Halloween Party Scheduled Tonight For Area Children

Window Painting Designs Will Be Judged Today

Tonight (Thursday) is the date for the annual Kiwanis-sponsored Halloween party for youngsters. It is being held a day early this year because of the out-of-town football game Friday night, making the school band unavailable for a parade here.

Tonight's parade is to start promptly at 6:45 p.m. at Chelsea High school. Nostalgia makers will be distributed in the gymnasium, beginning at 6:30 p.m. In order that the parade may start without delay, the parade is to start at 7:00 p.m.

At the conclusion of the parade, cider and doughnuts will be served around a big bonfire on the school ground at the high school and a program will follow in the gymnasium.

Features of the program will be the awarding of prizes for costumes and in the window painting contest held in connection with the Halloween party. Approximately 20 windows in the business district have been decorated and are to be judged today.

CD Network Test Alert Is 'Successful'

Martin E. Miller, Civil Defense director for Zone VII which includes the Chelsea area, said last week Wednesday's test of the alerting network here was considered a success since all but two points were reached in the systematic fan-out. The exercise carried out the alerting system as it would be carried out in a real emergency.

Director Gerald G. Miller, reporting on Wednesday's test, said that more than 200 persons and places were contacted during the fan-out communications test. He said it took 45 minutes to complete the test and that 85 to 90 per cent of them were notified within 15 minutes of the alert at 2 p.m.

He said the test proved that communications facilities in the county are "good and bad." (Continued on page five)

SUCCESSFUL ARCHER Dare Edwards (right), and Conservation Officer Donley Boyer are shown here with the 10-point buck Edwards shot with a bow and arrow and then gave up for lost after failing to track it down in several hours' search. Meanwhile Boyer was called to investigate when the 175-lb. buck was found dead by other hunters. It was believed the buck had been illegally shot but Boyer, assisted by Bob Wals, could find no slug when they dressed the animal in preparation for giving the meat to an institution. While Boyer and Wals were busy with their work of dressing the buck, Edwards was trying to reach Boyer by telephone to notify him of the affair. When the two finally got together, Edwards was overjoyed to learn that the buck had been found (and already dressed). The deer was downed near Burns Lodge off Loveland road.

Bulldogs Drop 13-7 Decision To U. High

Travel to Ypsilanti Friday Evening To Meet Roosevelt

Last Friday night Chelsea High's Bulldogs traveled to Ann Arbor to take on U-High in the rain and the mud-and-lost-a-heart-breaking 13-7 decision.

The defeat was a bitter pill for the Bulldogs to swallow as they dominated play throughout most of the game as they piled up 215 yards, rushing to U-High's 120. Three times Chelsea moved to inside the U-High 10-yard line but could score only once. A fumble stalled another drive on the U-High 30.

U-High scored first as Chelsea fumbled the first time they had the ball on their own 35. Seven plays later U-High's fullback plunged over from the three. A pass play was in good for the extra point attempt.

The Bulldogs got that TD back midway in the second period after a 67-yard march. The drive took 10 plays as Halbacks Loren Keizer and Dave McLaughlin alternated punting over Chelsea's right side with excellent blocking.

New Pastor To Be Installed At Zion Lutheran Church

The Rev. C. J. Renner, who served as pastor of Grace Lutheran church at Castalia, O., the past 15 years, has accepted a call to become pastor of Zion Lutheran church at Rogers Corners and will be installed at a special service next Sunday evening.

Dr. Norman A. Menter of Detroit, president of the Michigan District of the American Lutheran Church, will officiate at the installation and will deliver the sermon for the special service. He will be assisted by the Rev. M. B. Brueckner, retired pastor of the Rogers Corners church.

The Rev. Renner was born on a farm in Franklin county, near Columbus, O., and attended rural schools and city schools in the area before entering Capital University Academy, Columbus, O., where he graduated in 1922. He received an A. B. degree at Capital University in 1926 and a B. D. degree at Capital University Seminary in 1929.

He served a rural parish at Leesville, O., from 1929 until 1935. In 1935 he began an eight-year pastorate at Trenton, O., going from there to Grace church at Castalia. The Trenton church built a new parsonage and parish house during the pastorate of the Rev. Renner. While he was at Castalia, Grace church was remodeled and enlarged, combined with a new parish house.

Mrs. Renner was instrumental in organizing a parochial kindergarten at the Castalia church in 1956 and the kindergarten is still in operation. The Renners were married in 1929 by Dr. Menter who is officiating at the Rev. Renner's installation here Sunday.

They have one daughter who is married and lives in San Francisco, Calif. In addition to his church activities the Rev. Renner has several interesting hobbies — astronomy, music, photography, wood model shop and gardening. In connection with the astronomy he has a private observatory with a five-inch telescope.

The Rev. and Mrs. Renner are moving to the church parsonage at Rogers Corners this week. The installation service Sunday begins at 7 p.m. There will be no regular morning worship service or Sunday school.

County Faces Serious Crisis In Needed Jail Enlargement

On Tuesday, Nov. 4, voters of Washtenaw county will be asked to approve an extra property tax levy of 1/2 cent of a mill on state equalized property valuation in the year 1959 only, to provide funds necessary for construction of an addition to the Washtenaw County Jail. This millage rate is expected to raise approximately $350,000.

Two separate questions will appear on the ballot, one asking authorization to make the levy, which will be voted on only by property owners; and the other specifically requesting authorization to exceed the 15 mill tax limitation in making the levy, which will be voted on by all voters. Both questions must be approved by a majority of the voters in order to make the funds available, since there is no available tax millage within the 15 mill limitation.

The County Board of Supervisors took emergency action in its September session to place this matter before the people after being informed by the state jail inspector in August that he intended to secure an immediate court order requiring Washtenaw county to transport all prisoners in excess of the rated capacity of the jail to jails in such other counties as would have extra space available. After conferring with the Sheriff's Committee of the Board of Supervisors, the inspector agreed to delay court action, but only if the board took "immediate, positive, action" to proceed with construction of additional jail space.

