ERWIN L. KLAGER

Sheriff Klager Dies in Sleep Early Sunday

Washtenaw County Sheriff Erwin L. Klager died of a heart attack while he was asleep at his home, 622 West Liberty street, Ann Arbor, at 10:30 a.m. Sunday. He had been confined to his home with a cold since Tuesday last week and had planned to return to work Monday.

Sheriff Klager had been hospitalized for several weeks in January, two years ago, for a condition described as an "overstrained heart," but had appeared to be in good health since then.

Sheriff Klager served in the Sheriff's Department for approximately 25 years, rising from the position as night turnkey at the County Jail to patrolman, detective, lieutenant and captain in charge of the uniformed division. Before he was elected sheriff in 1954, he was re-elected for a two-year term in the fall of 1956.

Under Michigan law, Under Sheriff Charles W. Shaw became acting sheriff when Sheriff Erwin L. Klager died yesterday.

The statute provides that the undersheriff will continue as acting sheriff until a person is appointed to fill out the remainder of the current term.

The appointment is to be made by Probate Judge John W. Conlin, Prosecuting Attorney Edmund L. DeKane and County Clerk Mary Luella M. Smith, according to state law.

When Klager took office in 1955, he made sweeping personnel changes, enlarged the coverage of his department and established a keen-acting group at the Washtenaw County Junior Deputy League.

He had also been concerned with the formation of Civil Defense Auxiliary Police units in the county and was present when the Chelsea Unit was sworn in at ceremonies held here Jan. 15.

Sheriff Klager was a member of St. John's Lutheran church in Bridgewater, Ann Arbor, Elks Lodge No. 825, the Kiwanis Club, the Loyal Order of Moose, the Fraternal Order of Eagles in Ypsilanti and the Michigan Sheriff's Association.

He also belonged to the YMCA in Ann Arbor, the Southern Michigan Law Enforcement Association, the National Sheriff's Association, Saline Lodge No. 133, F&AM, Washtenaw Chapter No. 86, R&SM, Ann Arbor Council No. 86, R&SM, Ann Arbor Commandery No. 13, Knights Templar, the Michigan Shrine of Detroit, the Zal-Gaz Grotto and the Washtenaw Shrine Club.

Before joining the Sheriff's Department in 1927, he had worked on his father's farm in Bridgewater and in 1917, with his father, Michael, and brother, Louis, established a chicken hatchery.

He resigned from the Sheriff's Department Dec. 7, 1949, and accepted a position with the Ann Arbor Elks club in 1952.

Michael, a brother in active management of a chicken hatchery, two years later he was elected sheriff and in 1955 was re-elected to a two-year term by a majority of more than 9,000 votes.

Born at Bridgewater, March 2, 1887, he was the son of Erwin and Emma Klager. He attended public schools in Bridgewater and later attended Cleary College in Ypsilanti.

Survivors include his widow, the former Florence M. Schnable of Saline, to whom he was married Feb. 26, 1919, and his daughter, Mrs. F. J. Folsom of Lodi township; three grandchildren; and a brother, Luther, of Manchester.

Funeral services were held at 1 p.m. yesterday at the Muehlberg Funeral Chapel, Ann Arbor, and at 8 p.m. at St. John's church in Bridgewater. The Rev. Harry A. Brown officiated at both services. Burial was in the church cemetery.

C. Slocum Seeks Village Presidency

Withdrawal Report Was 'Misunderstanding' Says Former Trustee

Charles F. Slocum is the Independent party's candidate for president of the village at the March 10 election.

Slocum said yesterday that the announcement of his withdrawal as a candidate after he was named at the Independent party caucus Feb. 17 was the result of a misunderstanding on the part of the party chairman who submitted the list of candidates for publication.

Slocum stated, "I have not withdrawn... I am going to run... and I hope to win."

The addition of Slocum's name to head the Independent ticket gives both the Independents and the People's party full slates of candidates for the March 10 election.

The People's party ticket is headed by incumbent Village President Donald Alber.

Other People's party candidates are Robert Devine, clerk; D. A. Riker, treasurer; James Gaken, assessor; Claude Spigelberg, William Bliss and Vic Kahanian, trustees for two years; William J. Collins and Jean L. Eaton, members of the library board.

Independent nominees in addition to Slocum are George Winans, clerk; Wallace Wood, treasurer; Harvey Lixey, Keith Boylan and Leon Shutes, trustees for two years; Fredrick Baleser, assessor; William Chandler and Katherine Wagner, members of the library board.

