

Mr. Weinberg was a member of the Methodist church. He was also a member of North Sylvan Grange. He was married Oct. 12, 1904, to Margaret Bahmiller, and they observed their golden wedding anniversary in 1954.

Surviving, in addition to Mrs. Weinberg, are two sons, Jay and Elden; two daughters, Mrs. Jack Stove and Mrs. Robert Stove; seven grandchildren; two great-grandchildren; and three sisters, Mrs. Austin Smith and Mrs. George Smith, both of Kalamazoo, and Mrs. George Webster (Elma) of Scotts, who is his twin sister.

Another sister, Mrs. Effie Pierce Gage, died Jan. 3, 1957, and a brother, Oscar, died in 1937.

Funeral services were held at the Burghardt Funeral Home at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and burial followed in Oak Grove cemetery. The Rev. S. D. Kinde officiated.

Guest Speaker At Congregational Church Sunday

The Rev. Philip E. Rusten, pastor of Pilgrim Congregational church at Lansing will conduct the worship service at the Congregational church here next Sunday, having accepted the call of the pastoral committee of the church.

Immediately following the service there will be a short business meeting and all members are to remain for the business session and for a coffee hour during which members may meet the Rev. Rusten.

The following Sunday, Nov. 10, the Rev. Loren W. Campbell of Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor, who has conducted services here several times in recent weeks, will again be in charge of the worship service.

Last Sunday, the Rev. Edwin Weis, superintendent of the Methodist Home, conducted services at the Congregational church.

18 New Members Join St. Paul's Church

Eighteen people were taken into membership at St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church during the morning service last Sunday. Included are Mr. and Mrs. John Schittenhelm, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Berke, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hanselman, Mrs. Norman Bauer, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Karner, Sandra Karner, Mrs. Sumner Osterberg, Mrs. George Pikel, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Knickerbocker, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Weirich and Robert Weirich.

WINDOW PAINTING CONTEST—Seventh graders were busy painting Halloween scenes on downtown store windows when the pictures above were taken. When judging was completed Tuesday night it was learned that the picture painted by the group in the top photograph and others, in their grade had won second prize in its division in the Kiwanis-sponsored Halloween window painting contest. Their painting appears on the window of the Michigan Consolidated Gas company office on Main street. Seventh graders present when the picture was taken are from left, Dorothy DeFant, Bill Light, Joey Horste and Robert Riemenschneider. Dorothy and Robert had taken time out for a refreshing "Coke." In the lower photograph, painting a scene on the window at Chelsea Drug Store are Paula Romine (at left), Jackie Taylor and Evelyn Fletcher. A total of 23 window paintings were entered in this year's contest.

Conelrad Test Postponed Until Jan. 13 for Area

Robert E. A. Lillie, Washtenaw county Civil Defense director announced this week that a directive from the Federal Civil Defense Administration indicates that a nation-wide Conelrad test recently announced by the office for Nov. 4, will not be held on that date. The test has now been changed so that it will be conducted regionally.

"Contributions of clothing and household items which are received at this annual ingathering are used for a stock pile at Chelsea Social Service, Inc. to use as needed.

Everything donated here stays in the community for local use and forms the nucleus for the relief work done throughout the year by Chelsea Social Service, Inc.

Mrs. Louis Ramp, who is the worker at Chelsea Social Service, has said that infants' clothes are not needed at this time but that clothing for school age children, particularly in the 10 to 16 age group, are in demand. Jeans for this age group are urgently needed, she said.

Underwear shorts and shirts for boys, pants, slips and nightwear for girls, socks, boy's shirts and the necessary jeans are the items in which stocks on hand after last year's ingathering were depleted first.

Mrs. Ramp said there is also a need for children's jackets, school dresses for girls and sweaters as well as all kinds of household linens and bedding.

Money donated through the ingathering is used to purchase soap, salves and other items which need to be fitted to the individual.

All interested people of the community are invited to attend the ingathering tea.

Two Chelsea Girls Listed on MSU 'All-A' Honor Roll

East Lansing—Michigan State University honored 223 students Oct. 16 for achieving all-A academic averages during spring and summer terms.

Included in the group were two Chelsea students—Nancy Atkinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Atkinson, who is a sophomore majoring in elementary education, and Constance Steinbach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin C. Steinbach, a junior majoring in social science.

The students were feted at a dinner given by Dr. John A. Hamman, MSU president, Dean Theima Porter of the College of Home Economics was the speaker.

Names of the students are to be placed on the honor roll, which offers "recognition of the highest attainment in scholarship" during spring and summer term.

Annual Needlework Guild Ingathering Set for Today

CD First Aid Class Started

A Civil Defense Auxiliary Police first aid class was begun last week Wednesday, a week later than planned. The delay was the result of illness of some of those participating.

Mrs. Frederick Ewald is instructing the class. 18 members being present for the first session. The class meets each Wednesday for a two-hour session. The completed course requires 10 hours of class work.

Classes are conducted at Chelsea High school.

Halloween Party To Be Held Tonight For Area Children

Window Painting Contest Prizewinners Are Announced

Prizes Offered for Best Costumes in Four Categories

Prizewinning window paintings in the Kiwanis Halloween contest were selected by judges Tuesday evening. Judges were two members of the school faculty and two Jaycees Auxiliary members.

Four prizes were awarded in the group—composed of fourth, fifth and sixth graders with first prize in that category going to Mr. Good's sixth grade class for a picture painted on one of Gamble's store windows. The prize award was $4.

Mrs. Valentine's sixth grade won second prize and a cash award of $3 for its window painting at Frigid Products; Mrs. Frances Smyser's fourth grade won third prize of $2 for a window painting at Anderson's store; and Mrs. Douglas Lange's fifth grade received fourth prize of $1 for the north window painting at Gamble's store.

Three seventh grade groups won first, second and third prizes, respectively, for windows painted at Anderson's store, Michigan Consolidated Gas company and Schneider's store. Honorable mention was given the seventh grade's painting at Bow's Plumbing Store.

First, second and third prizes were won by eighth grade paintings at Schauble's store, Chelsea Hardware and Merkel Hardware, respectively.

A total of 23 windows were painted in this year's contest and Kiwanis committee said they appreciated the co-operation of those who submitted paintings even though prizes could not be awarded to every group.

Tonight (Thursday) at 6:45 p.m. the Kiwanis Halloween party parade will get under way at the Chelsea High school gymnasium entrance. All children should be in order that noisemakers may be distributed before the start of the parade.

Prizes are to be offered for first, second and third place winners in four categories of costumes—meates, spookiest, most original and most typical of Halloween. Prizes are to be cash awards of $3, $2 and $1, respectively. Russell McLaughlin is parade chairman.

After the parade, cider and doughnuts will be served around a bonfire on the school grounds and will be followed by entertainment in the high school gymnasium.

This annual Halloween parade and party for the youngsters of Chelsea and vicinity is one of the club's community service projects and is provided free of charge.

Community Chest Hits 72% of Goal

Incomplete reports in the various divisions of the Chelsea Community Chest campaign listed a total of 72 per cent of the $18,211 goal at the end of the official campaign Monday evening. Approximately $9,600 was reported as the total turned in to date.

Incomplete totals in the industrial division, with six firms not yet completed, is $6,700, according to the report given by Lowell Davison, chairman of that division of the campaign.

Mrs. Norbert Merkel, in charge of residential solicitation, said $900 had been contributed to date, and there were still 10 or 12 solicitors who had not reported.

The business division, with three solicitors still to report to the chairman, Gertrude Young, showed a total of $1,260, while the rural solicitors, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Albert Woods, had only a 20 per cent total, or approximately $150.

Clubs and organizations solicited under the direction of Mrs. E. W. Eaton, had contributed about $600, with several organizations still to be heard from.

The school division, in charge of Superintendent Charles Cameron, reported a total of $100 and final reports will be late, it was pointed out. Schools were closed because of the flu epidemic and because of MEA meetings for teachers the first week of the campaign.

Campaign workers are confident that final returns will bring the total to the $18,211 sought for the 1958 budget. They urge all who plan to contribute to turn in their donations or pledges at once so final results may be tabulated.

