Brothers of Brush Seeking World's Record in Painting

Spectators Invited To Watch Giant Crew Paint Headquarters Building

Radio Broadcast Arranged To Cover Spectacular Event

"Brothers of the Brush" will have an all-out project here Saturday, the aim being to paint the 125th anniversary headquarters building in approximately 15 minutes of elapsed time.

The "brushing bee" will be broadcast over Radio Station WJAG, directly from the headquarters building here with Howard Heath as the announcer. The station's regular Farm and Home program will be broadcast from the anniversary headquarters building and the start of the "brushing bee" will be included in the program.

In order that everything will be in readiness, all Brothers of the Brush are to be in their classes at the headquarters building before 12:45. Each one is to bring his own paint brush and an empty coffee can in which to put his share of the paint.

When the signal is given, each man will start painting his assigned portion of the building. The many men expected to take part will make short work of applying the natural wood finish to the log-type building.

Everyone in the community is invited to be up town for the "brushing bee" the first special event of the anniversary project which will be concluded with a dancing program of special events in July.

Yesterday's grass fire was at the George Webb farm at North Lake. The call was received here at 10:30 a.m.

CHELSEA'S NEW CAMPUS-STYLE HIGH SCHOOL, as seen here from the air, will be dedicated at special ceremonies to be held Sunday in the gymnasium (lower left corner) beginning at 3 p.m. Open house will be held in all parts of the school from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m. Washington street is at the upper right corner of the photo. The entrance drive, farther east, does not appear in the picture. Beginning at the upper right, the square building houses the administration offices. Next is the locker room for all students, surrounded on four sides by covered walks with bus stop area directly in front. Sidewalks lead from the locker building to all sections of the campus. Between the locker building and the gymnasium is the main classroom area with the 625-seat auditorium in the center (the higher portion of the building). Classrooms are located around three sides of the east half of this building and the library and cafeteria are at the west side beyond the open terrace next to the auditorium. The building at the northwest corner is the shop and to the right of the shop is the building housing home economics and art areas. To the west of the central locker building is the science building. The small building west of the gymnasium is the heating plant. Parking areas at the right do not show in the photo. Several thousand people are expected to visit the school during the open house.

Mayer Hurls Three-Hitter For Bulldogs

Chelsea's Bulldog baseball team, playing with seven sophomores in the line-up, and after dropping their first three ball games as a result of one bad inning in each game, turned back to winning ways Monday night in the opening game of the league championship, the Flat Rock Rams, in a seven-inning 2-1 ball game played at Flat Rock on Tuesday.

Behind the fine three-hitter pitching of George Mayer, who struck out eight, and walked only four, while going the distance for the first time this year, the young Bulldogs scored once in the first inning and again in the fifth.

In the first inning Don Blalock walked, moved to second on a single by Mayer, and scored on a sharp single to center by Mike Marsh. In the Rams' half of the first, Gaddert walked, stole second, and scored on a single by Bob Stevens.

In the Chelsea half of the fifth inning, Don Blalock got things rolling again with a single to left, stole second, and raced home with the winning run when Jerry Kings hit a ground ball to the left side that was thrown away at first.

This was the last of the scoring and proved to be plenty as George Mayer then struck out six men in the last three innings while allowing only one more safety.

With two out in the last of the seventh, the Flat Rock catcher, Jerry Mullegan, singled to left and attempted to advance to second when Jerry Kings bobbled the hopper, but Jerry promptly cut the runner down on a fine throw to second baseman Matt Murphy, who tagged the runner for the final out of the ball game.

Totals for the game for Chelsea: 3 runs on 4 hits and 2 errors; one error.

The Bulldogs, this week, travel to Saline on Thursday and Manchester on Friday in an effort to make it three in a row.

Marguerite Eison of Detroit spent Saturday here as the guest of her aunt, Miss Lillie Wackenhut.

Plans Underway for Community Calendar

Our community has needed an up-to-date calendar of scheduled events for a long time. There is not an organization that has not been embarrassed by an activity that conflicted with another local group at one time or another.

Your celebration committee is, of necessity, establishing a community calendar for the celebration period starting May 1 night through to the end of the celebration, July 18.

Here is what you can do for us. Call your celebration secretary, Harvey Lixey, give him the name of your organization and your organization and your scheduled public activity, not regular organization meetings but rather events to which public attendance is desired, such as ice cream socials, suppers, etc.

This information will be posted and a workable schedule of coming events should result.

Here is what we will do for you. Harvey Lixey will maintain a schedule of events, check any dates you may desire for your own promotion and advise you as to other events or schedule that would conflict or if a duplication of your event is planned by another group at or near the same time.

As soon as the headquarters is open part time a record will be kept there as well as at the secretary's home and when the headquarters opens full time all records will be moved there.

This is to be a test case. Your co-operation and active use will, according to our village mayor, Donald Alber, determine whether a community calendar would be used to the extent that the Village Council might act to put into operation a plan which they have for an easily workable calendar of all local events.

A community calendar is a calendar for the community. Without the co-operation of the community—no calendar.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Benter of Detroit, spent Saturday here as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Rowe.

Special Service Will Be Held In Gymnasium

Gorton Riethmiller, Olivet College President, Will Be Guest Speaker

Dedication of Chelsea's new high school has been set for Sunday, April 19, with Gorton Riethmiller, a Chelsea High school graduate and now president of Olivet College, scheduled to present the dedication address.

President Riethmiller will be introduced by Donald H. Bacon, long-time friend of the Olivet College president and a member of the college board of trustees.

The dedication ceremony will take place in the new high school gymnasium which at full capacity provides comfortable seating for 2,500 spectators.

Open house will be held from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m., affording everyone an opportunity to visit the entire school campus.

William R. Jarrett, representing the architects, Yamasaki, Leinweber & Associates, will formally present the new high school facility and on behalf of the Chelsea School District, the buildings will

Tornado Alert Set For Schools

Within the next week, a practice tornado alert will be conducted in Chelsea schools, according to an announcement by Charles Lane, high school principal.

The test will be run at the end of a school day in order that students need not return to class rooms, he said. It is important, however, that all students follow directions implicitly so a true evaluation of the test's effectiveness may be made.

Those children living further away will be kept at the schools and will be taken to designated locations considered to be safest in the buildings.

Those who are dismissed to go home will be told to take shelter in a northwest basement corner. They will also be instructed to see that an east window in the home is left open to guard against creating a vacuum which might lead to a form of explosion because of the pressure of high velocity winds on the outside of the building.

Students will be timed as to the number of minutes required to reach their homes.

Kenneth Haist who became seriously ill last Friday, is a patient at St. Joseph Mercy hospital and reports yesterday state his condition is greatly improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Czaplare were in Detroit Monday to attend the funeral of a nephew, Anthony Turski.

Charles S. Cameron, superintendent of schools, will introduce the Board of Education and guests. The high school band, directed by Gayle Grove, and the high school chorus, directed by David Sunborn, will participate in the dedication ceremonies.

