Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellers up at the country store Saturday night was wondering if Explorer will have any effect on the weather. Ed Donahue, allowed at how Congress was able to take over the weather if we get too many of them things flying around.

I think Ed's wrong, and I'll tell you why.

If our Congressmen was to take over the rain, for instance, we'd have to file a 10-page application to get a heavy dew, and for a real political endorsement of the county chairman. By the time the Rain Committee got through with the red tape and was about ready to send us a sprinkle, it would be too late for the crops.

And if one of them Senate investigating committees discovered that some member of the Rain Committee had broke bread with Jim Hoffa, they'd hold up the application until we might never get no more rain. It wouldn't work.

Moving over from Congressmen to hogs, the fellers got to and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Grams of Detroit; and the Engles' family.

SAFETY GOOD TURN—Robert Snyder (at right), one of the Boy Scouts of Troop 76, had just handed a service station customer a paper windshield towel of the type distributed all over the country in the 1958 "Safe, Good Turn" program introduced by President Eisenhower early this year. Provided by the petroleum industry, the towels are imprinted with pertinent suggestions for traffic safety practices. The above picture was taken at Hanker's Service Station on South Main street, the customer in the photograph being Harry Minick. Approximately 25 Boy Scouts of Troop 76, under the direction of Scoutmaster Elmer Kiet, distributed the towels to customers at local gas stations Friday and Saturday of last week as the first phase of their safety program which stresses the three areas of traffic, home and outdoor activities. ### Grass Fires Still Plague Fire Dept.

From Sunday morning through Tuesday evening the Chelsea Fire Department responded to five calls, four of them being grass fires.

Chelsea Fire Chief Ted Balmer and Conservation Officer Donley Boyer, announced yesterday that in view of the number of runs made by the fire department (more than 25 for grass fires to date) and because of the concern of township supervisors resulting from the tremendous expense to the township, any cases where officials deem carelessness a factor in starting the fires will be investigated. When conservation and fire officials determine that fires were started carelessly or left unattended after starting, the persons responsible will be prosecuted.

This action is in line with Michigan statutes, Act 143, P. A. 1923, as amended, reading as follows: "Any person who wilfully, negligently or carelessly sets a fire which injures or endangers the property of another, may, upon conviction, be assessed a fine of not more than $100.00 and costs of prosecution or imprisonment for 90 days or both such fine and imprisonment."

Reapportionment Battle Coming Up Again Before November Election

The 1952 reapportionment battle appears to be headed for a repeat performance in 1958 under the guise of a revision of the Michigan state constitution.

Participants in the effort to give Detroit and Wayne county control of the Michigan legislature will be the same as in 1952, with the powerful UAW-CIO pulling the strings and providing the money and ammunition, and the Democratic party augmenting its efforts, probably with a great number of the party faithfuls being unaware of the sinister dangers involved in the move.

Background for the battle of control of Michigan is this: Every 16 years the people of Michigan automatically have a chance to vote on a question of revision of the state constitution. This year is the 16th year. The constitution provides that delegates to a constitutional convention will be chosen on a basis of three to each state senatorial district, should the electorate vote affirmatively on the issue.

Last June the CIO and the Democrats revealed plans to change the method of selection of delegates to a population basis, which would put the CIO stronghold of Detroit in a position to dictate changes in the constitution. Actually, it would be a reapportionment issue again, tacked on as an amendment to the constitution next November.

However, when the Michigan Farm Bureau went on record as opposing such a move, the CIO and its members in the Democratic party shifted their position to one of caution. The Detroit Times reported that the CIO and certain elements of the Democratic party want to control the convention to "crystallize their liberal philosophies" as a climax to taking control of Michigan's state government.

The battle lines are being drawn. It appears that the constitutional question will be a blazing issue in 1958.

