Four Band Members At Interlochen Camp

Sherry Frisinger, Carol Cameron, Peter Flintoft, and Daniel Mayer are attending the Intermediate All-State Band Camp at Interlochen, this week and next. Barry and Carol were recipients of the Band Booster club scholarship, while Peter and Danny were awarded their scholarships by the Chelsea Kiwanis club.

All were selected on the basis of musical ability, scholarship and school citizenship.

They are playing in the huge 15-piece band under the direction of Charles Hills, who directs the national all-star Fowlerville High School Band. They will have daily sectional rehearsals under outstanding private teachers, in addition to having the opportunity of selecting classes in conducting, music theory, radio, speech and drama.

Their recreation program includes swimming, sailing, canoeing, hiking, volleyball, softball, and baseball.

The camp is sponsored by the University of Michigan.

Sherry, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Frisinger, plays the alto and baritone sax in the Senior Band and is also an accomplished pianist. She is also a consistent member of the school honor roll.

Falling Tree Limb Plunges West Side of Village in Darkness

Goal of 2,000 Persons Set For Barbecue

Mysterious 'July 27' Appears on Store Windows in Town

The phrase "July 27" is appearing in all store windows in Chelsea, reminding people of the community that it is the date for the Chelsea Community Fair Board chicken barbecue.

Reports of ticket sales in the community and throughout the southern Michigan and northern Ohio area indicate that the Fair Board's goal of an attendance of 2,000 people will be reached.

Since the event can be handled "rain or shine" because of the availability of the newly-constructed building on the fairgrounds, plans are proceeding for providing charcoal-broiled chicken halves sufficient for a record crowd.

Serving techniques will be such that no long waiting lines will be necessary, either for serving at the fairgrounds or for take-out orders.

Co-operation being received from all areas of the community indicates that the affair will be one of the biggest affairs to be staged here in some time.

Proceeds are designated for defraying the cost of installation of electricity and equipment at the fairgrounds and in the new building.

Lightning Fire Damages Lima Factory

Extensive damage to the Jack-Lo and Lima Abrasive companies' factory building at 14776 Chelsea-Dexter road, occurred during a two-hour fire which was discovered by a passing motorist at 10:55 p.m. Wednesday July 9.

Fire Chief Ted Balmer's original theory that a bolt of lightning apparently started the blaze was corroborated by a representative of the state fire marshal's office who inspected the plant Monday. To all appearances no other cause for the blaze could be determined.

The plant reclaims and repro-cesses abrasive grain from grinding wheels and from automatic welding machines.

Burned were wooden barrels used for storing and shipping the companies' products and approximately one-quarter of the roof at the back end of the structure which is approximately 200 feet long and of cement block construction.

Chief Balmer said a Chelsea Fire Department crew of 12 men, in addition to himself, remained on the scene until 1:45 a.m.

The Dexter Fire Department was also called to the scene and poured 1,500 gallons of water. Chelsea's trucks used a similar amount.

Wednesday afternoon Chelsea firemen made a run to the Fred Knight place at 805 Cavanaugh lake, because of a grass fire. The call was received at 1:05 p.m.

Mrs. Henry Ortring Hospitalized Tuesday With Broken Leg

Mrs. Henry Ortring fell at her home Tuesday afternoon and broke her leg just below the hip. She was taken to St. Joseph Mercy hospital and remained there as a patient.

The mishap occurred as Mrs. Ortring stepped back from the door and stumbled over her year-old grandson who had come up behind her. The child was not hurt.

Mrs. Ortring was caring for the little boy while his parents and other members of the family were in northern Michigan on a vacation trip. They began the trip home as soon as they were notified of the accident.

REGISTER TO VOTE—Mrs. George Palmer was one of 100 Chelsea people who registered Monday with Village Clerk Robert Devine. It was the final date for registration for the Aug. 5 special election on the city government proposal. A total of 124 names have been added to the list of registered voters since the March election, bringing the total number of eligible voters in the village to approximately 1,100, Devine said. Monday was also the final date for registering with Sylvan Township Clerk Richard Kern for the Aug. 5 general primaries. Approximately 30 names have been added in Sylvan township since the last election, only six appearing for registration on the final date. There are approximately 2,600 registered voters in Sylvan township.

Ren Hutzel Injured by Rock Crusher

Ren Hutzel was seriously injured at 7:15 a.m. Thursday while at work at the Chrysler Proving Ground where he is employed on maintenance of machine equipment.

Hutzel said yesterday at St. Joseph Mercy hospital, Ann Arbor, that it was "just one of the things that can happen, no matter how careful you are."

He said he and fellow workers were at a loss to explain exactly how the accident occurred.

He said he was at the side of the stone crusher and became caught between the shaft and the frame of the machine. The operation of the equipment shut it off immediately, Hutzel said, and Proving Ground crews worked swiftly to release him. In a matter of about 15 minutes he was on his way to the hospital where it was found his injuries are fractures of both shoulders, a deep gash under his left arm, which severed a muscle, and severely painful friction burns on his back. His clothes were torn from his body.

