Clearwater Sun Reports Queen's Chelsea Visit

The Louis Ramps have received from Florida relatives a July 22 issue of The Clearwater Sun in which Chelsea's recent honor guest, Pat Marchiselli, described her visit to Chelsea as "Miss Clearwater."

Miss Marchiselli was in Chelsea from Thursday, July 16 until Monday, July 20. Her story of her activities included mention of extending an invitation to Chelsea's 125th Anniversary queen and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Popovich, Jr., to visit the week of Aug. 18 in Clearwater and be present for the Clearwater Post-Office Centennial. The Florida vacation is Mrs. Popovich's award for winning the title of anniversary queen.

Miss Marchiselli represented Mayor Alex Finch of Clearwater, the Fun 'n Sun Festival and the Clearwater Chamber of Commerce. She said highlights of her stay here were the beard-judging contest, the Florida orange juice breakfast for Chelsea children, radio and television broadcasts, her appearances at the anniversary pageant with Chelsea's queen and her court, a yacht trip on the Detroit River as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wagner and their daughter Judy, and meeting officials of the Chrysler and Dana Corporations and touring Chelsea Milling company's plant.

Kiwanians Hear Panel News Experts

Henry Thierman was in charge of the program at the Kiwanis club meeting Monday evening. He presented the program in the form of a television panel program for a discussion of present-day news coverage.

Thierman introduced Charles Cameron who talked on the subject of education in the news; William Rademacher who discussed the coverage of sports in the news; and John Keusch whose topic was "Headlines in the News."

Keusch emphasized his opinion that the dangers of inflation should be emphasized in front page headlines until everyone realizes the seriousness of present-day trends. He charged that inflation news is relegated to back-page space when, in his opinion, it is vitally important news to everyone and should therefore be given precedence over all other news of the day.

Guests at the meeting included Harold Beadle and B. East of Ypsilanti and Gordon Peters of Cincinnati, O.

It was announced that the Aug. 10 meeting will be Ladies' Night and will include a picnic supper.

Words of the song are as follows:

CHELSEA ANNIVERSARY SONG

Grab your old sunbonnet
With the trills on top
And meet me at the corner
Where the wagons stop.
Where the crowds are gathering
And the streets are bright
Come, let's join in the fun
In old Chelsea tonight.
Don't linger any longer
Let me take you by the hand
Can't you hear the mighty booming
Of the "Brush Brother's Band."
Get your grandmother's shawl
And hurry along
When you hear the "Chelsea Anniversary Song."

Chorus

Here come the wagons, Here comes the band
Come all ye 'Brushers' and 'Belles'
It's Anniversary time in old Chelsea, and
I wouldn't be anywhere else.
Oh, I wouldn't be anywhere else
(No, No)
I just couldn't be anywhere else
(No, No)
It's Anniversary time in old Chelsea, and
I wouldn't be anywhere else.

Saline Township Resident Drowns in Pleasant Lake

Harold W. Hieber of Saline township was the object of one of the most concentrated searches ever held in Washtenaw county after his rented boat drifted to shore at Pleasant Lake, Freedom township, at 1:15 p.m. Sunday. He had rented the boat at 10:30 p.m. Saturday to go frog hunting and was last seen rowing from the north shore of the lake at 12:30 a.m. His body was found at 7:50 a.m. Monday, almost 30 hours later, in six feet of water near the east shore of the lake.

A post mortem examination gave drowning as the cause of death.

Washtenaw County Sheriff George Petersen directed the search in which 24 skindivers from five Michigan State Police posts, township police agencies and private skindiving clubs participated.

Several gashes about the head and face were believed to have resulted when Hieber fell overboard, striking his head on submerged rocks.

Hieber, whose home was at 11625 Case road, was employed at the Klager Hatcheries in Bridge-water. He was 45 years old.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hieber was married March 22, 1946, to Goldie Chase, who survives.

Village Votes Aug. 10 On Bonds To Enlarge, Improve Sewage Plant

PTA Executive Committee Plans Year's Activities

The Chelsea PTA Executive Committee held its first meeting of the season Tuesday night at the home of Dr. Charles Miller. In attendance were Mrs. C. Farley, Mrs. C. Schwieger, Mrs. J. Gilbert, Mrs. D. Beatty, Mrs. G. Jacobs, Mrs. T. Ball, Mrs. G. Ellenwood and Mrs. B. Robertson.

It was decided that the programs for this year would be somewhat different than those of previous years. A tentative schedule was set up for the first six meetings.

Arrangements have been made to hold the meetings in the cafeteria at the new high school.

The executive committee announced plans to do everything in its power to promote a large membership and a very friendly atmosphere.