Both Bands Preparing for Homecoming

Both the Senior and Junior Marching Bands are planning for home time activities this Friday for the Homecoming game with Lincoln High.

The Junior Band, under drum major Duane Weis, will make a separate entrance and then join with the Senior Band in making two letter formations. If time permits drum major Matthew Brown and twirlers Rebecca Slane, DeLores Schmitz, Lynne Fahrner, and Lynn Slusser will each present a short baton twirling exhibition. David Knisely will again announce the show.

Jean Pajot, flute, Judith Grove, clarinet, Virginia LeVan, alto sax, Arlene Zahn, cornet, and Bill Light are first chair players of the respective sections as a result of tryouts this week in Junior Band. Sharon Minter is a new member in the Junior Band. She plays the flute, is a seventh grader, and transferred to Chelsea from Muskegon.

Daniel Caister, a fifth grade clarinetist, passed his Grade Band test last week and is now an official member of that organization. Daniel is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Louis Caister.

The Band Booster Club held a general meeting last Monday at the South Elementary school and the Grade Band presented music for the program. Featured in the ensembles were Daniel Kephart, Susan Schroen, Carol Mayer, Pamela Kuschmaul, Barbara Bernath, Michael Schrader, Gordon Beeman, Linda Blaess, and Lloyd Walz. Mrs. Thomas Harris presided as president.

Mobile X-Ray Unit Disabled

The TB x-ray unit got off to a good start here Monday afternoon in a proposed three-day house-to-house chest x-ray program and then ran into trouble just after starting Tuesday's schedule when the mobile unit broke down.

Special parts needed to repair the unit could not be procured in time to complete the program here. The unit was scheduled to be in Manchester today and tomorrow.

Monday afternoon 162 people had been x-rayed here.

The unit will return to Chelsea Tuesday, Nov. 12, to complete the x-ray program; however, at that time there will be no house-to-house chest x-ray unit located near the Municipal building and will be in operation from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m.

The Spook Parade

By Billy McFall
Third Grade
North Elementary School

Once upon a time there was a pumpkin who turned into a Jack-o-Lantern. He was Dunkin-the-Pumpkin. He was going to be in the spook parade. He could not wait. He pulled himself off the vine and called all the ghosts and witches and spooks to make a line. Dunkin was in the front, walking back and forth, waiting for the other spooks to line up. All at once Dunkin said, go and the parade started as Dunkin had said.

THE PARADE

They walked all over and scared people. They screamed and bones rattled. Ghosts were appearing and disappearing. The ghosts were all very terrible—all but one who was very peculiar. He just walked.

THE MORNING

All at once the moon was no where to be seen. Right then the peculiar ghost saw that the moon was gone.

"COME ON! THE SUN IS OUT!"

The parade was broken up just like that. They hurried like the wind. You could not get through if you tried. Soon they were all in their houses and fast asleep.

ABOARD THE FORRESTAL:

Night Recovery of Planes by NATO Carrier Packed with Exciting Drama

By Edward H. Sims
(Special Writer for The Chelsea Standard)
Article II

Aboard The Forrestal—A few nights ago the writer stood on the "Fly-Fly" bridge through the night to watch the recovery of three different types of aircraft returning to the Forrestal after missions. The Norwegian Sea was choppy but generally calm and the weather—most of the time—was satisfactory.

However, there were times when the big carrier gilded into dark areas in which sleet, rain or snow fell from above. On several occasions, aircraft were landed in these limited conditions and it was a dramatic accomplishment on each occasion.

During these Operation Strikeback exercises, pilots are flying over Northern waters up to about 70° latitude, and an accident at night might well cost them their lives.

The ship is constantly in touch with returning aircraft and when they are about 70 miles out, one begins to prepare for their approach. They report in as they come closer and the captain begins to head the big carrier into the wind and get up sufficient speed to give pilots at least 30 knots for landing. The "deck apes" begin to get ready to receive the plane on the flight deck.

In the "Fly-Fly" control tower, the arresting gear (huge cables which stop the landing aircraft) is set for the particular load—it is to be expected to take. On one landing the other night, involving an A3D jet bomber, the bomber was unable to ditch most of its fuel and landed heavy.

The arresting gear was set to stop a 52,000-pound aircraft. The jet bomber came in a little fast and used all except two feet of the arresting gear. It was estimated she weighed 49,000 pounds when she hit the deck doing approximately 160 knots.

On another occasion, an aircraft was approaching for a landing when the carrier glided into a heavy squall. With vision bad, the jet needed four passes at the carrier before it could get safely down and an alternate landing in Norway was being considered when he made it.

Since his fuel was approaching the point where he would have to fly to Norway without more delay if he was to go there, and since there was a suspicion that the hook on his fuselage had been damaged, it was essential that this aircraft come aboard without further extensive delay.

A jet bomber with a broken windshield, another with fuel gauges inoperative and one with the landing system inoperative landed in the spaces of a few hours by the Forrestal recently. These recoveries were all made in northern waters, without the benefit of any moon. In other words, finding a downed pilot in such conditions, even though boats aboard the carrier are constantly manned when recoveries are being made and though destroyers follow closely behind, would have been doubtful. And a pilot can only last a matter of minutes in these waters, perhaps somewhat longer if he is wearing a rubberized suit, though not long in any event.

The eight carriers involved in this exercise have certainly demonstrated their ability to launch aerial strikes continuously in northern waters in daylight and darkness, and accidents were held to an absolute minimum.

One near-collision occurred aboard the Forrestal, witnessed by this writer on the Admiral's bridge. The Forrestal was turning hard starboard to take up position near the Carrier Essex. The cruiser Albany was proceeding to the same station and the Forrestal cut in front of the path of the Albany.

The ships proceeded on this collision course for some time. Neither ship checked its progress and the bow of the Albany moved steadily closer from the left. At this stage, inquiries began to be made and questions raised aboard the Forrestal—but no doubt aboard the Albany. At about the same time, several officers aboard both ships realized that if the two ships followed their courses for another minute, they would collide.

The first sure indication of the seriousness of the situation, as far as the writer was concerned, came when he heard the report that the Albany was doing a full astern. Nevertheless, the ships glided on toward one another, the momentum of the Albany carrying her forward. The Albany was in a position to strike the Forrestal on its port side. By this time, the Forrestal was also full astern.

With hundreds of eyes on her, the Albany, slowing steadily, approached closer and closer, until she reached a position about 100 or 200 yards away. Her stern began to swing around and as it did, the two ships passed parallel, approximately 100 yards apart!

It was a near collision which would have been a tragic moment for both ships and probably their skippers. Two sizable ships were involved and the impact from such a collision would have been enough to knock aircraft overboard and do serious damage to both ships, though the Forrestal (fully loaded) displaces about 75,000 tons to the cruiser's less than one-third that amount.

This dramatic event took place on a day of replenishing, when a vast array of warships and supply ships were concentrated in a small area. At various times during the day one could count six or seven carriers, visible from the bridge of the Forrestal, battleships, cruisers, destroyers and supply ships in all directions.

One of the most impressive things about a huge fleet, such as this, is the constant activity which must always be in progress while ships are underway. The deck crew never seems to rest aboard the Forrestal during an offensive operation of this kind. Maintenance work on the hangar deck never ceases, and the job of maintaining courses and position is constant.

In a sense, it is like being in Las Vegas, Nev. No matter when you wake up at night (and despite the tremendous roar of jet landings and aircraft landings and other noises, you sleep well) whether it is 4 o'clock in the morning, or 12 o'clock at night, something of interest is always going on.

It is unlike Las Vegas in that no liquor or gambling is permitted aboard ship, despite the fact that the U. S. Navy is the only one in the world which does not permit even the officers to have alcoholic beverages of any kind.

Oct. 31—Junior Varsity plays at Dexter at 4 p.m.
Nov. 1—Chelsea's first homecoming celebration: game with Lincoln at the local field, followed by a homecoming dance afterwards.

Nov. 2—Seventh and eighth graders hold party in the gymnasium.
Nov. 5—Manchester Junior Varsity plays here.