The fact that he failed to panic, using his exceptionally strong physique to advantage, and the swift work on the part of fellow-workers who freed him are credited with saving his life.

Both men are married and Dr. Papp is the father of a six-month-old daughter.

Band Concert Scheduled for Friday Night

The Chelsea Summer Band will present its second summer concert Friday night, at 7:30 p.m., in front of the Municipal Building.

Featured in the program will be a flute quartet composed of Carolyn Bares, Charlotte Harris, Lynn Shuster, and Jean Pajot. The balance of the program will contain marches, an overture, waltzes and popular numbers as follows: "Cerebral March," "Park Ridge Overture," "Waiting Doll," (Flute Quartet), "Waves of the Danube," "Washington Post March," "Rock Around the Clock," "Shortnin' Bread," and "Military Escort."

The Summer Band is meeting every Wednesday night from 7:30 to 8:45 p.m. Attendance has been good despite some members going to camps and taking trips.

The Junior Band rehearses every Tuesday and Thursday at 9:00 a.m. They are hard at work preparing a concert for the Band Boosters' ice cream social, July 25. Tryouts for chair positions are held every week. First chair players include: Carol Mayer, clarinet; Alyce Riemenschneider, flute; Linda Biness, cornet; Mike Kishmaul, trombone; Roger Johnson, drums; and Danny Kophart, saxophone.

Gary White, Barry Visel, Dennis Stoffer and Eddie Windell were promoted to this band's cornet section from the Grade Band because of their superior method book progress.

The Grade Band, which rehearses every Monday and Wednesday from 9:00 a.m. until 9:45 a.m., has had almost 100 per cent attendance, averaging about 80 members each rehearsal. They too, are preparing a short program for July 25.

To date first chairs include Linda Wahl, clarinet; Carol Hadley, flute; Roy Lange, saxophone; Raymond Soltz, cornet; Timmy Grove, trombone; Tom Sharrard, drums; and Larry Sanderson, mellophone.

Saturday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. McClure were Mr. and Mrs. Melburne Hewett and family of Brighton, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Riemenschneider.

Proceeds Used by Club in Community Service Projects

Does anyone in the community need a ukelele, still in its original case together with a complete book of instructions; or a 1952 Dodge car; or some No. 1 Standard Oil company floor wax; or a piano; or a refrigerator, washing machine or stove?

Possibly you are in the market for a mimeograph machine or for furniture of some kind. No matter what you are looking for you stand a good chance of finding it at a bargain price at the Kiwanis Rummage Sale in Sylvan Town Hall.

The sale gives promise of being bigger and better than ever, with a large variety of furniture on hand, together with several pianos and many household appliances.

The variety of contributions gathered together for the sale seems almost endless.

Kiwanis members' efforts of the past several months are culminated this week-end with the annual rummage sale by which they raise funds for their community service projects—Halloween party for the children, the Bruin Lake Boy Scout cabin construction, etc.

This year, in addition they are providing speech correction programs for four children of the community.

Wallace Wood and Robert Greenough are general chairmen of the annual event which will be held at Sylvan Town Hall all day tomorrow and Saturday.

Doors will be open Friday from 8 a.m. until 9 p.m. and Saturday from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., Kiwanians taking turns as salesmen.

Final plans for the Rummage Sale were announced at the regular Kiwanis club dinner meeting Monday evening in the social center of the Methodist church.

At a recent Board meeting, George Doe, recently retired after many years in police work here, was made an honorary member.

The club voted at Monday evening's meeting to pay tuition fees of $25 each for four school children to attend a speech correction clinic this summer.

Guests at the meeting included Ernest Young of Lansing, Clarence Strauss of St. Johns, and George Elliott of Ypsilanti.

