County's First Traffic Death Posted for '59

Ice glazed highways in this area were listed as a contributing factor in Washtenaw county's first traffic fatality of 1959, the death of Mrs. Lillian Mitchell of Pontiac, following an automobile crash which occurred on US-12 west of Muskegon road at about 8 p.m. Thursday.

Mrs. Mitchell died at U. of M. hospital two hours later. According to reports of the accident, Mrs. Mitchell was riding in a car driven by her husband when it was involved in a head-on collision with a car driven by Peter J. Smith of Detroit. Smith was severely injured.

The accident tied up traffic in both directions on US-12 for more than two hours after the mishap. A Greyhound bus headed east on the highway, sideswiped the westbound tractor trailer and was disabled. No one was hurt in the mishap and the four passengers on the bus were transferred to another bus and transported to Ann Arbor.

Harry Prudden is a patient at St. Joseph Mercy hospital, Ann Arbor, and underwent surgery there yesterday.

SAFETY AWARD—William Hadfield (second from left), of Detroit, district manager of the American Mutual Liability Insurance Co., is shown in the above photograph as he presented a safety award plaque to Rockwell-Standard, Chelsea Spring Division, Friday morning. Lowell Davison, general manager of the plant, accepted the plaque which was in recognition of 283,183 man-hours of no lost-time accidents. Two Grass Lake Men Arrested for Pheasant Hunting Conservation Officer Donley Boyer apprehended two men Saturday charged with illegal hunting of pheasants in the Cavanaugh Lake area and both pleaded guilty Monday when they appeared before Municipal Judge Francis O'Brien at Ann Arbor.

They were charged with shooting and possession of pheasants during the closed season.

The two men, William M. Russell and Willie J. Barnett, who gave Grass Lake addresses, were assessed fines of $75 and costs of $7.50 each.

Russell paid the fine and costs but Barnett was given an alternate five-day jail term when he was unable to pay.

Anniversary Committee Is Organized

A four-man executive committee headed by Roland Spaulding as general chairman, was formed this week to spearhead plans for Chelsea's 125th anniversary celebration.

Harvey Lixey was named secretary; Robert Foster, treasurer; and Russell McLaughlin, headquarters chairman.

Listed as important factors in instituting plans for the community-wide project are selection of a seven-principal division chairman, preparation of an up-to-date list of all organizations in the community, together with a list of their officers; and compilation of Chelsea's historical data for a pageant program to be held the final week of the celebration.

Chairman Spaulding is appealing to all organizations, including the many rural groups, to notify Harvey Lixey of the official name of their organization, the names of its officers and an official mailing address. Spaulding said it is urgent that this information be given as soon as possible.

Equally as important to the success of the anniversary celebration is the gathering together of unusual interesting facts of historical value pertaining to the past 125 years.

Objectives of community-wide birthday celebrations such as the one planned for Chelsea include elevating public opinion on a local state and possibly national level; promotion of goodwill and closer association of the people of the community; and development of greater community and civic spirit.

By no means of least importance in considering plans for such an event is the opportunity it affords to honor the pioneers of the community and to focus attention on the American way of life and its system of free enterprise.

The Standard Honored With Excellence Award

At the Michigan Press Association's annual convention held Friday and Saturday at East Lansing, The Standard was again honored in the General Excellence contest open to all member newspapers in the state. The contest this year was judged by members of the Florida Press Association and faculty members at the University of Florida.

This year's award is the fourth time since 1950 The Standard has been so honored.

Spring Plant Recognized for Outstanding Safety Record

An outstanding safety record was achieved last year at Chelsea Spring Division of Rockwell-Standard Corp., and in recognition of the fact William Hadfield, district manager of the American Mutual Liability Insurance Co., on behalf of his firm, presented a plaque to the plant here on Friday.

The local company's record of no lost-time accidents included the period from Jan. 1, 1958 through Dec. 31, 1958, a total of 283,183 man-hours.

Lowell Davison, general manager of Chelsea Spring Division, accepted the plaque for the company and its employees.

Engraved on the plaque is the following: "Be it known to all that this testimonial has been presented to the employees of Rockwell-Standard Corporation, Chelsea Spring Division, Chelsea, Michigan, in recognition of their diligent efforts in successfully preventing lost time accidents during the long period of time as follows: 283,183 man-hours during the continuous period of time as follows: January 1, 1958 through December 31, 1958. Awarded by the American Mutual Liability Insurance Company, L. M. Baker, Division Engineering Manager."

A 19-year-old Manchester area youth, Louis Wheeling of Sharon township, arrested here Saturday, admitted cashing forged checks in three Chelsea business places during the past two weeks, according to Chelsea Police department records. He had cashed a check for $42.60 at Frigid Products a few minutes before he was arrested Saturday.

The first check, bearing the forged signature of an area resident, was for $125 and was cashed at the Chelsea Hardware store Monday, Jan. 26, another forged check appeared at Anderson's Department store and Saturday, the youth attempted to cash a second check at Chelsea Hardware and police were notified. His arrest followed.

Band Soloists Enter Festival At Redford

Members of the Junior and Senior bands will travel to Thurston High school in Redford township to participate in the annual Southeastern Michigan Solo and Ensemble Festival on Feb. 6 and 7.

More than 3,000 junior and senior high students from all over southeastern Michigan are expected to assemble to perform each of the two days.

All events will take place simultaneously in 25 different classrooms, auditoriums, and gyms throughout the day. Each event will be judged and rated in one of five divisions: first division for highly superior, second division for excellent, third division for good, fourth division for fair, and fifth division denoting poor.

Students will not be competing against each other, but against a standard of achievement. Such factors of musical performance as tone, rhythm, intonation, and interpretation will be considered in the final rating.

Last year, Chelsea students received three first divisions and it is hoped that this year more will be gained.

Comments from Many Express Highest Praise

An estimated 2,000 area residents visited the new Chelsea High school Sunday afternoon and evening. Students in grades 9 through 12 started classes in the new school Monday morning.

Enthusiastic comments of students following their first day in the new building included such as the following:

"Is it ever wonderful! It's fun going to school now... everything is so nice and clean and new—and you should see the lockers—no more 'Flibber McGee' lockers, but plenty of room for books and clothes in each student's private locker... and the cafeteria—real dreamy—and the food is so delicious... everything is simply marvelous!"

Spot-checking at random for comments by area residents after they had visited the new school Sunday brought out the fact that most people were impressed not only with the beautiful appearance of the new campus type high school but also with its very evident functional features.

