Kindergarten Pupils Should Register Now

Students entering Chelsea schools for the first time this fall should register this week, it was announced by school officials.

Students from kindergarten through the sixth grade, not previously registered, should register at once with Elementary Principal Arthur Schmunk at South Elementary school.

Students in grades seven through twelve who are not yet registered should register at the office of High School Principal Charles Tame.

Student insurance this year is with the Fidelity Life Insurance company and all students may be covered for a fee of $1.50. Applications for the insurance will be sent home with pupils the first week school is in session.

Bus schedules remain the same as they were last year, with the exception of the Jerusalem-Rogers-Cummins area. People in these two districts are being notified by telephone about the bus schedule. The kindergarten bus schedule will begin operation Monday, Sept. 8. In the meantime, parents will be responsible for getting their children to and from school.

Classes for all students begin Thursday, Sept. 4, with teachers' meetings scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 2 and 3.

Important CD Meeting Set For Tonight

Martin E. Miller, Zone VI Civil Defense director, reminds people of the Lima-Lyndon-Sylvan township and Chelsea community that an important Civil Defense information meeting is to be held at 7:45 o'clock this evening in the all-purpose room at South Elementary school.

Present as special speaker will be Washtenaw county's Civil Defense Director Gerald G. Miller of Ann Arbor. He will outline the county's position in the event of atomic attack and will explain procedures for survival.

Director Miller is also expected to tell about plans for a forthcoming evacuation exercise involving the east end of the county which large numbers of people will be directed to come to emergency stations in the Chelsea area.

Maurice Hoffman, Leigh Beach and George Bauer, Jr., supervisors of Sylvan, Lima and Lyndon townships, respectively, Chelsea Village President Donald Alber and all village councilmen and other officials have been especially invited to be present.

Key men in all factories and heads of all organizations and civic groups are also urged to attend. The meeting being held tonight was originally scheduled for last Thursday.

Mrs. Mildred Cheever of the Methodist Home staff, is spending two weeks with relatives in Massachusetts.

Interlochen, Boy's State Delegates Report to Kiwanis

At the Kiwanis club meeting Monday evening Leo Bishop, as program chairman for the evening, introduced three Chelsea boys who had attended camps this summer and each reported on his experiences.

Pat Merkel, who attended the American Legion's Wolverine Boys' State at East Lansing in June as a representative of the Chelsea Kiwanis club, mentioned that he had been elected a "councilman" in his "city" at the elections held there. Wolverine Boys' State customarily sets up a mythical state, county and local government and holds elections patterned after actual elections. Merkel said voting machines were used for the first time. He also related that Gov. G. Mennen Williams addressed the group one evening.

Peter Flintoft, who was chosen for a Kiwanis scholarship stay at the Interlochen national music camp in July, reported on the camp life and activities.

He and Merkel both expressed appreciation for the honor of being chosen by Kiwanians for the two important summer youth programs.

Danny Mayer, another Chelsea boy who was at Interlochen this summer, was also present at Monday's meeting and when he was introduced by Bishop, responded with an outline of his experiences there.

Fire Destroys Lyndon Home

The Elton Kunzelman home at 11500 Goodband road, together with all its contents, was completely destroyed by fire of unknown origin, discovered by Mrs. Kunzelman shortly after 3 p.m. Monday.

According to Fire Department records, the entire upper floor was ablaze before Mrs. Kunzelman was aware of the fire. There was no telephone in the house and she had to walk to a neighbor's home approximately a quarter mile away, to summon help.

She had taken her two small children with her and when firemen arrived and found no one around it was feared she and the children were trapped in the burning structure. She returned to the scene while firemen were fighting the blaze.

Firemen received the call at 3:25 p.m. but because of the delayed notification, the fire had gained such headway that it was impossible to save any part of the house or contents.

Contents of a small tool shed adjacent to the house were saved.

CHELSEA'S "SIDEWALK DAYS" sale proved to be a most successful event, for the merchants of the community as well as their customers. Buying remained brisk throughout the day and evening Friday and all day Saturday. The over-all view of Main street, looking north from Park street, shows part of the crowds that literally filled the sidewalks on both sides of the street during the two-day sale sponsored by the retail business committee of the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce. The next event scheduled is a Dollar Days affair on Oct. 10 and 11.

New Law Requires Cars To Stop from Both Directions for Halted School Bus

The law requiring motorists to stop from both directions when they meet or overtake a school bus which has stopped for the purpose of picking up or discharging passengers, goes into effect Sept. 13, according to announcements made this week by Gerald W. Shipman, executive secretary of the Michigan State Safety Commission.

Motorists overtaking or meeting a school bus which has stopped for receiving or discharging passengers must bring their vehicle to a full stop at least 10 feet from the school bus and shall not proceed until the school bus resumes motion or the school bus driver signals to proceed or the visual signals (required bus equipment) are no longer activated.

Before resuming motion the school-bus driver must signal stopped traffic to proceed and when resuming motion himself must keep the bus as near to the right side as can be done with safety, in order that congested traffic may disperse.

Bus stops are to be so arranged that the stopped bus is visible to approaching and overtaking traffic for at least 500 feet. Two alternately flashing red lights mounted as high and spaced as widely as practicable are required equipment at both the front and rear of the school bus. The signals must be operated only while the bus is stopped or is about to stop to receive or discharge school children.

If children must cross the road after they leave the bus they are required to walk in front of the bus.

4H-Youth Exhibiting at State Show

With the State 4-H Show in full swing on the Michigan State University campus at East Lansing this week, the following Washtenaw county 4-H members are exhibiting there.

The show, which opened Tuesday, runs through Friday noon, Aug. 29. Exhibition buildings are open evenings and the public is invited to visit any part of the show at no charge.

Those from Chelsea who are exhibiting are Keith Haab, Frank Blough, David Wolfgang, Earl Heller, Reuben Lesser, Richard and Kenneth Haist, Christine Fisher, Valma Wiseman, John Fritz, Jerry and Steven Brattle, Donald Hindorfer, Gerald Schiller, Zoa Niles, Susan Schron, Carol Reddeman, Rayma Smith and Darlene Meyer.

Reports Show Active Social Service Unit

Reports given at the annual meeting of the Chelsea Social Service Monday evening show that in the period from Aug. 28, 1957 through July 17, 1958, a total of 260 office contacts were made with an additional 19 home calls listed.

The home calls included some counseling on family problems, as well as routine investigations, while the office contacts listed the following: 41 calls from recipients of Christmas gifts; 40 calls for economic needs (grocery orders, eye examinations, transportation); 32 calls for clothing; 117 calls for consultation; 55 conferences with social workers and service clubs in behalf of clients; three conferences with business houses in behalf of clients; 101 conferences with interested individuals in behalf of clients; 25 conferences on family problems; 12 conferences on problems of mental illness; and others related to budgeting, housing, physical illness and employment.

The annual report was prepared by Mrs. Louis Ramp, Chelsea Social Service director.

Annual reports were also given at Monday's meeting by the secretary, Mrs. Sallie Smith, and by the treasurer, Mrs. E. W. Eaton.

The Chelsea Social Service program was made available through a budget of $1,800.00, given by the Chelsea Community Chest.

Administration of the Chelsea Social Service clothing depot has continued to constitute a major part of the work of the office, according to Mrs. Ramp's report. She stated that several hundred new items were received from the Needlework Guild last fall. These were distributed at Christmas and as needed during the year. The Needlework Guild also provided a fund of $100.00 for the purchase of shoes. The fund was exhausted in the spring. Mrs. Ramp reported, and shoes are now provided from Chelsea Social Service funds.

Officers elected for the year are Louis Burghardt, president; Mrs. R. W. Wagner, vice-president; Mrs. Sallie Smith, secretary; Mrs. E. W. Eaton, treasurer; and H. T. Moore, Harold Jones, Charles Lancaster, Mrs. P. G. Schaible and F. W. Merkel, members of the board of directors.

Record Number of Exhibits Expected To Make Annual Event 'Bigger Than Ever'

Washtenaw county's 4-H show is over for another year, and a successful one it was. This was the second year at the new fairgrounds on Saline-Ann Arbor road and well over 2,500 entries, 4-H is already outgrowing the facilities.

The following 4-Hers were tops in their classes.

Horse Show Will Be Held After Parade

Plans for the Saturday afternoon horse show at the Chelsea Community Fair Sept. 6, have been completed, according to Carroll Ordway and Lee Weiss, co-leaders of the Up and Down Horse club which is sponsoring the show.

Scheduled to take place at 3:00 p.m. following the street parade, the show will open with a grand entry.

There will be events for Western Pleasure horses for contestants 16 years old and over; pony class under saddle; reining class, open, clover leaf, (timed); Western Pleasure class for contestants 15 years old and under; English Pleasure, three-gaited; speed and action for 16-year-olds and over; ride and lead, combination; bending, 15-year-olds and under; and musical chairs.

Four ribbons will be awarded in each event and first, second and third prizes of $3, $2 and $1 will be given.

The entry fee is 50 cents for each event and rules state that the same horse cannot be entered more than once in each event.

County Soil Bank Signup Opens Sept. 1

The signup in Washtenaw County for the Conservation Reserve of the Soil Bank will open Sept. 1, at the Washtenaw county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office in Ann Arbor, Chairman Max M. Kalmbach announced today.

The first step in the signup is for the farmer who is interested in the program to go to the county office and request that annual rental payment rates be established for his farm. At the same time, the farmer should take with him information to be used by the County ASC Committee in establishing rates for his farm. The chief facts needed are acreage and yields of the three principal crops on the farm for the past two years and acreages for other land use on the farm.

The Conservation Reserve is the only Soil Bank program available for 1959. Under the program, farmers retire land from general crops for up to 10 years and devote the reserved acreage to land, water, or wildlife conservation practices. The Government makes an annual rental payment for the land and will also share in the cost of establishing the conservation practices.

The average rental payment for Conservation Reserve land in Washtenaw county is $25.00 per acre.

Mrs. Clara Lightner of Delaware, O., is sponsoring several days this week at the home of Mrs. Alfred Faulkner.

MYSTERY FARM NO. 19—Another neatly laid out farm is Mystery Farm No. 19 in the above photograph. The full-length porch across the front of the house will probably serve as an identifying feature, along with the placing of the barn and other buildings, all of which combine to give the property a well-kept appearance. Those who recognize the farm should call The Standard office, GR 5-3551. The owner will receive a mounted photograph of the farm if he calls at The Standard office by Saturday, Aug. 30.