Meeting Scheduled Monday To Answer Any Questions

Caravan Leaves At 7 Tonight For Manchester

Tonight, at 7 o'clock, headed by the brushless Brothers of the Brush Band, a caravan of Chelsea cars will leave for Manchester to attend the Manchester chicken barbecue.

As has been customary with previous caravans during Chelsea's 125th Anniversary celebration, cars will meet at the Community Fairgrounds.

Village property owners will be asked on Aug. 10 to vote for a general obligation bond issue in the amount of $235,000 for sewage treatment plant expansion. The election will be held in the Sylvan Township Hall.

A special meeting is being held Aug. 9 at 8 p.m. in the new council room (the old library room) to answer any questions which voters may care to ask concerning the election. At this meeting will be representatives from the consulting engineers and from the company which is helping with the financing.

The following article has been prepared to present the voters with a clearer understanding as to the necessity of this bond issue.

Anniversary Organization Shows Profit

Chelsea's 125th Anniversary celebration closed officially almost two weeks ago but the "mopping up" activities are still in full swing, according to the anniversary committee.

Bids are being accepted by Chelsea Lumber Co. for the log-type building which has served as an advisory headquarters. Elwood Heydlauff will remove the heating unit, fan and air conditioner he installed for the comfort of headquarters personnel, and E. W. Eaton, headquarters chairman, is busy gathering together bills still to be paid and paying bills on which statements have been received.

Eaton also is responsible for checking with all chairmen who have handled sales items and inventorying unsold merchandise (which includes three women's dresses).

A general wind-up of financial matters is expected to show that profit from all phases of the anniversary project will amount to approximately $9,000. A detailed financial statement will be prepared for publication. Committees said they would try to have the report ready for publication in the Aug. 6 issue of The Standard; however, if creditors' statements are not received in time, the financial statement will necessarily be held over until Aug. 13.

Approximately $38,000 has been handled through anniversary headquarters during the celebration and the entire amount is accounted for in a complete, detailed bookkeeping system set up by Russell McLaughlin and E. W. Eaton, headquarters co-chairmen.

According to the John B. Rogers Co., hired to help stage the celebration, the report being prepared here is one of the most detailed accounts they had ever received. Several details of the accounting system are being adopted by the company as recommended procedure for use in other communities.

All profit from the celebration is to be turned over to the Chelsea Community Fair in accordance with a decision announced at the beginning of the celebration three weeks ago.

This condition at the plant has been called to the attention of Village officials by the State Health Department who make periodic inspections at all municipal plants. The Village has been advised by the Health Department to make necessary additions to the plant.

In 1956 the Village retained its engineers to investigate the conditions at the sewage treatment plant and to report on the necessary changes and additions. This report was completed and accepted by the Village and the Health Department.

In 1957 the Health Department again requested the Village to carry out its program for expanding the sewage plant facilities. Detailed plans and specifications were ordered prepared by the Council and these documents have since been completed and approved.

On June 16, 1959, the Village was notified by the Michigan Department of Health that, due to the existing conditions at the sewage treatment plant, construction permits for additional sewers in the Village would not be granted until definite steps have been taken to provide the adequate treatment facilities required.

Therefore, on June 16 the Village entered into a binding agreement with the Health Department whereby the addition to the present plant must be under construction by May 1, 1960. If the Village does not comply with this agreement the Health Department will then go into court and the court will order the Village to comply, even forcing the village to sell General Obligation bonds without voter approval.

By voting "yes" on Aug. 10, village officials point out, the property owners can save valuable time and money in carrying forward the necessary expansion of the sewage treatment plant.

Mrs. Hayes Guilty of Child Abandonment

A jury of eight men and four women found Mrs. Carol M. Hayes guilty as charged after 2 1/2 hours of deliberation Tuesday following her trial on a child abandonment charge. She is to appear for sentence next Thursday, Aug. 6, at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Hayes was charged with leaving her four small daughters without food in their unheated Lyndon township home last April 5 while she and her 10-year-old son accompanied Douglas A. Hamilton on a three-week tour of Michigan and Ontario, Canada. Hamilton was arrested at North Bay, Ont., on a bad check charge and is now serving a prison term there.

Mrs. Hayes was arrested April 23 when she appeared at the Sheriff's department to inquire about her four daughters whose ages are eight, five, three and one. The children have been cared for in private homes since their plight was discovered when the eight-year-old girl started out to go to a store to charge some food two days after the children had been left alone.

Patrick J. Hayes, former husband of Mrs. Hayes, swore out the complaint against her. He and the two older children testified at the trial.

Hayes has applied for custody of the children through Wayne County Circuit Court.