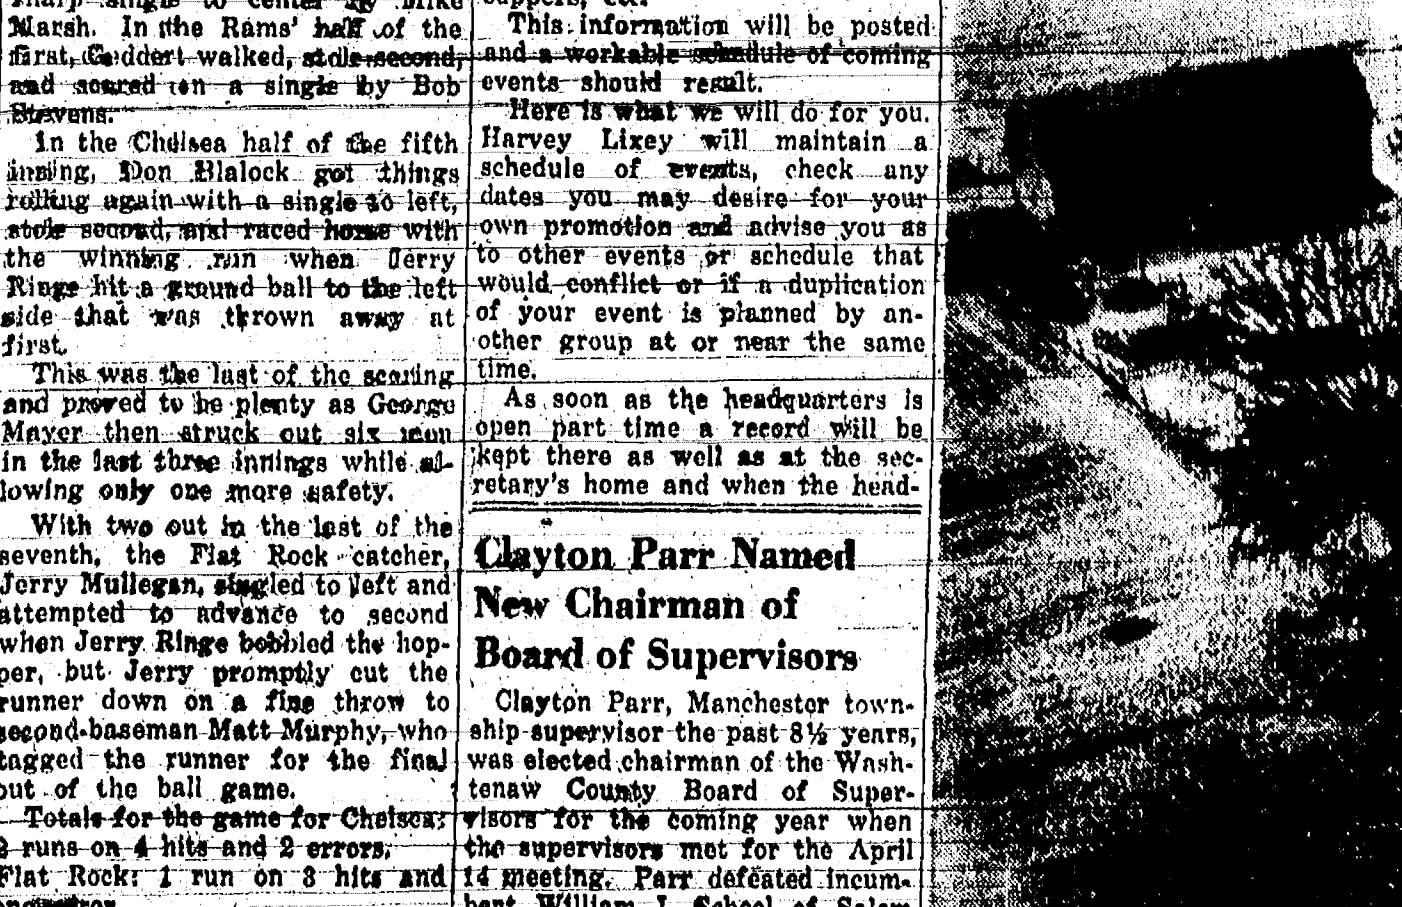

Clergymen of the community will be asked to give the invocation, dedication prayer and benediction.

The Ladies Auxiliary to Post No. 4076, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will present an American flag to the new high school at the beginning of the dedication ceremony.

GETTING THE MOST... FROM YOUR GARDEN

By Lyman N. White

ASSOCIATED SEED GROWERS

Weary of the winter, many a weekend gardener stands at his frosty window on a Saturday morning and wishes he could be doing something out there.

Actually he can be doing something indoors for the winter, something very useful that will pay good dividends later. He can be making his plan. Now is the time to do it, even though the soil may be under snow and the warm days of spring still weeks away.

There are two sorts of garden plan: one for the permanent layout of the area, the other for the annual plants of the season. If the house has been built for some time, the general layout or permanent style of the garden may be already settled and accepted. But was it ever planned with thought, or did it just happen? Too many modern gardens have a stiff, right-angled, inartistic appearance merely because the contractor, as soon as the house was roofed, scooped the plot with grass and left room for a path around it. Then some young shrubs were put in, and there was the garden.

You can live with it, as so many do. Probably they are used to it and don't think much about its lack of design, but with some care and not too much work it can be vastly improved. You begin by roughing out, more or less to scale, on a sheet of paper, a ground plan of the garden as it now is. You look at pictures of gardens in magazines and books, you stroll about the neighborhood looking at other people's places with new interest. Next you take up your ground plan again and mark on it with a red pencil the changes you are going to make—curving a border here, rounding a corner there, or changing the shrubbery so as to get a pleasing view from the house. You may then decide that half of the changes will be enough for this spring, so that you won't be running the risk of a creek in the back.

In making this layout, avoid planning a bed or border close to trees. Apart from the shade they cast, their roots forage far and wide for plant food and water. If you make a bed close to the house, be sure that rain water will not be dripping onto it from the eaves. It is often a convenience to have vegetable beds and herbs near the kitchen door, provided a site in full sunlight is available.

The next step is to decide what plants you would like to grow this year, and how best to fit them into the plan. With flowers, you will consider the different colors so as to get pleasing combinations, the different heights to which the plants grow so that some will not smother others, and the different times to blooming so that you will have a succession of flowers all through the season and not borders that are merely herbaceous part of the time.

So also with your vegetables. Some varieties are better than others and you plan accordingly. You make weekly sowings of a little at a time, instead of a whole row, so that you will have enough always but never a glut which can't be used and will leave blank rows. Low growing plants such as lettuce you should have in front, inter-planting taller plants such as beans in the middle, and corn if you have room for it, at the back.

It really is no trouble to make such a plan; in fact, it is a pleasant little job to do before the season begins. Not only will it help you to have a better, more efficient garden, but it will save money by guiding you to buy no more than what you need and can use. It will let you have supplies at hand when the time comes, instead of that last minute shopping which can be so time-consuming on a fine morning when you want to get things done.

NEXT WEEK: Your soil, and how to make the most of it!

ON CAPITOL HILL

By Congressman George Meader

The Foreign Operations and Monetary Affairs Subcommittee of which I am a member, has held hearings for the last two weeks on our foreign aid program in Laos and has brought to light some information of vital concern to taxpayers.