Mrs. George P. Frisinger who is active in PTA work here, said "everything about the new high school is outstandingly perfect." She was particularly impressed with the manual training area which is designated as an industrial education center. Mrs. Frisinger said "This part of the high school, especially, opens up vast opportunities for adult education classes with its modern equipment for all types of industrial training. I believe people of the community will increasingly appreciate the entire school as they realize the many advantages it affords in addition to actual school-day use."

Mrs. Frisinger feels the entire school follows the pattern recommended by eminent educators.

Harvey Lixey, president of UAW-CIO Local 437, who graduated from Chelsea High school and was active in high school athletics, said "I enjoyed the tour of the new high school and find no fault with anything I saw. HIGH SCHOOL HOME EC ROOM—Here is efficiency, the class room features the newest view of the Home Economics room in Chelsea's models of stoves, refrigerators and general new high school building. Planned for maximum equipment.

Library No. 4 Opened for Use of Junior High Pupils

The school library is an essential element of the school program and the basic purpose of the library is identical with that of the school it serves. Children need to acquire skill in seeking information through various channels and to become familiar with reference and library resources. They also need access to a wide variety of literature—both fiction and non-fiction. Library service is as essential in the modern junior high school to meet these needs as in the high school or college.

The new Junior High School Library of 300 books, Library No. 4 in the Chelsea School District, will serve 230-7th and 8th graders and 12 teachers with the start of the second semester. Students will find old and new favorites, including the standard author books, encyclopedias, atlases, and dictionaries.

In addition to books there will be magazines and newspapers. Books have been chosen from "A Basic Book Collection for Junior High School" compiled by the American Library Association; Department of Classroom Teachers of the National Education Association; Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development; and the National Council of Teachers of English.

The junior high library will occupy the room vacated by the high school library. It will be open during study hall periods and will be staffed by junior librarians who have been working in the high school and elementary libraries.

Dorothy Martin, an 8th grader who has worked one and one-half years regularly on a volunteer basis one hour each day of the week, has been appointed junior library treasurer. She will take care of overdue books, collect fines, and receive payments for lost books.

Miss Joan Weise, school librarian, says that as funds permit the number of books in the junior high school library will be increased to meet the standard of 1,700 books recommended by the American Library Association for an enrollment of 200 students and to achieve a goal of 10 books per student.

The greater the collection of books, the greater the opportunity for scholarship. The larger the ratio of number of books per student, the more books available to each individual student.

In addition to the junior high school library there are libraries in each elementary school and in the high school.

The North Elementary School Library began in 1954 with service to grades 3, 4, and 6 with 200 books borrowed from the South Elementary Library in the room now occupied by the sixth grade taught by Philip Smith. Situated in the kitchen suite it now numbers 1,000 books of its own and serves 497 students and 16 teachers in grades kindergarten through sixth.

The South Elementary School Library was organized in 1939 by Miss Ida Brown in the room under the school bell tower in the old elementary school.

Now located in the principal's office, it has 2,000 volumes and serves 480 students and 14 teachers in grades kindergarten through sixth.

The present high school library, partially cataloged by Mrs. Alice McCumpha in 1953, contains 2,000 books which will form the nucleus of the library in the new high school for 863 students and 18 teachers.

Library books, encyclopedias, and other materials for all school libraries are purchased with funds from Michigan penal fines. These funds are criminal fines collected by the county circuit, justice, and municipal courts for violation of state laws. They are distributed to schools on the basis of school population.

For the school year 1958-1959 some $4,600 was given to the Chelsea School District.

This represents about $3.00 per student, the price of one book. When the penal fine money is exhausted books may be purchased with school operation funds. A section of the National Defense Education Act of 1958 has provisions for libraries.

A good library affords contact with knowledge that is much broader than that afforded by concrete experience. Learning to use a library is one of the powerful ways to increase one's ability to learn. Pupils must have an opportunity to learn the kinds of resources that are available in a library.

According to Guy T. Buswell, Professor Emeritus of Education, University of California, "Skill in using a library is one of the most effective ways to learn how to learn for when schools and teachers are no longer available, the adult finds the library his main tool for continued learning." Learning to use a library provides a tool that goes beyond any textbook. The library is an avenue of development for all children, including the gifted.

Mothers, Students Help Organize Books In New Library

In addition to Chelsea High school students, three mothers, Mrs. Fred Schumm, Mrs. John Chaplin and Mrs. Alex Ersten, spent all day Friday at the new high school library putting the books in order and arranging the furniture in accordance with the library plans.

Miss Joan Weise, school librarian, said the help of volunteers is extremely helpful in the library and suggested that women of the community who are willing to assist with the work call her for details.

KNOW YOUR PTA

Sixty-two years old this winter, the Parent-Teacher idea continues to grow. Conceived in the mind of Alice McLellan Birney in 1897, with the able assistance of Phoebe Apperson Hearst, was the idea of creating a united effort "to promote the welfare of children and youth in home, school, church and community."

From a small beginning the National Congress of Mothers has grown into the 11 million member National Congress of Parents and Teachers, where teachers, fathers, mothers, students, and other interested citizens work together for common objectives.

The parent-teacher organization does not stop at the borders of America but extends to many parts of the world.

Founders' Day should be more than a celebration of the past, we look at the past only to get a perspective on what can be done in the future.

SAVE THE DATE—

Brotherhood Month Concerns Your PTA—

As parents and teachers concerned with the welfare of children, attention to good human relations is worthwhile.

Brotherhood month is no longer a time when we get together with people different than ourselves and talk about living together in peace and understanding, then go separate ways for the rest of the year, forgetting about it until the next February.

Perhaps because of the increasing closeness of the world, or because of recent talks of prejudice and discrimination or in some instances better human relations, we are apt to give more thought to human values.

Dr. Morton Sobel, chairman of the International Relations Committee, once said, "We must respect differences in others and have pride in our town. The aim of good human relations is not to make us all identical products of a long outmoded 'melting-pot.'"

AMBULANCE DRIVERS SPEED

Chicago—The speeding ambulance injuries or kills more people than it saves, a noted surgeon contended recently.

Dr. Preston A. Wade, chairman of the American College of Surgeons committee on trauma and clinical surgery professor at Cornell University Medical School, said ambulance drivers speed because they enjoy being "privileged drivers."

Towing an assortment of fishing equipment, man's best friend sets the pace as his master pursues one of man's favorite winter pastimes—ice fishing. This ingenious mode is one of many employed by fishermen for transporting fishing "essentials" to shanties or ice holes.

