Maj.-Gen. Dwight E. Beach Now Commands Famed 82nd Airborne

Major General Dwight E. Beach, 47, has been appointed Commanding General of the 82nd Airborne Division at Fort Bragg, N. C., and took over his new duties yesterday. Since 1956, General Beach had been serving as the director for special weapons and requirements in the office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Military Operations, Department of the Army, at Washington, D. C.

A native of Chelsea, General Beach was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Field Artillery upon his graduation from West Point in 1932. He graduated in 1937 from the Advanced Equestrian Course and the Field Artillery Advanced School and during World War II served as commanding officer of the 167th FA Battalion; as executive officer of the 24th Infantry Division Artillery in the Southwest Pacific, and from June until October of 1945, as commander of the 24th Division Artillery.

After the war he served as instructor at the Field Artillery School and later as an instructor at the U. S. Military Academy.

A 1950 graduate of the Armed Forces War College, General Beach has also completed the Command and General Staff School at Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

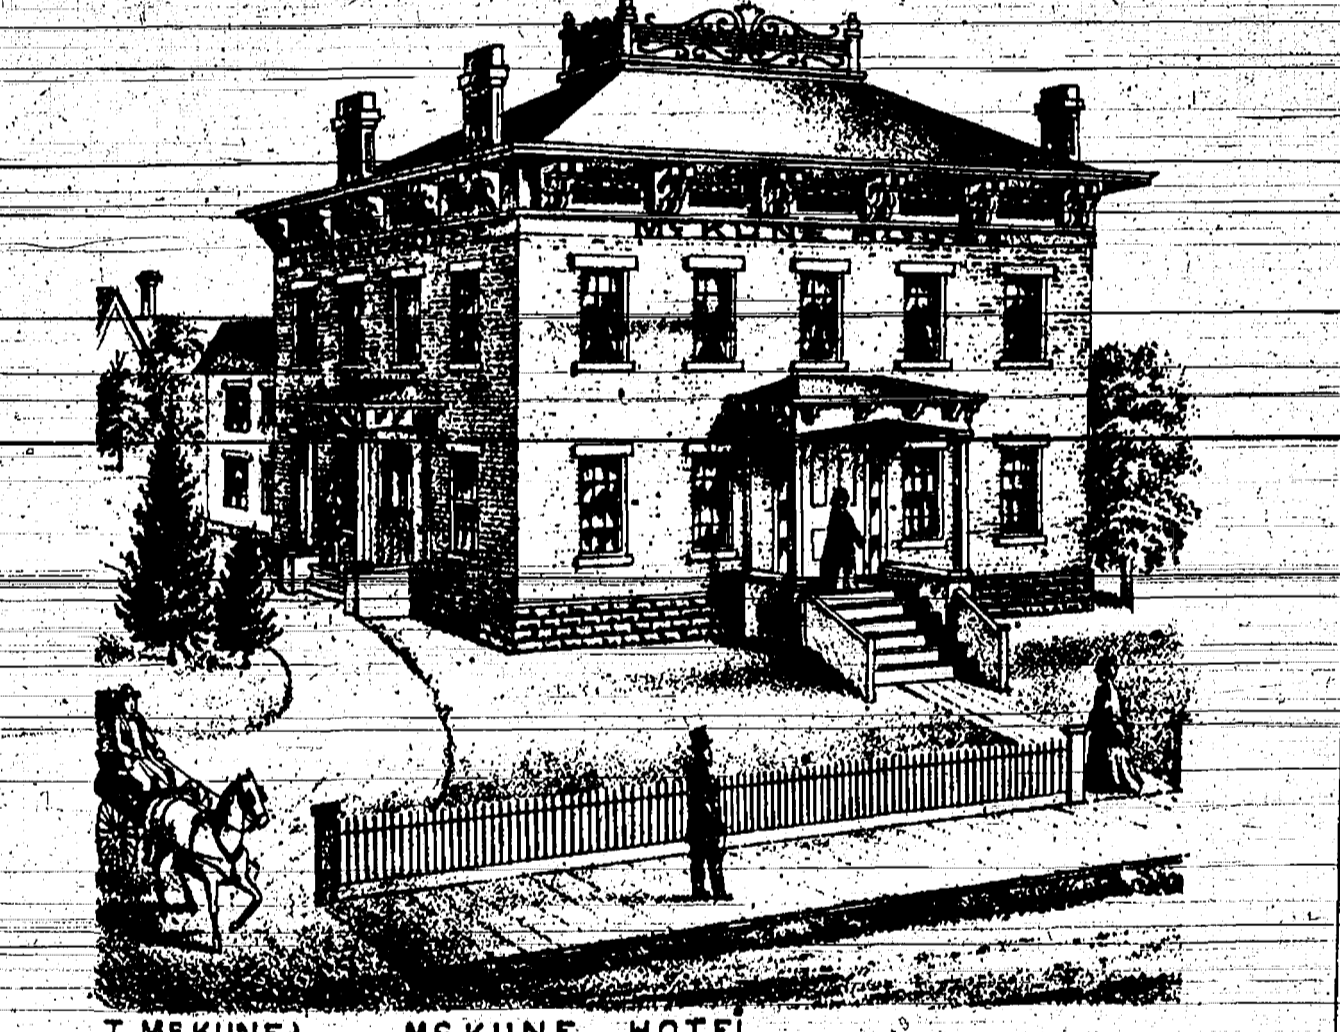

In 1954 he assumed command of the 45th Infantry Division in Korea after he had completed a basic airborne course and commanded the 11th Airborne Division Artillery.

Following his return from Korea he served with CONARC at Fort Bliss, in Texas, until his appointment to the Pentagon position he held until his present appointment.

Decorations he has been awarded include the Silver Star, Bronze Star and the Air Medal with oak leaf cluster.

General Beach and two daughters, Cynthia and Lillian, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. David Beach from Wednesday night until Sunday when they left for Fort Bragg.

Mrs. Beach, with their son, Dwight, Jr., and their younger daughter, Florence, were visiting her mother, Mrs. John Clem, Jr., in Texas.

T. MCKUNE, PROPRIETOR. MCKUNE HOTEL, CHELSEA, MICHIGAN.

NEW HOME FOR LIBRARY—The McKune moved many years ago but is to be replaced. It Memorial Library building is shown here as it will appear as nearly as possible the same as the appeared in 1870 shortly after Timothy McKune original when restoration work on the historic building was completed.

The portico shown at the front entrance was re-

Library Now Housed in First Permanent Home of Its Own

When members of the former Chelsea Child Study club started a library project here in 1932 with 22 donated books and 100 others on loan from the Michigan State Library, their most sanguine hopes did not envision that one day the library would be housed in attractive quarters devoted entirely to use as a public library and one of Chelsea's most historic landmarks, the McKune House.

The library opened in its new quarters Monday and people who have visited it have expressed amazement because of the attractive and functional interior achieved.

The exterior is to remain as nearly as possible the same as it has through the years since its construction in 1860 by Elisha Congdon, II, one of the founders of Chelsea, as a home for his large family.

Elisha Congdon, II, died in 1867 and the home was purchased by Timothy McKune and used as an and his wife, the former Catherine Staffan, became the owners. Mrs. McKune had gone there as a bride in May, 1869, and she and her husband lived there the rest of their lives. Mr. McKune died July 25, 1944, and Mrs. McKune died July 25, 1948. In her will she bequeathed the property for use as a public library with the stipulation that one room upstairs should be designated as the "Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McKune Memorial Room."

Mrs. McKune requested that her dining room furniture be placed in the room and that the room be targeted. She provided that $500 of her estate be set aside for the carpeting and preparation of this room which is located at the southwest corner on the second floor of the building.

Behind the memorial room is the room housing historical collections, bound copies of The Chelsea Standard, music and art materials.