The election takes place Monday, March 10, in Sylvan Town Hall on West Middle street. Polls will be open from 7:00 a.m. until 8:00 p.m.

Spring Is Near When Flowers Start To Appear

Crocuses, hyacinths, and tulips are coming up and robbing being spotted all over town, in spite of the fact that just 10 days ago the officially listed temperature was seven degrees below zero and schools were closed two days because of road conditions.

Jack Joseph was surprised to see that bulbs he set out last fall had pushed up shoots an inch or more out of the ground on the east side of his home on North street.

Inquiry among other flower growers brought out the fact that at the Paul Niehaus home on the Peterson street hyacinths and tulips have reached a growth of two and three inches and crocuses are coming up.

The flower bed is in a protected spot on the south side of the house.

Mrs. Byron Smith who lives on McKay road has been feeding robins that are making themselves at home in the neighborhood.

Ann Arbor JCC Builders Show To Be April 9-13

The Ann Arbor Junior Chamber of Commerce has announced that the Builders, Merchants' and Automobile Show will be held this year during the week of April 9-13. As in 1957 the show will be held in Yost Field House. The date and place has been set in cooperation with the University Board in Control of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Commenting on the April event, Edward Oshaben, the 1958 General Committee Chairman, stated that the early date has been selected to benefit local builders and other area business people associated with the show. He advised that the show will be held on a Saturday and Sunday, and that the show displays before late spring and summer building activity reaches a peak. Last year the show was held May 15-19.

Oshaben said that his year there will be no carnival or children's amusement rides associated with the show. He advised that the show will conform to the 1958 committee's decision to streamline the show, to make it more appealing to participating merchants and members of the building trades, and to make the content and facilities of the show as valuable and as informative as possible to viewers.

The number of available booths have been increased from 140 to 187.

This year marks the 15th Annual Builders, Merchants' and Automobile Show, and its second year at Yost Field House. This event is the largest and most important show of this type in the nation. For ten years prior to 1957 the show was staged at the old Fairgrounds, now known as Veterans Memorial Park. During the early years the displays and facilities of the show were housed in a tent off Stadium Boulevard.

Only minor changes were suggested in Lyndon township's interim zoning ordinance at the public hearing held Friday evening in Lyndon Town Hall. The public hearing brought out only a few of the township's residents.

Public acceptance of the proposed ordinance was the final step before turning it over for action of the Lyndon Township Board.

Four County Farms Visited by Nearly 400 On Friday Beef Tour

'Best Tour We Ever Had,' Says County Agent

Washtenaw County Agricultural Agent Don Johnson, speaking of the annual beef tour in this area last Friday, said, "Without question, this was the best tour we ever had in the county."

Johnson said a great measure of the credit for success of the project must go to the farmers who work with the extension office in planning the tour and who make their farms available for stops. This requires a good deal of extra effort on the part of these men, all of whom are busy with their regular work. Without their co-operation, Johnson said, it would not be possible to plan a successful tour.

Farmers who co-operated this year are Laurel Brittenwischer and Arthur Kuhl in the Chelsea area, Gilbert Dix of Willis road and the Deppmans who have farms on Austin and Bethel Church roads.

Approximately 400 persons took part in the tour, Johnson said. Of this number 200 were served dinner at noon at Zion Evangelical Lutheran church's parish hall at Rogers Corners. In the groups at each stop were from 25 to 300 men, some dropping out and others joining the tour at different points along the route.

Saline, Manchester and Chelsea FFA chapters and their advisors participated.

Also in the group were Harry Moxley and Bill Finley, animal husbandry specialists at Michigan State University, and representatives of the Michigan Livestock Exchange and Ridley Commission Co. of Detroit.

Representing the county extension office with Johnson was W. A. Dexter, assistant county agricultural agent.

The tour Chelsea-area farms were visited during the forenoon while the Dix and Deppman farms were visited during the afternoon.

Others: Richard M. Nixon, vice-president of the United States; H. Rowan Gathier, chairman of the board, Ford Foundation, and Chairman of the Commission that produced the Gathier Report; Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, majority leader in the United States Senate; James R. Killian, Jr., president, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, on leave to serve as special assistant to President Eisenhower for science and technology; and William F. O'Connell, executive secretary, National Education Association.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I've had a little touch of the flu and ain't been able to get further than hollering distance from home all week.