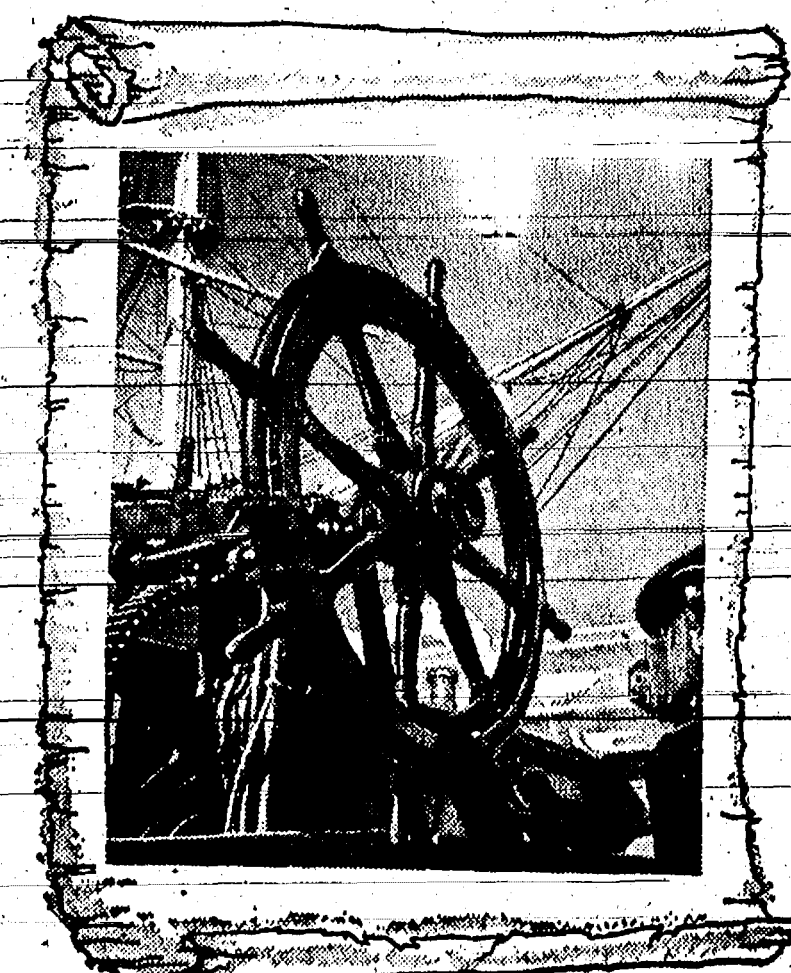

Outstate Michigan, including Washtenaw county and Chelsea, has much at stake, and must fight for a balanced representation to survive.

Certainly it wouldn't be in the interest of good government to have a constitution dictated by any powerful self-interest group centered in one particular area, whether it be the CIO and Wayne county or any other such group. We also would like to have a voice in it.

The people of Michigan spoke out against the CIO-style of reapportionment in 1952. And they will not be fooled by any camouflage such as Walter Reuther is attempting for 1958, if they will but take the time to find out the details.

Opportunities might be more easily recognized if they didn't so often come disguised as hard work.

We've heard of one employer who didn't hesitate to double the weekly pay check of each of his employees. That is, as he placed it in the envelope, he folded it.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Gov. Williams will be the first Michigan chief executive getting a chance to use reorganization powers sought by government reformers for eight years.

Many people were amazed when Republicans joined Democrats to enact a law enabling the governor to reorganize state government, held in check only by a legislative veto.

The whole system reverses the normal relationship between the legislature and the governor, in which the lawmakers enact and the governor vetoes or approves.

The history of the idea in Michigan began with an ambitious research program started eight years ago.

Launched by the legislature, the survey dug into every phase of state government and made 31 reports. The executive reorganization plan was the pivot of them all.

Numerous proposals for specific reforms were the twigs on the tree, but the executive reorganization idea was the trunk.

Researchers reasoned that the administrative head of government should be responsible for his own operations and should be the most familiar with the weaknesses and strengths of the agencies.

The executive reorganization plan was offered to the legislature each year and each year it was defeated or left to gather dust in a committee room pigeon hole.

Only a few political scientists believed it would pass this year. It passed the House 68-36 and the Senate 19-11.

Critics of the idea argued that the legislature is the state's law-making body and should propose, debate and iron the kinks out of reorganization ideas before they are put into effect.

Backers of the idea said that the legislature, in session for three months or more each year, could not possibly know the details of a functioning department and whether it should be merged with another.

The bill, as passed by both houses, allows the governor to propose mergers and abandonment of agencies but he cannot propose new agencies.

Safeguards have been written into the law.

The governor may make his proposals within 30 days after the legislature convenes in January, and the legislature then will have 60 days in which to act.

If the legislature does not approve or disapprove of the proposals, they will become law 90 days after the session ends.

Either house can veto the proposals, and after the veto by both are needed before the proposals can be put into effect.

For years, separate attempts have been made to merge all health agencies under a single administrative office, each operating separately, but their work coordinated by a single head.

It has also been proposed that the dozens of state regulatory and licensing agencies be merged, that a clear distinction be made between some overlapping welfare and health functions.

The whole idea of the survey eight years ago was to centralize control of government as well as responsibility, giving voters a clear-cut view of the record of candidates.

