Mothers' March for Polio Set Tonight Throughout County

Boy Scout Peanut Sale Will Be Held Here Saturday

Tonight, beginning at 7 o'clock, mothers of Chelsea will "march for polio." The annual Mothers' March is one of the principal features of the January campaign for funds for the National Foundation. Mrs. Lawton Steger, Chelsea March of Dimes chairman, is in charge of the Mothers' March project. Block "captains" are assisting by directing the solicitors as they visit each home in their assigned area, carrying a glass full of appropriately labeled for identification. Saturday, the final day of the month-long campaign here will feature a Boy Scouts project—the annual "peanut-for-polio" sale. Boy Scouts of Troops 26 and 76 will participate. In the surrounding rural areas, the Mothers' March has been in progress throughout the week, solicitors working at the times most convenient for themselves. Proceeds must be turned in to their township chairman by tonight in order that the chairman may make a report to the Washtenaw county rural chairman, Mrs. Norman Wallace of Manchester. In Sylvan township Mrs. Homer Kuhl is township chairman for the Mothers' March. Her solicitors include Mrs. Earl Kuhl, Mrs. Orville Muck, Mrs. Norman Hinderer, Mrs. Paul Seitz, Mrs. Arthur Kuhl, Mrs. Lewis Haselchwerdt, Mrs. James Windell, Mrs. William Van Riper, Mrs. William Bahnmiller, Mrs. LeRoy Feldkamp, Mrs. Ray Parsons, Mrs. Bernard Harriet, Mrs. William Douglas and Mrs. Richard Powers. Mrs. John O'Connor, Lyndon township chairman, is handling solicitation in the township herself. With Mrs. Lynn Voegeding as chairman, Freedom township has (Continued on page 12)

Cage Team Wins U. High, Dexter Games

Next Home Game Is Friday, Feb. 6 With Saline Hornets

The Chelsea Bulldogs bounced back from last week's defeat to trounce the U. High Cubs, 67-44, last Friday. Chelsea was down by one point, 12-11, at the end of the first quarter but had a 23-point outburst in the second quarter to lead at half-time, 34-17. Previous to this it seemed as though Chelsea would let up when they had a half-time lead but they never failed to hustle for a minute in the game with U. High. They came back in the third quarter to outscore U. High, 16-13, to lead, 50-30. They outscored the Cubs 17-14 in the fourth quarter to win, 67-44. The Bulldogs shot a very warm 88 per cent from the floor as compared with last week's 25 per cent. Chelsea collected 28 personal fouls as compared to the Cubs' 18, but they outscored U. High at the foul line as they hit 19 for 27 as compared to U. High's 12 for 20. Chelsea's fast moving, wide awake zone defense seemed to be the deciding factor as it held U. High to only five points in the second quarter. Frank Fredrick topped Chelsea's scorers with 15 points, followed by Alton Nixon with 13, Loren Keezer with 11, Homer Nixon with 9, Bob Weiss with 8, George Mayer, 5, Dalice Ferris, 4, and Matt Murphy 2. Again Chelsea showed very good scoring balance. The JV's also won, 30-28. Dave Keezer was high with 10, followed by Dave McLaughlin and Ed Laubach with 8 points each. Chelsea will travel to Milan tomorrow to play one of the co-leaders of the league.

Another Win, 48-36

Playing their old rival, Dexter, Chelsea beat the Dreadnaughts, 48-36, Tuesday evening in Chelsea's new gym. Chelsea gained a 13-7 first quarter lead but scored only eight points in the second quarter as Dexter scored nine to make the half-time score, 24-16, for Chelsea. In the third quarter, Chelsea again scored 16 points as Dexter scored 12 to still lead, 40-28. The Bulldogs again scored only eight points in the fourth period, as did Dexter, to win, 48-36. The Bulldogs jumped into a fast lead and were never in trouble. Chelsea made only 6 of 22 charity tosses as Dexter made 10 of 22. George Mayer was high for Chelsea with 15. Loren Keezer followed with 9. Alton and Homer Nixon each had 8 and Frank Fredrick and Matt Murphy each had four. Dick Lyndon was high for Dexter with 8 points. The Chelsea JV's also won with the score being 30-21. The next home game will be Feb. 6 with Saline.

Mrs. Bertilla Forner spent Saturday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Steele and family, in Ann Arbor. Sunday, accompanied by Mrs. Steele and Herman Weber of Ann Arbor and Theodore Weber of Ypsilanti, she visited her sister, Sister Mary Francis, at Mercy Hospital, in Toledo.

The program is the highlight of the last afternoon of Farmers' Week at the University. Township boards, boards of supervisors, commissions, township and county zoning boards and commissions and all other officials and citizens interested in planning for the future of their townships and counties are invited to attend. HIGH SCHOOL SHOP ROOM—New equipment, new work benches and a general air-of-orderliness mark the appearance of the new shop room at the new Chelsea High school. Since it is a separate unit, noises made by operating equipment or hammering and sawing will not disturb other classes.

BAND ROOM—Gaily colored, plastic-upholstered chairs provide beauty and comfort in the band room at the new Chelsea High school. Each succeeding row of chairs is elevated above the one in front, permitting clear views of players and the director.