Nov. 7—Paid assembly: the ever-welcome Mr. Sherrif and his talk about life behind the "iron curtain."

The driver training classes were lectured by Officer Gifford of the Michigan State Police Department on Oct. 25. The officer discussed the safe driving habits and the responsibilities of every driver.

Members of the high school chorus are learning songs for the program, which they will present at Dexter, Nov. 7. They plan to attend the music festival at Kalamazoo somewhat later in the year.

Members of the Camera club, under the direction of Mr. George Prizing, held their first meeting Wednesday, Oct. 23 during activity period.

Junior Varsity had a game last Thursday with Milan. The game was played on the home field, and ended, Chelsea 25, Milan 7. The Junior Varsity cheerleaders tried hard to keep their team in good spirits. Their pep and cheers were revealed in the team's high spirits.

Journalism club is busy with writing activities. At the meeting last week there was quite a discussion about good and bad points of articles—making the "bulldog bark" and the "hi-light". The lack of enthusiasm shown during the recent "Bulldog Barks" sales campaign was pointed out by Miss Fox. It was decided that the publication date of the next "Bulldog Barks" would be delayed until Nov. 12 so as to include news of the high school's first homecoming.

The great need of sponsoring a dance was emphasized. The dance, which was to be held this month, was cancelled because of the law allowing only one night dance per month. Journalists are eager to get a dance date approved by Student Council for the not too distant future. Student Council gave them Friday Nov. 15.

The big talk around school is the election of Homecoming Queen. Seniors nominated Jamie Morgan, their hard working president; Juniors named Sandra Karner, a new comer in Chelsea who has charmed her way into all hearts; Sophomores named Linda Fisher, and Freshmen named Carole Reddeman, both of whom could give any competition a good run for their money. The Varsity football team named Karen McAllister, the Fair Queen, as their candidate for Queen of the Homecoming celebration.

Juniors have completed their sale of Christmas cards. The play committee has been busy reading and evaluating plays, but no final selection has been made.

George Mayer, Don Ferguson, and Bob Smith were in an automobile mishap recently. Members of the Junior class wish them all sympathy and a speedy recovery.

Former Penniless Immigrant Boy Leaves Fortune To Train Engineers

Interesting is the announcement that John D. Hertz, who rose from a penniless immigrant Hungarian boy to an American millionaire, is allocating most of his fortune, which may run into "many millions of dollars," to a scholarship fund for training young men and women as mechanical and electrical engineers.

Hertz, who is now 78 years old and a partner in Lehman Brothers, investment bankers, became disturbed by newspaper reports that the Russians "are turning out 100 per cent more engineers than we are." To offset Soviet advances in training engineers, he has made immediately available enough money to subsidize more than 100 students a year. The trustees of the fund, which will be called "The Fanny K. and John D. Hertz Engineering Scholarship Fund," will have full discretion in the administration of the money.

However, Hertz has made the following stipulations:

1. There must be no discrimination in giving aid with regard to race, religion, or sex.
2. All those receiving aid must take a course in American history.
3. They must pledge themselves to serve the United States on request of the government in time of national emergency.

In explaining the goals of the fund, Hertz said: "I simply want to contribute in the interest of defense the fortune the United States has allowed me to accumulate." And, later, he said he was interested in "the poor boy or girl who really wants an education but can't get it."

This is the gesture of a grateful man, who never himself went beyond the sixth grade, to provide for other young people the opportunities he was denied.

Advertising Is Powerful Business Force

Whether one realizes it or not, advertising is perhaps one of the most wonderful developments of the modern commercial age. It is the maker or breaker of business, big or little. It is the one factor of successful sales that is most apt to be overlooked by the merchants and businessmen of small towns and cities.

Advertising is not the exclusive weapon of big business; it is the power that will make little concerns grow into larger successes. It is a science that requires study, and character. It cannot succeed if it is based upon untruths; it must build upon faith and integrity.

We have never been able to decide whether its harder to borrow money or to pay it back.

When the truth hurts any enterprise, there is something wrong with the undertaking.

★ MICHIGAN MIRROR ★

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Industrial Employees Pay is higher in Michigan than anywhere else in the nation, according to a bureau of labor report referred to by Michigan Manufacturers Association.

Industries of this state are listed as paying an average of $94.98 per week in 1956. Nevada ranks second with $92.10; Montana third with $91.30. Ohio followed with a weekly average of $90.81. Indiana workers received $86.66; Illinois $84.25; Wisconsin workers were paid an average of $82.98. Workers in the east drew less. New Jersey workers had an average weekly wage of $80.20; in Pennsylvania it was $80.20; in New York, $78.96.

Hourly wages paid in Michigan was second high in the U. S. Nevada hourly wages averaged $2.49, while in Michigan the rate was $2.33. Michigan's total wage rate places at the nation's top because the average work week here was 40.8 hours per week compared to Nevada's 37.9.

Michigan's 1956 rate of $94.98 is 27 per cent higher than the rate in 1951, which was $75.55. The governor's relentless drive for higher taxes upon industry plus the union's steady pressure for higher wages and shorter hours, says an MMA newsletter, are responsible for "the chilly business climate so discussed in Michigan."

In other instances MMA has pointed out that wage and tax costs, higher than competitors in other states, put Michigan manufacturers at a disadvantage when they place their products on the market.

Natural gas to heat homes of Michigan and to power its industry remains a major goal of government and the fast-growing empire which markets it.

There has never been enough gas for the state.

It first came to Michigan 20 years ago through the Panhandle

Eastern Pipeline to Detroit. Now two more pipelines bring natural gas to the same customers and others outside.

Gov. Williams assigned experts to determine if and when natural gas service can be distributed all over the state, rather than just to the homes and industry of lower Michigan.

It is a booming, billion-dollar business which has developed in Michigan over the past two decades.

When World War II industries needed more, the state imposed restriction on the number of home customers each distributor could serve.

Those restrictions were rescinded for five of the six companies involved last week because natural gas supplies are sufficient to serve new customers.

Consumers Power Co., which serves more than 400,000 homes outside of Detroit, says its supplies still are inadequate and will learn Dec. 4 whether it can keep the restrictions.

Lansing observers hear consistent reports that still another pipeline is being planned.

Williams believes the day is coming when any homeowner in Michigan or industry or business who wants natural gas for power or heat will be able to get service.

A few years ago, there was talk of tapping into the trans-Canadian pipeline to serve the Upper Peninsula and the northern part of the Lower Peninsula. This still may be part of a program.

Legislators are being urged to revise the system of sending mentally ill to state hospitals.

Some probate judges feel that the patients could be committed to hospitals without the present two hearings in court, which often are harrowing in cases of advanced illness.

Rather than go through the court, they suggest commitment by a judge after an examination by two psychiatrists and a system of voluntary commitment after the examination with the signature of the next of kin.

The special legislative committee listening to the suggestions believes some action can be taken during the 1958 session, with long-range planning and general changes to come later.

Another part of the plan is to, in some way, protect the civil rights of persons sent to a mental hospital. The only right they now retain is that of making a will.

The committee has created a number of subcommittees, each assigned to a different phase of the problem.

Rep. Ben E. Lohman, the committee chairman, said "we will be pretty far along" toward a solution by the time the next legislature convenes in January.

Washington Report

By Senator Charles F. Potter
 The latest news from Washington of special interest to Michigan.

DREAMS ARE COMING TRUE for 3,355 disabled Michiganders. New jobs and new lives for a record number of handicapped folks were made possible last year by federal-state team-work. I call that impressive evidence of the value we in America place upon the dignity and worth of individual human beings.

Who can say what it means to a disabled person to escape the bondage of idleness and uselessness? Under the direction of the U. S. Office of Vocational Rehabilitation, proper medical care and job training is provided for the blind, the paralyzed, the arthritic, the mentally ill, the tubercular. These people are doctors, teachers, engineers. They enter skilled trades and agriculture. All told, 72,000 were restored to useful lives last year. Their earnings top $187 million annually and bring millions in taxes into the federal till.

