Lillie Named To Fill County Sheriff Post

Sgt. Roy Tice Named Undersheriff When Shaw Resigns

Robert E. A. Lillie of Ann Arbor, was appointed Friday to fill the unexpired term of Sheriff Edwin L. Klager who died Sunday, Feb. 23.

Lillie, who had been serving as Washtenaw county's civil defense director, resigned that post to accept the appointment as sheriff.

The official appointment was made by Prosecuting Attorney Edmund F. DeVine, County Clerk Mrs. Luella M. Smith and Probate Court Judge John W. Conlin.

Michigan law provides that the prosecutor, the county clerk and the probate judge appoint a person to fill the unexpired term of a sheriff.

The appointment was effective immediately.

The newly-appointed sheriff was born in Pittsburgh, Pa., and graduated from the old Central High School in Detroit in 1925. Following graduation, he attended the University of Michigan for 1 1/2 years and was enrolled in an aeronautical engineering course.

He joined the U. S. Marine Corps on Nov. 24, 1928. In the spring of 1928 he completed flight training and was the first private in the Marine Corps to qualify as a pilot.

In the ensuing 22 years Lillie rose from a flying private to lieutenant colonel, a rank he received in 1950. He retired as a lieutenant colonel on July 1, 1954, and returned to Ann Arbor with his family to enter the University's College of Engineering.

Lillie was awarded a degree in electrical engineering in 1957.

ELIGIBLE FOR STATE CONTEST

Parliamentary Procedure Team Wins Regional Meet

At the Regional FFA parliamentary procedure contest, held Wednesday, Feb. 26, at Reading, Chelsea's team won first place and a gold rating, thus becoming eligible for the state competition to be held during the Future Farmers of America convention at Michigan State University later this month.

Other teams competing in the regional contest were Jonesville, Reading and Addison, who received bronze awards for third place, and Concord and Blissfield, who earned silver awards as second place winners.

Order of business on which teams were to act and which were going into the contest, was to plan more interesting FFA meetings.

James Grau was chairman and James Heydlauff, secretary, for the Chelsea team.

Cagers Win To Finish in First Division

Traveling to U. High Friday evening to play their final league game of the season, the Bulldogs took a very close decision, 54-53.

The Bulldogs saw the Cubs leading at the first quarter mark, 17-11 and at the half by a three-point margin, 27-24.

After the half-time intermission Chelsea came back to overtake the Cubs and lead 45-43 at the three-quarter mark. Final score was 54-53.

Four Bulldogs scored in double figures with Frank Fredrick leading the pack with 13 points. George Mayer and Loren Keizer each had 12, and Homer Nixon 11.

This win put the Bulldogs in the first division in a fourth place tie with Milan.

Tournament play was scheduled to start last night at Stockbridge. A win for Chelsea would give Chelsea the chance to try for a second win in tournament play tomorrow night.

SCIENCE PROJECTS mentioned by Arthur Schmunk, elementary school principal, in a panel discussion at the PTA meeting Wednesday, Feb. 26, included mention of four class groups shown in the above photograph. At upper left: Mrs. Jeanne Smith's second grade has been studying natural science, and has made a display of dinosaurs. From left to right are Jack Risner, Linda Lyons, Joyce Stephens, Gail Foster, and Mary Nodine. Upper right: First graders Debra White and Deborah Winkins point out some features of snowflakes to other members of Mrs. Mary Barels' first grade. Lower left: Mrs. Isabel Eisele's second grade poses proudly around its "missile" which reaches almost to the ceiling. On the tackboard behind is a "rocket" with a "payload" in the nose—a picture of each child in the room. Mrs. J. V. Fisher planned to take this display to the reading and science exhibit at the state convention of the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers at Muskegon, April 22 and 23. Lower right: Mrs. Bernice Smyser's fourth graders are proud of their display "From Rocks to Rockets" which they prepared for the International Geophysical Year. Chelsea Merchants Offering Dollar Days For Wise Shoppers

Edward Chandler Observes 94th Birthday Friday

Edward Chandler, who was 94 years old last week, observed the occasion at a party given Friday, in his honor at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Haselswerdt.

Friends invited to spend the evening with him, included: Ed Sage, Alfred Lindauer, David Mohrlock, Julius Eisele, George Seitz and Fred Hoffman.

Also present for the affair was Mr. Chandler's son, Carl.

Euchre was the evening's entertainment, with first prize going to Julius Eisele and consolation prize to George Seitz.

Mrs. Haselswerdt served refreshments, including a beautifully decorated birthday cake.

Mr. Chandler actually had no official birthday last week since he was born on Feb. 29, 1864, and has a birthday only during leap years.

Two-Day Event Planned To Help Easter Shopper

Pre-Easter Dollar Days, an early spring sale event being held tomorrow and Saturday, gives people of the Chelsea shopping area an opportunity to get bargains in seasonal items at a time when new outfits are being planned for the entire family and preparations are being made for refurbishing the home after the long winter season.

Men and boys in the family were remembered by clothing merchants who are offering special bargains in suits, slacks, shirts and accessories as well as sport clothes.

Men of the family also received special thought in the plans of dealers who offer lawn mowers, power tools, hand tools for do-it-yourself jobs as well as garden and farm items at special prices.

Some of the stores are concentrating on special combinations of items in the $1.00 price range to carry out the Dollar Day theme while others are offering drastic reductions on regular prices of merchandise for the two-day special sale event.

Women's and children's clothing are being featured and include bargains in blouses, sweaters, nylon hosiery and dresses.

The housewife will find that laundry and kitchen needs may be secured at a fraction of their usual cost in hardware and variety stores, while household linens and supplies are featured at bargain prices in department and variety stores.

Food markets are offering many bargains of which, homemakers will take advantage in replenishing their stocks of family food supplies.

It will pay shoppers to examine the advertisements of merchants in this issue of The Standard and make a list of the items they need and do their shopping while stocks are still plentiful.

Whether the needed items are some of the larger household appliances, clothing or food for the family, or miscellaneous articles of any kind, they will be found in Chelsea stores at bargain prices during the two-day Pre-Easter Dollar Days Sale.

Village Voters Have Two Full Tickets

Voting machines will be used for the village election to be held in the Sylvan Town Hall Monday from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m.

Used in last year's balloting, the results of the election were made known soon after the polls closed.

Qualified assistants will be on hand throughout the day in case electors need help in casting their ballots by means of the voting machines.

