

DEMONSTRATION OF COMMUNITY SPIRIT was shown at its finest Saturday afternoon when approximately 100 volunteer Brothers of the Brush members answered a call to paint the 125th Anniversary Celebration Headquarters building, standing shoulder-to-shoulder, the amateur painters completed the job in three minutes nine seconds. Charles "Red" Stocum, construction committee chairman of the celebration said "before I could walk around the building through the swarm of spectators to see how the crews on each of the four sides were progressing, they had finished!"

Porchlight Drive Aids Cancer Fund

Donald Bacon, campaign chairman in this area for the American Cancer Society, and Mrs. John Chaplin, district deputy chairman for the Washtenaw County Chapter of the American Cancer Society have announced plans for a porchlight campaign for contributions in the Chelsea area Saturday evening, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Canvassers will stop only where the porch light is turned on as a signal that the people living in the home wish to make a contribution.

On the cancer committee with Mrs. Chaplin are Mrs. William Collins, Mrs. Raymond Johnson, Mrs. Richard Riemenschneider and Mrs. Walter Schrader, Jr.

Activities of the committee here include overseeing volunteer work of approximately 800 people in service groups, as well as individuals, who make cancer dressings which are available for all cancer patients, regardless of income.

The dressings and a loan closet providing necessary items for patients are housed on the third floor of the Municipal building. Included in the equipment in the loan closet is a hospital bed donated by Donald Bacon.

Other contributions include two robes presented by Mrs. George Meyer.

From Dec. 1, 1958, through April 6, 1959, a total of 2,842 dressings were distributed to cancer patients from the loan closet here.

A loan fund for cancer patients who cannot pay their immediate expenses is also maintained. No interest is charged on these loans.

In observance of Cancer Month (April), a dressings display has been set up in Chelsea State Bank. Material for the display board was donated by merchants and the labor required to prepare the board for its ultimate use was provided by employees of Central Fibre Products Co.

CANCER DRESSINGS made by various Chelsea area volunteer groups, like the VFW members in the above photo, are available to all cancer patients in the community, regardless of income. VFW members who appear in the above photo, from left, are Mrs. Wayne Harvey; Mrs. Ray Franklin who is the VFW Auxiliary president;

Mrs. John Chaplin (standing) district deputy cancer chairman for the Washtenaw County Chapter of the American Cancer Society; Mrs. J. V. Burg, I; Miss Alda Juergens, cancer chairman for the Chelsea VFW Auxiliary; Mrs. Mac Packard and Mrs. Joseph T. Merkel. They were working at the home of Mrs. Chaplin Thursday afternoon.

Headquarters Painted In Record Time by Brothers of the Brush

100 Boosters Volunteer for First Activity

Brothers of the Brush, approximately 100 strong, were lined up on scaffolds on all four sides of the Anniversary Headquarters building ready to start brushing on the natural finish paint when the Chelsea fire truck siren sounded at one o'clock Saturday afternoon. Each painter, working on his assigned portion of the building completed the job in just three minutes and nine seconds.

Roland Spaulding, anniversary celebration chairman, in answer to questions asked by some of the women who were watching the "brushing bee" Saturday said the nice draperies noticeable at the windows of the building, were made by Mrs. Dudley Foster and Mrs. Mary Mitchell, hung on rods furnished and installed by Norbert Merkel Brothers, Inc., and the material (in appropriate)

Mrs. W. C. Boyce Nominated As Michigan 'Mother of Year'

Mrs. Wirt C. Boyce, whose home is on M-92, north of Chelsea, has been named one of 20 candidates for the title "Michigan Mother of Year."

Winner of the State Mother award will be eligible for competition as American Mother of the Year.

Announcement of the national choice from among candidates from all states in the Union as well as the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico, will be made May 5.

Mrs. Boyce was nominated as a candidate for Michigan Mother of the Year by a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Lloyd Boyce of Dexter who said "Loving is the word that best describes her and I just think she's a real good mother."

Mrs. Boyce raised a family of seven children, doing her own housework for the family as well as for farm hands, and also did many farm chores. In addition, the daughter-in-law stated, she still "took time to be helpful, kind and good to family members, friends and neighbors."

These qualities were recognized by doctors who cared for her when she submitted to a major cancer operation several years ago. The doctors have called upon her a number of times to come to the hospital and talk to patients who have had similar operations in order to boost the patients' morale. She has proved to be a source of inspiration and hope to every patient she visited.