Advice on Home Disposal Systems Given in Booklet

Lansing—A advice about home disposal systems is contained in a new eight-page booklet published jointly by the Michigan Department of Health and Michigan State University. The publication is entitled "Questions and Answers About Home Sewage Disposal" and may be obtained without charge from the state health department, MSU, located in health departments, and county co-operative extension services offices. A major portion of the new booklet, which is a revision of an earlier booklet on septic tanks, is devoted to soils and how to test the rate at which they absorb water. Detailed instructions are given on how to conduct the percolation tests that measure the absorption rates in soils. The booklet points out that if percolation tests show that 60 minutes or more are required for water to drop one inch in a test hole, then the soil is too dense for a home sewage disposal system and the drainage field should be located elsewhere. Percolation tests also show the size drainage field required. Properly built fields usually last three to five years, depending on size and the soil. Septic tanks must be cleaned on an average of once every one to three years, according to the booklet. Michigan law requires persons in the septic tank-cleaning business to be licensed by the state health department. The size of the septic tank is determined mainly by the volume of liquids placed in the home sewage disposal system. Most homes will require a tank of at least 750 gallons capacity. The booklet states that all kitchen, bathroom, and laundry wastes can be emptied into the disposal system. However, drainage from roofs, foundations, and yards should be emptied elsewhere. Soaps and detergents, the booklet adds, do not interfere with the operation of disposal systems, nor do years or so-called "juvenators" improve the operation. Other important factors to be considered in building and locating a home sewage disposal system are listed by the booklet as follows: 1. The system should be located at certain minimum distances from wells, lakes, and streams. Details are to be found in the booklet. 2. The ground water level should be at least four feet below ground surface. 3. Liquid overflow from septic tanks or the rest of the disposal system should never be discharged on the ground or into ditches, open drains, streams, lakes, or storm sewers. Even though the liquid may appear crystal-clear, it may contain disease-producing germs and can give off offensive odors. The booklet states that under the right conditions home sewage disposal systems can give satisfactory service, but, at best, they are second choice to public sewage systems when the latter are available. In all cases, the booklet advises, the local health department or county agricultural agent should be consulted whenever a home sewage system is bought or installed, or whenever existing systems are altered. Securing answers to questions in advance of building or buying will save time and money, the booklet adds.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh
Slim's "Pickins"
Slim Thomas who owns a used-car lot on the highway proved more than once he can think fast. Last week, for example, a young roofing salesman came in to say he couldn't keep up the payments on a car he'd bought. Someone else would have begun to talk about refinancing—or repossession—of the car. But Slim looked the fellow up and down and asked him how'd he'd like a part-time job. Now Slim's got a new salesman. The new fellow's holding down both jobs and keeps his car too. Everybody's happy. From where I sit, our town is lucky in having a fellow like Slim around. He's not only a good judge of a used car, but of character, too. Maybe it's because he understands others—and respects their viewpoints. Slim's one fellow who'd never try to "sell" you out of choosing a glass of beer with your meal, just because he prefers coffee!

"Parents will be invited to visit this camp Sunday, Aug. 24, from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. to examine the camp facilities and to see the program of activities set up for their child. The entire operation is underwritten by the Easter Seal Society fund. Some parents are contributing various amounts to defray part of the expense of their child's attendance, but every handicapped child in Washtenaw county who wishes to attend the camp may do so," said Mrs. Bibicoff. State's Raspberry Crop Will Be Heavy This Year

Black raspberries, the fruit that was always found in the old fashioned garden, will be a heavy crop in Michigan this year, and red raspberries won't be far behind, according to the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Raspberries begin to appear in the fresh fruit markets shortly after July 1, and continue to find favor as a dessert fruit or for jam and jelly until mid-summer.

Michigan is the chief source in the middle west of both red and black raspberries. The most recent census placed Michigan third in production in the large-southwest-eastern Pacific northwest in fact about one-seventh of the total national crop comes from Berrien and Van Buren counties in the extreme southwestern corner of the state.

These two counties yield about three-fourths of Michigan's crop, but there is also production in the Cheboygan area and elsewhere on a commercial scale.

Processors have taken the lion's share of the crop within recently years, but heavier production than normal during coming weeks indicates that more of these delicately flavored berries will be available for home use.

Packed either in pint containers or quart containers, raspberries are often served with cream and sugar. Some of the most popular delicacies into pies, cobblers, and fruit rolls. Excellent for the home freezer, raspberries also a ideal for jams, jellies and preserves.

MYSTERY FARM NO. 11, published in the July 3 issue of The Standard, has been identified. For many years this was known as the John Heller farm, owned by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Stierle.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Stierle Own Mystery Farm No. 11

Still known to many of the older residents of the community as the John Heller farm, Mystery Farm No. 11, published in the July 3 issue of The Standard, was correctly identified as the Trinkle road farm now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Stierle and operated by their son, William. The latter also operates the home farm of the Stierles, at 870 Fletcher road, for his parents.

The Stierles have owned "Mystery Farm No. 11," the 100-acre rural property at 12105 Trinkle road for eight years. They keep their young stock at the farm and William lives there.

The Stierles are members of Jerusalem Farm Bureau group. They are also members of St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church. Mrs. Stierle also being a member of the Women's Guild of the church and the Lima Center Extension club. (She is an excellent cook and bakes prize-winning angel food cakes.)

The Stierles bought the farm from Mr. and Mrs. William Bamonis, who, with a daughter, had lived on the farm about 10 years. They had come to this area from Detroit.

The Fredrick Ewald family lived on the place for approximately five years after the Heller family sold it in 1928.

It had been the Heller homestead from the time John and Louis Kaercher Heller were married in January, 1880. There was an old house on the property at that time and this was torn down and replaced with the present house in 1905. All of the buildings on the farm are the ones erected during the Hellers' ownership.

The Heller family included three daughters and a son, one of the daughters having died in infancy. The son, Rudolph, remained on the farm with his parents. The father died there in 1926 and he and his mother remained there another two years.

In January, 1929, his mother died at the home of one of his sisters, now Mrs. Lydia Zahn of 3290 Rantz road, and in August of that year he left for Idaho where he has since made his home at Orofino.

The other sister is Mrs. Earl Lowry, now of Ann Arbor. Mrs. Lowry owned a farm on Jerusalem road, the Yarmouth cemetery for about 24 years before moving to Ann Arbor.

When John Heller bought the farm in 1880, it had been owned for some years by Nelson Ackley.