It is again pointed out that candidates for trustees do not run "against" the candidates on the opposite ticket. The three candidates receiving the highest number of votes of the six candidates seeking the election, will be elected regardless of which party ticket they are on.

The same holds true with candidates for office as library board members. Two board members are to be elected and the two receiving the highest number of votes will be the successful candidates, whether they are on the Independent or People's party ticket.

People's party candidates are headed by the incumbent village president, Donald Aker, are Robert Devine, clerk; D. A. Riker, treasurer; James Gaken, assessor; Claude Spiegelberg, William Blaess and Vic Kohnman, trustees for two years; William J. Collins and Jean L. Eaton, members of the library board.

Independent nominees are Charles F. Slocum, president; George Winans, clerk; Wallace Wood, treasurer; Harvey Lixey, Keith Boylan and Leon Shutes, trustees for two years; Fredrick Beiser, assessor; William Chandler and Katherine Wagner, members of the library board.

Boards of Review Holding Sessions

The Board of Review of Sylvan Township was in session at Sylvan Town Hall Tuesday and Wednesday of this week to afford persons liable to assessment for taxes in the township an opportunity to inspect the assessment roll for the year 1958.

The Sylvan Board of Review will convene at the Sylvan Town Hall again next week Tuesday and Wednesday, March 11 and 12.

Lima, Lyndon and Freedom townships' Boards of Review met Tuesday in their respective township halls and will meet again next Tuesday, March 11 from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I was reading this morning where the American Public Health Association announced yesterday that more farmers were killed on the job last year than in any other occupational group.

Farming, they allow, "is the third most dangerous occupation."

They don't know the half of it, Mister Editor. Them that survives just barely makes it. Last summer, fer instance, I tried to work the farm by sun time, go to church by standard time, watch television by daylight saving time, and get to bed by God's time. In a manner of speaking, I was having a heckuva time. After I wore out three clocks I just went back to sun time and stayed there.

Them that survives spends about all their time between "rotating" and "estimating." Sometimes I think the surviving ain't worth it.

Fer instance, after a farmer surveys his patches so he can rotate according to law, it's time to estimate how much he's going to make for income purposes. That "estimating" calls for supernatural powers.

To get a "estimate" that'll be accepted, a farmer has got to guess the annual rainfall, just when it'll come and when it won't. He's got to figure about what date the first frost will hit, which way the boll weevils will be migrating in June.

All of this distracts a farmer's mind from farming. I wouldn't be surprised if some of them that got killed last year fergot and stuck their head in the mowing machine while they was trying to rotate and estimate.

I see by the papers where a fellow named Daniel F. Gilmore, writing for the United Press from London, says from now on "world attention will focus on the moon."

I got news for Mister Gilmore and them United Press fellows. Farmers has been focusing their attention on the moon for centuries. Any farmer that's got sense enough to know how to drink out of a gourd knows that agriculture would never have been invented without the moon.

There's certain things that's got to be planted in the dark of the moon and other things that's got to be planted in the light of the moon. If you do it backwards, you'd just as well sign up the land as Benson's soil bank. And the saving of hog meat depends entirely on the moon. Salt your hog meat away in the dark of the moon and you'll have bad tasting meat. Farmers has knowed that since hogs was hogs.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Young Adolescents Have Their Money Problems, Too

(This is the first of a series of articles written especially for Michigan weekly newspapers on the problems of the "between-agers" — young people between childhood and adolescence, between elementary and high school. The author is associate professor in the department of vocational education at Michigan State University.)

By Dr. Mary Lee Hurt

East Lansing—Money matters offer problems for most Americans, especially to those "between-agers," the 11 to 14-year olds.

In a recent survey of this age group in three Michigan communities, youngsters were asked, "Are you earning some of your own money?" and "Do you have an allowance?" and "Do you have to ask your parents for your spending money?"

Answers to these and other questions showed that the "between-agers" need help in finding ways to earn money and in making their money stretch to cover newly acquired wants. Asking parents for money becomes more difficult for these young people who are just on the verge of adolescent independence.

Some goals which parents and teachers could work toward in helping these "between-agers" might be to:

1. Help them appreciate how much they cost their families and how they can contribute their share to family living in ways other than money.

2. Appreciate that different families have different ways of providing the money needed by their children.

3. Help them appreciate what is most important when deciding how to spend money.

4. Help them get their money's worth when spending money and later judging how well the plan worked.

5. Help them secure and keep jobs, like baby-sitting.

6. Learn to talk over money problems with the family.

Keeping records of spending for one or two weeks would help them become aware of how much they are spending and problems they are having in saving or spending.

Encouraging these young people to help save the family income by caring for their own clothing, turning out lights, planning for inexpensive snacks at home rather than eating out, making simple repairs at home and by not wasting food. All of these will help to stretch the family pocketbook.

Most people are like steel. When they lose their temper, they're worthless.

A UNIQUE NEW PROGRAM OF SIGNS for Michigan's growing network of out-state expressways to direct motorists to service facilities on the old routes the new roads replace, has been announced by Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie. The signing plan was developed after conferences with officials of The Michigan Tourist and Resort Association and will be installed on all controlled access highways presently in use within the next few months, the Commissioner said. At all expressway interchanges which qualify, large seven-foot by four-foot signs will be installed approximately 3,000 feet ahead of the exit, indicating "GAS, FOOD, LODGING." The interchanges will qualify for a GAS designation if facilities for this service are located within one mile of the off-ramp. The FOOD and LODGING designation will be installed if facilities for these services are located within three miles of the interchange.

Michigan Architects Will Hold Convention In Detroit, March 12-14

Architect Arthur L. Lindauer, A. I. A., of Chelsea, reports that the Michigan Society of Architects will hold its 44th annual convention at Detroit's Hotel Statler, March 12-13-14.

Michigan architects will gather for panel discussions and seminars to study all phases of city planning, regional planning, urban design and slum-clearance rehabilitation and conservation.

"A Better tomorrow through Architecture will be our theme this year," said Frederick E. Wisgen, president of the society, and added, "We feel that much could be gained by the public if architects would become more active in the small-house field and city planning."

STIFFER LAW BACKED

The Senate Finance Committee recently approved a bill to impose tough new penalties on employers who fail to pay the Government the income and social security taxes they withhold from their employees.

It also approved a measure to prevent windfall refunds of alcohol and tobacco taxes held to be unconstitutional after they had been collected.

Both measures already have been passed by the House of Representatives.