The first step in the Board's actions had to be placement of the appropriate question on the November ballot, since this must be done 45 days prior to the date of election. In addition, detailed plans and cost estimates for construction for a two-floor addition above the present jail building already had been completed in 1956.

For several years the state jail inspector has criticized operation of the jail because of prisoner crowding. The jail presently has a capacity of males and six female prisoners. Average daily prisoner load over the past several months, which has been progressively increasing, has been approximately 90, and peak loads have often exceeded 100 prisoners.

This increased prisoner load is partly related to the rapid population increase being experienced in Washtenaw county. It is also the result of court practice of sentencing some prisoners to week-end jail terms to avoid their losing employment, which in many cases requires that their families receive welfare aid from the county. As has already been publicly explained by Circuit Court Judge James E. Breakley, Jr., the crowding is not a result of any administrative delays in handling of cases by Circuit Court.

Chest Fund Hits 46% of Total Goal

Figures available at the end of the second week of the Chelsea Community Chest 1959 fund-raising campaign showed a total of $6,000.00 collected and pledged. This is approximately 46 per cent of the $13,125.00 goal.

Reports of the various campaign committees indicate the following returns as of Friday afternoon: businesses, $1,300.00; clubs, $800.00; industry, $4,000.00 (employees and companies); residential, $200.00; and rural, $200.00. A report of solicitation throughout the schools is expected next week.

One of the Chest's officials said that the contributions seemed to be running consistent with last year. He expressed confidence that the citizens of Chelsea would support the effort 50 per cent and that the goal would be reached.

Hearing Tests Scheduled in Kindergarten

For the second consecutive year the Washtenaw County Health Department is conducting a hearing testing program in Washtenaw county schools in co-operation with the schools, the Michigan Department of Health and the County Medical Society.

Kindergarten children in all out-county schools and in the Ypsilanti school system will be screened, as will second graders in all parochial schools. In addition, any child referred by the teacher or the school nurse will be given a hearing test.

In Chelsea, the tests were conducted at South Elementary school last Thursday and Friday; at North Elementary school all day Monday and Tuesday a.m.; and at St. Mary's school Tuesday afternoon.

In all, more than 2,000 children will be treated in the program which is partially supported by a cash gift from the Washtenaw County Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., the local Easter Seal Society. The board of directors of this agency recently voted to donate $800.00 to help defray the expense of such a program and to help the salary.

Visitors Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Schultz were the latter's nephew and family, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Thompson and son Marty, of Lansing.

Smart-Dog Gives His Owner Lesson In Grouse Hunting

Lansing—A dog is oftentimes portrayed as man's best friend, but Robert Huff, Conservation Department deerward biologist at Traverse City, recently had cause to wonder.

One Saturday earlier this month he and his so-called best friend were hunting grouse. The dog pointed a grouse, Huff walked in, flushed the bird, and then missed his shot.

Then the dog pointed a second grouse and Huff missed that. As the day wore on, the dog put up four more grouse, all of which Huff missed.

Finally, in desperation, the dog disappeared and was gone for some time before returning with a feathery object in his mouth.

"What was it? A live grouse," "Apparently," says Huff, "he was trying to show me what one looked like close up." Needless to say, dog's best friend was embarrassed.

THE HIGH COST OF LIVING—Ezra Taft Benson gave forth the gloomy news recently that he did not see any break in the cost of red meat, particularly the better cuts, in the near future.

He pointed out that Department of Agriculture economists had forecast a slight downward trend for this spring, although they said that the price of better grades of beef likely will continue to hold above the levels of a year ago.

The Secretary of Agriculture added that the price of beef was near the point of causing real consumer resistance.

Winging low over a jack pine growth in northern Michigan is one of the Conservation Department's three airplanes. Conservation Dept. Bracing For Deer Hunting Onslaught

Lansing—The Conservation Department is bracing for one of the biggest deer seasons in history and is preparing again to gather vital information in its long-range plans for Michigan deer herd management.

Throughout the state, the Department will operate a system of checking stations and highway tabulators to determine hunter concentrations and estimated kill of deer and to collect important biological information.

As in previous years, checking stations will operate at Drummond Island, the Straits of Mackinac, Standish, Sanford, Mr. Pleasant, Morley, Brohman and Baldwin.

All of these stations are designed mainly to check the age, sex, and physical development of deer. They are not points where deer are counted, except Drummond Island, where all deer leaving the island are counted.

The stations are located to cover major highways and byways going north and south in the lower peninsula. They give homeward-bound southern Michigan hunters chance to stop and have their deer studied.

In addition, the Department will operate special checking stations on Beaver and Bois Blanc Islands where blood samples will be taken from deer from several points in both the upper and lower peninsula.

Also, a statistical system of checking traffic gives the Department and the public a quick and comparatively accurate count of both the deer kill and the size of the hunter army.

KNOW YOUR PTA

Mark an important date on your calendar! Sunday, Nov. 8, an open house will be held at the site of the new high school building. Citizens of Chelsea will have an opportunity to view the progress which has been made on the new campus layout.

Tours of inspection of the interior of the buildings will be conducted from 2 to 5 p.m.

It is interesting to note that a small Connection campus-plan school was chosen for exhibition at the Brussels World Fair as an outstanding example of progress in American architecture.

An opportunity to meet the architect of the new school building, or his representative, will be offered at the PTA meeting of Nov. 10. The speaker will explain the school's special design for this area and answer questions concerning the recent building activities.

Twenty-five parents from this school district are needed for a worthwhile project. It will be interesting and informative for those 25 people participating.

Opinionaires concerning one's beliefs about public education in Michigan are to be answered. It is merely a matter of checking through 110 statements concerning education and answering them on the basis of your present beliefs. Telephone Mrs. W. J. Howes and she will see that you will receive a copy of the opinionaire.

Your co-operation is welcomed by the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers who are sponsoring this "Study of Michigan Schools." This is the first step in the creation of a greater citizen interest and knowledge of public education in Michigan.

This is the opportunity to "do something about our schools" for which many parents have been asking. The opinionaire gives local citizens an opportunity to express their individual beliefs concerning public education.