The north side of the second floor has been converted into a large meeting room. Members of the Woman's Club of Chelsea, which was the original Child Study club, founder of the public library here, made renovation of this room their project. A small kitchenette has been added, as well as storage space for card tables, chairs, etc., making it an ideal place for group meetings.

Following Timothy McKune's death his son, J. Edward McKune is in the center hallway, just inside of the front entrance, and the librarian's desk is at the rear, facing the doorway.

The large first-floor room at the south side of the building is the children's room. The predominant color is turquoise.

The adults' room is at the north side of the main floor and is finished in a bamboo shade, which led to its designation as "the gold room."

A caretaker's apartment has been added in the annex at the rear of the building and what was formerly the McKunes' kitchen is being used as a workshop.

Restoration of the building has been made possible by the far-sightedness of the Woman's club who in 1951 started a Library Building Fund with a contribution of $100. The club made a similar contribution for a total of seven years.

Others became interested in the fund through the Friends of the Library and by the time the McKune House was bequeathed to the Village last year and an estimate of the cost of restoration was made, the fund total was approximately $4,000.

Since then contributions of money, materials, time and effort have been made by individuals, organizations and business people of the town.

Cavanaugh Cut-Ups Plan For Wedding

The Comely Cavanaugh Cut-Ups held a meeting Thursday night at the Phil Hoster home on Mushbach road. The wedding party rehearsed for the Applethwaite-Ogglethorpe nuptials July 3 and "Oh My Darling Murgatroyd" was sung with feeling.

Last-minute plans were made for the auction to be held the following evening with the Brush Sufferettes Chapter of Chelsea Belles.

Friday evening, in spite of the heat which was terrific, the Brush Sufferettes and Comely Cavanaugh Cut-Ups held a successful auction, aided by the tireless Rolly Spaulding, Charlie McDaniel and Duane Rowe and other Keystone Cops. The proceeds will mainly go to the fleet the Cavanaugh Porcupines are making, to the walking parade the two groups of women are planning, and to part of Friday's wedding refreshments. "Lots of fun was had by all" at the affair last Friday.

Saturday afternoon Abigail Applethwaite, limping from "an accident" sustained while weeding in the potato patch, brought a raft of children, several aunts and uncles and Murgatroyd, as well as a Hoster, queen candidate and a bridemaid, into town. Quite a shopping spree followed. Anderson's and Merkle's among others, contributed apt gifts for the bride-to-be or to-be. Elmer Schaeble measured Murgatroyd's forehead, shoulders, etc., to see if the veil and gown would likely fit.

Enough of that. Be on hand Friday night at 8:15, for the solemn and joyous wedding of Miss Ann Belser and June Rusten's daughter, who will lead group singing and provide solo. Linda Greenwood will play the organ in front of Meabon's. The Grand March will proceed from Middle and Main streets to Park street, where the Paragon is to be located on the two trucks which are weekly wired for sound. The Brush Sufferettes will be preparing the fruit punch and wedding cake. About 250 guests are expected and will be served. So gather around! The Cavanaugh Cut-Ups with some of their friends hope it will be a real community event.

Music for the wedding dance, from 9 p.m. until 10 p.m., will be furnished by Larry Howard and his crimson guitar and the Royal Lancers.

Fireworks Display Set By Legion

The annual Fourth of July fireworks display sponsored by Herbert J. McKune Post No. 31, American Legion, will be held at the Community Fairgrounds this year. Legionnaires are reminding people of the community.

This is the first time the event has been staged anywhere other than the Legion Home at Cavanaugh Lake.

Committees for the project said they believed the new arrangement will prove more satisfactory in regard to parking as well as for viewing the display, since many effects not practical with a widely scattered audience will be possible. To see the entire display the audience must be inside the grounds.

Another practical feature is in connection with the ice cream social, held at the same time as the fireworks exhibition, since tables can be set up inside of the Community Fair building making it possible to handle a larger crowd and providing more comfortable seating arrangements.

Serving at the social will begin at 5 p.m. to accommodate those who plan to have their supper there.

There is no charge for viewing the fireworks display. It is one of the Legion's community service projects.

Proceeds of the ice cream social are used to purchase the fireworks for the following year.

Anniversary Choir Rehearsals Scheduled

Sunday, July 12, has been set aside to start the Anniversary observance week with a "Faith of Our Fathers" vesper service to be held at the athletic field at 7 p.m.

Participants in this massive choir will meet with David Safforn for rehearsals on Thursday, July 2 (tonight); Monday, July 6, and Thursday, July 9, at the new High school auditorium at 8 p.m. All choir members and singers are urged to join in singing with all the choirs of the community.

Six Performances Scheduled During 125th Celebration

Shakespeare said "The show's the thing"—and the best example of this quote is the turn-out for the cast of "Remembering When," portraying everyone from Mr. Beckwith to E. E. Shaver.

The show, or spectacle as it should be properly called, will interest everyone. It is full of drama, suspense, dancing, comedy, intrigue. The director, James Egbert, guarantees that the fast moving, 90-minute show will interest anyone and everyone from 3 to 100.

The spectacle, "Remembering When," starts out with a gigantic salute to the Anniversary Queen, "Miss Chelsea." In this scene alone there are more than 100 youth of Chelsea, in beautiful and impressive costumes all paying homage to "Miss Chelsea."

The next episode, "The Men of Destiny," tells of the early Indians who camped around and fished the many lakes that make up the beautiful area around Chelsea. An Indian Ballet, with more than 20 dancers, will climax this episode. "Unto This Land" is the title of Episode III. This episode portrays Mr. Beckwith and his neighbors receiving some unexpected guests—two covered wagons full. The guests, who bring news and gossip from Toledo and Detroit, stop a "spell" to catch their breath and to celebrate Granny's birthday, (she's the oldest one in the wagon train and symbolizes the pioneer spirit.) Another unexpected guest arrives later in the Episode—the stork! This episode is climaxed by a square dance. Square dances will fill the great field stage.

The next few episodes tell of Chelsea's "firsts," the first church, the first school, the first train and the first car. W. F. Hatch was the first school teacher, and a light comedy episode will portray a typical day in the first school.

"The Volume in Black," a very dramatic and impressive episode, tells of Chelsea's contribution to the Civil War effort. Everyone looks to Abe Lincoln for help, strength, and hope.

Episode IX bursts at its seams with laughter and gaiety. It's the Gay 90 era and everyone is at a huge 4th of July picnic. E. E. Shaver is trying to make a quick fortune in taking tin-types, but everything from a bicycle built for two to the Can Can Dancers prevents him from achieving his goal. This episode has just about everything in it. A survey with the fringe on top will deliver some latecomers to the picnic. A high-wheeled bicycle will ride through Mrs. Spaulding's 32-egg Angel Food cake—another bicycle built for two will smash a beautiful rhubarb pie that one of the picknickers brought. One of the first cars comes sputtering out on the stage and stalls and scares everyone half to death. One of the activities of the 4th of July picnic was a bathing beauty contest—to see who would qualify for the honor of being Miss Chelsea of 1871.

Open House
At Bruin Lake

Portage Trails Council is holding open house Sunday, July 3, at Bruin Lake Scout Reservation for friends of Boy Scouting and for sustaining members.

The camping committee, chair-manned by Grant Jones, in announcing plans for the event, stated that families may hold picnics in the picnic area as a means of relieving overcrowded conditions in the camp's dining facilities.

Those who find it impossible to attend the open house are invited to visit on a Wednesday evening since each Wednesday is parents' night for the campers of that week.

More than 40 Scout troops will conduct a week of "Troop Camping" for approximately 800 different boys at Bruin Lake Scout Reservation between now and Aug. 21. Bruin Lake Scout Reservation is the training center for all Scouting activities such as: swimming, life saving, canoeing, nature study, boating, handicraft, use of compass, orientation, outdoor cooking, pioneering, archery, marksmanship, bird study and personal fitness.