Mrs. Boyce is the former Deulah Marshall. She was born at Cambridge, Mich., county, Aug. 13, 1889. Her father, E. S. Marsh, was an undertaker there.

She taught school at the age of 18, continuing until her marriage to Mr. Boyce, Feb. 28, 1912. He died Oct. 7, 1952.

Her family includes four sons, Lloyd, Dexter, A. J. of Plainfield, Wis., at home, and Max who is a lawyer. There were three girls—Mrs. Elaine Martin and Mrs. Shirley Waason of Mason, and the late Mrs. Katrina Gall who died June 17, 1954, leaving six small children.

MRS. WIRT C. BOYCE

There are 22 grandchildren.

Mrs. Boyce has been a member of home economics extension clubs for about 20 years; a member of the Farm Bureau for 15 years; and for many years a member of the Stockbridge Methodist church. She is also a member of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the church.

The woman chosen as Michigan Mother of the Year will be entertained at a luncheon in Detroit, April 30, and will receive an all-expense trip to New York sponsored by the Detroit Central Business District Association.

Funeral Services Set Saturday For Mr. Ray Zor

A very popular local resident, Mr. Ray Zor, who has been a regular visitor at almost every home in our community during the past years, recently passed away.

His remains will lie in state from noon Friday until noon Saturday in the first floor front office of the Municipal building.

All of his friends are asked to pay their respects and to take part in the funeral procession Saturday at 12:00 o'clock.

Teen-Age Road-e-o Set For Saturday

Chelsea Junior Chamber of Commerce is again sponsor of a Teen-Age Safe Driving Road-e-o, the event to take place Saturday, beginning at 1 p.m., on a section of Chandler street. The location is the same one where previous Jaycees road-e-o events have taken place.

The Jaycees are working in co-operation with Charles Lane, Chelsea High school principal, and Robert Taylor, driver education instructor at the high school.

Tests are being given at the high school to anyone interested in entering the road-e-o Teen-agers with qualifying scores on the tests will be eligible to enter competition Saturday.

Prizes will be awarded to the contestants finishing in first, second and third place in Saturday's events which are planned to test driver skill rather than speed.

Winner of first place in Saturday's events will be eligible for state competition set for a later date.

The National Junior Chamber of Commerce and Chrysler Corp. are co-sponsors of the Teen-Age Road-e-o program throughout the United States.

Judges for Saturday's event here are Sgt. Harold Bliss of the Jackson State Police Post; Wash-tenaw Sheriff George Peterson; and William Rich and Elmer Kiser of Chrysler Proving Grounds.

Track Team Wins School's First Victory

In what appears to be the first dual meet victory in the school's track history, the Chelsea thin-blades defeated Saline, 60-49, last Friday night at Tecumseh.

Coach Al Conklin said that because of no accurate records to prove otherwise, and because those connected with athletics at the school can't recall a previous victory, it appears this year's track team will go down in history as providing the school with its first track victory.

In producing the cherished Victory Chelsea won five first places outright and shared two others. The Bulldogs showed good depth as they added seven second places and five thirds.

First-place winners are Fritz Wagner in the shot put; Bob Weiss, Robin Wright and Loren Keezer; Ron Doering in the 100-yd. dash; Pete Flintoft in the mile; and Dalice Ferris in the 200. Don Sexton shared first in the high jump; as did Larry Cattell in the pole vault.

Second places were earned by Loren Keezer, shot put; David McLaughlin, high hurdles; Dalice Ferris, 100-yd. dash; Don Wood, 440; David McLaughlin, low hurdles; Ron Doering, 220; and Larry Cattell, half mile.

Third-place finishers were Gary Dault in both hurdles races; Dave McLaughlin in the shot put; and Robin Wright in the 440.

This Friday night the Bulldogs meet with Dexter at Tecumseh. On next Tuesday they meet with Clinton, also at Tecumseh. (Continued on page seven)

It is the 53rd in the current series of farm photos published weekly in The Standard as "mystery farms" until they are identified by our readers. Call The Standard office, GR 5-3581, at once if you know whose farm it is and where it is located. A mounted photo of the farm will be presented to the owner if he calls at The Standard office by Saturday.

The Student Council of CHS has announced that the 1959-60 Student Council elections are well underway.

Two students from the sophomore and junior classes are eligible to run for presidency and vice-presidency. Elections by ballot will be held on May 13.

The Student Council has agreed to turn its plan of buying a popcorn machine for the school, over to the seniors. They will also buy the aerial photograph of the new school that the Council had previously planned to buy.

The assembly entitled "The Musical Man" was shown by the council on April 14.

