'Miss Clearwater' Present To Assist Anniversary Queen

Florida City's Official Envoy Given Honor Position in Queen's Court

Miss Clearwater's arrival in Chelsea last Thursday was delayed several hours. As a result her first public appearance was at Thursday evening's pageant. She had been scheduled to ride in Thursday afternoon's Agricultural Day parade which was to be held up until 2:30 p.m. to await her arrival.

Currently reigning as a member of the court of the queen selected at the "Fun 'n' Sun" celebration at Clearwater, Fla., and introduced here as "Miss Clearwater," Patricia Marchiselli was an outstanding honor student at Clearwater High school until her graduation this year. Her trip to Chelsea was sponsored by the Clearwater Chamber of Commerce and the Fun 'n' Sun Organization.

Clearwater's official representative, she extended greetings to Chelsea each time she appeared in the pre-parade program and also officially invited Chelsea's 125th Anniversary queen, Norma Popovich, and her husband, Charles Popovich, to be the guests of her home city the week of Aug. 16-23. Miss Marchiselli plans to enter Lake Erie College, Painesville, O., late fall. She was awarded a one-year scholarship at the college with the privilege of spending

Chrysler Helps with Anniversary

Rod Linton, manager, corporate public relations; M. M. Dugody, supervisor, special events; and Ed Eskie, of the special events staff, were among the Chrysler personnel who took part in providing transportation, parade cars and display services for Chelsea's 125th Anniversary celebration.

In addition Chrysler Corp. gave away 2,000 anniversary balloons, 3,000 identification badges and 3,000 pieces of ice cream products and popicles, according to reports compiled here.

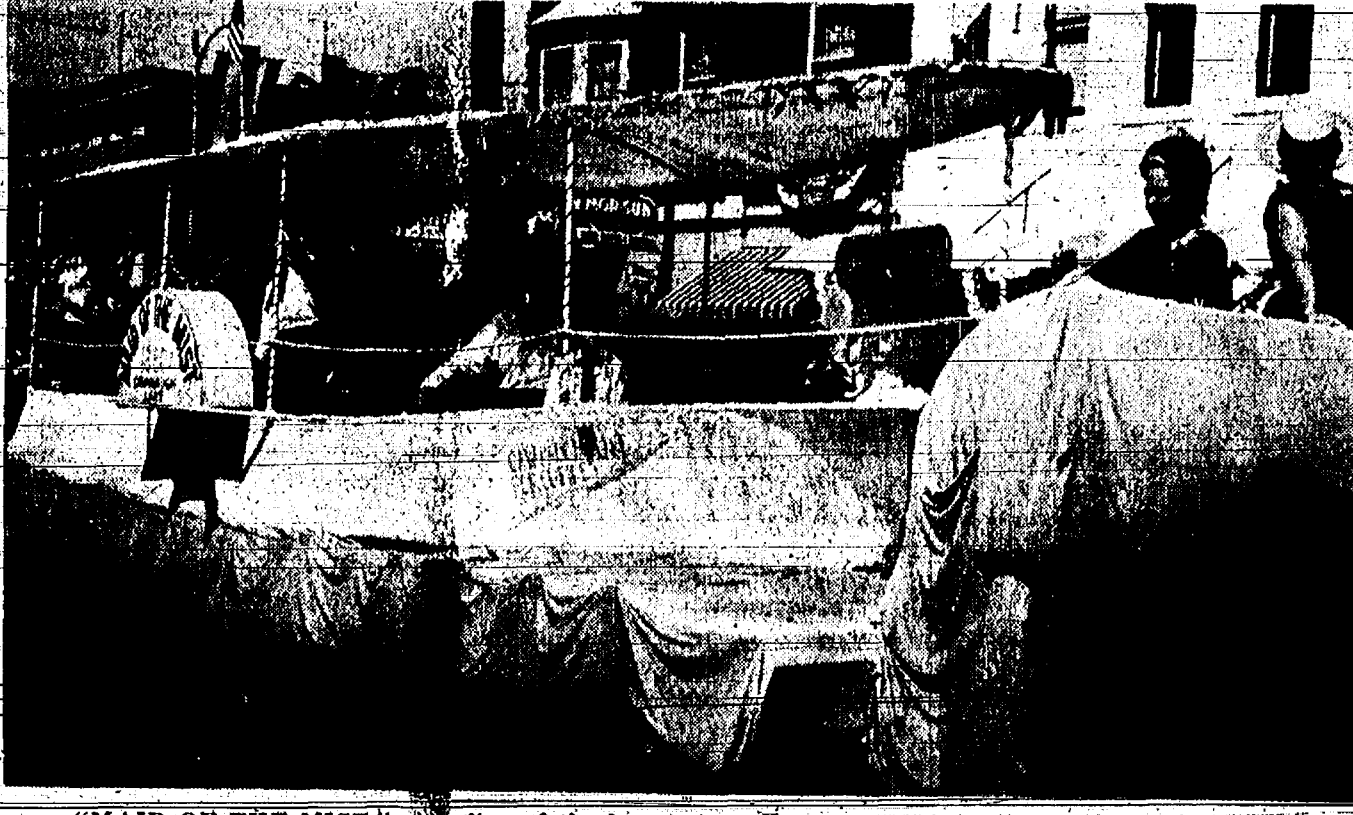

Chrysler Corp. also presented to McKune Memorial Library, 125 books to be chosen by the library board—one for each year since the founding of Chelsea.

Engineering division co-ordination of events was handled by Fred Tew, of the engineering public relations staff; W. R. Rodger, chief engineer-vehicle testing; and E. P. Anderson, supervisor of personnel and general services, providing grounds.

R. D. Burke and his staff of mechanics kept the cars provided in parade condition for all the activities and the instrumented car display at the Fairgrounds was made possible through the efforts of J. E. Sturm, Walter Koebnick, D. D. Bacon, Ken Buck, Carl Diehl, Floyd Way, Lloyd McLaughlin, Larry Chapman, Elmer Kiel and William McAllister.

Saturday morning 50 youngsters in anniversary costume were served (Continued on page 12)

"MAID OF THE MIST," replica of the boat which was a pleasure craft on Cavanaugh Lake many years ago, was one of the prizewinning floats of the July 11 parade which were awarded their prizes last Saturday afternoon. The float was entered by the Cavanaugh Lake Porcupines, Brothers of the Brush Chapter and the Cavanaugh Lake Cut-Ups Chelsea Belles Chapter. The "Maid of the Mist" float won first prize in the open class.

Pageant Seen By 9,123 in Six Shows

Total paid admissions for the 125th Anniversary pageant spectacle at the high school athletic field, Monday through Saturday, July 13-18, was 9,123, according to figures reported from Anniversary headquarters. Thus, average nightly attendance was approximately 1,520, although attendance for Saturday night's final performance was considerably above that average.

Members of Chelsea's Auxiliary Police Unit, in charge of W. J. Grassman, were commended for their control of traffic at the pageant site.

