Bulldogs Win Over Flat Rock

Will Meet U. High Friday Night on Ann Arbor Field

Last Friday night Chelsea's Bulldogs got back on the victory trail with a convincing 27-14 defeat of Flat Rock's Rams.

The Rams scored first on a spectacular pass play from Q.B. Bob Stevens to End Ron Jones that covered 60 yards. Stevens kicked the extra point.

The Bulldogs were undismayed, however, as they took the kick-off and five plays later had a TD of their own. The TD came on a perfectly executed off-tackle play. Loren Keizer took a hand-off from Q.B. George Wilson and cut through a hole opened by Don Wood and David Rowe. Gus Steger's block took care of one defender while Keizer cut back and picked up good blocks from Fritz Wagner and George Mayer to go 38 yards untouched for the TD. Keizer cracked over for the extra point.

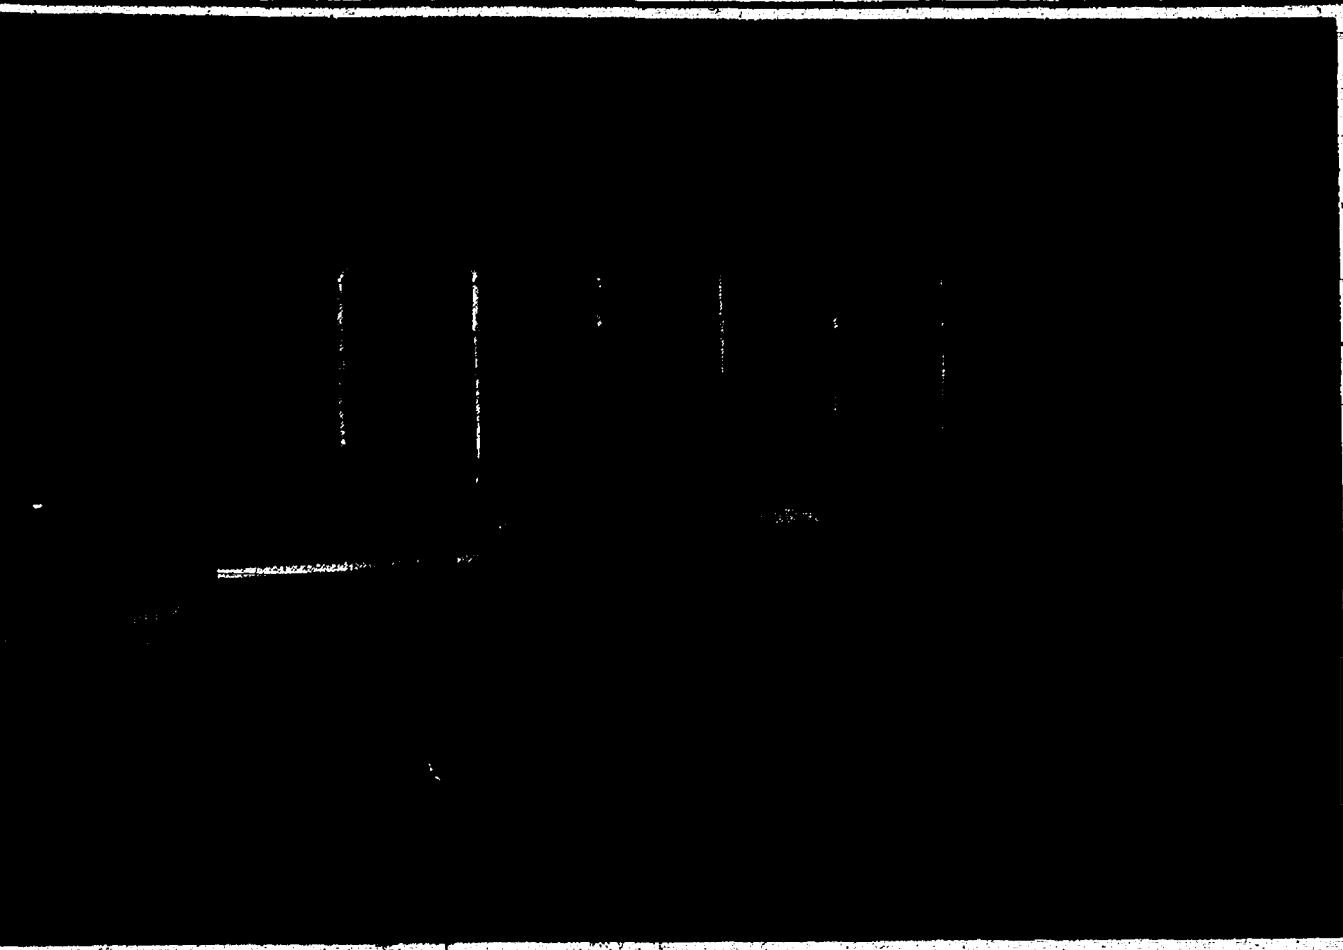

The Rams came back in the second quarter to score again as Stevens again passed to Jones for two yards and another TD. Stevens again kicked the point after.

Chelsea scored also in the second period as R.H. Dave McLaughlin cracked over from the six-yard line. McLaughlin scored the extra point. The score at the half was 14-14.

In the third quarter the Bulldogs kept Flat Rock deep in their own territory as Ends Gary Dault and Don Wood, Roger Herman, Jerry Ringer, Dalice Ferris and Matt Murphy stood out defensively.

The Bulldogs scored two touchdowns in the fourth period on two almost identical plays. As Freshman Dave McLaughlin went 35 and 28 yards. In both cases he got excellent blocking from Phil McDaniel and Jim Mahan at the line and downfield blocks from Dave Rowe and Don Wood.

McLaughlin scored the extra point after the first TD.

NEW QUARTERS for the Michigan Department of State branch office here are now located on the ground floor at 105 South Main street, just across the street from the former office on the second floor over Grove's store. The new quarters also include the State Farm Insurance Co. offices of Wallace Wood, who serves as State Department branch manager. The three windows shown in the photograph will facilitate handling of automobile licensing during the rush periods.

At the Village Council meeting Tuesday evening, plans were completed for a public meeting to be held next Tuesday, Oct. 28, in the fire hall in the Municipal building for the purpose of explaining the general obligation bonding proposal which will be voted on at a special election Nov. 24. The meeting is to begin at 8 p.m.

Joseph W. Price, public health engineer with the Washtenaw County Health Department, will be present to explain the necessity for the water expansion which the bonding program would finance without additional property taxes.

Stratton Brown, of the Detroit bonding firm of Miller, Canfield, Paddock & Stone, will explain the advantages of general obligation bonds as compared with revenue bonds, and Ray Smit, engineer on the job here for the firm of Ayres, Lewis, Norris & May, will explain the need for the expansion program.

Anyone interested in learning details of the proposed water expansion program and bonding issue is welcome to attend the meeting, it was pointed out; however, property owners in the village who are the only persons eligible to vote on the bonding question at the Nov. 24 election are especially urged to be present in order that they may become familiar with the proposed project.

