Clean-Up, Paint-Up Week Set

Village President Donald Alber has announced that the week of May 18-23 has been designated as "Clean-Up and Paint-Up Week" in Chelsea.

In order to facilitate disposal of refuse such as leaves, grass, branches, etc., not suitable for pick-up in the weekly rubbish collection, village trucks will make a special pick-up Friday, May 22. Beginning Monday night, May 18, firemen will sweep the streets in the downtown area.

All streets of the village will be swept on succeeding nights during the clean-up week and cars should be moved to off-street parking if at all possible. Doing the sweeping at night helps to eliminate dust.

President Alber requests the cooperation of all residents for the "Paint-Up and Clean-Up" project.

D. Ferguson Wins Regent Alumni U-M Scholarship

Donald L. Ferguson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ferguson, 12075 Island Lake road, has been named as one of 613 Michigan high school graduating seniors who have been awarded Regents-Alumni scholarships at the University of Michigan. He is a member of the 1959 class at Chelsea High School. Ferguson's scholarship is for enrollment in the College of Engineering.

These scholarships carry a stipend equivalent to semester fees for the 1959-60 freshman year and are renewable for the normal length of the undergraduate degree program in which the student enrolls, provided his academic record justifies renewal.

The scholarship awards are granted by the Committee on University Scholarships with the assistance and advice of University alumni and alumnae and high school principals and teachers in the applicants' home communities.

Anniversary Group Needs Horse, Buggy

The 125th Anniversary Committee is looking for a horse and buggy or surrey to be used as the official horse-drawn transportation for visiting dignitaries and others during the celebration.

Anyone who has such a vehicle and/or a driving horse is asked to call Roland Spaulding at once.

Beginning this week and continuing through the nine Fridays before final week of the anniversary celebration, July 11-18, each Friday night will be designated as "dress-up" night when everyone will be expected to wear their special anniversary costumes.

Features of interest are being planned for each of the nine Friday evenings and will include specially invited out-of-town guests.

There is still time for residents of the community to send in their entries in the contest to select a name for the week's program of pageants.

The person who submits the name selected by the judges as the title for the program spectacle will be entitled to have his family group sit for an old-time family photograph. The photograph will be given him as a prize.

Deadline for the pageant naming contest is Friday, May 22. Entries should be mailed to Anniversary Headquarters.

PTA Penny Carnival Set Friday Night

Fun for everyone will be provided by the Penny Carnival to be held at the PTA building, 1000 Main street, starting at 5:30 at the PTA building.

Under the general chairmanship of Mrs. Philip Rusten and Mrs. Wes Howes of the PTA Executive Board, room mothers from kindergarten classes through the senior high classes have planned this night of entertainment.

A complete menu will be served at the food booth under the direction of Mrs. Elmer Lindow and Mrs. Duane Weiss. The popular "take away" will be played as well as fishing, ping pong, games, huckle buck, bowling, canning toys, dart and balloon games. There will be booths of comics, clowns, and other entertainers. Baked goods will be sold as well as popcorn, candy, pop, and ice cream in addition to the food booth.

Centennial bonnets, dresses, hats and hats will add to the deflated carnival spirit of this PTA night of fun.

A free ticket for the carnival door prize will be given to each Chelsea school student on May 13. This ticket is to be deposited at the time the student arrives at the carnival entrance. The number of the winner of the door prize will be announced in the May 21 Chelsea Standard under the "Know Your PTA" column.

A baby sitter service will be conducted in the basement Sunday school room of St. Barnabas Episcopal Mission, adjacent to the PTA building.

Miss Webb of the Chelsea High School Future Teachers club will be in charge of junior and senior high school girls who will take care of small children for a nominal charge.

Young Couple Missing Since Friday Night

Clement Scherdt, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Scherdt, and Judith Ann Fite, 15 years old, whose parents are the Paul Fites of Old US-12, East, were reported missing Saturday morning. They were last seen in downtown Chelsea Friday evening and efforts to learn their whereabouts since then have been unsuccessful.

Scherdt's mother yesterday appealed to anyone who might have given them a lift or who might have information of any kind about their whereabouts to contact the police or the family.

State Police, the Sheriff's Department and Chelsea police were notified and descriptions of the two young people were broadcast. Both are known to have taken extra clothes when they left their homes.

They were together when they were last seen. Scherdt was wearing a red plaid shirt and the girl was wearing a red and green plaid skirt, a red blouse and grey coat.

Scherdt's mother said he had more than $400 with him since a check at the bank revealed he had not deposited money which he received for wheat he sold last week.

Poppy Sale Scheduled for Friday, May 22

Plans are being completed by veterans organizations of Chelsea for the annual American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars Poppy Day, scheduled to be held here Friday, May 22, from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m.

The VFW poppy is known as the "Buddy Poppy" and the slogan used is "We honor the dead by helping the living."

The American Legion poppy is a crepe paper replica of the flower that grows profusely in France where many World War I veterans are buried.

The region stresses the fact that Poppy Day has one outstanding purpose—to honor the nation's war dead by wearing a memorial poppy.