First to call in and correctly identify the farm were 11-year-old Grace Kuschmaul and Stanley Schiller, son of the Ormel Schillers. Others who identified the place are Oscar Stierle, Mrs. Walter Beutler, Armin Kuhl, Larry Quigley, Mrs. William Van Riper, Mrs. Ray Parson, Raymond Zahn, Mrs. Lydia Zahn, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Harst, Mrs. Earl Lowry of Ann Arbor, and Keith Boylan.

Cost of Living Topping Out

Prices of consumer goods are topping out. The index of the Bureau of Labor Statistics for May showed an increase of only one tenth of one percentage point, or from 123.5 to 123.6. If that's not the actual high of this move, it should be close to it.

This has been a long move. The last month that the index revealed a decline was in August 1956 and in only two months since has the index held steady with a preceding month. These were in October and December of 1957.

The persistence of the rise has been disturbing. It is widely believed prices should decline during a recession, which record shows, however, that this is more likely in wholesale prices than consumer prices, and that consumer prices almost always have a strong tendency to lag behind business trends.

There have been three principal factors behind the recent rise. First was the introduction of most 1958 new automobile models in one month. This meant that suddenly all discount prices were eliminated, a situation usually spread over at least two months.

Second, this spring has been extraordinarily hot from the point of view of fruits and vegetables, resulting in a sharp hike in prices for these commodities.

Third, there has been an almost continuous increase in the cost of services. This has been the trend for many months, and probably will persist for some time into the future. These include such costs as medical care and other so-called personal services.

The index uses 1947-49 as equal to 100. In other words, an index of 123.6 simply means consumer prices are 23.6 per cent above 1947-49. The increase of the past twelve months has been .93 per cent. Of course this index does not measure, nor attempt to measure, the cost of living of the public at large. It is designed to indicate the costs of an urban worker of moderate income.

In spite of the persistence of the upward trend there are good reasons for believing that we are either at or very close to the peak. Food prices, which are the most important single category in the index, showed no change in the month ending the middle of May, the period to which the above figure refers. Further, in view of the recent sharp increase in food supplies, it is expected that prices will go no higher and actually are almost certain to show a moderate decline in coming months. Even meat is expected to ease off in

World War II Vets Have Two More Years To Apply for GI Loans

Veterans of World War II may now have two more years to apply for GI loans under the Veterans Administration guaranty program.

Lloyd H. Jameson, manager of the VA Regional Office in Detroit, said the extension is authorized by Public Law 85-864.

Jameson said, however, World War II veterans may not know that the VA has up to one year after the July 26, 1960, deadline for guaranteed loans means that VA guaranty application by that date.

VA has up to one year after July 26, 1960, for processing GI loan applications received before that date he said.

The 1960 deadline does not apply to VA-guaranteed loans to use that benefit Jameson pointed out.

Stoux Indian Group Visits Ypsilanti's 1826 4th of July Celebration

Ann Arbor—The Fourth of July in Ypsilanti back in 1826 must have been a celebration to end all celebrations.

According to an old timer's reminiscence recorded in "The History of Washtenaw County" in the University of Michigan Historical Collections: "Bands of red men visited Ypsilanti at intervals to scan the works of the white man, or to see their old hunting grounds transformed into cultivated fields."

"In July, 1826, while the population was celebrating the glorious anniversary of Independence, a Sioux band numbering 600 arrived from Chicago to Maiden in Canada to receive the blood money earned from the English government during the war of 1812. The savages remained in the village for six days, during which time the settlers supplied food to the lazy rascals.

"The great war dance of the Sioux nation was actually held near the present location of the Hawkins House. It was attended with all the pomp that savage magnificence could bestow."

He adds, "The Indians may be said to have entered on their westward movement in 1818-20, immediately after the U. S. survey of this district."

Men talk about doing good deeds, and consider that as their share.

Water Safety Learning How To Swim

The best way ever invented to avoid drowning is to learn how to swim well. This seems self-evident, but it is surprising how many people have never learned. These folks plan to stay away from water at all times, but this isn't always possible. After all, about seven-eighths of the earth's surface is covered with water, and we may come in contact with it unexpectedly in many different ways.

Encourage the child to swim as soon as possible, if there is good supervision. From six to nine years of age appears to be an excellent time to learn. Schools and private agencies such as the Red Cross and the Y.M.-Y.W.C.A. are doing excellent work in this area. If possible put the child in a class with good instruction such as the one offered by the Department of Recreation. He might as well learn to swim well, and relatively few parents are qualified to give instruction.

Of course, if instruction in a class (or by a competent individual) is not available, start the child on your own with floating, kicking, and dog-paddling. There is an outstanding little booklet available to help parents at the Washtenaw County Chapter of the American Red Cross in the Nickels Arcade, Ann Arbor.

Above all, don't force the child if he obviously is scared to death. Give him time to adjust by playing little games with him in shallow water. You will be happy with his increased interest later on.

Nation's Educators Urge Changing Outmoded Courses

By Mabel Fox, President Michigan State Teachers Club NEA Director, Region 3, MESA Cleveland, O.—American high schools are faced with refurbishing outmoded curricula if they are to meet the needs of today's young people.