It will be November at the Western Washington County Council meeting that the opinionaires of this area will be evaluated and the results sent to the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Michigan parents are fortunate in the opportunities presented for education. Plan to attend the Farquhar Educational Institute Meeting on Nov. 8. Several PTA members have already indicated their desire to go to the Ann Arbor meetings to hear the well-known husband and wife lecturers, Harry A. and Bonaro W. Overstreet, and also Belle Farley Murray who will speak.

James Gleason Describes Austrian Grape Harvest

It really seems strange to think I only have two more weeks here in Austria. The time has disappeared and I'm really going to miss this country.

I am now staying with my last farmer. He is a wine lover or wine farmer. He has a large vineyard and every year makes about 5,000 gallons of wine. Josef Himmelmayer or "The Chief" as the workers say, is only 28 years old, but has a large farm and vineyard.

Now the grape harvest is in full swing. Today there were 12 women in the vineyard picking the grapes. It is really fun when it isn't raining. The women sing and joke a lot and have a good time.

The grapes are picked and carried to the wagon and run through a crusher. Later they are hauled in large barrels to the cellar and pressed. Sugar is added and then pumped into the barrels. Finally about Christmas the new wine is ready to drink.

Now the cellars must be ventilated very well or the gas from the fermenting wine will kill a man. Just read a newspaper that a man in the next village died in his cellar from the gas.

This village is almost all farms with the buildings all together in the village and the fields are outside of town. There are very few buildings in the country.

Tonight I was talking with one of the neighbors. All of the Aunts and Uncles had emigrated thirty years ago to Detroit. She was really interested in how we live and what we do.

We do things often differently and speak another language, but in every other way people are the same.

Sincerely,
James Gleason

Pheasant Hunters Kill Reported About Same as Last Year's Dull Opener

Lansing—Warm, dry weather marked the opening of Michigan's pheasant season, Oct. 20. As a result, there was nothing spectacular about the kill of ringnecks.

The conservation department's round-up for the opener showed generally fewer hunters with the gun about the same as for last year's cool and overcast first day.

According to a department report compiled from observations by field personnel this year's opening day kill was a statistical 48 birds per hunter. Last year the figure was 50.

It took this year's hunter 5.2 hours to kill one bird. He did it last year in 5.4 hours.

Methodist Building Fund Campaign To Start Monday

The Chelsea Methodist church in a concerted effort by a large number of canvassers, will carry on a fund-raising drive among its membership next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday for its proposed new educational unit to be constructed at the rear and east of the church building.

Final plans for the campaign will be made at a meeting of canvassing team captains and team members to be held at the church tomorrow night. A special service of consecration will be held for all workers during the Sunday morning worship service.

The proposed construction of the educational unit is the culmination of three years of planning by the church board and members of the building committee, working together to find a solution for the problem of insufficient classroom space for the steadily increasing enrollment in the Sunday school.

Authority was granted the church at a recent quarterly conference, to proceed with the building.

of a part-time hearing technician to conduct the testing. All children who do not demonstrate a satisfactory hearing level on the preliminary hearing tests will be given a more complex test by an audiologist from the Michigan Department of Health. Following this procedure, those children showing evidence of possible hearing loss are then referred to a clinic conducting hearing tests by physicians who specialize in this field of medicine.

The findings of these specialists, along with any recommendations for care of the child, will then be available to the family physician for his use in the future care of the child. At the medical clinic will be given at these clinics.

According to recognized authorities, the original screening process will result in about 7 per cent of the children being referred to the audiologist for further testing, and the audiologists, in turn, refers an average of 3 per cent to the clinics.

Mrs. Rose Morrison, who entered St. Joseph Mercy hospital, Ann Arbor, Oct. 6 for a major operation, is still a patient there and is reported to be making a satisfactory recovery. She expects to remain at the hospital approximately two weeks longer.

JAIL TOO COLD
Stanton, Mich.—It got a little too cold in the "cooler" when the heating system broke down at the local county jail, so with the temperature at 35 degrees, the sheriff transferred five prisoners to another jail and sent four trusty inmates home until the furnace could be repaired.

County Jail . . .

by authorities of the county housing our prisoners, the yearly cost for prisoner care would be $21,900. This would be a considerable cost of at least two additional officers to transport prisoners and transportation expenses, a minimum of $12,000.00 per year. A conservative estimate of annual costs of transporting prisoners to other counties would therefore be $3,600. This would, therefore, save the county $18,300. The annual amortized cost of a jail addition, further, it would not be a solution to the problem, since our county is expected to provide adequate jail facilities for its own prisoners.

At the September meeting when the Board of Supervisors acted to place the tax millage question on the November ballot several members of the Board asked whether or not other building plans than the two-floor vertical addition might have merit.

By increasing jail capacity to 107 prisoners the two-floor addition would definitely solve the present problem for a period of 10 to 15 years according to estimates of future prisoner population. It has some disadvantages, however, in high operating costs, because additional guards will have to be hired for each of the two extra floors.

Since no further expansion of the present building can be made without acquisition of property, and the availability of such property in a proper location and at reasonable cost may be questionable, ten years from now the county is likely to have to build an entirely new jail when the present building and two-floor addition becomes too small.

An alternative plan which the Board of Supervisors has under consideration involves purchase of vacant land lying east of the jail building and extending to Main street in Ann Arbor directly across the street from the County Building. If this land can be secured, a new building unit could be built on the east side of the jail to house the administrative offices of the jail.

This would make space available in the present jail for construction of additional cell blocks and permit increase of jail capacity to 125 prisoners.

Like the two-floor jail addition, this plan is estimated to cost approximately $350,000, but approximately $150,000 of this amount would be invested in land. It would provide sufficient prisoner capacity for from only five to seven years, after which a second addition would need to be built at substantial cost, presumably on the east side of the Administration Building. This plan would however, assure using the present jail building for its entire useable life, which is estimated at 35 more years.

The final selection of either of these plans is essentially a matter of deciding their comparative merits on a long range planning and cost basis.