Both organizations use the proceeds of the poppy sales for their rehabilitation work.

Band Members spent an enjoyable day away from school, Wednesday, May 1. The band presented a concert at Manchester High school. The program included soloist Carol Cameron on her bass clarinet and the Dixieland Combo. Senior Bob Smith went along as announcer. After a pleasant sack lunch in Manchester's park the band traveled to Merewood. They were most graciously received with potato chips and coke, and invited into the social room to dance, play ping-pong, checkers and pool for an enjoyable half-hour. They then presented their concert on the front lawn to a group of amiable patients.

The Sophomores are sponsoring a car wash May 23. Cars will be washed from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

They have been discussing having an FTA class next year. The members of the class will visit other classes to see how they are run, and to do possible substitute work.

The senior chorus assisted in the high school dedication when they sang "Bless This House" and "Almighty God of Our Fathers," while wearing their new robes for the first time. The robes are effervescent in tinge, mainly colonial blue, with reversible stoles, one side of which is white and the other gold. The chorus is also proud to have new risers in three tiers, purchased by the school and very much appreciated.

On Wednesday, April 22, the chorus attended a Kalamazoo music festival along with 1,200 other high school chorus members, practicing in the morning and presenting an evening concert.

On May 1 the chorus gave two programs, the first being an assembly for grades 7 through 12 with both junior and senior choirs participating, and the second being an evening concert for the general public. At this time the Interlochen scholarships were presented.

U-M Honors Convocation Held Last Friday

The University of Michigan recognized 750 undergraduate students for outstanding scholastic achievement at the 86th annual Honors Convocation at 11 a. m. Friday in Hill Auditorium.

The Convocation is second only to Commencement among the University's major academic events.

Among the 750 honored students, 64 were presented as James B. Angell Scholars because they maintained all "A" academic records for two consecutive semesters. Thirty-nine of the Angell Scholars are men, 25 women. The Angell scholarships are named for James Burrill Angell, U-M president from 1871-1908.

Other students received class honors for maintaining a 3.5 average for the past two semesters. ("A" equals four points; "B" equals three). Freshmen class honors are given on the basis of first-semester's grades.

Margaret Clapp (Ph. D.), president of Wellesley College, was the main speaker, her topic being "The Honor Bound."

U-M Vice-President Marvin L. Niehaus presided at the convocation.

Among those attending the convocation were the honor students, including Gerald Kleis and Arthur A. Saxo from Chelsea, their parents, high school teachers, U-M faculty members, and deans of the various schools and colleges.

New Committeeman Named for County Farm Home Administration

Guy H. Paul of 7045 Nollar road, Whitmore Lake has been named as the new committeeman of the Farmers Home Administration Area Committee, Carl L. Robinson, county supervisor, announced this week.

Paul's appointment became effective March 18. The committee on which he will serve determines the eligibility of local farmers who apply for Farmers Home Administration loans.

The new committeeman operates a dairy farm with his father in the Whitmore Lake area. He succeeds Duane Rogers of Saline. The other two members of the committee are LaVerne Coy of Dexter, and Laurel Breitenwischer of Manchester.

Each agricultural county in the United States has a similar committee which is responsible for determining the eligibility of applicants, certifying the value of farms being purchased or improved through Farmers Home Administration loans, and making recommendations on loan approval and loan servicing actions.

The committee works with the local farm operating loans and loan-to-buy, improve, or enlarge efficient family-type farms in this area. They also include loans to farmers on their non-profit associations to establish and carry on approved soil and water conservation practices including improving permanent pastures, soil erosion measures, farmstead water systems, irrigation, drainage, and many other conservation practices. The Farmers Home Administration office serving Washtenaw and Wayne counties is located in Room 17, County Building in Ann Arbor.

We do not usually think of Michigan as a cabbage state, but the volume of this crop raised for sauerkraut was $1,780,000 last year and the state placed third among late states producing "cabbage for processing."

McClellan Committee Has Provided Evidence of Need for 'Good Labor Law'

A very dejected and disappointed Senator McClellan has been quoted as saying with respect to the revelations of his Senate Rackets Committee: "If we don't get a good (labor) law on the basis of the record we have compiled now, Congress wouldn't legislate if we doubled the record."

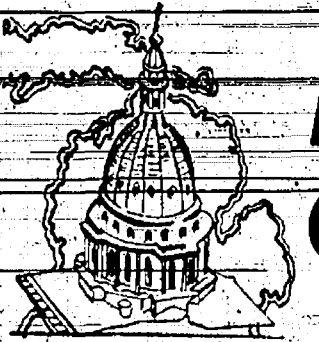

Most Americans, we think, will agree with the Senator that his committee has developed a sufficiently lurid and shocking picture of union thievery, conspiracy, brutality, abuse of members and public alike and general skulduggery to spur the members of that body into effective action.