ERNIE PYLE AWARD—Mrs. Ren L. Hutzel, National Publicity Director of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, presents the Ernie Pyle Plaque, annually awarded to the newspaper which gives the best coverage to VFW Auxiliary news during the current year, to the Hamlet, N. C., "News Messenger." Mrs. Emily B. Way, Auxiliary Department President of North Carolina, accepts the award on behalf of The News Messenger at the 46th National Convention of The Ladies Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, at the Hotel Statler-Hilton, New York, Aug. 18-22.

MICHIGAN MEANS BUSINESS:

Many Towns Organized To Attract New Industries

Some Michigan communities have new industries before them because a visiting manufacturer enjoys its recreation facilities and some local residents are alert to the possibility.

In its program to bring more industry and jobs to Michigan, the Economic Development Department is expanding its "tourist screening" project.

Started several years ago as a summer program, the Economic Development Department continues the "screening" program throughout the year as Michigan increases in popularity as an all-year recreation area.

Chambers of Commerce and industrial development groups are being asked to mobilize service station attendants, hotel, motel and restaurant employees and all persons associated with the resort trade to "talk up" their areas as good locations for industry.

The Economic Development Department has some specific examples to back up its program.

Charlevoix has an industry because a South Bend, Ind., manufacturer was forced into port there during a Chicago-Mackinac race a few years ago. He liked the town well enough to buy a cottage. The more time he spent there, the more he liked the community. Eventually, at the suggestion of a Chamber of Commerce official he located his manufacturing operation there.

Reed City has a growing industry that developed into an international business because a Niles official liked the Oceola county community on a visit there.

Up in Leelanau county an industry was added some years ago because a long-time vacationer was watching a baseball game. When the victorious home-town team walked off the field, the visitor commented "If you boys can work as hard as you play ball, I'll open a branch of my company here. They proved they were as good winners as they were ball players. Some of those ball players still work in the company's plant there."

To assist in this "tourist screening" program, the Economic Development Department has prepared a manual with suggestions on how to make the program most effective.

A White Cloud restaurant carries on its menu some of the area's advantages to industry. In a number of other localities, cards carrying invitations to industry to locate there are on display.

One of the important features of such a program, the department stresses, is to have everyone in the community familiar with sources which can provide definite information on industrial locations and advantages. These include the Chambers of Commerce, industrial development groups, public officials and representatives of railroads and public utilities.

If a prospect is located among a community's visitors, agents of the Economic Development Department are available to help "sell" him on Michigan's natural resources, its markets, skilled workers and transportation system.

THE DRIVER'S SEAT

Perhaps you don't have one foot in the grave but it may be a matter of feet that puts you there.

We're speaking of the feet your car travels after you comprehend danger and before you can do something about it.

Take a fairly average highway situation for example. It's a starling night and you're zipping along at 110 feet an hour. (Your speedometer, not feet-conscious, reads 60.) Your headlights illuminate about 800 feet of highway ahead of you. (The feet beyond those 800 may be fatal.)

The first indication of danger is a flat red stop sign at the intersection just entering your sphere of vision 800 feet ahead. Three-fourths of a second pass before your pre-chrome-trim-age brain gets the message to your foot to move from the accelerator to the brake. You have then used up 68 of your 800 feet—232 feet left.

The law of inertia takes up those remaining 232 feet plus several more while your car responds to the braking and finally comes to a halt. Hope that there's nothing emerging from the intersection, for you'll be in a wreck if there is. From 110 miles an hour you'll not be able to stop in zero miles an hour in the distance illuminated by your headlights.

Your normal eyesight, your tendency to drive a little too fast at night and the laws of physics got you into the situation. Traffic safety experts are trying to rescue you.

The safety experts now are adding several hundred feet of extra warning by using reflective highway signs that pick up your headlight beam from a greater distance. With such success footage available, you can even take a few leisurely seconds to react and still stop far away from the dangerous intersection.

They have also increased the size of lettering so you can read their messages from a greater distance and have standardized the colors of their signs to prepare you for these messages. You'll apply brakes for red before you see the letters spelling "STOP" and yellow will make you wary of the road before you read the actual warning.

As long as you keep your normal reactions intact, your vision up to par and your car in good working

Old People Need as Much Food, but Fewer Calories Than Young Adults

Lansing—Older persons need nourishing food just as much as younger persons do, the Michigan Department of Health said today.

In a food service guide prepared for distribution to all nursing homes and homes for the aged in the state, the department says:

"Older persons require fewer calories but just as many body-building and regulating substances as do young adults. Regardless of age, everyone needs good muscle tone, a clear skin, good digestion, good elimination, steady nerves and a sense of well-being."

"Proper foods well prepared and attractively served will help older persons retain good health, and for this reason meal preparation is an important part of nursing home care," said Mrs. Alice H. Smith, chief of the department's Nutrition Section.

"Suitable meals," Mrs. Smith added, "constitute as important a part of nursing home care as careful nursing and skilled medical attention."

The state health department is the state licensing authority for nursing homes and homes for the aged.

The guide explains and defines "suitable meals" by outlining daily food requirements of nursing home patients, and by suggesting ways of improving food selection, food preparation and food service.

The minimum daily food requirements of older persons include: three cups of milk either as a beverage or in foods; two two-ounce servings of a protein-rich food such as meat, fish, cheese, dried peas and beans, and peanut butter; one egg a day, or at least four a week; three to five servings of fruits and vegetables. One of the fruits should be citrus and one of the fruits should be green.

order, your feet may stay out of the grave because of the extra footage of warning the safety and traffic engineers are building into vital traffic signs.

or yellow. Citrus fruits are a good source of vitamin C, which often is short in older persons' diets. Potatoes, if cooked in skins before they are peeled, contribute some vitamin C but can't provide the entire daily requirement.

Three to four servings of bread or cereal, preferably whole grain or enriched, some fat (butter or margarine).

Production Records Told for Holsteins

Two Chelsea-area dairymen have registered Holstein cows which recently completed outstanding official production records under the supervision of Michigan State University in co-operation with the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Milked twice daily for 288 days, Leonard Burnmaster's cow, Leo Bur Lady Irene 8720716 produced a total of 13,898 lbs. of milk and 527 lbs. of butterfat as a three-year-old.

George Macomber's Rainbow Fobes Rose Kitty, 8815031, milked twice daily for 319 days, produced a total of 13,889 lbs. of milk and 495 lbs. of butterfat as a six-year-old.

IT'S A FACT

BLINDNESS

isolates its victims. It is difficult for the blind to walk, eat, read, work or play as normal people.

A leader dog restores mobility... opens to the blind person a new world of freedom. He can shop, meet people, hold a job, earn a living as an individual.

Leader Dogs for the Blind, a Michigan United Fund agency, is one of the oldest and largest schools of its kind. Last year it graduated 108 Leader Dog units.

You make possible the work of the Leader Dogs for the Blind when you give your fair share to your local United Community Campaign.

The coat that has the look of a suit because of the fold that bisects it slightly below the normal waistline, will be a popular number this fall and winter. The over-popular Chesterfield coat in neatly checked black and white or brown and white wool will reflect the trend in wider shoulders and bigger lapels and the tapering silhouette.

A great many coats for the coming season will feature the chemise cut. They will have ample fullness through the body but will be nipped in above the knees by a band. This coat is at its best when fashioned of wool flannel.

The polo coat will have broad shoulders and will taper to a narrow hemline. The wide notched collar, wide-open neckline, and low belt will be new in fashion circles.

Among fabrics, jersey must be praised in all directions. It has warmth, takes to color like an artist's palette, and, best of all, its horizons are endless. Jersey seems to span the season in cities, and ignores the clock.

A jersey suit with beautifully raised lines—the fit should be only casually implied at the waist of the jacket—with a slim shirt that has inverted pleats at one side, will be a wise fashion investment. Small and wide ribbed jersey fabric will lead the field.

The ensemble, as always, is favored by busy women. The jacket comes off to reveal a simple dress that can be dressed up, or down, as the occasion demands.

The knitted suit takes on new importance for the coming season, as well as a more attractive look. You will find knitted suits are textured like tweed, and just as versatile. Actually, most will be a mixture of wool, silk, and linen. The result is lightweight, and nearly impervious to wrinkles. The fabric is not as clinging as before, and much more flattering to all figures.

WAR CRIMINALS FREED

Tokyo—The United States has paroled seven more Japanese war criminals from Sugamo Prison. They were serving sentences ranging from 30 years to life.

Their release reduced the number of Japanese still held in Sugamo to 24.

A 9-c Robert Kramer arrived home Thursday from Keesler Air Force Base, Miss., for a two-week leave at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kramer. On Friday, HM-3 Thomas Kramer of the U. S. Navy, arrived home for a 15-day leave.

Home from Korea

SP-4 Frederick Hoffman arrived home from Korea Aug. 18 for a 30-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Hoff. He is to report back to Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., for 90 days before discharge about Nov. 1.

Square Dancing

Classed as American Style Folk Dance

For the past 15 years or so, square dancing has been going through a revival stage and has grown so rapidly, that today it is estimated that about 80 million people are square dancing.

Today, people are square dancing for basically the same reasons they did in earlier times. They like the Square Dance atmosphere. Square dancing fulfills their desires for fun and friendliness. They enjoy spending an evening with the kind of people square dancing attracts.

The square dancer is sold on his hobby, and knows all the attributes of square dancing. He finds it hard to understand why everyone else in the world isn't "in" on the fun and friendships that square dancing brings.

Square dancing promotes friendships; friendships that are good and lasting. From the first meeting they are John and Mary, Joe and Jane. It's just that informal. They have a common interest, a united purpose and always many topics of conversation.

Square dancing is typically American and in a class with the folk dancing of other countries.

U. S. LEBANON FORCES

A Pentagon spokesman explained that a case of mistaken identity caused a brief exchange of shots with Lebanese guerrillas in the area of Beirut Airport. No one was hurt in the exchange, and the firing ceased as soon as the Lebanese officers and United States marines recognized each other.

Snipers had been firing intermittently at American aircraft from the airport vicinity for several days prior to the incident.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to thank all my friends and relatives and neighbors for the cards, gifts and flowers I received during my stay at the hospital. I would especially like to thank the Rev. David Wood for his visits and prayers. These kindnesses will always be gratefully remembered.

Mrs. John Schneider.

THANK YOU

I wish to thank my friends and relatives for their cards and remembrances during my stay at the hospital. A special thanks to the neighbors and Jaycees who helped to harvest my crops.

Homer Kuhl.

CARD OF THANKS

My thanks and appreciation to my relatives, friends and neighbors for their cards, letters, gifts and good deeds. Also the Rev. P. H. Grabowski for his calls and comforting words while I was at the hospital and since my return home. Many thanks also to friends and neighbors for being so good an kind to my husband, while I was at the hospital the second time.