Many of the sessions were closed because their subject matter was said to be "secret." Even so, public hearings have developed shocking waste and mismanagement of public funds.

Laos, with Cambodia and Vietnam, formed French Indo-China prior to 1954, and is a newly independent nation undeveloped economically and politically. It is important strategically that we prevent Laos from being drawn behind the bamboo curtain.

Laos is a tiny nation with a population of two million persons, 85 per cent of whom are illiterate. Largely agricultural, its people produce only for their own needs (mainly rice). Its total gross national product is $100 million annually. Yet, between 1955 and 1957, we pumped into Laos' backward economy about $45 million a year in foreign economic aid.

more, in the words of officials on the spot, than Laotians possibly could absorb. The result is corruption and luxurious living on the part of a few, discrediting the United States and its aid program among the remainder of Laotians.

Another object of subcommittee security has been manipulation of foreign exchange in Laos. The official rate of 85 kip to the dollar was artificial. The free rate was 100 to 110 kip to the dollar, and lack of adequate exchange controls led to abuses, inordinate profiteering, excessive imports, capital flight and low business morality.

Also of interest to our subcommittee have been improper activities of United States personnel. Many charges of misconduct and inefficiency were brought to the attention of the International Cooperation Administration, but not until our subcommittee began its wholesale inquiry several months ago did ICA officials in Washington appear to take an interest in the situation and begin a cleanup. I hope the committee will continue its investigation and compel ICA administrators to establish businesslike methods, punish delinquent personnel and eliminate the waste in our foreign aid expenditures in Laos.

A public meeting, sponsored by the Washtenaw County Board of Education, will be held in the small auditorium of the Ann Arbor High school at 8 p.m., Tuesday, April 21, for the purpose of presenting an over-all plan of a county-wide special education program for the approximately 3,000 handicapped children in Washtenaw county.

The proposal of initiating such a program, which is designed to promote the maximum educational opportunities for handicapped children, and of raising up to 1/2 mill (above the 15-mill limitation) for operating the program, will be brought to a vote at the annual meeting in each of the constituent school districts of the Washtenaw County School District.

Dr. Wm. Emerson, Oakland County Superintendent of Schools, will be the principal speaker on the program. Dr. Emerson is one of the leading consultants on special education in Michigan and the pioneer of a special education program on a county-wide basis.

There will also be brief talks on the significance of a county-wide special education program for Washtenaw county by the following people: Horace Whitney, Webster township farmer, and charter member of Washtenaw County Board of Education; Don Johnson, Washtenaw county agricultural agent; honorable John W. ### "WEDEMAYER REPORTS!"

By General Albert C. Wedemeyer

Albert Wedemeyer was a major in the War Plans division of the General Staff in Washington D.C. when the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor in 1941. During the war he arose as a topflight military strategist. Later in the war he commanded American troops in the China Theater and became Chief of Staff to Chiang Kai-shek.

His book asks the question: How did our country in winning World War II (300,000 dead, 200 billion dollars) fail to evolve without an improved position in the world?

Our greatest weakness and one which still exists today in our cold war with the Communists was the lack of concrete definite and realizable aims of sound strategy. Does anyone really know today what we are trying to do in the Far East in East Asia, in the Middle East, in the Americas, in the Pacific?

The Allies won the war, but because the Anglo-American leaders did not know and did not try to determine what they were fighting for, the crushing military defeat of Germany and Japan raised up new and more dangerous enemies.

Stalin on the other hand had objectives in mind beyond the destruction of Nazi Germany. He knew that vacuums would be created during the struggle for Europe and he was determined to be in a position at the war's end to achieve definite economic and political gains.

Our basic weakness according to General Wedemeyer was our lack of what he calls Grand Strategy. This he defines as "the art and science of employing all of a nation's resources to accomplish objectives defined by national policy." Principally these resources would be political, economic, psychological and military.

Because we did not know what we were for, as well as against, because of our short-sighted national aims, the huge and menacing power of the Communists from the Elbe to the Yalu now confronts the United States with a much greater and more present danger than any other we have experienced since the birth of our Republic. We have paid dearly for our lack of foresight and the end is not in sight.

General Wedemeyer suggests that our nation's organization for the formulation of foreign policy and Grand Strategy is not adequate in this complex world. He would like to see the origination of a Grand Strategy Board presided over by the president with the continuing responsibility of formulating national aims and foreign policies for consideration of the Chief Executive and members of Congress. They would recommend appropriate aims and sound courses of action in each country—friendly, neutral or hostile—they would have access to all information available to the Government provided by the Central Intelligence Agency so that their determinations would be made in a vacuum but would be attuned to the developments in all parts of the world.

BILL EYES DEDUCTION

Workers would be allowed to deduct some transportation expenses from their income-tax returns under a bill Representative Charles E. Chamberlain (R., Mich.) has introduced.

His measure would permit them to deduct up to 25 per cent of their gasoline, oil, insurance, parking charges and car depreciation expenses incurred in driving to and from work.

Mr. Chamberlain feels that as more and more plants are moving considerable distances from their original premises, this penalizes the worker.

Exhibits, Displays Arranged For National Library Week

New spring books are on display in both North and South Elementary school libraries, open house is being held at the school libraries, puppeteers supplied by Mrs. Robert Pierce of Ann Arbor, are appearing at South Elementary school, and exhibits have been arranged in the public library and in the Municipal building as well as in other locations—all in observance of National Library Week which is being observed on a national scale this week.

Volunteer workers at the school libraries—Mrs. Fred Schumm and Mrs. John Chaplain—served as hostesses at the Book Fair in Ann Arbor one day last week and have been credited with assisting materially in preparing for the observance of National Library Week open-house activities here.

Mrs. Edmund Kayser was also active in preparation of posters and other work incidental to the week's observance.

Miss Joan Wiese, Chelsea school librarian, has stressed that many magazines and other current material is available in the school libraries.

THE LETTER BOX

The editor welcomes letters from the readers on general topics affecting the Chelsea area. However, to be eligible for publication, such letters must be in good taste, free from libelous and abusive remarks and limited to less than 500 words. All such letters MUST be signed by the writer or they will be discarded immediately. If the writer wishes his identity withheld from publication such request may be made, but the original letter MUST BE SIGNED by the writer.

Dear Editor:

My husband is running around and you should see with what I'm jealous, as almost any wife would be, but I'm glad he is. He's running around with a large manila envelope, organizing a chapter in this Brothers of the Brush that has mushroomed around town in connection with the Chelsea 125th Anniversary Celebration.

There are 15 men in all, wearing buttons—not a shaving, electing chapter officers, arguing about a name for their chapter and talking about what they are going to do—trips, ballgames, parades, kangaroo courts, stockades, hats of some old-fashioned style.

My husband is running around and I'm jealous.

He looks and acts younger than he has since he outgrew the twilight league softball games we used to have around here. There's a glint in his eye I haven't seen for a long time and my how those whiskers do scratch.

It's good for him—this brush business—he needed to get away from the old routine—get up, go to work, come home, TV and to bed. I'm glad to see the whiskers sprout.