About all I know is what I've saw on television, heard on the radio, read in the papers, and picked up enevsdropping on the boys' line. And of course I've been getting my daily allotment of mail from the various state and federal agencies.

But I didn't get up to the country store Saturday night and until you get the low-down from the boys' up there, you actually don't know nothing official.

I see where some preacher in Pittsburgh told his flock that he'd been in touch with hell for some time now. Unless he's been off in a space ship for the last few years, he ain't got nothing to brag about. All of us keeps in touch with that locality these days. All he's got to do is look around him a little.

So this preacher wants to talk about hell? I wonder if he ever stopped to think how slow a jet plane is along side how fast our inflated dollar is traveling these days. I bought my old lady a electric iron for $5 in 1935 and last week it cost me $7.50 just to get it repaired. Any feller that has any trouble communicating with hell these days is a sad case. He's lost. They say the saddest thing in this world, Mister Editor, is a country dog that is lost in town and looking for his master. I'd say the next saddest thing is somebody who has to go out of his way to get in touch with hell in 1958.

Another item in the paper that struck me as funny was a story about a street employee in London that got caught stealing manhole covers and selling them to the junk yard. Over in this country he'd run for office, get elected, and then steal the junk yard. Them English always was a little slow about things, though.

Not being able to get out and about for a week has been hard on me and the old lady both. It's just like a wife to take a lot of pot shots at her old man when he ain't able to dodge. For instance, I'm having another birthday next week and I asked my old lady how I was holding my years. "Look in the mirror," she says. I did, and all I can say is that they don't make mirrors good like they did when I was younger. Like some feller said the other day, I'm too old for rock 'n' roll and too young for Geritol. My old lady says that after a man gets 50 he is mostly a maintenance problem anyhow.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Firemen Called Twice

Overheated tar in a car wagon at the new high school construction, caught fire shortly after three o'clock Tuesday afternoon and resulted in a run for the Chelsea Fire Department.

Wednesday, Feb. 19, Chelsea firemen and Cassidy Lake firemen were called to the state-owned home at 1880 North Territorial road, occupied by the James M. Wagner family. The roof and the second floor were badly damaged by fire of undetermined origin.

State 4-H Leaders To Gather at MSU For Leadermet

Kickoff for National 4-H Club Week, March 1-8 is the 4-H Leadermet, a get-together for nearly 300 local 4-H club leaders representing every county in Michigan.

On March 1 and 2 five leaders from Washtenaw county go to the Michigan State University campus for the second annual 4-H Leadermet, reports Marvin Boas, county 4-H club agent. Those attending are: Mr. and Mrs. George Macomber, Ann Arbor; Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Spike, Milan; and Mrs. Selma Mast, Dexter.

Purposes of the leadermet are to provide discussion on 4-H leadership, to give local leaders recognition, to exchange ideas and to give local leaders inspiration.

Two delegates from every county may attend the two-day meeting which is sponsored by the State 4-H Council, the Co-operative Extension Service and the Michigan 4-H Club Foundation. Counties with larger number of leaders may send additional delegates.

Held at Kellogg Center on the Michigan State Campus, the leadermet opens Saturday morning, March 1, with an opportunity to meet Paul Miller, director of the Michigan Co-operative Extension Service. Afternoon keynote speaker is John Mount, Assistant to the President at Ohio State University. Discussion groups and tours of the campus follow his talk. Campus 4-H club members are assisting with the tours. The evening banquet features nationally known speaker, Dr. Carl Byers, sponsored by General Motors Corporation.

Sunday morning worship services are planned, with 4-H and former 4-H members participating. A 12:30 dinner closes the two-day conference.

4-H Clothing, Modeling School Set for March 1

4-H clothing project members will have an opportunity to gain many valuable tips on judging clothing and modeling their garments at a Clothing Judging and Modeling school at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, March 1 in Room 1, Washtenaw County Building, Ann Arbor.

The school is to prepare for the County 4-H Spring Achievement Show April 8-9 at the Ann Arbor High School auditorium and a county Clothing Judging contest later in the year. This school will be conducted by Mrs. Anna Brown, Washtenaw County Home & Demonstration Agent with the assistance of 4-H leaders and junior leaders.