The view points of all members of the Board as well as others having constructive information to offer will be fully weighed before the Board of Supervisors decides on which plan to adopt.

If any citizen of Washtenaw county desires more detailed information on this issue he should feel free to contact his County Supervisor or the County Administrator.

Community Planning Stressed in Program for Attracting New Industry

Community planning is becoming a more important consideration in a program for attracting new industry. Manufacturers are convinced it is advantageous to place new plants in areas that have plans for future growth.

A plot of ground no longer is sufficient to attract an industry. What is wanted is a suitable location, an area that permits expansion in a community that has an orderly program for future growth.

Industry takes a broad view as it determines location of a new plant. It is interested in a community that has a master plan that provides for adequate streets, designated areas for residential, commercial and industrial growth, schools that provide sufficient classrooms, municipal sewer and water services that can be expanded to meet local growth.

If your community does not have a planning commission and adequate zoning, it should take steps to see they are inaugurated as soon as possible. If there is a planning commission, efforts should be made to have a master plan adopted. If there is a master plan, residents of the area should make certain the provisions are implemented in an orderly manner.

These things cannot be accomplished by municipal officials without public support. Need for adequate planning is outlined in an industrial development advertisement carried today in The Standard. The advertisement is the sixth in a series of 26 sponsored by Michigan Press Association and the Michigan Economic Development Department. The series of advertisements is being carried in 306 Michigan newspapers.

Mr. and Mrs. Luke Collinsworth

Mollie Sue Allen, Luke Collinsworth Exchange Vows

Mollie Sue Allen and Luke M. Collinsworth exchanged wedding vows Saturday afternoon at the home of the latter's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. William Adams, 616 Flanders street.

The Rev. S. D. Kinde, pastor of the Methodist church, officiated at the 3 o'clock ceremony, the bride party taking their places before the fireplace. The mantel was decorated with a floral arrangement.

Tall vases of white chrysanthemums in various sizes, were placed at either side of the fireplace.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Western Allen of 1595 Fletcher road, and Mr. and Mrs. Rollie Collinsworth of Salsverville, Ky.

The bride wore for her wedding a wait-length gown of Chantilly lace and tulle over satin. An applied design of the lace was used on the full, gathered tulle skirt. The fitted bodice and its long sleeves were all lace. She wore a fingertip-length veil held in place with a half-hat trimmed with seed pearls and carried a cascade bouquet of yellow tea roses centered with an orchid. Her ensemble included sterling silver earrings, a gift from the bridegroom.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Mary Lou, wearing a street-length dress of heavy satin-faced material in bronze color with a princess style front and deeper bronze panels and a bow at the flared back. Her bouquet was a cascade of bronze 'mums.

The bride's mother wore an outfit of navy blue and white with white lace at the throat, navy and white accessories and a corsage of miniature orchids.

Assisting the bridegroom as best man was his brother-in-law, William Adams, while Ronald Borders served as usher.

At the reception which followed the ceremony, Barbara Hoskins cut the bride's cake and Mrs. Ronald Borders cut the bridegroom's cake.

Others who assisted are Mollie Allen of Stockbridge, a cousin of the bride, who kept the guest book; Shelia Borders who poured coffee and was in charge of listing the gifts; and Nellie Allen, sister of the bride, who poured punch and was at the gift table.

When the couple left for a trip to Niagara Falls and points of interest in Canada, the bride was wearing a blue wool-plain-satin dress and navy and white accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from her bride bouquet.

Upon their return the couple will be at home at 414 Madison street.

Sewing Is Easier, Faster If Organized Before Starting

You will sew faster and more easily if you organize your sewing before you begin, says Bernetta Kabanaka, extension specialist in clothing at Michigan State University.

Make sure your equipment is in good condition and comfortable to use. Frequent removal of dust and lint from your sewing machine, along with an occasional oiling, will keep it working well. Your machine and chair should be of the right height to prevent strain and fatigue. Usually a machine 28" high and a chair 16" high are comfortable. Furniture cups may be used to raise the machine to your best height.

Cutting is easier if you use a firm flat surface which is at a comfortable height—usually about 36" high. A surface at least 50" long is best for cutting and may be made by placing a plywood board handy. However, a small one will do especially for such things as collars, cuffs, and pockets.

As far as supplies are concerned, a sharp scissors, shears, pins, and thimble are necessary, along with the correct sized needles and thread for the job at hand. Marking equipment, including a gauge, ruler, tape measure, dressmaker's tracing paper and chalk, are also needed. You'll find a skirt marker comes in handy, too.

These supplies are most convenient kept in a drawer or box which has sections. This will save time in getting supplies out and putting them away. Keep the box or drawer in easy reach of your sewing area. You will find a system for filing patterns and fabric pieces is also a timesaver.

Homemaking Hints

Supplies of broilers and fryers are expected to be 15 to 20 per cent greater than last September, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Broiler-fryer size chickens are a natural for charcoal broiling out-of-doors. Allow 1/2 chicken for adults and 1/4 chicken for smaller children, say Michigan State University home economists. For best results select 1 1/4 to 2 1/4 pound ready-to-cook sizes. Split the bird in half lengthwise and place on grill with the bone side nearest the hot coals. Seven to ten inches away from the coals is a good rule for slow cooking plan—about an hour. A slight twist on the drumstick will tell whether or not the meat is done. If it resists turning it is not yet ready to eat. Turn and baste bird often with butter or sauce.

For a change try roasted corn on the cob, suggest home economists. Carefully pull back husks and remove the silks. Put husks back in place and tie ends with string. Soak ears in cold water to keep them from getting too brown during cooking. Roast corn over coals for 15 to 20 minutes, turning often, until husks are dry and browned.

Buy Washer That Best Fits Your Particular Needs

You need a new washing machine, but what shall you get—automatic or non-automatic?

In spite of convenience features of an automatic washer you may feel a non-automatic is a better choice for you, point out home management specialists at Michigan State University.