Mrs. Godfrey Eisele.

U.S. EXHIBITION PRAISED

New York—Herbert Hoover says the United States exhibition at the Brussels World's Fair "stands out above all others."

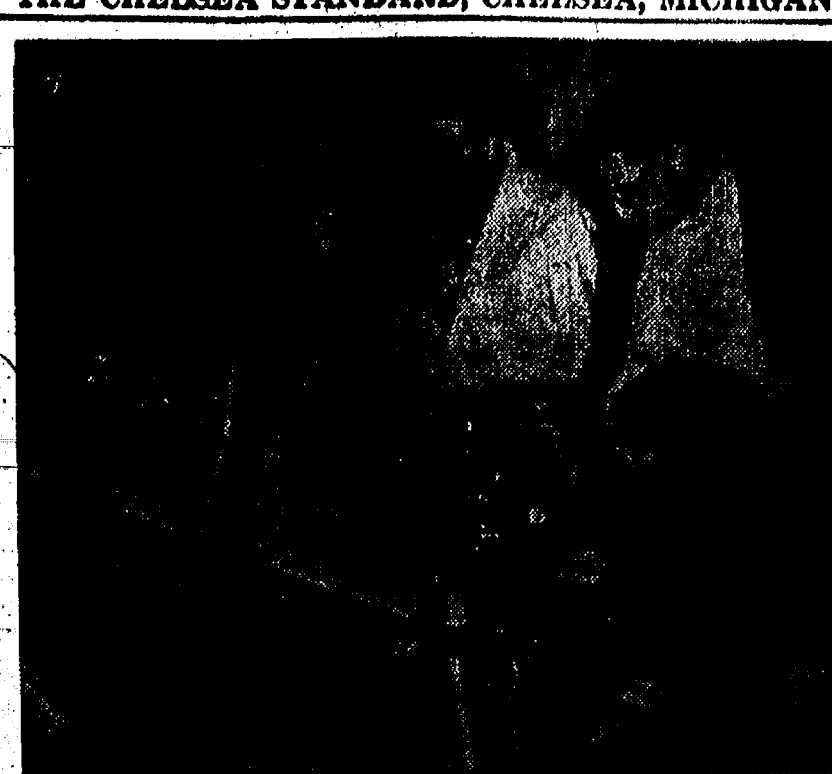

The former President returned from Belgium by plane. He visited the fair at the special envoy of President Eisenhower.

The United States building at Brussels, said the 89-year-old former Chief Executive, is "architecturally the most distinctive of the whole fair."

The exhibit has been criticized by some as unfavorable to this country.

TUNISIA BARS POLYGAMY

Tunis—A law prohibiting polygamy went into effect recently in Tunisia. Previously Moslems were entitled, under Koranic law, to have four wives.

INSIDE TV... A television production team prepares a scene for "Progress of Man," a new U of M series. Imaginative minds and unusual studio props help in the film sequence of man's march through the ages.

ANN ARBOR — Aluminum wires, plastic sheeting, dead branches found near the Huron River, hot water, 10 pounds of beeswax, a double boiler and 50 pounds of dry ice.

Sounds like a weird concoction, doesn't it?

Actually the list comprises the materials necessary to produce the film sequence which introduces each program in the University of Michigan's new television series, "Progress of Man."

What was desired was a visual symbolization of man's development through the ages. The answer, found by Alfred H. Sliote, producer-editor, and Michael J. Beria, director, was a series of nine human figures emerging into view through a mist.

Then the troubles set in. The two artists, Thomas Coates and Margaret McHugh, found that the 10-inch beeswax figures, which had been melted in a double boiler, broke when bent. Next they discovered that the dry ice was temperamental and at times would completely refuse to foam but on other occasions would cause a mist so thick that it enveloped the whole studio.

Polyethylene, or plastic sheeting, was used to conduct the steam between two trays. Dead branches and a few rocks completed the setting.

The steam troughs were set up and the beeswax figures, attached to a plank by aluminum wires, were pulled through the plastic sheeting. Verne Weber and Joseph Moffatt conquered the lighting and staging problems and Karl B. Lohmann Jr. filmed it.

The completed pictorialization of man marching through time took about 100 hours of work with 11 people aiding the project at various intervals. Running time for the sequence is one minute, three seconds.

Wild Turkeys Thriving in State Forest Preserve

Ann Arbor—Wild turkeys, gone from forests below the Saginaw Bay-Allegan county line since the turn of the century, are enjoying a comeback in a southern Michigan forest preserve, according to a recent report delivered at the University of Michigan.

Stocked and protected by the Michigan Department of Conservation, the birds wander through the sanctuary much as they did the entire state when early settlers enjoyed them for Thanksgiving and Sunday feasts.

The wild turkey flock was established in 1954 in Allegan Forest and Swan Creek Wild-Life Experiment Station, near Allegan, for "esthetic, educational and scientific reasons," said H. Lee Wilson and James Lewis, of the Swan Creek station.

In 1954, 202 wild turkeys were released in the area, which is most nearly like that recommended for wild turkey management in Pennsylvania, and contains adequate acreage, escape cover, natural food sources and drainage patterns.

Survival the first winter was fairly good, with some loss to predators, mainly foxes and human poachers—farming and highway accidents. The banded birds were studied for mating movement and flocking habits.

The number of individual broods observed, during the summer, increased from 21 in 1955 to 32 in 1957, at which time 370 wild turkeys were located, according to the conservationists.

Land use and drainage systems have influenced the rate and pattern of range extension, they said. The birds now inhabit a 218 square mile area, about the limit, because they cannot extend beyond the limits of favorable habitat.

Weather during the past winter was a good test of the turkey's firm establishment, they concluded, as the temperature dropped to 17 degrees below zero and snow was 26 inches deep, serving as a hindrance to the birds.

BAS RELIEF STOLEN

Naples, Italy—An ancient bronze bas relief excavated a few years ago from the lava-covered site of Pompeii was stolen from the national museum while 60 policemen on a sight-seeing tour were visiting the building.

U-M Expert Lists Tips On Gardens

Ann Arbor—"Making your garden is essentially a problem in the treatment of open space," says Harlow O. Whittemore, chairman of the Department of Landscape Architecture at the University of Michigan.

"It goes without saying that the relationship between the size of this open space and the size of the trees is very important," he says.

"In addition, remember that the trees in your garden can be used to provide a frame for the view of the garden, either from the house or from the rear of the property. They can provide a background for the garden as a mass of foliage of proper density and color. The shadows cast by the trees can be employed by the artful gardener as a most effective background for color."

"One of the most important uses of trees is to provide a contrast of light and shadow. The open sunny areas where flowers can be grown should be balanced against and contrasted with the shaded areas under the trees, as well as under arbors. The beauty of the Italian gardens, famous as they are, is due mainly to this ingenious balance of light and shadow."

"Trees in the garden can be also used to provide shady nooks, usually at one side, or at the end. This shaded nook, usually paved with flag stones if grass will not grow, can serve as your outdoor sitting room or dining room, or simply as a place to which you can retire to be out of sight of the house. One large tree might serve this purpose or a group of three or four small trees."

"In a small garden the open space might extend almost to the rear of the property and the shade be provided by one tree at a right angle to the garden at the far end, giving an added sense of extra space as well as mystery to the design."

"Flowering trees add color to the garden. You can make your garden a composition of flowers and flowering trees, with the bloom of the trees fitting into the color scheme along with perennials and bulbs."

"One of the best effects can be had by a row of flowering fruit trees, such as pears, back of the sunny border and back of that a hedge or wall, also shaded by the trees. The background of shadow thus secured is by far the finest you can contrive for your flowering herbs," Professor Whittemore says.

State Has Water Problems Despite Abundant Supply

Ann Arbor—Michigan, the "Water Wonderland"—isn't without water problems.

Prof. Karl Lagler of the University of Michigan Department of Fisheries said recently:

"Just because every Michigan license plate advertises the state as a 'Water Wonderland' doesn't mean it has no water problems."

"About 16,500 cups of coffee could be brewed for every resident of the state with the amount of water Michigan uses daily. With the multiplied demands of growing industry and population, the need for water is increasing at a fantastic rate."

Michigan's problems aren't caused by a shortage of water, but by the distribution of the abundant resource.

Prof. Robert Dils of the U-M Department of Forestry and a specialist in water resources, chimed in with Prof. Lagler.

He pointed out that Michigan is second to no state in water resources.

"If the streams of the state were laid end to end, a man could sail around the world on them. Michigan's shoreline, the longest of any state in the union, would stretch from New York to San Francisco," Professor Dils said.

How can water distribution practices be effected?

Both Lagler and Dils suggest research, control, and cooperative effort among Michigan residents "to bring to all greater benefits from the water wealth of the 'Water Wonderland.'"

JITTERY JOB

Garberville, Cal.—Firemen stepped gingerly recently as they fought a blaze at the snake pit, a reptile garden on Highway 101, 18 miles from Garberville.

The structure burned to the ground, killing dozens of deadly snakes, including cobras, rattlers and boa constrictors.

Owner Tex Cordell estimated damage at $10,000. His entire collection was destroyed.

There were no human injuries—and no snake bites among the nervous firemen.

GALL-BACK SET

Detroit—The auto industry, gearing to model production and rosy expectations for the 1959 model year, has announced plans to call back laid-off workers—many of them idle since late last fall.

PERSONAL NOTES

Mrs. Martha Bowering of Baldwin, Calif., is spending a month visiting relatives and friends here and in Ann Arbor. She has been a guest this week at the home of Mrs. Emma Seitz.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Heller and son, Loren, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Grau spent from Thursday until Sunday on a trip to northern Michigan. They crossed the new Mackinac Bridge, attended the Esplanade fair and visited at the home of Mrs. Heller's sister and brother-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Joel Clay at Menominee. They also stopped at Marinette, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fletcher of Asheville, N. C., Mrs. Elba Gage and Miss Lillie Wackenhut spent Wednesday in Detroit as guests of Mrs. Adolph Eisen and daughter, Marguerite.

Saturday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Schultz were the latter's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Budenz of Grand Rapids, and son, A. J. Budenz.

Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Bull and family, of Luther, spent Tuesday and Wednesday here as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walfrid Impola and Mrs. Bull's mother, Mrs. Alfred Faulkner. They also called on other relatives and friends.

The Colin Lannings returned to their home in Cleveland, O., Sunday after spending the week here at the J. V. Burg home. Weekend guests were Gretchen Lanning and friend, Robert Balogh, S. A. of the Coast Guard, stationed now at Port Huron on the Acadia, and Karen Krummet, of Cleveland.