The new law is a personal victory for Senator Frank Andrews (R-Hillman) but the manner of its birth as a law deprived him of credit for its passage.

Andrews inherited chairmanship of the legislative committee on state government reorganization (the "Little Hoover Commission") from former Rep. Robert M. Montgomery in 1952.

Research work had then been accomplished and Andrews undertook the tougher job of plotting his recommendations through the legislature.

Hillman opposition to giving Williams more power thwarted him at almost every turn.

Time after time, the proposals were introduced by Andrews, only to be killed off in committee.

Occasionally, some reached the public affairs floor where the demise was a public affair.

This time, the reorganization bill was first sponsored in the House of Representatives. Andrews, who did the grueling work of promotion, cannot be listed as a sponsor.

But when the people who followed the course of the program see it in action in the future, there will come to mind the tall, strong figure of the man from Hillman.

★ Is There a Depression Ahead?

In spite of a continued downward trend in the economy almost no one believes we are headed into a depression. Note that we say "almost" because there are some who believe we have a recession or mild readjustment there are a few pessimists who become convinced we are headed into collapse.

The number of such persons today is small—so small that many analysts are busily engaged looking for signs that we are approaching bottom.

Such signs, however, as yet are neither too plentiful nor too impressive. Some of them include:

1. Machine tool orders have advanced for two successive months. This attracted unusual attention because machine tool orders are one of those long-lead series from the point of view of forecasting the trend. Drawback of this January and February increase is that it still leaves a total some sixty per cent below 1929 level.

2. The Federal Reserve Board is continuing to keep commercial banks in a relatively easy reserve position. Currently the net free reserves (required reserves less discounts) are running at around $500 million. This means there is no shortage of credit for borrowers of good standing.

3. Government spending is increasing overall and unquestionably will continue upward. This does not mean such spending will turn the economy around, but at least it is on the plus side at the moment.

4. Applications for FHA commitments are increasing, which means private housing starts, disappointing in February, should soon show an upturn. This is so likely that expectation for the year is still about one million housing starts, and construction as a whole continues to hold up well.

5. Retail trade remains good. In the durable goods field there has been, and is, a decline, but in the non-durable goods field the total approximates that of a year ago.

It is assumed this will remain a reasonably strong element. If this assumption proves false, we are in for trouble in the sense that some new level must be found before we can have a general upturn.

6. Unemployment continues to increase, but the rate of increase is slowing down. Between December and January the number grew about 1,100,000, and between January and February, another 700,000. By comparison, the increase between February and March was only 25,000, which was more than offset by an employment increase of 323,000.

These are the more important favorable factors in the business trend. Taken together they do not make, as stated above, a too impressive showing. None the less they do provide at least some reason for believing that the downturn is, as Gabriel Hauge, the economic advisor to President Eisenhower, phrased it a few days ago, "beginning to run out of steam."

Another way to describe the present situation is to say the worst of the bad news is behind us, except in a few isolated spots. In other words the future decline in production will not be great as we have already had; the present volume of unemployment should not substantially increase; the decline of inventories, orders and sales is more than we shall see from here on, and so forth.

Granted, this is not a very optimistic picture, it is still worth mentioning for two reasons: (a) it means this is no time for becoming panicky and running for the storm cellar; and (b) there is no justification for grantmaking and coupon programs by the Government.

We need sound legislation by the Congress in connection with income tax rate reform, labor and a few other things. We do NOT need anything approaching an anti-depression program.

★ A Yellow Jacket

The other morning I saw a high school boy wearing a yellow jacket and a girl wearing a red jacket walking to school together. In the morning sunlight I noticed that the yellow jacket looked brighter than the red one, and I remembered someone had suggested yellow would be better than red as a protective color for hunting caps and coats, because yellow has better visibility.

brighter—and then I learned the reason. (We seldom seem to find the answer unless first of all we ask the question!)

My son Bob has been studying the science of color in his high school physics class. I learned from him that yellow light is not a single color, but is instead a combination of green light and bluish-purple light. When you look at something yellow, your eye is receiving two sets of light waves. When you look at something red, your eye is receiving only red light rays.

This information startled me, because I learned when mixing paints long ago that the three primary colors are red, yellow, and blue. But Bob pointed out that mixing paints or pigments is a different matter from mixing colored lights. A pigment is colored because it absorbs certain light rays and reflects the rest.