Instead, and in spite of the 150,000 letters received by the committee from rank and file union members on the evils of labor bossism, the dreary history of 1958 has been repeating itself with slight variations. Last year the Kennedy-Ives "sweetheart" bill was passed by the Senate. This year the Kennedy-Ervin bill, substantially the same flaccid measure, despite the heroic but futile efforts of Senator McClellan to toughen it with an effective "bill-of-rights" amendment, was passed by the Senate. Last year, a disgruntled House defeated the original Senate-passed Kennedy bill, and the best thing that could now happen would be for the current Kennedy measure to meet the same fate so that the House could adopt the Barden bills.

Between them, the Barden measures offer complete protection, including a puncture-proof bill-of-rights for the union member, and the end of secondary boycotts and black-mail picketing, against which management and employees alike are powerless, and to which small business must quickly yield or perish. Deprived of his present license to dictate to members and business alike, the corrupt labor boss will be brought into line.

But the labor dictator is still pulling down temples at will, cuffing around the dues-paying faceless people from whom his strength is derived and thumbing his nose at the public-at-large. He is pretty sure of himself—and pretty sure of Congress. What else, when the protests of 150,000 of his members are unheeded, and when the whole public is shocked at the Fifth Amendment hoodlums paraded before the McClellan Committee—and still members of Congress are dilly-dallying around with soft measures.

Senator McClellan has a right to be dejected. He tried, through bills of his own and his subsequent efforts to amend the Kennedy bill to get "a good law." But millions of frustrated union members and millions of citizens, whose businesses could be shut down tomorrow by secondary boycott or black-mail picketing, have not. At this eleventh hour, we have a right to be angry, and to be frightened. But, until we do something, we have no right to be dejected. If every Representative in the House were to find his desk stacked two feet high with demands for the Barden bills, the vicious of our labor abuses would be ended. It could happen, but will it?

LANSING Observer

Lansing, May 6—In the opinion of most citizens, the two political parties "sank" together without honor during the confusing struggle over Michigan's artificial bankruptcy.

Politicians threw the available life-preservers back at each other so often, they gave the disgraceful impression that statesmanship had disappeared from the Lansing scene.

There need not have been a pay-less paydays. On the evening Gov. Williams pulled the chain on the legislature and announced the state would skip a payroll of $100,000 for judges and lawmakers, he had $177 million dollars in cash in the treasury.

He had $16 million in the General Fund. He had $6.2 million on hand to pay future liquor bills to distillers.

Another $4 million was hidden off the record in the Liquor Control Commission, sent there by saloon and tavern owners for their new licenses which became effective May 1.

The law compels the state to return 85 per cent of this liquor license money to the cities, townships and villages. But it takes at least a month to process the distribution, and sometimes the local governments do not get their shares until June 15.

Gov. Williams, therefore, could have used this hidden $4 million to meet payrolls. He could have dipped into the general fund for several million more.

In addition, the managers of the state's liquor stores throughout Michigan deposit an average of $500,000 daily to the credit of Michigan's bank accounts.

That is $3 million a week. By making distillers wait a little longer for their money and by wriggling like most families when the bills pile up, the state certainly could have met its payrolls for at least a couple of weeks. The defense of the Republican Senators for their refusal to grant Gov. Williams' demand for a mortgage on the Veterans Trust Fund is that a new permanent tax program could be enacted within that two-week period.

That defense exposes the roots of the dangerous struggle under way in Lansing.

Gradually, the public is understanding that the fundamental argument is whether Michigan shall have an income tax or a one-cent increase in the sales tax.

The main objective of Gov. Williams' administration this year is to force a graduated income tax through the legislature.

It is a commitment to the UAW for which the Governor would surrender his green bow tie.

Now this form of taxation is not wrong just because a majority of the state's Republican Senators are against it. It has merit in that it hits the wealthy harder than the low-income family.

But Congress has jumped the Federal rates to oppressive levels for the higher-income groups. There is not much leeway left for more sharing of the wealth under a graduated system.