Through these activities as taught by the central training staff, Scouts learn not only Scoutcraft but develop in leadership, ability, and character and become better prepared for citizenship.

Crippled Children's Camp
Plans for Aug. 17 Opening

The third annual Crippled Children's Camp will be held at the University of Michigan Fresh Air Camp-site at Patterson Lake from Aug. 17 through Aug. 28, according to Herbert O. Benz, president of the Washtenaw County Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc.

Frank Wawrzaszek of 955 Sherman street, Ypsilanti, has been named director of the camp for the 1959 season, Benz said. Wawrzaszek is a member of the faculty at The Rackham School of Special Education, and has had experience as camp director at the Jackson County Crippled Children's Camp at Wolf Lake.

Wawrzaszek plans to use responsible high-school-age boys and girls as counselors-in-training to supplement the staff of adult counselors, and is currently interviewing for positions as both counselors and counselors-in-training. He has expressed a need for several more responsible high-school-age boys and girls to serve as counselors-in-training.

Crippled children from all over Washtenaw county are eligible to attend the camp regardless of their ability to pay the camping fee. Children are also accepted without regard to the crippling condition as long as they can adapt to the camp community. At last year's camp there were children handicapped by polio, muscular dystrophy, cerebral palsy, birth injuries and accidents.

The society expressed hope that the attendance at the camp could be expanded this year to include campers from areas other than Washtenaw county, and letters have been sent to health departments in Monroe, Livingston and Lenawee counties offering the facilities of the camp to children from these areas. Last year, the camp accommodated 21 Washtenaw county children.

Many children have already been contacted by the health department and the camp committee, but it is possible that some children have been overlooked, and we are eager that all handicapped children have an opportunity to attend camp," said Benz. He asked that all persons knowing of a handicapped child who has not been contacted regarding the camp to call the Society immediately.

The Society's entire program, including the camp, is supported solely by the sale of Easter Seals and direct gifts. The Easter Seal sale fell short of its goal this year, and it was feared that the camp would have to be curtailed or even abandoned at one point, but a recent substantial gift has enabled the society to offer the service again this year.

Friendly Community Attitude Rates
High by Industry Looking for Home

If you had your choice of a number of communities in which to live, you probably would ask many questions about these towns before making your choice.

After narrowing the list to a few places, you probably would visit each one to see which town appeared to be the most friendly and desirable place to live.

One question that would be upmost in your mind would be "are the people friendly?"

An industry makes much the same type of approach when it starts looking for a place to locate a new plant, or when it decides to move.

The attitude of the people in a community toward industry is studied very carefully by an

Chlorodane Mixture
Advised To Control
Garden Soil Insects

Soil insects, like ants and symphylids, and moles in your garden can cause expensive and bothersome damage. Now is the time to prevent this, according to Michigan State University extension specialists in horticulture.

The specialists recommend, for prevention of the insects, two and two-thirds pounds of five per cent granular Chlorodane per 1,000 square feet, or one and one-third pounds of five per cent granular Dieldrin per 1,000 square feet.

The mixture should be worked and watered into the soil, say the specialists, but not more than once a year. It should be done where the insects are easily noticeable.

U-M Reactor
Yields Many Atom Secrets

Ann Arbor—The awesome energy of atomic fission, unleashed in a fraction of a second over Hiroshima with such devastating effect, is being slowly released at the University of Michigan to work in man's behalf.

The U-M's Ford one million-watt nuclear reactor is the most powerful reactor on any college campus. Here, in a uranium-235 fuel core 22-feet below the surface of a 41,000 gallon pool of demineralized water, a controlled chain reaction takes place. Billions of atomic particles fly from the core every second, and the intense radiation liberated creates a deep blue glow in the water. This is the heart of the U-M's nuclear reactor.

Made possible by a gift from the Ford Motor Company Fund, the reactor is a prolific source of high energy radiation. These rays and particles provide a wide variety of fascinating effects, and are the subject of research by University scientists and engineers.

One form of the radiation can be used to bombard materials placed close to the fuel core, for example, thereby causing the materials to become radioactive in turn. Produced in great abundance in the reactor, these "tracers" can be used to study chemical reactions or the behavior of biological systems.

The bombardment can also make atoms within complex chemical systems reveal themselves. This process has become a new and powerful method of detection and measurement called "activation analysis." The reactor also produces a unique form of radiation, like x-rays, which helps reveal the structure of molecules important in biology and medicine.

These and many more uses make the reactor a vital and versatile tool for pioneering research and training in the atomic energy field. Adjoining the reactor is the Phoenix Memorial Laboratory, one of the world's finest facilities for research, utilizing a wide range of radioactive materials.

Don't Drink Water
From Streams
Without Purifying

Lansing Water from lakes, streams and springs may be contaminated even in the heart of the deepest forest and shouldn't be used by humans without being boiled or treated.

The Michigan Department of Health said today that water can appear to be clear as a crystal and at the same time contain thousands of deadly germs so small they can be seen only with a microscope.

Even when there are no human sources of contamination, germs can get into water through wild animals and birds, the department said.

To make water safe for human use, the department recommended processing it in any one of the following three ways:

1—Add three drops of any standard laundry bleach to one gallon of clear water and let stand for 30 minutes.

2—Add three drops of tincture of iodine to one quart of clear water and let stand for 30 minutes.

3—Add chlorine or iodine tablets available at most drug stores or sporting goods stores. Follow directions on label.

4—Place water in clean container and boil vigorously for one minute.

Diseases that can be spread by water include typhoid fever, other intestinal diseases, tularemia and infectious hepatitis.

All surface and ground water should be boiled or treated before being used for drinking, cooking, brushing the teeth or washing dishes, the department said.

DRAFT EXTENSION
The Administration's plan for a four-year extension of the draft law got a potent push in Congress recently.

Chairman Carl Vinson (D., Ga.) told his House Armed Services Committee: "We have no choice... but to extend the draft." Without the forceful inducement, he said, military ranks would be depleted far below the needed strength.

Vinson's remarks were prepared for the start of hearings on the Administration bill to keep the Selective Service Act in effect until July 1, 1968.

The present farm population of the United States is nearly 20 per cent of the total population.

Dad's Job Makes Difference In How Children Are Reared

Ann Arbor—Where father works makes a difference in how his family is reared, two University of Michigan social researchers suggest.

Associate Profs. Daniel R. Miller (Ph.D.) and Guy E. Swanson (Ph.D.) tell why in their new book, "The Changing American Parent: A Study in The Detroit Area" (400 pp., $6.50, John Wiley & Sons, Inc.).

Miller and Swanson use the term "parentocracy" to describe families whose bread-winners work in large organizations, draw most of their income in salary, and whose advancement depends more on their specialized training than on risk-taking.

In these families, child discipline is based on continuing, external controls—spanking, for example. Youngsters are permitted, sometimes encouraged, to take an accommodative view of the world. At an early age, thumb sucking is not viewed with alarm.

The U-M experts use the word "entrepreneurial" to describe a second type of family, where the breadwinner works for himself or in a very small organization. Here, income and advancement depend more on risk-taking and competition than on specialized skills.

In these families, child care emphasizes self-control and an active, manipulative view of the world. Early toilet training is more common, and children are more often disciplined if they cry "just to get attention." Discipline is based more on appeals to conscience and other internal controls than on physical punishment.

In interviews with nearly 600 mothers in metropolitan Detroit, Miller and Swanson found considerable evidence of differences in child-rearing practices between these two kinds of families.

"Entrepreneurial" mothers, they found, are significantly more likely than "bureaucratic" mothers of similar social status to feed babies on a schedule, to begin baby-training before the baby is 11 months old, and to use symbolic rather than direct punishments.

"Entrepreneurial" mothers were also more likely to use harsh means to stop a child from sucking his body, to feel it desirable for a child to be left alone with a sitter while they sleep, and to say that children should be put on their own as soon as possible to solve their own problems.