An automatic washer saves your time and energy. Although total washing time may be longer, you can do other activities while the machine does the work of washing. However, you'll probably have to make some changes in your work habits in order to make best use of an automatic washer. Instead of a special wash day you may find "a batch a day" more convenient with the automatic machine.

You do not need wash tubs with an automatic, unless you choose one that saves suds for a second washing load. If your laundry space is limited, this may be an important consideration as well as the fact that less work space is needed around an automatic than around a non-automatic.

Don't forget to consider the comparative purchase price, installation requirements, probable need for more service calls with the automatic, and the necessity of an ample supply of hot, soft water for satisfactory operation. How much does the convenience of an automatic washer mean to you and does the cost fit into your family spending plan?

A person can't hope for success—he has to "hop" for it.

New Olivet President Riethmiller Calls For National Emphasis on Education

Olivet—In the presidential address delivered by President George Riethmiller of Olivet College immediately following his investiture Sunday as the 15th president of Olivet College, he stated "we must face the fact that new directions for education in America are imperative and inevitable." Pointing to the breakthroughs in science and technology, he stated "we must now develop breakthroughs in education—our institutions of higher education must once again pioneer in new frontiers. Stating that while we do indeed live in a perilous world we must at the same time fully recognize that the greatest threat to our security is ignorance, bitter hate, biased prejudice and unreasoning fear." The answer to these threats will be found, stated President Riethmiller, in more and better education. This will come about, he said, when the entire nation awakes to the compelling need for education. Educators, on all levels, can do much to bring about this awareness.

President Riethmiller also called on all educators to unite, stating "let us cease the practice of defending our failures and of castigating well-meaning fellow educators who have dared to explore the frontiers of education."

In seeking the answer to the "right" education, Riethmiller stated that this will not be found from studying the past or the present, because "the answer is yet to be found." Instead, he said, it lies somewhere beyond the horizon, a horizon and frontier which is as near or as distant as we choose to make it. Above all, he said, "it is important that educational effort in this country as a positive force replace the negative effort of defense as the number one concern of our people. This is the only hope, not only for us as a nation but it is the only hope for the free people of the earth."

MYSTERY FARM NO. 27—Located in the northwest corner of Section 11 of Sylvan township, this proved the most difficult to identify of the farm photographs in the current series. Mystery Farm No. 27 is owned by John Brooks, Jr. This being published weekly in The Standard.

Only Six Persons Identify Mystery Farm 27 Correctly

Mrs. John Brooks, Jr., is one of only six people who were able to correctly identify the photograph of Mystery Farm No. 27, which was published in the Oct. 23 issue of The Standard. Her husband, coming in later to claim the mounted photograph of the farm as its owner, said the farm buildings as seen in the photograph are not visible from the road and, in addition, the house has been extensively remodeled. The house and barns are situated on a hill and the angle from which the photograph was taken does not show this. Brooks explained this as the reason for so few identifications. A number of people called in incorrect identifications (more incorrect than on any of the previous photographs). John Brooks, Jr., has owned the farm the past five years, coming into possession following his parents' death. Mr. and Mrs. Brooks, Sr., lived there about four years and it was the senior Brooks who extensively remodeled the house. Brooks utilizes approximately half of the 190-acre farm as pasture for his feeder cattle. He does general farming on the remaining acreage. In 1874, according to an old atlas, the farm was owned by a Richard Wheeler. Successive owners included John Walz and Ford

Halloween, Night of Witches and Goblins, Has Lost Much of Its Evil

The mystic rites and ceremonies with which Halloween was originally observed originated among the Druids, many centuries before the dawn of the Christian era, we are told. In time some of the rites peculiar to the Roman festival of Pomona were added.

No longer of mystic significance, Halloween in the United States has become a night for "trick or treat." This is a step up the ladder in the progress of the human race, we imagine, since it was formerly a night for all kinds of delinquent tricks and actual destructive pranks.

But back to the beginning, Halloween was the time when it was supposed that witches and ghosts were most likely to wander about. The belief in witchcraft, of course, is old, and evidences of it are found in the Bible. The Christian church at one time accepted the existence of witches and condemned associating with them as a form of traffic with the devil.

By the year 1600 those who were thought to be witches were tortured and then burned, often at the stake—and this actually happened in New England in our own country in colonial days.

The practice was, however, worst in Europe, where a single judge in France is said to have put to death 800 witches in six years. In 1603, the Parliament in England enacted a law against associating with witches.

All sorts of beliefs have been connected with Halloween. In Pennsylvania it was believed, for many years that if one went out of the front door backwards, picked up grass or dust and wrapped it in paper and put it under the pillow he would dream with certainty of what the future might hold. In Maryland, girls once put an egg on the stove to fry and opened the windows. Then the man they were to marry would come in and turn the egg, supposedly.

In the South, a custom was, for many years, carried over from the Druid sacrifices. Alcohol was put in a bowl and lighted and "fortunes" in the shape of figs, orange peel, raisins, almonds and dates, wrapped in tinfoil, were thrown into the flame. The girl who snatched out of the burning the best thing would meet her future husband within a year.

Alas though, today Halloween has lost all this hokus pocus and magical charm. Now it is a safe, sane evening of fun for the children who dress in all kinds of costumes and go from house to house asking for a trick or a treat.

The U. S., Britain and Russia are now holding a series of talks on the suspension of nuclear tests, now that scientists agree they can be policed. Except that Russia wants a quick and permanent agreement and we want time to talk and a one-year trial, that we haven't heard from our military and Red promises are worthless—everything's dandy.

★ MICHIGAN MIRROR ★

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Political ghosts of 1948 are coming back to haunt Democrats and give Republicans new verve in the 1958 campaign.

They both remember the miracle of the underdog Democrat, G. Mennen Williams, who came from nowhere.

This year, Democrats everywhere are fighting that lethal attitude of all parties—apathy. Republicans are fighting for their life. For everyone, the question is:

"Will Success Spoil Gov. Williams?"

Democrats have signed up for billboards along the highways, have bought television time and they turn the byways in style.

Republicans are the challengers again, using amateur help and enthusiasm in lieu of money in the most energetic attack seen in Michigan by the "outs" in decades.