Here's How To Figure Corn Loss in Field at Harvest

Know how much corn you're leaving in the field? Chances are harvest losses in the form of shelled corn on the ground and ears missed by the picker amounting to about 10 per cent of the crop.

This average loss valued at $1 a bushel would cost you $8 an acre on an 80-bushel crop.

Elmer Rossman, corn production scientist at the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station, suggests you check to see exactly how much corn you are losing. If it is very much, take immediate steps to correct the loss.

Here's how to check losses: Measure a distance down a row and pick all ears missed by the picker. For 40-inch rows, check 131 feet; 36-inch rows, 145 feet; 38-inch rows, 137 feet, and 42-inch rows, 125 feet. Each good ear weighing around three-fourths pounds represents a loss of about one bushel per acre.

You can estimate shelled corn losses by counting kernels on the ground within a 40 inch square. A count of 20 kernels per square represents one bushel loss per acre. Take several counts in various parts of the field, and average them to get the estimated loss.

Many farmers in Michigan judge the effectiveness of corn harvest by freedom of husk on harvested ears. The measure "clean picking" by the amount of husk attached to ears in the wagon or crib. This is the least important characteristic of good corn harvest.

There is no price penalty for corn with a few husks attached. There is, however, an apologetic loss in content for harvest, when ears have some husks still remaining. Shelled corn losses are frequently high when the picker is adjusted to remove all the husks. Many farmers would improve their corn profits by paying less attention to husks left on the ears and more attention to ear and shelled corn left in the field, Rossman says.

The following suggestions may help reduce these losses: Harvest early—25 per cent for safe cribbing, 35 per cent moisture where driers are available. Losses increase rapidly as harvest is delayed. In one experiment, losses were 5 per cent on Oct. 24, 5.6 per cent on Nov. 20, and 18.4 per cent on Dec. 7. Growing early maturing hybrids will help reduce losses in that these hybrids can be harvested earlier while weather is more favorable and stalk lodging is less.

Reduce speed at harvest, since losses increase at higher speeds. Losses averaged 7, 10, and 15 per cent for tractor speeds of 2.6, 3.4, and 4.6 miles per hour.

Set snapping rolls as close together as possible to reduce shelled corn losses. Increasing roll speed in thick plantings may help to reduce shelled corn loss and clogging of picker.

Keep picker-shuts close to the ground so as to get under the down stalks and bring them to the gathering chain. Drive carefully to center the picker on the row. Driving slightly off center of the row may double picking losses.

Plant hybrids that have good records for resistance to stalk breakage.

Jim Gleason's Austrian Visit Nearly Over

My summer in Austria is almost finished and I'll soon be starting home. It is going to be hard to leave. The country is beautiful and the people are great. Now I am living with the family of Franz Waxeneker. They only have one son, Josef, and we are already good friends.

Last Sunday, Josef and Sepp (his nickname) and I drove along the Danube river through the Wachau which is really beautiful. On both sides of the river, terraced vine gardens climb up the mountains. Often in front of a farmhouse a cluster of pine branches or wreaths will be hanging. It is a sign that they have new wine to sell and an invitation to stop.

I had an unusual experience last week. Thursday night, was the meeting of the Local Landjugend and I showed my slides and pictures and talked a little. Only I spoke in German. Actually, I didn't say much because Sepp did most of the talking and helped me out.

Everyone who knows a little English tries to speak with me in English. The two neighbor boys surprised me the first morning. We were on our way to the field and met them. I said "Guten Morgen!" and they said "Good Morning. How are you." Usually here when people also speak English, they say "good morning" in German, but will talk in English. It is easy to get to know people. After just a few days, when I go to town there are a lot of people I know and speak to. Everywhere the people are friendly and want to know you and everyone else.

Urge Dairymen To Enroll in Record Plan

October is sign-up time for the Weigh-a-Day-a-Month dairy herd record keeping program, according to Larry Johnson, extension dairy specialist at Michigan State University.

More than $100 cows in 157 herds are in the Weigh-a-Day-a-Month (WADAM) program this year. State dairy leaders say this number could easily be tripled. The program has been operating for two years.

Dairymen use information in the records to spot high producing cows, figure feeding rates, as a basis for culling, and for selecting herd replacements.

Records are valuable when used in that way, Johnson points out. The summary for the Dairy Herd Improvement association last year shows that cows producing more than 10,000 pounds of milk returned over feed costs more than $300 per cow. But cows producing less than 8,000 pounds returned only about $200 per cow.

WADAM is one of three record-keeping plans. The others are Dairy Herd Improvement association and Owner-Sampler. WADAM is a county program handled by the local Cooperative Extension office.

Under the program, one day a month the farmer takes the weight of milk produced by each cow at morning and night milking. Weight cards are sent to the county extension office which has arranged with the dairy department at Michigan State to have the records computed. Records are returned to the herd owner.

No butterfat test is used in the WADAM program. But Johnson thinks it is a good program for farmers not wanting the more complete record. WADAM costs only 60 cents per cow a year. County extension agents have information on how to get started in the Weigh-a-Day-a-Month program.

ON CAPITOL HILL

By Congressman George Meader

Last week I reported on the work of Congress to the Rotary Club of Jackson, an annual event of that service club, and this is the gist of what I said:

That the 85th Congress and its leadership, contrary to widespread comment, was irresponsible, profligate and definitely socialistic.

That the character of the 85th and its leadership—is revealed not so much by the important but non-controversial measures it passed, but by the proposals it tried unsuccessfully to pass and the thorny issues it dodged.

Some wild proposals were blocked in Congress by the minority; others were vetoed by the President.

Alaskan statehood, Defense Reorganization, Trade Agreements extension and Foreign Aid were mentioned in both party platforms and were supported by Democratic Congressional leaders and the Republican President.

The 85th did a king-sized flip-flop, however, between sessions on the matter of spending. The first session saw budgets slashed; the second became a wild orgy of spending with $12.2 billion in total were seriously sponsored by the appropriations. Crackpot proposals with a strong odor of socialism were seriously supported by the Democratic party and were supported by the majority leadership. Fortunately, $8.8 billion of those spending programs were either blocked in Congress or vetoed by the President.

Meanwhile, the 85th Congress dodged one of the thorniest and most far-reaching problems facing us—what to do about tyranny, corruption, racketeering and conscienceless leaders in labor unions. The highly touted Kennedy bill, which the Democrat leadership sought to force on the House membership almost sight unseen, was an attempt to sweep the mess under the rug.

Political Newcomer, Jason Honigman, Is GOP Nominee for Attorney General

The career of 34-year-old Jason L. Honigman, Republican nominee for the office of Attorney General, is a saga in the tradition of Abraham Lincoln; of the poor boy who, by his own efforts, fired by ambition, battled his way to the top.