The Civil Defense movie which was shown for the students in CHS may prove very beneficial in the future. It showed the different warning signals and what one should do if a tornado is sighted in the area.

Instructions were given on where to go and what to do for protection.

The Journalism club met Wednesday, April 15 during activity period. They decided to give a dinner for the members of the club on April 28. They also decided to have a dance. There has not been a date set for it yet. They discussed holding it in the Junior High's gym but they haven't made any definite plans.

Home Economics I has been sewing. Following sewing they will have a short unit on cooking.

Home Economics II girls have been cooking and baking. In a few weeks they will begin cooking complete dinners and foreign foods.

Home Economics III girls have been sewing since their arrival at the new school. Before too long they too will be cooking and doing a short unit on buying kitchen equipment.

The only movie shown last week was one concerning "How Automobiles Run." It was shown to the driver education students and also to physics students on Wednesday.

FHA has a busy schedule from now until the end of the school year. April 27 has been set aside by the girls to travel to Mani-chester for a fun night. A picnic is being planned in honor of the senior girls, to be held May 16 at Silver Lake, beginning at 4 p.m. Many of the girls have done some saving either in home economics or at home getting ready for the style show which was held April 21 at 7:30.

Two of Chelsea's Band students turned second division ratings in the State Solo and Ensemble contest. They are Carol Cameron, a bass clarinet player and Judy Grove, a clarinet player.

The Juniors had a trip club meeting on April 13, and discussed entering a float in the Centennial Parade in July. Also an Executive committee was picked to approve different money-raising projects in the summer.

Student Council elections are well underway. Those contending for the presidency are Roger Herman, Junior, and sophomores Ed Brown and Ruth Prentice. Candidates for vice-president are Junior Victor Blechaczky and sophomores Susie Eisenbeiser and Daryl Keizer.

The student handbook project that the council had investigated was removed from the planning board because of lack of funds. The sophomore car wash from 10 to 5 on May 25 was approved.

Earl Heller, Polly Willis, and Dave Rowe are on a committee to investigate possible noon hour activities.

Sophomores have been busy with petitions for Student Council officers, having nominated Ruth Prentice and Eddie Brown for president and Sue Eisenbeiser and Daryl Keizer for vice-president.

In geometry they are studying loci of points. World history students are learning about Germany under Hitler.

The Girls' Athletic Association has been busy carrying out the plans for sponge week. Monday was skit day and also show night. Tuesday was designated as the day when school colors were to be worn; the girls carried the boys' books between classes all day. Wednesday the girls took the boys' lunch tickets and served them their lunches; Thursday everyone wore colors planned to clash. Friday (tomorrow) dress-up clothes are to be worn to school. In the evening will be a sock hop in the cafeteria. Prizes will be awarded to the girls and boys with the most original and cutest decorated socks. After much planning, the girls hope to have pleased and entertained most people.

Mrs. Carl Schweiger and Mrs. Arthur White, latest to join the school library volunteers, will serve in the North Elementary school. They are in charge when students come to the library to borrow books. They also file cards and arrange books on the shelves. Their help is very much appreciated.

Glenn Schiller and Lynn Adams are also new to the library staff. Both are eighth graders, and both work as junior high librarians. Glenn works first hour and Lynn works fourth. Their assistance, too, is very much appreciated.

Newsprint Manufacturers Undertake Research To Improve Uses of Papers

There are few human achievements, and probably none that must be repeated on a prescribed and inflexible schedule, that represent more thought, longer hours of effort or a higher sense of dedication than the newspaper.

The fact that we still have newspapers after a couple of centuries of publication, suggests that they are still holding their own with the forms of public information (and distraction) that have grown up in the meantime—magazines of every sort, radio and television.

But now comes a major and unprecedented research project to chart a course for increasing service to readers and effectiveness for advertisers into the future. This study is to be undertaken by the Newsprint Information Committee, a group of six leading newsprint manufacturers, and will be conducted by one of the nation's outstanding universities, yet to be named. The committee will have the counsel and advice of the American Newspaper Publishers Association and the procedures and techniques to be employed in this work will be reviewed by the Advertising Research Foundation.

"Research such as that being undertaken," says Chairman Douglas W. Ambrose of the committee, "will benefit newspapers, suppliers and advertisers alike by providing important clues on the best use of newspapers as a medium for maximum results."