This is the conclusion of delegates attending the National Education Association's 96th annual convention—which ended here July 4. The 15,000 teachers and educators from all over the United States and its territories were considering the timely topic: "Our Future Goes To School Today."

According to principal speakers at the six-day event, one of this country's "great unsolved problems" is to educate all levels of ability, interest and aspiration. Some of the delegate educators charged that school systems have planned the difficulty of their curricula for the middle 50 percent, but the types of courses are more suited to the interests of the upper 40 percent.

Limited opportunities to challenge gifted youth, restricted services to the mentally and physically handicapped, and inappropriate offerings for youth of non-academic ability and interest are among the existing inadequacies, the speakers contended.

It was pointed out that "one major weakness" of the secondary school in many communities is an outmoded entrenched curriculum which fails to serve effectively the needs of students and the requirements of modern living.

The high school of the future, it was predicted, will replace the traditional curriculum with one providing a balanced program of general education and specialized education. In addition there will be increased emphasis on intellectual achievement. Improved teaching methods enhanced by many electronic and mechanical aids will result in more effective instruction.

Among the suggestions for improving high school offerings were the following:

The secondary-school curriculum must embrace recent developments in scientific knowledge, because national emphasis on science and mathematics will change the career plans of hundreds of high school students.

High schools also must give attention to preparing young people for overseas work other than limited programs for career diplomats. Americans now serve as technicians, advisers, managers and planners in many countries.

High schools must help American students find their own places and to learn to deal with tensions and the times. Unlike Russian students, the American youth is faced with the task of "being one's own individual self when everybody is being pushed into patterns."

Because of a new trend toward earlier marriages it was suggested that homemaking courses might be expanded to take in more students, especially boys.

Wider distribution of wealth calls for education in the use of money. It was stressed that more and more blue-collar workers are earning wages higher than the salaries paid to white-collar workers in many responsible posts. Schools might well include more opportunity to study such matters as improved safety and comfort in automobiles; use of credit, hospitalization and insurance; the use of alcohol and tobacco and quality buying.

Speaker after speaker emphasized that in today's complex world, counseling is an essential part of the school program. One said: "Every student must have early, frequent and systematic appraisal of his abilities in relation to both requirements and opportunities in advanced education and the world of work." One formidable gap in the guidance program of many schools, it was underscored, is the failure to involve the entire school staff.

At least silence puts up a bluff that is mighty hard to call.

The man who doesn't think right can't be expected to live right.

Health Department Supplying Serum Albumin for Shock

Lansing—In a step significant for what it means in terms of medical progress, the Michigan Department of Health today announced that henceforth it will supply only one human blood derivative—serum albumin—to physicians for treatment of shock.

The department no longer will distribute liquid plasma which it had supplied for shock treatment since 1942.

Dr. Albert E. Heustis, state health commissioner, said that volume for volume, albumin is five times more effective than plasma in treating shock.

"Making it available will help raise the level of health protection provided to Michigan residents by the state health department with the co-operation of private physicians," he added.

"There are several reasons why serum albumin is superior to plasma in treating shock," he explained. "Serum albumin produces a faster recovery in the patient, it has no adverse reactions, it lasts longer in storage, it's easier for physicians to handle, and administration of it has never been known to cause serum hepatitis as sometimes has happened when plasma is used."

Serum albumin is processed by the state health department from outdated whole blood from blood banks and from the blood contained in placentas (afterbirths) contributed by Michigan hospitals participating in the department's blood salvage program.

The process consists of separating the liquid (plasma) and solid (red cells, white cells, etc.) portions of the blood and then separating serum albumin from the rest of the plasma. Serum albumin is the fraction that gives plasma its ability to counteract shock.

Dr. Heustis said shock occurs in emergency conditions when blood stops circulating in the skin and in other peripheral areas of the body. Shock sometimes follows accidents, burns, surgery, and childbirth, and is brought on by loss of huge amounts of blood, or by interference with the body mechanism that controls blood circulation.

He added that the state health department is now remodeling its facilities for manufacturing serum albumin and that when the work is finished the department's capacity for processing serum albumin will be increased fivefold.

Like other products manufactured by the state health department laboratories for the prevention or treatment of disease and illness among Michigan residents, serum albumin is distributed without charge.

DOG'S

By Farley Manning National Dog Welfare Guild

Dog Traffic Safety

Warm weather means many things—beach trips, outdoor sports, vacations and more cars on the nation's already crowded highways.

It also means a sharp increase in the number of accidents and in accident victims, both human and animal, due to increased use of the automobile, the National Dog Welfare Guild points out in opening its annual summer safety campaign.

Blame for the yearly tragedies involving dogs struck down on the highways cannot be placed entirely on drivers, the Guild maintains. Owners who do not control their dogs are risking the lives both of their pets and of drivers and passengers who might be injured when trying to avoid hitting a stray dog.

As a safety measure, dog owners should control the movements of their unattended pets by chains or fences, and keep a close restraint on their animals when near any highway. Children who take dogs with them away from the immediate vicinity of the home should be instructed to do likewise.