HAROLD E. WEST

Detroit Wins Honor as Truck Driver of Year

Lansing—An unassuming Wyandotte truck driver who has driven more than 1 1/2 million miles without a single chargeable accident is today Michigan's Driver of the Year.

Harold E. West, 1087 Electric Wyandotte, was honored Feb. 19 by the annual driver awards banquet of the Michigan Trucking Association in the Hotel Olds, Lansing.

More than 800 state legislators, officials, and community and business leaders were on hand to see keynote speaker, Secretary of State James M. Hare, present the perpetual Driver of the Year trophy to West.

West, 50, a driver for the Geo. F. Alger Co., Detroit, for the past 27 years, has had only one minor, non-chargeable accident in his entire commercial-driving career.

In 1941, on two-lane US-16 near Brighton, an overtaking car cut sharply back in front of West's truck. The car then stopped suddenly to avoid hitting a dog which had jumped out in front of it. With oncoming traffic on the left and a ditch and trees on the right, West had nowhere to go but straight ahead. His right front bumper grazed the left rear fender of the stopped car—no claims paid.

The award came as a surprise to West, who had been named October, 1957 Driver of the Month by the MTA last week. He and the other 11 monthly winners for 1957 had been singularly honored before his name was announced as top driver.

At present, West operates a tandem-tandem, hauling bulk cement for the Alger Co.

The award automatically qualifies West for consideration as the American Trucking Association's National Driver of the Year, an honor won three years ago by a Detroit driver, Floyd J. Pemberton, of Commercial Carriers, Inc.

I've been a life-long resident of the Village of Chelsea, have served as tax assessor and at present a member of your Council.

During this time I have had opportunity to view first hand the growth and problems of the community. Working with these problems has made me realize that each and every village office requires a capable, efficient and qualified person—dedicated to his responsibilities.

Your vote for a straight independent ticket will help insure continuation of the many civic improvements instigated by the present council, in which independent members predominate.

Air Force Sets Higher Standards For Re-Enlistment

Beginning March 1 the Air Force is instituting even higher standards for enlistment of former servicemen than has been the case since its recruiting service was organized in July, 1954.

The increasing complexity of military and jet aircraft has resulted in more of a demand for young men with high technical aptitude, according to Lt. Col. Meredith T. Martin, commander, Detachment 804, 6801 West Jefferson Avenue, Detroit 17.

A limit on the number of veterans who can be enlisted each month will be established beginning in March. In order to weld a more compact, efficient combat force, the Air Force recruiting service is putting more stress on quality than on quantity.

Specifically, there will be a limitation on the number of servicemen from other branches who will be allowed to enlist, regardless of length of separation from active duty. There will also be a ceiling on the number of former servicemen who may enlist if they've been discharged more than 90 days.

"In addition, the Air Force will require higher scores on its written mental qualification tests beginning in March," Colonel Martin stated.

These changes in qualifications and target objectives for enlisting veterans are the first since the Air Force became a separate recruiting service.

Carton Style, Color
Affect Egg Sales

Stylings and coloring used on egg cartons help homemakers decide which "brand" of eggs they'll buy, declared Carl C. Hoyt, at a Farmers' Week session on the Michigan State University campus.

Hoyt, MSU short course department, explained that consumer panel studies indicate that homemakers consistently choose eggs packed in one carton over another. In the studies, panel members regularly chose cartons with windows or transparent cartons.

color preference was shown for green and white. Blue and white and red and white were less preferable to panel members, Hoyt revealed.

Consumer panel members also liked a multiple style carton, a combination of two green and white cartons taped one on top of the other was the most liked.

Hoyt concluded that more emphasis needs to be placed on packaging.

Held 'Absurd'
In Red China

East Lansing—American newspapers, designed as a free market place of ideas and information, are considered "absurd" by the government of Communist China, according to a Michigan State University lecturer in political science.

It is impossible that the Communists would allow their press to carry ideas and information advocated by people outside the party, stated Dr. Franklin W. Houn, former editor in China and author of a book on its present government.

To the Communists, allowing such a thing would amount to giving aid and comfort to what they call "the laboring people's enemies," Dr. Houn explained. "The press in Communist China is used exclusively by the party and the government."

Censorship as it exists in Western countries is not the same thing as the Communist idea, Dr. Houn pointed out.

"In China the party places its own members in the newspapers," he said. "Editors all know and are faithful to the party line—they do not just suppress certain undesirable items. This is a more 'constructive' policy from the Communist point of view."

A native of China, Dr. Houn was associate editor of the Government Gazette, an official publication, before coming to the United States in 1948. He reports that the Red Chinese government controls news sources completely. Officials cannot talk to newsmen.

He feels it is nearly useless for American correspondents to try to go to Red China because "they will get only what the government wants them to." Even the translators, he added, are Communist agents.

It's a safe bet that people who sleep like a baby don't have one.

U.S.-U.S.S.R. EXCHANGE Agreements for expanded cultural, technical and scientific exchanges have been worked out in negotiations since Oct. 28 between United States Ambassador William S. B. Lacy and Soviet Ambassador Georgi N. Zaroubin.

But Moscow has not yet given Mr. Zaroubin authorization to sign, and the State Department is awaiting the approval that would go far toward breaking down the Iron Curtain.