Meeting was called to order at 10:30 a.m. Present: Chairman Will, Beach, Kern, Marsh, Mulholland, Parr, Scheel, and the County Administrator.

The committee met to determine further action to be taken in establishing the position of Equalization advisor, which position had been approved for establishment at the June meeting of the Board.

The committee felt that the first action necessary would be to outline the principal duties and responsibilities of the position for review and approval by the Board before proceeding with the steps of recommending a salary and recruiting to fill the job. The committee spent considerable time in discussing the content of the position.

After discussion of the requirements for an appropriate job title motion was offered by Marsh, supported by Mast, that the title of County Equalization Advisor be officially applied to the position. Carried.

The committee next agreed to recommend that the following three principal duties and responsibilities be assigned to the position:

(1) The Equalization Advisor shall be responsible to the Equalization Committee for the operating program of his office. The activities of the office shall be subject to all general policies and administrative regulations of the Board of Supervisors.

(2) The Equalization Advisor shall assist the Equalization Committee in equalizing the assessed property evaluations of local units in the County. He shall compile and analyze factual data regarding local property valuations and prepare appropriate reports and recommendations for use by the committee. For purposes of making field studies such as sampling of local property valuations and other activities relating to the equalization process the advisor shall be considered the personal representative of the Equalization Committee. The Advisor shall notify the local assessing officer before beginning any field studies in any local unit.

(3) The Equalization Advisor shall provide at their request advice and assistance to assessing officers of local units on difficult or unusual assessment problems. The committee felt that immediate action should be taken in recruiting a person to fill the Equalization Advisor position after the duties outline as proposed by the Equalization Committee has been reviewed and adopted by the Board.

Motion was therefore offered by Scheel, supported by Beach, that the Equalization Committee request authorization from the Board to meet with the Ways and Means Committee regarding preparation of a recommended salary for the Equalization Advisor position; and that the Equalization Committee be authorized to recruit and interview interested candidates for the position. Carried.

ON CAPITOL HILL

By Congressman George Meader

Earlier, I wrote you that it appeared this session of Congress would be marked by sharp cleavages in doctrine between Republicans in both Houses and the Administration on the one hand, and the Democratic majority on the other and could present a clear distinction between the parties and their philosophies for the benefit of voters in 1960.

It appears now, however, that a shift in Democratic strategy has occurred to "veto proof" controversial legislation, making it more palatable to the President—thus diffusing party differences. The shift might permit Congress to adjourn sooner than I expected.

Left-wing Democrats in and out of Congress have complained bitterly at the switch, engineered notably by Speaker Rayburn and Senate Majority Leader Johnson.

Without injecting myself into Democratic squabbles, a question of public concern is whether it is better to develop "policy" issues for a campaign or to recognize, as a practical matter, where no one party dominates in both the legislative and executive departments, that there must be some give and take if we are to avoid an impasse, with government stalled on dead center and progress stopped.

I suspect, also, that the Democratic congressional leadership may be more sensitive to public opinion on a nation-wide basis than party theorists. The leadership in Congress may have concluded that the American public generally is less enthusiastic about new, expensive, federal programs, or their costly expansion, than might have appeared from the lopsided victory of Democratic Congressional candidates in the election last November.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish in this way to express our thanks to Chelsea area friends for flowers, cards, messages of sympathy and many acts of kindness extended during our recent bereavement. The thoughtfulness of friends at this time is deeply appreciated.

Family of Walter Bolanowski, Sr.

THANK YOU

I wish, in this way, to express my thanks to all my friends for the lovely cards and beautiful flowers sent to me during my stay at St. Joseph Mercy hospital.

Emma Honbaum.

THANK YOU

I wish to thank all my friends who were so kind to send cards, flowers and gifts to me while I was at the hospital and the continued thoughtfulness since my return. "Thanks" is not enough to express my feeling for the girls at the Home. They have been so loyal. I hope, in some way, I will be able to repay them.

Nellie Flood.

THANK YOU

Cavanaugh Lake Ski club members and their mothers join in expressing thanks and appreciation to all who helped in any way to make the July 19 ski meet such a success. Special thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Frayer and Walter Riemenschneider for their assistance and friendly co-operation.