We think this study should be of equal importance to newspaper readers. Through the years the American people have depended on their newspapers not only for the latest news of their world, their nation and their community, but also for news of available goods and services. Through their newspapers businessmen and housewives (who read of their own volition) may do comparative shopping in comfort, and in these printed pages examine at leisure the claims of competing products and service institutions. And it will be apparent to all that the stimulus of such advertising to business at large benefits all of us.

Certainly any effort that produces new ideas and fresh understanding that can give this newspaper still greater usefulness in the area it serves will be applauded and its findings gratefully received—not only by the publishers, but by the readers as well. And we are sure that every newspaperman, who understands the abiding determination to "do it better" is the cornerstone of the fabulous American free enterprise system, will say the same.

We commend the Newsprint Information Committee for its public spirit and wish it well in this significant undertaking.

Report On Tibet

★ MICHIGAN MIRROR ★

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Gov. Williams is erecting the biggest political question mark in Michigan history.

He is swinging into the shank of his sixth consecutive term with more partisan enemies than at any time since he first became chief executive in 1940.

Republicans are making capital of the near bankrupt state of the treasury and are continuing their drumbeat over his link to labor leaders.

No one expects Williams to try for a seventh term as governor; his bid for the presidency, a hot and cold prediction for years, is almost a certainty.

Williams himself is silent on the subject except for general statements about everybody wanting to be president.

On a world tour, Mrs. Williams told reporters in Tokyo her husband "has had enough" and wouldn't try for governor again.

Williams foisted surprise. Now comes the report that the state's top Democratic leaders are taking deep soundings in the national political earth to see what Williams' prospects will be in 1960.

So far, the national polls have barely mentioned Williams. National publicity about Michigan's near bankruptcy after 10 years with Williams at the helm has damaged his chances, a point that he is trying to correct in out-of-state speeches.

One writer pointed out the irony. Williams tells national audiences that Michigan is economically healthy, that it is only a matter of time before the state regains its position lost temporarily during the "national recession."

Michigan audiences hear the other side of the coin: That only alert economy by the administration is preventing bankruptcy in the face of a stubborn Republican legislature which refuses to pass an adequate tax program.

Reports indicate that Democratic strategists are preparing to launch Williams' 1960 bid in one of two—presidential preference primaries, including Wisconsin.

They are surveying the strengths and weaknesses of his potential rivals, including Senator John Kennedy, of Massachusetts. Williams is accepting speaking invitations around the country to explain his position on various national and international subjects. These trips make frequent targets for GOP criticism, but the Governor ignores the remarks.

Economy is the order of the day in state government, now more than ever. James W. Miller, the state controller, has ordered all trips out of the state screened, several publications suspended or modified and all expenditures reduced.

Two high officials attended meetings in New York and paid their own expenses. A controversial highway department magazine for employees, "The Hy-Lighter," was suspended. Others have been using a less expensive printing process recently.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

My experience with driving a automobile ain't too wide on account of there's too many things to go wrong with a car for a thinking man to fool with very long. If the battery ain't dead a tire is flat or the license is due or the gas tank is empty or a hen is setting in the back seat and a fellow don't want to disturb her. And I been around long enough to know driving a car ain't no sign you own it, you may be just renting it from the finance company. But I know more about cars than them automobile associations—that is advocating a law requiring anybody who hits a "unattended vehicle" to leave a written note giving his name and address.

If a woman backs her car out from the curb on a crowded Saturday afternoon, and knocks the paint off the side of the car parked to her right and the car parked to her left and maybe off the back end of the car on the opposite side of the street, this new law would require her to write three notes with her name and address and leave 'em in three cars.

If I had a car and it was scratched by a woman backing her car out, I would appreciate it if she would just keep on driving. As sure as thunder if she tries to get back into her parking space, to write me a note she done it, she'll take off more paint and smash more fenders going back in and coming back out, doing three times as much damage as she would've done afore they passed the law.

I say when a woman with two or three kids in the front and back seat and a cigarette needing the ashes flicked gets her car started and out in the middle of the street, regardless of how many fenders she took with her, the thing that's needed for peace and tranquility is to keep her going and get her home as quick as possible without stopping to write no notes.

If I backed out and dented somebody's car, I know enough about human nature to know leaving him a note ain't going to pacify him. He's going to be as mad as a wet hen in just one direction but if he don't know who done it he'll scatter his anger if all directions at the human race in general. A note would just make him concentrate on me and he'd brood over it for months, and you know blamed well I ain't gonna pay him nothing on account of his car being parked at the wrong angle in the first place.

If they start that note-writing propaganda around here, Mister Editor, you give 'em the benefit of your editorial enlightenment on the subject.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

★ She Paid for It . . .