NOW IS THE TIME... Contributions Needed To Help Fit McKune House as Library

The new home of the McKune Memorial Library can be a source of community pride while conforming to the regulations of the Michigan and Chelsea building codes if the citizens and organizations of Chelsea come forth with enough assistance, both money and labor. The library belongs to all of Chelsea, and all are asked to help. The beautiful brick and stone three-story structure carries its almost 100 years with scarcely a wrinkle or a sag, but certain minimal changes are necessary before it can legally operate as a public building. Because books are very heavy, the floors must be reinforced; because requirements for a library differ from those of a home, rewiring is a necessity and relighting is desirable; an additional rest room must be installed; a second exit from the second floor must be provided (either by a fire escape or by turning around the present rear stairway); and a caretaker's apartment must be prepared. Desirable also are the installation of ceiling tile to fortify weakening plaster; complete redecoration of the downstairs walls and woodwork to lighten the area, lighting of a durable and easy-to-maintain floor surface downstairs; removal of a temporary wall and the closing of two doors to permit the librarian on duty to have visual supervision of both downstairs rooms; the redecoration of the rooms designated as Memorial Rooms in the terms of the legacy, to be used as club rooms, or to house the historical collection, or the record player and the collection of classical records. An architect has been hired to insure that everything will be legal, safe, and harmoniously attractive. To accomplish all this, the Library Board has available about $4,000. In 1952 Mrs. Warren Daniels undertook the raising of a building and site fund. The first gift was from the Woman's Club of Chelsea, and the following donors have contributed regularly each year: Woman's Club of Chelsea, Central Fibre Products Co., Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Daniels, Chelsea Products, Inc., anonymous, Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Eaton, Henry Schnader, Memorial Fund, Friends of the Library, Mrs. William Stewart, Mrs. W. R. Geddes, Chelsea Lumber Co., Mrs. R. W. Wagner, Mrs. Philip Broesamle, Mrs. Kent Walworth, Armin Schneider. To this was added the thank offering of the Union Service in 1955. Now Mrs. Daniels has undertaken to raise an additional sum of money to add to the McKune House fund. The library belongs to everyone, and everyone is asked (Continued on page 12)

Residents of District, Parents May Inspect Facilities Sunday

Rev. E. O. Davis Now Located at Kurten, Texas General Open House, Dedication Planned Later