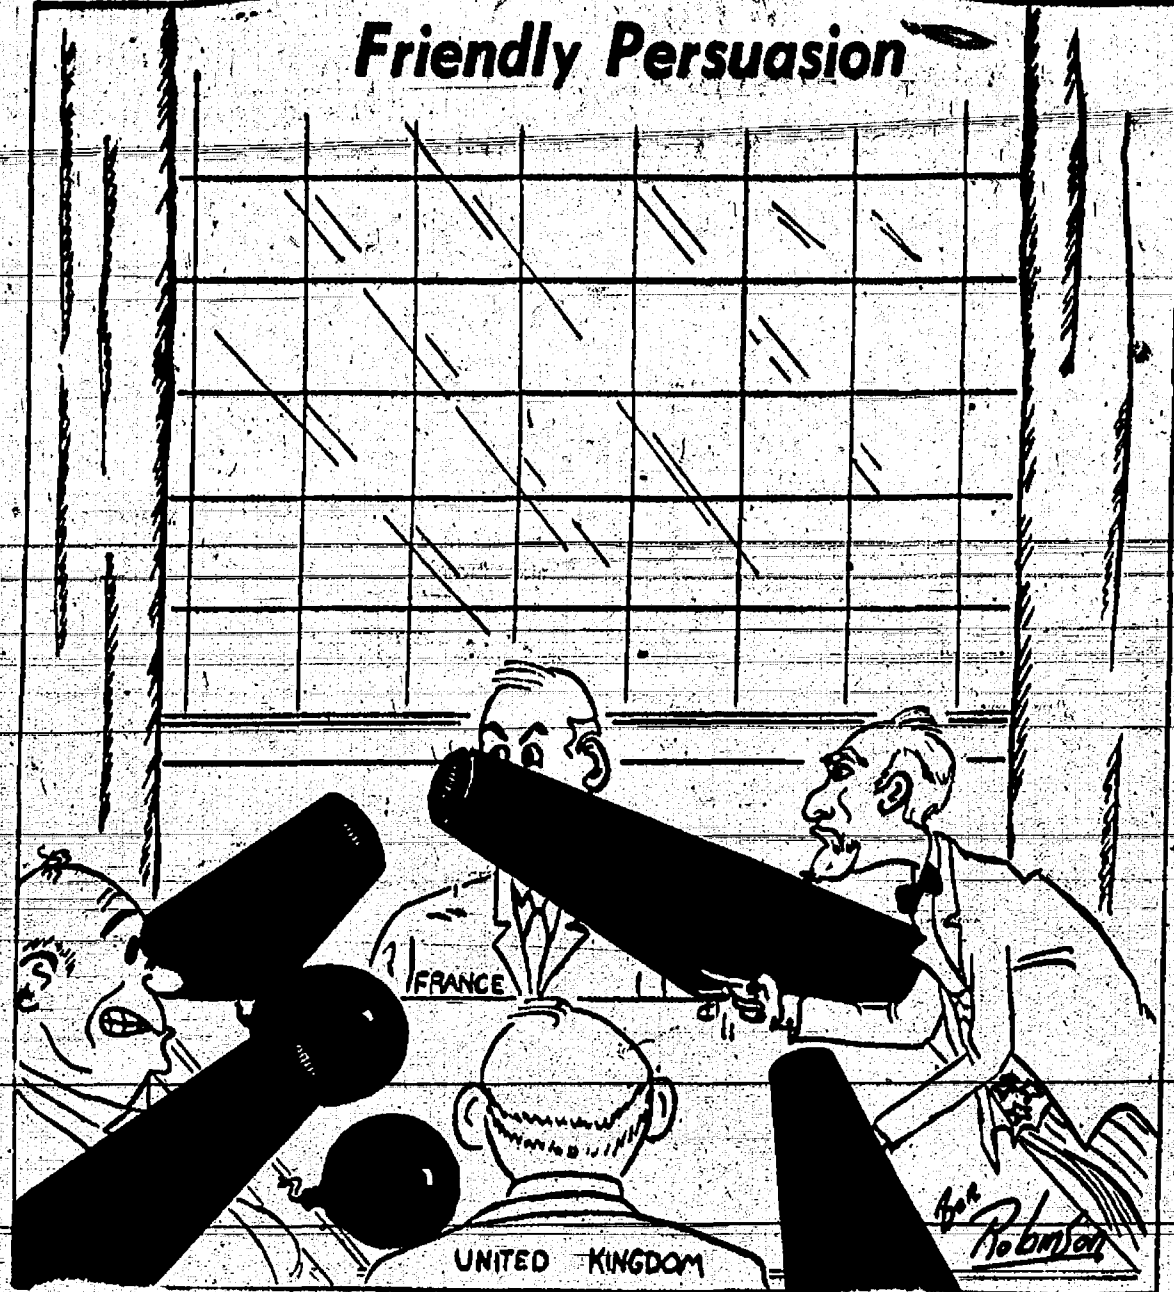

When the legislative session opened last January, nearly all the Senators—Republican and Democrat—expected the ultimate fight would be over the form an income tax would take.

Republicans were organizing a last-ditch stand for a flat rate that would apply to everyone.

Democrats expected that, in the end, they would have to surrender. The Governor was warning labor leaders that a flat rate probably would be the outcome before June 20.

At that point, an amazing development knocked Republicans off their feet.

Hoping to stall an income tax, and at the same time find a permanent solution to the money problem, they half-heartedly proposed a Constitutional Amendment. (Continued on page 8)

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Political leaders are watching the 1959 off-year with odd fascination.

It is an unusual year of jockeying for 1960 position, with the public sentiment ebbing, then blaring. Republicans and Democrats alike hope they are getting the message exclusively.

In the heat of the state's financial problems, both Gov. Williams and Republicans in the legislature are vying for the designation of martyr while trying to tag the opponent with the tar of villainy.

Williams made himself unpopular for a time by asking to use the Veterans' Trust Fund temporarily to bolster the state's finances during a period of emergency.

Democrats refused to provide enough votes to put a sales tax increase on the April 6 ballot, a move Republicans believed was the desire of the voters, if a tax were needed.

Williams' proposal to take the Veterans' Trust Fund was first defeated, then revived by Republicans, who later insisted a use tax, the equivalent of a sales tax increase, be enacted to pay the money back.

By holding back on Williams' plan to use the Trust Fund, the Republicans aided Williams to assume the martyr's role.