Earns Rating
Of 'Excellent'Last Saturday the Senior Band traveled to Kimball High school in Royal Oak where they participated in the annual Southeastern Michigan Band Festival. A rating of two, or excellent, was won. The lowest rating possible was a five, or poor, and the highest was a one, or superior.The final rating was computed by averaging the two ratings of concert and sight reading performance. Chelsea received a three in their concert performance and a one in sight reading performance.
A total of 26 bands participated in the day-long program.Judges were Alan Squire and Dr. Kenneth Snapp of Baldwin
Wallace College, George Vain of Oberlin College and Dale Harper of Euclid, O. They especially complimented the band on the baritone and cornet tone and the band's variety of instrumentation. The band appreciated Vain's summary of the band's concert performance.
"Your band, in spite of being criticisms, is a good playing unit and is a real credit to any Class
C high school."Japanese Mission Worker To Speak to CongregationalistsDr. Esther L. Hibbard, a Congregational Christian missionary who has taught at Doshisha University, Kyoto, Japan, since 1929, will appear at 7:30 p.m. Friday evening, March 7, at the First Congregational church of Chelsea.
People of the community are invited to attend the evening's program.Dr. Hibbard, who is professor of English literature and a leader in social and religious activities at the Women's College of Liberal Arts, Doshisha, is in the United States for a year's furlough. Since Japan is the inter-denominational study theme in Protestant churches this year, she will be speaking about that country extensively in school and churches throughout the United States.Born in Japan, where her father was a YMCA secretary, Dr. Hibbard received her A.B. degree from Mount Holyoke College,
South Hadley, Mass., in 1924.
Later she studied for her M.A. degree at the University of Wisconsin and received her Ph.D. in Oriental Civilization from the University of Michigan. She taught for three years in Wisconsin before sailing for Japan in 1929.From 1941 to 1946, after World War II had interrupted her service overseas, she taught the Japanese language at the University of Michigan and lectured in the Civil Affairs Training School of the U. S. Government at Northwestern University's Chicago campus.Returning to Japan in 1946, Dr.
Hibbard expected to encounter resentment against Americans, but instead found a warm welcome and sincere appreciation of Christian workers. When Doshisha University, which was founded in 1875, opened the new four-year women's college in 1948, she was appointed the first dean.The congregation will have a family night pot-luck supper in the church dining room preceding the evening program.Hearing Set March 20
On Re-Location of US-12The proposed relocation of US-12 to an interstate route from Ann Arbor west to the west line of Washtenaw county will be explained at a public hearing to be held in Room 1 of the County Building at Ann Arbor, next
Thursday, March 20, at 1:30 p.m.
Legal notice of the public hearing called by John C. Mackie, Michigan State highway commissioner, is published in this issue of The Standard.Testimony regarding the economic effect of the relocation project on the community will also be heard at the meeting.Fourteen Charter

David Bates Attends Young Republican College Federation Convention

David Bates, 304 Washington street, who is a student at North Central College, Illinois, was a delegate to the third annual Young Republican College Federation convention held Feb. 21 and 22 in Chicago. Bates is campaign chairman of the Young Republican club at North Central College.

The convention passed resolutions supporting the Eisenhower administration in determining the interests of public welfare, the effects of nuclear radiation due to atomic testing, for the purpose of recommending legislation, and Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson's flexible farm support and other policies.

They also went on record as favoring the current proposal to allow college tuition and fees to be deductible from gross income for federal income tax purposes and as urging Illinois Gov. William G. Stratton to become a candidate for the U. S. Senate.

It's bad enough to be a quitter. But it's worse to finish something you never should have started.

More Plants Give Bigger Corn Yields

Many Michigan farmers are not planting enough corn per acre to get the top yield, says Stuart C. Hildebrand, extension farm crops specialist at Michigan State University.

The top producing plant populations vary with the soil but, in general, corn populations per acre are too low.

Hildebrand recommends these five steps for getting the desired plant population and top yields:

1. Using high quality, well graded seed.
2. Use seed treated with an insecticide-fungicide.
3. Plant at a uniform speed of three miles per hour to get uniform distance between plants.
4. Place the fertilizer properly in relation to the seed. Too much fertilizer in the row with the seed may cause seed injury.
5. Increase the seeding rate by about 10 per cent over the plant population you are shooting for. This margin will take care of seed mortality.

Snakes have as many as 300 pairs of ribs.

Questionnaires in Mail For Annual Survey of Hunting Activity

Lansing — Some 27,000 deer hunters are being asked to supply hunting information in the Conservation Department's annual postcard survey of hunting activity and success.

The last of 21,000 questionnaires were mailed recently to regular season deer hunters, seeking information valuable in determining distribution of hunters and deer kill.

Another 6,000 questionnaires were sent to special season hunters in December to obtain facts on "any deer" seasons.

In these surveys, a statistically based cross-section of hunters is asked to supply data which provides a close estimate of the total kill, hunting distribution and other basic information used in establishing deer hunting regulations and in other aspects of deer herd management.

This year, every 20th hunter on license lists was contacted in the regular season survey. The high rate of co-operation among hunters—as many as 98 per cent respond—adds to the poll's accuracy. Results of the survey will be known in spring, after all replies are compiled.

National Weights, Measures Week Recalls First Such Law Framed in 1799

National Weights and Measures Week during March 2-8 Recalls First Weights and Measures Law Adopted by Congress in 1799.

Way back on March 2, 1799, a busy Congress, trying to organize the nation, got around to enacting a law that vitally affects the lives of each of us today—whether we've ever heard of it or not.

This was the first weights and measures law, adopted under the weights and measures power granted Congress by the U. S. Constitution. Now, 159 years later, "National Weights and Measures Week" is being observed in Washington county, and in hundreds of other counties throughout the United States.

The local observance will be headed by George P. Smith, Sealer of Weights and Measures, and will be joined in by E. D. Wolfen.

"We all take for granted the accuracy of weightings and measures that play so large a part in everything we buy and use," Smith said. "But making sure that these are really correct is a big job. Thousands of inspections are made of scales. Packages purchased must be spot checked. Old or inaccurate scales and measuring devices must be repaired or replaced. Losses by weighing errors can easily exceed losses by robbery in our city. Even the Brinks hold-up was small compared with the losses to buyers and sellers through weighing mistakes."

Members of the public have an enormous investment—estimated at $150 per family per year—in the accuracy of their purchases. Even a tiny amount of short-weight, worth only a few cents per purchase, when multiplied by millions of purchases in this area, would reach a staggering sum. "The city's merchants have a big stake in weights and measures accuracy, too," Smith continued. "Fair dealing merchants can really lose their shirts, literally, if their scales happen to be 'low' and are giving more than they're getting paid for. The vast majority of merchants are strictly honest and about half of the mistakes we discover are against the seller. We protect both buyer and seller alike. Our job is to see everybody gets as near as possible what he pays for—no more and no less."

Sometimes the Weights and Measures Department discovers intentional cheating, Smith says. Like short weighing—less than is paid for—or purposely shorting the weight to make up for excessively low price marks. Prompt prosecution usually puts a quick stop to such practices, he declared.

Even more important than the actual violators caught is the restraining effect which continuous weights and measures enforcement has on the would-be illegal operator. Enforcement over the years keeps trade clean and competition fair. It also keeps tradesmen and producers alert to the necessity of keeping their weighing and measuring up to accuracy requirements.

The Washtenaw county Department of Weights and Measures tested 2,256 pieces of weighing and measuring equipment last year. 161 pieces were not within the required tolerance and were condemned for repairs. This includes scales and gasoline and fuel oil meters.