In addition, "entrepreneurial" mothers more often said that, among adolescents, only boys should perform activities associated with their sex, like washing the family car or shoveling sidewalks.

These differences tend to be greater among lower middle-class families than among those of higher social status, the U-M experts continue.

One reason for this may be that those in the higher class "feel called upon to behave as elites, with corresponding gravity and self-restraint," the explain. Whatever the cause, however, families in this group tend to be more strict with their children than those in the lower middle-class.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Reed returned home Sunday from a five-day trip during which they spent two days sightseeing in the Amish country in Lancaster county, Pa. They were their anniversary costumes during their stay there. They also visited Mrs. Reed's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Shattuck at Cattaraugus, N. Y., before returning home.

Mrs. George Hart's guests from Wednesday until Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Lampe and Mr. Douglas of Ravenna, O. While they were in Michigan they drove north to visit at Sault Ste. Marie Thursday and Friday. Callers here during their visit were Mr. and Mrs. Hollis White and son, of Lakeland, and Mark White and Lisa Graves of Toledo.

Legislature Commends Newspapers For Industrial Development Program

Lansing—The Michigan Legislature has commended The Chelsea Standard and more than 300 other Michigan newspapers for participating in a unique industrial development advertising program.

The resolution, adopted unanimously by members of both the House and Senate, paid tribute to the newspapers for publishing a year-long series of industrial development advertisements sponsored by the Michigan Press Association and Michigan Economic Development Department.

Calling it "an outstanding example of public service," the resolution said the advertisements have made Michigan residents "aware of the need for effective local industrial development programs."

"These advertisements have brought to millions of newspaper readers a better concept and understanding of industrial development and the need for participation in such local undertakings," the resolution said.

"This understanding seems certain to lead to stronger industrial development programs to attract new industry to our State and to encourage Michigan industry to expand within our boundaries. The advertising campaign will help assure continuing progress and a greater Michigan," the resolution said.

The resolution extended "the appreciation of the people of Michigan" to newspapers who are participating so generously in this advertising campaign as a means of advancing the industrial and economic progress of every Michigan community.

Karl and Kathleen Barden spent Saturday and Sunday here visiting Miss Lillie Wackenhut and Mr. and Mrs. Elba Gage.

Major Discovery in Study of Cells Aids Cancer Research

What may prove to be one of the major breakthroughs in basic scientific research was announced today at the Roscoe B. Jackson Memorial Laboratory in Bar Harbor, Me.

A woman scientist at the laboratory is credited with discovery of a combination of chemicals that will support animal life in a test tube.

This development opens the way to precise studies of the basic chemistry of life to a degree not possible in the past. It will permit scientists to learn how nature uses simple salts, vitamins, amino acids, glucose and hypoxanthine to produce the complicated chemicals of life.

In announcing the discovery, laboratory officials said it was of particular value in cancer research.

It will enable scientists to determine the differences in food requirements of normal and cancer cells; to see the different uses to which normal and cancer cells may put individual nutrients; and whether the growth of malignant cells can be arrested, without harming normal cells, by changing their diet, or by introducing cancer-specific poisons into the system.

The research was performed by Dr. Charity Waymouth, who came here from her native England in 1952 and has been working on cell chemistry for the past seven years.

In the past year the cells have been growing on 40 simple compounds, including ordinary table salt, dextrose and nine vitamins.

What's more, laboratory officials say in the current issue of the Journal of the National Cancer Institute the cells have been growing at an "explosive" rate, increasing seven or eight fold every week. This is comparable to growth under normal circumstances.

Heretofore, the article continued, it has been necessary to use blood serum or embryo juices, which contain scores of unidentified chemicals, to support animal life in test tubes. With Dr. Waymouth's nutrient all chemicals in the cell digestive process can be controlled.

New Ideas On Artificial Respiration

By Earle F. Zeigler, Acting Chairman, Washtenaw County Water Safety Committee of the American Red-Cross.

Would you be ready if you were suddenly called upon to give artificial respiration? If you can't say "yes" to this question you should acquire this skill as soon as possible. Your Red Cross stands willing to help you learn this and other first aid measures.

Not only drowning stops breathing; it may be brought on by excessive electric shocks, an overdose of drugs, freezing, and hanging, to name just a few. When you notice that a person has stopped breathing, artificial respiration must be started at once. Body cells can't store precious oxygen, which means that every second counts.

What type of artificial respiration should you use? Scientific investigation has given us new ideas on this important subject. The Bible speaks about breathing in the nostrils to restore life. We have heard how people were rocked on a seesaw, or rolled across a barrel. For many years the Shafer-Prone-Pressure Method was considered the best, but this was replaced a few years ago by the Holger-Nelson Method commonly called the back-pressure arm lift method. With this recognized approach you kneel at the victim's head, clear his throat of any obstructions, place your hands on his shoulder-blades, swing your weight forward with straight arms, rock back again and remove your hands, grasp his arms above the elbows and raise them toward you, and release while taking a short pause. This should take about five seconds and should be done about 12 times a minute.

Very recently a simpler method, especially suited for infants and small children, has been recommended which can save life still more effectively than any methods used to date. It is called Mouth-to-Mouth Resuscitation or Mouth-to-Airway Resuscitation. It may seem a bit unhygienic, but we shouldn't let this bother us. You simply breathe life back into the victim's lungs. Place him on his back; Kneel close to his head and to his left. Pinch his nostrils shut with your thumb and forefinger after you have checked the mouth for any obstructions. Take his jaw in your left hand with your forefinger under the jaw bone and your thumb over the lower teeth. Keep your mouth over his and fill his lungs with air; do it approximately every three seconds. If you fill them with air, they will empty themselves. It sounds simple, and it works. It is just as effective for adults.

A very simple apparatus has been devised to help you give artificial respiration in this way. It is available in several sizes through your neighborhood druggist.

Boating Season Brings Words of Caution To Help Prevent Accidents

Lansing—For boaters as well as other water sports enthusiasts, Michigan's lakes can be arenas of outdoor fun or sudden tragedy. With this in mind and some 2,000,000 boaters expected on the state's waters this summer, Conservation Department officials are urging the public to "back the attack on boating accidents."

In boating, as in driving, common sense dictates the rules of safety. Boaters should take the following precautions:

Be sure your boat is soundly constructed and in seaworthy condition. Equip your boat with an anchor and at least one life-saving cushion or jacket per passenger. Motor and sail boats should have emergency paddles or oars. Don't overload your boat. This limit varies according to the size and type of craft. Balance the load by distributing passengers evenly, from side to side and from bow to stern.

Don't stand up or exchange positions in a small boat. Even in larger boats, persons should change positions only in shallow water where a sudden mishap will not endanger a life.

Keep a safe distance away from bathers, fishermen and other boaters. Michigan's lakes afford ample room for everyone. Don't encroach upon the fun and safety of others. Don't venture so far from shore that you can't return ahead of a sudden storm. Many of the state's larger lakes become treacherous at the slightest provocation. If you are on a lake when a storm erupts, head for shore and keep passengers seated on the floor. Watch the weather; when conditions look threatening, it's safer to postpone your outing.

Don't overestimate your prowess as a boater. Fancy and reckless capers are not a measure of skill. Keep your boat under full control at all times, especially when near swimming areas, docks and other boaters.

After dark, use a light to prevent collisions. Better yet, restrict your trips to daylight hours.

Stay with your boat when it capsizes. A floating craft will support many persons clinging to its sides. Remain calm and wait for help. When possible, obtain a map of the lake and acquaint yourself with its bottom contours, shore outline, depths and other hydrographical features.

In spite of the heat and humidity of last Saturday night the anniversary celebration square dance jamboree was a huge success. In all there were 36 squares (288 dancers) present to enjoy the lively program arranged by the callers Connie Eichhorn, Shorty and Dorothy Hoffmeyer, and Clarence Williams.