120 Skiers Take Part in State Meet

Approximately 120 skiers participated in an all-day meet of the Michigan Water Ski Association at Cavanaugh Lake Sunday. This was an annual club tournament which began at 7 a.m. and was concluded at 7:30 p.m.

Cavanaugh Lake Ski club was host for the meet and had rented the Legion Home as headquarters for the day. All the events were staged in the area near the Legion Home.

Diamond Lake club placed first; Whitmore Lake club, second; and Pineriders club of Clark Lake, third.

Other clubs represented included Wolf Lake, Gull Lake, Silver Skiers of Ypsilanti, Cass Lake, Lake Sherwood and the Cavanaugh Lake group.

Listed were six divisions in three age groups, boys' and girls' 17 and under; men's and women's, 18-35; and senior men's and women's, over 35 years old.

Each division participated in three events, slalom, tricks and jumping.

The Cavanaugh Lake club, assisted by their mothers, provided refreshments at the Legion Home.

Officers of the Cavanaugh Lake club are George Staffan, president; Duane Satterthwaite, vice-president; Robert Eder, treasurer; and Larry Schramm, secretary.

David Atkinson of the Cavanaugh Lake club is vice-president of the Michigan Water Ski Association.

Caravan Plans To Attend Bar-B-Q At Manchester

Next Thursday, July 30, a Chelsea caravan, in anniversary style, will travel to Manchester to attend the Manchester chicken barbecue scheduled for that evening.

Brothers of the Brush band was invited to attend some time ago. Those who plan to join the caravan should be at the Community Fairgrounds to assemble at 7 p.m.

A caravan of about 40 Clinton residents came to Chelsea last Friday and strung a congratulatory banner across Main street at Middle street. The group spent several hours here as a return visit following a Chelsea caravan visit in Clinton, July 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Betts and daughter, Patricia Anne, of Birmingham, spent Monday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Layner. Mrs. Helen Betts returned home with them for a few days.

Bruce Spencer and Kurt Kinde returned Saturday after spending a week at the Judson Collins Memorial camp at Wampers Lake.

Story Hours Underway At Library

Story hours for children are being held each Wednesday at 3 p.m. in the children's room at the new McKune Memorial Library.

The story hours began yesterday and will continue through Aug. 19. The annual summer reading program also started this week for all children in the age group beginning with those who will enter the second grade in September.

"Alaska, Our New State," is the theme for the program this year. Every child who signs up will receive a pin with the new flag showing the 49th state added for Alaska as the 49th state in the Union.

Mrs. Ronald Williams and children, Bradley and Kurt, of Waco, Tex., arrived Thursday to spend several weeks visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Slane. Her husband, Air Force Lt. Williams, and Lt. Paige Weddington, on a cross-country flight, spent the week-end here.

Prizewinning Floats Presented Awards in Saturday's Parade

Final Day's Activities Delayed Briefly by Heavy Thunderstorm

Ribbons and color photographs of prizewinning floats in the July 11 anniversary parade were awarded last Saturday to winners in each of the four categories listed as follows: Industrial—Central Fibre Products; most original—Chelsea Products; organizational and service club, division—Chelsea Rod and Gun club; and open class—Cavanaugh Lake Porcupines.

Brothers of the Brush and Cavanaugh Lake Cut-Ups Chelsea Belles chapters.

Photographs of the first three appeared in the July 18 issue of The Standard and a photograph of the Cavanaugh Lake group's entry appear to the left, above, in this issue.

The Cavanaugh Lake float and those of Central Fibre Products and Chelsea Products reappeared in the July 18 parade but the Chelsea Rod and Gun club's float was not re-entered.

Prizes were awarded the winners at the reviewing stand in front of the Post Office.

Saturday's parade was postponed because of a downpour of rain and got under way about 45 minutes late.

Included were antique cars and horse-drawn rigs as well as marching bands, color guards, and modern and old-time fire fighting equipment.

Saturday's parade was a part of Veterans and Fraternal Day observance.

Thursday, July 16, was Agriculture Day and also featured an afternoon parade, stressing agriculture equipment.

Chrysler Corp. provided a large, platform truck on which were displayed a number of antique farm tools—a wooden scoop shovel; a wooden hay rake made at Tecumseh in 1860 and now owned by Alton Frey; an antique marker with wagon tires bolted to the frame, now owned by Elmer Meyer; old plows made by blacksmiths and various types of hand-operated planters.

A corn sheller made in 1850, owned by Warren Spaulding; reapers patented in 1860, entered by Alton Frey and Harold Eismann, the latter's used as recently as nine years ago; a threshing outfit owned by Irvyn Weiss and Paul Seltz; and a one-horse corn planter were among the items in the parade and on display at the Community Fairgrounds later.

Entertainment at the fairgrounds following the parade included a harnessing contest won by Mrs. Charles McDaniels and the Rev. S. D. Kinde. Losers were Donald Bacon and a secretary at Central Fibre Products, Mrs. Donald Schneider.

A milking contest, scheduled for the same day, was called off after one of the cows refused to cooperate and gave a would-be milkmaid, Mrs. Donovan Sweeney, rather a rough time. The cow, ordinarily gentle and calm, broke loose and rushed Mrs. Sweeney who promptly used her milk pail as a weapon of defense. The cow had been res (Continued on page 12)

SECRET POWER OF NATURE—At the Leon Fox home, East Middle and McKinley street, four inches of asphalt surface on a newly-surfaced driveway, completed six weeks ago, was no match for a toadstool which pushed its way through about six inches from the edge. Fox is shown pointing out the spot where the growing toadstool had heaved up the pavement as it forced its way to the surface. Mr. and Mrs. Fox had noticed the bulging spot in the pavement and Fox casually remarked that "Nature does many odd things." Both were surprised when they came home after a few hours absence and saw a toadstool grown through the pavement. The picture was taken Saturday afternoon.

Board Authorized To Sell Seven Rural Schools

Sale of seven rural schools in the Chelsea School District was approved by electors of the district at the election held Tuesday in the Junior High school gymnasium.

Sealed bids for the sale of the schools will be received by the Board of Education until Aug. 18. Details are included in an advertisement of the sale, published on page 10 of this issue of The Standard.

Results of the votes for each of the schools were as follows: Palmer, 38 yes, 2 no; Waterloo, 36 yes, 8 no; Lima Center, 35 yes, 3 no; Jerusalem, 36 yes, 2 no; Jewett-Stone, 37 yes, 2 no; Beach, 38 yes, 1 no; Rogers Corners, 36 yes, 2 no.

A total of 40 votes were cast, spoiled ballots accounting for the remaining one or two votes on all but the Palmer school.

The Board of Education has organized and elected officers as follows: Dr. J. V. Fisher, president; Howard W. Flintoff, secretary; and Earl Beeman, treasurer.

Mrs. Irma Bertke is the recording secretary for the board.

Other members of the Board of Education are Leon Marsh and Luther Kusterer.