Aspen Harvest on Public Lands Provides Needed Food for Deer Herd

Lansing—Supplementing fall and winter outdoor sporting activities is an equally gratifying and significant operation from the standpoint of commercial forest management and wildlife interests—the aspen harvest.

This harvest is made by commercial loggers and pulpwood cutters who bid for the right to cut areas of public land designated by Conservation Department foresters.

Where possible, cuttings are made in deer yards to relieve deer food problems that plague the herd most seriously during winter months.

Aspen cuttings bear year-round fruits in geometry, white language students are translating.

Fashion Notes...

This season the most fashionable head will feature a well-shaped cut—the tidier and smoother, the better. Gone from the fashion picture is the dandelion coiffure or the raggle-taggle hair. At least, the smoothly cut coiffures are being pushed in the most established salons.

This trend is so new—it seems the careless look has just caught on over the country to any extent—that it will take a while to see if it really goes over. Personally, we find the "every-day-in-place" look too demanding. In the first place, it demands a youthful face—and there is just so much one can do about this.

It demands marvelous carriage and a good throat and shoulder line. The profile should pass muster. Hair can be such a softening agent for the face, neck and set of the shoulders.

Since curl is not employed, shine and texture will be of great importance. The new corrective hair sprays will be a "must" to the lady who tries one of the new styles. The best ones fix each hair in its proper position, shines it up and completely and magically disappears.

Earrings, naturally, come in for more importance than with the more full-blown coiffure. Drop earrings will be smart for the young and middle years. The more mature woman will like to choose a slightly larger earring than usual, with an upward tilt.

Beads are good, and in the case of costume jewelry, they are worn away from the throat slightly. Watch that you do not wear too much costume jewelry this season. The head is kept small and neat, and with too many danglies you will run the risk of looking like "here comes the jewelry counter."

Feb. 11 Is Birthday of Thomas Edison, One of America's Greatest Citizens

It has been said somewhere that a man who can edit a newspaper successfully can do almost anything. While we will be the first to disclaim any such blanket claim, we can think of one former editor who must have been the basis for this sweeping statement.

Feb. 11 marks the birthday of a young editor who made good in various other directions and fields of endeavor. He was Thomas Alva Edison, who was born in Milan, O., 112 years ago and moved at a tender age to Port Huron where he engaged in a composite career of railroading, science and newspaper work.

While his job as train butcher required him to sell newspapers, among other things, he decided also to publish one of his own. This was The Weekly Herald, which he edited and printed weekly in the freight car in which he had set up his first experimental laboratory. However, what might have been a brilliant newspaper career was derailed when 15-year-old Tom Edison saved a station-master's child from the train wheels and was rewarded by being made a pupil at the railroad telegraph office in Mount Clemens.

The balance of the Edison story is quite familiar—how invention and experimentation won out over telegraphy, and the former editor of The Weekly Herald went on to invent the incandescent lamp—and most of the things that in their full development, are keeping most of us up all hours of the night.

But for the curiosity of Tom Edison and his determination to find out the why of things, we might still be living a relatively simple life, going to bed early, listening to music when the firemen's band gave a concert. Husbands would be doing their work largely with hand tools, wives would be plying the broom and dustpan and rubbing out the family laundry on the washboard. Yet, not even those who sigh for the good old days occasionally would care to undertake their share of the manual labor involved.

Today, the inquiring mind and driving spirit of Thomas Edison are projected in the work of thousands of research workers throughout the nation. These dedicated men and women are constantly striving to learn "how to do it" or "a better way to do it." They are doing their best to make the jet age seem as outmoded as the world on which the young train butcher reported in The Weekly Herald of 1862.

If there is ever to be a national holiday to memorialize "progress," we suggest it be Feb. 11, the birthday of the immortal Thomas A. Edison.

The best place to fall asleep at the wheel is at a drive-in theatre.

Some minds are like concrete—all mixed up and permanently set.

Overheard in a beauty-parlor: "Listen carefully, because I can only tell this once—I promised not to repeat it."

You don't have to be a PENNY PINCHER

Getting ahead financially is not a matter of "pinching pennies." Quite to the contrary! Actually you can spend money more happily (because free from worries and misgivings) once you have embarked on a program of systematic saving. First step is to establish the amount that you reasonably can and MOST CERTAINLY WILL save each payday. Then see to it that these dollars go promptly into your savings account every week . . . before they have a chance to go elsewhere. You'll have more fun spending what's left . . . when you do your saving FIRST!

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Camps for youths as the first major step in preventive criminology are being planned in Michigan.

They will not be for the boy who is already in trouble with the law, but for the neglected and aggressive lad who is a potential menace to society.

The idea came out of a committee on juvenile delinquency headed by Rep. Harry DeMaso (R-Battle Creek) which held a series of hearings on the subject last summer. At the start of the 1959 legislative session, Rep. E. D. O'Brien (D-Detroit) introduced the measure to set up a pilot camp for 60 youths.

The pattern is taken from the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) program of the depression era when young men found themselves with time on their hands and no jobs.

Changed slightly to fit the needs of modern youths, the camps would be for those whom probation judges feel should have a change of environment before their existing circumstances cause them trouble.

Other plans of the DeMaso committee include a "family court" to gather all the social problems of a family for solution together.

As many as six or seven different court systems and jurisdictions now are used often on the same family. Often the problems of the parents are interrelated with those of the children.

Sending a boy to Boys Vocational School or to prison for a crime might solve the immediate problem without doing anything to remove the cause.

The family court idea is expected to run into legal problems in the presently exclusive jurisdiction of probate courts over youths through their 18th birthday.

The question is whether to give circuit courts more jurisdiction over younger offenders or give probate court more jurisdiction over older youths.

Meanwhile, the state's prisons are getting more and more overcrowded.

The Michigan Crime and Delinquency Council estimates there will be a 30 per cent increase in prison population by 1970 unless a greater emphasis is placed on parole and probation.

The state now has 10,500 prisoners and the budget for operating the system last year was $15,000,000, not counting the millions spent to keep families of inmates on welfare rolls.

This total cost will almost double by 1970 unless the system of preventive penology is altered in Michigan, the council said.

Washington reports indicate that Senator Philip A. Hart will be independent of the Democratic majority leadership.

One report told of Senator Hart getting a private and friendly lecture from a veteran in the Senate to the effect that freshman lawmakers can make or break themselves easily.