Of the 36 squares, approximately 30—were from out of town, including five from Detroit. In the absence of Rolly Spaulding, general chairman of the anniversary celebration, Wallace Wood, Chairman of the caravan committee, welcomed the out-of-town guests and invited them to come back for the final week of the celebration. Without exception, the visitors expressed admiration of the new high school and gymnasium and were very favorably impressed by their visit to Chelsea.

In addition to the dancers, 175 spectators braved the heat to watch the dancing. Of special interest to the spectators and dancers alike was the demonstration put on by Al Hard and his group from the Detroit-Plymouth area. Their dances were performed in the formal ballroom style popularized by Henry Ford. These dancers were one of the top demonstration groups at the national square dance convention in Denver.

Committees in charge of the jamboree expressed appreciation to all who participated, mentioning especially the Al Hard group for their demonstration with all dancers in formal attire.

ECONOMIC NATO IDEA
A proposed "economic NATO" reportedly is getting support in some Administration quarters. The proposal would have the North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries to bolster Western defenses against Soviet economic pressures. Its purpose would be to tighten trade restrictions with the Communist bloc.

The proposal would halt, if not reverse, the cautious relaxing of export curbs on shipments to the Soviets.

The ticket marathon will begin at 12 noon on Thursday and continue without interruption until 1 p.m. Friday, deadline for the queen contest ticket sale. Friday morning's broadcast will originate from the "heart of Chelsea"—a reviewing stand in the downtown area.

During the 125th Anniversary celebration week there will be broadcasts at various intervals during the day and a special program honoring Chelsea.

Today's picture review: ROOM AT THE TOP

It isn't often that a motion picture can be as wholeheartedly recommended for the consideration of adult moviegoers as "Room at the Top."

Recently named the finest British film of the year, it handles its theme with unusual honesty, frankness, and powerful effect.

The hero of the story is Joe Lampton, an educated young Englishman of working class origin. Leaving the dreary factory town in which he was born and raised, he accepts a job as civil servant in a very high-class community.

Being a very personable young man, he quickly finds his niche in the social life there, and before too long becomes determined to marry the daughter of the town's wealthiest man. The girl is willing to be wooed by Joe, who meantime runs into complications by falling in love with an older woman.

How Joe works out his problems constitutes the rest of the picture. Laurence Harvey plays the part of Joe; Heather Sears is the heiress; Simone Signoret is the older woman. All turn in admirable performances, making this a film not to be missed.

Michigan is first in the value of goods produced per worker.

HERCULEAN EFFORT

Santa Barbara, Cal.—A dozen years they've worked on it—off and on. Now it's finished, and the blooming thing is too big for the door. There it stands 6 feet tall. As fine a dwarf elephant as anybody ever saw.

It was placed together at a laboratory in the Museum of Natural History here from hundreds of delicate bones out of fourteen fossilized elephants, extinct these many centuries.

Ease it through the door to an exhibit hall? Impossible, says Dr. P. C. Orr, curator. It won't fit. The slightest pressure and it would shatter into dozens—maybe scores—of fragments!

Enlightened Parole System Can Ease Rising Cost of State's Prison System

(Editor's Note: This is the last of a series of articles dealing with a threatened 20 per cent of Michigan's prison population in the next 10 years—and suggesting what can be done about it.)

Lansing—A survey of Michigan's mushrooming prison costs suggests that increased parole and probation officer staffs can produce substantial immediate savings and tremendous savings in the future.

The Michigan Crime and Delinquency Council, which obtained the survey from the National Probation and Parole Association, said it was not overlooking the tremendous social savings which would result from keeping casual law violators usefully occupied in society, but that it recognized financial considerations must be given great weight in view of the state's fiscal distress.

The Council contended that the employment of 258 additional probation officers, including secretarial expenses, would cost the state $2,669,500, but that the additional officers would make it possible for the courts to send 1,838 fewer men to prison at a savings of $2,757,000 a year—or a net savings of $87,000 a year on prison operation costs alone. The Council estimated conservatively that every man in prison costs the taxpayers an additional $1,500 a year on the average in charitable costs for the care of his dependents and the loss of tax revenues from his employment and spending.

The Council said also that changes in sentencing laws to permit quicker paroles could reduce the prison population another 960 inmates, at a savings of $1,440,000 a year in operating costs alone. To do this, would require 72 more parole officers, costing $750,000 a year—or a net savings of $689,000 a year.

It estimated that the return of 860 inmates to a useful role in society would save the state $1,440,000 in charitable costs and lost taxes.

"In total, therefore, the Council said, 'a system which has good standards, a 70 per cent use of probation, and a 15 month median release period (in paroles) would save the public a total of $4,659,500 annually.'"

But, the Council said, the most important fiscal savings would be in addition—by removing the necessity for building more prisons. The Council re-emphasized that Michigan's already-jammed prisons, now holding 10,138 inmates, will house 10,600 in 1960, 11,610 in 1965 and 12,980 in 1970 according to present trends.

To build more cells to handle this increase, the Council estimated, will cost $6,930,000 more by 1960—$22,089,000 by 1965 and $42,630,000 by 1970.

Putting these estimates together, the Council said, the current costs could have been reduced $8,478,500 if the suggested reforms were in effect. The savings, it said, would amount to $8,707,000 in 1960, $9,184,220 in 1965, and $9,757,000 in 1970.

The Council emphasized: "Millions of tax dollars can be saved by this program, to say nothing of the great savings in human values."

Council Proceedings

Council Room June 2, 1959

Regular Session.

This meeting was called to order at 8:00 p.m. by Pres. Alber. Trustees present: Barr, Blaess, Chandler, Kohsman, Lixey and Paul.

The minutes of the regular session of May 19, 1959 were read and approved.

A public hearing was held before the Council on the rezoning request of Robert and Electa Wagner with no action being taken at this time.

Motion by Blaess, supported by Kohsman, to pay $2,478.31 in partial payment for the 1959 curb and gutter construction to Earl Schultz Construction Co. Roll call: Yeas all. Motion carried.

A discussion was held with Mr. Strout of Finkbeiner Pettis & Strout in regard to the sewage treatment problem. Since no new sewage lines can be installed in the village until the present sewage plant is expanded, there can be very little growth in the present size of the village and this only in the areas of existing sewage lines.

A discussion was held with the Library Board as to the possible location of the parking lot and driveway at the new Library.

A discussion was held as to the possible use of the present Library facilities with no definite conclusions reached at this time.

A request was entered by the Chelsea Social Service for more space since their present facilities are on separate floors. This request has been taken under consideration. Motion by Barr, supported by Blaess, that the Village pay $35.00 to the American Legion as their share of the Memorial Day grave decorations. Roll call: Yeas all. Motion carried.

Motion by Barr, supported by Paul, to adjourn. Roll call: Yeas all. Motion carried.

Meeting adjourned.