They also re-weighed 14,006 packages and found 2,094 weighed less than the declared weight. Several cases were taken to court with successful convictions.

Fertilizing in Band Cuts 'Burn' Danger

Separate banding of seed and nutrients is the best insurance against "burning" wheat with fertilizer, thinks John Guttay, soil scientist at Michigan State University.

The scientist conceded to a Farmers' Week audience at MSU that most drills in use today do not permit this type of application. Until such drills are available Guttay suggests that wheat growers can avoid fertilizer burn either by bulk spreading the entire fertilizer recommendation bulk spreading part and drilling the rest at planting time; or drill all the fertilizer at planting time but kick up the seeding rate to offset possible injury.

Guttay added that dry weather coupled with today's more soluble fertilizers cut a wheat planting way down. Experimental data has shown that when wheat stands are reduced below 70 per cent, yields also go down.

Largest reptile in the U.S. is the alligator.

THE DRIVER'S SEAT

Think how amazed Robert the late nineteenth century would be if he could see the modern maze of highways that serve America's 75,000,000 motorists.

In 1880 he wondered about the magnet-power of a highway, on which only horse-drawn carriages and carts were the vehicles.

"When a road is once built," he wrote, "it is a strange thing how it collects traffic, how every year as it goes on more and more people are found to ride thereon, and others are raised up to repair and perpetuate it, and keep it alive."

The ever-expanding number of words to describe roads would be another source of surprise for Stevenson. Even the newest dictionary does not contain all the words that picture our roads.

"Highway" had been in general usage, but now it is only one of many terms we all use. There are "expressways" and "freeways," "thruways" and "skyways," "turnpikes" and "toll roads."

But no matter what they are called, modern highways are vital. They are indispensable arteries of communications and transportation.

In the American scheme, highways are lifelines of the economy—they are used for the movement of goods and as recreational gateways.

Along these roads are built a vast number of businesses that Robert Louis Stevenson would have found out of his range of knowledge. These businesses have grown as a necessary adjunct to necessary highways. They provide the services needed by millions of mobile Americans every day—food, shelter, refreshment, recreation, comfort, convenience, supplies. In fact, every step taken toward making our highways more modern and faster increases the need for these services, and for the motorists along the way to motorists telling them where they can be found and what they have to offer.

Stevenson would marvel at this vital network of services for people on the move—gas stations, restaurants, etc.—providing millions of jobs and accounting for more than $25 billion a year in purchases. And being a logical man, he would be amazed to learn that even while these businesses become more necessary, there are groups that are trying to destroy them. Both in the federal Congress and in many states, bills will be introduced this year to either rule all private businesses off the major roads or to prevent them from advertising—which would have the same effect. Yes, to Stevenson, who noted the drive of a free people to value their roads and repair and perpetuate them, and keep them alive, the modern network of roads would be amazing—and so would the efforts of those who try to isolate them from the needs and the wants of the people who use them.

Sis "Puts on the Dog"

My paper's got two subscribers—Sis Harper and her brother Rip—out on lonely Sunset Mountain. A road goes by Sis' farm and both of them are mailed to her because Rip lives back in the woods. Sis always ties her brother's copy of the Clarion—plus any mail—to an old hound who trots over to Rip's place. "Rip feeds the dog half of his dinner," Sis explains. "I give him the other half when he gets back. Speedy's him along."

Thanks to Sis—I bet the Clarion got the only dog-powered delivery system in the U.S.

From where I sit, Sis may live in the "backwoods" but she's got a wide-awake mind. Contrast that with some people who refuse to own up to there's more than one opinion on any subject—like whether beer or buttermilk makes the best beverage. Neat Appearance Adds to Happiness In Homemaking

An attractive appearance helps you have a happy, positive attitude toward homemaking tasks, believes Cora Morris, Michigan State University extension specialist in home management.

To keep your appearance neat, dress when you first get up. This way you avoid becoming the typical "pincushion housewife in an old wrapper." Select clothes in becoming colors and in easy-to-care-for fabrics. Look for styles that give freedom of movement while you work but are not so loose as to catch on things.

A good figure is not just a matter of size nor weight nor years. Good posture counts, too, so groom your figure to bring out its best lines. The time for you to wear a good foundation garment is while you are doing housework, not just on social occasions.

A mirror in the kitchen lets you face yourself several times a day. It may remind you to take a few minutes to rest, smooth your hair or square your shoulders. A touch of make-up, combed hair and carefully tended hands and nails should be a part of your daily beauty routine.

St. Barnabas Guild Plans Church Supper

The monthly meeting of St. Barnabas Guild was held Thursday evening, Feb. 27, at the home of Mrs. Jackson Goltra.

The meeting was opened by the vice-president, Mrs. Charlotte Viers, with prayer. The devotion on "Prayer" were led by the Rev. Cockrell.

It was announced that on March 6, St. Andrew's Board meeting of the Women's Auxiliary for St. Andrew's and its Missions would be held at St. Andrew's, Ann Arbor. Mrs. Jackson Goltra and Mrs. Jeremiah MacDougall will represent St. Barnabas.

The next covered dish supper will be held, together with the weekly Lenten service, at the church, on March 12.

Mrs. Edwena Mather, as a delegate from the Guild, reported on the annual diocesan convention which was held in Detroit in February.

A report on the World Day of Prayer was given by Mrs. Goltra. Mrs. Jackson Goltra and Mrs. Jeremiah MacDougall gave reports on the recent Huron Valley convocation.

The next meeting of the Guild will be held at the home of Mrs. Jeremiah MacDougall on March 28.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Goltra.

Pork Supplies Up; Price Is 'Right' To Help Budget

Pork will please your pocketbook as well as your appetite in these first months of 1958, says Faye Kinder, associate professor of foods and nutrition at Michigan State University.

It will be one of the most plentiful and inexpensive of the meats on your grocery counter.

To take advantage of all the good buys, buy will take some ingenuity on your part. You will find pork a versatile meat, however, that lends itself to many variations.

What cut to buy will be one of your first concerns. If your family likes pork chops, but your budget is limited, choose rib-ends or shoulder chops. They are less expensive than center-cut and loin chops.

Pork roasts are generally cut from both the shoulder and from the loin of the pig, although fresh ham roasts are often available. The Boston butt is a shoulder cut and costs less than either loin or fresh ham.

After you get the meat home, store it in the refrigerator in the clear paper in which you bought it. Fresh pork can be stored for two or three days without losing any of its flavor.