Now to get to the point of this letter—Women of Chelsea—let's unite! Let's form a Brothers of Brush Auxiliary or something. I don't want to be left home with nothing but an unused razor for company.

So far this celebration doesn't look so hot—to me as a woman. The men have started to have fun, but what about us?

Let's get into the act—where's this "participation" angle we've been reading about? Looks like I'm going to.

Shootmoth Threatens Christmas Tree Crop

Managers of Christmas tree plantations raising Scotch Pine and Norway Pine who have been plagued with the European Shootmoth should be planning their spring clean-up campaign.

This insect causes serious damage to these pines in Christmas tree plantations by deforming the trees to the extent that they could be unsaleable.

The European Pine Shootmoth has overwintered as small larvae (worm) in the buds on the young trees and they will soon emerge from one bud and travel to another bud for the summer months.

By applying an insecticide to the trees by mid-April, the young worms can be controlled. "Use of 50 per cent wettable DDT powder at the rate of 3 pounds of DDT to 100 gallons of water," recommends Victor Horvath, District Forester in Southeast Michigan for the Michigan Conservation Department, "or for smaller amounts use 3 level tablespoons of DDT to a gallon of water." Another spray application should be used in early July to kill the hatching larvae.

WASHINGTON REPORT:

Congressmen Allotted One Trunk, Two Wood Packing Boxes Each Year

The Chelsea Standard Washington Bureau

By Edward H. Sims, Jamison Cain

Washington, D. C.—What does a man do with 45 trunks and 90 wooden boxes?

Under a federal statute enacted in 1901 each member of Congress is entitled to receive one trunk each year. The intent of the statute was to give House members a place to store all their papers and documents which were no longer current, but were too valuable to destroy.

There is also a House rule in effect, which entitles each House member to two wooden packing boxes a year, if they want the boxes. These, also, are for storage use.

The cost to the government varies annually, because the trunks are secured by competitive bid. The packing boxes are constructed by Capitol employees, in the government's workshops located somewhere in the maze of corridors beneath Capitol Hill.

Georgia's Congressman Carl Vinson, who has been in the House since 1914—45 years—says he has received a grand total of 45 trunks, and he's got them stored "all over the place."

Congressman John L. McMillan of South Carolina, the dean of the Palmetto State's Congressional Delegation, has been in Congress 20 years—which means he has been entitled to receive 20 trunks and 40 packing boxes.

But he says he has only taken "one trunk every two years."

"I use them for transferring my files between here and home," McMillan commented. "I think they cost about $8 or $9 apiece, but those things wear out a lot faster than you'd think. A couple of trips to the home district and they get banged up pretty badly. The locks get rusty and they just wear out."

During his 24-year tenure as Congressman from the Fifth South Carolina District, Rep. James F. Richards would have received 24 trunks and 48 packing boxes, if he took full advantage of his Congressional privilege.

It has been estimated that the trunk program costs Congress about $8,000 a year. If this is true, since 1901 a grand total in the neighborhood of nearly a half million dollars has been spent for trunks by Congress.

And that's many a trunk full of money!

Types of cases handled here include the following: Notifying servicemen of death or serious illness in their immediate family and assisting, by means of Red Cross communications and loans, in arranging leaves so the men could make the trip home; counseling with families of servicemen regarding various problems; relieving anxiety of relatives who had received erroneous reports of possible disaster affecting a serviceman; assisting relatives in financial difficulties because of delay in government allotments; and assisting families who have suffered losses because of fire or other catastrophe.

The Red Cross report also mentioned that American Red Cross and volunteer disaster teams are presently at work in four states providing emergency and rehabilitation assistance to victims of tornadoes and floods. An estimated 400 families have suffered property loss in the affected states.

Texas, Oklahoma, Florida and Illinois—and eight persons were killed and 64 injured.

Father's Day was first celebrated in the U. S. in Spokane, Washington, in 1910.

SECTION 5.08 (New)—On any road used by lake frontage property where the building faces away from the road the set back line shall be set by precedent of nearby property. If no precedent exists a reasonable distance shall be set by the Zoning Inspector.

SECTION 12.05 (New)—The Zoning Inspector shall make a written report on permits granted and refused, one copy to the township supervisor and one to the Zoning Board by the 31st of December each year.

2. Correction of map: The Zoning Board recommends that the official ordinance map be corrected to agree with the intent of the Zoning Board as follows: Commercial areas at the corners of

(1) Portage Lake Road and North Territorial Road,

(2) Dexter Town Hall Road and North Territorial Road,

Separates To Mix, Match Are Magic In Teen's Wardrobe

What are the magic words for a teen-ager's wardrobe? Why, mix, match and harmonize, of course. These three words can transform a mere collection of clothes into a useful and eye-catching wardrobe, says Bernette Kahabka, extension specialist in clothing at Michigan State University.

First of all, choose a key color and build around this. Keep this color in mind when selecting new clothes, too. Separates can then be combined in pleasing color harmonies.

Although you need some plaids, stripes and prints to add spice to your wardrobe, don't go overboard. If you do, you'll limit the number of pleasing combinations you can make.

Another way to add a little variety to your wardrobe is through the use of accessories. With them, a simple dress can be transformed into dressier evening wear.

Be careful, however, to keep accessories at a minimum, says Miss Kahabka. They can overpower the wearer if too many are worn. In fact, it's best to have just one center of interest. For example, one bright scarf or pin may add more sparkle to a basic dress than earrings, necklace, and bracelet all worn at once.

With a basic dress or suit as the core, build around it with mix-and-match shirts, blouses, sweaters, jackets, slacks, and skirts. If you do this, it will be easy to get that "well-dressed" look with a minimum quantity but maximum use of match-mates.

S. KOREA TOPS LIST

President Eisenhower has stripped the secrecy label off the economic aid allotments of individual countries, disclosing that South Korea topped the list with $221,000,000 in the year ended last June 30.

Advanced Students To Be Given Chance For Special Study

Ann Arbor—Ann Arbor High School Principal Nicholas Schreiber last week was chosen chairman of the Washtenaw County Cooperative Advanced Placement Project.

The project is designed to offer college-level courses to selected students from high schools throughout the county, on a pooled basis, beginning in the fall of 1959. Those completing the courses and passing appropriate examinations would be eligible for advanced placement and college credit following high school graduation.

Named with Schreiber to an executive committee for the project were Raymond Miller, Dexter High school principal; Randall Coates, Lincoln Consolidated High school principal; Ray Kehoe, assistant director of the University of Michigan Bureau of School Services, and Earl Stude of Eastern Michigan College.

According to Kehoe, the committee would screen students recommended by participating schools for the program. Courses in such areas as English, American history, European history, chemistry and biology would be taught in two-hour sessions on a weekday evening and Saturday mornings.

The estimated cost per course per pupil for one year of instruction would be about $70 or $80. Each school would determine how its share of the cost would be met.

Other schools represented at Wednesday's meeting, in addition to those mentioned, were Chelsea, Saline, Manchester, Ypsilanti, Roseville, Ypsilanti, Milan and Willow Run.