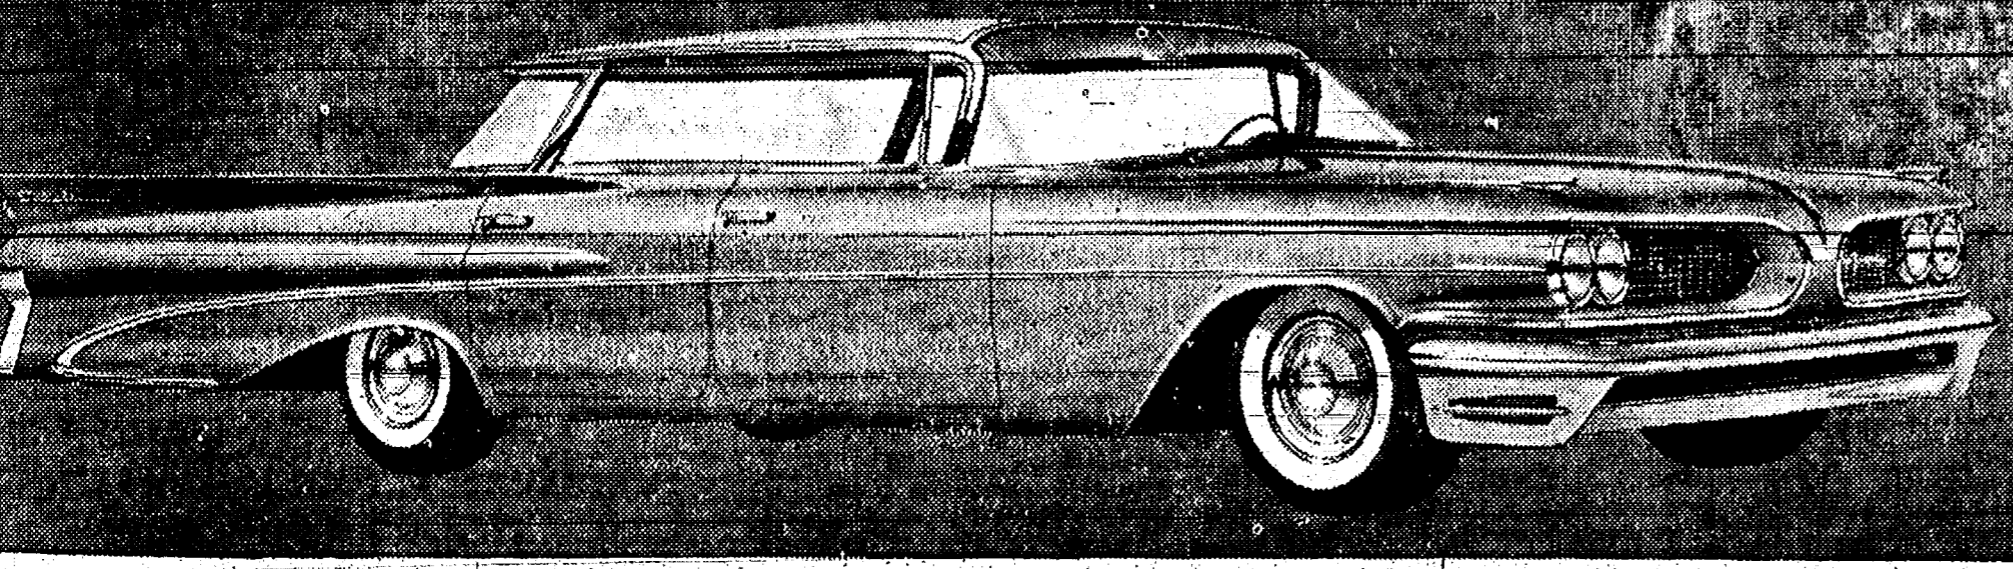

Approved: June 16, 1959.
Donald G. Alber, President.
George L. Winans, Clerk.

Always Follow Directions When Using Poisons

Lansing—Sprays used to poison plant and household pests should always be used according to directions, the Michigan Department of Health said today.

If directions aren't printed on the container, they should be obtained from the seller before the spray is purchased, the department advised.

Sprays can cause illness and even death if not used according to the manufacturer's directions. Health damage may result if poisonous fumes are inhaled or if poisonous liquid or mist come in contact with the skin.

If a spray is poisonous to humans at the concentration it is used against pests, this fact should be stated clearly in the directions. The directions also should explain how the spray can be applied safely and what antidote is effective in case of accidental poisoning.

The department added that if fruit and vegetable sprays are used as directed, the amount of spray remaining on the fruit and vegetables when harvested will be harmless to man. Even so, the department advised rinsing all fruits and vegetables before they are eaten.

The department also suggested that all poisonous sprays be stored out of reach of young children. These materials now rank third nationally among causes of accidental poisoning by ingestion.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Don't "Check" With Red!

Red Johnson, owner of the local hardware store, likes to keep business simple—"pay as you go," says Red.

Recently, to emphasize the point, Red had a sign painted for the store window. In big red letters, it read: "Please—absolutely no checks accepted—pay in cash only."

When the sign painter had finished the sign, he delivered it to Red and named his price—ten dollars. "Very reasonable," said Red. And the next thing you know he was handing the fellow a check for ten dollars! From where I sit, some rules we make boil down to "don't do as I do, do as I say." It reminds me of a friend who drank nothing but iced tea and criticized the fact that I preferred a glass of beer. That's not only annoying, it's intolerant. Good neighbors should make tolerance the rule with more "do" and less "say."

Most Garden Plants
Need To Be Thinned

To Avoid Crowding
East Lansing—When garden plants come up in the next few weeks, some thinning will be necessary for best results, according to Michigan State University specialists.

Because it's difficult to sow small seeds far enough apart to permit the plants to make their best development, they need thinning to avoid crowding.

Best thinning time is when the plants are small, and the soil is moist. They can be pulled out then without injuring those left.

Turnips, rutabagas, and other root crops should be thinned before their taproots become fleshy. Onions from seeds, and radishes can be left in the ground until those thinned are large enough to eat.

Surplus beet plants can be pulled when they are four or five inches tall; and can be used for greens. Thinned turnip plants can also be used for greens.

Carrots should be thinned when they are two to three inches tall. They should stand about an inch apart in the row. Then, when they are large enough to eat, they can be thinned further.

MORNING PHILATHEA
Morning Philathea Circle of the WSCS of the Methodist church met for a 12 o'clock luncheon meeting Wednesday, June 24, at the home of Mrs. Lyman Adams, at Cavanaugh Lake. There were 23 present for the luncheon, including two guests.

Mrs. Warren Daniels, who presented the devotional service, in keeping with the current anniversary program in Chelsea, selected the theme of "things old" and compared present day customs, living and faiths with those of early Bible times. In an impressive development of her theme, she read Scripture passages to substantiate her point that that happens of today are a repetition of those of the past.

An interesting review of the Book of Isaiah was presented by Mrs. Robert Harris.

Philathea Circle does not meet again until September.

Burgs Claim Distinction Of Wearing Anniversary Attire Farthest Away

In a letter received at The Standard office this week from Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Burg, Jr., they announce that J. V. is "challenging" Ralph Klingler for the distinction of being the farthest from home in anniversary attire. The Burgs wrote from Heidelberg, Germany, saying they were having a wonderful time and that they were leaving Germany soon for visits in Rome, Switzerland and Lichtenstein and will be returning here July 9 in time for the final week of Chelsea's 125th Anniversary celebration.

Wherever they go they create a good deal of interest because of their anniversary attire. This interest opens the way for them to advertise Chelsea's anniversary and they have handed out anniversary cards to fellow travelers who were bound for East and West Germany, Austria, France, Italy, Switzerland, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Finland, Luxembourg, Holland, Belgium, Lichtenstein and Russia.

Their mention about "challenging" Ralph Klingler is a reference to Klingler's trip to California some time ago when his beard and anniversary attire created quite a stir enroute by plane and also during a brief stay in California.

Huffman Reunion Held at Mulliken

A family gathering was held Sunday, June 21, at Ella Sharpe Park, Jackson, in honor of Mrs. William Wise and three children of Edgewood, Calif., who are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alpha Sanders of Charlotte.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Duane Boyer and four children, Mr. and Mrs. Mac Packard and four children, Mr. and Mrs. Winston Boyer and son, and Fremont Boyer, all of Chelsea, who the previous Sunday had attended a reunion of the Huffman family held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marney Arnold at Mulliken, arriving there in their own anniversary "cavalcade" all dressed in anniversary costume.

The Boyer brothers and Mrs. Packard are the sons and daughter of Mrs. Alpha Sanders.

Youngest member of the family present at the Huffman reunion was Wanda Boyer, daughter of the Duane Boyers.

It was decided to begin a scrapbook of interesting facts about each family and one of the first items to be included is a picture of the Chelsea party in anniversary costume as Chelsea Belles and Brothers of the Brush.