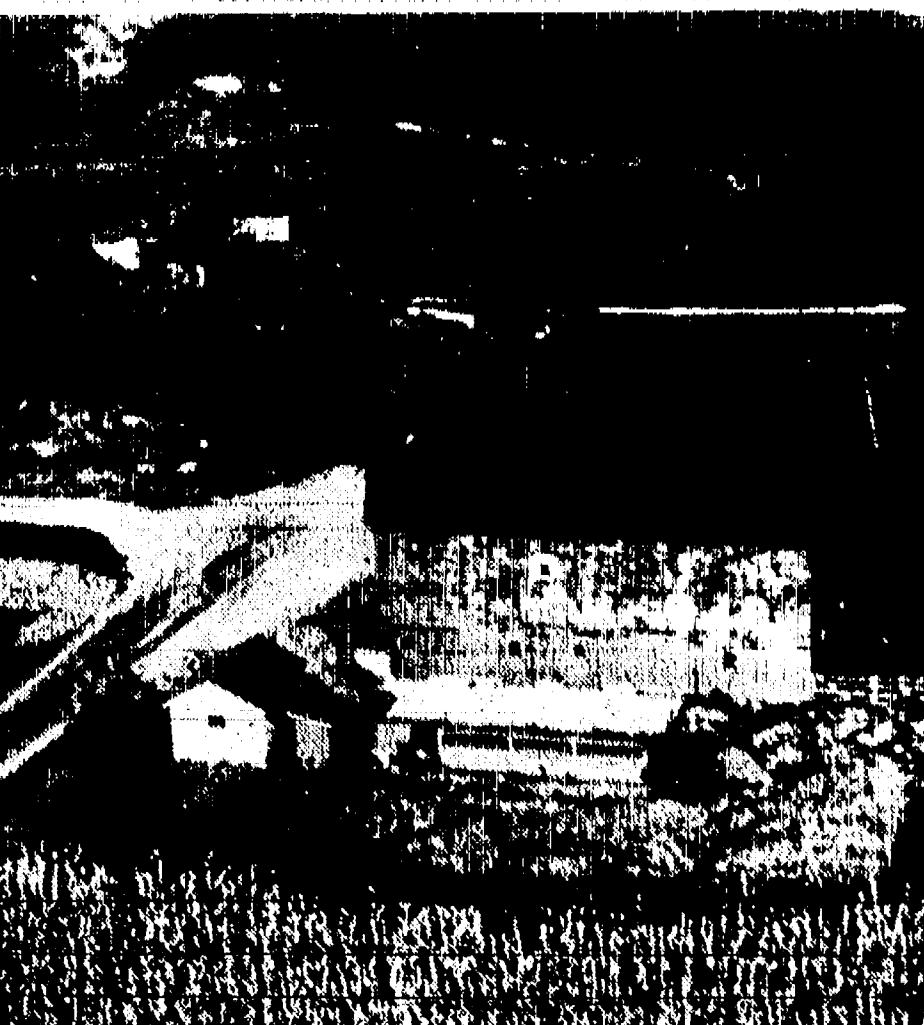

The Rev. and Mrs. E. O. Davis are now located at Kurten, Texas, according to information received here this week. The Rev. Davis was approved as pastor of Zion United Church of Christ (Evangelical and Reformed) at a congregational meeting following the Jan. 18 worship service which he conducted. The church is located just north of Bryan and College Station, A.&M. College. The Rev. Davis was pastor of St. John's Evangelical and Reformed churches at Francisco and Rogers Corners until his resignation for health reasons. He had been advised by doctors that he should live in the south. The Rev. Davis concluded his pastorate at the two Chelsea area churches the end of the year and left for Texas early this month. Arrangements are completed for students to obtain meals in the new school cafeteria Monday noon. Tickets may be purchased for $1.50 for the five school days of the week. Locks will be issued for the new lockers as soon as they arrive. A deposit of $1.50 will be asked for all student lockers and $1.00 of this amount will be refunded when the lock is returned at the end of the school year in June. Principal Lane also announced that for the present there will be no change in transportation arrangements and schedules. In explanation, it was pointed out that students now riding buses will continue riding and those now walking to school will continue to do so. Present seventh and eighth grade students will be housed in the old high school building. These two grades have a total enrollment of 230 students—126 in the seventh grade and 104 in the eighth grade. Plans to have the high school students finish their semester's work last week, take their examinations Monday and Tuesday of this week and then have the remainder of the week off were changed because of the snow and ice which necessitated closing schools throughout the area last Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Schools re-opened Monday and some high school students still have some examinations to complete today. Moving to the new high school will remain on the schedule originally planned in order that classes may begin there Monday.

Bad Weather Hurts Hardy Fox Hunters

Severe winter weather which made driving hazardous, cut down expected attendance at the annual fox hunt last Sunday to approximately 40 members of three outdoor clubs. A total of 100 men from four clubs had been scheduled to participate in the hunt. The party met, as planned, at 8 a.m. at the corner of M-92 and US-12 and the hunt continued until 3:30 p.m. when the men returned to Chelsea for a lunch served at the Knights of Columbus hall. The one fox bagged was downed with a 410-gauge shotgun in the hands of a Jackson hunter. The fox was taken in section 10, between Sylvan and Grass Lake roads. Walter Olson of the Detroit Outdoor Club, acted as captain of the hunt. (Continued on page seven)

If you recognize the farm call The Standard at once—GR 5-3551. This is the first in the current series of "mystery farm" photographs being published weekly in The Standard. Only means of identification we have is when readers recognize the farms and call us. If the owner will call at The Standard office by Saturday he may claim a free mounted photo of his farm.

MYSTERY FARM NO. 40, published in the farm on Bush road. The farm has been in the Jan. 22 issue of The Standard, is the Albert Visel family for the past 50 years.

Bush Road Mystery Farm Has Been in Albert Visel Family for About 50 Years

Mystery Farm No. 40 has been identified as the Albert Visel farm at 18976 Bush road. An aerial photograph of the farm buildings was published in the Jan. 22 issue of The Standard as the 40th in the current series of "mystery farm" pictures. The farm has been in the Visel family for 50 years. Mrs. Albert Visel and her sister, Mrs. Effie Hartley of Jackson, now make their home there.

According to ownership records, Albert Visel's father, Christian, bought the farm in December, 1908.

Members of the family, in addition to Albert, were Robert, Christian, Jr., Oscar and John Visel and Mary Schneider, Grace and Bertha Sager. All are now deceased.

Following the death of his parents, Albert Visel came into possession of the farm property May 7, 1919. The Albert Visels had one son, Edward. He and his wife, the former Virginia Barr, and their family live on South Main street.

Successive owners of the farm, as recorded on the abstract describing the property, indicate that a Simon S. Sheldon received title to the land from the U. S. Government, although the date is not known. Sheldon sold the farm Feb. 23, 1936, to James Savage, and on Oct. 1, 1938, another transaction resulted in a change of ownership from James and Mary Savage to Michael Savage.

The farm apparently is a part of two different parcels deeded by the government in the 1880's, since another set of owners is included beginning with "U. S. to Daniel E. Wines and wife Ann M."

Following this are the names of Rudolphus and Edwin D. Tryon, 1841; Andy Greenon, 1843; Phillip Conlan, 1844; Arthur Conlan, 1847; James Savage, 1903; Michael Savage, 1869; Charles H. and Mary E. Kempf, 1886; Elkanah P. Downer, 1891; Helen Adell Denman, 1897; and Stephen Gage, 1902.

An interesting notation on the abstract showed that James Savage discharged a mortgage on the farm by paying to Arthur Conlan on "Sept. 15 of each year, 1853 through 1857, 200 bushels of wheat" (1,000 bushels in all).