From humble beginnings that included messenger boy for Western Union, working as a barber on week-ends and vacations, railway clerk, a stint on the assembly line at the Briggs Manufacturing Co. in Detroit—through high school and the University of Michigan where he received his B.A. in 1924, his J.D., with highest honors, in 1926, it is a dramatic success story.

One-time member of the legal firm headed by the late Governor Crossbeck, Honigman now heads his own office.

Champion of the rights of the public as stockholders, he carried the fight against Standard Gas & Electric Co. in the Deep Rock Oil case to the U. S. Supreme Court, won, and set a precedent which has been adopted as basic by the Securities Exchange Commission.

Honigman is the author of "Michigan Court Rules Annotated," used universally by Michigan Bench and Bar and a text in all law schools throughout the state. The book is revised annually at his own expense. All royalties have been donated to the Michigan State Bar Foundation.

Jason L. Honigman has never run for office before. He is an example of the successful citizen who has answered the call and offered to devote his full time to public service.

It was an enthusiastic and personal endorsement of candidate Jason L. Honigman that U. S. Senator Javits of New York gave him when the latter spoke at Ann Arbor a few days ago. "I can attest to Honigman's capability as a lawyer, all right, and from personal experience. The worst licking I ever took in my life is one I got from Jason Honigman in a U. S. Supreme Court case where I was opposed to him. "Michigan is indeed fortunate to have a man of his calibre, his legal training and his record as a fighter, willing to run for office," Javits stated.

JASON L. HONIGMAN

Vehicle Owners
Get Added Job
In Buying License

Automobile owners will have an extra chore this year, before they can obtain 1959 license plates. The added detail involves the license plate application form which is presented along with the vehicle title before a new set of plates can be issued.

This year motorists will not receive the applications fully made out in the mail, as in past years. Instead, the individual motor vehicle owners will be required to fill out the application.

Applications are now available at the Chelsea branch office for those who want to get ready for an early purchase.

The 1959 license plates will go on sale on Nov. 1 at a new and more convenient office. The location is at 105 South Main street, (formerly Lyons Shoe Store).

For the convenience of the owners of larger trucks and trailers, half-year commercial plates will be issued at the Chelsea branch.

In the past, truck owners had to go to the Ann Arbor or Jackson branch offices to obtain half-year plates. This type of plate is available for trucks weighing more than 4,000 lbs. and trailers weighing more than 3,500 lbs.

Automobile owners are reminded that the 1959 license plates will stay with the purchaser for three years and that next year, and the following year, the motorists will purchase only small tab inserts denoting the years 1960 and 1961. The 1959 plates will be green and gold.

State's Birth Rate

Lagging Behind '57 Pace

Lansing—During the first eight months of this year 2,436 fewer babies were born in Michigan than during the comparable period of 1957, the Michigan Department of Health reported today.

Birth registrations during the initial two-thirds of 1958 totaled 129,172, as against 131,608 in the first eight months of last year.

Births for 1958 exceeded 1957 monthly totals for the first five months of this year, but June, July and August births totaled 891, 1,146 and 787, under the same months of last year.

State health department records show that in 1957 births ran behind the previous year for the first four months but then rallied sharply and set an all-time 12-month record of 207,308.

Applications Taken
For Appointments
To Service Academies

Rep. George Meader said today he will appoint four Second District youths to the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., one to the Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., and one to the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo., for the academic year beginning July, 1959.

Meader said 10 Michigan vacancies also will be available at the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy, Kings Point, N.Y., for which he will make nominations for the state-wide competition.

Young men interested in attending the U.S. Coast Guard Academy should contact the U.S. Coast Guard, Washington 25, D.C., for information about the nationwide competitive examination.

The Michigan lawmaker added he will make his recommendations on a "merit" basis and asked youths interested to compete for the nomination by taking qualifying physical and Civil Service examinations.

The U.S. Civil Service Commission's long, meanwhile, announced the date for its preliminary academy examination. The test will be held in this area at Adrian, Ann Arbor and Jackson.

Meader asked interested young men to write him direct at 300 House Office Building, Washington 25, D.C., by Oct. 31, for application blanks and information on entrance requirements and examination procedures.

Advertisement Stresses Importance of Helping Local Industry with Problems

Among its present industries, a community has its greatest potential for industrial and economic growth.

Assistance which will keep industries and encourage them to expand can be given by every resident. Like people, industries have problems at some time. It is not only the responsibility of the community to assist in solving such problems, it will work to their mutual benefit. The big industries of today started small and expanded many times to reach their present size. They are now highly important to the economic base of the places where they are located.

Most industries have possibilities for expansion. If they are appreciated by their home community, the chances of local enlargement are high. If local residents take an interest in them, are proud to have them and recognize their problems, industries will have a feeling of being wanted. A considerable attitude on the part of the people will pay dividends when industry expands locally. There will be more jobs, increased sales in the stores and greater community prosperity.

Assisting industries meet their needs is stressed in the fifth of a series of advertisements sponsored by Michigan Press Association and Michigan Economic Development Department on industrial development being carried in The Standard and 300 other daily and weekly newspapers in Michigan as a public service.

This week's advertisement features the drawing of an old-time pump. The caption "You Don't Miss the Water Till the Well Runs Dry" emphasizes the necessity of appreciating what we have now in industry, facilities and resources.

A Cub Scout Pack meeting is to be held at South Elementary school at 7 o'clock this evening (Thursday).

Since all dens are not yet in operation because of a shortage of den mothers, the parents of boys not assigned to dens are asked to see that they are dressed in costumes pertaining to American folklore which is the theme of the program.

W. J. Grossman, Cubmaster, has announced that there are now seven dens in operation. The remaining three dens are in need of den mothers and anyone interested in assisting with the program is requested to contact him. Announcements regarding the Cub Scout activities were made following a business session of the Cub Scout committee and den mothers held at South Elementary school Tuesday evening, Oct. 14.

The next business meeting of the group is scheduled for Nov. 18.

HELP FOR TITO URGED
Foreign-aid officials say more United States economic help should be given to Yugoslavia because that Balkan country wields strong influence in Communist East Europe.

At the same time, the House Foreign Affairs Committee was told, arms aid has been halted at Yugoslavia request, and United States military advisers will be withdrawn before the end of April. Any future United States military hardware will have to be paid for by Yugoslavia, according to aid officials.

This information was given to the committee at a closed-door session last month.

KNOW YOUR PTA

Parents are interested in their schools! To term a phrase, one might say that there seems to have developed, in the past year, "rededication to education."

The continuing response and interest of parents following the October PTA meeting, is very gratifying. It was at this meeting that the School Board and the Superintendent of Schools formed a panel for a discussion of the Chelsea School Board's duties and policies and the duties of the administrator.

By way of an introduction to the members of a School Board, this editorial from a small town newspaper seems very apt. The Chelsea School Board fulfills this big order in its entirety. "There is only one ethical requirement for a school board member, and that is a sincere and honest desire to serve the community."