Dogs who show a tendency to run after moving vehicles should be properly trained before being generally exposed to these vehicles. Animals with defective sight or hearing should never be permitted near traffic unattended and unleashed.

Drivers should be on the lookout for unattended dogs, especially in suburban or rural areas or in children's play areas. Many times children and dogs go together and a driver might reasonably expect to have a child dart out from behind a parked car or served nearby.

NEWS & HOLLYWOOD

Betty Furness, while in Paris, ordered a new French wig, which she'll try out on the Rainiers at Monte Carlo. It was a modest price - $276.

Richard Burton has been signed to star with Carroll Baker in "The Affair," the Warner Bros. motion picture based on Max Reinhardt's play.

Cornel Wilde finished reading the script of "One Wife Is Enough," which Albert Zugsmith of Metro sent him, and said, "I can make a deal that's as good as the script, I'll do it."

If negotiations work out satisfactorily, this would bring Cornel back into the field of comedy, something he's long wanted to do. "It Had To Be You," made with Ginger Rogers, was one of his notable successes.

Walt Disney, who's entertained nearly 12 million visitors since Disneyland opened, keeps adding attractions each year.

Jerry Lewis, who picks his own leading ladies, just signed his third for "Geisha Boy." She's Suzanne Pleshette, who appeared in "Compulsion" on Broadway. She is a little more than a WAF in the story. Jerry chose her, he learned that her father is an executive of the Brooklyn Paramount theater where he worked as an usher 17 years ago.

There's talk that there is a strong possibility Shirley Booth will play the mother role in "Home from the Hill" for Sol Seigel at Metro.

The Germans have come up with a very neat trick for fan photos. U.F.A. productions recently signed

Loretta Young, Barbara Stanwick, Jeanette MacDonald, and Frankie Laine for their "photo records." A laminated picture of the star has a recorded 30-second greeting to the fan engraved on the back.

Dorothy Dandridge, who wears clothes like nobody's business and is invariably costumed in films as a tramp, runs into the same frustration with "Porgy and Bess," where she has but two changes of cheap, tawdry clothes.

Frank Sinatra was very attentive to Betty Furness, who was taking off on the same plane with him, when he left for Monte Carlo, where his picture, "Kings Go Forth," will be premiered.

Kim Novak did sell that car and put the money into furnishings for a new house which the late Harry Cohn bought for her in Bel Air. Kim caused a momentary rift between Esther Williams and Jeff Chandler at a party recently, when Jeff put his arms around her, and Esther pre-empted the room. But it was only a friendly gesture, since Kim and Jeff had made a picture together.

Bob Wagner is a very happy bridegroom, except for one thing; bride Natalie Wood pre-empted one whole room of their apartment, his former bachelor digs, just for her wardrobe because closet space is inadequate! So now, understandably, they're house hunting.

Plymouth Man Fined For Taking More Than Legal Limit of Panfish

Arthur Huard of Plymouth, 27 years old, paid a fine and costs amounting to $12.30 in Municipal Court, Ann Arbor, Wednesday, July 2, on a charge of taking more than the legal limit of panfish on a local area lake, June 21.

The charge was preferred by Conservation Officer Boyer, who Huard and a companion had 98 fish, almost twice the legal limit, when Boyer checked their catch.

The same day, in reporting "good" hauls on local lakes for the opening day, Boyer mentioned that Bruce Peabody got his limit of bluegills while fishing on Cavanaugh Lake. Inadvertently the number 25 was mentioned as the number of blue gills when it should have been 15 as the legal limit.

An aggregate total of 25 panfish (perch, crappies, rock bass, sunfish and bluegills) is the legal limit, provided, however, that no more than 15 bluegills are included.

ONE WAY TO DO IT

Long Beach, Calif.—Explaining that he had become tired of waiting for a bus, Raymond D. Welke, 21, told police he walked to a nearby depot and helped himself to one. They pursued him for two miles before overtaking him.

Trees May Be Planted To Make Frame for Home

Ann Arbor—Trees may be used as frames and backgrounds to buildings in a comparatively simple manner provided a few rules and regulations are followed, says Prof. Harlow O. Whittemore, chairman of the Department of Landscape Architecture at the University of Michigan.

"If your house is near the street, there usually is no room for additional trees in front without overshadowing and crowding. But if your home's back 30 to 40 feet or more, additional framing in front is desirable."

"With a large house it is best to use two trees, one on either side of the house, and locate them diagonally off the corners, 15 to 20 feet away from the corners. If the house is a small one, one tree may be enough, located off one corner and repeated by a small flowering tree of similar form off the other corner."

"In addition to the frame, there should be background trees, located at two distances, first those located immediately back of the house, and second, those at the back end of the property. In the case of a large house, there might be two trees off each of the rear corners, balancing those in front; for the small house, off the rear corner, diagonally opposite the one framing tree in front."

"In any case, a mass of trees across the rear would be satisfactory. Background trees can be more solid and with lower branches, such as sugar maple, American linden, burr oak, red oak, red gum and such pines as white, Austrian or red."