Michael Savage, who owned the property from 1869 until 1886, built the present house to replace a former home, probably a log cabin. The present owners have remodeled the house, adding the attractive picture window at the front.

Edward Visel remembers that the garage and tool shed were built in 1929 and that the contractor was George Beckwith.

Visel said he presumed the barn and other buildings were erected at the time the house was built. People who called The Standard office to identify the farm included Allen Broesamle, Anton Nielsen, Joyce Schneider, Bill Altenberndt, Joseph Nyles, Mrs. Edward Visel, Keith Kleis, Ronald Perry, Douglas Rowe and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Boh-

ner. "I recognized it because Mr. Bohner had put in the picture window about 10 years ago,"

Calls were also received from a Mrs. Horning and Donald Knight of Ann Arbor, and Larry Quigley.

TAX FACTS #3 Claiming Dependency Exemptions

(This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax filing. The articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Michigan Society of Certified Public Accountants, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.)

WHEN you total up the exemptions on your 1958 tax return, remember that you are permitted to claim at least one exemption for every qualified dependent — and this includes yourself.

Count your exemptions carefully because each one takes $600 off your taxable income. Take one for yourself and two if you are 65 or over. This rule applies to both husband and wife on a joint return, and an added exemption may be taken if either is blind.

In addition, you are entitled to one exemption for each person who fits the definition of a dependent, but the extra exemptions for age and blindness cannot be taken for a dependent.

To qualify for an exemption a dependent must:

(1) Have received more than one-half of his support from you unless you file a Multiple Support Agreement (see below).

(2) Have less than $600 gross income unless he is your child and under 19 years of age — or a student of any age.

(3) Not file a joint return with his spouse.

(4) Have been either a member of your household or closely related to you, as defined in the official instructions.

(5) Be either a citizen of the United States or a resident of the U. S., Canada, Mexico, Canal Zone, Panama, or (in some cases) the Philippines.

Who Qualifies
Your exemptions usually depend on whether you and your dependents qualify under these rules at the end of the year.

However, if your husband or wife died during the year you can file a joint return and take the same exemptions that both of you would have otherwise had.

If you shared with others in the support of a dependent, but none of you provided more than half, you may still be able to arrange for one member of the group to have the $600 exemption. You might agree, for example, to take turns claiming the exemption each year.

The one who claims the exemption must have contributed more than 10 per cent of the support, and he must have been a member of the group who collectively provided the necessary "more than one-half support." Each member of the group must have been entitled to claim the dependent except for the support requirement.

Multiple Support Agreements
In order for one person to have the exemption all other members of the group who contributed over 10 per cent must sign a Multiple Support Agreement.

The tax of a surviving spouse is computed on the same basis as a joint return and gives the full benefit of income-splitting. A "surviving spouse" is one:

1. Whose husband or wife died in the preceding two years (1956 and 1957).

2. Who maintains a home for a legally qualified dependent (the dependent in this case must be a son, step-son, daughter or step-daughter).

The official instructions that come with your tax forms give further information on how to arrange for one member of the group to have the $600 exemption. Help is also available from the Internal Revenue Service.

Rapid Population Growth Shows Increase of 42 Per Cent in Number of Children Under 20

Lansing—There are 40 per cent more Michigan youngsters under the age of 20 today than there were 10 years ago, and their ranks will increase by another 10 per cent by 1960, the Michigan Department of Health said today.

According to the department's latest population estimate, Michigan now has 2,894,527 youngsters under 20 years of age—854,478 more than in 1948.

"Never before in Michigan's history has a population expansion of this magnitude taken place," said Dr. Goldie B. Cornellison, director of maternal and child health for the Michigan Department of Health.

"To public health, the sharp increase in the number of children means there has been a sharp rise in the demand for services these children need—particularly for maternal and child health services," Dr. Cornellison said.

She said the one single area of child health in most urgent need of improvement in Michigan is care of children born prematurely.

State Highway Construction Program Ahead of Schedule

Michigan's $1 1/2 billion state trunkline highway construction program is moving rapidly along and ahead of schedule, the State Highway Department reported today in its annual year-end summary of work for the past 12 months.

Announced in October, 1957, by Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie after a careful study of Michigan road needs, the five-year program called for 900 miles of new express highways, 2,000 miles of other new road surfaces, and the end of gravel roads on the state trunkline system, all of this type of surface to be replaced by concrete pavements or bituminous surfaces.

In 1958, the Highway Department's new construction program reached an all-time high, an estimated $190 million in construction work being placed under contract compared to $164 million in 1957. Included in these figures are right-of-way and engineering costs.

Approximately 150 miles of new, dual highways and 500 miles of other types of roads were opened during the year.

During 1958, nearly 200 projects were placed under contract, 48 of them being let ahead of the schedule set up in the five-year program and 26 being projects added to the program during the year. Only 38 projects on the 1958 schedule have not yet been advertised but will be placed under contract early in 1959.

More than 100 projects let during the past year were progressing ahead of schedule when paving operations shut down for the winter.

Reports from the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads in Washington have indicated repeatedly that Michigan has been one of the top states in the country in the amount of state trunkline highway construction projects placed under contract throughout 1958.