PRIZEWINNING BEARDS—From left are Elden Weinberg, winner in the class listed as beard-best-suiting character of man wearing it; Donald Doll, having the reddest beard; Thomas Rust, the fullest beard; Henry Williams, Van Dyke beard; Loran Vickrey, best in sideburns and muttonchop class and also, judged grand champion; Laverna Haffey, for whom a special classification of "character extraordinary" was added; William Bleess, most handsome beard; Robert Koch, blackest; and Eltia Borders, ugliest beard. Each received a blue ribbon award. Tom Rust, having the fullest beard, was automatically entered in the shaving contest which took place Saturday evening preceding the anniversary pageant. Vickrey was called to the platform prior to the shaving contest to be presented to the audience and to receive his prize—a beautiful 8x10 portrait of himself taken by Guenther Studio.

BEHIND THE SCENES—People watching the anniversary spectacle given each night during the anniversary week, Monday through Saturday, did not see the above unsung heroes behind the scenes—the narrators and control tent where the pageant-director, James Egbert made "Remembering When" come to life. With the aid of an intercom system (and assisted by Tommy Sharrard), Egbert alerted the cast behind the scenery and gave them their cues. He instructed George Elkins, the lighting technician; cued George Heydlauff, Earl Thomas and Don Wenk, the sound men, and the narrators, Dorothy Smith, Shirley

THANK YOU To An Entire Community

The 125th Anniversary Celebration has come to an end and words of appreciation and thank you's were never more in order. Sixty-seven (67) committees were involved with more than 375 people making up these committees. The pageant cast included another 516 people. All these plus many more people . . . all of you, in fact, joined in wholeheartedly to make this celebration the success that it was.

We don't even dare to try to single out individuals or groups to thank. Our office phones have been ringing with all sorts of reminders from you folks as to thanks and awards for the cast, the various brush and belle chapters, the Auxiliary Police, our local Police, factories, the Keystone Kops, Tom Tucci for his Anniversary Seal and lettering, singing groups, farmers, property men, Chrysler Corporation . . . We could go on and on listing groups and individuals we should be thanking but it is absolutely impossible to even try to show our appreciation for all the wonderful co-operation, willing and capable help and and in general the whole-hearted support that we have received.

It has been a real privilege to have been associated with you people of our community in the work and play of our celebration. We've enjoyed every minute of it and want to take this time to express our inadequate but very heartfelt thanks to each and every one of you. It was indeed your willingness to put your own individual skills and capabilities to work to their best advantage that made a celebration of this size and scope possible . . . Thank you all . . .

Vocational Ag. Teachers To Meet On MSU Campus

Stephen Hayden, Chelsea High school agriculture teacher and FFA advisor will be one of the teachers of vocational agriculture from high schools throughout the state who will brush up on teaching methods and technical agriculture at Michigan State University, July 27-31.

This will be the 40th annual conference of vocational agriculture instructors of Michigan.

Theme of the week-long event at Kellogg Center will be "Quality Leadership and Scientific Agriculture for Today and Tomorrow."

The conference will highlight talks by MSU faculty and authorities from the vocational agriculture field on quality teaching, how to help farmers with their credit problems, vertical integration and the effects of irradiation on agricultural products.

Washtenaw-Wayne Black & White Show Being Held Today

The annual Washtenaw-Wayne Black and White Show is being held today at the Rural Activities Center, located halfway between Ann Arbor and Saline.

The Monroe County Association has been invited to show their animals.

An entry fee of $1.00 is charged for each animal entered. This covers the costs of insurance, judge and a contribution to the Rural Activities Center.

Each 4-H and FFA club member may enter one registered animal free if the animal is registered in the club membership book. Clint Meadows, Extension specialist with the Dairy Department at Michigan State University will judge at the show. Judging is to begin at 1 p.m.

The state Black and White Show will be held the following week, Friday, July 31, at the Mason Fairgrounds at Mason.

CD Officials Rated 100% Effective On Test Exercise

With no special notification that a Civil Defense "take cover" exercise was to be held here Wednesday afternoon, July 15, people in the downtown area evidently thought the siren sounded at 2 p.m. meant that there was a fire. The four corners of Main and Middle streets were crowded with people looking toward the fire department barn, apparently wondering why the firemen weren't responding.

Civil Defense personnel, however, took their positions on schedule to halt traffic at all points of entrance to the village and to "guard" public utilities. In this respect, participation in the exercise was 100 per cent, according to reports of W. J. Grossman, director of Civil Defense Zone VI.

Gerald Miller, Washtenaw county Civil Defense director, has stated that the aim of the exercises is to familiarize every resident of the county with the five basic steps in Civil Defense as follows: (1) attack warning signals and what they mean, (2) your community plan for emergency action, (3) protection from radioactive fallout, (4) first aid and home emergency preparedness, and (5) the use of CONELRAD 640 or 1240 on AM radio, for official directions.

Scio Resident Killed Instantly In Farm Accident

Gordon F. Loy, who made his home with his sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Pettibone, 2220 Dancer road, was killed Wednesday evening when he was knocked off a farm wagon while helping unload baled hay at the farm of his brother, Harry Loy, on Pratt road in Scio township.

At the time of the fatal accident, Loy was standing on a wagon which had been used to haul the hay into the barn. Suddenly a rope on a hay-loading mechanism broke, releasing 10 bales of hay which were being hoisted to the top of the barn.

The bales fell toward the wagon on which Loy was standing. Several bales hit him, knocking him backward off the wagon. He died instantly, death being attributed to a broken neck.

Time is running out for children and adults who need to be protected against paralytic polio. The polio season in Michigan usually starts in late June or early July. If you or your children still aren't protected by polio vaccine, start the three-shot series immediately.

Gordon Loy

Dies Last Wednesday
Following Farm Accident

Funeral services for Gordon Loy, who died early Wednesday evening, July 15, as the result of a farm accident at the home of his brother, Harry Loy, 5081 Pratt road, Scio township, were held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Staffan Funeral Home. The Rev. Philip Rusten officiated. Burial followed in Bethlehem cemetery, Ann Arbor.

Mr. Loy was born Sept. 19, 1898, in Detroit, a son of Frederick and Louise Reab Loy. As a young man he lived for a short time in Monroe county and then in Shepherd, Mich., until 1937. Before coming to make his home with the Pettibones here seven years ago, he had been employed as an engineer at the Hayes hotel in Jackson for 15 years.

Survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Lennis Moggenberg of Elwell, Mich.; two adopted daughters, Mrs. Frederick Loy of Midland, and Mrs. Clyde Betts of Hemlock; two brothers, Frederick Loy, Jr., of Midland, and Harry Loy of Ann Arbor; and the sister at whose home he had lived the past seven years, Mrs. Earle Pettibone.

Also surviving are nine grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Willie N. Green

Lyndon Township Resident
Was Native of England

Willie N. Green of 20125 Barthel road, a Lyndon township resident the past 37 years, died Tuesday, July 14, at an Ann Arbor hospital. He was 83 years old.

Born Oct. 27, 1876, in Claxby, England, he was a son of Daniel and Maria Blanchard Green. He came to the Grass Lake area from England in 1908.