When it comes to cooking pork, try using a few new recipes. For instance, almost everyone knows how to barbecue spareribs but why not try stuffing them? Just place one piece of spare-ribs on a rack in your roasting pan. Arrange pineapple, a few prunes and some apple quarters over the meat. Sprinkle brown sugar over the top and cover with another piece of rib. Bake in a moderate oven (350 F.) for two hours. "It's easy and oh-so-good," says the nutrition worker.

By paying through your cookbooks you will find many other ways to cook pork. Pork chops cooked with apple quarters and sprinkled with brown sugar are another "mouth-waterer."

Pork has so much flavor in itself that you don't need to doctor up many of the cuts. Pork roasts are good roasted in the oven, covered, basted and then served "au jus."

Whatever cut you choose and whichever way you decide to cook it, make pork one of the mainstays of your winter meals.

National Library Promotes Wider, Wiser Use of Books

Lansing—Awakening Americans to the rewards of reading, whether for pleasure or profit, is the aim of the first National Library Week, which begins today.

In Michigan, in addition to community programs, demonstrations and special events planned by civic committees, the Michigan State Library will sponsor several cooperative county meetings.

For a better-read, better-informed American, led by the American Library Association and the National Book Committee, Inc., a non-profit organization devoted to wider and wiser use of books. Major communication media supporting the drive include radio, television, magazines, radio and television.

Support is activated by an acute realization that we live in a complex and difficult time of Sputniks and guided missiles when we must be well-informed or perish. As a democratic nation we depend on knowledge as never before. As the sponsors put it, "We cannot afford a country of lazy minds; we cannot afford a nation of non-readers."

The program is endorsed by the National Education Association, the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the General Federation of Women's Clubs, among many other national organizations.

Michigan State Library is assisting citizens' committees and librarians in numerous counties to promote the nation-wide campaign of new standards for public library service.

Describing the role that books can play in the survival of the free world, Saxton Bradford of United States Information Agency declared, "We are the sum total of what we read. The free world is currently losing the 'Battle of the Books.' We will need to spend the same kind of money for books that is now being spent for bullets if we are to win against a totalitarianism which can turn on money pipelines immediately, whether for books or Sputniks."

There was very good attendance at the Feb. 21 assembly when Glenn Cunningham gave a talk on alcohol.

Dr. Cunningham, a former track star, still holds many records.

He gave Chelsea High a very excellent talk on the use of alcohol, tobacco smoking, and the use of narcotics, and how these products affect an athlete as well as an average person.

Dr. Cunningham has traveled many places in the world, and had many interesting experiences to tell.

The annual staff has been matching pictures and labels and getting everything in the correct order for the annual Organizations, bands, and classes had their pictures taken Feb. 26.

Movies shown last week included "The Element of Design," and "Elements of Construction," selected by Mrs. Reinholz for the art classes. Philip Smith showed "Poultry Raising" and Miss Fox showed "The Sea of Grass."

Mr. Conklin showed "Circulation," brought us "Defense Against Invasion," a Walt Disney movie explaining vaccination, in explanation of the need for the immunization clinic March 11.

The junior class successfully presented a ham supper Feb. 24 except for the fact that they ran a bit short of food towards the end. They were glad to make a profit on it.

The junior class play is being prepared to be presented March 28-29 at the high school gym. It is a comedy in three acts, entitled "Ten o'Clock Scholar." The cast was chosen by Mrs. Gwen LaGoe who will direct the play, with the help of Pat Merkel, student director. Tom Young, a ten o'clock scholar, will be either Earl Heller or Bob Smith. A regular and an understudy have not been decided upon yet. Other characters are Chuck Young, his younger brother, Bob Eder; Trudi Young, his sister, Ellen Keusch; Opal Frisby, their aunt, Jeanie Larson; Melody Phillips, a botany teacher, Robert Steger; April Richards, an English teacher, Sandra Karner; Stewart Plopper, a social science teacher, David Schroen; Cary Chuck, girlfriend, Carole Barr; Sheila, an ambitious senior; Sharon Slane; Alice, Gay, and Pat, Trudi's girlfriends, Helen Lentz, Carol DeMint, and Sandra Fraser; Margo South; and Mr. Erickson, the high school principal, Jim Mahar. Other roles will go to Don Ferguson and Jennifer Hibbs.

All the other committees such as tickets, programs, etc., are working to complete their duties. The promoters will be Sue Patrick and Fritz Wagner.

Art classes are working on clay work and making posters for organizations. Classes will start working soon on sculpture.

Mr. Taylor's and Mr. Conklin's to drive. After many jerks, sudden driver's training classes have begun stops, stalling of motors, etc., the students will attempt to perfect themselves and become sportsman-like drivers.

The driver's training car is a 1958 Chevrolet. It has dual clutch and brakes with two most capable driver training teachers.

The juniors have voted by ballot for a prom theme but the decision will not be announced until the committees are picked at a future date.

The girls' physical education class have gotten well underway on their bowling tournaments. In the standings now, team three is in first place, team six is in second place, and team one is in third place.

On Mondays, Wednesday, and Fridays they are tumbling. There will be many skill tests to be passed during this unit.

Albion College was the main topic of discussion at the last Future Teachers of America meeting held on Friday, Feb. 21. Members asked questions concerning college life, while Mr. Sanborn, sponsor, answered them. In the near future, the club is planning to visit a near-by college, although no definite plans have been made.

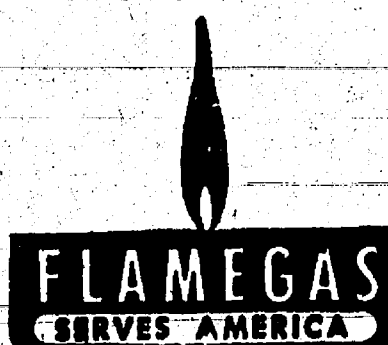

At the meeting Feb. 26, the journalists were faced with many burning issues. First discussed was the need for money not only to put out the school paper, but to pay for next year's editors' MSU summer trip, and awards as well. They actually discussed the possibilities of putting out the next "Bulldog" in a less attractive form. It seems that C.H.S. students do not appreciate their attractive, professional-looking newspaper! Since money will be saved by this cheaper, "do-it-yourself" printing, the club is seriously considering this idea.

The questions of what Junior High awards should be this year was also brought up.

However, all is not hard work. Members enjoyed a find supper Tuesday night, March 4.