Williams, ordering payless paydays, blasted the legislative Republicans. After days of drumfire on the subject, legislators took on martyrdom.

Sentiment is gathering steam for a constitutional convention or, if that fails, reappointment of the legislature because of the conditions of 1959.

Democrats long have contended that the legislature now represents more "area" than people. Republicans answer that all interests, area as well as people, should have a voice.

The fight goes on, but observers are watching 1959, for tips on what they can expect in 1960.

Citizens in more than 500 communities in Michigan will pay tribute to the industries, businesses, farms, services and other activities which provide their livelihood during Michigan Week.

The state was publicized as a poorhouse in the midst of plenty in the nation's leading periodicals so the chore of Michigan Week, May 17-23, will be harder this year. It is the sixth year of the celebration.

Its purpose is to publicize the state as a good place to live and to do business, both on a national scale and among Michigan's own residents. The financial crisis has brought the state much unfavorable publicity and misunderstanding. Residents can minimize this reaction by their display of pride and confidence.

Lawyers gathered at their new state headquarters in Lansing, May 1 to celebrate "Law Day" and inspect the $300,000 building of the State Bar of Michigan.

Chief Justice John R. Detmold, of the Michigan Supreme Court, reiterated the creed that "ours is a civilization of laws, not of men."

May 1 was selected as the day for the annual observance because of that date's significance to the world.

"The vitality of our legal system, so essential to maintaining our freedoms, depends on broad public understanding and support," said Gov. Williams, himself a lawyer.

Youths get in trouble because of adults. That was the theme of Dr. Ralph D. Rabinovich, superintendent of Hawthorn Center, a mental hospital for children.

One of the points made by Dr. Rabinovich is that adults fail to give children the responsibilities they are capable of handling.

"Too much emphasis, he said, is placed on the money values of learning, and not enough on the value of education for its own sake."

"About 75 per cent of mentally ill children are basically neglected, brutalized by factors in their family or community," he said.

Thousands of unlicensed drivers are on Michigan's highways, according to the estimate of the licensing section of the Secretary of State. You may be one of these, so check the expiration date on your license right now.

Three years ago a money-saving move it was decided to stop sending individual notices to drivers when their licenses expired. The expiration date was fixed to coincide with his birthday.

Since licenses expire every third year, many people seem to be forgetting. Result: many drivers on the road illegally; the state loses revenue when it needs it badly.

More than 70 per cent of our farm homes have radios.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see by the papers where this columnist, after making a tour of the country, says taxpayers think they're paying too much taxes. After a life-time of study in the tax situation and dodging all of 'em, I could, I can tell this feller all about taxes and save him another tour of the country.

Taxes always dips a little in a election year, but the dip is a optical illusion, like that thin coat of gravel they throw on a country road the week before the precinct elections. They dip but still at the same time continue the same steady climb.

For instant, in 1960 taxes will be reduced in ever speech from precinct to President, but I ain't never saw a office holder yet that couldn't figger out a crisis three months after the election that changed the whole picture he give the voters in the campaign.

If there ever was anything useless in this world, it's a tour around the country to survey the tax situation amongst the constituents. When I hear some feller talking about reducing taxes, I git as deaf as the old man leading in family prayer while he was kneeling on the cat's tail.

How is taxes going to git reduced with three out of ever four in the country either working for the Government, gitting a Government subsidy, or got at least three different kinds of Government loans?

Well, Mister Editor, the fellers at the country store Saturday night was giving me a hard time about my spelling in these little pieces. I ain't never mentioned it afore now, but the reason my spelling might be a little off is because they didn't print the dictionary right. They ought to have one section with words listed like they is spelled and another like they is pronounced. This last section would be a heap of help to a feller like me. Words like new-monia ought to be listed in the "n" section so's a feller could find 'em. I told the boys at the store I was like the backward mountain boy that went to Harvard. When somebody ask his Ma what he was studying there, she said he wasn't studying nothing, that they was studying him. If they want to read my little pieces, they'll have to do the studying.

The way the English language is changing these days, it don't pay a feller to learn any set rules. For instant, I saw the other day where this woman was "ambulance and hospitalized on Friday and funeralized on Sunday." We're gitting language down to the bare essentials and the spelling don't matter.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

A Sensible One

One of the pleasures of being a parent is to watch the development of each child from day to day. Only a parent can know how exciting it is to have a child who can put his toe in his mouth, or who is able to roll over in bed. If someone else's child gets a new tooth, it's only a tooth, but if my child gets a tooth, it is a revelation of divine mercy. Everybody knows that some children walk at an earlier age than others, yet each of us is thrilled when his own child—or his own grandchild—can take a few steps.

So you will pardon me if I chortle a bit when my offspring show some signs of developing good sense. Scientists speak of a human being as "homo sapiens," which is Latin for "man who has sense." It pleases me to see that our six-year-old knows how to use her head.

Just before Christmas Betty was playing "quiz program" with her brother. Apparently she was the quizmaster, for I heard her ask, "Why was Jesus born?"

Donald gave a rather convincing answer, compounded of his own ideas and some traditional thoughts he had picked up from his elders.