Blend Colors in Wardrobe Through Your Accessories

There are three right ways to accessorize your wardrobe for spring and summer 1958, says Margaret Werner, retailing instructor at Michigan State University. They are the monochromatic, the one spot of color and the "mixed-up color" looks.

Monochromatic means one color. You can accessorize with shades and tints of the color of your outfit, like mauve pink with blue, yellow with gold. Or you may use the same value of the color in your outfit—a blue suit with the same blue in shoes, hat, purse and gloves.

One of your accessories provides the one spot of color in the second look. An example—a beige suit, hat, shoes and gloves with a red flower.

The "mixed-up color" look may be your favorite, says Miss Werner. Use one main color for your outfit, another one for your accessories and top it off with a third, small accent color.

You can start with a navy-blue suit trimmed in white. Wear navy shoes, purse and gloves and a hat that is mostly white with some navy and a touch of light blue on it. The light blue is the accent color; picking it up in your jewelry completes the "mixed-up color" look.

Matthews-Wortley Vows Spoken at North Lake Church

Leschen Bonifer Matthews daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Matthews of 1874 E. Rustic Drive, North Lake, and Gary Lee Wortley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wortley, 219 Madison Street, were married at 8 o'clock Saturday evening in the North Lake Methodist church. Officiating at the ceremony in the presence of approximately 150 guests was the Rev. Louis Calster, pastor of the church.

In travel-conscious America the hand bag has grown in size and importance. There is one handbag on the market that has been named the "Strato-Cruiser"—to give you some idea of what we mean.

This particular bag can carry anything, anywhere. It is surprisingly spacious, with 478 cubic inches of space inside the two separate compartments. These snap closed on each side of the handbag. It will hold enough clothes and makeup for an overnight visit. It is available in six textures: black, navy, white or bone plastic calf, white or bone with straw, black or red burlap, black or bone imported linen, and multi-striped denim.

The cost of the "Strato-Cruiser" is $7.95. We consider this a good buy.

Something new for summer wear is the Strato-Cruiser. It is made of crinkle cotton and billows out from the neck to the hem. If this shape is not for you, the dress comes with a wide belt of matching material. It was designed to slip over a bathing suit or shorts. With jewelry, it could be worn for many of the beach occasions.

The kimono has become important in the housecoat department. Many are imported from Hong Kong, and are styled with the traditional wide sleeves and a slash. The colors offered are lovely.

Terry cloth is still the best and most practical fabric used for beach robes, in every color of the rainbow—and a few others—just for good measure.

The sack bathing suits have not been selling. It is easy to understand. No figure was flattered by them. The contrast between legs and body was too great. The loose lines have been adapted in the sports-wear department, and have gone over very well.

The way a woman dresses tells a great deal about her. Her clothes will reflect her personality, what she is, and her attitude towards life.

The well-dressed woman with a mind of her own will not depend on fashions of the moment. She will plan her wardrobe with her figure, clothes, needs, budget, coloring, and what she does, in mind.

A good-looking well-designed costume should never be more forceful than the personality wearing it. Yet, how many times have we seen women who give the impression that they are going to be in style if it kills them?

The real lady of fashion plans carefully, keeping in mind what she wants to look like. The finished picture is what she intends it to be—if she is an artist. Good looks and a smart appearance are never accidents.

It is always the complete outfit, not separate pieces of wear-

Maloney-Werner Nuptials Performed At Fort Belvoir, Va.

Sergeant First Class Paul D. Werner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Werner, and Private First Class Jean Marilyn Maloney, WAAC, were married Saturday in the chapel at Fort Belvoir, Va., where both are stationed with the Medical Corps at DeWitt Army Hospital. The nuptial mass took place at 10 a.m. with the Rev. F. Casey officiating at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Maloney of Hartford, Conn.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore for her wedding a gown of rosepointe lace over nylon. Tiers of ruffles formed the hooped skirt while the long-sleeved bodice was fashioned of embroidered lace. A crown of seed pearls and rhinestones held her fingertip-length veil and her ensemble was completed with a cascade bouquet of white roses and white satin ribbon.

Mary Ann Maloney, sister of the bride was her only attendant wearing for the occasion a gown of lavender net over crystal-embroidered tulle with a ruffled bodice and a skirt. She had a matching head-dress of lavender flowers with a shoulder length nylon veil and carried a bouquet of lavender "mums."

Sergeant First Class Harold A. Kneiser of Fort Belvoir, was best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the main non-commissioned officers' club and later, the couple left for a honeymoon in Michigan. They planned to visit Sgt. Werner's parents who were unable to attend the wedding because of Mr. Werner's health.

The bride is a graduate of the Academy of the Holy Family at Baltimore, Md.

Sgt. Werner has been in the service for 12 1/2 years and took specialized medical training at Fort Sam Houston, Texas; Rodriguez General Hospital, San Juan, Puerto Rico and at Walter Reed Medical Center in Washington. He is now an instructor in technical nursing at the army hospital at Fort Belvoir.