During the past four years the Lannings have toured the entire United States, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec, Ontario, Alberta and British Columbia, covering 35,000 miles in a 16-foot travel trailer. The last week of their trip was spent traveling in Michigan.

More than 700 faculty members teach at the University of Michigan each summer.

DOGS

By Farley Manning
National Dog Welfare Guild

It's remarkable how many misconceptions about dogs exist but encouraging to note how many have given way to a saner viewpoint within a comparatively few years.

There are many of us who can remember making it a practice to have a bulky block of sulphur in our dog's drinking pan at all times. The sulphur "kept his blood pure" and had other miraculous effects. Then we were told by those who should know that the dust-catching block did nothing of the sort. Sulphur, we learned, isn't even soluble in water. And so we threw the sulphur away and our dogs were left with nothing but pure, cool water to drink, which was just what they wanted anyway.

Then there was the one about meat having the inevitable effect of making a dog "vicious." As proof they pointed to dogs fed nothing but meat that acted just the way any half-sick (from malnutrition) could be expected to act. Some people wouldn't feed meat at all, or in such small quantities that their poor pets were on the verge of malnutrition and couldn't have run after the mailman if they had tried!

"Feed puppies milk! Heavens above, don't you know that milk causes worms?" This was a widely-held belief, and it persists today in some quarters. To understand the fallacy of that theory, just imagine the millions of babies, who were brought up on milk. The millions of puppies, too. Many of the pups had worms, it's true, but let's not blame their good, healthful milk.

And let's not listen to every passing stranger who wants to advise us on our dog's care. Listen to reputable, experienced breeders, yes. Best of all, heed the advice of your veterinarian, who is devoting a lifetime to keeping animals healthy.

AMPHIBIOUS MANKIND

Los Angeles—Space scientists are weighing the idea of trying to breed a special type of man or animal who could breathe water or gas instead of air.

In the place of lungs he might have gills like a fish. Or he might have lungs which could be filled temporarily with water and be converted back to air-breathing later.

Even some kind of breathing organ which would enable him to stay alive in an atmosphere of ammonia or methane gas is an item for consideration.

FRIED BEES

Edmonton, Alberta—For those who care, university researchers have found that deep-fried unborn bees are delicious, with a sort of crisp, nutty flavor.

To make a taste test, the Entomology Department had some baby bees cooked by the university's Household Economics Department. Staff members sampled the outcome.

J. W. Edmunds, provincial government apriarist, was enthusiastic. He compared the flavor of deep fat fried bee brood to caviar.

CHAMPION GABBER

Buffalo, N. Y.—What every man knows—that women are the long-winded talkers in the world—has been confirmed by Mrs. Jane Dedel, a 27-year-old housewife.

She kept up a steady stream of small talk for four days, two hours and 24 seconds, and claimed United States and world records.

Her husband, an office clerk, took care of their two children while she gabbed away and won $200 in cash and several hundred dollars in merchandise.

JET NOISE TESTS

New York—A British Comet IV jet airliner, which streaked here on its first trans-Atlantic flight, is at Idlewild Airport for noise tests.

The plane, the first four-engine commercial jet to land at the field, is equipped with noise suppressors. The tests are aimed at determining whether the plane meets noise limitations set for the field. Four-engine jet planes without silencers have been banned at the field to lessen the noise nuisance to residential areas nearby.

DAUGHTER'S A DEMOCRAT

Washington—The Democrats have a new convert—the 21-year-old daughter of President Eisenhower's Attorney General William P. Rogers.

With some embarrassment, Rogers' wife confirmed that her daughter, Dale, the oldest of the four Rogers children, has registered as a Democrat.

Rogers, of course, is a Republican—and a close personal friend of Vice-President Nixon.

Mrs. Rogers said she didn't know why Dale did such a thing, but added that her daughter doesn't seem overly interested in political matters.

HALF-BAKED IDEA

Van Nuys, Calif.—Roy Owens, when last seen, was ruefully regarding the half-baked $200 he placed in a coffee can and then in the oven for safe keeping.

Mrs. Owens forgot, and cooked the dough a crisp, golden brown along with her bell peppers and custard pie.

Owens has sent the brownbacks to the Treasury Department and hopes they'll send him some greenbacks.

The annual fall Cattle Feeders' Day is Sept. 11 on the Michigan State University campus at East Lansing.

Thrills of Fox Hunting Are Making It an Increasingly Popular Sport

Lansing—An increasing number of Michigan sportsmen are finding fox hunting to be one of the most exciting outdoor activities—particularly during winter months.

The thrill of the chase, the maneuvering for position, the challenge of outwitting the fox, and the sense of accomplishment at the end of the hunt are rich rewards.

Foxes certainly don't possess the cleverness attributed to them in fiction, but these animals know plenty of tricks to help them in outsmarting pursuers. Usually, it takes a skilled hunter—with good dogs—to bring home the fox.

There are about as many ways to hunt foxes as there are fox hunters. Some of the more popular methods include the familiar hunt with dogs, and "still hunting."

"Still hunting" is a sport that really tests the hunter's ability and patience. When employing this method the hunter simply goes out alone and tries to track down the fox. Of course, this type of hunting requires snow on the ground for tracking.

As "still hunters" will testify, sneaking up on a fox is no easy task. This kind of hunting can teach the nimrod a great deal about the habits of foxes as he follows the animal's trail—hoping to surprise an alert fox.

It takes plenty of practice to become a competent "still hunter," but veteran fox hunters claim this sport can't be topped when it comes to enjoyment. Besides, it's good training for deer hunting; when you can learn to sneak up on a fox and shoot him, say the hunters, the smartest buck deer will be an easy mark.

Trash Chute into Basement Helps Keep Kitchen Neat

Is waste paper or a place to keep a large waste paper basket a problem in your kitchen? A waste paper bin or chute built into your kitchen cupboard may be the answer to your problem, suggests Coral Morris, extension specialist in home management at Michigan State University.

Milk cartons, boxes from foods and package mixes, and grocery sacks make up a large portion of the waste paper. These accumulate near the food preparation center and the sink so locate the "trash" chute or bin in this area—as near the sink as possible is usually a good place.

The bin-like opening is hinged at the bottom and flips open at the touch of a handle near the top. If you have a basement below the kitchen area, a chute or metal tube from the bin opening can lead to a trash container in the basement.

If there is no basement below—or you just prefer not to have a trash container immediately below the kitchen—your built-in waste paper collector can be a large tub bin. Like the chute type, the bin is hinged at the bottom and flips open easily with a handle at the top. Use a single liner in the bin to hold waste material and make the bin easy to clean.

SHE LIKES IKE

Washington—Among other mail President Eisenhower recently received a letter from a 9-year-old girl.

"Dear Mr. President," she wrote, "I love you more than anyone in the whole world, except for Jerry Como."

Huge Machinery Display Arranged For State Fair

Whether you're interested in a "monster" or a "hog" you'll find samples of each in the combination farm machinery and industrial equipment display at the Michigan State Fair, Aug. 28 through Sept. 7.

A trip through the exhibit area will prove that the farmer as well as the urbanite is living in an age of power.

Out to prove their might will be light and heavy tractors, chain and power saws, trench diggers, earth drills, crop dryers, and other pieces of machinery and equipment to ease the chores of man.

Firms from all over the country are sending in their products for inspection. The Mighty Mover Company of Denver, Colorado has a straddle trailer that eliminates the "middleman." This device straddles the load, the pallets slide hook onto flanges, and it is lifted in one operation.

Other major exhibitors are International Harvester Co. of Chicago; the Siebring Mfg. Co. of George, Ia.; Remington Arms Company of Bridgeport, Conn.; Kirchoff Farm Machinery Dealers of Plymouth; Lanford & McCulloch Co. of Detroit; Kuhen Co. of Cleveland Heights, O.; and Wetmore Pulverizer Co. of Tonkawa, Okla.

Gerard Lacey, director of space sales, says that 25 per cent additional area has been given to this exhibit over previous years. It will be located in the outdoor exhibit area near the Veterans Memorial.

NEW ELECTRONIC ROBOT

The Navy has announced the partial development of an electronic robot which it says will be able to match some of the functions of the human brain.

It calls the robot a "perceptor." At least another year will be required to complete the first full pilot model, but its principle and concept already have been demonstrated successfully by using a large electronic computer.

When it is fully developed, the machine is expected to be able to perceive, recognize and identify its surroundings without human training or control. It differs from the ordinary computer in that it does not have to be fed facts and figures in advance.

RADAR UNITS PURCHASED

The Civil Aeronautics Administration announced the purchase of nineteen airport surveillance radar units for $5,928,000.

Texas Instruments, Inc., of Dallas, winner of the contract, will start deliveries at the rate of two a month in June, 1960.

The radar units will pick up aircraft at altitudes up to 27,000 feet, compared with the 23,000-foot capability limit of the units now in use at major airports.

The new equipment will be installed in airport traffic control towers, to provide assistance in controlling approaches and departures of civil and military aircraft.

RISE IN FEDERAL SPENDING

Federal Government purchases of goods and services are expected to rise by the end of this year to an annual rate about $1,000,000,000 higher than had been expected, according to a recent analysis made within the Government.

The increase will be mainly in defense. The other anti-recession actions of the Government will have little impact on Federal spending for goods and services this year, according to the analysis.

The new analysis projects the rate of Federal purchases at about $900,000,000 by the end of 1958. The rate is now about $800,000,000.

VFW Auxiliary Given Report on National Meeting

At the regular meeting of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary, held Monday evening in the hall, Mrs. Ren Hutzler gave a report of the National VFW conference which she and her husband attended in New York last week. They returned home Saturday night.

During the business session it was voted to make a donation to the National Home Alumni Association at Eaton Rapids.

Mrs. Helen Harvey and Mrs. Alice Brady were named chairmen for the Sept. 8 social meeting and Mrs. Vera Heim and Mrs. Myrtle Price were named as an assisting committee.

Meal Time Should Be Kept Pleasant To Aid Digestion

A little planning and a pleasant atmosphere can go a long way toward making mealtime with young children a satisfying time, according to Lennah Backus, extension specialist in parent education and child development at Michigan State University.