THE LETTER BOX

To One Concerned: Someone in a car struck and killed my daughter's beloved "Black Bouncer," registered cocker spaniel, Tuesday, Feb. 18, at 2:30 p.m., in front of Dr. W. C. Lane's where the dog had just received its rabies shot.

Added to the loss of her pet is the terrible fact that she saw the speeding car hit her "pal," Bouncer, and the driver did not even slow down, much less stop. To you, that driver, I wish to say that eight-year-old Carolyn has not only lost her "pal," you have broken her heart and her faith in fellow human beings is dimmed. I wonder if you would have stopped if it had been my daughter instead of her pet which you struck down.

Thelma Schwiager.

4-H Salute to Parents

4-H CLUB WORK is conducted by the Extension Service Michigan State University in cooperation with the Washtenaw County Board of Supervisors and the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The Washtenaw County Office is located in Room 118 Washtenaw County Building, Ann Arbor.

County-Wide Party Scheduled March 8 To Observe National 4-H Club Week

"4-H Salute to Parents" is the theme for National 4-H Club Week, March 1-8, Washtenaw County 4-H Club Agent, has announced.

Washtenaw county plans for the observance of National 4-H Club Week include a county-wide 4-H club party which is to be held Saturday evening, March 8, at the Tappan Junior High School, Ann Arbor.

During their March 1-8 week of observance, 2,000,000 members of 4-H clubs will take a look at their past and their future in 4-H clubs and receive recognition for outstanding work.

The week provides members with a special occasion for evaluating past achievements and making plans for future activities on their farms, in their homes and in their communities. The public, especially parents, is informed of the values of 4-H training.

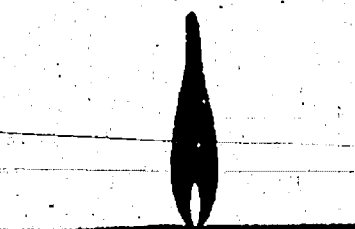

Credit will be given in recognition of the important part played by local leaders. The drive for new members and leaders takes on new enthusiasm as 4-Hers reflect on their progress in 1957.

Particular recognition is to be given to local leaders who make local clubs possible. In Michigan, 10,000 adults are part of 4-H as volunteer leaders. In addition, 2,600 older club boys and girls assist as junior leaders.

In 1957, club members in Michigan numbering 61,000 carried 300,000 projects to completion. This makes about two projects for each club member. Younger boys and girls usually carry only one project at a time, but as the 4-Her grows older, he tends to carry more than one. This presents a greater challenge to the older member.

In Washtenaw county 220 adults volunteer their services to help make the 4-H program a success, 1,208 4-H club boys and girls work

IT'S NO YOKE:

State Egg Yield Reported To Be 1 1/2 Billion Plus

Because of the abundance of high quality Michigan eggs available during the month, Gov. Mennen Williams has set March aside as Egg Month urging greater consumption of eggs at home and in public eating places.

In this state the drive is spearheaded by the Michigan Allied Poultry Industries, Inc., an organization of producers of poultry and poultry products, in co-operation with the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

The Governor's proclamation said that March is a season of flush egg production and is an appropriate time for people to eat more eggs. The proclamation also stated that eggs may be prepared in so many different and tasty ways that they make Lenten meal planning easier for the housewife and more palatable for the family.

In 1957 Michigan poultry producers produced more than a billion and a half eggs. Better poultry breeds, greater understanding of poultry feeding, and improved methods of egg handling have greatly improved the quality of Michigan eggs over the past few years to a point where the state is recognized as one of the leaders in the egg industry.

Throughout the state there are approximately 85,000 farm families who derive all or at least part of their living from the production of eggs. The industry is so decentralized that there is not a county among the state's 83 counties that does not contribute to some extent to Michigan's annual production of a billion and a half eggs.

WAR PRISONERS

A recent survey by the United Nations has revealed that the Russians still hold more than 150,000 war prisoners of World War II. Of these, approximately 119,000 are German soldiers and civilians, 46,000 Japanese, 900 Italian. All of these were taken to Russia except for 4,000 Japanese held by Red China.

HOCKEY

WITH

By FRED HUBER

WHEREVER HOCKEY is played in the United States, today's most popular question is probably, "Will there ever be any American-born hockey players in the National League?"

Certainly this question leads most all others during the summer when Red Wing personnel visit through the state in the combined interest of the hockey club and the Stroh Brewery.