Fifty-four relatives attended the 1959 Huffman reunion and it was decided that next year's reunion would be held at the home of Mrs. Velma Lee, in Vermontville.

Among those present at the family gathering at Ella Sharpe Park were Mr. and Mrs. Gary Packard and daughter, Deborah, who recently returned here after Packard's discharge from the Air Force after a four-year enlistment.

Garden Tilling Saves Moisture, Destroys Weeds

East Lansing—Now that the garden's planted, it's time to think about cultivation, one of the most important garden jobs.

Proper cultivation preserves moisture, gives beneficial bacteria better working conditions, and improves the general appearance of the garden, says Michigan State University specialists.

Cultivation preserves moisture by loosening the soil, so the rain soaks in. And dead weeds don't use up the precious moisture your plants need. Bacteria, the kind your garden needs for good health, work better in loose, aerated soil.

So begin cultivation as soon as the row of plants can be recognized, unless the ground is too wet, advise the specialists. Even if weeds haven't appeared, loosen things up a little. Then cultivate as often as necessary to keep the weeds under control.

Weeds are easily killed when they're small, but get tougher and use more water and nutrients as they grow larger.

As the season progresses, cultivate shallow to prevent damage to the roots of the garden crops. And don't go too close to the rows.

Many good chemical weed killers are available, but they won't entirely replace proper cultivation, which does more than just kill the weeds.

HEART DISEASE PROBABLY HAS NOT INCREASED...

The increasing number of reports of heart disorders as a cause of death has been brought about by the success of medicine. Many persons who formerly might have died of other diseases now live long and useful lives—evenually to succumb to a failing heart which has performed its lifetime of duty.

Therefore—as we grow older, the care of the heart must be considered in our every activity. Have regular check-ups by your Doctor, and follow his guidance carefully. He probably can help to keep your heart functioning for many extra years of buoyant and happy life. The NATIONAL OUTLOOK

By RALPH ROBEY

Are We Headed Into a Boom?

One frequently hears the word "boom" used in connection with the current business trend. To the extent the term means merely that the recovery is almost all-inclusive and is continuing, this is good. A boom however, is always followed by a recession, or worse, and in this sense it is not desirable to have persons think that we are moving out of recovery at a rate of advance which can only be accurately described by the use of such a strong term.

But the economy is moving forward and at a rapid pace. For example:

GNP $40 Billion Over 1958
Gross National Product, the monetary value of all goods and services produced in the nation and our broadest measure of the economic trend, set a new all-time high in the first quarter of this year: $40 billion above the first quarter of last year. The second quarter will show another significant increase.

Personal income in May was at a new all-time high: $3 billion higher than April, and $16 billion above last December.

Retail trade has risen consistently through the year and is now about 10 per cent above a year earlier. Automobile sales are at the highest level for this time of year since 1955, and it is generally expected that we shall have total sales of domestically produced cars of at least 5.5 million. On top of this perhaps 500,000 foreign cars will be sold.

Average weekly earnings in manufacturing reached a record $90 in May and the work week rose to 40.5 hours, indicating an increased amount of overtime.

Industrial production reached a new high. This is measured by the index of the Federal Reserve Board, which uses 1947-49 as equal to 100. The May figure was 152, as compared with the recession low in April, 1958, of 126. Durables and non-durables shared in the advance, and both are now above the pre-recession high.

Inventories continue to climb. In the first quarter of last year inventory was liquidated at an annual rate of $9 billion. The rate of liquidation declined from quarter to quarter in 1958, and in the first three months of 1959 inventories were accumulated at an annual rate of $5 billion. This is a swing of $14 billion, and has been a major factor in the business trend. Over-all figures are not available beyond the first quarter of 1959, but the rise has continued.

Expenditures for new plant and equipment turned upward in the first quarter of this year, and every survey since has revealed further revisions on the upside. No one anticipates that we shall, in 1959, reach the high of 1957, but the influence is on the side of better business.

Private housing starts, on a seasonally adjusted annual rate, fell slightly in May to 1,340,000. However, no one questions that this will be a good housing year, and over-all construction continues to be excellent.

Employment in May, at 86 million, was the highest for that month in our history. Unemployment, a source of considerable worry, declined sharply to 4.9 per cent of the civilian labor force. Last winter the rate of unemployment was running 6 per cent or a little higher, and while the present volume of jobs is larger than anyone wants to see, it is evident that we shall not have a continuation of unusually high unemployment.

Retail Price Index Fairly Stable

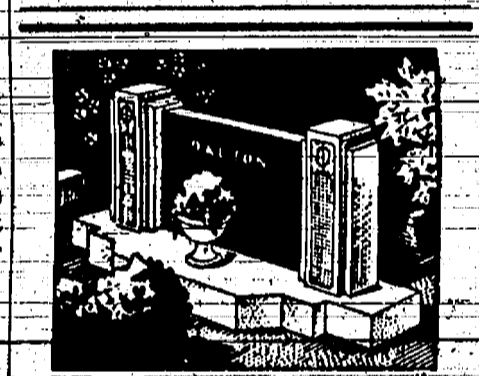

Prices at the retail level have just topped their previous high by one-tenth of one percentage point. This is the consumer price index of the Bureau of Labor Statistics. This index has been stable for a year, as a result of declines in food prices offsetting rises in other items. The May rise reflected an increase in food as well as other items. The wholesale price index also remained stable as a result of declines in the prices of farm products, and foods being enough to offset a gradual increase in the prices of industrial commodities.

Business profits continue to climb, and dividend payments so far this year are slightly above the corresponding period of 1958.

With this type of factual news being published day after day, and the above representing only some of the broader items, it is easy to understand why persons should begin to wonder whether we are entering a boom. Perhaps we are, but the evidence up to this point is adequately encompassed by the term recovery. We all hope this continues to be true.

Mrs. Raymond Johnson Making Quick Recovery From Heart Surgery

Mrs. Raymond Johnson returned home Sunday from U. of M. hospital, Ann Arbor, where she had undergone heart surgery, Wednesday, June 17. The corrective operation involved the mitral valve of the heart. Booster Caravan to Clinton Will 'Blast Off' at 7 Tonight

Last Thursday evening saw a mass exodus from Chelsea to Saline. More than 200 cars made up the caravan, which overflowed Saline's parking lots. Participants marched around a full block and up US-112, stopping all traffic for about 15 minutes. The parade ended at a city parking lot, where, through the co-operation of Saline city officials, the dancing was held.

Soon after the dancing started, things became rather hectic. It seems that someone was doing our little Nell wrong and the square dancing was interrupted while the Sylvan Center City Slickers held a shotgun wedding in front of 800 or so witnesses.

Soon after the dancing started again, a fire was started by a fire bug. Luckily, both the Saline and the Chelsea fire departments were on hand to form an efficient bucket brigade to save the city. It is rumored that one of the Chelsea Belles got soaked with water, that is, we cannot tell if it was intentional or not.

The music for the dancing was provided by the Leach-McDonald orchestra, with the dances called by Luther Schable and Hazen Leach.

On Sunday afternoon, the Mayor of Clinton and his Mayor pro-tem, came to Chelsea to ask for a caravan to Clinton, in conjunction with the dedication of their new street lighting system. A caravan for that purpose will form at the Community Fairgrounds, at 7 p.m. on July 2 (tonight). They promise us a good time. This will be a family affair.

The caravan to go to Ypsilanti for the 4th of July parade will assemble by 9:30 a.m. as the parade starts in Ypsilanti at 11 a.m. sharp. The last caravan will be held on July 9, to Dexter. Assembly time is 7 p.m. at the fairgrounds. This will definitely be a family affair. Caravan Chairman, Wallace Wood, predicts that we will have a caravan in which the front cars will reach Dexter before the last one leaves Chelsea.