"Yes," decided Betty, "you are right." After a slight pause she continued, "Now here's another question. I know the answer to this one. I had to say 'Yes' to the other question because I didn't know the answer."

How many times you and I have had to agree with someone's statement because we didn't know the answer! On matters of politics, health, religion, and education we tend to accept the ideas of anyone who has a theory of his own and a convincing manner.

But then there was the time my wife sent Betty to get some 1-cent stamps from me.

"Those green ones are the 1-cent stamps," I told her.

"Let's see the '1' on them," Betty said, and after inspecting them she agreed, "Yes, there's the '1'."

I was glad that she had learned to recognize a "1" when she saw it, and was even more gratified to see that she was learning to check the evidence for herself.

If all of us would look to see what is being offered us, and would ask ourselves whether the person with the ready answer knows what he is talking about, there would be little danger that a dictator would sell us a stack of falsehoods.

The University of Michigan physicist's "bubble chamber" is regarded as one of the major developments in the field of nuclear physics since the end of World War II.

Old School Books, Records On Display at CHS Library

Old textbooks and school forms are being shown in the library display case in the new senior high school to celebrate the 125th anniversary of the founding of Chelsea.

Early school board meetings reflected the concern of citizens for schools.

A special exhibit of readers was presented for the dedication ceremonies. Loaned by Cynthia Klinger, 9th grade, were "The National Reader," published in 1858; "Pierpont's Young Reader," 1885; and "The School Reader," Third Book, Sanders Series, 1841.

The Michigan School Laws of 1884 listed "several series of readers, of various excellency": The National Readers for the highest classes and The Sanders Union Third Reader for the intermediate grades.

The Sanders readers, along with other books, were listed in a certificate of adoption issued by the school board of District IV of Lima township on June 21, 1880.

Other school forms displayed included a Hartford insurance policy for $1,000 with a premium of $15, dated Dec. 1, 1887, issued by Gilbert Trowell of Chelsea, covering "A two-story brick shingle roof school house including seats and desks, situated in the Village of Lima Center, occupied for school purposes only," a teachers' contract between District Board V, Sylvan, and James T. Hathaway, dated Sept. 7, 1895, which paid $100 for the term of four months commencing on the fourth day of November and running for the winter term of four months, with the signature of Peter Merkel as moderator; and a Teacher's Term Report signed by Emily Stringham.

The teacher for District V, Sylvan, with Michael Merkel as moderator for the term which commenced Nov. 8, 1876 and closed Feb. 25, 1876, with wages received per month, $22. Martin Merkel, 13 years old, a male pupil, had 74 days in attendance and six days lost by absence.

The report stated that the teacher was supplied with a teacher's register, a dictionary, plenty of blackboard surface in good condition for use, chalk and crayons, and with good dry wood.

There were three visits from school officers and one visit from the township superintendent. Two students wrote compositions, and 20 gave declamations. There were seats for 26 pupils. The National Reader was used in this school.

Summer Camp Dates Set for Crippled Children

Plans for the third annual Crippled Children's Camp were formulated Tuesday night when a camp committee of the Washtenaw County Easter Seal Society met and set the dates for the camp as Aug. 17-28.

Although the Society fell considerably short of the goal for its sale of Easter Seals, the board of directors voted to go ahead with plans for a camp.

The Society hopes to maintain direct aid to the crippled persons of Washtenaw county even on the limited budget. Herbert O. Benz, president of the Society, stated that the board of directors hopes to use fewer counselors and to utilize volunteers for the camp to help reduce expenses. High school students may be used as junior counselors for the first time this year.

The camp has been in operation for two years and has offered camping experiences to a number of children who could not have had such experiences otherwise. "During the second year, an increase of 50 per cent in camper attendance was recorded," said Benz, "and the present committee hopes to expand even more this year."

Last year, a total of 32 Washtenaw county handicapped children were at the camp. Children attending Camp have been disabled by cerebral palsy, muscular dystrophy, birth injuries, polio, accidents and numerous other conditions.

Members of the camp committee in addition to Benz, include Miss Merry Maude Wallace of Ypsilanti; and Mrs. George Meiss, Patricia Walsh, and Howard Hillson, all of Ann Arbor.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Boyce are the owners of the farm on North Dancer road, pictured in the May 7 issue of The Standard as Mystery Farm No. 54. They bought the farm in 1953 following the death of Mrs. Boyce's father, Herman Hasley.

Mrs. Boyce, who is the former Joyce Hasley, has lived on the farm most of her life. She moved there with her parents and her sister, Janice, in 1935, and lived there until her marriage. Since the Boyces have lived there they have added the two silos visible in the photo and have also built a milk house.

The Boyces bought the farm from John Grennan of Ann Arbor, a retired U. M. professor, who had owned it for many years. Mrs. Boyce's father operated the farm for Grennan for 18 years prior to his death. Her mother still makes her home on the farm with the Boyces.

The family also includes the three children of Mr. and Mrs. Boyce—Lynn, Sharon and Roger. Mrs. Boyce's sister, Janice, is now Mrs. Don McLean. She and her husband, and a two-year-old daughter, Nancy live at Saline.