Actually, the question holds a variety of potential answers. At the present time there is an American born player in the league in the person of Gerry Foley, right wing for the New York Rangers. Foley was spawned in Ware, Massachusetts.

In fact Foley is only one of a long line of American born players. Even the Montreal Canadiens once had one, a French speaking boy with a French sounding name, Norman Dussault. Dussault was a native of a small New Hampshire town.

However, it has been a rare season when there have been more than two or three American born players at most. Too, there is another side to the American born player. In many cases, while the boy was born in the United States, he was born of Canadian parents, and at a very early age he and his family returned to Canada, where he grew up, learning hockey along the way.

Babando Typical
Perhaps the perfect example is in the veteran Pete Babando, former Boston, Detroit and Chicago player. Babando was born in the United States, today's most popular question is probably, "Will there ever be any American-born hockey players in the National League?"

To this a firm and unqualified "yes" must be given at once. Given an equal chance there is no reason why the boy on this side of the border should not become as skillful as his Dominion counterpart. Heretofore the programs have been too limited in the scope of geography and athletic opportunity, but this situation is rapidly being remedied.

Detroit's Wetzel
The Red Wings point with pride to the first born and bred Detroit hockey prospect in the person of 18-year-old Carl Wetzel. Wetzel, who began his hockey schooling in the Detroit Recreation program, has advanced to the goalkeeping position with the Hamilton, Ontario, Tiger Cubs. As such he is a definite hope to become the first local player in Detroit history.

That Wetzel is a milestone is true. However, he is really in the position of the first robin. For there will be many more to come. Now, incentive and opportunity are both present.

Dept. of Agriculture Offers Cost-Sharing Tree Cover Plans

The U. S. Department of Agriculture, through the local County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee (ASCC), has made available several cost-sharing conservation practices to the landowner. One of the most favored of these conservation practices, according to District Forester Victor Horvath, is tree planting for reforestation, to prevent erosion, for windbreaks and watershed protection.

The Federal Government is willing to share in the cost of establishing tree cover as a soil conservation measure. Since Christmas tree production is aimed at short rotations, says Forester Horvath, "the cost sharing is permitted for this type of program." In order to participate in the cost sharing program, the landowner must agree to follow certain procedures for planting the trees.

Information on these programs, how to plant the trees, where the trees may be purchased and species to be used is available from the local County Cooperative Extension Service, the local County ASC office, or from the District Forester.

JOBLESS TOTAL UP

The nation's unemployment total jumped in December to 3,874,000, the highest for that month since the recession year of 1949, said a joint report by the Commerce and Labor Departments, in Washington. The total was 5.2 per cent of the total labor force.

December employment figures were down by 447,000, but still stood at a total of 64,396,000.

Stop sufferin' take . . . I feel great and . . . doesn't upset my stomach. Have you ever noticed how carefully these ads are worded? Have you heard them mention the word cure? Of course not. Each and every one will slip in the word relief. To relieve the discomfort of colds misery take . . . that's what this product or that product.

Now you and I both know that the cure of any disease comes from within our bodies. Not from a pill or a shot. After all what is health? Can you buy it in a bottle? Can you have it injected into yourself? If you could there wouldn't be any sickness in the world today.

True health comes only from within our bodies. We suffer from inside, out. Cuts and bruises heal from inside, out. The brain is the controller of all actions in the body. It is able by means of nerves to send messages to any and all parts of the body and coordination of health is the result. A minor

YEAST IN TEST SATELLITES

The United States will put a small amount of yeast in its test satellites to determine the effect of space travel on a simple form of life.

Biological experts said the yeast experiment might be able to provide information on the reaction of life to the gravity-free state existing in space travel as well as to the cosmic rays encountered in space.

Any old excuse will suffice for not working, but the best is the possession of plenty of cash.

Washington Report...

ning which will be necessary, the group decided that a 1959 voyage, geared to the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway, might be the most logical aim.

Mr. Frank Davis of Bay City head the newly-appointed steering committee now studying the Hornblower estimates. Other committee members are Messrs. Aurey Strohman of Grand Rapids, Gerald Johnson of Marquette, and Leonard Thomson of Detroit. At the moment it looks as if communities interested in a Mayflower visit will be asked to post a cash guarantee—perhaps share in income from admission charges. Plymouth, New York and Miami, Fla., exhibitors until now, have charged 90 cents for adults to view the ship. School children pay 45 cents and organized school groups 35 cents per youngster.