Search On Again for New Taxes

With another session of the State Legislature now under way, every bush and blade of grass is being examined in the hopes of finding new sources of revenue to bolster the State economy.

Governor Williams has already proposed an increase in intangible property tax payments. A corporation tax and a state income tax have also been kicked around in various discussions. What the final outcome will be no one knows at this point. However, one thing is fairly certain, namely that new taxes will be imposed in an effort to meet the anticipated 1957-58 deficit as well as to prepare for new record expenditures in 1958-59.

In all of the discussion during the past weeks and months, we have heard very little from either the administrative or the Legislature, about attempts to reduce expenditures as a means of bringing the budget closer in balance. This is understandable since it is a much tougher job to cut costs than to increase revenues. When economy moves are initiated somebody usually gets pinched and the howls can be pretty rough on the ears.

Yet the government, like any successful business, must eventually face up to the fact that it must live within its means. This is a simple theory of economics which has been proved by years of trial. It involves far more than just increasing revenues when the trouble signs pop up. It more likely means cutting back in order to bring things in balance. Such a procedure requires co-operative effort and understanding of the true situation. Neither the Governor nor the Legislature can do it alone. It requires the support of all the people. As long as demands are made for new and expanded services, the costs of government will continue to increase.—Alma Record.

More Than One Science Needed

Guided missiles and sputniks have focused a lot of attention on education, and have brought a demand for more education in science. This demand has, in some quarters, reached almost the proportions of demanding factory-like production of scientists.

There can be no doubt that scientific education is valuable, but not to the exclusion of everything else. We shouldn't forget that the world still will need doctors and ministers and writers and statesmen. While there may be a need for scientists, there also is a need for citizens of well-rounded intelligence.

That's worth thinking about before we close up the liberal arts colleges to make scientist factories.—The Hartford Day Spring.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Michigan's economic stamina is being tested by a business setback that both parties agree is gripping the nation, either temporarily or on a long-range basis.

The effect on state government is cumulative.

For the second year, Republicans are faced with a need for economy, ranged against demands for expanded services, especially in the fields of higher education and mental health.

"Cautious instructions are to cut the budget. There will be no new taxes."

That was the cryptic announcement of Senator Frank D. Beaulieu (R-St. Clair) after a two-hour conference with the Republican majority. The repercussions started immediately.

Democrats charged it was a trial balloon, a "frank pitch" for public support; but there was also the opinion that the GOP is making ing wise use of the existing situation.

Republicans reason that if the public reaction is against their decision, the party will have a ready-made argument that, despite the anticipated flood of red ink, the public wants services.

"It means that the public will, in effect, be demanding new taxes and we'll have time to pass them," one said.

The final decision can fix state spending on a two-year-old standard with increases only to take care of year-old pay raises, recent promotion adjustments of wage scales and committed buildings.

And the increase will be more than $19,000,000 poured into state school aid from the general fund—a drain never anticipated.

School aid was handled, until two years ago, by the law turning over two cents of the three-cent on a dollar sales-tax to the schools. When the fund ran short, the state made up the difference.

First move to keep the level at $100 per pupil was to advance payments two years ago. Last year, the answer was the $25,000,000 cigarette and liquor tax increases.

The twin tax boost fell $3,000,000 short.

That means that the state will have to raise $6,000,000 to handle current-year payments, then find $14,000,000 more for the 70,000 new pupils expected next fall.

Republican decision anticipates a deficit of some $15,000,000—which party hopefuls describe as "manageable."

Republicans said the decision will mean the equivalent of a 10 per cent decrease in the board decrease in state services.

Because some items like public welfare cannot be decreased, the decreases will have to be spotted heavier in some agencies. Republicans said the 30,000 state payroll will have to be reduced.

As the 1958 session of the legislature nears the halfway point, the question develops: Is this really a trial balloon, or a policy decision that will stick?

Campaigning politicians must develop strategy to toss against their opponents and the opposite party.

Now comes the problem of strategy and timing of the television era.

Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart, announcing his candidacy for the U. S. Senate, realized that the announcement would automatically cut off his free television time.

As an office-holder, he was welcomed before the cameras. As a candidate, he must pay his way or his opponent gets equal free time under television's code of practice—and some laws.

The office seeker must weigh the advantage of free TV time with that of the press coverage a candidate. He must also consider the advantage of formally staking out the office so far as opponents within the party are concerned.

When it seems wiser to announce, he makes his move.

This situation existed for Senator John B. Swainson (D-Detroit) who announced he is a candidate for Hart's office.

Gov. Williams, who always has waited until the last possible minute to make his announcement, is following a similar practice this year. For him, delay means even more.

As a governor, he can use a limousine chauffeured by State Police aides, ride in a state-owned and operated airplane and get free television and radio time, even without asking.

That's why he will wait, and wait, and wait.

Republicans are a trifle confused by the slacity with which industrialists and businessmen jumped at the chance to become Gov. Williams' ambassadors.

The program is for the nearly

The NATIONAL OUTLOOK

BY RALPH ROBEY

The Federal Reserve Steps in . . .

The Federal Reserve System has finally made important news. To appreciate its action one needs to refresh his memory on a few elementary facts.

By law all national banks in this country must be members of the Federal Reserve System. State banks may be members if they comply with the same standards as national banks. We have about 13,500 commercial banks of which close to 6,500 are member banks. These member banks hold over four-fifths of all loans and investments in our commercial banking system.

Also by law, each member bank is required to keep on deposit with the Federal Reserve Bank a stipulated reserve against its deposits. This requirement can be altered, within certain limits, by the Federal Reserve Board of Governors. Since 1954 the requirement for central Reserve cities, New York and Chicago, has been 20 per cent; for Reserve cities—about 58 of the next largest centers—15 per cent; for all others known as country banks, 12 per cent.

Purpose of these reserve requirements is to limit the lending power of the member commercial banks. For example if a New York bank made a loan and gave the borrower the proceeds as a deposit, which is customary, it must have an amount equal to one-fifth of the loan on deposit with the New York Federal Reserve Bank. If the commercial bank did not have this reserve it must obtain it. It could do this by borrowing from the Reserve Bank, by selling securities and depositing the receipts with the Reserve Bank, or by borrowing a part of the excess reserve of another commercial bank.