In 1958, the Department completed 101 miles of expressways; 44 miles of two-lane and four-lane, undivided roadways; 274 miles of aggregate base-in preparation for bituminous surfacing; 413 miles of bituminous seal coating; 594 miles of bituminous concrete surface treatment; 46 bridges; 4 pedestrian bridges; 101 highway grade separations; 22 railroad grade separations; 2 pumphouses; and 2 navigational houses. Flusher installations were built at six old railroad crossings and at 13 new crossings on road relocations. Nineteen crossing facilities were rebuilt.

1959 Will Be Much Greater Year
Commissioner Mackie has announced work to be put under construction in the calendar year 1959 will approximate $280 million, including engineering costs and right-of-way. For the fiscal year 1959-60, the construction

More Children May Now Live Because of Cystic Fibrosis Research

There is a story of the life-saving work of two doctors connected with the Harvard Medical school and the Children's Medical Center in Boston with some of the new drugs that deserves wider notice. The physicians, Drs. Harry Shwachman and Lucas L. Kulczycki, recently reported it at a Washington antibiotics symposium and in an article in the American Medical Association's Journal of the Diseases of Childhood.

Their article was titled simply "Long-Term Study of 105 Patients with Cystic Fibrosis." With complete accuracy it could have been headlined: "Once Doomed Children's Lives Saved."

Cystic fibrosis of the pancreas, to give the malady its full name, is a mysterious glandular imbalance affecting perhaps one child in every 600. It sometimes is called by the equally complex name of mucoviscidosis, doctors tell us.

It causes the mucous glands to secrete an abnormally thick mucus. This clogs the ducts through which the pancreas secretes enzymes to the digestive tract. Digestion is hampered. The choking mucus also invades the lungs and forms pockets which interfere with breathing and are subject to easy, and in the past, usually fatal infection.

Many things had been tried for the condition and when Aureomycin and other broad spectrum antibiotics first appeared a decade ago, the Boston doctors naturally employed them. Their use, in some cases daily for years, kept infections at bay and 95 of the 105 patients in the study lived on instead of dying. One of them is now 33 years old and the father of three children.

"The widely held belief that cystic fibrosis of the pancreas is inevitably a fatal disease in infancy or early childhood," modestly report the Boston physicians, "is not substantiated by our experience."

The cause of the serious condition still is unknown but the success of the new drug in keeping formerly doomed boys and girls alive has encouraged interested persons, many of them parents, to set up the non-profit National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation, with headquarters in Philadelphia, to seek the cause, and if possible, a cure for the malady.

In the meantime, we can all salute the doctors and their drugs for another gain in the most important of all our struggles, that against death and disease.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Tourists and travelers crossing the Mackinac Bridge are creating a boom for Michigan's northern resort areas.

To determine if predictions were accurate, the state highway department conducted an inter-city survey among 2,438 motorists who made the crossing last July and August.

The bridge was opened Nov. 1, 1957 and was dedicated in ceremonies last June.

"The tremendous drawing power of the bridge is probably best illustrated by the fact that one of 40 of the 49 states crossed the bridge during a 24-hour period," said Highway Commissioner John Mackie.

Four came from Alaska, which had not yet become a state, and one from the Canal Zone.

Twenty-five per cent came from outside Michigan, 60 per cent of that figure from Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio. About 15 per cent came from Eastern Canada.

Survey results showed that one out of every three vehicles came from other states through the lower peninsula of Michigan.

Every Michigan county was represented, with Wayne county (Detroit) having the largest number of trips, 1,011; Kent, 227; and Genesee county, 148.

The survey showed that 1,828 trips were northbound for Sault Ste. Marie, but only 157 headed into Canada, while 887 were headed to run the east-west length of the Upper Peninsula to Wisconsin.

Mackie said the state's $1,250,000 highway construction program will have completed an expressway from the southern border of Michigan to the bridge by 1962.

"I fully expect the ease and speed of travel will increase traffic in the atria area by as much as 50 per cent over this year," he said.

Republicans now control the legislature for whatever advantage or disadvantage they can enjoy or suffer during 1959.

Even impartial observers were surprised at the developments in the first week of the session.

The 55-55 split in the House was upset when one Democratic member underwent surgery. So Republicans organized with a one-vote edge, 55 to 54.

Democrats, on the surface striving for control of the House for the first time since 1937, immediately made certain Republicans would have to assume responsibility for its record.

The development came as the state faces a desperate cash shortage and the need to pass a new tax program.

Disension and strife in the House carried over to the Senate where Republicans, with a 22 to 12 majority, halted down almost unprecedented powers in one of the hottest debates ever heard.

They eliminated 15 Democratic committee assignments. Then they changed Senate rules to allow them to impose their views on the Senate regardless of how Democrats voted on any issue.

Republican philosophy was ably summed up by Senator Frank D. Beale (S-St. Clair) who said, "If we're going to be blamed for everything anyway, we want the control."

Observers said the House and Senate controversies in the first week of the session crystallized Republican and Democratic delegations into strict party camps to a greater degree than ever before.

However, the House cannot vote a bill without at least one vote from the opposing party camp. In the Senate, the job is easier for Republicans.