Formerly Uncle Sam picked up a tab of $11 million a year in financial aid for 14,000 individuals who were entirely dependent on public relief. The cost of their rehabilitation—astounding enough—was less than one year's maintenance.

Money spent on the handicapped is a gilt-edged investment. That's why as a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, I've always given 100 per cent support for this work.

A CRACKERJACK LAWYER, William F. Rogers, is the new U. S. Attorney General. An able public servant and good friend of Michigan, Bill is a personable, 44-year-old, "lawyer's lawyer," with a solid background in private practice, racket-busting and Senate investigations. Since 1953 his record as Deputy Attorney General has been outstanding. I've known and admired Bill for years. He was a rock of Gibraltar to those of us who worked for passage of the civil rights bill and immigration law reform. During the hot, weary days at the end of the session, Bill was always alert and ready to unravel the legal angles on these complex bills. 170 million Americans are lucky to have him in the top spot at the Department of Justice.

NATURAL GAS warms kitchens, heats homes and is general workhorse for Michigan. My mail reflects uneasiness over the fact that a House committee, late last session, reported a bill to exempt natural gas producers from regulation, a move which would hike Michigan's gas rates. My position on such legislation has not changed a hair's breadth. If and when this bill comes before the Senate, I will fight it, as I have in the past.

THOMAS A. EDISON, a great American inventor who died in 1897, spent his boyhood and young manhood in Port Huron. At one time he ran a baggage-car laboratory on a Grand Trunk Railway car running between Port Huron and Detroit, but railway officials hastily revoked their permission to use it when his chemical experiments caused an explosion and fire.

Bible Verse To Study

3. Where may this verse be found?

Thursday, Oct. 29, 1953—Rainy Monday night ended a dry spell which, together with unseasonably warm weather had lasted for 32 days.

Late Monday, Sun Oil company oil well drillers had reached a depth of 2,135 feet on the test well being sunk on the Edwin-Horning farm on Waldo road.

Approximately 700,000 miles of travel over rural roads in this vicinity will be concluded Saturday when Floyd Allhouse makes his final trip as rural mail carrier before his retirement Nov. 1. He has been a carrier here since 1931.

By a vote of more than 4 to 1, electors of Chelsea Agricultural School District approved the $198,000 bond issue for an additional elementary school.

Thursday, Oct. 28, 1943—Because of daylight saving time which prolongs morning darkness, the time for opening schools in Chelsea, grades kindergarten through fifth, will be changed from 8:30 a.m. to 9:00 a.m.

Eldine Hawley reported on Monday for Army duty at Fort Custer; Meryl B. Hatley left the same day for Great Lakes Naval Training Station; Seaman Robert Bycraft, who has been on active duty with the Navy, is home from Seattle, Wash., on furlough; and Willard A. Carlson is undergoing boot training at Great Lakes, Ill. News of other servicemen: Pvt. Richard Abdon at Fort Hancock, N. J.; Cpl. Wayne Van Orman at Drew Field, Fla.; Staff Sergeant Jay Myers at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.; Capt. Paul F. Schert at Yuma, Ariz.; Lt. Paul Rogers at Bradenton, Fla.; Lt. Claude Rogers at Pittsburg, Pa.; Pfc. D. S. Bull with the Medical Corps at the Chicago induction station; and Seaman Harold Hanselman at Norfolk, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Moore have purchased the residence property of the J. Stefan estate at 705 South Main street.

Graham street to Charles Mohlock, in the 24 Years Ago column (Oct. 28, 1909): Within a short time the only thing left of the Boland line will be the right-of-way since the rails and ties between Chelsea and Cross Lake; also, the trench for the sewer that is being put in about 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon endangering workmen.

34 Years Ago...

Thursday, Oct. 25, 1923—Retirement of James Speer as local telegraph operator after 50 years of service brings to the mind of "old times" reminiscences of past happenings in connection with railroad history here, particularly the story in the July 30, 1903 edition of The Chelsea Standard which related how a group of young strikers some years before had wrecked the railroad station in hopes a new one would be provided. A picture of the wrecked station of that day is reproduced in today's issue. James Speer at that time was a "kid" night operator at the railroad station.

The Board of Supervisors, at their meeting Friday, reconsidered the appropriation of $17,000 announced last week for road construction on the Chelsea-Manchester road, and added another $20,000 making the total $37,000.

Work of laying the concrete base at the Leon Viaduct was completed Wednesday morning. Asphalt laying will begin Nov. 6 and then only four more days of work will complete the job and traffic will be open straight through.

Remember, you too, are a pedestrian part of the time.—Drive

Conservation Biologists Seek Answers To Cause of Game Population Cycles

Lansing—Conservation biologists in many parts of the world are seeking answers to one of the most perplexing mysteries in wildlife conservation—game population cycles.

Periodically, an unexplained catastrophe sweeps across the land, killing thousands—even millions—of wild creatures. These game populations increase again, only to be decimated again in a few years. These regular fluctuations of abundance and scarcity are known as "cycles," with one cycle covering a full swing from peak to depression and back to peak.

Some species show marked changes, while others apparently are not affected. Cycles are most pronounced among three groups of wildlife: rodents, their predators and various gallinaceous birds such as grouse and certain partridges. Various species of mice and lemmings seem to fluctuate in numbers approximately every four years, while cycles for snowshoe hares, lynx and grouse seem to fall in a pattern of approximately 10 years.

Cyclic changes are most appar-

BAGWELL TO HEAD 1958 MARCH OF DIMES—Paul D. Bagwell of East Lansing has again been named to head the March of Dimes and will spearhead the 1958 campaign to be held in January. He is shown here on a recent visit to the Polio Respiratory Center at University Hospital, Ann Arbor which is one of many in the U. S. supported with March of Dimes funds. The pretty victim of polio, who still spends 24 of every 24 hours in a respiratory device, is Mrs. Eleanor Josephson of Toledo who contracted polio in November, 1956. In the above picture, she is showing Prof. Bagwell a painted plate which she completed with the help of an occupational therapist.

Sand, Gravel Production Is Big Business in State

Lansing—Sand and gravel production is big business in Michigan—the nation's second largest producer of these valuable materials.

During 1956, a total of 42,000,000 tons of sand and gravel was produced in the state, with a value of more than $37,000,000.

Conservation Department records indicate an increase in production of about 3,000,000 tons per year since 1951 and the value of this mineral production has more than doubled since that year.

Michigan sand and gravel finds its way into a variety of industrial and construction uses, particularly in road-building work. In 1956, for example, 63 per cent of the state's production went into road construction and another 28 per cent was used for structural purposes.

At least 80 of the state's 83 counties contribute to the annual sand and gravel yield, but about two-thirds of the total production comes from seven counties—Oakland, Livingston, Wayne, Washtenaw, Macomb, Kent and Ottawa. Each of these counties produces more than 1,000,000 tons of sand and gravel annually.

Commercial producers account for some 83 per cent of the total yield, with the remaining 17 per cent produced by county road commissions and other governmental agencies.

A recent development in the industry is the introduction of "beneficiation" of gravel, a process which separates, screens and washes materials. This up-grading process removes objectionable chert and shale to meet specifications for highway construction work.

The bobcat is considered a predator in the upper peninsula and a bounty is paid for the animal in the northern lower peninsula. Bobcats are considered game animals and may be hunted only between December 15 and March 15.

IDENTIFICATION COMPLETE—The above photograph was originally published Aug. 1 in The Standard and at that time identification of the people was not available. Since its publication, however, Mrs. F. E. Adair of Jackson, who is the former Mrs. Dea Young, sent to Mrs. Grace Beck of Jackson, the names of all the girls who appear in the picture, as well as of the driver and the man in the straw hat in the doorway of the old Chelsea Tribune office. Mrs. Beck, the former Grace Faulkner, and Mrs. Adair are both former Chelsea residents. Mrs. Beck having operated a press at the Tribune office in 1909 or 1910. Mrs. Adair is the daughter of the publisher of the paper, Charles Young (the man standing in the doorway, wearing a straw hat). The driver of the team is her brother, Lee Young. Young girls seated in the wagon which is decorated as The Chelsea Tribune's float in a parade, are identified by Mrs. Adair as follows: Minoia Kalmbach, Dee Dee Young (Mrs. Adair), Ethel Burkhart, Marie Lusty, Clara Runciman, Elsa Maroney and Gertrude Storms.