THE 1912 PHOTOGRAPH of Mrs. Florence Howlett's fourth grade students, published in The Standard, July 16, has created widespread interest and several incorrect identifications have been pointed out, as well as identification of several originally listed as unidentified. One of the corrections was the identity of the teacher who appeared with the group in addition to Mrs. Howlett. Her name was Miss Irwin. She had been incorrectly identified as Miss Maskey. Identification as now revised is as follows: top row, from left: Warren Wheelock, Clarence Remnant, Edgar by the Federal Reserve Authority. This is a logical and well taken point of view by Martin. For it is obvious that the Congress does not have, and cannot attain, the knowledge necessary to supervise the money supply on a day-by-day basis. The most persistent argument made against removal of the interest rate ceiling is that it would cause an increase in the carrying charge of the public debt. This is not true. If the Treasury had the freedom to take advantage of the whole range of investment funds available, the total burden of the public debt might well be less than it is today. Further, present interest rates are not high by historical standards—they are high only in relation to the past several years. And forcing the Treasury to do its financing solely in the short-term market will not save money. This was proved in the recent issue of a $2 billion issue of one year bills. What is taking place will help no one and, if continued, will cause trouble and embarrassment.

The NATIONAL OUTLOOK BY RALPH ROBEY

Lack of Facilities Force Campers Out of State Lands

Lansing—A lack of camping facilities will force Conservation Department parks men to turn away more than 28,000 camping groups at state parks and recreation areas in Michigan this year.

After last year when a record 134,500 camping permits were issued, Department officials noted a need for balancing campers with camping facilities, principally disposal systems. In too many cases these systems had been over-taxed, creating dangerous unsanitary conditions.

Upon recommendations of the Department of Health, a limit of 7.5 campers or 25 persons per toilet fixture was set. This design factor was based entirely on the capacity of sewage systems.

Since funds were not available for adding or expanding these systems, the Department was forced to reduce usable campsites where these sites exceeded the new limit.

Thus campsite cutbacks were imposed at Baraga, Porcupine Mountains, Straits, Tahquamenon Falls, Fort Wilkins and Wells state parks in the Upper Peninsula.

In the northern Lower Peninsula, campsites were reduced at Aloha, Burt Lake, Harrisville, Hartwick Pines, Higgins Lake, Hooft, Interlochen, Otsego Lake, Silver Lake, Traverse City, Wilderness, Wilson and Young parks.

Cutbacks were made at Lakeport, Sleeper and Warren Dunes parks and Metamora, Pinckney, Island Lake and Waterloo recreation areas in the southern Lower Peninsula.

Personals

Lt. and Mrs. Kenneth Gilbert and Lyman M. Rundlett were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Howard Gilbert. Rundlett, who is police communications advisor to the government of South Viet-Nam, has returned to the United States for conferences at Michigan State University and to attend the national convention of police officers at Denver, Colo.

Leo Lange and two friends, of Utica, visited at the home of his aunt, Mrs. M. and Mrs. Robert Amstutz Thursday while enroute home from a trip to Notre Dame. Mr. and Mrs. William Amstutz of Clearwater, Fla., have returned home after spending three weeks here. They were in Chelsea during part of the 125th anniversary celebration and met Pat Marshchell, who was here as Miss Clearwater.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Beutler visited Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fink at Rives. Mr. and Mrs. Clair Smith, former Chelsea residents who arrived July 10 from Stewart, Fla., to attend Chelsea's 125th Anniversary activities, were guests of the Smiths' daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Reed and other relatives during their stay. Mr. Smith left Friday to return to Florida but Mrs. Smith remained because of the illness of a sister, Mrs. Viola Willett.

Attend National Conference of County Officials

Carl G. Johnson, county administrator, and Soto Township Supervisor Elmer A. Wolter represented Washtenaw county at the 23rd annual conference of the National Association of County Officials at Detroit. The conference began Saturday, July 25, and was concluded yesterday.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams spoke at the opening session, stressing the future role of county government.

At the same session, Arthur S. Flemming, Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare spoke on "Counties and National Health and Welfare Problems." The President of the United States greeted the assembly from Washington via telephone relay.

The meeting, one of the largest national gatherings on local government ever held, attracted county leaders from every state. The theme was "The Rebirth of the American County." Commissioner of the American County Association, North Carolina, in keynoting the meeting, stressed the tremendous strides counties have already made in adjusting to an era of rapid urbanization.

During the four-day conference the delegates heard such other outstanding speakers as Senator Albert Gore (D-Tenn); Congressman Robert A. Everett (D-Tenn); Federal Highway Administrator Benjamin B. Tallamy; Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois; Mr. Gov. Nigh of Oklahoma, and Walter Reuther, President of the United Auto Workers.

"Independent little things, aren't they?" — says Don Herold

AND thank heaven! Each of those 837 coil springs in the full-size Beautyrest Mattress is in its own little cloth pocket, independent of all the others.

Realize what that means? When you sleep on a Beautyrest, the mattress conforms to your form. Wherever you bulge, the springs give, because they give separately. Now that's real luxury sleeping comfort!