"Don't count on me," Hart was quoted as replying.

Hart showed a little of his independent streak in Michigan when as a protégé of Gov. Williams, he served two terms as lieutenant governor.

There was some talk of dissent during his last two years.

State park fees will be proposed again in the 1959 legislature.

Gov. Williams vetoed a $2 a year park fee once because, he said, the $1,500,000 estimated yield was intended by the Republican legislature to erase the need for additional appropriations.

State parks got nothing for expansion, improvement and additional land acquisition.

Legislators say the plan this year will be a 92 sticker for a full season, or 25 cents a day for those who do not want to pay the price for the full tag.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

We had a right interesting session up at the country store Saturday night. First off, Ed Doolittle told us about his wife's operation for appendicitis.

Ed says she had been planning this operation for some time, had cooked up a month's supply of vittles, called on her preacher, writ her last will and testament in case things went wrong, and ordered a wheel chair from Sears and Roebuck.

Well, come Monday and time for the operation, said Ed. He took her over to the hospital Sunday night so's they could get a early start on her Monday morning. All the neighbors come by to bid her farewell for a month or two, and it was very sad. Ed said he cried a little, but his wife was brave and went right after supper Sunday night.

They operated on her Monday morning and that night they had her setting up in bed, walking the next afternoon, and Wednesday night they told her she was going home Thursday. Ed said when he left her Saturday morning to go to town she was out digging in the flower garden. "If this keeps up," Ed allows, "they'll be operating on a feller and pushing him off the table and chasing him home."

And we decided Saturday night that farmers and ranchers is the biggest gamblers on earth—and the dumbest. They gamble on rain, drought, heat, cold, frost, hail and insects, and at the end of the year if his gambling has turned out all right on account of him working like a dog, he sells his grain or his cotton or his cattle for whatever they'll pay him.

And when he sells he discovers some birds in Washington or New York or New Orleans has been buying and selling his crop for months afore time better off than he has, and they has been doing it in an air conditioned office.

If farmers and ranchers would quit gambling the hard way and raise just enough for their own needs one year, the price would fit up there to where them city fellows couldn't afford to speculate with it, they'd be too busy trying to get some of it to eat. But you'll never get farmers and ranchers to do this. Just here and there you'll find a feller like me and Ed Doolittle that's willing to rest up for a whole year.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

★ Subliminal Learning

Most of the learning that we do is done when we don't realize that we are learning anything.

We learn to "speak" a language best, not by studying it in a class, but by hearing other people speak it. The words we say—and the way we say them—are all learned unconsciously.

When a young person is old enough to take a course in driver training, he has already learned by observation most of the things that are essential to driving a car. You can see what I mean if you imagine how much an Eskimo would have to learn before he would be able to drive through Detroit. He would need to learn to stay on the right side of the street; to know that red means stop; to read the signs; to turn the wheel when he wanted to turn the car; to step on the accelerator when he wanted to go forward; and so on. These are all things that a young person has learned without any conscious effort if he grew up in the United States.

Another word for subconscious is "subliminal," which comes from the Latin word "sublimen," or "threshold"—and which means "below the threshold of consciousness."

Recent experiments in subliminal advertising show that people are influenced by words which are flashed on a movie screen for such a short time that they do not know they have seen them. While a movie is being shown, the words "Buy popcorn," are flashed on the screen from time to time, and the sale of popcorn increases.

Radio and television commercials are repeated until we become almost unconscious of hearing them, yet they produce results for the sponsors. In newspaper advertising, continuity is worth much. "A pull is better than a jerk."

Jack Seabold told me that he had a sort of guilty feeling about the fact that he found himself joining in the responses in church almost unconsciously, so that after it was over he couldn't tell what he had been saying. Most people, I suppose, recite formal prayers and sing familiar hymns without paying much conscious attention.

But all is not lost. A person who attends church may develop new attitudes subliminally, even though he is day-dreaming while the words are being said or sung. One who hears the words, "The Lord is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid?" will become stronger and braver because of it. We learn the language of faith by listening to the speech of a man of faith.

State parks got nothing for expansion, improvement and additional land acquisition.

Legislators say the plan this year will be a 92 sticker for a full season, or 25 cents a day for those who do not want to pay the price for the full tag.

OVERCHARGE IN CONTRACT

The General Accounting Office says a General Motors Corporation subsidiary got an extra $976,000 out of an Air Force contract because its costs proved lower than military purchasers expected.

A GAO report to Congress said unreasonably high prices resulted from Air Force buyers awarding a $7,791,328 fixed price for their purchase in the absence of real competition and without checking enough on the costs the manufacturer would incur.

MIDWEST A BATTLEGROUND

In the threatening shadow of an atomic war, the once isolation-minded Midwest is no longer isolated.

Four of the six proposed bases for launching intercontinental ballistic missiles will be located in the cattle, wheat and tall corn country, the bread basket of the nation. The other two will be on the West Coast.

In war, the hunter is also the hunted—the best offensive weapons become prime targets, too. Thus, the location of the ICBM launching sites in the Midwest could turn that section into a major battleground.

NEW LOOK IN RED CHINA

Hong Kong—Women of the Miao and Tung tribes of southwest China are abandoning their traditional long, embroidered gowns for slacks and shockingly short skirts.

It is a revolutionary change in women's fashions for that part of China and the Chinese Communist press says it is raising eyebrows among the older generation.

It looks as if the new styles will stick. Slacks and short skirts are much more comfortable, especially for working in the fields.

MYSTERY FARM NO. 41, published in the Jan. 29 issue of The Standard as the 41st in the current series of farm photos, was readily identified by many area residents. Located northwest of Chelsea on the Lyndon-Sylvan township line, it is owned by Mr. and Mrs. John Schneider.

John Schneider Home on Conway Road Identified by Many as Mystery Farm No. 41

Surprisingly, many people recognized Mystery Farm No. 41 as the John Schneider place in spite of the fact that it is situated at the very end of a dead-end road. (Someone remarked, "That's why people do know it—because they've had to stop and turn around there to get back to the highway!")

The neat farm house and the well-kept farm buildings are located at 6850 Conway road, on the Lyndon-Sylvan township line.

Included in the 40 acres located in Lyndon township is a private lake known to oldtimers as Rook's Lake, named after a man who lived in the vicinity many years ago.

The spring-fed lake provides a good fishing spot for the Schneider family. The lake is to the right and some distance from the barns.