Survivors are a sister, Miss C. Solving, with whom he had made his home at the Barthel road address; a niece and great-niece Mrs. Archie Moore of Grass Lake; and Mrs. Francis Smokey of Battle Creek; and a brother, Joseph Green of Stinton-Lee-Vale, England.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Friday at the Staffan Funeral Home with the Rev. Allan Reed officiating. Burial took place in East cemetery, Grass Lake.

Mrs. Jessie B. Hunt

Former Chelsea Resident
Dies at Howell Hospital

Mrs. Jessie Brown Hunt, who lived in the Chelsea area until her marriage in 1930, died July 9 at McPherson Community Health Center in Howell. Until she entered the hospital she had been cared for during a long illness at the home of a niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pringle of Lake Gregory.

Mrs. Hunt was born at North Lake, April 7, 1870, a daughter of Edward and Mary Brown. At the time of her marriage, Feb. 19, 1930, to the late Lester Hunt, she had made her home for a number of years on Grant street. She was the last surviving member of a family of eight children.

Mrs. Hunt was a member of the Parkers Corners Methodist church and the WSCS of the church. Survivors are two sisters-in-law, Mrs. Julia Brown of Chelsea and Mrs. Laura Brown of Iosco; and a number of nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held Sunday, July 12, at the Liversance Funeral Home in Fowlerville. Interment followed in Greenwood cemetery there.

Miss T. Ethel Morrow

Was Sister of Former
Chelsea Methodist Minister

Miss Tilly Ethel Morrow, who had lived at the Methodist Home since April 29, 1949, died there early Monday. She was a sister of the Rev. Orville Morrow, a former pastor of the Chelsea Methodist church.

Miss Morrow was born Sept. 4, 1879, at Forest, Ontario, Canada, a daughter of Alfred J. and Catherine Morrow.

She came to the Home from St. Clair, Mich., where she had been a member of the Methodist church and served for 20 years on the church's official board. She was a life member of the Women's Home Missionary Society.

Surviving, in addition to the Rev. Orville Morrow, now of Saginaw, are another brother, Ira Morrow of Detroit, and two nieces, Mrs. Della Staunenberg of Lansing and Mrs. Katherine York of Ferndale.

The body was at the Staffan Funeral Home until yesterday morning when funeral services were held at 10 a.m. at the Methodist Home Chapel with the Rev. George P. Stanford officiating. Cremation followed.

Young People Attend National Music Camp

Six Chelsea young people are among the 200 who are attending the 1959 All-State Intermediate Band session at the National Music Camp at Interlochen July 13-20.

Frederick N. West, from the instrumental music department of Pontiac public schools, is serving as conductor of the band.

The students, aged 12 through 16, represent more than 100 cities and communities in the state. Most are attending the All-State session on scholarships supplied by hometown schools or clubs.

The Chelsea students, all sponsored by the Chelsea Band Boosters club, are Jean Anne Pajot, daughter of Mrs. Jack Pfeiffer; Ed Lauson, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Lauson of Huntington, W. Va.; Lennis Beach whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Beach; Judith Grove, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Grove; Carolyn Bareis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bareis; and David Talbot, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. G. P. McFadden.

PARENTS VULNERABLE

Parents of young children have a high rate of paralytic polio. Doctors believe that youngsters, even those who are immunized against polio, bring the virus home with them and expose the parents. This is one of the reasons young adults need to be protected against paralytic polio. Those who aren't already immunized should start their shots as soon as possible.

Three Hospitalized After US-12 Crash Saturday Morning

Three of four passengers were hospitalized after being injured when their car rolled over on US-12 just west of Notten road Saturday morning. It was raining at the time.

The injured were identified as the driver, Bruce A. Donaldson, 17, of Taylor Center, and two passengers—his brother, Dennis, 14, and Ada L. McGowan, 81, of Southgate. They were taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Another passenger, Don Hart, 17, of Taylor Center, escaped injury.

Many Factors Contribute to Near Extinction of Michigan's Wild Flowers

Lansing—Until the turn of the century, gentians, orchids, cardinal flowers, trout lilies, trilliums, trailing arbutus, lady's slippers and several other species of wild flowers flourished in southern and southeastern Michigan.

Today they are rare in this section of the state. What has caused their near extinction in this region?

Many factors are responsible. Drainage, burning, logging, grazing and cultivation of land have drastically altered or destroyed the habitats in which they once thrived.

Although much of this has been essential to the clearing and development of land for farms, homes and industry, a great deal of unnecessary damage has been done, and continues to be done to natural habitats through ignorance and unconcern.

Indiscriminate picking takes a heavy toll each year. In their haste to collect flowers for a bouquet or to enhance their gardens, people do not realize they may be picking next year's or the following year's crop of native plants.

Most orchids, lady's slippers and trilliums are perennial plants whose flowers are borne on leafy stems. Plucking their flowers not only prevents seed production but ultimately causes starvation of their rootstocks and tubers.

The following year's crop is not guaranteed by leaving a few flowers for seed production. Authorities estimate that only one or two orchid seeds in 10,000 can be expected to germinate. In addition, growth is so slow following germination that it takes five to seven years for a seedling orchid or lady's slipper to mature and bear flowers.

Although carrying a fine of $25 to $1,000 and/or a jail sentence up to 90 days for its violation, Michigan's law protecting plants and shrubs has not been too effective.

How, then, can Michigan's wild flowers be protected from complete extinction? Education appears to be the best solution.

The public should familiarize itself with factors that contribute to the decline of these plants. "Living Beauty," a brochure describing the state's rare wild flowers, may be obtained by writing the Michigan Department of Conservation, Lansing 28.

There is also a need of dedicated areas where long-range scientific studies can be made of factors which determine how a given habitat originates, develops and matures if undisturbed by human enterprise.

CUB SCOUT NEWS

All ten-year-old Cub Scouts and Dads are again invited to a Webelos Day at the Bruin Lake Scout Reservation, Saturday, Aug. 8. The program was postponed from Saturday, July 15, due to a heavy rain.

The program for Aug. 8 will include (1) Action in the demonstration area, such as use of the ax, fire building, knots and their uses; flag-raising and saluting; (2) Tour of the camp; (3) Water demonstrations; (4) games; (5) out-door cooking; (6) camp-fire program. The program will run from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m.

TAKE ACTION. Summer could bring crippling polio to your family. The life of every member of your family who isn't immunized is in jeopardy. Protect them by having them start their polio shots as soon as possible.

COOKING SCHOOL—Michigan Consolidated Gas company's cooking school held at the new Chelsea High school last Wednesday as a highlight of Ladies' Day of Chelsea's 125th anniversary celebration was a popular feature of the day's observance. Mrs. Ruth Stewart, at right, who is the former Ruth Boyce, daughter of Mrs. Floyd Boyce of Chelsea, conducted the cooking school.

Mrs. Stewart retired July 1 as home service director for the Ann Arbor Michigan Consolidated Gas company but returned for her appearance here to participate in her home town's anniversary celebration. Other ladies shown in the photo were door prize winners at the event, prizes being the prepared dishes of food.