"Everything else being equal, the matter of genuine interest should be the guiding ideal to aid in school-board selection. A really good school board member is a person of more than average ability in many ways. He is broad of mind and open-minded. He is willing to give substantial blocks of time to discharge his responsibilities as a school-board member. He is willing to give his devotion to a cause and a program of activities that is directed by someone other than himself, namely, the superintendent of schools. To this superintendent he defers in matters professional. This superintendent he recognizes as the chief executive, the head of the school system. Some people do not have the ability thus to turn over to others the management of a program to which they give their chief devotion."

"A good school board member has a sense of human understanding. The good member relies on objective evidence and makes decisions on this evidence rather than on a basis of feeling, prejudice, or personal interest. He is willing to take a stand in a community for better schools. From this he does not waver, even though pressure and publicity send waves upon wave of criticism against him. The good school board member like people and sees many of them."

"His goings and comings in the district make for better understanding of the schools. He makes friends for the schools. He is an artist in making democracy work, because he knows how to interest the purpose of emphasizing the worth of each individual in society."

As suggested at the school board panel meeting, questions from citizens relating to school policy and administration will be answered in this column.

Question—Why is the Chelsea School District denoted as "agricultural" instead of "consolidated?"
Answer—The fact is, that as of three years ago all schools that had been designated "agricultural" were changed to "consolidated." On some of the older school buses you will note "agricultural" used in the name but the new buses read "consolidated."

WIDER CARS HIT
Albany, N. Y.—The big "bloated" automobiles coming out for 1959 will also be the biggest and most dangerous. An advisory committee to Governor Harriman says.

"It does not appear," the committee said in a report to the Governor, "that any thought was given to the number of people who will be killed or injured as a result of the extra four inches of car space that will be occupied by two passing cars."

Another way to send a tough home to the servicemen overseas is through recordings of family members, friends and neighbors telling about what goes on at home. "There's nothing like hearing the voices of your family, and a recording can be replayed many times. All I had one admonition: 'Keep it cheerful!'"

Many servicemen asked for subscriptions to the home-town newspaper, preferably by air mail. "The papers carry lots of little local items which are interesting to read but which nobody thinks to write us about."

THIS IS A "WORDY BIRD" and it's always out of season, because it's made of telephone cable. Here, a Michigan Bell Telephone Company lineman urges the hunter to use care during pheasant season so that he'll bag the bird instead of cutting the cable. Michigan Bell points out that considerable inconvenience can be caused by rural phone users and whole towns could be isolated through cable damage caused by careless shotgun blasts.

More Letters Rated Top Gift For Overseas Servicemen

The odds on choice for Christmas of servicemen overseas is—to be home. Short of that ideal gift, they've told American Red Cross field directors, they would like to come to them—in the form of home-made food, family photos, recordings of family gatherings, home-town papers and, above all else, more mail.

The majority of the servicemen and women and their dependents queried in the annual survey said they could buy most of the traditional gift items in their post exchanges or ship stores. Many said that the best possible Christmas gift would be a promise from the folks at home to write regularly throughout the year. "A letter every week for the whole year is better than any single Christmas gift," they all said.

However, home-made food ranked high as a preferred gift. "Any food from home tastes so much better than what the mess halls or local bakeries can provide," the common complaint about receiving food from home was that it usually arrived badly broken up. The servicemen said that peanut butter cookies and similar items usually arrive in bits, no matter how well packed. All stressed the fact that the food—cookies, fruit cakes, brownies, home-made candy—should be able to stand up under rough handling in shipment, preferably wrapped in foil paper and packed in tins or air-tight jars.

Other favorite gifts were pictures of family groups, sweethearts and friends, especially snapshots of the family amid Christmas decorations as a reminder of when the servicemen were home for the holidays and how it will be when they return. They emphasize the pictures should, of necessity, be small, hand-held size, or in light sturdy frames.

Another way to send a tough home to the servicemen overseas is through recordings of family members, friends and neighbors telling about what goes on at home. "There's nothing like hearing the voices of your family, and a recording can be replayed many times. All I had one admonition: 'Keep it cheerful!'"

Cross recreation centers or at service clubs.

American-style civilian clothing is always welcome to the American overseas. Service families with small children all emphasize the difficulty of finding suitable children's clothing, and toys and books at many overseas stations. And service wives, WACs and nurses all would like to get good stockings and lingerie, preferably nylon, for Christmas, as these items also are in short supply at most overseas posts. Servicemen said they would like casual sport shirts, slacks, and other non-military wearing apparel in the easy-to-wash synthetic fabrics.

A gift of money, the servicemen said, would of course enable them and their families to buy themselves something extra special for Christmas either in service stores or civilian shops. They stress that it should be in the form of postal money orders as American currency is difficult to exchange in many places and checks are either impossible to cash or require the payment of a fee.

On the undesirable list are such items as military-type clothing, cigarettes, watches, ties, cameras and sporting goods, all of which can be purchased at most PX's and at bargain prices.

The servicemen and women asked that families and friends use air mail for all letters and Christmas cards. They believe many persons in the States think that an APO or FPO address automatically guarantees a letter will be sent air-mail with just a four-cent stamp, which is not the case. They are insistent that the folks at home put seven cents on the envelope and mark it "Air Mail" because it takes surface mail up to 40 days to reach such far away places as Turkey, Korea and Formosa.

Finally, and importantly, the Post Office and Defense Department advise that Christmas parcels should be mailed between Nov. 1 and Nov. 20 for delivery by surface mail—ship—to servicemen overseas; and by Dec. 10 for delivery by air mail. They urge that persons in this country should keep in mind that the farther away from the U. S. the serviceman is stationed, the earlier the parcels should be mailed to insure delivery to him before Christmas.

ANTARCTIC TREATY
The State Department has announced that all eleven nations invited by President Eisenhower to discuss a new treaty for Antarctica have accepted.

Among the nations transmitting their acceptance of the invitation was the Soviet Union.

The aim of the treaty, as expressed in United States notes to the eleven nations May 8, would be to "freeze" all existing territorial claims and permit freedom of scientific investigations by citizens of all nations over the entire continent. Such investigation is being carried out by scientists of eleven nations under the International Geophysical Year program, but that ends Dec. 31.

Price Support Available for '58 Corn Crop

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has announced that price support will be made available for 1958-crop corn which is not produced in compliance with acreage allotment controls in the designated commercial areas. Similar "non-compliance" support was available for the 1956 and 1957 crops.

The additional support announced today will be at a national average of $1.06 per bushel. This represents the same preferential relationship to the announced minimum support for corn grown in compliance with allotments in 1958, as was in effect last year for final support levels.

"We reached the decision to offer 'non-compliance' corn price supports again this year only after very careful consideration, and a review of the whole situation with the Commodity Credit Corporation Advisory Board," Secretary Benson said. "It is an unusual and emergency type of provision which results in two different support levels for the same producing areas."