As publicity for the "silver anniversary plus 100," Chelsea people who participate in the caravan programs take with them a supply of silver dollars which they use to pay for any purchases they might make in the towns they visit.

Former Baseball Stars Will Meet Dexter

Team Sunday Afternoon

Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock former baseball stars here will be on a Chelsea team opposing a team from Dexter managed by another former Chelsea star, Wayne Rossbach. The game will be played at South Elementary school.

Chelsea players include Tom McClellan, Hank Orbring, Jim Gaken, Arden Muebach, Marty Tobin, Jim Miller, George Heydlauff, Jerry Lehman and Don Alber.

Chris Fitzsimmons Farm Cited as 'Centennial Farm'

The Lyndon township farm of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Fitzsimmons at 11082 Goodband road, a mile north of North Lake, has been designated "centennial farm" by the Michigan Historical Commission.

The designation is awarded only to farms which have been in the same family for at least 100 years. Originally, the farm was purchased in 1854 by Mrs. Fitzsimmons' grandfather, Alva Hudson, from "John Shepherd and wife."

After the death of Alva Hudson and his wife, Harriett, a son and his wife, Herman and Ida Hopkins Hudson, became the owners. Herman had been born there.

The Herman Hudsons' family of four sons and two daughters all were born there, also. They included Herbert, Fred, Ernest and Norman Hudson, Mrs. Dan Rely.

Harold Jones Re-Elected by Library Friends

Harold Jones was re-elected as president of the Friends of the Library at a meeting held Monday evening in the newly-opened McKune Memorial Library.

Also elected was George P. Frisinger, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Benjamin Bower was elected vice-president and Ben Donaldson and Mrs. William Stewart were named members of the executive committee.

Mrs. W. R. Daniels and Mrs. E. W. Eaton, as the nominating committee, presented the slate of officers for the election.

Approximately 40 people were present.

During the business session it was voted to change the name of the organization from "Friends of the Chelsea Public Library" to "Friends of McKune Memorial Library."

Also voted at the meeting was a contribution of $150 to the Library Board. President Jones spoke before the group and explained about the cross-reference, indexed file of approximately 12,000 cards which he has accumulated in several years of painstaking effort. Listed on the cards are the names of people buried in cemeteries in this area and obituaries taken from the files of The Standard of many years back. Also included are all obituaries to date.

Where it proved impractical to use the entire obituary notice, notations were made on the card showing the date when the obituary appeared in The Standard.

It is a monumental piece of work and a valuable addition to the library.

Two Chelsea Musicians Play With Lansing Band At State VFW Convention

Byron Pearson and Gayle Grove were in Traverse City the past week-end to play with the Lansing Veterans of Foreign Wars Band which won first place in the band competition at the VFW state convention.

The band was sponsored by the Morley-Oates Post 701. Others from this area who played in the prize-winning band are Hubert Bearss of Dexter and Robert Sorter of Manchester.

Pearson played his cornet and Grove played a baritone horn.

community, however, it had begun to appear that completion of all the work planned would be impossible, since the original estimate of $10,000 proved insufficient and another $5,000 was needed.

It was at this time that a grant of $3,000 from the Herrick Memorial Foundation was received, making it possible to complete the restoration as planned.

Present and past Library Board members claim no special credit for the vast amount of preparation, planning and work they have done; however, it is general knowledge that the present McKune Memorial Library became a reality because Mrs. McKune was interested in the project several years ago through the efforts of Mrs. Warren Daniels and Mrs. E. W. Eaton who broached the matter to her.

It was through Mrs. Daniels, also, that the Herrick Foundation became interested, resulting in the magnificent grant of $3,000 announced two weeks ago.

Mrs. Daniels was president of the original Child Study club when the library was started here in 1932 in the store building now occupied by the Chelsea Shoe shop at 110 East Middle street. It was operated by volunteer help and supported by money received from bake sales, card parties, puppet shows and other money-raising projects of the club.

In 1933 the library was offered space in the front upstairs room at Chelsea State Bank and in 1940 it was moved to the first floor of the former Kempf Bank building at the corner of Main and West Middle street, now occupied by Grove's store.

The move to the second floor of the Municipal building, where it remained until the move to its own quarters in the McKune House, took place in June, 1947.

In 1948, by vote of the people, the library became tax supported. Miss Mabel Fox, present Library Board president, said that "the McKune House was restored by means of the gifts and labor of many people" making it truly an all-community project.

The new library is open from 11:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. each Monday, Thursday and Saturday and from 2 p.m. until 6 p.m. Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Only evening hours during the summer are from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m. Fridays.

there will be a very serious episode which tells of Chelsea's part in World War I.

Shortly after W.W.I, the Silent Flickers became very popular. At first they were held in store basements and were frowned upon. Later, as further witnessed today, elaborate movie houses were built. Chelsea had its movie house—the Princess Theatre, owned and operated by E. E. Weber. This episode, "The Silent Flicker," gives modern interpretation of an old Theda Bara and Rudolph Valentino movie in which Theda, played by Gladys Parks, pantomimes her great love for Rudolph Valentino played by Charles Cameron, and then is suddenly interrupted by Leon Marsh, who plays the part of the Husband William.

To climax the period of the early and late 20's a fast moving cartilage-crushing Charleston will be presented.

The period after the 20's and up to W.W.II was a period of prosperity. Many new industries came into Chelsea.

"On All Fronts" is the title of the W.W.II episode. It tells of the efforts of all the people everywhere working to end the war. This episode is built around a letter which wrote home to his folks. His mother takes it to a Red Cross meeting and is requested to read it to the others. The story then unfolds and is climaxed by the two Jim Tableaux with special lighting effects and music.

The Atomic Bomb was employed in W.W.II and is simulated in the pageant spectacle. A huge mushrooming cloud will hover over the audience and will be dramatically heightened by narration and music. The episode is appropriately titled "The Beginning of the End."

After the smoke has cleared and the audience somewhat relaxed, the entire cast of 515 local citizens will be presented to the audience.

The narrators for the spectacle are Dorothy Smith, Shirley Schable, Arlene Beatty, Dorothy Houle, Jim Chandler, Jack Chandler, and Dave Sanborn.

"Remembering When" is in its final rehearsal stage and a high quality performance can be expected on opening night, July 13.

Michigan still has 52 per cent of the total land area classified as commercial forest land. Aside from the timber potential of these lands, the forests and waters are the backbone of an important tourist and recreations business valued at more than $500 million annually.

The forest industry supports about 1,500 sawmills in Michigan, about 12 pulp mills, 120 mills processing raw forest products, and 650 plants processing lumber, veneer, and other end products.

KANGAROO COURT—This was the scene at the first session of Chelsea's 125th Anniversary "Kangaroo Court," held Saturday afternoon on the veranda at the McKune Memorial Library. "Judge" Harold Jones, in his black robe and powdered wig was wearing in a six-man jury in preparation for trying George Winchester, Sr. (right) on a charge of "not rounding up enough culprits." At left is the "attorney for the defense," William Rademacher, and, visible over the judge's shoulder is the "prosecuting attorney," John Keusch. Keystone Cops had picked up a number of culprits (including King Hanna, charged with the double offense of appearing without his band uniform and being too big for the size of the horn he was blowing). Others who assisted at the trials included Dr. P. E. Sharrard as bailiff, and Roland Spaulding, clerk. Court adjourned in order to permit the court officers and the judge and jury to accompany the final culprit, Carl Barth, "and run down certain matters" in regard to the offense with which he was charged—"chasing the Bar Belles."

Michigan ranked first in lumber production in the United States for 25 years, from 1870-1895. Michigan now ranks 16th in the United States and produces only half of what is consumed, or about 15 per cent of what was produced in 1890.

There are 1,128 different kinds of forest trees in the United States.

There were about 66,000 people in the forest industries in Michigan in 1954, with an annual payroll of $309 billion.