A young lady I know came down with whooping cough some time ago, much to the surprise of her mother, who felt sure the girl had been immunized a number of years before. Finally the truth came out: on the day that the doctor came to school to inoculate the pupils, a frightened little girl hid in the furnace room until the awe-inspiring ambassador of preventive medicine had packed his needles into his little black bag and gone back to the office. Nobody noticed her absence, so she paid for her shot without getting it.

How many of us miss some of life's richest experiences because we are hiding when opportunity knocks? I was talking last week with a young man who has completed his service in the armed forces, and who would now like to learn one of the skilled trades.

"I could be in trade school right now," he said, "except that I never took algebra and geometry in high school."

This young man's hard luck is a small but typical part of the national weakness that has been revealed by the Sputnik situation. Like too many others, he paid for his education without getting it. It is because so many pupils have been sliding through general math instead of tackling algebra that our country is behind Russia in the mathematics of missiles.

Doesn't anybody love education any more?

Do we have any teachers who take a mathematics course just for the fun of it, even though it isn't required for a certificate? Do we have any parents who read up on a subject just because they want to learn something about something?

Our basic trouble is that the average American thinks of education as a necessary evil—to be passed through as quickly as possible in order to reach some desirable goal beyond it. It doesn't seem to occur to us that education is desirable for its own sake.

To step up the teaching of mathematics because of the immediate threat of intercontinental missiles is no cure for our basic malady. That would be just another example of passing through a necessary evil (mathematics) in order to attain a goal (security). If we study only what will increase our military might, we are no better than the Russians.

Bob Augustine has this motto hanging in his workshop: "We do grow so soon old and so late schmart?" In other words, why don't we get an education while the getting is good? Whether we get it or not, we pay for it.

MYSTERY FARM NO. 52, shown in the above photo, originally published in the April 16 issue of The Standard, is the farm home of Leo Juergens and his sister, Alda Juergens. It has been their home since 1926 when they moved here from Dearborn with their parents and other members of the family. Their parents, Joseph and Rosa Juergens, and two of the family of 13 children are now deceased.

Juergens Farm on US-12 near Freer Road Shown as Last Week's Mystery Farm

Immediately identified by many people of the community was the photo of the Juergens farm at 12085 US-12, published in the April 16 issue of The Standard. Alda Juergens and her brother, Leo Juergens, now live there alone but at one time it was the home of their parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Juergens, and 11 of their 13 children. The two older sons, John and the late Lambert, had both made their home in Detroit before the family moved here from Dearborn in 1926.

The family had lived for many years on a farm at Joy and Hubbell roads in Greenfield township, now a part of Detroit. After selling that farm they lived in Dearborn for two years before moving to the present farm home.

Another of the Juergens' sons, Raymond, died in 1942; the mother died in 1946; Lambert, of Detroit, died in 1948; and the father, Joseph Juergens, Sr., died in 1957.

Others in the family, in addition to Alda and Leo who still live in the farm home, include two daughters who are nuns and serve as teachers in Detroit parochial schools. They are Sister Leonardine, O.P., and Sister Lambert, O.P.

Remaining members of the family are Joseph Juergens, Jr., of Seattle, Wash.; Mrs. Joseph Honeck of near Ann Arbor; Anthony Juergens, who is employed at Central Fibre Products; Alfred Juergens, employed at Hoover Ball & Bearing Co., Ann Arbor; Leonard, also employed at Central Fibre Products; and Albert Juergens, who lives at Marshall and is employed at the Post cereal plant at Battle Creek.

Leo Juergens, who works the 123-acre farm, specializes in cattle and hogs, in addition to his general farming.

The farm that has been the family home for 33 years is now for sale to settle the parents' estate.

Notations of ownership of the farm through the past 128 years indicate that the present farm acreage combines early government-deeded property of more than one owner, the first one listed being John S. Comstock, dated May 1, 1831. The other, dated 1836, was listed as "United States to Peter Van Alstyne and John J. Van Valkenburgh."

Under the 1831 listing are the following owners' names, in addition to John S. Comstock: Jeremiah Bennett, May, 1835; Harmon Gregory, 1836; Hiram Ward, 1841; William R. and Della Strieter and Charlotte E. Arnold, all in 1841; Abram and Charlotte Arnold and Olive and Alonzo Ward, 1843; Joshua and Mary Haire and Uriah Betts, 1847; Gabriel Freer, 1851; Ira and Elizabeth Freer, 1855; Alpha Freer, 1858; Almira Freer, 1862; Gottfried Eisenman, 1862; Godfrey and Anna Maria Eisenman, 1864; and Alva Freer, 1864.