Party leaders are aware that getting a bill through the Senate is only half the battle and the victory will be hollow for Republicans if the House kills it.

PROGRAM IN FINAL YEAR
 The state-financed program to promote and advance wood and lamb is moving into its fourth and final year, unless extended by a producer vote.

A referendum will be held next fall to determine whether producers want to continue the program.

Unless legislators work along line of principle rather than party, it could develop that nothing of consequence would become law. School aid is expected to be a major issue.

Senate leaders already have proposed guaranteeing public schools state assistance computed at $190 per student the same guarantee made last winter.

The promise fell $30,000,000 short last year and the schools have borrowed more than $50,000,000 against next year's state aid to keep their doors open this year.

Schools and their administrators believe that the $190 still isn't enough even if the state could make good on its promise. Democrats figure that $220 comes closer to reality if the state wishes to assume responsibility that previously has been considered that of the local government.

Some folks manage these handbags with real understanding. The most cheerful person I know is Mabel Maxwell, who has been an invalid for a score of years with arthritis and other disabling ailments. Yet when I feel the need of a lift, I try to pay a visit to the nursing home where Mabel lives. Her ingratiating smile and friendly conversation always makes my day seem brighter. Her life may appear to be made up mostly of knot holes, but Mabel has learned to live with her difficulties and to be thankful for her friends and for the privileges she enjoys.

On take my friend Harry Picot, who could have been a skipper on a sea-going vessel, except for the fact that he is color-blind, and couldn't read the signal lights. He had to settle for a career ashore as a sail-maker, but he has initiated many a Sea Scout into the mysteries of the deep, and has taken an active part in securing good government for our country. He didn't let the knot hole of color-blindness keep him from living a full life. The next time you notice a knot hole in the material you have to work with, see whether you can't transform it from a handicap into a thing of beauty.

Life's Knot Holes

As their family kept growing, Wesley and Helen Bradley needed more bedroom space in their Connecticut farmhouse. So they converted the old living room into sleeping quarters, and built a new living room overlooking the south meadow.

The new room was made of white pine from their own farm. Wesley filled the trees himself, and after the logs had seasoned he had them sawed and planed. Helen helped him build the room, including its cheery fireplace, and together they finished it with clear varnish, to reveal the grain of the wood, knot holes and all.

As I sat enjoying the mellow beauty of the knotty pine panels, it occurred to me that Wesley's father couldn't have built a room like that a generation ago. He had the pine, and he wouldn't have minded the work. But in those days any self-respecting Yankee would have been ashamed to use such "low-grade" lumber in a house. In a barn or a shed, maybe, but not in a house. No, sirree! If he couldn't afford clear first-grade lumber, he just wouldn't build at all.

Aren't you glad that today's relaxed attitude enables us to accept knot holes, and even to appreciate their beauty? Well, we'd better learn to accept them, for most of the raw material life hands us is somewhat less than perfect.

WHY DIDN'T THEY PICK OUR TOWN?

When an industry looks at our town then picks another... Why?

Perhaps we lost because of reasons beyond our control: the company's problems of markets, transportation, raw materials, etc.

But perhaps it was because we lack advantages which competing towns have and which we need if we are to attract industry. Usually a town can develop most of the advantages it needs if its citizens work hard enough and work together. Do we?

Perhaps the company felt that the community's attitude isn't favorable for new industry. Attitude of the people toward their present industry, toward their town and toward each other. Community attitude is not merely everybody's business. It is everybody's every day contribution—good or bad.

Beware! Thin Ice

It's too late to warn this fisherman. But don't you substitute haste for caution when ice-covered lakes open avenues to winter fishing this year. Freezing temperatures and other cars on lakes are misleading guides. Many areas will not support vehicles due to rapid underflows and the fickle whims of nature. The most hazardous periods are in early winter and spring. Discolored ice is a reliable sign of weakened and dangerous areas.

Recipe Round-Up Offers Big Prizes For Farm Women

A big, new double-barreled campaign is underway to give farm women a chance to cash in on their cooking and at the same time help them sell their own farm products. The promotion is called the Farm Kitchen Recipe Round-Up by its sponsors, the Larro Feed Division of General Mills.

Round-up prizes are big—$17,000 in awards—but the long-range prospects are even bigger. The finest farm kitchen/farm product recipes collected by Larro will then go to work across the nation through General Mills merchandising and promotion by Betty Crocker, America's first lady of foods—using farm kitchen cookery to promote the profitable sale of farm products.

The Round-Up is open to farm families only—offers 728 prizes, including seven top cash awards of $1,000, plus a trip for two to Betty Crocker-Kitchens and the Minneapolis-Aqueduct. Recipes can be entered in any of these seven categories—chicken, turkey, beef, pork, lamb, eggs and dairy products. One or more recipes can be entered in any category. Recipes will be judged by professional home economists and checked by the Betty Crocker Kitchens. Blaess Elevator Co., local Larro Sure Feed dealer, explained that through the Farm Kitchen Recipe Round-Up, farm products will be promoted to the kitchens of America through Betty Crocker recipe releases to radio, television and newspaper food editors. Millions of home-makers share the winning recipes—farm families win a share of the profits that follow.