The NATIONAL OUTLOOK

★ Nixon Committee On Inflation

There are three Government Committees studying inflation. The Joint Economic Committee, under the chairmanship of Senator Paul Douglas, has merely been holding a series of hearings and will make a report later this year. Another is an Intradepartmental Committee, under the chairmanship of Dr. Raymond Saulnier, head of the President's Council of Economic Advisors. Third is the so-called Nixon Committee, the Cabinet Committee on Price Stability for Economic Growth. This last group issued its first public statement a few days ago and, because of its membership, its views are most important.

The membership, in addition to Chairman Vice President Nixon, consists of Secretary of the Treasury, Anderson, Postmaster General Summerfield, Secretary of Agriculture Benson, Secretary of Commerce Strauss (or presumably his successor), Secretary of Labor Mitchell, and Dr. Saulnier. Mrs. W. Allen Wallis from the University of Chicago is executive vice chairman.

On the negative side, the Committee rejected the idea that a little inflation is inevitable and also rejects the idea of government control of prices and wages. It says that moderate price increases cumulate in the course of years to immoderate rises in the cost of living, and that controls always result in waste, inefficiency, and a slowing down of progress.

On the positive side the Committee recommends "as a minimum course of action" three steps be taken promptly. These are:

1. Recognition by the Congress of reasonable price stability as an explicit goal of federal economic policy.

2. Expenditures must be held to the level recommended by the President in his budget message of last January, and programs for future years must not be authorized which will create a deficit. If spending is thus held under control, it may be possible to begin to reduce the public debt.

3. There must be firm control of the quantity of money and credit, and the Government must be permitted to borrow in the public market at rates which attract private investors. This means, at the moment, removing the present 4½ per cent interest ceiling on government bonds. The issue, says the Committee, "is whether we want price stability or whether we want, in a concealed way, to do the equivalent of printing money—something the American public would not stand for if done openly."

Those are the conclusions reached up to this point. For the future the Committee says it is studying five basic problems, as follows:

1. Tax reform. In the opinion of the Committee "If the line can be held on the Administration's budget, tax revenues should more than meet current expenditures." This would provide the margin for reduction of the debt and tax reform.

2. Our competitive position in foreign markets. No indication is given as to what should be done to meet this problem, but a promise is made that a report will be issued with recommendations.

3. Government regulations affecting industry. Many such regulations are no longer needed, because of "technological developments," and the Committee has initiated several studies looking for their modification.

4. Farm price support programs. The present program, in the opinion of the Committee, is based upon "obsolete laws," and the expenditures "go largely to a comparatively few large producers, and to industries only remotely connected with farming." Again special studies will be made for the purpose of finding non-inflationary solutions.

5. Practices of labor and business. In the words of the Committee: "Excessive concentration of power in the hands of labor or business results in practices which are contrary to the public interest." The correction of this must be through elimination of the power, not by the government stepping in directly. The Committee will report on the extent to which such concentrations of power "contribute to inflation or impede economic progress."

Obviously this is quite a program of work the Committee has set forth for itself. Fortunately it can call upon any branch of government and any private organization should stand willing to give whatever aid is asked.

Emergency Appeals Planned By 52 County Polio Chapters

"March of Dimes Chapters in fifty-two Michigan counties have a need for an emergency appeal to be conducted in August in order to continue financial support for victims of crippling polio." This was announced today by Paul D. Bagwell of East Lansing, state chairman of the polio-fighting organization.

In all of the counties depicted in black on the accompanying map March of Dimes chapters have literally gone broke paying medical and hospital expenses of local polio patients. Many are deeply in debt to local hospitals.

Seven additional counties, appearing on the map in a dot pattern, are "on the border" and also plan emergency appeals in August. Those in white have sufficient funds to carry through the year, but may conduct token campaigns to aid other county chapters.

"We are hoping there will be no epidemic in Michigan this year," Bagwell said. "If another epidemic should occur this year as in 1958 the result would be devastating. To forestall such an occurrence, chapters are doing everything possible to encourage persons of all ages to get themselves vaccinated against paralytic polio."

Chapters conducting an emergency appeal will retain 100 percent of all funds raised and use the money exclusively for care and treatment of paralytic polio patients.

In addition to carrying on the fight against paralytic polio, the National Foundation (formerly for infantile paralysis) has begun its work toward elimination of arthritis and birth defects.

Crippled Children's Camp Will Still Accept Applications

Herman O. Benz, president of the Washtenaw county chapter of the Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., has announced that four applications were received from the Chelsea area for children who wish to attend the crippled children's summer camp near Pinckney. The camp period is scheduled for Aug. 17-28.

Benz said applications are still being accepted by the Washtenaw County Health Department.

The four applications received to date are for Douglas Ball, Ruth Fish, Debra Stinehelfer and Teddy Dickinson.

Vernon Ewald, another Chelsea area resident, is to attend the adult camp at Wolfe Lake, Jackson county.

The summer camp program for handicapped children and adults is financed by the sale of Easter Seals, Benz pointed out.

Others in the area who feel they might be eligible to attend either the children's or the adult's camp, should contact the Washtenaw County Health Department as soon as possible.

The population of the United States when the first census was taken, in 1790, was 3,929,314.

Dr. R. Youngdahl To Speak at Fair Sunrise Service

One of the Nation's leading clergymen—Dr. Reuben K. Youngdahl, pastor of Mount Olivet Lutheran church of Minneapolis, Minn.—will be the speaker for the ninth annual Sunrise Service to be held Sunday, Sept. 6 at 8 a.m. at the Michigan State Fair.

Dr. Youngdahl, brother of Federal Judge Luther Youngdahl of the District of Columbia, heads one of the largest and most successful congregations in the world. During 20 years, he has seen Mount Olivet grow to nearly 10,000 members who worship in four Sunday morning services.

For the past eight years the Sunrise Service has been sponsored by the State Fair in co-operation with the Detroit Council of Churches. It has attracted approximately 10,000 early morning worshippers each year.

Dr. Youngdahl has received many honors. In 1945, he was named outstanding young man of Minneapolis by the Junior Chamber of Commerce; in 1949, he was chosen one of the 100 living great of the State of Minnesota and in 1950 his church was voted one of the 12 great churches of America in the Christian Century Magazine.

During his days at Gustavus College he played on the tennis, football and basketball teams; was handball champion and all-around star in basketball. During his seminary days, he played professional basketball.

Dr. Youngdahl has authored seven books and has traveled around the world several times.

Kathryn Kinde Touring Eastern States with Methodist Young People

Miss Kathryn Kinde, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. S. D. Kinde, is expected to return home on Friday after a 12-day tour to several eastern states. She made the trip in company with 36 young people from Michigan Methodist churches who comprised a bus caravan to travel 2,000 miles from July 12-24 in an effort to see Methodism at work through colleges, churches, and other agencies. The tour was planned to include points of historic and scenic interest.

The caravan, sponsored by the Detroit Conference Youth Council, Board of Christian Education, and Woman's Society of Christian Service, toured a route to cover eight states; part of Canada including Windsor and Niagara Falls, Ont., Albany, N. Y., Boston and Hartford, Conn., New York City, Washington, D. C., Philadelphia, and Pittsburgh, Pa. Plans included a visit to the United Nations Building, colleges and seminaries, retirement homes, a foreign embassy, and historic churches and shrines.