Under the Peter Van Alstyne and John J. Van Valkenburgh listing are George Reeves, July 9, 1836; George and Martha Eliza Reeves and Jonas Freer, 1837; George Freer, 1854; Embree Bullard, 1859; Samuel Jewett, 1865; and Alva Freer, 1865.

In 1881 Orrin C. Burkhardt became the owner of the farm and it was in his name until 1912. The Orrin Burkhardts were the parents of Cora Burkhardt, now Mrs. Elmer Winans, and Ethel Burkhardt, wife of Dr. E. E. Koebbe of Columbus, Neb.

In 1912, Orrin Burkhardt's cousin, Munson Burkhardt, bought the farm and he had the old house moved back for storage use and built the present 10-room house.

The Munson Burkhardts had one daughter, Olive, who now is Mrs. Glen Wiseman, of Guelph, Ont.

It was Munson Burkhardt who sold the farm to Mr. and Mrs. Juergens in 1926, reserving some acreage at the west end where he built a new brick home for his family. He later sold part of the corner at Fletcher road to Homer Brown, who built a store and gas station there which he operated for several years.

The Grant Schooleys later acquired the Brown property and operated the Marilyn Inn and tourist cabins there until they disposed of the inn to Stivers. The Schooleys still operate the motel.

First to call in the correct identification of the Juergens farm was Arthur Paul, followed by Allen Broesamle, Anton Nielsen, Mrs. Gerald Luick and David Pas-tor.

Others who telephoned The Standard office to identify the farm are Alda Juergens, Mrs. Bernard Herrat, Mrs. Ella Gross, Mrs. Alfred Juergens, Leo Juergens, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kuhl, Sharon Bollinger, Keith Kleis, Mrs. Walter Beutler and Mrs. Anna Reichert.

Van Rippers Receive Birth Announcement from Friends On Far-Away Okinawa

Mr. and Mrs. William Van Riper recently received announcement of the birth of a daughter, Feb. 9, at Okinawa, to Mr. and Mrs. Zalko Koja. Van Riper met the father of the new baby while he was serving with the United States forces during the war and Koja visited at the Van Riper home here after his arrival in Michigan last fall to enroll at Michigan State University on a scholarship. His wife remained at home.

Koja told the Van Rippers that the baby has been named Meriko, honoring America because Americans provided the opportunity for him to attend the state university, an opportunity for which he "will always be grateful."

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Magic—
Easy Does It

Little Pinky Roberts was so fond of her two baby rabbits Easy didn't have the heart to tell her they had run away.

"Just had to replace those rabbits before Pinky came home from school," Easy said. "Trouble was the only two available were full grown."

"I figured they'd have to do," he went on, "so I just hoped for the best. Then, when Pinky saw the rabbits she ran into the house, yelling, 'Wait! I see my rabbits! Those vitamins made them twice as big!'"

From where I sit, children see things as they'd "like them to be," but adults ought to see things as they are. For instance, we can't close our eyes to intolerance and call ourselves "good neighbors." If I don't respect your choice of tea or coffee and you don't respect mine for beer, that's intolerance and no excuses. On the other hand, tolerance makes good friends "multiply."

From NICK PRAKKEN, Manager

From time to time we read of a house having been destroyed by fire or a life endangered or lost because a party line user failed to give up the line so that another party on his line could report the emergency. Under the Michigan State Law this is a misdemeanor and punishable as such. Likewise, it is UNLAWFUL to say a call is an emergency when it is not. Be a good neighbor and help on these urgent fire and doctor calls. You will be glad you did.

High School Dedicated in Special Sunday Ceremonies

Among those present for the impressive dedication ceremonies at Chelsea High school Sunday afternoon were two former superintendents—E. L. Clark of Mount Morris who served in that capacity from 1921 until 1932, and Albert Johnson, now superintendent of Willow Run schools, who was Chelsea superintendent from 1938 until accepting his present post in 1952.

Other platform guests included Dorr Whitaker and William Kolb, former school board members during the time plans were in progress for the new high school.

William Jarratt, representing Minora Yamasaki and Associates, architects for the new buildings, made the formal presentation and Dr. J. V. Fisher, president of the Board of Education, accepted on behalf of the Chelsea School District. (The architect's firm name was changed recently from Yamasaki, Leinweber and Associates.)

Charles Lane accepted for the high school and David Rowe, Student Council president, accepted on behalf of the students.