NIXON AND 1960

Vice President Nixon appears to have linked his chances for the 1960 Republican Presidential nomination to the Eisenhower Administration's record.

There had been speculation that Nixon might strike out on his own to establish a position independent of the White House. But word passed to associates indicates he is giving full support to Eisenhower's effort to hold down spending. He reportedly considers this a major campaign factor for 1960.

Former Chelsea Resident Celebrates 85th Birthday at Hotel Party in California

The Daily Report, a newspaper published in Ontario-Upland, Calif., in its April 8 edition, printed a story of interest to Chelsea area friends of a former resident, Mrs. Lucy L. Moore, who celebrated her 85th birthday at a hotel there on March 28. It was a belated observance of her Dec. 12 birthday, the original party scheduled for Dec. 10 having been postponed because of illness in the family.

It was the first time in 24 years that Mrs. Moore's entire family had been together for a reunion in her honor. The family includes three sons, Morris L. Moore of Los Angeles, Calif., Wendall M. Moore who is principal of adult night education classes in the Oakland, Calif., school system, and Warren Moore of Ontario, Calif., and two daughters, Mrs. C. W. Rose of San Jose and Mrs. L. F. Foster of Santa Ana, Calif.

Others present included nine grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Moore is the former Lucy Leach, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Leach, and was born and raised on the farm on Bush road, now owned by Gottlieb Bollinger. She went to California "for her health" in 1902, making her home with a relative, W. T. Leek who was the government's west coast representative for Indian affairs. She later became a teacher and taught in schools at Upland until her marriage to M. E. Moore of Cucamonga. Following his death, she returned to teaching serving a school for homebound children at Lanfair, Calif., between Kingman, Ariz., and the Hoover Dam, for some years, later teaching in Cucamonga and Ontario, Calif., schools. She retired 20 years ago. Through the years, Mrs. Moore has kept in touch with happenings in Chelsea as a subscriber to The Standard and through correspondence with her sister, Mrs. Mabel Arts, and with friends here, including Mrs. E. A. Roethlisberger, a former neighbor.

The bodice with a deep V at the back, featured the blue chiffon over the lace, while the full, circular skirt was of white lace over blue chiffon. A blue taffeta cummerbund and a cascade bouquet of blue and white carnations completed her ensemble.

Bridesmaids, wearing gowns identical to that of the maid of honor, were Mrs. Mary Winchel of Taylor, sister of the bridegroom, and Mary Jean Grissom of Grass Lake, a cousin of the bride. The latter was a junior bridesmaid.

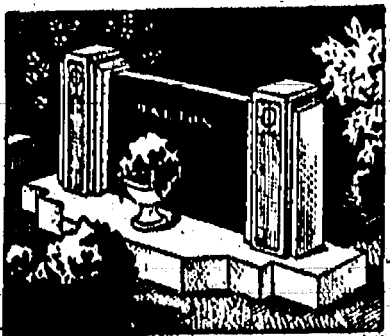

The bride's mother wore a blue lace dress with a matching hat, navy accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother, in grey lace over pink, wore a pink hat and other accessories in black. Her corsage also was of white carnations.

Mrs. Schramm closed her speech with these words: "A home is a place to live in, socially a place to have fun in, and morally and intellectually a place to improve in."

X-ray examination is important in the study of arthritis. With its help physicians such as the radiologist can tell more easily what kind of arthritis a person may have and how far advanced it is.

A newly-instituted project at St. Paul's church, the affair was enjoyed by approximately 75 adults and children. Special entertainment was provided for young children during the program period when Miss Lucille Hartman, a missonary at Hongkong, spoke to the adults and older children about her work. She is at present studying at the University of Michigan in preparation for her return to Hongkong.

Table decorations, stressing the theme "Joining Hands," together with artificial branches of cherry blossoms made an attractive setting. Also in keeping with the oriental theme, chop-suey-and-rice was the main supper dish.

During Miss Hartman's talk, slide pictures of Hongkong scenes were shown.

Mrs. Floyd Walz assisted with the program and with arrangements for the supper. Others who assisted included Mrs. Oscar Stierle who supervised the preparation of the decorations.

Try switching the high protein food of your meal from the main course to the dessert every once in a while. You might choose a custard and add it to either preserved ginger, chocolate chips or plump raisins. Cheese cake, baked Alaska, angel food cake and meringues teamed with fruit or ice cream also provide body building protein.

Youth Pleads Guilty to Charge of Reckless Driving

Charles L. Slocum, 18, of Cavanaugh Lake, appeared before Township Justice of the Peace Sellards Monday and after pleading guilty to a charge of reckless driving was sentenced to 10 days in jail, assessed a fine of $100 and costs of $4.30 and ordered to pay $100 restitution for damage to a deputy's car incurred during the chase to stop the speeding car Sunday night.

The chase to apprehend Slocum began in the Cavanaugh Lake area at 7:40 p.m. and later involved deputies from Livingston county as well as from the Washtenaw county Sheriff's Department before the car was stopped in Dexter township at 10:40 p.m.

By that time Slocum had loaned the car to a friend and was not in the vehicle when it was halted. Slocum gave himself up to Chelsea police Monday morning.

The $100 restitution charge is for damage to a deputy's car at Pinckney. The deputy's car struck a telephone pole after it swerved to avoid a collision with Slocum's car.

Chelsea Police Chief John Palmer said yesterday that efforts were being made to arrange for Slocum to serve the 10-day jail sentence on week-ends in order that his attendance at school need not be interrupted.

Chief Palmer said Slocum's driver's license was ordered revoked for 60 days and a recommendation had been sent to state officials recommending revocation for three years.

Proceeds of the Rubinoff concert, sponsored by the Kiwanis club, will be between $200 and $300 and are promised to the library.

Anniversary Potpourri

The chairman of the Main Street Billy Goats Chapter claims to have filled his chapter in slightly over 10 minutes when he signed up a group of men very interested in reading a sign that had just been put in the window of one of our local eating establishments.

—WANTED—

MAN TO WASH DISHES

AND

TWO WAITRESSES

It seems that a certain insurance agent had just come out and explained that the job wasn't as interesting as it sounded and the conversation switched to beads and the chapter was formed.

Hundreds of people milled in and around the new celebration headquarters last Friday night as six people who had intended to clean up very ably and competently, struggled to appease them. While these six wanted to sweep up, the sawdust set up the P.A. system, organize the tables, etc., they felt that because so many unshaven, but not unkempt men wished to register it was best to permit them to do so to preserve law and order.

Thus delayed, at 10 p.m. they cleaned up and did the work they had planned to do at 6:30 p.m. Two months ago 800 B. of B. buttons were ordered along with certificates. On Tuesday 500 additional ones were ordered.

Because the 500 extra buttons had not arrived Friday the late signers had to do without and the committee wishes to thank all for their patience in this matter.

The committee is proud of its women. Not one black eye has been seen, to date, and this is taken to mean that the women, as well as the men, are behind and pushing this celebration.

There are now more than 60 chapters organized. All will have elected officers and set up their chapter activities by Wednesday, April 22. This is the night that a grand council meeting will be held at the high school cafeteria and representatives will be sent from each chapter.