The farm has been in the Schneider family for exactly 50 years—the present owner's father, Christian Schneider, having secured the deed to the place Jan. 23, 1909.

Springfield-Leach sold the farm to Christian Schneider.

The elder Schneider died in 1944. His wife, the former Mary Visel, and one of the Schneider sons, Lewis and his family, lived there together for a number of years. Lewis served in the Army later and his wife and children joined him in the east. They now live on Garfield street. The two oldest sons, Douglas and Richard (wins), are now married but are continuing their education in preparation for careers in missionary work and social service. Another married son, Lloyd, lives in Chelsea, while the younger children are still at home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Schneider bought the farm from his mother in December, 1947.

Their family, a daughter and two sons, are Mrs. Norman O'Connor, Robert and Donald Schneider. The latter is serving in the U.S. Army and at present is stationed in Germany. His wife, who joined him there in March of last year, returned home Jan. 22 and has resumed her work in the office at Central Fibre Products.

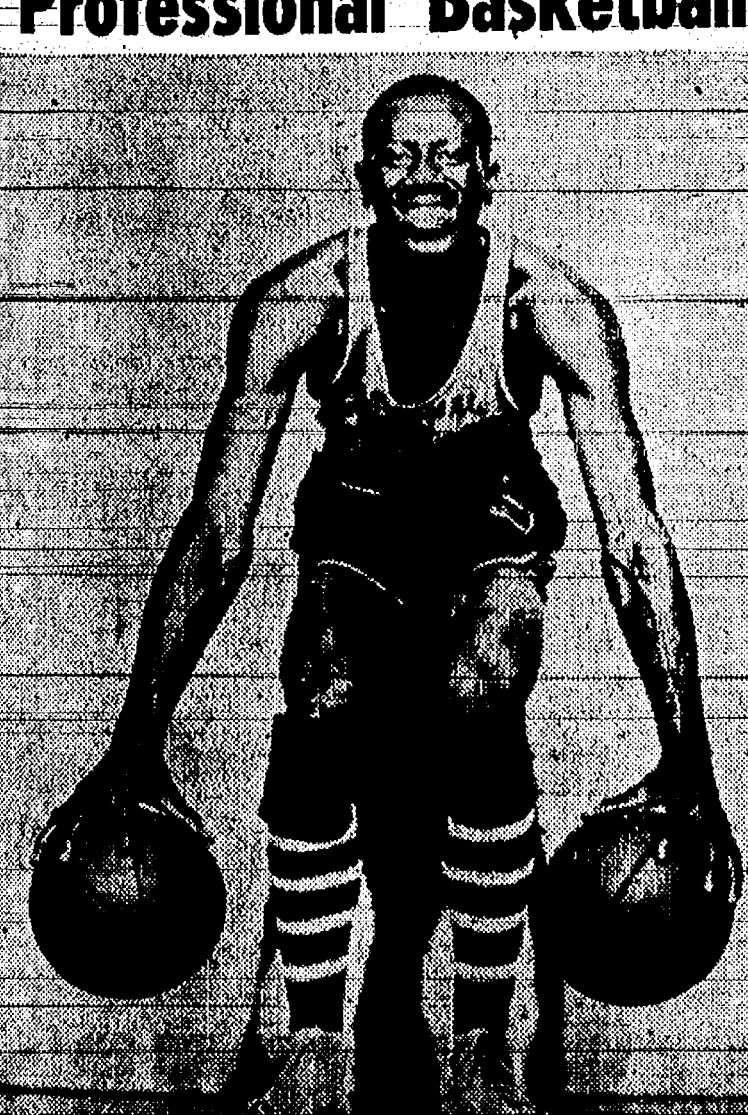

John Schneider has been employed at Central Fibre the past 16 years and his wife has been employed the past 18 years at Federal Screw Works.

Schneider is currently participating in solid conservation practices on his farm.

Among the first to call in the correct identification of the John Schneider farm are Allen Bros., amle, Donald Keezer, Anton Nielsen, Elmer Lindow, David Geer, David Pastor and Ron Eder.

Others are Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Schneider, Mr. and Mrs. Norman O'Connor, Mrs. Carroll Clark, Myron Clark, Danny Eder, Mrs. Gottlieb Bollinger, Mrs. Walter Bontler, Jamie Griffith and Gary Ferry.

To the Board of Education, The Administrators and Faculty, Chelsea Public Schools:

May we add to the many highly complimentary expressions of Chelsea citizens who, after viewing the new high school buildings, are most enthusiastic in their praise and appreciation for the outstanding result which you have accomplished. Chelsea is indeed fortunate in having such a competent, far-sighted and progressive Public Schools Board of Education, Administration, Faculty and Citizens Committee whose many months of study and planning have produced for our community this great asset.

Your choice of the architectural firm of Yamasaki, Lineweber & Associates was a happy one. Likewise, the general contractor, North Construction Co. Never before have we seen a more nearly perfect combination of simple and unpretentious beauty and utilitarianism, and it is our guess that absence from C.H.S. will be negligible in the future. The new buildings are an answer to those few short-sighted individuals in all communities who apparently believe that to be good, education must make the students hate it.

We are impressed by the provision which you have made for facilities in teaching many and varied subjects in both academic and vocational fields. As the great Dr. John Dewey insisted at the turn of the century, there are many types of brains and minds and all are equally important. You have made it possible for students especially talented and interested in academic subjects, in the Fine Arts, or in the vocational field, to pursue their capabilities and interest to the fullest extent.

Your foresight has produced also facilities for many community activities... the auditorium, gymnasium, cafeteria, etc., which may be used in the future with great benefit derived for the people of Chelsea. For this you are to be heartily commended.

As for the added cost in taxes to pay for the new high school buildings, we, the Management and Employees of the Central Fibre Products Company, are happy to pay our share. It is a pleasure to have a part in helping make possible such a superb triumph in school architecture and we in no way feel the new buildings can be described as exorbitant in cost or in the fad and frill class. We consider the added tax costs one of the best investments we could make.

We salute you in the splendid job you have done and wish you to know that we are mindful of the tremendous amount of time, thought and effort which you have so generously given for our community.

Such public spirit as yours makes us have no misgivings for Chelsea's future.

Faithfully,

The Management and Employees of the Central Fibre Products Company

Preventive Health Program Report Given at PTA Meet

What does the Public Health Nurse do for your school child? The school nurse, Miss Baker and John Scott, sanitation engineer, with the Washtenaw Health Department, presented an informative program for the Jan. 28 meeting of the PTA.