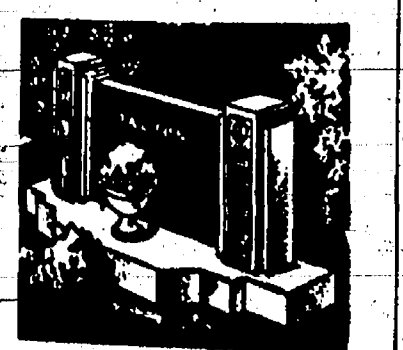

Try to put aside your troubles at mealtime. Mother and dad, you might want to relax in the living room with a cup of coffee or glass of juice before dining. If you can come to the table in a relaxed and pleasant frame of mind, mealtime becomes a pleasant interlude in the day. In this way food is more apt to be appetizing and enjoyable. A smile helps young children sense this pleasant feeling.

Take into account what children are doing when you call them to the table. If they're in the middle of an interesting activity, a few minutes warning gives them time to finish what they're doing and get ready to eat.

A short story or a quiet TV program can help get children in the mood for a pleasant meal. Dad might take over during this period to let mother put finishing touches on the meal, continues Mrs. Backus.

Children, like plants and animals, thrive on regularity in their nourishment. If meals are late Johnny may come to the table too hungry to eat and upset. When a meal is going to be held up, you might feed younger children in the kitchen as soon as the main part of the meal is ready. They can join the family for dessert later, concludes Mrs. Backus.

One bushel of peaches will make 25 to 40 pints of canned or frozen fruit. The number of pints you get depends on the quality and size of the peaches, whether fruit is halved or sliced, and how tightly fruit is packed into the container, point out food specialists.

WED AT NAVAL ACADEMY—Ensign David E. Bertke and his bride, the former Shirley Woodus of Edgewater, Md., have returned from a five-day stay at Rehoboth Beach, Md., and are now at home at Arnold, Md. They were married in the chapel at the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Saturday afternoon, Aug. 16, with the bridegroom's pastor, the Rev. P. H. Grabowski of St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church here, officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Pantry Shower Sunday Honors St. Dominic Sisters

Sisters of St. Dominic who will be teaching at St. Mary's school this year were honored at a tea and pantry shower, given Sunday afternoon in the school hall.

The tea table was centered with an attractive arrangement of white and salmon-colored gladioli and greens.

Co-chairmen for the tea and shower were Mrs. Vincent Hafner and Mrs. Wayne Harvey.

They were assisted by Mrs. Donald Blalock, Mrs. Harold O'Neill, Mrs. N. H. Miles and Mrs. Robert Amstutz.

Mr. and Mrs. William Rossing of Alameda, Tex., and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rhodes of Hartford, Conn., visited Wednesday evening with Mrs. Hilda Hall and Mr. and Mrs. Duane Hall and were overnight guests of Mrs. Hilda Hall. The Rossings were enroute home after visiting relatives and friends in Connecticut and Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes accompanied them to spend some time as their guests in Texas.

ABOUT YOUR HOME

There is increasing interest today in the little iris. This seems to disprove the contention that American gardeners are interested in only big plants and flowers. These little irises occur in both the bearded and beardless types. Dwarf forms of beardless irises are found in the groups known as crested, bulbous and Oregon or Pacific Coast irises.

The dwarf bearded irises are chiefly forms and hybrids of Iris pumila, and the sand iris. Some of these are no more than three inches tall. With the exception of sand irises, which is somewhat temperamental, all dwarf bearded irises need the same cultural treatment as the better known tall bearded irises. All are early bloomers, and well suited to the rock garden. They can be used as an edging in beds of taller irises with great success.

The iris cristata is a native species growing wild from Maryland to Georgia and Missouri. The blue, fragrant flowers are produced on stems three inches high. It makes an excellent rock garden plant. It should be grown in a well-drained soil containing ample humus in a location shaded from the noon sun. The white form I cristata alba, is perhaps even more beautiful; however, it is not as hardy.

The I lacustris, or the lakes iris, is very much like the cristata, but more compact. Botanists believe it is not entitled to specific rank, but all the same, it is quite lovely.

The greatest number of dwarf iris hybrids occur in the bearded group. The colors are endless. You may choose from shades of blue, shades of lavender, shades of yellow or white.

Many iris catalogs do not list any dwarf irises, and it may be necessary to write a letter to your favorite garden to obtain information on the subject. It will be well worth your effort, especially if you are an iris lover.

Cub Scoutmaster W. J. Grossman has announced that parents of present Cub Scouts and parents of prospective Cub Scouts are to meet at 7 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 11, at South Elementary school. Grossman said it is important that all adults interested in Cub Scouts themselves are not to attend the meeting.

Mrs. Herbert Rank returned Thursday from a 2,500 mile New England literature tour sponsored by Central Michigan College and directed by Dr. John Hepler. The tour covered parts of the provinces of Canada, New York state and all of the New England states. Homes of all of the great writers from these states were visited.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Schneider of East Lansing, twin brother of the bridegroom, served as best man and Michael Heverly of Ames, Ia., a cousin of the bride, and Glenn Tjepkes and David Henschberger of Waterloo, Ia., were the ushers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Eddy wore an aqua colored dress with black and white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The bridegroom's mother, in navy print with black and white accessories also had a white carnation corsage.

When the couple left for a wedding trip following a reception for 150 guests in the church parlors, the bride was wearing an aqua linen jacket dress.

The bride and bridegroom are expected to arrive here Monday to spend a week with the latter's parents. On Sunday, Sept. 7, from 2 until 5 o'clock, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Schneider will hold open house at their home in honor of the couple.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Schneider will make their home in Tallahassee, Fla., where Mr. Schneider has a fellowship to study social work administration at Florida State University.

A graduate of Chelsea High school, he attended Michigan State University and graduated from Linfield College at McMinnville, Ore., where he is employed as a teacher by the Board of National Missions of the Presbyterian Church at Wasatch Academy, Mt. Pleasant, Utah.

Those from this vicinity who attended the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Schneider, Mrs. Lewis Schneider, and James, Judy, Janice and Diane Schneider.

Ruth Ann Eddy, Richard Schneider Exchange Vows

Ruth Ann Eddy of Wasatch Academy, Mt. Pleasant, Utah, and Richard Schneider, of the Rural Station, McMinnville, Ore., were married Saturday afternoon in the First United Presbyterian church at Waterloo, Ia. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. James Eddy of Lenox, Ia., brother of the bride.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Lynn P. Eddy, 712 Reber avenue, Waterloo, Ia., and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Schneider, 326 Garfield street, Chelsea.

The bride's attendants were her sister-in-law, Mrs. James Eddy, as matron of honor; Neva Jean Galloway of Waterloo, as bridesmaid; and Diane Schneider, sister of the bridegroom, as flower girl. Miss Galloway and the flower girl were dressed in pink with rose-colored sashes and Mrs. Eddy was in green with a deeper green sash. All carried pink and white carnations.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white silk shantung and an embroidered lace in floor length. She designed and made the gown herself. Her silk illusion veil was fastened to a lace cap. She carried pink sweetheart roses and white carnations.

Conservation Dept. Cross-Breeding for Warm Water Trout

Lansing—The day may not be far distant when Michigan will have trout fishing not only in cold northern waters, but also in its southern warm waters.

Warm-water trout, disease-resistant trout, hard-fighting, pink-fleshed trout—these are all possible with the cross-breeding program.

Michigan's trout survive only in cold northern waters and hatchery fish frequently are killed by disease.

"By cross-breeding fish in hatcheries," says M. J. DeBoer, head of the Conservation Department's fish hatchery system, "we can develop various fish qualities—what-ever qualities we want—from present brood stocks."

Obstacles to this work are slowly being overcome. Some ground-work is already under way. "Our fish are already under way," says M. J. DeBoer, head of the Conservation Department's fish hatchery system, "we can develop various fish qualities—what-ever qualities we want—from present brood stocks."

The principle is simple, and the same as that used to produce hybrid corn, modern productive chickens, and plump porkers. Let's say in this case we want a warm-water trout.

"To produce this fish we would cross trout that survived in warm hatchery water. We would place their young in slightly warmer water. The survivors would be crossed and their spawn placed in still warmer water. This process would continue until we had a fish that could withstand the higher temperatures. Then we would produce these fish in quantity and plant them in southern waters. In a similar fashion, fish could be crossbred to resist disease, to fight harder, to have pinker flesh."

"The problem is mainly one of sufficient hatchery facilities and proper record keeping," says DeBoer. "Such work as this has to pass through many generations of trout. Keeping track of every fish is long, tedious and costly work. But we can have the kind of fish we want and we are able to say we are now under way with this work."

More than 5,400 students were enrolled in the University of Michigan Graduate School during the 1957-58 spring semester.

DEATHS

Austin J. Faist

Dies Sunday Night at Home in Ventura, Calif.

Austin J. Faist who had made his home in California the past 10 years, died Sunday night following a long illness. He was 49 years old.

Born in Chelsea, July 27, 1909, he was a son of Adam and Mary Schallie Faist.

He was confirmed at St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church here by the Rev. P. H. Grabowski with the class of 1928 and graduated from Chelsea High school with the class of 1927.

Jan. 31, 1942, he was married in Detroit to Beulah Harrison, who formerly lived in Ventura, Calif. They moved to California in 1948 and their home there is at 287 Court avenue, Ventura.

Survivors are his widow; two sons, David and Douglas at home; his mother, Mrs. Mary Faist of Chelsea; a brother, Arthur Faist of Lynnwood, Calif.; three sisters, Mrs. Oscar Lindauer (Milde) and Mrs. Otto Lucht (Eather), of this vicinity; and Mrs. Robert Clarke (Ruth) of Jackson; and two nieces and a nephew.

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Joseph Reasoner Funeral Home in Ventura.

Howard K. Chandler

Had Visited Friends Here Only Two Weeks Ago

Funeral services for Harold K. Chandler of East Liverpool, O., were held Saturday in East Liverpool and burial also took place there.

A son of Clarence J. and Myrtle Kempf Chandler, he formerly lived in Detroit and he and other members of his family were well known in Chelsea. He was a grandson of the late Henry Kempf, a former Chelsea banker. Only two weeks ago he and his son, Donald, of Albuquerque, N. Mex., had called on a number of friends in this vicinity.

Survivors of Mr. Chandler are his widow, of East Liverpool, and the son.

G. F. Heffelflower

Former Flint Resident Dies at Methodist Home

George Frederick Heffelflower who had lived at the Methodist Home since May 31, 1957, died there Friday morning at the age of 75 years.

He came to the Home from Flint but had been a member of the Central Methodist church in Detroit.

Mr. Heffelflower was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1907. He taught languages and mathematics in several midwest colleges before his retirement and was the author of a book on simplified mathematics.

Born June 26, 1883, at Delta, O., he was a son of Samuel and Julia Koos Heffelflower. His widow, who survives, is the former Rosina Lechty. They were married Dec. 18, 1944.