Striped Ground Squirrels Spend Half Their Lives Asleep in Hibernation

Ann Arbor—Ever wonder why the striped ground squirrel is so eager on the golf course?

"It isn't the golf balls, it's the grubs," says William H. Burt, curator of mammals at the University of Michigan.

"The many grubs (larvae of the June beetle) they eat should compensate for the few burrows they make. Further, I suspect that some of the golfers enjoy seeing these friendly little striped squirrels on an otherwise monotonous course," he says.

This small squirrel is distinguished from all other Michigan mammals by the number of stripes, alternately dark brown and cream-colored, running lengthwise on his body. There are 23 stripes, 12 dark ones and 11 light ones. The tail, about half as long as the body, is slightly bushy and is held straight out behind when the animal is running.

"Like the woodchuck, this little squirrel is a hibernator. Right now (September or October) it goes into its winter sleep. It will emerge in March or April, thus spending about one-half of its life sleeping," says the professor.

"The first two or three weeks after it emerges in the spring are spent cleaning out the old burrow and regaining some of the fat lost during the winter's sleep.

"About 28 days after mating, the female gives birth to seven to ten young, occasionally as many as 14. These are naked and blind when born. Their eyes open about the 20th day after birth. When they are five or six weeks old, they come from their subterranean nest and actually see daylight for the first time.

"The ground squirrel likes warm days with sunshine and makes its appearance late in the morning. It retires early in the evening. The burrow is a small round hole, usually concealed by vegetation. The burrow goes straight down for six or more inches then angles off.

"In a garden area, these squirrels can and do become a nuisance. They are easily trapped either with large rat snap traps or with live traps baited with rolled oats," Professor Burt says.

THE DRIVER'S SEAT

People seem to be in pretty much of a hurry these days. Pedestrians, waiting for the light to change, to the curb like so many dash men toing the work. Drivers stop at signals and angrily gun their motors in impatience; other drivers slip through stop signs without stopping at all.

Despite the current psychiatric battle to resolve the problems of the "problem driver," people hurry as much as before. Backed by statistics, those psychiatrists in the battle against hurry and impatience have again and again issued warnings about speed, particularly at night when traffic fatalities are triple, per mile driven.

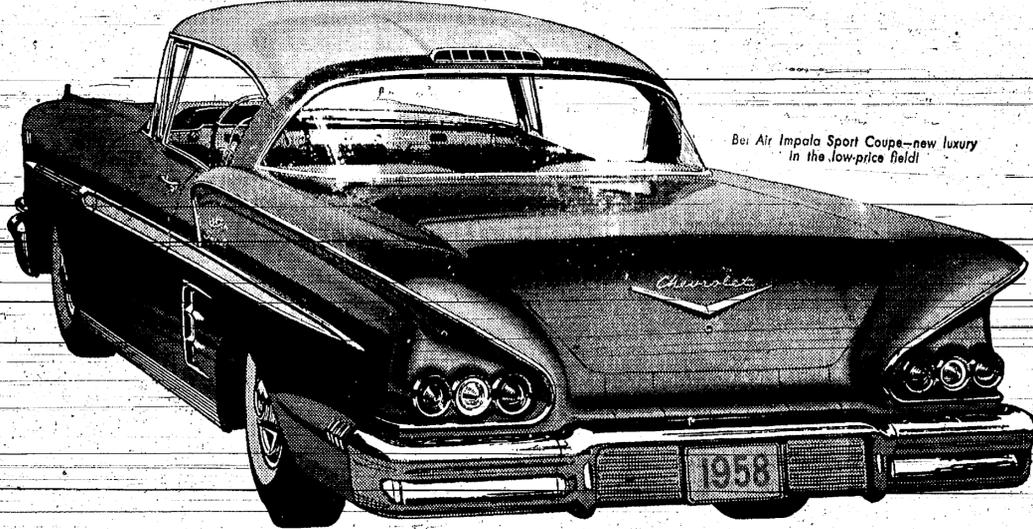

They point out that even with the new four-lamp system, which won't be on cars in any number within the next five years, motorists can drive safely only at speeds approximating 56 miles an hour.

But the problem driver isn't a fellow who seems to be able to talk his problems out on or off the couch. Dr. A. R. Lauer, director of Iowa State College's Driver Research Laboratory, feels that since we can't convince drivers they can't see in the dark, we must do something to make automobiles more visible under night driving conditions.

Earl M. Larimer, vice-president and safety counselor for a large insurance company and former safety director of Minnesota, agrees with Dr. Lauer. In a recent address at the Highway Research Board in Washington, Larimer advocated the use of reflective license plates as the first step in making automobiles more visible at night. Reflective plates respond to headlight beams long before the light ordinarily would reveal an automobile. They reflect safety warnings to drivers of oncoming vehicles as far as 2,000 feet away.

Larimer feels that the plates would serve as full-time auxiliary markings when taillights are defective, as markers for parked or stalled cars that normally have no lights at all and, in addition, as an aid in more clearly defining approaching "one-eyed" vehicles.

Larimer is convinced that the reflective license plates—now in use in the most practical states—offer an immediate solution to night-time accidents because all states require vehicle registration and periodic renewal of license plates. This system, Larimer says, affords every state a universal opportunity to adopt a particularly effective and dramatic safety development and enforcement device through license plate reflectorization.

LIQUOR BILLS Americans spent three times as much on alcoholic beverages in 1956 as they contributed to churches, religious bodies and welfare organizations. According to the Department of Commerce, a total of $10,500,000 was spent for liquor in 1956. Religious and welfare activities received $3,746,000,000. A total of $5,681,000,000 was spent for tobacco.

A BETTER CUTTING OIL A good cutting oil makes it easy to do a good job of cutting threads on pipe, bolts or rods. Here's one that extension agricultural engineers at Michigan State University recommend. Thin a little white lead with sulfur base, black cutting oil. This combination of the two lubricants works well on either hand or machine threading.

FREEZE-OUT RODENTS You can put the "freeze" on rats in your corn next winter if you have been using a forced air dryer, report extension agricultural engineers at Michigan State University. They say some farmers around Michigan have found that running the dryer off and on during the winter makes it so uncomfortable for rats and other rodents they do little damage to the corn.

NEWS X HOLLYWOOD

Delighted with the results of its second annual drive to persuade television fans to go to the movies during the hot summer months...

As soon as David Niven finishes "Bonjour Tristesse," he will start "Separate Tables," his leading lady in both films is Deborah Kerr.

Joining the ranks of independent producers is Jack Carson, who has bought two stories—"McDonough" by Francis Fields and "No Longer Mourning" an unpublished story by John O'Dea.

Linda Christal, Argentina star, has signed a long term deal with Universal-International and will co-star with Tony Curtis and Janet Leigh in "The Perfect Furlough." Linda has made many pictures for the Latin-American trade.

It is interesting to learn that neither Pat Boone nor Tommy Sands will sing in any place where they serve liquor.

Julius Schermer saw Ray Danton on television and was so impressed with him, he signed him to co-star with Andy Griffith in "Onion Head."

As one of his stories for his independent company, Sam Engel came up with the Bible story of Ruth. It will be one of his coming projects, and a good one it should be.

On Jimmy Stewart's schedule is a Hitchcock picture with the present title of "Amongst the Dead." Stewart hopes they'll come up with a new name for it.

Although Tony Quinn turned to directing for "The Buccaneer," he'll go right back to acting after it's finished, in a story he plays with Charlie Lang. In it he plays a half-breed Indian. It's "Black Sunday," and Karen Steele will act as Tony's co-star.

In the first film—with Dean Jones in "Mock Trial," Joan O'Brien who has been singing on Bob Crosby's TV show, does not play a note. Neither does Jones, who is also a singer.

After devoting a year and a half to writing, Richard Hadyn, is returning to acting. He'll have an important role in "Twilight For The Gods."