Mrs. Lawton Steger, Chelsea March of Dimes Chairman, was also present and showed a film presenting the three fields of medical research in which the foundation is presently engaged.

The Public Health Nurse, it was learned, is employed by Washtenaw county to serve the townships of Sylvan, Lima and Freedom. She assists school administrators with health programs and problems. She works with teachers in their classrooms, helping them to look for sickness; to give a sick or injured child the proper care; to know how to protect the child in school; to discover handicaps among pupils; and to carry out health projects.

A child's health affects his school work. The school nurse acts as a liaison agent between the home, school and community. She meets with special groups to plan projects which will make the community a healthier place in which to live. There are the clinics for immunization of children against diphtheria, tetanus and smallpox; tuberculosis clinics; crippled children's clinics; vision and hearing testing in the schools and dental programs.

Scott explained that his job in relation to school sanitation has wide scope. One of his concerns is with schools that are being built. He assists in recommending changes in sanitation design if necessary. It is interesting to note that nothing is too small a detail to be checked in the sanitation engineer's job. As an example the disinfectant used in the dish washers in our new high school cafeteria must pass his inspection. He will also meet with the cafeteria personnel in regard to training them in good food handling practices.

Scott checks each school in Washtenaw county for good sanitation practices at least once each year.

PTA president Gerald Carr, called the business meeting to order. The equipment committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Jack Gilbert, reported the committee had the approval of the school board to send out a form letter. It was announced there had been a $500.00 donation toward this fund.

Supt. Charles Cameron requested that in case of questionable weather conditions, such as have been experienced in the past few weeks, parents should listen to radio station WJR at 7 a.m. for a report concerning the possible closing of schools.

Founders' Day dinner arrangements are well underway. Wednesday, Feb. 18 is the date. The time is set for 6:30 sharp. On the varied menu, ham will be the order of the day; the remainder of the foods will be solicited through the schools by each grade room mother. The community friends of the PTA, as well as all school families, are invited to this Founders' Day hospitality dinner at the new high school cafeteria.

Families other than those of elementary school children should call Mrs. James Herman, GR 9-8459, for dinner information and to report the number of persons attending.

A program of musical entertainment, sponsored by Mrs. Benbow's chorus group and Mr. Grove's band members will be given in the new auditorium to complete the evening.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Don Labo and family, of Flint, spent the weekend with Mrs. Labo's mother, Mrs. Elba Gage, and on Sunday they visited Mr. Gage at U. of M. hospital, Ann Arbor, where he had been a patient since Jan. 22.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lohman and children, of Jackson, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hall of Flat Rock were Sunday afternoon and supper guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Goetz. A Friday caller there was Albert Pilemeier.

STARVES WITH $10,101

Cushing, Okla. — Police found $10,101 in cash on the person of George W. Williams, 30, who apparently starved to death in his home here. No food of any kind was found in the scantily furnished shack in which Williams lived as a lonely recluse.

Food for Thought

Some 94,557 cords of aspen timber were harvested and skidded out of Michigan's state-owned forests during the 1958 fiscal year which ended June 30. Aside from the aspect of conversion into saleable commodities, the cuttings are of two-fold significance. Commercially valuable tops and limbs from these cuttings are left at harvest sites to provide a ready and welcome browse supply for deer. These winter cuttings coincide with the peak season of food scarcity. Revenue from timber sales is pumped into the state treasury for subsequent financing of reforestation programs. Pulpwood receipts totaled $178,883 last year.

Two Area Dairymen Accepted as Members in Holstein Association

Brattleboro, Vt. M. L. LeChapelle and Herman L. Koenn, Chelsea, Mich., have been accepted for membership in the Holstein-Friesian Association of America by recent action of the Board of Directors.

All-time high of 2,191 new members were admitted to the national Holstein organization during 1958. They bring total membership to 49,876, a figure without precedent in dairy cattle history. The Association maintains all of ficial pedigree and performance records of registered Holstein cattle in this country. National headquarters are at Brattleboro, Vermont.

More than 200,000 new animals are registered each year in the Holstein-Friesian Herd Book. Over 135,000 are officially transferred to new owners.

In addition, there are approximately 30,000 cows enrolled in the Association's production testing programs. More than 44,000 were officially classified for type during 1958.

Miss Belle McKinney Leaving County Health Department for Eastern Post

Miss Belle McKinney who has been with the Washtenaw County Health Department the past 11½ years and for nine years of that time was public health nurse in the Chelsea area, terminates her work today to become director of the Visiting Nurse Association at Danbury, Conn.

At Danbury which has a population of 40,000, Miss McKinney will begin her new work Feb. 16. She will be in charge of co-ordinating the work of visiting nurses and will be responsible for working with the hospitals and people of Danbury and for building up the Visiting Nurse Association staff. She will also promote expansion of the work to include the many small towns in the vicinity of Danbury.

Miss McKinney's work in Washtenaw county provided extensive experience in this type of work and this experience will prove its value in the re-organization job which will be her responsibility at Danbury.

In effect, Miss McKinney will be returning home since she worked in Fairfax county, Conn., and in Weston, Conn., as a public health nurse before coming to Washtenaw county to attend the University of Michigan where she earned her bachelor of science degree in public health nursing.

Since July, 1956, Miss McKinney has been tuberculosis co-ordinator for the county health department. She has been the nurse in charge of the TB clinic at St. Joseph Mercy hospital at Ann Arbor on a Wednesday evening appointment basis the past seven years. For the present, Miss Jeanette Baker, county public health nurse, will succeed her at the clinic.

Miss McKinney said yesterday that while she looks forward to the challenge of her new work in Connecticut it is "with sincere regret" that she leaves Washtenaw county and especially the Chelsea area where she has made so many friends through the nine years of her association with the schools and with the people of the community. She said, "In my estimation Chelsea is the nicest town in the U.S.A."

Miss McKinney will visit friends and relatives in the east for a few days before beginning her work at Danbury, Feb. 16.

On Monday of last week Miss McKinney was honored at a luncheon at the Ann Arbor Town Club attended by personnel of the Washtenaw County Health Department. Also at the luncheon were Dr. Winthrop Davey and Dr. George Fink, tuberculosis consultants for the health department, with whom Miss McKinney has been associated in her work as TB co-ordinator.

Firemen Called For Three Runs During Past Week

Thursday evening Chelsea firemen responded to two calls from alarmed residents who believed there was a big fire in the vicinity of the Methodist Home; however, firemen found on arrival there that the glow was caused by reflection from a flame being used by railroad workers to melt ice on the tracks. The flame was reflected by ice causing the glow high above the area where it was visible for miles.