The group planned to stay overnight at churches and colleges en route. They left from Flint, and will return to Grand Blanc, arriving tomorrow.

Miss Kinde's trip was sponsored by the WSCS of the First Methodist church. Other local youth who have made similar trips are Jon Harris, 1957 and '58, and Charles Cameron in 1958.

In Washington Miss Kinde had an interview with George Meader of Ann Arbor, our representative in Congress.

She also visited the RCA, CBS, NBC and ABC radio and TV studios in New York and saw the Jimmy Rodgers show in the Ziegfeld theatre.

At a later date a report of the tour will be presented to the local WSCS.

Regular Session.
This session was called to order by Pres. Alber at 8:00 p.m.

Trustees present: Barr, Blass, Chandler, Kohnman, Lixey, and Paul.

The minutes of the regular session of June 16, were read and approved.

Sealed bids were submitted to the Village Council for the excavation of Van Buren and Taylor Streets. Motion by Lixey, supported by Chandler, that the Village Council accept the low bid of $3,267.60 for the excavation of Van Buren Street and Taylor Streets, subject to the approval of the Village Engineer. Low bid submitted by Tom Merkel and P. L. Budreau. Roll Call: Yeas all. Motion carried.

Bills in the amount of $10,796.81 were presented to the Village Council for their approval. Motion by Lixey, supported by Chandler, that the clerk be authorized and directed to issue checks on the General Fund in payment of bills submitted. Roll call: Yeas all. Motion carried.

A discussion was held with Mr. Strout of Finkbeiner, Pettis & Strout, Engineers for the Village Sewerage System, in regards to equipment necessary to maintain the present sewerage treatment plant.

Motion by Barr, and supported by Blass, that we authorize the firm of Finkbeiner, Pettis & Strout to advertise for separate bids for laboratory equipment and a return sludge pump for the sewerage treatment plant. This bid to be submitted August 4, 1959. Roll call: Yeas all. Motion carried.

Motion by Blass, supported by Chandler, that the Village Council room be moved from its present location into the former library site and the present Council Room to be turned over to the Social Service for their service and storage room. This transfer will become effective August 1, 1959. Roll call: Yeas—Barr, Blass, Chandler, Lixey and Paul. Nays—Kohnman. Motion carried.

Motion by Lixey, supported by Kohnman, that a request by the Michigan Municipal League be tabled for further study. Roll call: Yeas all. Motion carried.

Motion by Blass, supported by Kohnman, that the Village Clerk be authorized to make application on behalf of the Village of Chelsea for a permit to place Celebration Banners along State trunkline M-22 between Old US-12 and Old M-22 on July 10, 1959 and to remove on or before July 20, 1959 and that the Village of Chelsea will indemnify and save harmless the State of Michigan and the State Highway Commissioner from all claims of every kind arising out of said placing. Roll call: Yeas all. Motion carried.

Motion by Chandler, supported by Barr, to adjourn. Roll call: Yeas all. Meeting adjourned.

Approved: July 21, 1959.
Donald C. Alber, President.
George L. Winans, Clerk.

Ice Cream Social
Set at Rogers Corners

General chairman of the annual ice cream social at Zion Lutheran church July 28 is Mrs. Wilbert Koenigster. The social will be held on the lawn at the parish hall, corner of Fletcher and Waters roads.

The church customarily holds its annual ice cream social earlier in the season, but postponed it to the later date because of Chelsea's anniversary activities.

What a big omelet could be made of Michigan's 1958 egg yield—1 billion, 668 million eggs worth $44 million! We rank 16th in egg production. As impressive as this figure is, most of the eggs consumed in metropolitan Detroit come from outside the state.

Kansas City, Kas., is one of the largest railroad centers in the United States.

J. A. EISENMAN & CO., manufacturers of breeches, standing beside the uniformed driver, cigars, located at 112 East Middle street, entered John Gaddes, "Indians" were Charles Eisele, the above float in the annual German Day parade in Chelsea in 1894. Columbus was portrayed by J. man while the "Indian Maiden" at center, was Louis Burg (in widebrimmed hat and short Flossie Eisenman).

NEA Speaker Slashes Out at Critics of Modern Education

Critics of the public school program who would turn the clock back a generation to what they regard as a "golden age" of education are worshipping the fond memory of what was never more than a myth, delegates to the National Education Association convention were told.

Miss Mabel Fox, Chelsea High school teacher, was a delegate at the convention held at St. Louis, Mo., June 28 through July 3.

The speaker was Dr. Harold C. Hand, professor of education at the University of Illinois. He was one of three members of a panel which discussed how contemporary critics of education should be answered.

The core of Dr. Hand's presentation was a slashing point-by-point rebuttal of some published criticisms made by a fellow educator at Illinois University, Dr. A. E. Bestor. Dr. Hand did not identify Dr. Bestor by name, but he mentioned by title a number of published articles. Standard reference works identify the author as Dr. Bestor, who is professor of history at Illinois University.

Dr. Hand's contribution to the discussion dealt with answering critics of the school program. Dr. John E. Corbally Jr., co-ordinator of field studies and services, Ohio State University, offered suggestions on how to answer critics of school costs; and Dr. Lyman V. Ginger, dean of the College of Education, University of Kentucky, replied to the critics of teachers and teacher colleges.

As an example of what he regarded as unfair criticism by Dr. Bestor, Dr. Hand cited a sensational magazine article which pointed out that in 1900, 86 per cent of all high school students were taking mathematics, but in 1958 only 55 per cent were taking that subject. These and other data were cited in the 1958 article as evidence that "we are less educated than we were 50 years ago."

What the article did not point out, Dr. Hand said, was in 1900 fewer than eight per cent of all youths attended high school and most of those who did were college bound. Fifty years later 54 per cent of all youths were in high school and the number enrolled in mathematics and science courses was fully five times the number enrolled in 1900.

Dr. Corbally, dealing with critics of school costs, urged the educators to marshal their arguments so that they could talk "good solid sense" about just how more money should be used to strengthen the schools.

It would not be enough, he suggested, to tell people that they spend more for tobacco—or anything else—than they do for education. That may be the way they want to spend their money. The job of educators, he said, is to capture for education its share of American consumer expenditures by convincing the consumer that he wants to buy more education.

He rejected the argument of some educators that their only role is to take whatever money is provided and spend it well. "The people, he said, have delegated responsibility for the operation of schools to educators and the initiative in getting more money for schools to provide quality education is theirs, whether they like it or not, he said.

Another educator, Dr. John K. Norton, professor emeritus and former head of the Department of Educational Administration, Teachers College, Columbia University, advocated substantial Federal aid for education through some such measure as the Murray-Metcalfe bill now pending in Congress.

"We were told 40 years ago, and periodically ever since," Dr. Norton said, "that if we would just be patient everything would be all right in time."

"This has not happened. The gap between the returns which might be realized from a complete, fully financed system of public schools in the United States and what we are actually receiving is wider now than it was a generation ago."