Ann Arbor—The Ann Arbor Army Reserve Center is inaugurating a series of movie nights that will show Army-approved films—free to the public.

On the first program, Feb. 6 will be a sound picture, "The Nuremberg War Trials."

Maj. Charles P. Trickett, Reserve adviser, announced details of the plans today.

Monthly programs will be presented at the Reserve Center, 524 Main street, the first Friday night of every month.

The films will be Army-released productions similar to those seen on the television hour, "The Big Picture." Those scheduled for showing here include "Face to Face With Communism," "Survival in Atomic Attack," "Why Korea?" "Battle of the Marianas Islands" and "All-Time Sporting Events."

The program has been given the name "Your Movie Date" by its originators, the Public Information Detachments.

Groups and clubs may reserve seats on movie nights by calling the Army Reserve Center, NO 2-0566, a week in advance of the showings.

In addition, if an organization wishes a similar movie program at its meeting place, it may be obtained via request made a month in advance. All such service is performed free of charge.

The programs will run on an average on one and one-half hours.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Owings

Sharon Dancer, Ralph Owings Speak Vows Saturday in Candlelight Service

In a candlelight ceremony at the First Methodist church at 7:30 o'clock Saturday evening, Sharon Marie Dancer became the bride of Ralph L. Owings, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Owings, Sr., of 804 South Main street.

The bride, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dancer of 150 Orchard street, was given in marriage by her father. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. S. D. Kincaid.

The soloist, Wilbur Beaman of Waterloo, sang "O Promise Me," "A Cantic," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride's floor-length wedding gown of swan-gay taffeta featured a full-sweep, petal-shaped skirt with the hemline at the front in sweetheart style. Polds of cartridge pleats formed a chapel train. A tracery of re-embroidered alencon lace, accented with seed pearls and sequins, trimmed the empire-style bodice. Her veil of imported silk illusion was finger-tip length and was held in place with a queen-style crown of pearls. Her ensemble was completed with a cascade banquet of red roses.

Carol Dancer was her sister's maid of honor. Chiffon taffeta in spring green, fashioned her gown styled with an empire bodice and harem skirt trimmed with rose medallions. The headpiece which held her matching veil was formed of tiny leaves. Her bouquet was of yellow roses.

Similarly gowned were Mrs. Harold Owings, Jr., who is the bridegroom's sister-in-law, and Judy Goyer of Battle Creek, former college roommate of the bride, who served as bridesmaids. They also carried yellow roses.

The bride's mother wore a sheath style dress of sweetheart pink wool with matching accessories, while the bridegroom's mother was gowned in an electric blue sheath with draped front. Her accessories were of winter white. Both had white carnation corsages.

Harold Owings, Jr., brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and Richard Hayden of Ann Arbor, and Daniel Murphy seated the guests.

A reception followed in the church social center with Beth Irwin of Grass Lake in charge of cutting the cake and Mrs. Robert Bertke listing the guests in a guest book. Others who assisted were Anne Stacey of Toledo, O., who poured punch, and Gretchen Karlovetz of Dearborn, who poured coffee.

Following a short wedding trip the couple will reside at 616 South Main street.

When they left on their trip the bride was wearing a winter white knit suit with electric blue accessories and a corsage of roses taken from her bridal bouquet.

Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of Chelsea High school and both attended the University of Michigan. Later the bride graduated from Carnegie Institute of Technology where she was affiliated with Carmichael honor society. At present she is employed as a laboratory technician in Kresge Research at the University Medical Center, Ann Arbor.

Magazine Lists Top News Events In Education Field

This is the open season for listing "important events" of the past year and making well informed guesses about the future.

Ten outstanding news events of 1958 in the field of education are announced by the editors of Scholastic Magazines in the January issue of Scholastic Teacher, education news-weekly.

1. National Defense Education Act passed.

2. Dozen public schools in Arkansas and Virginia closed in integration controversy. Supreme Court rules that neither evasion nor force can nullify its School integration decision.

3. Rockefeller Brothers Fund issues report on "The Pursuit of Excellence," calling for more financial support, higher teacher pay, federal aid.

4. Dr. James B. Conant tours country to discuss findings on comprehensive high school.

5. Chicago parochial school fire kills 90 pupils, three teachers.

6. Delinquency plagues school systems. New York City suspends 1,000 troublemakers and sets up special schools for them. NEA launches delinquency study.

7. Public interest in education takes sharp upturn. Citizen groups survey curriculum, campaign for school construction, demand less in wake of recession, many communities resist bond issues.

8. Russians and Americans exchange educators for scrutiny of school systems. Interest in study of Russian language grows in U. S. schools.

9. Experiments with educational TV reach new peak.

10. The Commission on the Social Studies of the National Council for the Social Studies issues a report on curriculum planning, calling for reorganization and a national commission to clarify social studies role. NCSS asks Congress to appropriate funds for teaching of social studies and humanities.

The Journal of the National Education Association has joined the prognosticators and offers ten developments the editors expect for 1959.