So if I mix two pigments, the resulting color is what is left after each of the two pigments has absorbed as many light rays as it can. So the mixing of pigments is a matter of subtraction, and the mixing of lights is a matter of addition. If you understand this the first time over, you're a better man than I am, Gunga Din.)

It gave me a feeling of considerable satisfaction to be able to recognize a reason for the apparent brightness of the yellow jacket. Modern man likes to find the reasons for things. Scientists have made great progress by seeking the causes back of observed facts. Actually, the modern man will hardly believe in the truth of anything unless he can see a cause for it. Haven't you heard someone say, "I just can't believe she did that; I can't understand why she would!"

More than 200 years ago, Leibnitz noted that "we judge that no fact can be real or existent, unless there be a sufficient reason why it is thus." But he also noted that "these reasons very often cannot be known to us."

You must have found in your own experience that the reasons why you do any act are so complex that no other human being could possibly be aware of them all.

In fact, Leibnitz concluded, after much thought, only God could understand the reasons which led to any particular event. So anyone less than God ought to be very hesitant about judging the actions of anyone else.

If you're the descendant of an American Indian and can prove it, you may be eligible for special scholarship funds at the University of Michigan.

A device for rapidly transmitting pictures of battle lines, weather fronts, and other situations by teletype machines has been developed at the University of Michigan's Engineering research Institute.

Thursday, April 22, 1954—Groundbreaking ceremonies will take place Sunday for the construction of a new Baptist church on Wilkinson street.

William Hochman was honored Monday for completion of 50 years of service with Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. The honoring ceremony took place in the Ann Arbor office of the company.

Bruce Hoffman starred in the CHS baseball game against Dundee Monday when he struck out in favor of Chelsea.

The Chelsea schools board of education at its meeting Tuesday, restricted non-resident high school pupils to those in the school's service area and those in districts from which the local school formerly accepted them.

Children who will take part in a playlet "Uncle Sam Needs Us," at St. Mary's school Sunday, are Shirley Kolb, Gladys Hafner, Conrad Hafner, Frederick Weber, Agnes Forner, Barbara Quirk, Genevieve Guinan, Therese Hankard, Philip Roy, Walter Tarnacki, Bob Merkel, John Sabatini, Patricia Edon, Dorcas Edick, Dorothy Laban, Charles Zeel, Priscilla Popp, Eleanor Embury and Rose Marie Tarnacki.

St. John's Young People's League, Rogers Corners, will present a mystery comedy "Dummy," at the high school auditorium tomorrow, included in the cast are Kenneth Niehaus, Ruth Esch, Marian Buss, Henry Orbring, Jack Niehaus, Armin Kuhl, Robert Trinkle, Virginia Esch and Jeannette Frey. Features between acts: Xylophone solo by Shirley Eschelbach and songs by a vocal trio—Don Alber, Dick Foor and Hank Orbring.

Entertaining the service this week are Roland Spaulding, David R. Poda, Andrew Policht and Ivan Alder.

Malcolm Novess who is serving with the Army overseas, has been promoted to the rank of sergeant. Plans are being completed for using Camp Waterloo to house German war prisoners who are to work for farmers in this area during this crop year. Farmers will pay the government a stipulated amount per day.

A large section of the village was threatened by flames which Tuesday evening destroyed the Holmes & Walker warehouse, Alber Bros. warehouse and a barn on the Dr. C. C. Lane property on West Middle street. Village officials, fearing that the local fire department might not be able to cope with the blaze, called in Arbor and Jackson for help. Chelsea firemen had the situation in hand when the Jackson truck arrived. Falling embers started fires in the residence section on Park, Orchard and Grand streets. Quick work by guards stationed throughout the village saved this section from serious damage. Damage is estimated at $20,000. "Miss Fearless & Co.," a three-act comedy, will be given at St. Mary's school hall Sunday. (Continued on page nine)

Usually there's no need to buy extra vitamins for the dairy cow. Michigan State University dairy specialists say only vitamins A and D are not produced by the cow. Good roughage supplies enough of these two vitamins. Vitamin D also comes from sunlight.

Applications for Corn Acreage Reserve Program Taken Until April 18

Max Kalmbach, chairman of the Washtenaw county ASC committee reports that farmers, who indicated a definite interest to participate in the 1958 Corn Acreage Reserve program, made a specific effort to sign an agreement or file a request to take part in the program, will be offered an opportunity to complete an Acreage Reserve agreement if present allocation of funds is not entirely obligated on agreements and requests presently on file.

Agreements will be accepted from these farmers, and approved by county committee, providing they file a certificate of intent with their local ASC office by April 18.