Ordinary mattresses, of course, sag like hammocks. (If you'd rather have a hammock than a Beautyrest, all right.)

Since I'll be spending lots of time on my mattress (1/3 of my life, they say), you can bet it's a Beautyrest. And you?

You can see Beautyrest at—

RAPE OF MALAYA

Time marches on and old foes have been replaced by the new, but British film producers are still thriving on the villainies of World War II.

This is the case with "Rape of Malaya," which is a mild version of the Denth March on Bataan.

British women, caught in the Malay Peninsula, are forced to march hundreds of miles with neither food or medical attention.

Grim fare, but presented very realistically by J. Arthur Rank.

Catholic Social Service Agency Reports 132 Cases

The Temporary Executive Committee of the Catholic Social Service of Washtenaw county met at the agency on July 20. Chairmen for the various committees were chosen, they are as follows: John B. DeVine of Ann Arbor, and Rodney E. Hutchinson of Ypsilanti, chairmen of the by-laws committee; Frank Pennisi of Ann Arbor, chairmen of the care and maintenance committee; Mrs. George Moe of Ann Arbor, chairmen of the public relations committee.

Dr. C. J. Maternowski, president, went on to discuss the progress report on the psychiatric and psychological consultations as a necessary part of the agency's work. He also discussed the progress report concerning new board membership. It was decided that the board membership would be gradually expanded until all communities in the Washtenaw county area were included.

Mrs. George Ennen, chairmen of the community group of volunteers, showed the need of volunteers in an agency to keep it functioning properly, also, she discussed the membership drive which will be an annual function of the agency.

Miss Marguerite M. Parrish, executive secretary of the agency, gave the orientation regarding the agency. Miss Parrish went on to tell the need the county had for an agency such as this. This can be shown by the fact that since its opening (May 1, 1959) the agency has 132 cases. The greatest percentage of these being marital problems where it is necessary to see at different appointments at least 3 or 4 members of the family.

Among the industries of New Hampshire, in addition to agriculture, are livestock, poultry and dairy farming, together with much manufacturing and fishing.

If you're the type who wants to "get away from it all," then your logical choice would be campgrounds in state or national forests. Campgrounds in these areas retain as much of the natural aspect as possible and only the bare necessities are provided, including tables, drinking water, stoves and toilets.

Additional campgrounds are available in county and municipal parks. Camping is also permitted in southern Michigan state game areas.

Camping regulations vary depending, primarily, upon the accommodations available—and the volume of public use.

More regulations are necessary in state parks and recreation areas to properly guard distribution of use. Camping is restricted to 15 days in any one park from June 15 through Labor Day. However, you may camp in these sites for a total of 45 days during the calendar year.

Park camping is limited to designated campsites or putout camping areas. Camping permits are obtained from the park ranger or his staff. The daily camping fee is $1.00 while the daily charge for electricity is 25 cents.

There is no charge and permits are not required when using state forest campgrounds. Continuous camping in one campground is limited to 20 days unless written permission is obtained from the district forester. In addition to established campsites, camping is permitted anywhere on state forest land not otherwise posted.

On national forest lands, regulations are similar to those in effect on state forests. No camping permits are required and the camping limit is three weeks. However, camping is mainly restricted to designated campground areas.

Regulations vary considerably in county and municipal parks and when using these campgrounds, it's best to ask locally.

Living Beauty in Michigan

Many of Michigan's wildflowers, such as this pink lady's slipper, are becoming rare in the southern lower peninsula due to man's intensive use of land for agriculture, transportation, industry and suburban developments. Although much of this has been essential to the state's growth, a great deal of unnecessary ignorance and concern—indiscriminate picking and commercialization of wildflowers fall into this latter category.

Michigan's Variety of Campgrounds Offer Accommodations To Suit Anyone

Lansing—Whether you belong to the group of campers who enjoy some of the conveniences of home or the more adventurous set who like to "rough it," you should have no difficulty in finding campgrounds in Michigan to suit your particular tastes.

For those desiring a few of the comforts of home, campgrounds in state parks and recreation areas are their best bet. Campsites are available in all but two of Michigan's 68 units.

Facilities differ from unit to unit but in most cases electricity and modern flush toilets are provided. Hot showers, bathhouses, concessions and laundry facilities are also found at many such parks.

If you're the type who wants to "get away from it all," then your logical choice would be campgrounds in state or national forests. Campgrounds in these areas retain as much of the natural aspect as possible and only the bare necessities are provided, including tables, drinking water, stoves and toilets.

BEST ENGINES!