Also surviving are a son, Oliver D. Heffelflower of Joplin, Mo., and

Improved Fire Protection

The Michigan fire finder, a novel instrument developed at the Conservation Department's forest fire experiment station at Roscommon, plays an important part in speeding fire control. The fire finder, pictured above, allows the fire finder to look to pinpoint the exact location of a forest fire so that mobile equipment can be dispatched quickly to the site of the blaze.

program is $16.50 per acre. Maximum payment rates will be higher for the most productive farms and lower for less productive farms. For farmers who request it, the county committee will figure two sets of maximum annual rates. One will apply if only part of the eligible acreage on a farm is placed in the reserve. Another rate, 10 per cent higher, will be available if all eligible land on a farm is put in the reserve for at least five years.

After maximum rates have been determined for a farm, the farmer will have two weeks in which to decide on participation, designate land for the reserve, and apply for a contract. Land may be offered at less than the established maximum to increase the chance of acceptance in case there are insufficient funds to cover all offers. The signing phase of the program closes Oct. 10 and all requests for establishing farm rates must be received by that date. The deadline for applying for contracts is Oct. 24.

A sister, Mrs. Althea Kriener of Flint.

Funeral services were held at 1 p.m. Monday at the Methodist Home with the Rev. Edwin Weiss, superintendent, and the Rev. George P. Stanford, chaplain at the home, officiating. Burial followed in Oak Grove cemetery.

munities to participate in Saturday's parade. These include high school bands from Stockbridge, Saline, Dexter, South Lyon and Manchester.

The Washtenaw county sheriff's mounted posse is also expected to take part in the parade. Exhibitors are again urged to get their entry forms in as soon as possible. They may be secured from any Fair Board member, from most business places and at Chelsea State Bank and The Chelsea Standard office.

Personals

Nancy Mayer, who spent the past nine weeks as a junior counselor at Indian Beach Camp, at Northport, returned home Monday. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Mayer, went to Northport to accompany her home.

Mrs. Frank Dingle of Detroit, spent Saturday here with her sisters, Mrs. John Osterle and Mrs. Alfred Faulkner, and called on her mother, Mrs. Joseph Thalhammer at the Colonial Manor Nursing Home.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gramer of Indianapolis, Ind., spent from Tuesday until Friday here as guests of their niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Eschelbach. The Gramers had visited relatives in Jackson and had also crossed the new Mackinac Bridge and toured the northern part of the state before stopping off here.

James Gleason, Exchange Farm Youth, Reports Moving to Another Farm

I just moved to my second family which is in Steiermark, another state in Austria, but before I tell about them I want to tell about one more thing with my first family. A nephew of the family, Ruggert Harrold, 14 years old, worked on the farm in the summer. He had studied English for three years and worked with me a lot. He acted as interpreter when I worked on other farms or borrowed tools. Here it is quite common to find young people who can speak English. Almost all of them study a foreign language and it is often English. I can't help but wonder how many 14- or 15-year-olds in Michigan and the U. S. A. can speak, write and read a little of two languages.

Now I live with the Faphele family. They also have a large farm, but the children are much younger. They have two sons and a daughter, and the oldest is four years old. Here I must learn to speak German because no one speaks English. The first few days I haven't worked much. It has been raining a lot and tonight we are having a real thunderstorm. Herr Zoscher is the captain of the local volunteer fire crew. In the next village the river is overflowing and the siren blew and he had to leave on a run. I can hear the church bells in the village ringing now calling for help. It is very bad here when it rains for several days. The water comes from the mountains bringing trees, stones and debris with it and wrecks anything in its path.

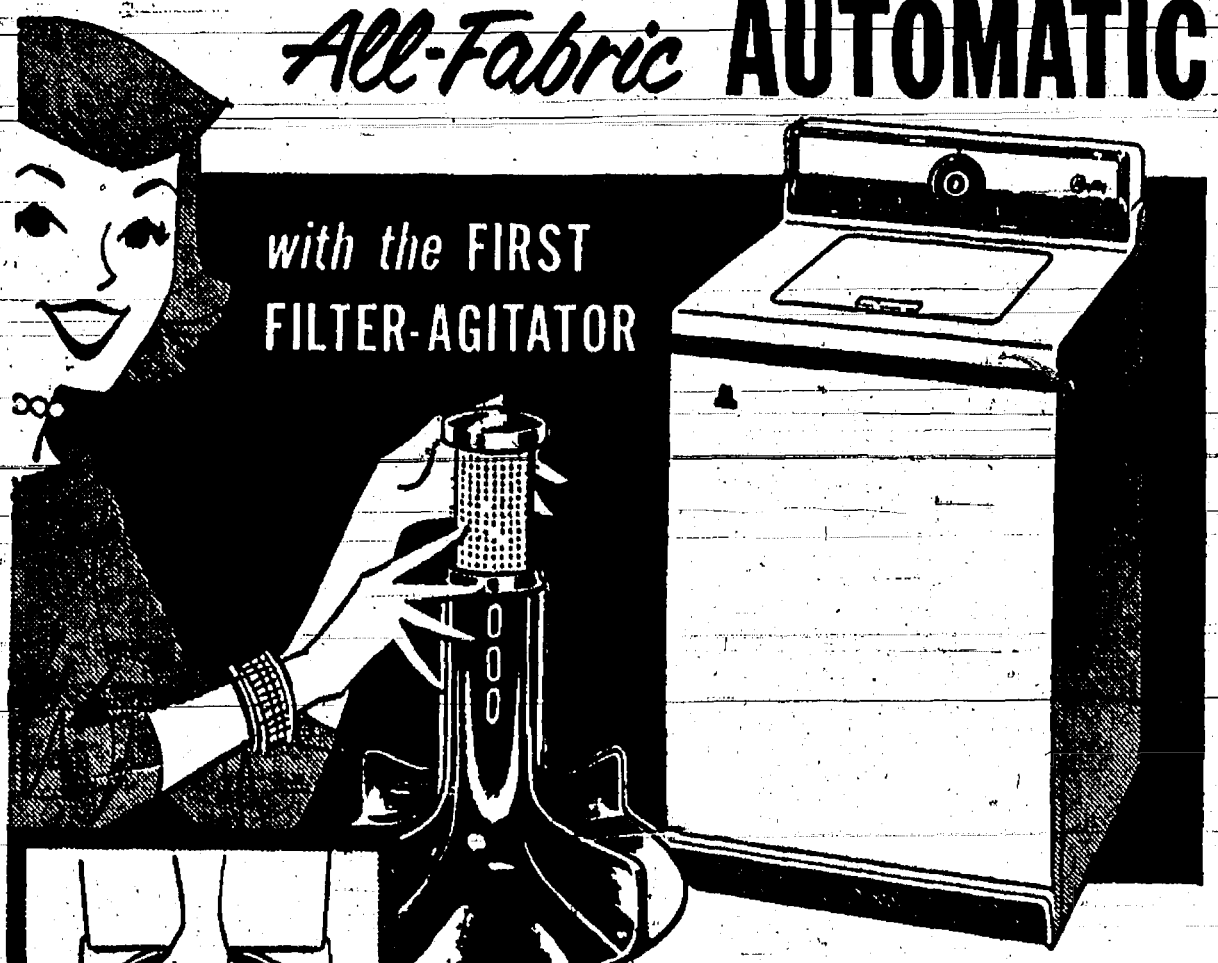

This is the next morning and it was very bad last night. Herr Zoscher was gone all night and had to leave again this morning. I don't know just how much damage but houses were wrecked and bridges destroyed. I will walk over in a few minutes to see. Sincerely, James Gleason, IFFE Delegate, Austria.

A guest several days of last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Kern was their niece, Virginia Butler of Orlando, Fla. During her stay, Mrs. Kern's sister, Mrs. Rena Smalley with her son, Ralph, and granddaughter, Carol, of Paulding, O., spent a day here.

Physical Examination for Children Recommended Before Starting School

Most six-year-olds who are beginning school this year are in for a series of immunization shots. While it is not required for those beginning their formal education, a physical examination is a wise precaution.

Very often a complete physical examination will uncover defects that a child may have which have gone unnoticed. It is, of course, important, if a child has a defect, that the parents and teachers know about it so they can help the child overcome the handicap of the defect.

Impaired hearing, bad eyesight, diseased tonsils, or even dental trouble, can seriously hinder a child in his school work. It is of utmost importance that a child's first impressions of school life are favorable if he is to get the most out of his education, and for this reason, a child beginning school is entitled to a physical check-up.

Actually, children should be given complete physical examinations periodically. These examinations will undoubtedly mean healthier and happier children, and less expense to parents in the long run.

Supreme Court Studies Golf Handicap

In Ossining, New York, the State Supreme Court has been asked to increase a golfing handicap. It seems that William W. Wacht, a past-president of the Pines Ridge Golf Club, thinks he has been hooked on the handicap the club has allowed him.

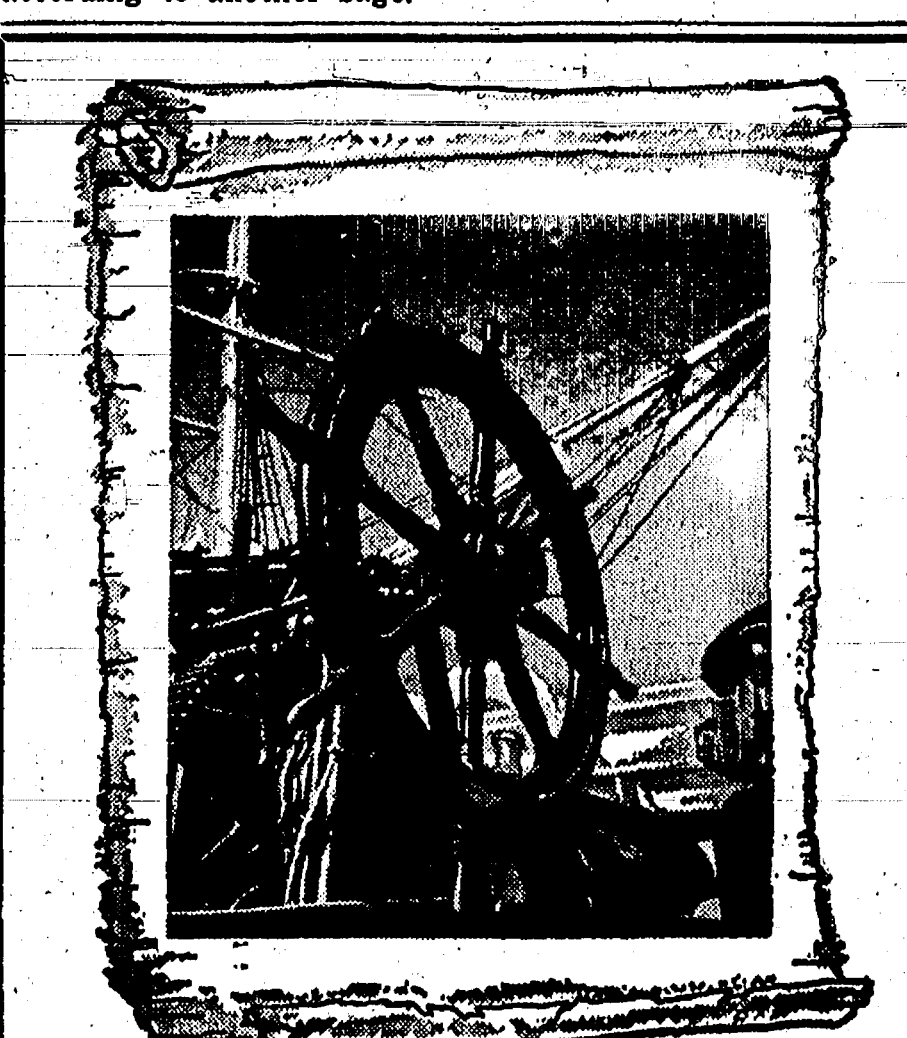

Wacht has been given a handicap of 29 for future tournaments. He believes he should have a handicap of at least 34, and has his score cards to prove it.