"Shortage is the key word in education in the United States to-

Michigan celery is impossible to get in the merry month of May, but you may be interested in knowing your state ranks third in celery production. As a matter of fact America's commercial celery industry was born at Kalamazoo a little over a century ago. Michigan growers received $3,374,000 for their celery last year.

Michigan is the nation's largest producer of red tart cherries. Within the past decade your state has not failed to produce more than 50 per cent of the total national crop. Last year's production of this beautiful red fruit was 49,500 tons which brought growers in excess of $10,000,000.

Broiled, fried or stewed, chicken is an increasingly popular food. Michigan is 28th in chickens for meat with 49 million pounds last year for which the raiser received $8,400,000. This is a lot, but in the Detroit area the greater part of the supply comes from other states.

Production of the farm, orchard and dairy in the state of Mississippi is large and valuable.

Swimmer's Itch May Be Prevented By Drying Body

Persons who swim in inland lakes can keep from getting "swimmer's itch" by drying themselves immediately after leaving the water, the Michigan Department of Health said today.

The itch is caused by a tiny worm that is able to bore into skin when the skin is covered by a film of water and when the water is evaporating.

Man usually isn't part of the worm's life cycle. The usual hosts are small snails and waterfowl that eat the snails. The snails live in shallow water in some lakes.

Up a steep mud-choked wash—Positraction pays off!

Through a mountain stream—deep in Avintaquin Canyon.

NO MOUNTAIN CAT, MISTER...

That's a Chevy with Positraction!

That $184 Floatside has the sure-footed ways of a big western bobcat. Roams through high brush country that would buck the life out of most trucks. Crosses streams without benefit of a bridge. Climbs talus grades where pifon won't even grow. But that's all routine for this Chevy, equipped with Positraction® rear axle. It's hard at it every day for the Utah Fish and Game commission. Figure about 60,000 miles of mountaineering before this Chevy is traded. And yet the district officer who drives it would bet his badge the tie rods won't even need replacing! Out in that wild, climbing Utah country, Chevy's suspension and frame and brakes, its Positraction rear axle and Thrifmaster 6 power are proving themselves under rougher conditions than most test engineers could dream up. They're proving that Chevrolet's advanced engineering and design ideas pay off—in spades when the going gets especially mean and dirty.

Positraction, of course, is a big plus on this job, providing the sure grip needed to dig through mud, snow, loose sand, whatever comes along. Could be that a Positraction-equipped 1/2-ton pickup is the answer for your area of operation. Or maybe a 4-wheel drive Chevy. We've got trucks that specialize in getting in and out of any kind of country. Talk to your dealer about your needs. He'll show you what tough trucks are made of.

MODERN IN 1860—Duane Noah handled this Walter Wood reaper, vintage of 1860, like a veteran in Thursday's Agricultural Day parade. The reaper is the property of Alton Frey. Considered ultra modern when it was introduced the Wood reaper cut the grain and pushed it off at the back in neat bunches without the necessity of raking the loose grain together. Workers then followed the reaper and quickly tied the grain in bunches.

THE MOST IMPORTANT THING IN THE WORLD!

From July 26th through August 2nd, the people of Chelsea will have the opportunity to hear discussions on the most important subject in the world today—the soul! Where did your soul come from? Where is it going? Is there a Hell? What is the truth about Jesus Christ and his mission upon earth?

You are invited to hear these questions and others discussed from the Bible each night during the above mentioned dates by Earnest Stewart, evangelist of Dearborn, Michigan. The time is 7:45 p.m. each evening. Sunday morning services will be at 11:00 a.m.

This series of gospel services is being presented by your friends of the Chelsea Church of Christ, who meet regularly at Chelsea on the Chelsea-Manchester Road, about one-half mile South of Old US-12.

The preaching will be plain, old-fashioned, and straight from the Bible. You are cordially invited to attend each service. A warm welcome awaits you!

Drownings Account For More Deaths Than Traffic in Holiday Period

At least 126 persons have drowned in Michigan waters so far this year with August, the heaviest month of vacationing, yet to come, according to records compiled by the State Police.

Of 172 water accidents reported, 106 were fatal, 46 resulted in personal injury and there were 20 accidents resulting in property damage only.

On the basis of the first six months, it is now feared that the toll for the last half of the year will greatly exceed the 1958 dead and injured in 267 accidents in the same period last year unless water enthusiasts exercise greater caution.

Of the 126 drowned, 17 were boat operators, 31 boat passengers, 26 swimmers, two skin divers, one a water skier without a life preserver, 10 children who wandered away from parents, eight youngsters who slipped into the water while fishing or playing and 91 were victims of miscellaneous causes.

Over the Fourth of July weekend, 15 persons drowned in water mishaps while only 13 died in traffic accidents.

Dried Eggs Added to List of Surplus Foods

The 70 families receiving surplus foods in Washtenaw county will find dried eggs added to the list of foods available at Food Distribution centers on Tuesday, July 28. Alfred E. Brose, county welfare director, said today that the dried eggs will add valuable protein to the diets of families receiving them.

The eggs were donated to Michigan by the U. S. Department of Agriculture as the result of a recent purchase program for surplus removal purposes.

Director Brose said the eggs were dried under a new process developed by the industry in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture. This is the first time this product has been distributed to needy families, although dried eggs of this type have been available previously for school lunches.

Director Brose also indicated that dried eggs like many other foods such as chicken, turkey, and fresh pork need to be thoroughly cooked before serving. The dried eggs should be used only in thoroughly cooked dishes like casseroles, soups, and baked desserts. They should not be used in egg-milk drinks, uncooked salad dressings, or egg dishes cooked on top of the stove.

The dried eggs are easily reconstituted, Director Brose said, by mixing sifted dried egg with an equal amount of water. Two and one-half level tablespoons of sifted dried egg plus two and one-half tablespoons of water equal one fresh egg. The reconstituted eggs can be used just like fresh eggs in recipes for well cooked dishes.

Families consisting of one or two persons will receive a No. 2 1/2 size can, three, four and five person families will receive two cans and six and seven person size families, three cans.

Brose concluded by stating that recipes in which dried eggs may be used will be distributed to each surplus foods recipient along with his allotment of dried eggs.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Meyers, Mr. and Mrs. Erast Clark, Mr. and Mrs. John Lotridge and Larry had a barbecue and picnic dinner at the Lotridge home Sunday. Afternoon callers were Mr. and Mrs. Clair Barnum. Pictures were taken of Brothers of the Brush and Chelsea Belles, then horsehoe pitching was enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Worden and family attended the family dinner at the home of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Stewart in Ann Arbor.

Calorie Counters Should Examine Labels Carefully

Ann Arbor—If you're joining the ranks of conscientious calorie counters, be sure to read the labels carefully.

Dieticians at the University of Michigan Medical Center caution you against mistaking "low calorie" for "no calories."

Many brands of bread, say the dieticians, are labeled "low calorie" when the actual caloric value is only slightly lower than regular bread.

One and a half slices of most "low calorie" breads are equivalent to one slice of regular bread.