It is interesting to hear that "South Pacific" the Broadway smash hit, is being filmed to allow for an intermission break.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

TROOP 49 The Girl Scouts of Troop 49 held their meeting Wednesday, Oct. 28, at the South Elementary school.

TROOP 71 Girl Scouts of Troop 71 met Monday afternoon in the agriculture room at Chelsea High school with the president, Diane Holmes, in charge.

Girl Scout calendars were distributed and a pajama party was planned for Nov. 15.

Refreshments were served by Sandy Abell and Linda Burghardt and then games were played.

★ New Models

This time of year, when the automotive moguls are unveiling the new models, a person has to ask himself whether he should do his bit for the national economy or keep the old bus for another year. I happen to belong to that out-moded school of thought according to which "economy" had something to do with saving money, not spending it. Is anybody still around who remembers Calvin Coolidge's motto: "Use it up, wear it out, make it do, or do without"?

Today it seems almost subversive to hang on to an old car until it's worn out, but that is what I usually do. Instead of heeding the experts who say you ought to turn in your car when you've put 45,000 miles on it, I take mine in for a complete overhaul about that time and keep right on driving it. But since the motor makers are pushing an all-out campaign to sell the '58 models in '57, a little apology for my point of view might be in order.

Saving money is one advantage of keeping a car a while. Since the greatest depreciation comes in the first year—or even the first five minutes—the fewer new cars you buy, the less depreciation you'll have.

It's a bigger thrill to drive a new car if you wait for improvements to accumulate for several years before you change models.

When I traded in my six-year-old car for a new one last year, it felt like stepping out of a one horse shay into a jet plane.

Everybody's my brother at some time during my ownership of a car. When it is glistering new, I feel as sporty as any playboy on the road, and when it's about ready for the graveyard, I can feel genuine sympathy for the man who is driving an equally antiquated piece of junk.

The most important lesson I learn from the aging of my car is one that touches me at a tender point: there is one chassis I carry around with me that I can't turn in on a new model. Every machine wears out in time, and the human machine is no exception. When the joints begin to creak and the springs begin to sag; when the upholstery is wrinkled and the timing's not so good—happy is the man who has learned to get along with a model that's not quite new.

It should be quite a thrill to take possession of the new model we are to receive when our present body has come to the end of the road.

CENTRAL CIRCLE
Central Circle of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church held an evening meeting Wednesday, Oct. 23, at the home of Miss Bessie Broderick. There were 10 members present.

Mrs. H. D. Litteral led the devotional service on the subject of prayer and this was followed by the program during which Mrs. Charles Finkbeiner read "The Three Secrets of Synagman Rhee." The article told of the unyielding qualities which saw him through years of imprisonment, torture and exile to Christian leadership in the war years in Korea.

The hostess served refreshments at the close of the meeting.

The November meeting is to be held in the church social center, the date to be announced.

PAST PRESIDENTS CLUB
Past Presidents club of Herbert J. McKune Unit No. 31, American Legion Auxiliary, met Tuesday evening with Mrs. Howard Walz. During the business session, Mrs. Marie S. Barr, Sr. was appointed as secretary to fill the vacancy caused by the withdrawal of Mrs. Paul Widmayer.

Refreshments were served at a table centered with a lighted jack-o-lantern.

The next meeting is to be held Dec. 16 at the home of Mrs. George West. It will be the club's Christmas party and will include an exchange of gifts.

DEBORAH CIRCLE
Deborah Circle of the WSOCS of the Methodist church met Thursday evening with Mrs. Benjamin Bower. Co-hostesses were Mrs. George West and Mrs. Robert Kugelman.

Mrs. David Soule presented the devotional service taken from "Spores of the Spirit" and Mrs. Maxwell G Sweet was in charge of the program based on the subject, "Understanding the Methodist Church."

Mrs. Jack Musser is to be the hostess for the November meeting.

REBECCA JEAN MILLER, Donald Mshar Speak Vows at St. Mary's
Rebecca Jean Miller and Donald Leo Mshar were married at 10 o'clock Saturday morning at St. Mary's church by the Rev. Fr. Lee Laige who officiated at the ceremony in the presence of 200 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Miller of Charlotte, formerly of Chelsea, while the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Alex Mshar of 742 Book street.

Rosepoint lace over net and satin fashioned the bride's well-fitted gown which featured a length bodice and a full, hooped skirt. A crown of pearls and rhinestones held her fingertip-length veil. A single-strand necklace of pearls which was a gift from the bridegroom, and her cascade bouquet of white chrysanthemums centered with a white orchid, completed her bridal ensemble.

Mrs. Glenn Miller of Dexter, sister-in-law of the bride, wore a tangerine colored princess style frock for her role as matron of honor. Style accents were a scoop neckline and ballerina-length skirt. Her hat was of matching color and was trimmed with a face veil. She carried a cascade arrangement of bronze 'mums.

The bridesmaids, Terry Peace of Dexter and Mrs. Donald Hanker, were outfitted in emerald green and carried yellow 'mums.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Miller wore a knit suit in an autumn green shade and chose beige and brown accessories and a corsage of bronze chrysanthemums, while the bridegroom's mother, in a knit suit with black accessories had a corsage of white chrysanthemums.

William Clark, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, served as best man and Glenn Miller, brother of the bride, and Donald Hanker, were the ushers.

A wedding breakfast for the bride and groom and approximately 100 relatives and out-of-town guests was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents following the ceremony. Assisting were Mrs. Willard Guest, Mrs. William Hitchingham and Mrs. Edward Visal.

Approximately 200 guests were present for the reception held at 1 o'clock in the Knights of Columbus hall where Lynda Mayer had charge of the guest book. Others assisting included Mrs. George Miller, sister of the bride, who cut the wedding cake, Mrs. William Clark, sister of the bridegroom who cut the bridegroom's cake, Mrs. Paul Emmett Hanker who poured punch, and Mrs. George Crandell, another aunt of the bride who assisted her. The bridesmaids were at the gift table.

Following a week's stay at Strickland Mountain Resort, Mt. Pocono, Pa., the couple will be at home at 632 South Main street, after Nov. 4. When the couple left for their wedding trip the bride was wearing a printed velvet sheath dress with black accessories and the orchid from her wedding bouquet.

The bride is a 1957 graduate of Chelsea High school and was employed in the engineering department at Chelsea Products.

The bridegroom graduated from Chelsea High school in 1956 and is now employed as a mechanic at Grand Ford Sales & Service in Dexter.

Pre-nuptial parties were a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Clair Gregory and Mrs. Josephine Stigelman of Dexter, for relatives and friends of the bride, and a "Mr. and Mrs." shower given by Mr. and Mrs. William Clark for the bridegroom's relatives and for friends of the couple.

The first blood transfusion, according to record, was given to Pope Innocent VIII in 1492.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Mshar

NORTH LAKE HOME EXTENSION CLUB
The October party of North Lake Home Extension club was held Saturday evening at Lyndon Town Hall. Approximately 20 guests were present.

Following the customary potluck supper, the group played euchre and prizes were awarded as follows: Mrs. Ernest Hopkins and Herbert Farrell, first; Mrs. Chris Fitzsimmons and Leo Bentley, consolation awards; and John Burzan, traveling award.

The next party is scheduled for Saturday evening, Nov. 9, at Spieglberg school. Hosts are to be Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Lindemann.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS
If you like to start early when traveling, pack a portable breakfast. Then you can eat when and where you want. For roadside breakfasts, you can have hot coffee in one thermos and milk in another. Individual packages of cereal can be eaten directly from the package, but you'll want plastic or paper spoons and other eating utensils which you can easily discard. An insulated bag is helpful in keeping foods, such as fresh fruits, cold.

If you want a room to have a quiet, restful effect, or if it is in the hot side of the house, use cool colors in large areas, with perhaps a warm color for contrast and accent. If your room is on the cool side of the house, or is a big oversized room, pull it together with large areas of warm color. Warm colors include: red, red-orange, yellow and yellow-orange. Cool colors such as blue, blue-green, or violet suggest a forest, a lake or winter. Remember the darker the warm color the more intimate the room will appear.