That is what makes the 1958 campaign look like the other side of the political coin of 1948.

It was the year that Williams, a young former liquor commissioner and assistant attorney general, started stumping the state against Republican Gov. Kim Sigler.

Perhaps he didn't know or worry when the odds were prohibitive. But he gambled, worked with a handful of enthusiastic amateurs and won. For a decade, he has held the executive office in Lansing.

Nailing down his gains, Williams—now with a solid top-to-bottom party organization operated by State Chairman Neil Staebler—has brought in his full state of state officials.

Republicans, faced with losing control of even the House of Representatives, also remember 1948.

Bagwell relates to their party like Williams did to his in 1948. The heavy contributors have stopped backing Republicans in the wake of repeated defeats at the polls.

Bagwell, running on a shoe-string, has hit all 83 counties, and so has most of his state of unknowns. Williams, with apprehension this year, has done the same thing. Michigan voters are getting the most energetic slam-bang campaign in modern history.

In 1948 Williams won handily over Sigler—a feat that political experts are trying to assess even yet.

Bagwell, now a Republican underdog who enjoys old-time party support through tradition and loyalty but counts on his amateurs for his success, hopes he can repeat Williams' miracle.

Major issues are changing as the campaign progresses.

Democrats counted on Michigan's unemployment crisis of the past year and the Sherman Adams incident in Washington to rub off on Michigan Republicans.

The Adams reaction has waned and men are reacting to go back to work. Labor-management contracts have been signed and production is resuming.

Republicans echo Michigan's fiscal plight after Williams' years in office. The state is headed toward an $80,000,000 deficit next spring unless taxes are raised or new ones found.

A senate investigating committee is finding things as they show lax administration under Williams. The fact that some of the findings are open to dispute does not detract from the impact.

Actually, the campaign issues are more gray than black or white. As examples:

Financial Status—Republicans controlling the legislature enact taxes, but Williams must approve them with his signature.

Mackinac Bridge—Williams fought for the span, but Republicans had to set up financing and approve the project in the legislature.

Highways—Democrats are rebuilding the system, but Republicans had to approve financing in the legislature and authorize a

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellows up at the country store Saturday night covered the situation pretty good, from wim-men to Congressmen and from

What they decided about wim-men and Congressmen might not be fitted to put in a family newspaper. On the subject of science, Ed Doolittle allowed as how it was getting to the place a feller had to be a mechanic to fix his clothes on. He said it took him two years to get used to a zipper on his pants, then his old lady gave him a zipper jacket for Christmas and he has to put cylinder oil on it to make it work. He claims that in another year they'll be putting out a suit of clothes that calls for a pair of pliers and a screwdriver. Ed thinks the time is not long off when if you call a doctor, he'll have to fetch along a mechanic to fix the patient undressed.

But I'm all in favor of these scientific improvements, Mister Editor. I'm living for the day when they'll come up with a rooster that won't crow at day-light and salt colored red so's you can tell how much you're getting on your eggs and potatoes down to infection, I told the fellows that me and Congress handled that situation the same way. We view the situation with alarm, denounce it, deplore it, and set right and wait for things to get better.

And if they don't get better at least they change. Waiting it out is the system me and Congress has been using. This system is especially recommended for folks with high blood pressure.

Take my pasture fences, for instance. They've been needing fixing ever since I can remember, but as long as my cattle stay home 80 per cent of the time, I figger I'm about average. It's the same with Congressmen. Them Congressmen give high prices the same treatment I give my fences. They wait it out, and one morning they pick up the newspaper and find prices has begun to fall a little, then they give out a statement for the home folks saying they knowed it all the time, that the country is "fundamentally sound."

It's surprising, Mister Editor, what me and Congress get done by waiting it out. About 80 per cent of the country is going to come out alright in spite of Congress, which is a great consolation for us to know.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

★ A Powerful Kiss

Our youngest was telling about a TV cartoon in which a dog had fallen in love with a statue of a dog. While the live dog was trying to kiss his metal mate, lightning struck her tail, and he got a high-voltage smack.

"He thought she really loved him," said Betty Sue. My wife, who has had rather more experience along that line, remarked that it would be several years before Betty could understand how much voltage a kiss can carry.

No matter how hard you try, you can't explain an adult kiss to a child.

Until you have grown up enough, and practiced enough, and have committed your whole life and love to one person, you can't get the most out of a kiss. To a ten-year-old boy, anybody who concentrates on kissing is crazy. As far as kissing is concerned, the kid's an outsider and an outsider can't know.

The same is true of religious experience. An outsider, who has never given himself the opportunity to grow religiously, and who has never practiced religion very much, and who has never committed his whole life and love to God, just can't understand why some people concentrate so much on kissing is crazy. As far as kissing is concerned, the kid's an outsider and an outsider can't know.

The secular man, who is governed by self-interest and the profit motive, simply cannot understand why anyone should spend time nursing the natives of Nyasa or teaching Bible stories to children in a city slum. The question that arises in his mind when he sees someone going to choir practice week after week is "What's his angle?"

Since he has asked the wrong question, he will never get the true answer.

Yet the person who really knows what human love is, or the person who really knows what divine love is, has no reason to be proud of himself—he has reason only to be grateful.

Floyd H. Allport reported in his book, "Social Psychology," that people who are exceptionally religious are often those whose love life has been unsatisfactory. Failing to achieve harmonious family relationships, they have turned to "secondary love interests."

Devotion to animal pets, excessive doting upon children, or feverish participation in religious or philanthropic activities may quite possibly be indications that the individual hasn't ever had the privilege of experiencing genuine love, either human or divine.

Anybody in such a predicament needs to experience just once a deep genuine high-powered kiss that is based on true love. He'll never be the same again.

One person said, "An industry looking for a new home is like an individual. In both instances the person wants to feel he is moving into an area where he can live in harmony with his surroundings. Michigan does not have that atmosphere under Williams."