"We still have no effective corn program in 1958. Under the conditions this year, and under the conclusion that the special supports should be made available. Once again, the unworkable corn allotments kept most producers from complying with their provisions. Farmers made the decision to plant corn instead. On the basis of the latest available information and statistics it is now estimated that not more than 12 or 13 per cent of all corn harvested this year in commercial areas will be eligible for the regular price support."

"We also have an all-time record total supply of corn and other feed grains for the coming marketing year."

"In these circumstances, we must do what we can to help stabilize current feed grain and future livestock markets. It is very important that we reduce incentive for unwise over-expansion of hogs and other livestock. We have lost much 'across-the-board' support at the same relative level as last year, in spite of the greatly increased feed grain supply."

"The decision to offer 'non-compliance' corn supports, however, applies only to the 1958 crop. We do not plan to continue this type of emergency action."

"If farmers in the Nov. 25 referendum approve the new corn program which has been made available to them, there will be no problem of 'non-compliance' corn in 1959. All corn will be eligible for price support on the same basis, and all producers will be protected."

"The special supports we are announcing today are in line with the principles outlined by Congress in the new corn program. They will offer price protection this year for producers in commercial counties."

For 1957, the final average compliance price support in commercial areas was $1.40 a bushel, and the non-compliance average support was $1.10, a differential of 30 cents a bushel. For 1958, the advance minimum support was $1.38 a bushel, and the non-compliance support is $1.06.

In accordance with legislative provisions, the advance minimum compliance support for 1958 will be recalculated as of the beginning of the marketing year, Oct. 1. If the combination of the supply situation and parity at that time calls for a higher minimum, the support level will be adjusted upward accordingly. The average national support level for non-compliance corn, however, would "not" be changed.

The additional price support announced today, like the regular compliance supports announced previously, will be carried out through Commodity Credit Corporation loans and purchase agreements.

Korean Vets Must Start Course within Three Years After Discharge
In response to numerous inquiries, Lloyd H. Jameson, manager of the Veterans' Administration regional office in Detroit, announced that Korean veterans must start a course within three years from discharge or lose all educational benefits under Public Law 550.

Some veterans have stated that they believe the recent liberalization of regulations applying to resumption of training following an interruption under Public Law 550 after discharge also extended the period allowed for initiation of a course to 48 months. Jameson said that the liberalized regulation had nothing to do with initiation of the course. That course must be initiated within 36 months from discharge if the veteran is to benefit educationally from the Korean G. I. Bill.

More than 3,800 persons are employed at the University of Michigan Medical Center.

September Shows Further Reduction In Traffic Deaths

September was the ninth consecutive month this year to show a reduction in traffic deaths under the same month of last year, according to provisional figures reported by the State Police.

There were 117 fatalities, a reduction of 13.6 per cent over 132 in September of 1957. It was the 16th consecutive month in which reductions were reported. Delayed reports of deaths, however, may add to the number for September, but it will still be an excellent record in comparison with the monthly average of 178 fatalities in September during the five-year period from 1953 to 1956. The latter year was the turning point in the improvement record.

For the first nine months of the year the total now stands at 941 deaths as compared to 1,104 in the same period last year. This is a saving of 163 lives, or 14.8 per cent.

It is the lowest recorded since 1945, when 739 died during the same period. This was a war year when gas rationing reduced travel. Since 1945, miles travelled has increased by 17 billion, or 60 per cent to 29.3 billion in 1957. The number of cars has increased from 1 1/2 million to 3 1/2 million in the same period.

The death rate for the first seven months of 1958 is 4.1 per 100 million miles travelled compared to 5.1 in 1945. The final figures for August included 144 persons killed and 5,376 injured in 13,630 accidents. Compared with the same month last year, deaths decreased five per cent and accidents were reduced 11 per cent.

"Michigan motorists can be proud of their driving performance for the first nine months of this year," said Commissioner Joseph A. Childs, "but it should be pointed out that the real test will begin this month."

"October is the worst month for traffic fatalities. November is second worst and December is tied with August for third worst. We are well ahead of last year in reducing deaths, but drivers are reminded that extra caution will be required during the remainder of the year to save more lives."

EGG PRICE DROPS SEEN
The American Feed Manufacturers Association foresees lower producer prices of eggs next winter, but higher prices of turkeys in the fall.

The association represents an industry that supplies poultrymen with the bulk of their poultry rations.

It said winter egg prices may be 4 to 5 cents a dozen below those of a year earlier, and turkey prices should average 1 to 2 cents a pound higher than the 25-cent-a-pound farm average of a year earlier.

More than 3,600 persons take correspondence study from the University of Michigan Extension Service.

Board Panel

Is Feature of PTA Meeting

The second informative meeting in the current PTA series was held Wednesday, Oct. 15, at South Elementary school. Continuing this year's theme of "Know Your School," last week's session dealt with the school board and its functions.

The invocation was given by the Rev. Dale Ferris of the Evangelical United Brethren church of Waterloo.

A committee was appointed to meet with the school board concerning equipment needed for the new high school building. A motion was made and carried to hold open house at the new high school on Sunday, Nov. 9 at 2 p.m., and PTA President Gerald Carr announced that the PTA meeting of Nov. 18 will deal with the architecture of the new building.

After the formal business was concluded the program chairman, Mrs. Gerald Carr, introduced Mrs. George Frisinger who acted as moderator for the school board members, Dr. J. V. Fisher, Howard Flintoft, and Leon Marsh, with Charles Cameron, school superintendent.

Dr. Fisher spoke to the group about curriculum changes and the duties of the school board. He said school board meetings are held the third Tuesday of each month and all are open to the public.

Howard Flintoft discussed the new school buildings and their facilities, including the four shop departments, arts and crafts building, gymnasium and classrooms.

Leon Marsh told of the financial program necessary to carry out education in our community, and Charles Cameron defined his duties as an administrator.

Questions from the floor were then answered as time permitted and the meeting closed with a prayer by the Rev. Ferris.

Leonard Stark Participating In Consumer Auto Test Plan

Leonard K. Stark of 415 Alnsworth Circle, Ypsilanti, a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Stark of Rogers Corners, is one of 400 men participating in a test by means of which the Gallup Organization, working for Ford Motor Co., is seeking to learn the answers as to what consumers want in new automobiles.

Stark, along with the others participating in the project, has been given a 1936-model car to drive for 30 days after which he will report on the car's performance.

Stark visited his parents at Rogers Corners the past week-end, driving the new car.

The men selected for the test (one or two in a community) attended a two-day conference in Detroit last week and were given an opportunity to exchange ideas on desirable features of automobiles from the consumers' point of view.

Some stated their belief that auto manufacturers' year-to-year radical changes in car styling makes consumers "dissatisfied" makes their year-old models "outmoded" and "harmful" purchasing of new cars.

In this connection, Stark believes that styling of cars should result in added utility, comfort and safety and not be prompted solely by manufacturers' demands for a new look.

He asserts that some auto rear windows are on a horizontal plane too far and should be redesigned to prevent the collection of snow and ice, as an example.

And Stark claims the so-called six-passenger car can comfortably hold only four persons. He calls Knott.