Moreover, he has petitioned the Court to compute his handicap, and the issue has been carried to the State Supreme Court of New York. The interesting part of the battle is that Wacht seems to do surprisingly well in tournaments, and he has won a number of them.

When he is not playing in a tournament he is not too much of a golfer. He attributes his tournament play to various factors, and other club members have their own individual ideas on the matter.

It is obvious that some suspect him of a rather sly and coy performance in non-tournament play. The question for the court—determining a golf handicap—is a novel one. Since there are many times injustices in tournament handicaps, we would like to get the court's verdict on just how these kinks can be worked out—and probably a lot of people would like to know the answer, so they might get their handicap raised.

"One father is more than a hundred schoolmasters," according to another sage.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Rivals for space in Michigan's wonderland of lakes and forests are bringing to a head the crisis of the state as it prepares for its future.

The issues are being made clear—whether the industry and the resort industry can live together in Michigan.

With the coming of the St. Lawrence Seaway expected next year, its deep channels making Michigan a world port, the fight is already underway.

They are already alarmed that the broad rights-of-way of the highway revolution, which desperately are needed by the state, are taking wide strips of valuable land.

The original plan for the Rockwood-to-Saginaw road was an example.

Citizens in the Tawas City area are opposing construction of a 1,000-foot dock and a 3,000-foot deep channel into Lake Huron by the National Gypsum Co.

At a recent hearing in Lansing, they offered evidence that the project is ruining the beach area and is lowering the value of valuable property.

Company officials, who contended they have always tried to be "good neighbors," said the economic benefits to the state generally would outweigh the "minor" disadvantages.

City and county officials painted a dark picture of the consequences if the company is not allowed to build its dock and deep-water channel to facilitate ship-loading for the market.

Both sides have powerful arguments.

Michigan is advertised and promoted as a tourist mecca. The resort industry is a $800,000,000-a-year business. Its leaders want to protect it from exploitation by industry.

Michigan is known on a world scale as the home of the automobile and the spawning place of big industry.

Its Great Lake routes provide a ready-made channel for world trade through the St. Lawrence Seaway. Industry needs access to the water routes.

State government has a special agency, the Department of Economic Development, assigned to lure industry to Michigan.

Another agency, the State Tourist Council, promotes resorts and travel in the state.

Naturalists organized a special group to oppose a proposed lease of a wilderness state forest area in Porcupine Mountains State Park, in the Upper Peninsula, to a copper mining firm. It is the last wilderness in Michigan.

The company wants to obtain the mineral rights on 335 acres of state property plus several thousand acres of underwater land in Lake Superior.

Sportsmen and other nature groups argue that the fumes from the mining operation will damage the forest, the access roads will wreck its beauty.

The same arguments prevail in both disputes.

Some Upper Peninsula residents, eager to develop the area industrially, are supporting the lease, which the state conservation commission is empowered to award.

Slightly different in impact, but identical in principle, is the controversy over the routes of new state superhighways which bypass small towns and their businesses.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

There's rumors going around about some Congressmen working on Saturday's so they could hurry and get through. Of course, I'm using the term "working" in its lighter sense here.

Now, Mister Editor, I don't get alarmed as a rule over things that happen more'n a few miles from my house, because by the time a man keeps his own place from getting into the hands of the banker or the Sheriff and figures out enough answers to his old lady's questions and gets used to having his taxes reduced by the politicians in ever campaign and got much time left to be alarmed about things taking place very far from home.

But I think this thing of Congressmen working on Saturday is heading us for complete ruin. It has took me years and years to convince my old lady that working on Saturdays is unthinkable and un-American. When we was first married and I wanted to go to town on Saturday I had to claim I was going to the courthouse to get some farm papers signed, or the editorial needed a new point. I recall that once I even forged a Saturday. But a couple were come along and we were both bolded and finally got it down to where if we want to go to town on Saturday we just put on our other shirt and tell the old lady we'll be back in time for church Sunday morning. Now, if Congress, a outfit I figured we could depend on to stand back of things, a sort of last refuge again change and un-American ideas, is going to start working on Saturdays, then things is getting in bad shape back here at home.

We got three kinds of Congressmen in Washington, the good ones, the mean ones, and those that is too lazy to show a marked trend in either direction. Up to now the good ones and the bad ones has been wrassling it out to a tie. If them lazy ones pitch in and start working on Saturdays, things is going to the dogs for certain. A heap of folks might say that is ain't going to hurt nothing if them Congressmen do a little work once in a while on Saturday. If you give some feller's a inch they'll take a foot, but you give a Congressman an inch and he'll take a shirt off your back and pass a law putting you in jail for going naked.

I would appreciate it no end, Mister Editor, if you'd write our Congressman and nip this Saturday business in the bud.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

★ He Was There

I stopped for gas one night on my way home from a wedding a hundred miles away. Weather is a standard subject for filling station conversation, but I was startled when the attendant remarked, "It's certainly buggy tonight, isn't it?"

At first I thought that was a mighty trivial remark, but after a moment's thought I decided it was only natural for a man who spends half his time pumping gas and the other half washing windshields to be interested in the relative concentration of insects in the atmosphere.

Each of us has own way of looking at things. What is important to one person may be of no interest at all to someone else.

On the same evening that my unknown friend was interested in the unusually dense population of bugs, other people were having various feelings about the weather. A farmer wishing for a good soaking rain. The man who owned the filling station was hoping it would stay hot and dry, so tourists would be encouraged to burn more gas. The couple who had been married that day were thankful the night was clear and the moon was bright. A mother whose son was in Lebanon was hoping that nothing brighter than the stars would be lighting the night sky in that troubled spot. People in the path of a hurricane were wondering whether to flee at once or wait for further warnings.

We'll probably never know which of these varied facts and emotions was most important or significant. Each of us has his own viewpoint, and none of us can be really impartial.

No one, that is, except God. He has to keep track of the moon and the stars and the hurricane, and even the insects. It's up to him to arrange the setting for everything that ever happens, and to bring as much good as possible out of the mixed motives and unconsidered decisions of all the people on earth. That is certainly "a task fit for a God."

There is no doubt in my mind that he knows about everything that happens. He must be at least as good as a human parent, so I am sure he loves all the creatures he has made—the comparatively bad ones and the comparatively good ones, and the middling ones like you and me.

So I think there was literal truth in the opening words of the marriage service that day: "Dearly beloved, we are assembled here in the presence of God . . ."

Don Albee, president of the Chelsea Kiwanis club, sustained a broken nose in Monday night's ball game played at an inter-club meeting with Ypsilanti Kiwanians on the local field.

At a Community Chest Committee meeting Tuesday, action was taken to file the first by-laws and constitution with the Corporation and Securities Commission in Lansing. Approval of the charter and by-laws will pave the way for a public organization meeting, Aug. 31.

Carolyn Kalmbach won the 4-H clothing judging contest Monday at Michigan State College.

Chelsea High School's PFA students and their advisor, Philip Smith, returned home Saturday from a six-day trip during which they visited farms in the Amish community near Lancaster, Pa.

Thursday, Aug. 30, 1944—

The American Legion, financing the 100th birthday party of Pinesville, later Chelsea Village, is to bring business and professional men to meet with them and to take place Oct. 5 and 6.

A group of young men interested in the candidacy of Frank D. Fitzgerald for governor formed a county. J. Fred Baran of Am Arbor and Chelsea, was elected president. Chelsea chairman named is Gerald O. Lulek.

Arthur J. Lacy, Democratic candidate for nomination as governor, spoke in Chelsea following the band concert Wednesday. Lacy's talk was along the lines of bringing Roosevelt's "New Deal" to the government of Michigan.

In the 24 Years Ago column (Sept. 1, 1910): George Rickman and Sons Co., who erected the new high school building, shipped away the past week the scaffolds, engines and surplus materials used in construction of the building.

Mickey Rooney and his son Teddy, 9, hop to Australia in September to headline a stage show which opens a huge new auditorium in Melbourne.

Teddy, the spittin' image of his old man, has inherited his father's talent, too.

Two more beauties have been added to "Guns of the Running" Marsha Hyer and Betty Lou Keim.

Bing Crosby asked for a showing of "Reluctant Debutante" for himself, and got it. Guess he wanted to see how Rex Harrison played the father of the girl, huh?

Sessue Hayakawa has a dramatic school of 300 students in Japan. When he returns to Tokyo he'll produce and play "Porgy" with some of his students, in a Japanese version of "Porgy and Bess."

The Marion Harrows are expecting their third baby sometime around the end of this year.

Natalie Wood is on Bob Wagner's set every day and stays all day. It's their plan for a happy marriage, although they say they loathe the word togetherness.

They've been separated only five days since their wedding. Natalie said, "It was a miserable experience and we'll not repeat it."

Bob, when asked what qualities he finds most desirable in women, pointed to Natalie and said, "She's got them all."

Even though Van Heflin and his family are touring Europe, when his real estate man phoned him in Rheims and said he'd found a bargain in a ranch at El Centro, Van said, "Buy it."

Paul Douglas finally learned what was the matter with him; he had a sinus infection for years and never knew it. He dropped 10 pounds while in the hospital.