The bridegroom's sister, Mrs. A. W. Lyons of Kalamazoo, attended the wedding.

ling bracelets and earrings are definitely out. Makeup should be as natural looking as possible—no eyeshadow or eyeliner is a good idea. Save these for your play hours.

Conservative dress for all job interviews is the word. Do not smoke unless a cigarette is offered by the interviewer.

The egg-beater and chrysanthemum hairstyles and the over-the-eye, shoulder-length page boy styles are for glamour girls. It is best to wear a hat, for it will give you that finished look.

Be well dressed, well mannered, and willing to do the job necessary.

Methodist Home Birthday Party Will Honor Eight

Next Tuesday, July 15, eight Methodist Home residents whose birthdays occur this month, will share honors at a birthday party during the noon dinner hour. A special "birthday table" will be reserved for their use.

Decorations will feature a carnival theme complete with a miniature merry-go-round operated by electricity. The merry-go-round was made some time ago by Charles Maass, a former Detroit architect who now resides at the home. He also constructed bird houses which are to be a part of the decorations at the party.

Favors, in keeping with the carnival theme, will be tiny figures of gaily-dressed clowns.

Celebrating her first birthday as a member of the Home family will be Mrs. Margaret McKeel who became a resident, March 13. She formerly lived at Wyandotte.

Others being honored are Mrs. Georgiana Oyle, Mrs. Lucy Leighton, Mrs. Maude Newark, Mrs. Matilda Wilber, Mrs. Zella Wilkin, Mrs. Elizabeth Ricker and Mrs. Elizabeth Bodell.

Cubs Defeat Yankees in Midget Game

Attendance for the second week of the six-week Summer Recreation program was 344. There was no program on the 4th and Thursday a swimming program was rained out.

In the morning Midget League three games were played. Monday, the Globe Fielders defeated the Yankees, 4-1. Tuesday, the Tigers defeated the Sluggers, 8-6, and on Wednesday the Cubs defeated the Yankees, 8-7.

In Babe Ruth play the Nationals won two and lost one during the week. The defeat was at the hands of Milan, 15-7, on Monday. On Wednesday, the Nationals defeated Dexter, 11-5, on Jerry Ringe's seven-hit pitching. Ed Louhan had three hits for the winners.

This Monday the Nationals avenged an earlier defeat by edging Pinckney, 5-3, as Mike Marsh tossed a four-hitter striking out nine. The Nationals' record is now 4-2 with one game rained out.

The Americans also won two out of three games played. Last Monday they trounced Clinton, 15-9; for their first victory. Ken Larson had three hits for the winners. Homer Nixon allowed but three hits while setting nine Clinton batters down on strikes.

On Wednesday the Americans played Saline and went down, 9-8, as Saline pushed across two runs in the last of the eighth inning after Chelsea had taken a one-run lead in the first of the inning.

The big hit for the Nationals was a grand slam home run in the sixth by Darryl Keezer. Ken Larson had three hits and Don Atkinson two hits for Chelsea. Carlson and Andy Fletcher shared the pitching duties.

On Monday the Americans downed Willow Run, 4-3, as Homer Nixon allowed but four hits while striking out six. Rich Wood's single in the first drove in two runs. Andy Fletcher's single drove in the other two Chelsea runs in the second. Ken Larson had two hits for the Chelsea Americans and has thus hit safely in every game the Americans have played.

In an early game, Willow Run had downed the Americans, 18-0.

Record $140,000 in Prizes Offered At State Fair

Thousands of premium books have been mailed announcing a record $140,000 in agriculture and livestock prizes at the 1958 Michigan State Fair, Aug. 29 through Sept. 7.

The deadline for entries this year is Friday, Aug. 8. Donald L. Swanson, State Fair general manager, announced.

Swanson urged farmers to make their entries as early as possible to avoid the last-minute rush and to keep from being shut out of the State Fair because of lack of space.

In recent years, practically all categories have been filled to capacity—many long before the deadline entries.

The 1958 Premium book has been mailed to a permanent list of farmers including those exhibitors in last year's State Fair. Anyone not on the mailing list, or anyone desiring a free copy, should write to the Director of Agricultural Exhibits, Michigan State Fair Detroit 3.

Women's Missionary Council Wins Top Honors at State Convention

The local Women's Missionary Council of the Chelsea Assembly of God won special honor by taking first prize at the state-wide Assemblies of God Council Convention held at Ft. Ho-Lo Park near Grass Lake, last week.

The blue ribbon was won on the basis of the finest display of hand-sewn articles and missionary supplies. Thirty Assemblies of God churches across Michigan were competing for first place.

Included in the first-prize-winning display from Chelsea were several pairs of scarves and stuffed animals made by the teen-age girls' Missionette club directed by Mrs. Frances Davis. The ladies provided a complete wardrobe for an eight-year-old orphan girl they have adopted from the Juneau Children's Home in Alaska, as well as a baby layette for missionaries to Japan. Many quilts, dollies and other pieces of handwork for India, Africa, and South America, helped make the display outstanding.

Second and third place awards went to the Adrian Assembly of God and Brightmore Tabernacle of Detroit, respectively.

Mrs. Chester Yoakam is president of the local group.