There are three ways by which the Federal Reserve authorities may influence the reserve position, or lending attitude, of the member banks. First, and the method used most frequently, is by buying and selling government securities in the open market. When the Reserve Bank buys securities the amount of the purchase always ends up in the deposit account of member banks, thus giving them additional reserves. Conversely, when securities are sold the accounts of member banks are debited by the amount of the sale.

New Process May Aid Michigan Potato Sales

A new processing method now makes it possible for 100 pounds of Michigan potatoes to go to market in a 15 pound package, reports Smith Greig, Michigan State University agricultural economist. The new product, dehydrated mashed potatoes called "potato flakes," has shown a good market potential in tests by MSU, the economist states.

According to Greig, total potato processing is up sharply with dehydrated mashed potatoes making the most rapid gains. Taste panels have shown Michigan flakes to be superior to dehydrated mashed potatoes produced in the West.

VILLAGE OF CHELSEA AUDIT REPORT

December 31, 1957

To the Honorable, the Village Council
Village of Chelsea, Michigan

We have examined the statement of financial condition of the Village of Chelsea as of December 31, 1957, and the related statement of receipts and disbursements for the year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion, the accompanying statement of financial condition and statement of receipts and disbursements present fairly the position of the Village of Chelsea at December 31, 1957, and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in conformity with generally accepted governmental accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Very truly yours,
Jerome Johnson & Hoffman

VILLAGE OF CHELSEA AUDIT REPORT Electric and Water Department

December 31, 1957

To the Honorable, the Village Council
Village of Chelsea, Michigan

We have examined the statement of financial condition of the Electric and Water Department of the Village of Chelsea as of December 31, 1957, and the statement of income and retained earnings for the year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

We did not confirm the accounts receivable by correspondence with the debtors, but satisfied ourselves by other means that the accounts were valid.

In our opinion, the accompanying statement of financial condition and the related statement of income and retained earnings present fairly the financial position of the Electric and Water Department of the Village of Chelsea at December 31, 1957, and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Very truly yours,

which reduces their reserves and tends to make interest rates rise. The second method by which the Reserve authorities influence commercial bank policies is by changes in the discount rate. Actually, this does not either increase or decrease the reserve position of member banks, but it does change the price at which commercial banks may replenish their reserve position through borrowing from the Reserve Bank. As a rule, open market operations are used to meet temporary elements in the demand and supply position of credit, and variations in the discount rate in the credit situation.

The third method is by changing the reserve requirements. This is by far the most powerful instrument the Reserve authorities have and it is used only at rare intervals. But it was this instrument which the Reserve System has just used. Specifically the reserve requirement for all banks were reduced one-half of a percentage point. The aggregate effect of this change is to add approximately $500 million to the reserves of member banks.

The reason for this action has been generally interpreted as a desire to help business recovery. And it is probable that this desire did enter into the decision. However, it appears that a more powerful factor was the desire to facilitate borrowing by the U. S. Treasury.

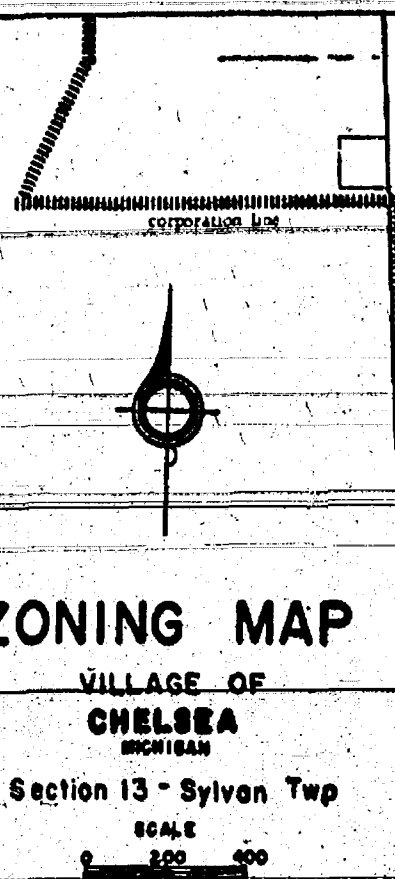

Primary reason for assigning this greater weight to Treasury borrowing is that, through open market operations and discount rate changes, the commercial banks are in a position to take care of business needs. But with the Government currently operating at a deficit it will be necessary for the Treasury to come to the market before long for additional funds.

By adding $500 million to the reserve position of member banks there should be no question of Treasury offerings being taken without difficulty, and at reasonable rates of interest.

Veterans Urged To Be Sure of Right Beneficiary

An increasing number of cases are coming to light in which GI life insurance proceeds must be paid to other than the veteran's immediate family because the veteran failed to keep his beneficiary listing up to date.

This was reported today by Lloyd H. Jameson, manager, Detroit Regional Office of the Veterans Administration for the benefit of any of the 274,000 GI insurance policyholders in Michigan who should change their beneficiary in family status.

Marriages, divorces, births, or deaths are the types of changes in family status which may indicate needed changes in beneficiary listings, Jameson said.

In many of the recent cases coming to light, beneficiaries of VA record were the same the veteran had named when they took out their policies years ago, even though they had since married and begotten families, Jameson said.

He added VA is required by law to pay GI insurance proceeds to the beneficiary of record, whether or not that beneficiary still is in any way connected with the veteran.

Changes of beneficiaries may be made at any time without notifying the beneficiaries, but they must be made in writing over the policyholder's signature and sent to the VA office servicing the policy, Jameson said.

These changes cannot be made in a last will or testament, Jameson added; they must be filed by the policyholder with VA directly to be valid under the law.

Any VA office will be glad to assist GI insurance policyholders in filing beneficiary changes, Jameson said.

LOOK AT PONY KILLS BOY

Georgetown, Del.,—Seven-year-old Christopher Quillen apparently couldn't resist taking a look at his Christmas pony and, as a result, was accidentally strangled.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Quillen, of near Georgetown, told State police the youngster had been sent to the barn to feed the chickens.

He apparently looked into the open window where the pony was stalled. The window, normally held in place by a nail, somehow worked loose and fell on the boy's neck.

PROJECT MAY FOLD UP

London.—It's doubtful whether Britain will build an atomic submarine (projected with a launch of publicity last winter).

Some Admiralty officials regard it as a last chance to bolster Britain's naval prestige.

But the Admiralty, according to highly qualified sources, is in a tussle with Defense Department planners who doubt the project is worth the fortune involved. These planners contend Britain, as a part of the new interdependence policy, can get full information on the American atomic submarine Nautilus.