One of 7 Big Bests Chevy gives you over any car in its field

You've got more to go on than our say-so: Every motor magazine has given Chevy's standard passenger car and Corvette V8's unstinted praise. SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED says it this way: "... surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price." And if you want the thrill of a six, you still get the best of it in a Chevy.

BEST ECONOMY No doubt about this: a pair of Chevy sixes with Powerglide came in first and second in their class in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run—getting the best mileage of any full-size car, 22.33 miles per gallon.

BEST BRAKES Not only bigger, but built with bonded linings for up to 66% longer life. Just to prove what's what, Chevy out-stopped both of the "other two" in a NASCAR-conducted test of repeated stops from highway speeds.

BEST RIDE A few minutes behind the wheel will leave no doubt about this. MOTOR TREND magazine sums it up this way: "... the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class."

BEST TRADE-IN Check the figures in any N.A.D.A.* Guide Book. You'll find that Chevy used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two."

BEST ROOM Official dimensions reported to the Automobile Manufacturers Association make it clear. Chevy's front seat hip room, for example, is up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars.

BEST STYLE It's the only car of the leading low-priced 9 that's unmistakably modern in every line. "In its price class," says POPULAR SCIENCE magazine, "a new high in daring styling."

Educational Program Warns Parents Of Hazards in Re-Using Plastic Bags

What are known to the medical profession as "crib deaths" have puzzled doctors ever since there have been cribs for babies to sleep in.

For years we have read the tragic newspaper accounts of babies dying as a result of becoming entangled in bed clothing or sleeping garments, getting the head caught between the uprights of a bed or crib, or getting the head worked under a pillow.

The U. S. Public Health Service reports that approximately 1,500 infants under one year of age die each year of suffocation and choking. The great majority are classified as crib deaths. Because suffocation and choking can occur so swiftly at this tender age, determination of the exact cause is one of the pediatrician's greatest responsibilities.

The sudden and alarming appearance of something that can be assigned as a cause—the ultra-thin plastic film from which dry cleaners' bags are made—has resulted in a reaction understandable to any parent.

This cause developed as a result of the backfiring of American ingenuity. The American mother, working with a household budget that never seems to go far enough, has often found ingenious ways in which to re-use containers and packaging materials. In this case, she re-used the thin plastic material as a make-shift mattress or pillow cover.

What the mother has not realized is that ultra-thin plastic is so pliable that it can rapidly mold itself around the nose and mouth, causing suffocation. The ultra-thin plastic material should never be substituted for the heavier plastic made especially for mattress covering.

Currently, the plastics industry is conducting a nationwide educational program to alert parents to the dangers of mis-using the ultra-thin plastic. The program also urges parents to knot the bag and dispose of it in a lidded container when the bag has served its intended purpose.

We hope this safety advice will remind parents of other safety precautions they should exercise to protect their children: precautions with knives, razor blades, matches and other household items with a hazard potential.

Endorsement of the plastic industry's program by such groups as the National Safety Council, the U. S. Public Health Service, the American Academy of General Practice, and the American Academy of Pediatrics, suggests the hope that this goal is being achieved.

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

The Citizens Research Council of Michigan has revised upward its estimate of revenue collections during the fiscal year that started July 1.

"The state stands to take in about $22 million more in this fiscal year than was thought possible seven months ago," the council said.

Official estimates of state revenues for the current fiscal year were made when Gov. G. Mennen Williams finished his budget drafting late in December.

"Seven months have since elapsed—seven months of what all signs and portents point to being a rapid and sound recovery from the current recession," according to a revenue report from the council.

Williams' original estimate for general fund revenues for the current fiscal year was $308 million.

The Research Council now estimates the general fund revenues will be $317 million.

The citizens group thinks the school aid fund revenues will reach 295 million dollars, up 13 million dollars from the original estimates.

Shortly after the Citizens Research Council talked about millions for Michigan, a panel of seven economists called together by Gov. G. Mennen Williams talked about billions for the nation.

The economists, including William Haber of the University of Michigan, and Daniel Fufusfeld of Michigan State University, urged expanded management of the economy by government. They also asked for more spending to relieve unemployment.

The panel of economists, meeting at Williams' Mackinac Island summer home, paid tribute to the government research that has increased productivity in the field of agriculture.

Williams said much of the praise was directed at the type of research carried out at Michigan State University.

MSU is about to start a large research campaign against tuberculosis in cattle. The university has accepted grants of $245,000 and $85,000 from the federal government for laboratory investigations and field studies.

And one of Michigan's best known farmers, wheat grower-road builder John C. Mackie, has asked for some research into the way peat deposits measured in Michigan are 60 feet. Such a thickness of peat would require about 18,000 years for accumulation.