Mrs. Boyce recently became known throughout the state when she nominated her mother-in-law, Mrs. W. C. Boyce, as a candidate for Michigan "mother of the year." Mrs. W. C. Boyce was one of 20 finalists in the state and as a result was invited to participate in a tour of New York City. Her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Lloyd Boyce, was among those who accompanied her on the tour, returning home Sunday.

The Boyce farm was owned by the Charles Pratt family for many years before Grennan bought it. Grennan never lived there.

According to Mrs. Hasley, the house on the Boyce farm was built by Charles Pratt in 1913.

People who called The Standard office to say they recognized Mystery Farm No. 54 as the Lloyd Boyce farm are Julius Blass, Paul Bollinger, Mrs. Gottlieb Bollinger, Edson Whitaker, Mrs. William Beach, Mrs. Earle Pettibone and Mrs. Harry Booth of Ann Arbor.

Anniversary Potpourri

Represent Belles at Munnith Banquet

Mrs. Robert Harris and Mrs. Kenneth Musbach were in Munnith Thursday to attend a Mother and Daughter banquet at the Methodist church. Representing the 125th anniversary Chelsea Belles, they wore their sunbonnets and Chelsea Belles buttons and during the program they were introduced by the program chairman. The two Chelsea women extended an invitation to the 200 mothers and daughters present to attend Chelsea's anniversary celebration in July.

Bridge Players

Challenged for Tourney

"Calamity Jane, Sheriff of the West," one of the 125th Anniversary chapters of Chelsea Belles, issued a challenge for the bridge players' championship of Chelsea's anniversary celebration.

The chapter will schedule "bouts" with any challenging group of bridge players on any Monday or Thursday night.

Challengers may arrange dates

by calling Mae Luick or Mrs. Lawton Steger.

Belles Chapter Plans 'White Elephant' Sale

Colonial Belles Chapter No. 6 had a meeting Tuesday morning at the home of Mrs. John Hanna and received its charter for the 125th Anniversary program. The chapter planned a "white elephant" sale to be held May 21 at the home of Mrs. Iva Keizer.

Mrs. Josephine Walker is secretary of the chapter.

Painting Bee Picture Gets World Distribution

Chelsea's 125th Anniversary "Brothers of the Brush" who are raising "beards" and/or mustaches in preparation for the July 11-18 anniversary week program, have gained world-wide recognition because of the April 18 painting bee when they painted the North Main street anniversary headquarters building in three minutes and nine seconds.

A picture taken at the bee and published in local newspapers, found its way to the pages of many papers throughout the United States during the week which followed.

Then, last week, word was received from Robert Oakley, SP-4, stationed in Japan, who wrote to relatives stating that he had seen the picture in a Tokyo paper. Since then, Mrs. William Freeman received a letter from her brother, Sgt. William R. Pierce, of Chicago, Ill., who is with the Southern Command NATO troops in Naples, Italy, saying the picture and an article about Chelsea's anniversary celebration had appeared in the army paper there.

Mrs. Freeman said she had painstakingly written a description of the anniversary affair in a letter to her brother and he answered stating he had already seen a newspaper story of the project.

Painting Bee Picture Published on Okinawa

Airman Third Class Thomas Jakubiec, who is serving 16 months on the Naha Islands as a radio operator, sent a newspaper clipping to his parents in Dearborn showing the widely publicized painting bee picture taken here April 18 when the 125th Anniversary Headquarters building was

Regional Conference on Children Scheduled Saturday at Ann Arbor High School

A regional conference in preparation for the 1960 White House Conference on Children and Youth will be held Saturday at Ann Arbor High School, beginning at 9 a.m. The conference will be concluded at 4 p.m.

Studies by young people, adults and professional agencies serving youth have been conducted by a regional committee representing the five counties in Region X—Hillsdale, Jackson, Lenawee, Monroe and Washtenaw. The results of these studies and the answers to questionnaires distributed during the time the studies were made will be reported at Saturday's Regional White House Conference.

Recommendations from this conference and from similar ones in other regions will help formulate Michigan's report to the White House next year. The national conferences are held every 10 years to take stock of the circumstances and prospects of the country's children and youth and are also intended to formulate policies and programs to advance the welfare of young people.

Dr. Ronald Lippitt of the Institute of Social Research at the University of Michigan will give the keynote address at the Ann Arbor conference. He will speak at the opening session in the high school auditorium at 9:30 a.m. Dean Willard Olson of the U. of M. School of Education will welcome the conference delegates and visitors.

Mrs. Robert McNamara, chairman of Region X, said "I think everyone in the five counties of our region has a particular stake in Michigan's preparation for the 1960 conference. The kind of dynamic community in which we live and rear our children makes it necessary for us to make a periodic inventory of services and a study of attitudes and opinions of youth and adults in order to stimulate fresh and wider attacks on the problems affecting our young people. This will certainly benefit us here because the study materials will form the basis of our discussions and recommendations not only to Washington but to our local and state agencies that program in this area daily."