The headquarters building will be open each Friday from 7 p.m. until all ideas, thoughts and words have been heard. Other hours will be announced later.

All unattached males (those who have not joined a chapter) who wish to show that they are a celebration booster can sign up Friday night.

(P. S.—A Brother of the Brush agrees to grow some hair on his face where it has not ordinarily appeared before.)

Until the warm weather comes most "brothers" intend to grow full face beards. However, the wives HAVE said "The couch until I can recognize you."

Brothers of the Brush—when these same wives see how masculine and attractive you look they too will go back to the old days when men were gloriously adorned with beards and the women wore clothes in greater quantity.

(P. S.—Cards will be made available to all the brothers that will answer the questions:

1. Does it itch?
2. Do you know how silly you look?
3. Does your wife like it?

These cards will prove to be the "Brothers' best friend."

Is your chapter showing? According to reports of anniversary officials more than 60 chapters of the "Brothers of the Brush" are now formed or are in the process of being formed.

The report states, "We have stressed the importance of actually growing hairy facial adornment but the chapter, as such, has been neglected. This is not intended to be just a group of men with a common bond—that of looking so rough that they have to seek unto their own—but rather an important functional part of Chelsea's 125th anniversary celebration."

A "Brush Chapter" is started by passing out membership buttons and membership certificates and collecting the dues. Then the important part starts. Officers are elected as follows: president (main Brush); secretary (writing Brush); treasurer (money Brush); and the Big Brush, the chapter's Board of Governors representative.

These officers are important. While the actual work they do is not a time-consuming job, all of the future activities of the Brush Brotherhood depends upon these officers.

The representative meets about twice monthly with the representatives of the different chapters as the Board of Governors. This Board arranges all activities. Details are taken back to the individual chapters by this representative and through the other chapter officers are relayed to the membership.

Periodic chapter meetings are recommended and all chapters who have not held their election and completed their requirements for charter are urgently requested to do so before next Wednesday night, April 22, when they are to be turned in at the next B. of B. meeting. This meeting will be held in the cafeteria at the new Chelsea High school and not in the anniversary headquarters as was previously scheduled.

Chelsea High's Thinslads opened the 1959 track season last Friday at Tecumseh. Although taking seven first places out of the 13 events, the Bulldogs could add only four second places and six third places, to fall two points short of Boysville.

Maple Grove Cemetery Association Re-Elects Officers at Annual Meet

Maple Grove Cemetery Association held its annual meeting Wednesday evening, April 8, at the home of Mrs. Herbert Rank and officers were re-elected as follows:

Alfred West, president; George Welch, treasurer; and Mrs. Herbert Rank, secretary.

Trustees named for three-year terms are Oscar Widmayer, Mrs. George Welch and Louis Fahrner.

Changing a custom of recent years, no clean-up "bee" date was set for the annual spring cleaning at the cemetery; however, it was decided that everyone who has a lot at the cemetery should clean the lot and help clean others when possible. All refuse, grass and leaves raked up will be put in a designated spot and Alfred West will supervise and direct the burning after obtaining the requisite burning permit.

CD Test Air Raid Alert Is Scheduled Friday Morning

Entire County Will Take Part in Training Exercise

Washtenaw county will hold a Civil Defense exercise beginning Friday, April 17 and continuing through May 12, in conjunction with both state and national exercises being conducted during this period.

Evacuation of four townships in the target area as previously announced for April 17-18-19 is cancelled.

OPAL-59 will begin with an attack warning to be received at 11:30 a.m., April 17. The day's problem will continue until approximately 4:30 or 5:00 p.m. Certain operational actions will occur throughout the 17th that will require study and follow-up actions during the next 28 days at which time the exercise at the city and county level will end. A full report is due in the state office on May 11.

County and city governmental employees and volunteers will be involved in varying degrees throughout the entire period. The public will be involved only to the extent that periodic news and radio releases will be made for informational and educational purposes.

Objectives of the program are: To improve Civil Defense and defense mobilization readiness at all levels of government in Washtenaw county; to increase public knowledge—essential to survival and to train personnel in emergency roles and responsibilities; and to improve plans and readiness at all levels of government to manage resources under attack conditions.

The County Emergency Control Center in the County Building will be manned with a skeleton crew, at 11:30 a.m. Friday, April 17. Zone and City Civil Defense headquarters should also have at least sufficient personnel to receive test communications prior to 11:30 a.m.

When the fan-out occurs and the attack warning message is received all governmental, department heads at county, zone or city level are to assemble at their respective Civil Defense places of duty as early as possible. All Civil Defense posts are to be fully manned no later than 1:00 p.m.

Further activities of the Civil Defense program include a mass feeding demonstration June 27 and a county-wide "take cover" exercise scheduled for July 15.

Ann Arbor Banker Named To Head Michigan Week

Appointment of James F. Beamer as 1959 Michigan Week chairman for Washtenaw county was announced today by Foster Winter, vice-president of the J. L. Hudson company and Region VII chairman.

Beamer, a trust officer of the Ann Arbor Bank, will direct organization of Michigan Week activities in Washtenaw county to be held May 17-23.

"The slogan for this year's celebration is 'We're Proud to Live in Michigan,'" Beamer announced. "With complete organization in county communities, we hope to bring residents a strong reminder of the truly impressive natural resources and skilled manpower Michigan possesses."

Again this year, Michigan Week will be divided into seven days with the following themes: Sunday, May 17—Spiritual; Monday, May 18—Exchange of Mayon Day; Tuesday, May 19—Hospitality Day; Wednesday, May 20—Our Livelihood Day; Thursday, May 21—Education Day; Friday, May 22—Our Heritage Day; and Saturday, May 23—New Frontiers Day.

A native of South Bend, Ind., Beamer attended the Foreign Service school at Georgetown University and later served as a captain in the U. S. Air Force.

He began his banking career in South Bend, and before coming to Ann Arbor was in charge of estate planning for the First National Bank of Fort Worth, Tex.

The father of three children, Beamer resides at 917 Church street, Ann Arbor.

State Motorists

March Death Toll Lowest in 26 Years

Michigan experienced its lowest highway death toll for March in the last 26 years, including the war years of greatly curtailed travel and reduced speed limits, with only 76 fatalities being recorded, according to the State Police provisional report.

This was 19 fewer than the 95 killed in March a year ago, a reduction of 20 per cent. It was the third consecutive month of sharply reduced fatalities this year.

So far this year, the death toll stands at 223, a saving of 56 lives, or 20 per cent, compared to the same period last year when 279 died in highway mishaps.

"The greatly reduced death toll during the first three months seems almost miraculous, and is certainly gratifying," said Commissioner Joseph A. Childs. "We are sure a good deal of the credit must go to motorists for continuing to drive cautiously even after the snow and ice were gone from most of the highways the latter part of March and left them in much better condition for travel."

Michigan is aiming for its fourth consecutive year of reducing highway fatalities by 10 per cent. To accomplish this, 188 lives must be saved, or a death toll of only 1,237 compared with 1,376 in 1958.

Final figures for February show that injuries also declined, reversing a four-month trend. Accidents, however, increased for the fourth consecutive month.