SNIPPING THE NEWSPRINT TAIL. FBI sleuths are visiting offices of American companies that control Canadian newsprint firms or have affiliations with them. Last spring, when the Canadians hiked their newsprint prices by $4 a ton, bringing costs to an all-time peak, I triggered a Senate Commerce Committee probe by my charges that an international cartel was manipulating prices.

Now the FBI and antitrust officials are on the trail. Newsprint represents one-fourth to one-third of the cost of publishing a paper and skyrocketing prices have of existence. Rising advertising costs are pushing many small businessmen and small newspaper publishers to the wall. Price boosts on newsprint always follow the same pattern. One newsprint manufacturer announces an increase and all other producers follow suit immediately, hiking by the same amount. It all points to collusion between producers. Back in 1946 newsprint cost $67 per ton. Today it is $130. About three-fourths of U. S. newsprint is imported from Canada and complex tieups have developed between Canadian and American companies. Now that the antitrust authorities are checking into this spiderweb, we may get to the root of the manipulation. (Ed. Note: We now pay $232 per ton for newsprint delivered here.)

THE QUARTERNOTES, a lady barbershop quartet, will visit my office early in March to serenade Senators from the Seaway states with a foot-tapping new song. "The St. Lawrence Seaway is on Its Way," written by John Philpott and Jimmy Dixon, will have its premier audition in the United States Capitol and members of Congress who voted for the great project agree that it's really something to sing about.

J. C. Pickering, farmer, Rochester, Michigan

Here's what J. C. Pickering says about Ford Dealer Used Cars...

"I HAVE FOUND THAT FORD DEALERS
HONESTLY REPRESENT THE CONDITION OF USED CARS WHEN THEY SELL THEM"

But Mr. Pickering isn't the only one who has found that it pays to buy Ford Dealer Used Cars...

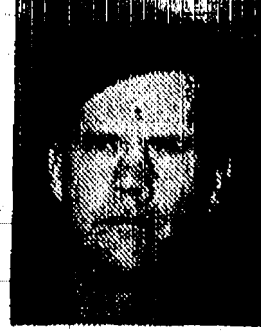

Joseph Vase, miner, says, "I buy my used cars from my Ford Dealer because his prices are always right and I can always rely on what he tells me."

Entrepreneurs Farm Bureau Discusses Civil Defense Needs

Entrepreneurs Farm Bureau group met at the Lloyd Boyce home Thursday evening with 11 families present.

Raymond Schairer, Entrepreneurs group minuteman, reported on bills before the legislature, stating that the Farm Bureau approves the proposed bill requiring traffic to stop in both directions when school children are boarding or leaving buses. Also approved by Farm Bureau is the proposed bill restricting the use of live hog cholera virus in treating animals.

Farm Bureau opposes the repeal of the Old Age Recovery Act which allows a state to recover if it sees fit to do so from an old age pension recipient according to Schairer's report; also, the proposed schedule of minimum salaries for teachers, fixed by number of degrees and length of service; minimum wage scale of $1.25 per hour with time and one-half for all over 40 hours; and the minimum of $1.75 per hour for municipal firemen.

Leigh Beach led the month's discussion on the topic, "Civil Defense," giving pointers on preservation of life in case of atomic attack, especially as related to rural areas. He read directions for preparing a shelter supplied with food, water, clothing and bedding, as well as a battery radio, and books to read.

The discussion brought out the fact that additional plans need to be made for the care of livestock since closing a barn up tight as suggested and leaving animals without food or water for an indefinite period seemed an unsatisfactory way of handling the situation.

The conclusion of the group regarding possible biological warfare was that rural areas should follow Civil Defense instructions.

Entrepreneurs group plans to enter the Washtenaw County Farm Bureau contest which seeks to improve parliamentary procedures at Farm-Bureau group meetings with cash prizes offered the winners.

Members voted in favor of making a contribution for the Jim Gleason fund or the International Farm Youth Exchange program.

It was announced that the next meeting will be held March 20 at the Homer Parker home.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. William Schauls spent Tuesday in Detroit visiting relatives.

Housework Can Keep You Young, Healthy, Chic

Your housework can keep you young and healthy, says Coral Morris, Michigan State University extension specialist in home management.

You can get healthful exercise from your daily household tasks if you know how to work without strain. Bending, lifting, pulling, pushing and the countless steps taken in housework can become your way to exercise.