The day's program will include discussion workshops and a final session of summarizing and recommendations pertaining to the following areas:

1. The problems of learning to make adult choices about career,

2. The problems of finding a place in peer (one's own age) society at all ages of children and youth.

3. The problems relating to the school and other community institutions. The use of leisure time.

4. Problems of developing a satisfactory self and values of right and wrong, good and bad.

5. Planning for the emotionally, mentally and physically handicapped.

6. The solidarity of the home.

About 7,000 delegates are expected to gather in Washington next year for the conference. Its purpose is "To promote opportunities for children and youth to realize to their full potential for a creative life in freedom and dignity."

Three 4-H Members

Participate in Milk Marketing Tour

Earl Graden, 7800 Waters road, Ann Arbor, Ronald Rogers, 10550 Saline-Milan road, Saline, and Richard Wheeler, 4274 North Territorial road, Whitmore Lake, were the three 4-H boys who participated in the 4-H Milk Marketing Tour this past week. These members were selected for their 4-H dairy projects and for their participation in keeping production records for their dairy animals.

Delegates from all over Michigan met at the Michigan Milk Producers Association building in Detroit to listen to the different phases of the milk-producing business.

After a school-type session of a study of the milk business, the boys participated in a quiz which will help determine the scholarship winners for the Chicago trip this coming fall. About 125 boys competed in this event.

After an afternoon of information at the MMPA offices the boys went to the Fischer YMCA in Detroit where they were housed overnight. Supper was served at the Fischer Y and the delegates then were guests of the MMPA to see "South Sea Adventures" the Cinema showing in Detroit.

On Thursday morning the boys toured the Finner's plant in East Detroit, watching all of the different phases of bottling milk and the processing of cottage cheese. In the afternoon they were

Track Team

Trounces

Manchester

Last Wednesday the Chelsea High Bulldogs defeated Manchester's Dutchmen in a dual track meet on Tecumseh's track.

The 77-point total is the most ever scored by a Chelsea track team and came as the Bulldogs won nine events, took nine second places and added four third places.

The outstanding individual performance was turned in by Fritz Wagner as he put the shot 40 ft. 10 in. for a new school record. Wagner held the previous record of 40 ft. 2 in.

Additional firsts were scored by Dalice Ferris in the 100 and 220 yd. dashes; Dave McLaughlin (high hurdles); Larry Cattell (half mile); Larry Schramm (.440); Don Sexton, Loren Keizer and Jim Maynard three-way tie (high jump); the medley relay team of Robin Wright, Bob Weiss, Gary Dault and Loren Keizer; and the 880 yd. relay team of Schramm, Wright, Keizer and Ferris.

Second-place winners were: Pete Flintoft (mile); Ron Doering (100 and 220); Larry Cattell (pole vault); Don Sexton (.440); Dave McLaughlin (low hurdles); Loren Keizer (shot put); and Dalice Ferris (broad jump).

Third-place finishers included Jim Maynard (high and low hurdles); Stanley Ward (half mile); and Don Sexton (broad jump).

Saturday of this week the Bulldogs will compete in the Regional track meet. On Monday they will compete in the Huron League meet. The finals of the Huron League meet will begin at 8:00 p.m. Both meets will be held on Eastern Michigan's track at Ypsilanti.

Ball Game Plans

A euchre party is scheduled for next Thursday, May 21, for all Brothers of the Brush. It will be held at the Community Fair building and each group is to bring its own table, chairs, cards and refreshments.

Many ideas for future activities were discussed at Monday's meeting. These included baseball games, canoe races, tugs of war and relay races. It was suggested that any interested group should challenge another group and then check with Anniversary Headquarters as to the time for such event. This will eliminate conflict with other events planned and will permit adequate publicity.

Also discussed at Monday's meeting was the possibility of a "stag day" at Inverness Golf course and Bill Robertson was appointed to check on this.

It was announced that anniversary hats and ties are again available at Foster's and Strider's men's wear stores and at Anderson's department store.

Other planned activities are a parade at Jackson, Friday evening, May 22, and at Lansing on Saturday, May 23, and special activities for Junior Brothers of the Brush chapters, including a softball game between junior and senior B. of B. groups.

Future meetings of the Grand Council of the Brothers of the Brush will be held every other Monday evening, beginning Monday, May 25 at 7:30 p.m. All of the meetings are to be held in the Community Fair building. A representative of each group should be present.

State Police Post Plans Michigan Week Open House

Michigan Week May 17 to 23 will be observed by the State Police with open house at all posts on "Hospitality Day," Tuesday, May 19, and the flying of the State flag all week, according to Sgt. John Horvath, commanding officer of the Jackson post.

Similar programs held the last two years have been very successful, thousands of persons taking advantage of the special opportunity to visit their nearest post and look over the facilities.

Visiting hours are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and officers will be on hand to escort persons through the building, explain equipment and answer any questions regarding department operations.

"Although visitors are welcome at State Police posts at any time, 'Hospitality Day' provides a special occasion to be with us," said Sgt. Horvath. "The public can learn at first hand how their department operates and the services it performs."