Semi-Marked Cars Will Be Used By State Police

Semi-marked State Police patrol cars will replace unmarked cars on highway patrol to increase the hours of effective traffic law enforcement and reduce night-time accidents.

For a number of years unmarked cars have been used to supplement the regular blue and gold marked cars, but their operation was restricted to daytime operation as the only identification was that of the uniformed officer.

The semi-marked car has the reflectorized State Police shield on both doors, panels and the stop light on the hood, but there are no other exterior markings. It is equipped with a portable oscillating red light with a magnetic base to place on the top when stopped for an accident or other emergency.

The cars are standard colors and have regular license plates. Regular patrol cars have State Police gold and blue plates.

They were first used on an experimental basis in high night-time accident areas such as Flint, Lansing, Flat Rock and Pontiac and are now being gradually extended to other areas and will replace the unmarked fleet.

Semi-marked cars have proved very successful in checking the willful type of violator who observes the law only when a marked patrol car is in sight. The semi-marked cars cannot be identified as police cruisers from either the front or rear, but are easily recognized from the sides when they come into view of a motorist's headlights.

Half the fatal accidents at night occur on rural highways. Although the traffic volume drops, the percentage of speed-law violations is considerably higher and there are many more run-off-road single-car accidents.

MYSTERY FARM NO. 26, published in the Oct. 16 issue of The Standard, was correctly identified by a number of people as the Everett Van Riper place on Jerusalem road. Van Riper purchased the property from the O. C. Burkhardt estate in 1945. Among those who operated the

Mystery Farm No. 26 Now Owned by E. G. Van Riper, Fair Board President

Everett Van Riper, president of the board of the Chelsea Community Fair Association, is the present owner of "Mystery Farm No. 26," published last Thursday in the current series of farm photographs appearing each week in The Standard.

Van Riper bought the farm in 1943 and for a number of years specialized in registered stock; however, his present general farming now includes the raising of non-registered beef cattle and hogs.

Members of the family, in addition to Mrs. Van Riper, include two sons and four daughters. All are married. They are Gordon Van Riper, now associated with the University of Nebraska, at Lincoln, Neb.; William Van Riper who operates a farm on Haisel road; Mrs. Lester Czarnicki (Virginia), Mrs. Glen England (Patricia), and Mrs. Donald Pierson (Mary Ellen), all at Manchester; and Mrs. Franklin Sweeney (Nancy), of 14700 Jerusalem road. There are also 20 grandchildren.

The Everett Van Riper farm is located at 20412 Jerusalem road, the second farm east of Vermont cemetery on the Chelsea-Manchester road.

Everett Van Riper has been active in promotion of the Chelsea Community Fair for a number of years and derives a great deal of satisfaction from the fact that the first permanent exhibit building was erected on the Chelsea Community Fair grounds in time for the 1958 fair. He recalled the days when the fair was held in the gymnasium at Chelsea High school; then at Chelsea Implement company's building on Chelsea-Manchester road and finally at the former Bowser plant (now the Gudeman company). Tents were used on the present fairgrounds until the building was erected this year.

According to information on the abstract for the farm, the property was first owned by the Spaulding family. In 1874 the owner was listed as J. M. Cook and in 1915 it was owned by N. H. Cook. Soon after that the farm became the property of O. C. Burkhardt and after his death it remained as part of the Burkhardt estate until Van Riper bought it 15 years ago.

Burkhardt never lived on the place, himself. Among those who operated the farm through the years was the late Charles Messner. One of his daughters, Mrs. Waldo Elsemann of Ann Arbor, called The Standard office to identify the farm, saying it was her family's home from 1921 until 1928.

Others who correctly identified the farm are Allen Broesamle, Anton Nielsen, Mrs. Larry Chapman, David Foster, Mrs. Charles Curtis, Mrs. William Van Riper, Judy Woolley, Everett Van Riper, Otto Frederick, Herbert Jacob, Armin Kuhl, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Herrst, George Sweeney and Leona Kuhl.

Entries will be judged on the basis of understanding world friendship in general, and specifically between young people of both nations.

The contest was inspired by the October Boy Scout theme, "World Brotherhood."

Trucks are the only commercial vehicles which serve all of Michigan—bringing merchandise and materials from every part of the world to every Michigan household, farm and business concern.

In fact, for hundreds of Michigan communities motor vehicles are the sole means of transportation—autos and busses for passengers, trucks for freight. These communities are not served by any other transportation system.

So, you see, because trucks can and do go wherever there are roads, ample supplies of food, furniture, medical supplies, tools and machinery—necessities and luxuries from everywhere—are available anytime to people in all of Michigan.

Those in small out-of-the-way communities are as well fed, well housed and well clothed as the people of Michigan's largest metropolitan centers—thanks to trucks!

TODAY'S CHILDREN LEARN about the value of the telephone almost before they can walk. Here's a story of a six-year-old daughter who knew exactly what to do when she heard a man trying to break into the house. She ran to the phone and got the police. The fact that the intruder turned out to be her father (he had lost his keys) takes nothing away from her prompt action in a crisis.

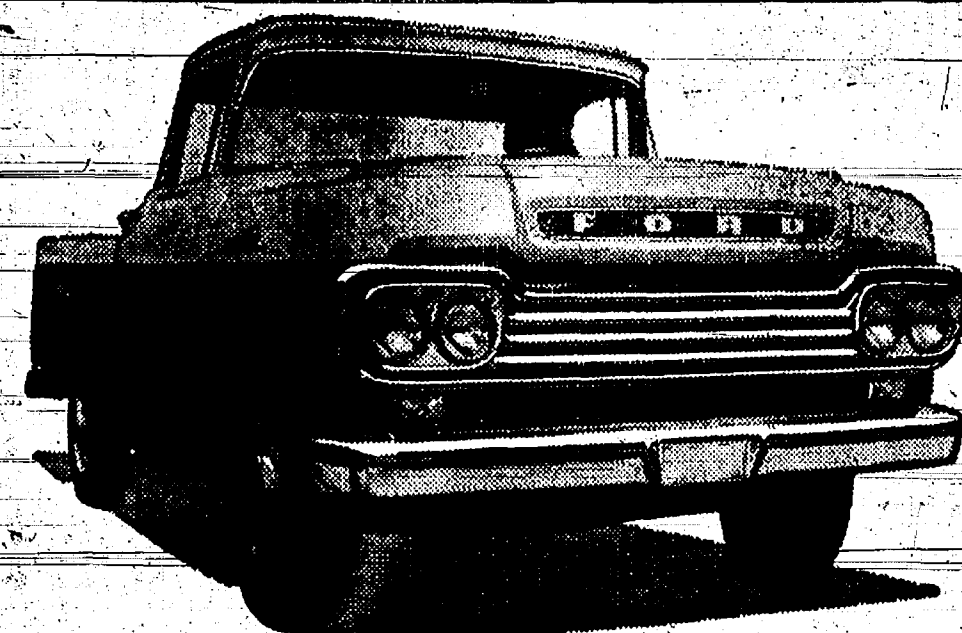

THE TELEPHONE COMPANY has a special way of recognizing noteworthy deeds by telephone employees in time of crisis. Telephone folks have a long tradition of service to the public; but each year the company makes a practice of giving medals, cash and citations to employees for some particularly outstanding deed beyond the call of duty. This year, for instance, awards were given to a Pontiac telephone man credited with saving the life of an auto accident victim, and to an Ann Arbor repairman who rescued a man from fire.