Half shelves can be added to your cupboard to give more space so you can eliminate mixed stacks of dishes. You may find you have more bowls than you use, if so put some away on the higher shelves in the cupboard. Then spread out the few you use.

Don't believe in life after death? It is no more of a miracle than life itself.

Plan Kitchen Storage To Help You Save Time, Energy
Use your head to save your energy. Rearrange your kitchen storage to save time and effort, says Norma Landon, Michigan State University home economist.

A little planning can make the kitchen a more convenient place to work. Look over each piece of your equipment, think of where you use it first, and store it there to save steps. If you make coffee starting with cold water, store the hot water for coffee, store the pot near the stove so it's handy to the kettle.

Make work centers by storing things together that are used together. In the mixing center you'll want flour, sugar, and other ingredients along with measuring equipment, mixing bowls and spoons. This is the place for spices and commercial mixes too.

Most kitchens have equipment which is seldom or never used such as holiday cookie cutters. Often these items are taking space in some of your most convenient storage areas. Look them over; they may want to get rid of some and others can be put on high shelves or in out-of-the-way drawers. Thus you can make more space for things you use often.

You may want to get duplicates of some of your small equipment. Measuring spoons and cups are often used in several areas of your kitchen. Save steps by having a set in the mixing center and another by the stove or sink.

To save lifting heavy equipment, store it where it's easy to reach and is up from the floor. Rearrange bowls and dishes. Stack only like items together, as soup bowls, cereal bowls, and plates or saucers each in a separate stack. If you stack various sizes of mixing bowls together, you must lift the whole pile to get the bottom one—this makes more work for you.

Most Kitchen Work Will Be Easier If You Sit Down
Tired of standing when you do your kitchen work? Then fix a convenient place to work sitting down, says Norma Landon, Michigan State University home economist.

Plan an area for doing sit-down work. Arrange storage in the area so things are easy to reach while you're sitting. The length of your arm is the maximum distance you can reach without stretching or getting up.

A comfortable chair is a must for sitting work. Get one that lets your feet rest flat on the floor and has a good back rest.

To sit and work comfortably you need work surface with knee room. The pull out lap board is handy. If you have one built in your cupboard be sure it's the right height for you. It should just clear your lap when you're sitting in your work chair.

For kitchens that don't have a built-in lap board you can make one and put it where you want it. Little TV tray tables are just about right height for most homemakers. To give a larger work surface put a piece of plywood or a bread board on top of the tray table. Put cleats in the under side of the board to catch on the tray edges and hold it in place.

If the cupboard has a shallow drawer that pulls out at the right height you can put a bread board on it for a lap board. Or you can use the ironing board if you have one with adjustable height. You'll want to cover it to protect the ironing surface.

Where ever you choose for sitting work be sure you have counter space for parking some of the tools you'll be using. You'll also want to be close to the sink so you can get water easily.

Lt. Stanley Knickerbocker Completes Final Air Force Cross-Country Test Flight

Air Force Lt. Stanley Knickerbocker has completed his final cross-country test flight before his graduation as an instructor next Monday at Craig Air Base, Alabama.

Knickerbocker, on Detroit relatives before returning to Alabama. Following graduation next week, he is to be assigned as an instructor at Vance Air Base, Enid, Okla.

Mrs. J. J. Bareis of Tecumseh, formerly of Chelsea, is a visitor at the home of her son, Fred Bareis at Jackson. Also visiting there are Mr. and Mrs. Luther Townsend of St. Louis, Mo. Mrs. Townsend is Mrs. Bareis' daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hoek and children, Suzanne and Dennis, of Grand Rapids spent the week-end here with Mrs. Hoek's mother, Mrs. Eva Dancer, after bringing Mrs. Dancer home following a five-week visit with them and with the Floyd Chums and Herman Hauers at Hastings.

Danger Lurks Everywhere for Little Kevin Knickerbocker

3-Year-Old Suffers From Bleeding Illness

Following is a reprint of a story which appeared recently in an El Paso, Texas, newspaper. The Knickerbockers formerly lived in Chelsea, Harvey Knickerbocker being a son of Mrs. M. Knickerbocker and the late Mr. Knickerbocker.

Danger to Kevin Knickerbocker lurks everywhere.

There is danger in stepping on a pebble—enjoying a lollipop—sating with a fork—playing with a toy with a sharp edge.

Kevin is a normal little boy and he likes to run and climb like other little boys.

But Kevin, who will be three Dec. 16, is a hemophiliac. A bruise or fall on other children would scarcely notice often means weeks in the hospital for Kevin, who hemorrhages uncontrollably.

He left Hotel Dieu Oct. 11 after two and a half weeks' treatment for a hemorrhage in his thigh, the result of a bump on his leg.

The First Sign

"We knew something was wrong when it wasn't the first one up on Sunday," his mother, Mrs. Harvey Knickerbocker of 8379 Dragan road said. "I went to see him and he didn't want to get up. He said, 'It hurts,' and I knew what the trouble was. He gets pale and there's a purple and black lump somewhere and his blood count starts to go down. He gets blood transfusions. The new blood helps his blood to coagulate. The lump is packed in ice and after awhile it dissipates."

"There is no cure," Mrs. Knickerbocker said. "He must be watched every minute until he grows up and learns what he can and cannot do."

But His Tongue

"Once he bit his tongue and was in the hospital 18 days. He had to have surgery before it was well. He was home one week and did it again. He had to go back for more surgery."

The effect of a bump or bruise on Kevin depends a lot on where the injury is. "In certain areas, the skin becomes so tight it forms its own packing and ends the trouble," Mrs. Knickerbocker explained. "But if it's in the abdomen or head, the lump will continue to get larger. Then it's transfusions and all the rest. We are afraid when it happens to a joint, that there will be paralysis."

"Kevin's trouble seems to run in cycles. He may go two or three months with little bruises that don't amount to much. The next will have a lot of trouble. He's been in the hospital six times since April."

Other than this, Kevin is in perfect health, his mother said. The Knickerbockers have three other children. One, Marsha, seven, has a heart condition. The others are Kathy, six and Jeffrey, four. Mr. Knickerbocker is an electronic engineer for Philco at Ft. Bliss, Mrs. Knickerbocker works for Grimsley Supply Co. in Tigua, to help out on mounting expenses.

Kevin Knickerbocker and Father, Harvey

"Our hospital and doctor bills are enormous," Mrs. Knickerbocker said. "In addition to blood and plasma, Kevin must have hyland plasma, flown in from California and kept in Hotel Dieu for him." In the hospital Kevin is restrained so that he can't hurt himself. When he is at home, his parents never have a really peaceful moment. Kevin sleeps in a harness at home so that he can't get up and fall or stumble while the family is asleep.

"It's not just Kevin," Mrs. Knickerbocker sobbed. "There are others with the same trouble—poor babies."

Future Nurses Attend State Rally Saturday At Rochester High

Barbara Williams and Linda Fisher, delegates, and Barbara Maynard, Catherine Mester and Lillie Worden, members, represented the Chelsea High school Future Nurses club at a state rally meeting held at Rochester High school Saturday.

The affair, attended by approximately 600 future nurses and advisors, was sponsored by the Michigan League for Nursing committee on careers. The league is a member agency of the Michigan United Fund, Inc.

The Chelsea girls were accompanied to the rally by Miss Jeanette Baker, Washtenaw county Public Health nurse, and Miss Joan Benedict, the Chelsea High school's Future Nurses club advisor.

Features of the day's program which began with registration at 9:30 a.m., were greetings by Harlan Hatcher, Chelsea High school principal; Mae Edna Doyle, E. N. chairman of the Careers committee of the Michigan League for Nursing; Mrs. G. Mennen Williams, honorary sponsor of the Michigan Future Nurses clubs; and Elizabeth Brown, field consultant, committee on careers of the National League for Nursing; also the keynote address by Lucy D. Germain, R.N., director of nursing and nursing education at Harper hospital, Detroit.

The afternoon program included selections by the student choir of Grace Hospital School of Nursing; the Future Nurses club song; and a demonstration by a representative of the Leader-Dogs for the Blind, located at Rochester.