The railroad dicing equipment was being used in an effort to avert derailling of trains such as occurred the previous week because of frozen switches.

Saturday, at 1:12 p.m., firemen were called to the Dorothy Osterle residence, 704 Taylor street. The roof had caught fire from a chimney blaze.

A light bulb being used under the hood of a car is believed to have exploded, starting a car fire which resulted in a call for Chelsea firemen at 7:25 p.m. Monday. The car, owned by Edward Mester, was parked in the driveway of the Mester home on Mester road. The car was severely damaged, according to Fire Department records.

Today's happiness is usually yesterday's kindness matured.

THANK YOU

My thanks are extended to the Rev. Philip Rusten for visiting me at the hospital; also, to my neighbors and friends for their cards, flowers, calls and many kindnesses while I was at the hospital and since my return home. A Visit to the New Chelsea High School

Is it a place of learning as would be described by the three R's? If so, where is the storage space for the students' textbooks? Or is it a tropical disjointed show place where the breeze under the canopy fans the brow of the students as they walk from building to building?

Last Sunday as I trudged on ice and snow the meaning of two lines in a poem in an old-school reader came back to me, of which the lines are:

"And shivering on the sidewalk were:
The Students, of twelve and over."

Methodist Home Resident Cited for Seamen's Aid

Mrs. Frank Aldrich, 92-year-old resident of the Methodist Home, has been cited by the Women's Council of the Seamen's Church Institute of New York for having knitted 69 pairs of socks for the 7,000 gift packages distributed by the Institute to merchant sailors at sea or away from home in New York last Christmas. Mrs. Aldrich was one of five women cited for outstanding contributions among the 1,054 volunteer knitters across the nation who turned out the 12,908 garments—socks, caps and scarves, sweaters, gloves—given to seamen during 1958 by the Institute.

Christmas packages containing these knitted garments and other gifts provided by contributions were opened Dec. 25 by seamen all over the globe. Ship visitors from the Institute placed them aboard more than 80 ships that sailed from New York in November and December.

The volunteer Christmas program is part of a program of religious, personal, social, educational and health services offered by the Seamen's Church Institute of New York, the world's largest shore center for active seamen, where hundreds of seafarers anchor nightly.

Thursday's citations were issued at a luncheon attended by 75 New York area volunteers at the Institute, in Manhattan. Mrs. Aldrich received her citation by mail.

Mrs. Aldrich has lived at the Methodist Home the past three and one-half years, coming here from Hillsdale. During the time she has lived here she has knitted 124 pairs of woolen socks for the Seamen's Church Institute.

TAX FACTS #4

Deductions That Cut Your Tax Bill

(This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax laws. The articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Michigan Society of Certified Public Accountants, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.)

THE big question facing the small taxpayer at this time is whether to itemize deductions or take the standard deduction.

Before you give up and file a "short" form, take the time to add up the family expenses that could be deducted. If the deductions total more than 10 per cent of your adjusted gross income, it will pay you to file a "long" Form 1040.

Here is a list of the more important items to watch for while you compile the list of family deductions:

Interest on Loans—The interest you paid on loans is deductible. This includes any mortgage, automobile, appliance, home improvement or personal loans you may have had. Interest on installment purchases is also deductible. Evidence, such as a statement from the lender, should be obtained to show the amount of interest that you paid during the year.

State and Local Taxes—Most taxes, other than federal taxes, are deductible. These include, state and local real estate taxes, personal property, income, retail sales, gasoline and poll taxes. You can deduct auto license fees, but not auto inspection fees. If you don't have an exact record of some of these taxes, you can make a reasonable estimate.

Charitable Contributions—Gifts to charitable, religious, educational, scientific or literary organizations are deductible. Generally, these contributions are deductible up to 30 per cent (in some cases 50 per cent) of your adjusted gross income. In adding up your donations, don't overlook the old clothes, toys, books or furniture you may have donated. You can deduct the cost of these gifts if you have a receipt from the recipient.

Medical and Dental Expenses—Unless you or your wife has reached the age of 65, your medical expenses are deductible only to the extent that they exceed 10 per cent of your adjusted gross income. Include in your medical deduction the cost of doctor, nursing, dentist's X-rays, and hospital services. You may also deduct premiums for health, accident and medical insurance.

Casualty Losses—You are entitled to deduct your uninsured home losses from fire, theft or storm. Damage to an automobile is deductible if the accident was due to faulty driving but not negligence on your part.

Child Care Expenses—Widowed, divorced or legally separated taxpayers, and in some cases single taxpayers, who must pay for the care of a dependent while they work can deduct up to $600 of this expense. Check carefully the requirements in the official instruction book before claiming a "baby-sitter" deduction.

Miscellaneous Deductions—If you had certain expenses in connection with your employment (other than travel and reimbursement expenses), you may claim them as miscellaneous deductions. Examples would be tools, uniforms, union dues and employment agency fees. Periodic alimony or separate maintenance payments ordered by the court are also deductible under this heading.

Kathryn J. Bowling, Lt. Richard Merkel Married in Iowa

A wedding of interest to Chelsea friends of the bridegroom and his family took place Saturday noon at Immaculate Conception Catholic church in Sumner, Ia., when Kathryn Joan Bowling became the bride of Lt. Richard T. Merkel, USMC.

The Rev. Fr. Joseph Kleiner officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Lt. Merkel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Merkel.

The bride, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ball W. Bowling of Sumner, Ia., is a 1958 graduate of St. Mary's College, Notre Dame, Ind., while the bridegroom received a bachelor of science degree in engineering from the University of Notre Dame in 1956.

The bride's all silk satin wedding gown, a Cahill original, featured a scoop neckline, push-up sleeves and princess style back. A bouffant effect was achieved with side fullness of the skirt which extended into a long train. An orange blossom crown held her fingertip-length illusion veil and her bouquet was a cascade arrangement of white Amazon lilies over Magnolia leaves.

Kay O'Meara of Hillsdale, was the maid of honor. She wore a princess-style sheath fashioned of Irish green glowing satin with a billowing tulle overskirt. A headband of matching satin and a cascade bouquet of white tea roses and camellias completed her ensemble.

The four bridesmaids wore gowns identical to that of the maid of honor. The bridesmaids included Kathy and Joan Merkel, sisters of the bridegroom, Hannah Grasberger of Lynchburg, Va., and Carole Schutte of Memphis, Tenn.