"Recently the Agricultural Stabilization Committee informed me I had over-planted my 15-acre wheat allotment," Highway Commissioner Mackie said in a letter to Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich.).

"I plowed under 0.8 acres and cut 0.5 acres of wheat to circumvent paying a fine and to avoid the expense of a law suit."

"I am writing you as a member of the Senate Agriculture Committee to ask you to look into the background of the existing highly inaccurate system of computing acreage used by the ASC."

Mackie said he has been "deluged" with comment from other farmers from throughout Michigan who report similar errors in measurement by ASC.

"Apparently the condition is widespread, vexing a good many people," Mackie said.

Mackie had other trouble on his farm. He claimed in court a contractor over-charged him for remodeling. Mackie lost and had to pay.

The highway commissioner's personal affairs were in the news again the day after he lost his court fight with the contractor. Mackie decided he would turn down a $1,000 fund collected by highway contractors who wanted the money to be used for promotion of road building activities.

Promotion of Michigan's industrial development activities has been stepped up.

The first of a series of regional meetings planned to build a dynamic sales force for Michigan was held recently in Petoskey.

The Michigan Industrial Ambassadors, a volunteer group of business, industrial and civic leaders, started the regional series to further their efforts to sell Michigan.

Edwin O. George, vice-president of the Detroit Edison Co. and a member of the Industrial Ambassadors' Executive Committee, said "Michigan now needs more than ever an aggressive sales force" to spread the truth about the state and "correct the false impressions that have been created throughout the nation."

George reported plans for enlargement of the present Ambassador force from 214 to more than 500.

"We all have a big job ahead of us in selling our own state," George said. "And this job must be carried forward within the state as well as outside our borders."

"We have so much to tell that is good about Michigan and we should always accentuate the positive."

Twenty-five University of Michigan journalism students were initiated into Kappa Tau Alpha, national honorary professional journalism fraternity.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

My old lady come home yesterday with a pound of coffee, a box of aspirin tablets, a pair of hose and a folding chair for the lawn. She got 'em all at the grocery store. I can see what that feller in Detroit was talking about when he closed down his drug store after 41 years. He said he was closing down because he didn't know how to sell nothing but medicine and drug store items and he'd be dad-burned if he was going to learn the department store business at his age. Pore feller. He sold nothing but drugs and medicine. No frying pans, no garden seed, no goldfish, no shoes, no furniture, not even fertilizer and lawn mowers.

I admire this feller's fortitude, Mister Editor, but he shows plain that he ain't been able to lean with the times. Why, they even got cigar stores now that don't sell cigars, just cheese sandwiches, comic books, and a lending library.

If I was opening up a drug store and wanted to be successful, I'd put me in a good line of groceries on one side, some ladies' ready-to-wear up at the front, a few hardware items on the other side, do a mail order business for furniture and men's suits, run a used car lot out the back door, and save a little spot in the rear of the building for medicine and drugs. I'd make it real good that way, might even make enough to pay my taxes.

For insurance against the slack season, I'd rig me up a loudspeaker over the street and play them mournful songs I hear on television, the ones that sound like a razorback hog scratching his back against a hickory tree. Then I'd put me a sign out front: "If you can't find it in the dictionary, try us."

Speaking of used car lots, it always struck me that we got mighty dumb automobile dealers in this country. Look at any of 'em and you'll see they got all their profits tied up in used cars. Ever other business has talked the Government into buying up the surplus so's to keep the price high and the product scarce. If the auto folks had been smart, they'd have got the folks in Washington to buy up the surplus used cars and put 'em in warehouses and caves around the country. That would keep the price up. Like eggs and butter.

Well, Mister Editor, anytime you want me to tell you how to run your newspaper, just let me know.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

LET'S BAG SOMETHING BIG

In our town's efforts to build prosperity for its citizens, what is the biggest thing we can bag?

It is a good name—a good name for our town as a good place for industry to succeed and a good place for people to live.

As industry looks for places to locate plants and payrolls, its eye is out for towns that have such assets as:

Strong community spirit and leadership.
fine schools . . . outstanding public services pleasant residential areas and attractive business districts . . . sound planning and zoning . . . a good chamber of commerce . . . developed industrial sites . . . adequate plant financing . . . appreciation of present industry . . . productivity everywhere around.

Industry not only has its eye out but has its ear cocked. A good name travels far and a town with a good name goes far.

Join hands with your local industrial development organization and the Michigan Economic Development Department to help your community prosper.

The 1959-60 club year will begin Sept. 27 when the club will meet with Mrs. John O'Connor, Mrs. Stephen Baker, Mrs. Clarence Ullrich and Mrs. Justin Wheeler as hostesses.