At that, the difference is due mainly to the size of the slice, rather than the composition of the ingredients.

"Low calorie" bread is usually smaller and cut thinner than regular bread.

Others who were listed as contestants in the milking event were Mrs. J. B. Casey and Joann Graden of near Ann Arbor, Washtenaw county dairy princess for 1959.

Leading the parade were Village President Donald Alber and Congressman George Meador.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Worden and family attended the family dinner at the home of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Stewart in Ann Arbor.

Final Parade Marred by Injury To Three Persons

Fred Schumm sustained broken bones in his right hand and his 12-year-old daughter, Lucinda, and six-year-old Anita Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Martin, were painfully bruised in a mishap which occurred as Saturday's parade was getting underway when a horse driven by Laurence Noah suddenly bolted.

At that time, it was not known what caused the ordinarily well-mannered, gentle mare to suddenly rear herself in the air and over the two-seated buggy in which Schumm and the two girls were seated; however, spectators have since told Schumm that they heard firecrackers set off at approximately the same instant as the second bomb signal for the start of the parade. The horse had paid no particular attention to the first signal.

The theory that the horse might have been hit by a firecracker thrown by someone in the crowd was further borne out when a burn mark was discovered later on the horse's back.

Schumm and the first indication he had that something was wrong was the shouting of the crowd and a commotion behind him. As he turned and saw the horse already rearing over him, he instinctively stood up in an effort to protect himself and the two children.

The team of ponies on the Schumm two-seater buggy became frightened and started forward as the six-year-old girl was thrown to the pavement and dragged for more than 100 feet between the team and the buggy.

Lucinda, meanwhile, was being dragged along as she clung to the reins of her ponies attempting to stop them. The Schumms' buggy was smashed.

Noah's horse crashed into the rear of a covered wagon parade entry ahead of the Schumm vehicle and by this time Schumm said, approximately 30 men had rushed in to assist and Edson Whitaker grabbed the runaway mare and stopped her.

Mrs. Adolph Duerr, Sr., in front of whose home on East street the accident occurred, had Schumm and the injured girls brought into the house where examination by a physician revealed that the two girls miraculously escaped serious injury, although six-year-old Anita had a severely skinned hand and both girls and Schumm suffered multiple painful bruises.

Noah's mare and her two-month-old colt tied alongside appeared to have suffered no injury except for the burn on the mare's back.

Miss Irla Boettger spent from Sunday until Thursday visiting relatives and friends in Saline.

Expectant Parents May Enroll Now in Series of Classes

When the new series of Expectant Parents' Classes begins in Room 1 in the basement of the County Building Thursday nights, those present will hear Miss Naomi Barber, public health nurse, discuss how the baby grows before birth. Miss Barber's discussion will be designed to provide an overview of the entire program of Expectant Parents' Classes as well as to help the parents to develop an understanding of how their baby grows before birth.

Included in Miss Barber's discussion will be a film titled "Human Reproduction" which will show the growth and development of the baby before birth and will also show diagrammatically how labor takes place. Miss Barber will also discuss the anatomy and the physiology of pregnancy and then will open the class to discussion and questions from the group assembled. This new series of classes will meet each Thursday night in the County Building for the next seven weeks.

Registration may be accomplished at the class meeting and the registration will be open at 7:00 p.m. to allow ample time for registration before the class begins at 7:30 p.m. The registration fee for the entire series is $2.50 per couple. This includes not only the seven classes, but a special class for the fathers only and a tour of the maternity wards of the hospital in which the mother expects to deliver.

These classes are sponsored jointly by the Visiting Nurse Association of Ann Arbor, a United Fund Agency, and the Washtenaw County Health Department. Their content and subject has been approved by the Washtenaw County Medical Society and at least one of the classes will be taught by a practicing physician, as well as the special class for fathers.

Anyone is eligible to attend and registration may be accomplished prior to the beginning of any class in the series.

Teaching Gains In Popularity as Chosen Profession

Ann Arbor—Teaching is gaining in popularity, especially among men, reports Dean Willard C. Olson of the University of Michigan School of Education.

In the past six years, he notes, the number of provisional teaching certificates granted to M. Ed. students has more than doubled from a total of 387 in 1953-54 to 950 in 1958-59.

During the past year, he notes, undergraduate enrollment in the school increased 15 per cent. Total male education enrollment jumped twice as fast—30 per cent.

Graduate instruction in education is also increasing, he notes. In the past year, the U-M awarded 598 master's degrees and 26 doctor's degrees with specialization in education.

"Reasons for the increased interest in teaching are many and complex, but they include such factors as uncertain employment in industry, the increased emphasis on the importance of education in the minds of the public, the linking of the education system with national defense, increased availability of loans and subsidies, well-publicized shortages, basic population trends, and some recovery of the status of teacher salaries relative to other types of employment," the U-M Dean says. "Nevertheless, the need for teachers at all levels of instruction continues to be great and even acute."

"The period ahead will witness increasingly stringent shortages in the supply of qualified persons for instruction and research in institutions of higher education and in qualified personnel for many categories of public service," says Dean Olson.

General D. Beach Now Commanding Famed 82nd Airborne Division

Major General Dwight D. Beach who assumed command of the 82nd Airborne Division at Fort Bragg, N. C., July 1, took his first jump with the Division the following Tuesday and landed in a pine tree; however, he was not hurt.

Two other officers who jumped at the same time landed near Gen. Beach but cleared the tree. The officers are Brig. Gen. Harvey J. Jablonsky, assistant Division commander, and Major Charles W. Hanlon, Airborne Schools commander.

It was Gen. Beach's first parachute jump since he left his previous airborne command, Division 11th Airborne.

The jump was made from a light Army airplane at an altitude of approximately 1,500 feet. Ground winds were blowing only at six to eight knots but an unexpectedly strong wind at higher altitudes swept Beach and the other two officers across the drop zone and over the trees.

Major General Beach was officially presented the reins of the 82nd Airborne Division at ceremonies held at 2 p.m. Wednesday, July 1. The retiring Division commander, Brigadier General Harvey J. Jablonsky, made the formal presentation.

Major unit commanders, general staff members, and the Division Honor Guard, composed of six outstanding troopers from each Airborne unit, were on hand to witness the transfer of command.

General Beach, who was born here, attended area schools and graduated from Chelsea High school, was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Field Artillery when he graduated from West Point Military Academy in 1932.

Successive promotions led him to receive prior to assuming command of the 82nd Airborne Division as follows: first lieutenant, Aug. 1, 1935; captain, Sept. 9, 1940; major, Feb. 1, 1942; lieutenant colonel, Sept. 24, 1942; colonel, Sept. 8, 1946.

April 30, 1946, he reverted to lieutenant colonel and was promoted to colonel, Sept. 7, 1950; brigadier general, March 16, 1953; and major general, Jan. 1, 1957.

Since 1956 General Beach had been serving as the director for special weapons and requirements in the office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Military Operations, Department of the Army, Washington, D. C.

He spent a few days here visiting his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David Beach, before leaving for Fort Bragg.