There were 3,655 injuries, down eight per cent from 3,886, and 16,988 accidents, an increase of 10 per cent from 15,840.

Estimated travel for January, the latest figure available, was 2.3 billion miles, which was two per cent under the same month last year. The death rate of 3.2 per 100 million miles of travel was down 20 per cent.

The success or failure of a community's industrial development program depends on the wholehearted co-operation of all its citizens. EVERY person in the community has a part to play. "Who, Me?"—you may ask. The answer is a resounding "Yes!"

A careless remark about an industry and its management could make them feel they are not appreciated by the community.

An unkind word about our town to an industrial prospect without realizing he might be thinking about establishing a plant here—could cause him to decide to go elsewhere.

On the other hand, a few words of appreciation about local industry might help to influence a later decision to expand that industry locally, rather than establish a new plant in another city or state.

An expression of pride in our town to an inquiring stranger might make him feel here is a good place to live and work. The stranger might be looking over our town as a possible location for his firm's new plant.

Yes, YOU are a vital link in your community's hopes to grow and prosper by getting new industry and encouraging present industry to expand.

The role played by each person in the community's industrial development program is the theme of an advertisement entitled "Who, Me?" which appears in The Standard today.

It is another in a series of industrial development advertisements sponsored by the Michigan Free Association and the Michigan Economic Development Department which appear in this and 815 other Michigan newspapers as a public service.

Closed Season on Dog Training in Effect From April 15 to July 15

Lansing—Dog owners are reminded that the annual "closed season" on dog training is in effect throughout Michigan from April 15 to July 15.

This restriction is designed to protect newly-born game animals and nesting birds.

From April 15 to July 15, dogs may be trained during the hours of sunrise and sunset on birds and animals that may be lawfully hunted with dogs. Dogs may be trained at any time from Aug. 15 to the opening of raccoon season in October.

Owners may use only pistols or revolvers with blank cartridges while taking their dogs on these outings.

Three Chelsea High School students, all of whom are in the same biology class, represented Chelsea at the first annual Southeastern Michigan Science Fair at Ann Arbor, last Saturday, and all three won awards.

Their high school biology teachers are Keith Poulson and the three students credit their success at the fair to his encouragement and inspiration. The three students are Gary Berger, Cynthia Klingler and Patty Pastor.

Gary Berger's entry was an X-ray machine on which he has been working the past six months. In addition to a $25 prize, certificates of achievement and excellence were awarded to him.

Cynthia Klingler entered a biological science exhibit on plant life at the fair and Patty Pastor entered an exhibit of anatomy drawings.

A total of 156 entries were listed at the fair which was financed by local industries' contributions and sponsored by the Ann Arbor Exchange club, the Ann Arbor News and the University of Michigan.

Chelsea students were at the fair, held in Waterman Gymnasium, from 1:30 until 5:30 p.m. and from 7:30 until 9:00 p.m. From 5:30 until 7:30 p.m. they were at the Michigan Union, where they were guests at a banquet held in connection with the fair.

Others are Mike Taylor of Tappan High school, Ann Arbor, radiologist; Jim Richards of Ann Arbor High school, rocket man; John Maxfield, Ann Arbor High, communications; Gary Wild and Richard Johnson of Saline High school, photographers; Mike Washburn, also of Saline High, biologist; and Denny Cornell of University High, weatherman.

CONGRATULATIONS

TO

CHELSEA SCHOOL DISTRICT

BOARD OF EDUCATION and ADMINISTRATION

ON THE COMPLETION AND DEDICATION

OF THE

NEW CHELSEA HIGH SCHOOL

The dream of a new high school in Chelsea has become a reality and the realization is far beyond our expectations! The school, with its "forward look" in design, adequately provides for facilities in both academic and vocational fields. Its sound, basic program of studies, supplemented by the vocational and academic electives made possible by the new facilities, meets the needs of all levels and abilities as it brings Chelsea area children together in a truly democratic way.

Shakespeare said, "We are creatures that look before and after; the more surprising that we do not look around a little, and see what is passing under our very eyes."

Let us then, "look around a little" and see that the new high school is a very great asset to our community, not only for the present, but for future generations, as well.

Completion of the new high school is another indication that Chelsea is a progressive community where all people work together for the common good of everyone concerned.

Chelsea School was the FIRST to light its football field.

Chelsea School was the FIRST in this area in activating school district re-organization.

Now, Chelsea School has the FIRST new campus design high school in this area.

So we say . . . to the Board of Education:

"We wish to express our gratitude and appreciation for your leadership and farsightedness in planning not only the buildings, but also the course of study. We realize that many long hours were spent in thought, study and discussion before final decisions were made to build a school with such distinctive features."

To all Citizens Committees . . .

"Our appreciation is extended for your contributions of time and effort in the planning of the school."

To the Citizens of the Chelsea School District . . .

"Thank you for your moral and financial support."

To the Faculty . . .

"We are thankful for your part in making a good school an excellent school."

CORNERED, STARVED, WORN BY WINTER, this deer fights for its life in a swamp north of Mio. This remarkable picture of what free-running dogs can do to deer in the springtime was made by Conservation Department photographer Robert Harrington. ## 'Four B's' of Farm Safety Should Be Mastered by All

Ann Arbor—People living in rural areas should master the "Four B's" of farm injuries, according to a surgeon at the University of Michigan Medical Center.

Dr. C. Thomas Flotte said farmers and other persons who live some distance from professional medical care can save lives if they handle emergencies properly.

Treatment for most farm casualties involves the "Four B's" of breathing, bleeding, breaks and burns, Flotte reported. He offered a four-point program for the emergency control of such accidents:

1) Bleeding. "The best method for stopping the flow of blood is to apply pressure directly onto the wound. Simply put a piece of material on the wound and push." He claimed that pressure alone will stop bleeding in more than 90 per cent of all accidents. "Tourniquets should be used sparingly, because they often result in the ultimate sacrifice of the limb."

2) Breathing. Corrective measure must be taken immediately because "an individual will rarely live more than five minutes without air." Any obstructions foreign objects or false teeth clogging the windpipe must be removed at once. "Another thing that is sometimes forgotten is that the tongue will slip back into the throat. Grab it forcibly and pull it forward."

If artificial respiration is necessary, "the best and simplest method is mouth-to-mouth respiration," Flotte said.

Clamp the victim's nostrils to prevent the escape of air, then place your mouth directly over his. Force a lungful of air into him. He will exhale it as soon as you break the mouth-to-mouth contact because of the elasticity of his lungs.

3) Breaks. "The old saying of 'splint them where they lie' is just as true now as it was a hundred years ago," Dr. Flotte explained. Emergency splinting simply immobilizes the limb. A professional splinting job will be done by the doctor. "You can immobilize the limb with any material readily available, including a rolled up newspaper."

Due to conflicting projects the Ladies' Aid has set their Mother and Daughter banquet for May 8 instead of May 15.