A SMALL BOY called the Information Operator to ask for a local number. After she had supplied it, the operator suggested to the small boy that he would find it in the telephone directory. "I know," he agreed, "but I can't do that 'cause I'm standing on the directory to reach the telephone."

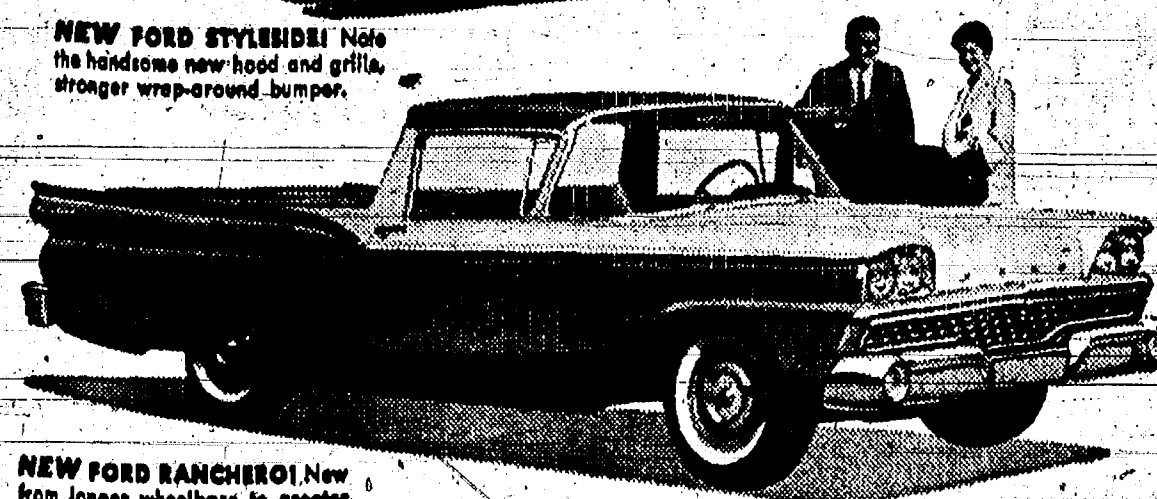

DO YOU HAVE TROUBLE reaching your phone? Do you sometimes find yourself upstairs when it rings downstairs? Did you know that you can save yourself and family any amount of rushing about? And very inexpensively, too. All you need is a bedroom extension phone. More and more people are discovering the wonderful convenience and extra fun of having extension phones. How about calling our Business Office about it today?

Give To Support Your Community Chest and the United Fund Campaign

The United Fund Campaign, through participation in the Chelsea Community Chest, now underway in our community and throughout thousands of communities across the nation, is a relatively new approach to charity in many areas. There are several organizations, some of them major charities, which have refused to join in the United Fund effort.

As a result, there are those who ask why a United Fund campaign is necessary. As for our part, we believe the inauguration of a United Fund campaign is one of the most significant and commendable achievements in the field of charity, which people of good will in this country have been able to achieve.

We support the Chelsea Community Chest and through it the United Fund campaign 100 per cent for many reasons. First, it avoids a tremendous waste of time and duplication in the efforts of the various charities. It puts one's charity on a businesslike basis, allows him to know when and how much he will give each month, or quarter, and allows him to properly plan for his outlay.

The duplication involved in separate drives for each of the major charities, especially in the smaller towns such as ours, is almost unbelievable. Businessmen in communities round themselves making charity calls, organizing charity drives and spending much time on some sort of effort every few weeks. Sometimes, almost overwhelmed and without time to continue such a schedule, businessmen have decided to refrain from all such work altogether.

The Community Chest-United Fund campaign is a solution to all this, and provides for proper organization on a permanent basis.

In summary, we believe in the United Fund and think that charity organizations should, with few, if any, exceptions—co-operate with this joint charity drive. Those who do not wish to co-operate, and who seek to perpetuate their own organizations, regardless of the practical value to be derived from joining the United Fund, will find more and more people disinterested in their pleas.

Safe Hunting Demands Extra Precautions At All Times

The season for hunting has begun and, unless 1958 is an exception to previous years, the newspapers will report many instances involving the wounding or killing of hunters by accident.

Nearly every community in the nation, including Chelsea, has, at one time or another, experienced the sense of futile grief which follows a tragedy in the field. The accident could have been avoided in most instances.

Despite the knowledge that firearms are dangerous, human beings often take a chance, and by so doing, take the life of someone else. We have seen several collections of safety rules, designed to warn hunters of danger. The following eleven deserve study by all those who plan to take to the fields and woods in search of game.

- 1) Never carry loaded guns in automobiles or other vehicles.
- 2) When afield, hunting birds, keep abreast of your companion.
- 3) In loading, never point a gun in the direction of your companion.
- 4) In climbing over stone walls and fences, first break or unload your gun.
- 5) A bird quartering to the right in the vicinity of your companion should never be fired on by a hunter on the extreme left.
- 6) Never leave a loaded gun standing against a tree or lying on the ground where a dog may get at it.
- 7) Always keep your gun pointed away from your companion when you stop to talk.
- 8) In handing a gun to a person for inspection, be sure it is unloaded.
- 9) Never shoot in the direction of your companion because you consider yourself a good marksman. You will be taking a dangerous chance.
- 10) Carry a gun pointed down to the left. If you shoot left-handed, walk at the extreme right of your companion.
- 11) At all times, be careful.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Poverty in state government can wait until after the Nov. 4 election.

Leaders of both parties are happy about the decision of a legislative study committee to head up its final report and recommendations until after voters go to the polls.

They know there will have to be new taxes if the state is going to avoid a $50,000,000 to $80,000,000 deficit by next June 30. The present tax pattern is described as a "patchwork" put together to meet various crises which occurred during the years. But any change in the name of improvement is still likely to cause great reaction.

Parts of the new plan almost leaked out before top candidates headed for the hustings to harvest votes.

The first leak developed last winter when Rep. Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton), chairman of the committee, released a tentative report favoring the increase in the intangibles tax.

For weeks, there was conjecture that all bank deposits and the fixed incomes of old folks would be raided.

To make it worse, Gov. Williams supported the idea as the top Democrat. This brought both parties into the fray and the taxpayer sat on the edge of his chair, empowered only to worry.

The legislature finally dropped the idea as Conlin pleaded for more time to develop his whole program, rather than run with the ball after only one of several ideas had been pursued, more time and more facts were required.