When bending, stand with one foot slightly forward and bend through the knee and ankle joints until within easy reach of the task, suggests Miss Morris. To lift something, go down by folding your knee and thigh joints and rise with your load by straightening the joints, keeping your spine straight.

When you carry packages, don't always carry them on the same side, she warns. Spine and shoulder strain may result if you do. It's best if you carry things directly in front of yourself.

When you need to climb stairs, keep your body erect when placing your foot on the stair ahead. Then straighten the up bent knee and ankle joint. This way you use the leg as a jack and rise as on an elevator.

The right kind of food eaten at regular times is as important to the homemaker as to any other member of the family, Miss Morris believes. It does much to provide the strength and energy needed for any job.

You should plan each day to include some enjoyable activity, she concludes. It will give the spark necessary to get work done quickly and easily.

The label on a can of peas contains a great deal of information that can help you buy the kind you want, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture. No. 1 peas are the smallest, No. 6, 7, and 8 are large sizes. Or the peas may be of mixed sizes. The label will tell.

Live Surgical Operation To Be Televised March 18

A live surgical operation may be seen in color by Michigan TV viewers on March 18 when a patient's damaged artery is replaced by a plastic reproduction. This will be the first time that an operation, other than a heart operation, will have been televised live to the American public.

The special program is scheduled to open the annual Michigan Clinical Institute in Detroit. It will feature a three-day session. Brock E. Brush, M.D., Television Committee Chairman of the Michigan State Medical Society, said this year's live surgery will be performed at Henry Ford Hospital and relayed to a Detroit TV station for transmission to area viewers. Mobile camera units of Smith, Kline and French Laboratories, Philadelphia, again will televise the actual operation. A special arrangement, a network of TV stations throughout Michigan have planned to carry the show. Doctors D. Emerick Szilagyi and Roger T. Smith of Henry Ford Hospital will perform the operation and will be explained in everyday terms by a panel of experts consisting of Dr. Henry T. Bannson of Johns Hopkins; Dr. Prescott Jordan of Receiving Hospital; Dr. Eugene A. Osius of Harper hospital, and Dr. Marion DeWitt of University of Michigan Hospital.

The Detroit hospital from which the operation originates is changed each year. Last year's heart surgery was televised from the Grace Hospital with Doctor James B. Blodgett as surgeon.

Standardized Signs, Checkered Vests Ordered for All Traffic Regulators

Lansing—Use of red flags by workmen to direct traffic around highway construction projects will be abolished by the Michigan State Highway Department starting April 8.

In their place, "standardized" reversible "STOP" and "SLOW" signs will be used, along with a highly visible black and yellow checkered vest for the traffic regulators. The regulators will carry a reversible sign, mounted on the end of a pole, which will clearly state whether the driver is to stop or proceed slowly, he said.

The "STOP" will appear in white letters on a red background. The other side of the sign will read "SLOW" in black letters over a yellow background.

Tests of the new equipment, developed by Highway Department Safety Supervisor Dennis Haley, have been underway on various state highway projects around the state and indicate the sign and vest can be seen by vehicle operators from a far greater distance and much more plainly than the old-style flagman.

A directive signed by Commissioner Mackie and State Police Commissioner Joseph Childs has been issued, making the vest and sign required by all agencies responsible for construction and maintenance work that interrupts or presents a hazard to the normal flow of traffic on all state trunk-line highways.

Use of the vest and sign has also been recommended for local city and county road projects but is not mandatory under the order.

Private concerns, such as utilities, working along highways also will be required to use traffic regulators equipped with the new vests and stop signs during any operations that might interfere with highway traffic.

The Highway Department will have the authority to determine when traffic regulation is needed during operations of non-governmental units. On highway construction jobs, the department will determine where the traffic regulators should be stationed by the contractors.

The department has prepared a manual for the instruction of men selected by contractors as traffic regulators in an effort to assure proper use of the new equipment on future highway construction.

U-M Education Dean Believes Schools Should Foster Growth of Individual

Ann Arbor—Schools should cultivate individual differences in children, says Willard C. Olson, dean of the University of Michigan School of Education.

"Unfortunately, differences among children have sometimes been looked on as a nuisance in educational programs since they prevent uniformity in classification, curriculum, methods and results," he says.

He points out, "Consistent differences between the sexes are regularly found in many school achievements. The difference in reading age, for example, is about six months or one-half grade in favor of the girls at each age in the growing period. This makes a sufficient difference to load classes and remedial classes with four or five times as many boys as girls."