Introduced also, by the present school superintendent, Charles Cameron, were Richard Wood, field superintendent for Minora Yamasaki and Associates; Charles Lane, Chelsea High school principal; Arthur Schmuck, elementary schools principal; Mrs. Florence Howlett, a graduate of Chelsea High school and the oldest former teacher in the local school system; Orion Webster, superintendent, and G. M. North, Jr., and Ratcliffe North of North Construction Co., the general contractors; Glen Dunbar, representing the mechanical contractors; and Loren Turner, the electrical contractor.

Also introduced were Eugene Fisher and Clay Langston, advisors to the board who were on the architects and buildings committee; Carl Chandler, Mrs. Russell Bernhart, Stuart, Rocker and Walter Leonard, chairmen of the curriculum, fact-finding, finance and publicity citizen's committees, respectively.

Duane Rowe, president of the Chelsea Alumni Association, was another special guest introduced. Representing the four high school grades were Don Wood and Sue Patrick, seniors; Jane McLaughlin and James Collins, juniors; Jerry Ringe and Kay Rungel, sophomores; and Nancy McCalla and Richard Halst, freshmen.

The dedication ceremony was carried out as previously announced, with Gorton Riettmiller, president of Olivet College, as the dedication speaker. He was introduced by Donald Bacon.

Superintendent Cameron expressing appreciation for the cooperation of everyone concerned in making the dedication a memorable occasion, said it was a "thrilling experience to have been superintendent during the time the new high school was planned, built and dedicated."

Board of Education members in addition to Dr. Fisher, are Earl Beaman, treasurer; Howard Flintoff, secretary; Dudley Holmes and Leon Marsh, trustees.

Painting Bee . . .

stagecoach imprinted design) was furnished by Miss Helen Vogel of Vogel's Store who was responsible for starting the whole drapery project by deciding the windows of the building looked bare without draperies.

Spaulding continued by explaining to those who noticed the new, brightly painted, arrow-shaped sign pointing to the headquarters building, "It didn't just grow there. The arrow was cut out by Fritz Belser of Associated Builders; brackets were made by Al Brown (Brown's Welding); the sign was sanded and sprayed three coats by William Wilkerson (Chelsea Body Shop); lettered by Chelsea's sign painter, Tom Tucci; and hung by Homer Nixon, superintendent of Chelsea's Electric and Water Department."

The draperies and the sign are almost minor details to the casual observer. Spaulding continued, "but the story behind them is very gratifying and truly symbolic of the willingness and thoughtfulness of our friends and neighbors."

CHS Baseball Team Defeats Manchester

The Chelsea Bulldogs baseball team nipped the Manchester Dutchmen 2-1 last Friday at Manchester. The Bulldogs were unable to get to the fine pitching of Bud England for a single hit until the seventh inning when Ken Larson let off by bouncing back to England and moving all the way to second on the throwing error to first.

Don Blalock then got the first Chelsea hit of the afternoon, scoring Larry Kramer who was running for Larson. George Wilson then walked, Matt Murphy was safe on a fielder's choice when Blalock was thrown out at third, and Mike Marsh then followed with a sharp single through the middle to score Wilson.

This ended the scoring and proved to be enough as the Dutchmen were unable to score in their half of the seventh.

Homer Nixon, doing the pitching while brother Alton handled the catching, held the Manchester batsmen check, allowing them to score only once, while scattering six hits and walking but one man.

Meanwhile, his teammates were handling 22 fielding chances and committed only two errors.

Totals for the game: Manchester, 1 run on 6 hits, with 2 errors; Chelsea, 2 runs, on 2 hits, with 2 errors.

Tuesday, April 21—

Saline 5, Chelsea 4

Totals: Saline, 5 runs on 4 hits, with 2 errors; Chelsea, 4 runs on 3 hits, with 6 errors.

Thursday, April 16—

Roosevelt 8, Chelsea 0

Totals for the game: Roosevelt, 8 runs, on 6 hits, with 0 errors; Chelsea, 0 runs, on 0 hits, with 9 errors.

DEATHS

H. Allan Greenwood
Korean Veteran Killed
Friday in Auto Crash

H. Allan Greenwood of 4501 Jackson avenue, Ann Arbor, a former Chelsea resident and a veteran of the Korean conflict, lost his life shortly after midnight Thursday, when the car he was driving went out of control and smashed head-on into a tree on Jackson avenue, Ann Arbor. Cause of death was listed as a fractured skull and internal injuries.