Democrats deny this thinking and challenge the facts. They provide figures, which do not go unchallenged by the GOP, to show that industry does thrive and is growing in Michigan.

He said, "Inasmuch as the constitution, itself, provides that in 1942 a constitutional convention may be held for the purpose of re-vamping, modifying or improving the constitution, amendments should not be voted on promiscuously." He said amendments should be limited to gasoline and limit registration license fees on motor vehicles.

Hi-Y presented the last pep rally before the Chelsea-Flat Rock game was held Friday, Oct. 24. The enthusiasm and cheers of the student body must have certainly had the desired effect on our team, for Chelsea came through with a 27-14 victory over Flat Rock. The next pep rally will be held before Chelsea's last football game with Saline, Nov. 7. Good Luck! The Juniors have been very busy this past week selling Christmas cards, and have been quite successful.

When the seventh graders received their report cards last Wednesday, some of them were surprised at their grades, others were shocked.

In chorus the girls were given a short quiz on different notes, staffs, scores, and etc. Many of the girls found out they have lots to learn in music.

The Junior High football team was defeated by Saline again last Monday. The score was 6-3.

The Future Teacher club held a special meeting in the gym Oct. 22; plans for a Halloween dance to be held Nov. 1, were discussed.

Also the possibilities of a cadet teaching program, to help teachers during parent teacher conferences, and in other cases in which the teacher has to leave the room for a certain length of time or a whole period were discussed.

The Latin club is hard at work getting their salt water taffy sale underway. At the meeting of Oct. 22 it was decided that each member would be responsible for selling five boxes.

Last year some of the proceeds went to the "Feed a Family" program. Although it has not been voted upon, the program is being considered again this year. Junior Classical League pins and membership cards were also considered. The club decided to wait until after the taffy sale to decide.

A new rule was passed. It stated that each member has to attend two out of three meetings.

Free reading of magazines and newspapers is allowed in the library on Monday and Thursday.

These are the days the students sign out books.

Seventh and eighth grade workers in the library are receiving letter grades on their report cards. Sub-helpers include: Susan Schroen, Cheryl Lehman, Linda Eliaess, Don Diekman, Linda Kilham, Gerald Worden, Marcia Berke, Mike Carlson, Patt Craddock, and C. Whitaker.

This first 6 weeks has been keeping the homemaking classes busy.

Homemaking I has recently prepared a complete breakfast and will now start on lunches. They will be making cinnamon rolls, casseroles, salads and simple desserts.

Sewing projects have been started by Home Ec. II classes, and are to be completed by Thanksgiving. The girls are sewing jumpers, dresses, slacks and coats from materials such as wool and corduroy.

Home Ec. III is studying a unit on marriage and the family until Thanksgiving. The class has had several ministers speak to them. A field trip to a local jewelry store to learn about diamonds and silverware was planned by the class's teacher, Miss Barto. This was of much interest to the class.

AUDIT REPORT

June 30, 1958

July 9, 1958

Board of Education
Chelsea School District
Chelsea, Michigan

We have examined the receipts and disbursements of the General Fund, Debt Retirement Funds, Building and Site Fund, and High School Student Funds of the Sylvan Township School District No. 1 Fractional, known as the Chelsea School District, for the year ended June 30, 1958. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing procedures, and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

The accounting records are maintained for cash receipts and disbursements only, no balance sheet accounting being undertaken. Our examination did not include any tests of the child accounting records or state enrollment reports based on these records. These records were audited and accepted by the County Superintendent of Schools, but we did not consider it practicable to review the classification of all disbursement items.

We reviewed the records of the High School Student internal accounts to determine their adequacy and to examine the methods. An adjustment of $99.40 was required in the Central Treasurer's account to bring the account balance into agreement with the bank account. A separate letter of recommendations for the teacher-in-charge is enclosed.

In our opinion, the accompanying receipts and disbursements statements present fairly the cash transactions of the Chelsea School District for the year ended June 30, 1958.

Very truly yours,
Norman Johnson & Hoffman
By C. A. Hoffman

KICK HOODLUMS OUT OF MICHIGAN

Elect JASON L. HONIGMAN

REPUBLICAN

ATTORNEY GENERAL

(Political Advertisement)

THE CASE OF THE HAVEN FOR HOODLUMS

IT ALMOST SEEMS as if the "Welcome Mat" is out and carefully dusted off for hoodlums in Michigan.

An appalling thought—but let's look at the record.

Take the series of 11 mysterious and still unexplained bombings in Wayne County. Take the Frank Klerdorf burning case. For some strange reason, the Democrat Attorney General delayed much too long before taking steps for a thorough investigation—and then he asked for a Grand Jury in the wrong county.

Take the case of Thomas Flynn, convicted of malicious destruction of property as a result of strike violence. He was sentenced to prison and the sentence was upheld by the Michigan Supreme Court—but he was freed by the Governor after a visit with a couple of Walter Reuther's attorneys.

Take the case of John Gunaca, wanted in Wisconsin on an assault charge in connection with strike violence. He was accused of helping beat up two men—but he has a haven in Michigan because the Governor repeatedly has refused to extradite him.

After 10 years, Michigan needs a change.

Without question, Paul D. Bagwell, Republican nominee for Governor, reflects the people's views when he says, "Politics has no place in law enforcement. Our nation is founded on equal protection of the laws for all citizens."

Paul Bagwell and his Republican team are pledged to bring hoodlums to justice—to rid Michigan of bombings, burnings and beatings—to restore confidence in law enforcement.

They deserve your vote on Nov. 4.

And remember—Michigan needs the experience and the dedication of Senator Charles E. Potter, the unbossed representative of all the people—the man with the fighting record in the United States Senate.