Through the summer the research people for the committee worked.

Onimous sounds of an income tax for Michigan came from several sources.

Democrats, led by Williams to abhor anything that sounds like "a consumer tax" (and only people pay non-consumer taxes, too) are saying privately it is "the fairest tax of all."

U-M Prof. Harvey E. Brazier, research director of the legislative tax study, casually mentions the income tax idea and charges that the legislature must get down to work in 1959 and seek out new sources of revenue.

Officially, nothing has been said about any new tax. But, wherever candidates gather, they know what faces the state in 1959 and also that the income tax is the last new source of sizeable revenue.

Brazier's proposal, he promised, will come up with ideas the legislature can use for "new sources of revenue, but without hurting business and industry."

Investigators on legislative interim committees have come up with one governmental and administrative agencies might have trouble explaining away.

They are charging that agencies are spending more time looking for loopholes than trying to follow legislative intent.

Highway officials spent $52,000 for a tourist information lodge at Mackinaw City. Legislators said they did it without legislative authority in the appropriation bills.

Highway officials said the legislature had not forbidden that use of the money.

Senator L. Harvey Lodge (R-Drayton Plains) said he could think of 1,001 things the legislature did not forbid the highway department to do.

Mental health officials were charged with improperly using money to reimburse the wages of a superintendent of Ionia State hospital.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see by the papers where a Congressman from Virginia is recommending that the Government require schools getting Federal lunch money to put one syrup back in all school lunches. That's the first sensible suggestion that has come from a Congressman since them boys left Washington in August.

Back in my school days syrup was the backbone of the educational system, and when a boy didn't have a big piece of bread he could pour syrup on it, he didn't have no lunch. Now they give 'em lettuce leaves, tuna fish and alphabet vitamins and hope for the best. School ain't as rugged as it used to be, as that's what we're getting so many kids in roll graduates. When I went to school it took up at 8 in the morning and lasted until 5 in the afternoon. The teacher put all the juvenile delinquents like me on the front row so's she could reach 'em with a paddle. When I got out at everybody knew it had been a full day put in for the sake of solid education. What this generation needs is more cane syrup and longer yardsticks. Speaking of them bygone days,

If I live to be a hundred and these newspaper fellows asks me how I did it, I'm going to give 'em an answer they ain't had before. I was brung up on corn shucks mattresses. There's a heap of 'em old timers around now that won't admit it, but I ain't ashamed of it. I was 20 year old afore I knowed they made mattresses out of anything but corn shucks.

We used to git a bed tick and fill it with shuck cornpans, and it was always comfortable for few nights. Then the shucks started humping up and from then on it was like sleeping on a pile of rocks. I used to git up in the morning and put on my clothes very careful on account of being tight, and it was dangerous to dress too fast. Then I'd limber up by walking down to the barnyard where I'd chin the limb on a mulberry tree about a dozen times to git the rest of the limbs out. A feller that can stand this for 20 years ain't a sensitive shuck head. I wear down. And if I live to be a old man, I'll always attribute it to them corn shuck mattresses— and plenty of cane syrup in my lunch pail.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

★ Responsibility

I read about a dentist who had a sign in his waiting room: "Eat candy—it's good for me."

There was a man who was trying to cut down on his own business. He knew that people who eat plenty of candy provide plenty of work for dentists. Yet he was saying in a humorous way, "Don't eat so much candy."

A responsible dentist will try to keep his patients' teeth in good condition, thus reducing the demand for his services.

The odd word "iatrogenic" means "caused by a physician," and it refers to ailments that develop because a doctor has frightened his patient by appearing to be worried about some symptom. But no wise and good physician tries to make his patients ill, or to make them dependent upon him. He hopes to keep them well enough that they can take their health for granted.

A responsible spiritual leader will try to develop such strong faith and character in people that they will be able to weather the storms of life with only incidental encouragement and guidance from their leader. Their real help will come from God.

A banker won't mortgage a farm for more than he thinks the owner can repay. The bank might make money by foreclosing, but that wouldn't be good business.

Responsible stock brokers encourage investors to purchase sound stocks and to keep them for a long time. Frequent sales and purchases would produce more commissions for the brokers, but it is better for the economy in the long run to have a large body of sensible, solvent, conservative investors.

Personally, I should hate to engage in any business that depended for its survival upon creating a hunger for something that people don't really need.

Aptitude Testing in Chelsea High School.

Mr. Charles Lane, principal of the High school, announced that on Oct. 30 our senior students will have the opportunity to take the General Aptitude Test Battery.

Over 40 students already have expressed their intention to participate. The GATB is applicable to employment applicants who are at least 16 years of age and to students who have completed at least the tenth grade. Persons younger than this are considered too immature to give an accurate profile through testing or benefit through the available results.

In the future the school hopes to use these tests in the 11th grade.

Roughly speaking, an aptitude test undertakes to measure what a person could learn to do.

The original edition of the GATB was published in 1947 by the U. S. Employment Service.

The basic assumption underlying the GATB is that a large variety of tests can be boiled down to several factors and that a large variety of occupations can also be clustered in the abilities required. This makes it feasible to test all of a person's vocational abilities in one sitting (about 3 hours) and to interpret his scores in terms of a wide range of occupations.

This presently is the only test battery based on most extensive study of occupations, worker traits and characteristics and the relationship of specific attitudes of people already on the job as compared with the attitude patterns of those who are about to enter the labor market.

Close to 600 jobs out of some 30,000 in the U. S. were studied and are the basis of grouping and categorization of aptitudes in relationship to job families.

In the interpretation process Occupational Ability Patterns enter into consideration which run from unskilled through professional categories. The GATB may be characterized as the most useful existing multifactor test battery for vocational counseling.

The following aptitudes are tested: spatial, verbal, numerical, clerical, perception, finger dexterity, manual dexterity, motor coordination, and form perception.

The entire GATB is administered and the occupational aptitude forms are used in the counseling of about 400,000 Employment Service applicants per year.

In addition, a number of colleges and universities, prisons, VA Hospitals, and other non-profit organizations are using the GATB under arrangements made with the appropriate State Employment Service.

The counselor integrates the information developed from the test scores with all the other information obtained about the individual by other methods such as the interview, doctor's reports, and school records. This enables him to consider all the factors that may have a bearing on the counselor's occupational advice and to make his recommendation as to the individual's potential skills, interests, potential skills, leisure activities, physical capacities, personal traits, social and economic factors, acquired skills, and education and training. Since we have no mathematical formula for putting all these ingredients together, the counselor must put them together and reason the whole with a good dose of common sense.

These tests, not the counselor's potential skill, are not a "cure all" or success insurance. One's motivation, persistence, handicaps, and the like cannot be accurately anticipated. Yet, this is another practical aid which we may utilize.

During 1957-58 the University of Michigan Office of Admissions processed nearly 7,000 freshman applications. More than 6,000 applicants were found admissible, and 3,200 enrolled at the U-M.