Investigation of the accident later resulted in the theory that the crash probably involved an eye condition stemming from "flashback" burns suffered recently in his occupation as a welder.

It was pointed out that such injuries can cause follow up muscle spasms, with the eyes closing because of severe pain.

Greenwood was alone in his car at the time of the accident. He was returning after driving some friends home after they had spent the evening at the Greenwood home.

Funeral services for Mr. Greenwood were held at 1 p.m. Saturday at the Muehlhig Chapel in Ann Arbor, with the Rev. Bert McNally of Harbor Springs officiating.

Burial took place in Washnong Memorial Park, Ann Arbor.

Mr. Greenwood was born in Bedford, Ky., on July 26, 1932, the son of Harold and Ann Alexander Greenwood. He had lived in the Ann Arbor-Chelsea area for the past 12 years, moving here from Kentucky.

Brothers of the Brush Should
All Complete, File Charters

The Board of Governors of the Brothers of the Brush held their first meeting Wednesday night at the High School cafeteria.

A list of completely formed chapters was read by Ron Eder, co-chairman of the Brothers of the Brush committee, who also stressed the urgent need for the balance of the chapters to promptly fill out their charter, decide on an appropriate charter name and elect their officers and Board of Governors representative.

It is very important and necessary that chapter organization be completed so all Brothers of the Brush will be able to receive word of all scheduled activities with the least possible delay and to also be able to have their individual ideas for future activities taken directly to the Board of Governors for prompt action.

Plans for a ball game trip May 6 were discussed and each chapter was asked to make their arrangements for tickets for their members who would be able to go and to notify Ron Eder or George Winchester Monday night (April 27) at the anniversary headquarters. A prompt and accurate count is necessary to enable the committee to purchase tickets and arrange for transportation in advance.

The scheduled "burial of the razor" for this coming Saturday was discussed. All chapters were asked to turn out in full strength to mourn the passing of Mr. Ray Zor. The razor referred to is life size and will lie in state in the first floor front office of the Municipal Building from noon Friday until noon Saturday at which time it will be removed to its final resting place, escorted by the entire available membership of the Brothers of the Brush.

A motion by Robert Devine, Big Brush of the Bearded Knights, was passed that no flowers be sent but that a memorial fund container would be in the room for those who wished to show their respect and that the money collected in this fund be spent for an outing of some kind for the Junior Brothers of the Brush.

It is hoped that the Brothers will think of the razor blade money they are not spending when they pass this container.

Industry's Vital Community
Role Pointed out to C. of C.

Matthew L. Bruce of Consumers Power Co., Jackson, speaking at the Chamber of Commerce meeting Tuesday evening, stressed the vital importance of industries in a community. Topic of his talk here was "Industry—Our Friend."

Citing the phenomenal growth of population in Michigan in the past 10 years he predicted that the state's population in 1970 will be 10,483,000, an increase of 64.5 per cent over the 1950 figure of 6,372,000.

Industrial development is the only answer for providing work for present and proposed population and for those people who will be leaving farms and entering the work force, Bruce stated.

Industrial development is also the principal means by which to broaden the tax base; help to provide for more and better schools for the increased population; improve cultural and recreational "climate" for the community; and, extremely important, provide a means to hold and keep the young people in the community instead of having them leave to find jobs in other places.

Bruce quoted figures compiled by the United States Chamber of Commerce showing how industrial expansion is beneficial to a community.

The figures indicate that for each 100 new factory workers, four more retail establishments will be needed.

The additional retail establishments will add still more workers; bank deposits will increase approximately $270,000; there will be $360,000 more retail sales per year; and, finally, $500,000 more personal income per year.

Fundamental philosophy of a community must be right, Bruce said, if industries are to choose to locate there. Special inducements of various kinds might be an added attraction for new industries but "community climate" must include many other factors. He mentioned, in this respect, recreational, educational and cultural facilities available for the promotion of employee satisfaction; attitudes of industry already located in the community; adequate utilities, accommodations, transportation and supply sources; operating costs compatible with reasonable distribution costs to and progress; and whether citizens take pride in their homes, schools and the town, itself.

Bruce concluded by saying that experience has proved that the factors mentioned are important considerations to any industry.

Since it is a fact that communities all over the country are in keen competition for industrial expansion in the interest of increasing pay rolls, increased purchasing power, prosperity and a balanced economy, it would be wise to strive for the kind of "community climate" industry finds favorable. Having established such a favorable "community climate," Bruce advised that the fact then be widely advertised.

Representatives of all local industries had been invited as special guests at the meeting, which was designated as a "salute to industry."