Officers of the Chelsea High school's Future Nurses club are Barbara Maynard, president; Catherine Mester, vice-president; Carole Barr, secretary; and Kathy Craft, treasurer.

FORCEPS REMOVED. Kookuk, Iowa.—Fourteen years ago Mrs. Dorothy Ellison, 46, was operated on in Chicago. Recently, she began having pains and X-rays revealed that a pair of forceps had been left inside her abdomen. An operation here followed and the instrument was removed.

HURT MAN SAVES BOY. Winters, Tex.—J. Y. Juernigan, 68, whose back was broken in an accident four years ago, swam from the bank of a lake and rescued a 4-year-old boy when a boat overturned. The boy's father, Emmet Simpson, 44, and Ben Nitch, a friend, drowned.

4TH MARRIAGE FAILS ALSO. Detroit.—Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Adelsperger recently ended their marriage—for the fourth time—in the divorce court. They were married for the first time in 1922, and since then have been married and divorced three times. Their latest marriage was in 1952.

LIGHTNING STRIKES TWICE. Gillette, Wyo.—Henry Edwards, 62, was struck by lightning in 1914 while he was out herding sheep. This summer he was struck by lightning again—within two miles of the first accident. He was knocked unconscious by the bolt, but regained his senses in time to extinguish a fire in his sheep wagon.

Ann Arbor Civic Symphony Schedules Free Public Concert

The Ann Arbor Civic Symphony Orchestra will open the 1957-58 season under its new permanent conductor, Dr. George C. Wilson, with a free concert on Sunday, Nov. 8, at 3:30 p.m. in the auditorium of the Ann Arbor School Building.

Dr. Wilson is vice-president of the National Music Camp at Interlochen, with winter offices in Ann Arbor. In this capacity he is responsible for instruction at the camp. He has served on the faculty and staff there for many years.

Dr. Wilson replaces Prof. Emil Raab who has accepted a position on the music staff of the University of Alabama.

The opening concert promises to be a fine one. There are about 60 playing members who have been rehearsing together this fall. The orchestra draws players from Chelsea, Saline, Fortage Lake, Milan, Bellville and Ypsilanti as well as from Ann Arbor.

Participating in the orchestra from Chelsea are Gayle Grove, band instructor in the public schools, who plays the trombone, and his wife Jean who plays the cello.

More string players can always be used, and applicants may contact the conductor at the office of the National Music Camp in Ann Arbor.

The main objectives of the orchestra are to provide good music free of charge to the community; to provide an opportunity for professionals and serious amateur musicians to participate in making music; and to award scholarships to worthy high school students for summer study at the National Music Camp.

Rehearsals are held Tuesday nights at the instrumental rehearsal room in the Ann Arbor High School building at 7:15 p.m.

The program includes: "Carnival Overture" by Dvorak, the "Italian Symphony" by Mendelssohn, and following intermission, Richard Miller will sing the final scene from Lucia de Lammermoor by Donizetti. The concert will close with "Die Fledermaus" by Strauss.

Washington News Notes

FARM INCOME RISING? Farm income and prices are on the rise, farm assets have climbed to a new record high. Price-depressing farm surpluses have been cut considerably and farm exports are at an all-time high, according to Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson. Benson gave this appraisal in a speech prepared for the South Dakota State Fair.

COST-OF-LIVING. Prices paid by consumers for goods and services have increased for eleven consecutive months to a record high. Using 1947-48 as a base period, prices stood at 118.0 on January 1st, 1957, as compared with an estimate of 120.8 on August 1st, a rise of 2.4 per cent.

DISARMAMENT. The failure of the conference on disarmament in London has led many to believe disarmament talks are all but washed up, for the present at least. However, the United States is proceeding with an announced plan to cut military spending in every way possible.

Michigan Retailers Association Schedules Conference Tuesday

In conjunction with the Michigan Retailers Association annual meeting at Lansing Tuesday, Nov. 5, seven retail trade conferences have been scheduled, this program being the first of its kind ever held in Michigan.

Topics to be covered include credit and credit problems; factoring; transportation and handling; self-service and self-selection; freight routings and handling of claims; suggestions for improving the jewelry business; unit and dollar controls for shoes; and retail promotions and community activities.

The conferences, set for 3 p.m. in the Lansing Civic Auditorium, are open to all retailers, both members and non-members of the Michigan Retailers Association.

Locally, further information regarding the conferences may be obtained by contacting M. J. Anderson or E. E. Winans.

SPENDING SLASHES

In an economy drive aimed at making a tax cut possible next year, the Eisenhower Administration is whacking away at the Federal payroll and at far-flung Government programs. Government agencies are under orders not to fill any vacancies caused by death, retirement or resignation without specific and prior approval. They have also been told to cut spending by as much as a billion dollars below the $71,800,000,000 prepared for this year by President Eisenhower.

DEATHS

Mrs. Lydia K. Neyer Dies Tuesday Night At Daughter's Home

Mrs. Lydia K. Neyer who had made her home the past two years with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Bollinger, 12280 Scio Church road, died there shortly before midnight Tuesday. She had been in failing health for some time.

Her home had previously been at 663 West Middle street. She was a member of St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church.

Born in Freedom township Oct. 22, 1882, Mrs. Neyer was the daughter of John and Blandine Carlsman Haas, Feb. 2, 1910, in Freedom township. She was married to Gustave F. Neyer.

They farmed in Freedom township until 1946 when Mr. Neyer retired and they moved to the West Middle street address. He died Aug. 8, 1948.

Survivors of Mrs. Neyer are two daughters, Mrs. Rudolph Bollinger and Mrs. Wilbert Koch; five grandchildren; and three brothers, Herman Haas of Freedom township, William Haas of Lodi township, and Emanuel Haas of Ann Arbor.

Funeral services will be held at the Staffan Funeral Home at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon with the Rev. P. H. Grabowski officiating. Burial will follow in Bethlehem cemetery, Ann Arbor.

John W. Carson Was Employed for 35 Years By U. S. Steel at Elyria, O.

John W. Carson died Wednesday noon at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Deane Rogers, 302 Garfield street. He was 75 years old.

Mr. Carson was employed from 1907 until 1942 as weigh master for the National Tube Division of the United States Steel Corporation at Elyria, O., and during his years there served for four years as a member of the Elyria City council. He was a member of the Frank S. Harmon Masonic Lodge at Elyria.

Born Nov. 22, 1881, at Winsor, Mich. he was a son of Lewis and Robina Andrew Carson and was married at Bad Axe, Wis., to Mabel Smith, who survives.

They lived at Sebewaing until going to Elyria, O., in 1907. She died there in 1942. They had three children with Mr. and Mrs. Rogers. For a short time after moving to Chelsea, Mr. Carson was employed at Federal Screw Works.

Only survivor, in addition to Mrs. Rogers, is the daughter, Mrs. Cookrell, vice of St. Barnabas Episcopal church, and John E. Carson, former vice of the Staffan Funeral Home until this time of the service.

Funeral services will be held at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at the Staffan Funeral Home. The Rev. Eugene Cookrell, vicar of St. Barnabas Episcopal church, and John E. Carson, former vice of the Staffan Funeral Home, will officiate.

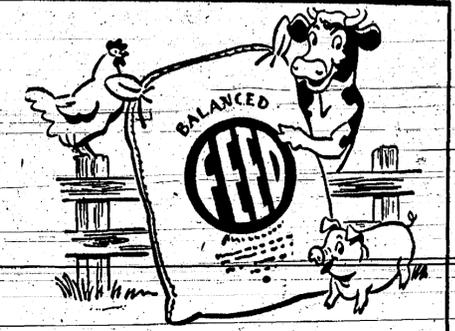

Further services will be held at 2:30 p.m. at the Methodist church at Winsor with the Rev. Control Coffel officiating. Interment is to take place in the Winsor cemetery.

Friends may call at the Staffan Funeral Home until this time of the service. The family has requested that friends who wish to make memorial contributions designate them for the St. Barnabas Episcopal church memorial fund.