Dean Olson warns that we should not be misled into believing that we have treated uniform groups of children by simply identifying groups of gifted and mentally retarded children. "The difference in children within each group will still remain striking. Each person still has unique qualities and patterns," he says.

He points out that communities differ greatly in the values they place upon education, what they seek for their children, in willingness to support, and in the acceptance of changes. "Schools, at best, are sensitive to and build upon the varying needs presented as well as on the common requirements for a citizen," says Dean Olson.

He states that extreme views are held as to the origin of the individual differences found in children. "Some people believe all the variation among children is attributable to the environment, on the one hand, or all due to heredity, on the other. The truth probably lies between. Science doesn't have a perfect answer to this problem," he says.

Modern education, with its emphasis on democracy, has caused a gradual shift in the attitudes toward individual differences in children. "From an atmosphere of suppression, we progressed to one of toleration, and finally in cultivation of these differences."

"This makes for a broader curriculum," says the dean. "Education becomes a nourishing rather than a punishing process, with the accent on developing each child to the level of his ability."

"Letting children take part in planning becomes more needful. Mechanical assignments give way to allowing children to seek, select, and create their own solutions."

"Children should occupy various roles in a group, have interests which differ, and try to find a place in a society which is healthy just because individuals fit into its varied needs," he concludes.

Ferrets Bring Out Rabbits but It's a Costly Operation

Michigan Three Saginaw men recently discovered that some of the most effective methods for taking rabbits are also the most costly.

The three hunters used a ferret to assist them in bagging 10 cottontail rabbits near Rose City in Ogemaw county.

Ferrets, members of the weasel family, are quite efficient in driving rabbits out of holes, making them targets for the waiting hunters.

The use of ferrets, however, is an illegal method of taking wild animals in Michigan.

Apprehended by conservation officer Robert Van Camp of Ogemaw county, the Saginaw men were convicted in a Rose City justice court and ordered to pay $175 in fines, plus $23.40 in court costs.

Ferrets generally are a little larger than an ordinary weasel and are not found in the wild in Michigan. The animal used by the three violators was purchased in New York and brought to Michigan by one of the men.

Lighting the way of men to betterment is the finest profession known.

Interest Rate Lowered on Land Bank Farm Loans

Farmers will save thousands of dollars each year as the result of a drop in interest rate by the Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul, according to Robert H. Secretary-Treasurer of the Security National Farm Loan Association at 2221 Jackson, Ann Arbor.

Secretary-Treasurer Hall stated that a cut of one-half of one percent in interest rate on land bank loans made after Feb. 23, will be welcomed by a large number of local farmers in Washtenaw, Wayne and Livingston counties served by the Ann Arbor farm loan office. These farmers of these three counties have been borrowing from the land bank at the rate of about one and one-third million dollars per year and are currently using over four million dollars of loaned bank loans.

In addition to a one-half of one percent cut in rate on new loans, the land bank is reducing the rate, until further notice, to all present borrowers whose loans are for interest rates in excess of five percent. This reduction may continue indefinitely. This action follows a long-time policy of making credit available to farmers at the lowest possible cost. This is the third time in the last year that interest rates have been reduced from the rate specified in the mortgage.

4-H Club Recreation Programs Help Develop Confidence, Leadership

Through 4-H club recreation programs, club members have many opportunities to develop self confidence and leadership ability.

All 4-H clubs are encouraged to include recreation in their club meeting, according to Marvin Boss, county 4-H club agent. Each club elects a recreation leader to plan its fun.

Square dances, picnics and planned parties are included in the 4-H recreation program. Here in Washtenaw county, Washtenaw County Service club members are planning a County-wide 4-H party Saturday, March 8, at Tappan Junior High School, Ann Arbor. This is the highlight of National 4-H Club Week March 1-8.

Junior leaders experienced in teaching games and square dances often conduct recreation for larger club and community groups. Family night parties involving all ages often develop from this.

Recreation in 4-H covers a broad area. It includes vocal and instrumental music, games, dances, crafts, dramatics, sports, hobbies, hikes, tours, picnics and parties.

Community service projects where members work together are fun and serve a useful purpose.

Anyone interested in joining or starting a 4-H club in his area, may contact Marvin Boss at the county extension office, Room 110, Washtenaw County Building, Ann Arbor.