Dedication services at the Village church were well attended. Guests and former members came from Jackson, Leoni, Stockbridge, Monroe and Munnich. Members of the Ladies' Aid served dinner at noon at the school. Greetings were received from former ministers. The Rev. Harold Mann and family came from Monroe, where he is now stationed. The First Church presented a bouquet of cut flowers. Other flowers were also brought in. Dr. Norman Klump of Detroit gave two fine sermons and both programs were much enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Grondall of Vandercook Lake, were dinner guests at the home of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gottlieb Rothman. Afternoon callers were their daughter and family, the Minor Brands of Metamora, O., and their friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Barels and family were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold McVay of Stockbridge. It was a birthday dinner honoring their father, Alza McVay.

Mrs. Mitchell Ried of Dancer road, was a Friday afternoon visitor of Mrs. Ezra Heininger. Mrs. Clarence Moore was an evening visitor.

Mrs. Irene Birchmeyer of Ann Arbor, was a week-end guest of her sister, Mrs. Burt Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bowen and children, of Bancroft, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Powers and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerald Heydauff and family were dinner guests Sunday of their grandmother, Mrs. Sarah Dresselhouse, of Coldwater.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wierich of Lima Center, were Sunday afternoon visitors of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Wierich and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wright of Ypsilanti, were Sunday visitors of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Wright.

Mrs. Burton Wright was in Ann Arbor Saturday to visit Mrs. Gary Wright and baby twins at Women's hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Wahr and family, of Heim road, entertained at a dinner on Friday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Heininger, the occasion honoring the birthday of Mrs. Heininger.

Mrs. Wahr brought the dinner which included a birthday cake. Mrs. Heininger also received a lovely rose-colored azalea.

SCATTERED "POCKETS" of unvaccinated potential polio victims are scattered throughout Michigan, according to the state health department. In these unprotected districts and neighborhoods, the percentage of residents immunized against polio is too low to prevent an epidemic. For best community and individual protection, every youngster and young adult should be immunized.

4) Burns. "Any burn that covers more than 10 per cent of the body surface must be considered serious. The only thing you should put on such a burn is a clean or sterile cloth. Only the doctor should decide whether to apply ointments, lotions or anything else to a major burn." Emergency treatment for burns, Dr. Flotte declared, should be designed exclusively to preventing further contamination. The human skin is an excellent defense against germs, but once the skin is burned the threat of infection is very great.

The U-M surgeon said that in all forms of farm injuries, there is serious danger of shock. It is highly important to take steps to prevent or delay the onset of shock.

Precautions include: elevating the legs above the head; giving warm fluids if there is no abdominal injury; and personal reassurance, because a certain part of shock is psychogenic in origin.

TIGHT SQUEEZE

Capitol officials believe they have found a way to seat all 64 Democratic senators on the same side of the chamber.

But it would be a tight squeeze, with some desks wedged together.

And although the Republicans lost heavily in the November elections—the 34 remaining GOP senators would enjoy more comfort than their Democratic colleagues.

At least, they'd have more elbow room.

U. S. Dept. of Agriculture Will Share Cost Of Certain Woodlot Improvement Practices

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has allotted funds to many counties in Michigan to share the cost of certain woodlot improvement practices.

Pruning the branches off pine trees is one of the several woodlot improvement programs available for those desiring to participate in the Agricultural Conservation program with the Federal Government.

The county ASC office is willing to share up to 75 per cent of the cost involved in pruning certain amount of pine trees in a plantation to improve the lumber quality. A small investment in pruning pine trees up to 17 feet high at an early age of the plantation can enhance the harvest value of individual trees threefold. Dead or green branches produce knots in the lumber and number of knots per square foot of board determines the grade and selling price of lumber.

Pruning branches off pine trees to improve the quality of the lumber is not to be confused with the practice of shearing and shaping of conifers for Christmas trees.

Consult with your local county ASC office of the U. S. Department of Agriculture of your local District Forester for information on this cost-sharing program.

MYSTERY FARM NO. 51—Passed by hundreds of motorists daily, Mystery Farm No. 51 was nevertheless difficult to identify because its appearance has been considerably altered since the picture was taken. It is the home of Mrs. Anna Reichert at 12290 US-12. Mrs. Reichert recently had the front porch removed. The front entrance now has an aluminum awning over the doorway.

Last Week's Mystery Farm Puzzles Nearly Everyone Because of Remodeled Porch

Mystery Farm No. 51, located at 12290 US-12, east of Chelsea, is owned by Mrs. Anna Reichert. She, in common with many area residents, failed to recognize it because of its changed appearance since she had the front porch removed and a new, aluminum awning added. The photo was published in the April 9 issue of The Standard.

A neighbor, Paul Seltz, has worked the farm for Mrs. Reichert the past four years. Prior to that time, another neighbor, Elmer Schiller, had worked the land for many years, beginning during the 15-year illness of Mrs. Reichert's husband, Fred, who died in June, 1941.

Mrs. Reichert and her husband and family moved to the farm in 1921. The family includes a son, Dr. Paul Reichert, now a veterinarian at Tipton, Ind., and two daughters, Mrs. Irene Hayden of New York City, and Mrs. William Roach (Esther) of Detroit.

Dr. Reichert's children, Sally, Betty and Jimmy, have spent considerable time on the Reichert farm with their grandmother and always look forward to vacations there.

Also frequent visitors are the daughter-in-law and her family, Mr. and Mrs. William Roach and daughter, Julie.

The farm now contains approximately 69 acres of land.

The place was formerly known for many years as the Niehaus farm and is the birthplace of Paul H. Niehaus, his sister, Mrs. Clara Hutzler, and his brother, the late Julius Niehaus.

Their father, Frederick Niehaus, came into possession of the farm about 80 years ago and their mother, the former Catherine Paul, went there as a bride.

Mrs. Hutzler remembers that the big brick house was built in 1895 after the former frame house was moved north and east of the present home site. The old house, now used for storage purposes, is still standing and may be seen behind the trees at right in the photograph.

The late Clarence Maroney, father of Paul Maroney, was the carpenter contractor and took special pride in the fancy woodwork with which the interior is finished, a style which was "the latest word" at the time. The fine old woodwork is still in excellent condition. A man named Grant was in charge of the bricklaying work, according to Mrs. Hutzler's recollections.

Active in the work of St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church through the years, the late Mrs. Niehaus served as president of the former Ladies' Aid Society of the church.

Both sons sang in the church choir and Julius later became a concert soloist and voice teacher. Paul F. "Jerry" has sung in St. Paul's church choir for almost 50 years, and has served as choir director for more than 25 years.

The story is told that one time while "Jerry" was attending choir rehearsal at the church here, his horse and buggy had disappeared when he was ready to return home. It was later found that the horse had become untied, and, evidently tired of waiting, had trotted back to the farm by himself, pulling the empty buggy along with him.

Niehaus, now an assistant cashier at Chelsea State Bank, is a charter member of the Kiwanis club of Chelsea and is active in many community affairs.

Earlier history of the Reichert farm was not immediately available, however, old atlases list a Jonas Freer as the owner of the land in the early 1870's.

Only six people made positive identification of the farm, one of these being Loren Beutler of Ypsilanti.

Others who correctly identified the farm are Allen Broesamle, Anton Nielsen, Dave Pastor, Mrs. Ray Parsons and Judy Woolley.