This exception for waiving the deadline date for signing Acreage

Reserve agreements was included in the action taken by Congress in authorizing an additional allocation of $250 million for the 1958 Acreage Reserve program.

Two basic conditions must be met whereby agreements will be accepted after the deadline date originally established. These conditions are: (1) The farmer is able to clearly establish that he took positive action in an attempt to file an agreement or register on Form C-85-823; and (2) funds are available after having covered all agreements that were timely filed and all requests to participate which were properly registered by the applicable closing date, Feb. 20.

Selective breeding can mean bigger sirloin and T-bone steaks for the nation's dinner tables, say Michigan State University beef researchers. A study of the loins area—where these steaks come from—indicates that most of the variation in size is due to breeding.

At Zion Lutheran Church

Twenty-two men were present for the shuffleboard pay-off dinner given Tuesday evening by the Zion Lutheran church losing "Black" team, captained by Alfred Schneider, for the winning "Red" team, captained by Ray Manzoni. The dinner, prepared and served by wives of the losing team members, was held in the parish hall.

A program of community singing and brief talks, together with the showing of pictures of Alaska, shown by Forest Walz, completed the evening's entertainment.

Named as captain of next year's "Black" team was Erwin Wenk, while his brother, Ernest Wenk, was named captain of the "Red" team.

CARD OF THANKS

Our thanks and appreciation are extended to neighbors, relatives and friends for their many expressions of sympathy and condolence following the loss of our father; for the many acts of kindness and for the beautiful flowers. Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Guinan. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Murphy.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our daughter, Betty Jo Joseph Hood, who passed away April 19, 1958.

No one knows how much we miss her; No one knows the bitter pain. We have suffered since we lost her, Life will never be the same.

In our hearts her memory lingers Sweetly tender, fond and true. There is not a day goes by That we aren't thinking of her.

When evening shadows are falling And we sit in quiet, alone, To our hearts there comes a longing, If only she could come home.

Friends may think we have forgotten When at times they see us smile, But little they know the heart-aches Our smiles hide all the while.

Sadly Missed Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Joseph.

THANK YOU Many thanks to those who sent cards and gifts and extended so many kindnesses to Billy and the family while he was in the hospital and since his return home; also to those who called. We will always remember the thoughtfulness of friends, relatives and neighbors at this time. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Koeh and Billy.

Children Visit Hatchery

Chelsea Co-operative Nursery children are wearing bright yellow "chick" pins as evidence of their first out-of-town field trip to the Kiefer Hatchery at Bridge water, Monday morning, April 14. Accompanied by the teacher Mrs. Raymond Schairer and mothers Mrs. Jack Merkel, Mrs. J. R. Seitz, Mrs. Donald Goodson, Mrs. William Chandlee, Mrs. David Strieter, Mrs. Charles Powers, Mrs. John Pilkington and Mrs. Paul Bohler, the children were able to handle tiny chicks and to see a batch of chicks as they hatched from their eggs in the incubator.

On the way home the caravan stopped for a picnic of cupcakes and milk on the lawn of the Bohler's Pleasant Lake home. Today's parents will look forward to seeing drawings of the children's impressions of the trip.

What's Your Record?

Harold E. West, who has driven over 1,600,000 miles without an accident, has been chosen Michigan's 1957 Driver of the Year!

His amazing total of accident-free miles amounts to an average of more than 5,000 a month during the 27 years he has driven a truck for the Geo. F. Alger Company, large Detroit trucking concern.

Like the 11 other truck drivers who were finalists with him in the annual competition (and the drivers of the thousands of trucks which keep Michigan's homes and factories and shops and farms supplied with the things they need), West makes a professional career of safe driving.

Congratulations, Harold West! Keep up the good work—and may your example be an inspiration to Michigan's vast motoring public!

EVENING PHILATHEA

Evening Philathea Circle of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church held a meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. George Atkinson.

Mrs. William Briston presented the program in which the progress against prejudice was further developed as part of the year's study on the subject.

During the fact that many fine things were unexpectedly developed from almost nothing, Mrs. Briston illustrated her point by relating how Lew Wallace wrote his great book, "Ben Hur." When he started his book, Mrs. Briston said, he had no religious convictions, but as he delved into material for his writing his convictions grew until they gradually brought him a most abiding faith.

In this same manner, the overcoming of prejudice may be expected to develop into the perfect Christian concept, even though progress in that direction seems slow.

The devotional period stressed the theme of going "the second mile" doing more than the required minimum of good works.

Jean Sorensen assisted as co-hostess for the meeting.