His illness gave Jack Carson one of the best roles he's had in "Rally Round the Flag."

Rhonda Fleming may take a vacation in France before rehearsing a new act for Las Vegas in October.

Alan Ladd's son, David, is flooded with offers, Norman Taurig, who directed Jackie Cooper in "Skippy" many years ago, thinks he can repeat with David and offered him the starring role in "Little Britches."

Carolyn Jones couldn't be more thrilled. Frank Sinatra personally asked her to play opposite him in "Hole in the Head." She says the script is a lulu, "and imagine playing opposite Frankie and being directed by Frank Capra!"

Claude Rains leaves his Bucks county farm to come west and play Rock Hudson's grandfather in "The Earth Is Mine." Most of the picture will be shot in the vineyards of Napa Valley, in northern California.

There's a deal brewing for Lana Turner to star in Jack Arnold's independent picture, "The Murch in Girls"—a musical Western, with Lana to warble four numbers. The last time Lana sang on screen was in the "Merry Widow" in 1932.

Prof. Advises How To Place Home on Lot

Ann Arbor—"Proper location of your house on the property is one of the most important things you will have to decide, if you employ technical advice," says Harold O. Whittemore, chairman of the Department of Landscape Architecture at the University of Michigan.

Three matters of prime importance which you will have to work out are: 1) the setback of the house from the street; 2) the relation to the side lines; and 3) the grade elevation above or below the street.

"The setting of the house as it appears from the street is determined primarily by the setback of the house from the street; 2) the relation to the side lines; and 3) the grade elevation above or below the street."

The NATIONAL OUTLOOK

★ More Favorable Business News

More and more favorable business news is coming to light. For example:

1. In July, according to the Department of Commerce, personal income rose from the previous month by about $2.5 billion. Of the increase $1 billion was in private industry wages and salaries, reflecting moderately higher employment hours and wages. Another $1 billion resulted from the recently voted pay increase for government civilian workers. The other $4 billion was in transfer payments, largely veterans and social security benefits. The total on an annual rate was $364.5 billion as against a recession low last February of $340.4 billion.

2. Private housing starts continued their upward climb and in July were at an annual rate of 1,160,000, the highest level in two and one-half years. For the first seven months of this year the total has been at an annual rate of 7,014,000. The comparable figure last year was 6,970,000. The primary cause of the increase has been a plentiful supply of mortgage money. The estimate for the year still is being held at 1.1 million starts. Other construction also is making new high records.

3. Industrial production as measured by the Federal Reserve index advanced another two percentage points in July to 133. The June figure was revised upward one point to 131. The index was last April at 128. This index rose 1947-49 as equal to 100, and price changes do not affect it. There is a substantial seasonal corrective for July and many observers had believed that it would not be enough to keep the index from falling. The higher figure, therefore, is especially encouraging.

4. On the basis of preliminary reports it appears that business profits tended to level out in the second quarter. It had been anticipated that they would show a further drop of appreciable proportions. If final reports bear out the preliminary figures it will mean that business has done an extraordinary job of cutting expense and increasing efficiency. State of profits in the second quarter would indicate the probability of an increase in the third quarter, although the total would still be well below a year earlier. Dividends have held up remarkably well—much better than customary in such a recession.

5. Both employment and unemployment for the month ending July 15 were a bit disappointing. Employment increased about 200,000 and unemployment dropped 145,000 to 5.3 million. Both figures on the surface appear favorable but the normal seasonal change for this period is appreciably larger. Unemployment for example, for purely seasonal reasons, should have declined around 500,000. Employment was less than expected because of bad weather.

6. Government spending continues to increase. The total of Federal, state and local rose from about $14 billion in the third quarter of last year to $12.2 billion in the second quarter of this year. Revenues declined in the same period by $3 billion. The net result was that, whereas there was an overall surplus of some $3 billion in the third quarter of last year, there was a deficit of over $12 billion in the second quarter of 1958 on an annual basis.

7. The Federal Reserve System has made two moves to lessen the danger of inflation. The first was an increase in the margin for stock trading from 50 to 70 percent. In other words, where before one was required to put up only $50 in order to buy $100 worth of stock, he is now required to put up $70. The second was an increase in the rediscount rate of the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco; and, on the basis of experience, it is assumed the other Reserve Banks also will increase their rates. Back of this change is the conviction of the Federal Reserve authorities that the recession hit its low point in April and that the problem now is inflation. Raising the rediscount rate tends to tighten money rates in general and hold down the expansion of loans.

These seven items are all of broad importance. They can be supplemented by many of lesser scope. Small wonder, therefore, more and more people are convinced that business is on the up-grade and the only remaining question is how fast the recovery will be. It should be noted, however, that some analysts still want to see the

Washington Report

By Senator Charles E. Potter
The latest news from Washington of special interest to Michigan.

A PATTERN OF DECEIT seems to be what passes for journalism in the publications put out by a handful of labor bosses which are read by millions of America's working men and women.

Last month the Michigan AFL-CIO News falsely reported my vote on an amendment to raise pensions for old folks, blind and disabled people. I voted for this provision—and my position was consistent with a record of 11 years in Congress. However, in a screaming tirade against me, the bosses said I had voted against it. When I wrote them, quoting page references in the Congressional Record of the United States showing the facts, they refused to print my letter.

THEY LASHED BACK, however, with another article in another boss-run outlet, Michigan's Solidarity. This time they deliberately falsified four votes out of thirteen listed, distorted a fifth unrecognizably, and presented the other eight like a boa constrictor headed for the kill. They had me voting against social security, the minimum wage and postal pay raises, all measures I have worked hard to make law. Digging out the Congressional Record citations to show up their lies took one of my staffers an entire day.

THEIR VOTES in each instance were based on tabulations by the Committee on Political Education, a wealthy, well-staffed national organization with full access to the facts, which serves as the political arm of the AFL-CIO.

COPE has also falsely reported the vote of Senator Chapman Revercomb of West Virginia. On Aug. 13 Senator Revercomb took the Senate floor to correct what he termed "one of the most flagrant misrepresentations on the part of a political organization that has ever come to my attention."

When an irresponsible handful of bosses takes a Michigan Senator's record and falsifies one-third of it, when they falsify the record of a West Virginia Senator, then it is high time we look at what they are doing in other states.

COPE has a director in all 48 states, officers in every major industrial city and in almost every local union. The national staff in Washington has 45 people and a political war chest bulging with hundreds of thousands of workers' dollars.

I do not know what other victimized members of Congress intend to do, but this should put them on notice to check carefully these so-called voting records published by COPE. I hope they will join me in putting the truth on the record. If not, I'll carry on the fight alone, if necessary, against this juggernaut which is trying to make the United States Congress roll over and play dead. In the meantime, I hope that the intelligent workers of America will remember that there is only one proper place to check an official's voting record—the Congressional Record of the United States.

MYSTERY FARM NO. 18, published in the Aug. 21 issue of The Standard, was familiar to many people of the community as the Chelsea Greenhouse farm. Now owned by Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Armstrong, the farm was formerly owned for many years by the late Elvira Clark Visel, who founded the greenhouse business in 1901 on the farm, which was then owned by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chancey Clark.

Chelsea Greenhouse Property Proves To Be No Mystery to Most Local Residents

Mystery Farm No. 18, which is the Chelsea Greenhouse property, proved to be well known to many people, honors for the first correct identification going to Allen Broesamle.

The present owners and operators of the business are Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Armstrong. They became sole owners after the death of the founder, Mrs. Elvira Clark Visel, last year.

They had been in partnership with Mrs. Visel since 1944 and had worked for her for 12 years before that. They came here from Jackson where they were married in 1925.

Originally from Minneapolis, Minn., Armstrong had worked as a florist in Holly, Ann Arbor and Jackson before coming here. They lived in a smaller house on the farm until after Mrs. Visel's death when they moved into the main house.

When Mrs. Visel observed her 50th anniversary in the greenhouse business in 1951 she related that she financed the first greenhouse building, 20 by 40 feet in size, with $750 she had saved as a school teacher. Her decision to take up greenhouse work was the result of reading an article in the Saturday Evening Post which recommended it as a money-making project. Mrs. Visel remarked that while it did not prove to be a get-rich-quick business she had been happy in her chosen field.

After the death of her parents, Chancey Prior Clark and Ellen Tichenor Clark, she inherited the farm and gradually added new buildings and more modern heating equipment.

The greenhouse suffered a disastrous fire on Feb. 16, 1947, but was rebuilt in time for spring flower sales the same year.

In addition to Allen Broesamle those who correctly identified the farm are Bill Altenberndt, Donald Foster, Mrs. Martin Slane, Christy Fisher, Betty Ewald, David Pastor, Dean Clark, Janet Bollinger, Helen Rothfus, Armin Kuhl, Donald Bauer and Larry Quigley.

Others included Loretta Wahl, Mrs. Veryl Steinaway of Ann Arbor, Judy Woolley, Mrs. Floyd Brand, Mrs. William Petch, Robert Smith, Theodor Fink, Mrs. Donald Lentz, Joseph Knight, Mrs. Bernard Herrst, Mrs. Merle Sibley, Mrs. Lewis Heselschwerdt and Mrs. Leonard Eder.

The farm was also correctly identified by Louis Clark of Jackson, Mrs. Earl Lowry of Ann Arbor, Gerald Kiehl, Bill Gaddis, Mrs. Harry Kealy, Robert Schneider, Mrs. Minnie Scripser, Mrs. Kathryn Ellenwood, Joyce Mshar, Loretta Clark, Mrs. Eugene Martin, Gregory Kuhl, Mrs. Earl Kuhl, Mrs. Walter Trinkle, Jennifer Bolton, Mrs. John Schneider, Mrs. F. S. Armstrong and Mrs. Charles Wood.

Bible Verse To Study

"Fear thou not; for I am with thee: be not dismayed, for I am thy God."

1. Who spoke these words?
2. To whom were they addressed?
3. Through whom were they spoken?
4. Where may they be found? (Answers on page 10)

Sports Outs Answers

1. No, most of the smaller colleges are sticking to the old point-after-TD rule.
2. No, the Sooner's nemesis is not on the schedule.
3. No, likewise for the Irish's nemesis.
4. Navy 14, Army 0.
5. Until his recent death, coach of the UCLA eleven.

IF YOU WERE SOMEBODY ELSE WOULD YOU LIKE YOU???

"Mink? . . . You shouldn't have done it, dear!"

Why spoil the girl? For that money you could have treated her to 3,269 ice-cream-sundaes at our soda fountain, and had one each time yourself!