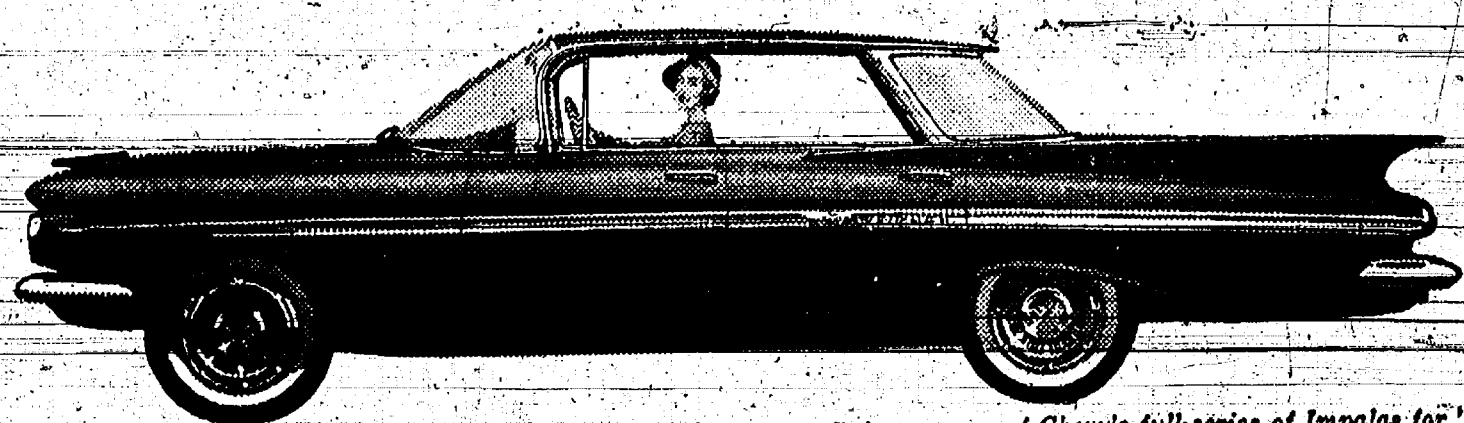

When you go to the polls Nov. 4, vote for—

PAUL D. BAGWELL for Governor

Rowe is in charge of the contest as a whole, while Earl Heller is in charge of the suggestion box to be put in the study hall. Valentine's Pet Birds provided entertainment at an assembly Oct. 23, during third hour. The next assembly will be held next month. The Council is not permitted to show movies during their assemblies unless they are educational.

The Junior High Band has been marching for more than a month. Now they are starting to have try-outs. The clarinets had try-outs. Allie Martin moved from eleventh chair to third. Carol Meyer is first chair.

The Junior High Band will again this year play for the Halloween parade. First-year art classes have their choice of making a number of different things. The most popular is mosaic designs; others are water color, tempera and poster paintings, posters, drawings, clay modeling, tooth pick designs, basketry, sketching, and charcoal sketching. The second-year class is doing the same things but with more attention to detail finishing, and with higher standards.

In Physical Education the girls gave up on soccer because they lacked the proper facilities. Now they are practicing volleyball skills and are trying to get the knack of hitting the ball with the hands instead of the feet as in soccer.

When report cards came out on Wednesday, the girls were shocked to see how low the grades were. A lot was counted off on wearing jewelry in class, so off with those bracelets and watches, kids.

The Future Homemakers of America are planning a Record Hop for Nov. 14. Dick Jockey Prince will be guest. Refreshments will be served.

They also plan to have a fun night with the F.H.A. members from Manchester in the near future.

The Hi-Y under the direction of President Jim Collins, Vice-President Dick Lewis, Secretary John Meahan and treasurer Victor Blecharczyk, have swung into a very active year. Many people don't realize that the proceeds from the dances after the football and basketball games are used to feed the players of both teams. The club also prepares the food that is served. A fun night for the gym is being planned sometime in the near future.

Mrs. Papsdorf is busy teaching her eighth grade math classes the metric system of measuring. This system is used in every country except Great Britain and the United States. Mr. Hayden's science classes are studying about heat, and the ways it can be produced. Though a joke is given here and there you can learn valuable information on science. Mr. O'Doherty keeps his eighth grade history classes on the ball for at any time he may give a test, whether long or short. Mr. La Goe is having his English classes learn the types of adjectives such as a proper adjectives or descriptive adjective.

The Future Teacher club held a special meeting in the gym Oct. 22. Plans for a Halloween dance, to be held Nov. 1, were discussed. Also the possibilities of a cadet teaching program, to help teacher conferences, and in other cases in which the teacher has to leave the room, were discussed.

Seventh graders are reviewing what they have already learned in math last year. Mrs. Papsdorf has been cramming drill work into their heads, also. In science, current events have been discussed each Friday. The pupils are supposed to bring newspaper clippings of events that pertain to the world of science. Some grades were brought down because pupils forget to bring clippings.

In social studies, tests and week-assignments have been bringing the grades down. Tests are sweat-out for about 45 minutes. Week-assignments are assignments given on Monday and are due the following Friday. Although there are about four days in all to finish this work, some people prefer to wait until Thursday to start. Of course, more is expected of the pupils because they have so much time, but for some reason the last-minute jobs just don't shine up!

In English, pronouns, prepositions, subject numbers, verbs, and helping verbs have been drilled, discussed, worked with, and pounded into seventh grade heads.

Senior business was really transacted in full swing last Friday afternoon.

E. Phillips from the Teen Tours Co., lectured to the class on a five-day Washington trip and a five-day trip combining both New York and Washington. All indicates the latter to be in the highest favor. A definite vote will be taken within a few days.

Next on the agenda, Ellen Keusch officially closed the magazine sales of 1958 with the awarding of prizes. Ellen received the high salesman prize, a girl's wrist watch. Ron Papsdorf, second highest salesman, received the grand drawing prize, a boy's wrist watch. Four additional names were drawn in the following order—Eve Trinkle, Mary Ann Horning, Karen Munro, and Shirley Howard. All girls were awarded travel alarm clocks.

Election time came a bit early this year. A new event, "mock elections" had the seniors evaluating each other for the remainder of the afternoon. The results will be kept secret, known only by the Barker editors, and will be published in the '59 yearbook.

Before adjournment Pat Merkel chose a money-making committee. Ellen Keusch, Delores Scriptor, Sue Patrick, and Dick Penhallagen will try to boost funds.