More high school youngsters will attend summer school than ever before. The history of American education, it is foreseen, they won't be there to make up work, as in the past. They will be out for enrichment and will especially be interested in courses in the sciences, mathematics, English, and foreign languages.

More Time to Math

High school students will give more time to the study of mathematics. The editors set the increase at 10 per cent.

Schools will appreciably step up their courses in the sciences. Courses in chemistry, physics, and advanced biology will be available to more students. Many schools will modernize their present science courses to include study of radio isotopes, space science, and other up-to-date additions.

Interest in legislation affecting education will reach a new high in both sessions of the 86th Congress.

They think that the average teacher's salary will pass the $6,000 figure this coming year.

And here are statistics based on surveys: To take care of increased college science enrollments in 1959 the colleges will be needing 1,200 additional professors of chemistry; 800 professors of physics; and 1,300 professors of higher mathematics.

More Pupils and Students

At the end of the year 30 million children will be enrolled in the public elementary and secondary schools, an increase of one and one-third million over the present figures.

Enrollments in universities, colleges, and junior colleges will reach almost three and one-half million, or an increase of 250,000 over the current year.

There will be an expansion of schools and grades at both top and bottom of the educational ladder—with more adult education offerings and more kindergartens.

Reorganization of districts will continue, bringing some small districts toward more comprehensive schools, better staffed and better equipped than is possible with many smaller districts.

Schedules for administration of "booster" immunizations for diphtheria and tetanus (lockjaw) and vaccinations for smallpox will be changed for the 1959 spring immunization clinics conducted in the schools by the Washtenaw County Medical Society, according to Dr. Otto K. Engleke, Washtenaw county health officer.

The new schedule adopted by the medical society through its executive committee calls for a booster injection to be given in kindergarten and in the sixth grade. In those schools without a kindergarten, the immunizations will be offered to first grade children. Previously, injections had been recommended every three years following the completion of an initial series of three or four injections.

In addition to the children in the two grades named, any child who has transferred from a school outside Washtenaw county during the current school year will be given an opportunity to have immunizations at the clinic. Any child who has never had any immunizations before will also be taken in the clinics if his parents request clinic services.

There will be no immunizations offered to pre-school age children at the clinics in past years, Dr. Engleke stressed.

This change comes after careful studies of immunization levels of children indicated that a schedule such as this was sufficient to protect a child from these contagious diseases.

Immunization clinics are conducted each year in schools throughout the county by the medical society in the interest of the health of the children and of the public. Practicing physicians from each area and the resident staff of the local hospitals staff the clinics without pay, and services of the clinics are available to the children without charge.

In the next few weeks, Dr. Engleke said, every parent will receive a letter from the health department explaining the change in the schedule. Only those children who are in the categories listed, however, will be given slips to be signed and returned to school requesting an immunization.

Locations and dates of the clinics will be released in the near future. Each year there are more Following her retirement she entered the Evangelical Home for Children and Old People in Detroit. She lived there from 1931 until she became ill. She had been a patient at hospitals and nursing homes in Detroit before going to the Ann Arbor area hospital where she died.

A number of nieces and nephews survive in addition to the sister and brother in Dexter.

Real Winter Weather Derails Two Trains Here

Even the trains have trouble because of the ice and snow.

During the past week engines were derailed twice in this vicinity because of frozen railroad switches.

One was derailed Friday morning near the Chelsea Manufacturing plant and the other, along with three freight cars, went off the track west of the Methodist home at 1:30 a.m. yesterday. Yesterday's derailment required the assistance of the railroad company's wrecker equipment to get the engine and cars back on the track.

Episcopal Bishop Will Officiate at St. Barnabas Confirmation Services

The Rt. Rev. Archie Henry Crowley, suffragan bishop of the Michigan diocese of the Episcopal Church, will be in Chelsea, Sunday, to officiate at confirmation services of St. Barnabas church.

Three youths are in the confirmation class—Vann and William Bowling of Blind Lake, and Michael Collins.

This is the sixth confirmation class presented to the Bishops of the Church since the Episcopal Mission started meeting in the former Red School building on the Chelsea Community Fair grounds. A reception in honor of Bishop Crowley and the confirmation class will be held immediately after the service which is scheduled for 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Bishop Crowley, who was consecrated suffragan bishop, Sept. 30, 1954, is the first man from Michigan to be elected to serve in this diocese. For the five years immediately preceding his consecration he had served as rector of St. James Episcopal church at Grosse Ile.

As Suffragan Bishop of the Diocese of Michigan, his responsibilities include the Department of Christian Education, the Department of Christian Social Relations, College Work, Laymen's Work, Diocesan Camps and Conferences, and the Marriage Commission of Advice to the Bishop.

The Rev. Allan W. Reed, vicar of St. Barnabas church, said the confirmation services Sunday will begin with the reading of the Scripture lesson recorded in the Book of Acts and pertaining to the sending of the Apostles Peter and John from Jerusalem to Samaria where there were Samaritans "who had been baptized but had not yet received the Holy Spirit."

The laying on of hands, instituted by the apostles at that time is part of the historic service of confirmation to be conducted Sunday.