John Merkel, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man. Robert and Patrick Merkel, also cousins of the bridegroom, and Daniel and William Bowling, brothers of the bride, served as ushers.

For her son's wedding, Mrs. Merkel wore beige lace with brown accessories, including a brown orchid.

The bride's mother, in champagne Italian silk, chose green accessories with a matching green orchid.

The reception which followed the ceremony included a luncheon at the Meadowbrook Country Club at Sumner for the wedding party and 125 guests.

Among those present were friends and relatives from Minneapolis, Minn.; Chicago, Ill.; Tulsa, Okla.; Washington, D. C.; New York City; Maquoketa, Hampton, Waterloo and Sumner, Ia., and from Chelsea.

The couple left after the reception for a three-week trip enroute to Oceanside, Calif., where Lt. Merkel will be stationed at Camp Pendleton. They will make their home there.

For traveling, the bride wore a green and brown English wool suit with matching hat, a green coat, brown accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Arlene Loeffler, Richard Bareis Repeat Marriage Vows at Zion Lutheran Church

The Rev. C. J. Renner, pastor of Zion Lutheran church at Rogers Corners, officiated at the marriage ceremony uniting Arlene Loeffler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Loeffler of Waters road, and Richard G. Bareis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar E. Bareis of Dancer road. The service took place at Zion Lutheran church at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Bert Gardner was the soloist. Accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Alton Gray, he sang "Wedding Benediction" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Hand clipped rosepointe lace over satin-fashioned the bride's floor-length gown. The fitted bodice was styled with a scalloped sabrina neckline, accented with iridescent sequins. Cascading tiers of crystal pleated tulle and scalloped lace formed the skirt which was finished with a front panel of tulle with lace and iridescent applique motifs. Her veil was fingertip length and was held in place with a sweetheart half-hat of re-embroidered, iridescent trimmed lace. Her bouquet was of white roses.

Mrs. Philip Bareis of Kalamazoo, the bridegroom's sister-in-law, served as matron of honor. She wore for the occasion a ballerina-length gown of azalea chiffon over taffeta. The shirred bodice was finished with a squared neckline. Pearls and a tiny white veil decorated her white nylon headpiece and her ensemble was completed with a bouquet of white and azalea-colored carnations.

Martha Wenk, a cousin of the bride, and Carolyn Bareis, sister of the bridegroom, were similarly costumed for their roles as bridesmaids.

The bride's mother, in midnight blue, and the bridegroom's mother, in navy blue, chose accessories matching their gowns and each had a corsage of white roses.

Philip Bareis assisted his brother as best man, while ushers were Oscar Bareis, a brother of the bridegroom, Dennis McVay of Stockbridge, a cousin, and Daniel Murphy.

A reception followed in the parish hall where Barbara Jean Wenk, a cousin of the bride, served as hostess.

The bride and bridegroom are now at home at 101 North Maple street, Hartford.

Don't install gas or electric ranges under kitchen windows, say home economists. Be sure the window can be opened without reaching over the range. Refrigerators should not be located close to the range or radiator or receive direct rays of the sun. Refrigerator should stand level. Some manufacturers place the opening side of the refrigerator is also very handy.

UNLESS WEATHER CHANGES:

Road Officials Warn of Possible Isolation for Rural Residents

Commenting on the hazardous condition of Washtenaw county roads, because of ice which has been accumulating since New Year's Eve, Howard Minier, superintendent-manager for the county's Road Commission said yesterday, "The Ground Hog may say that there will be six more weeks of winter but according to the amount of materials and money spent to date the winter is over for the Washtenaw County Road Commission."

Minier said that 5,941 tons of salt, costing about $60,000, have been used so far this winter to remove the ice and snow from the primary paved roads in the county. This compares with 5,104 tons used all last season and 6,028 tons used during the 1956-57 season.

At last season a total of 75 tons of calcium chloride (at $35.00 a ton) was used to mix with about 2,000 cubic yards of sand for ice control work on the gravel roads. This year 125 tons have been used so far to mix with about 3,300 cubic yards of sand. Both of these chemicals are in big demand and are difficult to obtain at this time. It has been extremely difficult for the road commission to maintain minimum stockpiles of these materials. The Washtenaw County Road Commission's present problem is what to do with the 2 inches of ice that covers the major part of the Washtenaw county road system today. In an effort to keep traffic moving, commission equipment operators, the unsung heroes of this battle, have been salting, plowing, scraping, and sanding continuously since the middle of December. For the three-day period last Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, these Commission employees spread a total of 857 cubic yards of the sand chloride mixture on the gravel roads of the county. It required about 1 1/2 cubic yards per mile and cost about $12.00 per mile. Approximately 570 miles of a total of 1,115 miles of gravel roads in the county were sanded in this period.

The extremely low temperatures that have prevailed recently have seriously hampered the Commission's efforts to provide a little traction on this 2 inches of ice. It is not practical nor is it physically or economically possible to remove this ice with chemicals. At present the Road Commission applies salt only to the main county pavements. To provide this salt service to all the gravel roads in the county would cost an additional $123,000 a year.

The amount received by the road commission for local roads is about $300,000 per year to maintain 928 miles of local roads. It appears that the amount spent for ice and snow control this year will double the normal amount spent and means that other maintenance services on these roads will have to be reduced this year to balance this additional expense for this service.

Road Commission efforts have been directed to applying sand mixed with calcium chloride to all ice covered roads to improve traction. It has been an extremely slow operation. Sometimes the trucks must back up the hills to do the spreading. Even where the sand chloride has been spread it is necessary that the driving public use extreme caution because the ruts created by the quick freeze following the rain are very hazardous, it was pointed out.

The Road Commission telephone have been busy with calls expressing concern about this icy condition. Minier said, "We at the Road Commission are also deeply concerned and will continue to cover as many miles with sand and chloride as possible to help the situation. However, we must remind the folks that live on the county roads that during the next eight weeks anything can happen. Right now a little snow with a high wind could block many miles of road. They should stock up on fuel, food, etc., because in spite of the best service possible by the Road Commission's forces, the county roads could be blocked for several days by snow, sleet, washouts from rain or mud."

In conclusion Minier stated, "The Washtenaw County Road Commission wishes to assure the people in Washtenaw county that they will do everything possible within their physical and financial limitations to help traffic keep moving during this emergency, hoping that Mother Nature will assist them with a break in the weather."