Officers elected for the coming year are Mrs. Thomas Masterson, chairman; Mrs. Stephen Baker, vice-chairman; E. Francis Weyer, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Mary Clark, news reporter; Mrs. Guy Barton, community service and recreation chairman; Mrs. Charles Fuhrmann and her mother, Mrs. George Hall, project leaders.

Research has since proven this single-edged approach to be inadequate and, today, a combination of projects is necessary for proper management.

Among the major ones is the removal of stunted panfish and the subsequent stocking of predatory species.

Such prolific fish as perch and bluegills have reproduced at an alarming rate in many southern Michigan lakes and too often there simply is not enough food to go around. The result—too many undisciplined fish.

In 1956, the Department embarked on a project to remedy the situation by chemically treating lakes over-populated with panfish.

Problem lakes were selected by netting fish, studying their ages and growth and discussing proposed treating procedures with riparian owners and local anglers. In many cases, larger fish were salvaged by seining before chemical treatment began.

Following these preliminary steps, Department workers sprayed the chosen lakes with a dilute chemical solution. By not spraying certain areas inhabited by predator fish and by using revival methods after spraying, some predators were kept alive in treated lakes.

These predator fish hold down panfish populations to augment the treating phase.

Although the project has been branded by some as a waste of fish, Department officials view the long-range potential of lake treatment as encouraging. Since 1956, some 21 lakes have been treated. In many of these, a reduction in panfish populations has been followed by a marked improvement in panfish growth.

By the end of this year, pike and/or bass will have been re-stocked in 15 of the treated lakes. Promising improvements have already been noted in the ratio of predators to panfish in many of the treated lakes.

Snap beans brought Michigan growers $1,680,000 last year with the state ranking fifth among the states in the volume raised for the fresh market and 10th in those raised for processing. Green bean varieties, rather than wax beans, were in the majority.

THE GERMAN DAY PARADE in Chelsea in 1894 had many decorated floats. Pictured at the side were the styles of suits while the materials from which they could be made were draped over the entire horse-drawn float entered by J. J. Rafferty, the tailor. In the top hat and cutaway in the driver's seat was Rafferty, himself. The little boy and girl were Clarence and Mabel Rafferty, his son and daughter. Among the others in the group at front were Frank Fenn, Mary Miller, Catherine Barthelt Kolb and Tommie Wilkinson. Others were not identified. The picture was brought to The Standard office by Mrs. J. V. Burg, I.

Membership Drive Underway for County Catholic Social Service Agency

At a recent meeting of a representative group of Washtenaw county men and women a formal organization responsible for the development and co-ordination of volunteer-services for the agency, Catholic Social Services of Washtenaw County, was organized.

Mrs. George Engen of Ypsilanti was elected chairman; Mrs. George Wedemeyer of Ann Arbor, vice-chairman; Miss Carol Otto of Dexter, secretary; and Miss Gertrude Young of Chelsea, treasurer.

A committee was set up to make recommendations on a name for the group. Committee members are Engen and Mrs. Fred D. Welch, Mrs. James Murphy, Mrs. John W. Murphy, Mrs. John Kulpiński, Mrs. Ralph Belnap all of Ann Arbor and Mrs. C. B. Rudinger of Ypsilanti.

Mrs. John W. Conlin was elected general membership chairman. The membership drive will be conducted July 26 to Aug. 3. Mrs. Conlin will be assisted by members of parishes throughout the county. Membership will be $1.00 for individual members, $5.00 for patrons and $5.00 for organizations.

Miss Marguerite M. Parrish, executive secretary of the agency, discussed the need for a volunteer group. She said that volunteers are useful to an agency in many ways and that their contribution not only frees social workers to devote more time to clients but also contribute in a way which paid staff can never contribute.

The volunteer group, in addition to being a money raising body, will be agency ambassadors in the community. Their knowledge of the agency and its function will gradually permeate the community and lead to better community understanding and eventually an acceptance of the service offered which will lead to earlier referrals. Early referrals are essential to prevention and this must be thought about in the area of emotional problems as well as in the area of physical health. Education for happier living is the main purpose of membership.

The volunteers will also help by giving time to the agency. They will help with routine office procedures, be responsible for decorating the agency for special holidays, certain aspects of the agency maintenance, transportation of children and adults to and from clinics and in other areas where non-professionals can be helpful to the client and to the agency.

The new agency has developed rapidly and is now working with 132 families. Miss Parrish feels that the success of the agency to date is in many respects due to the interest and co-operation of volunteers from the community who have already contributed many hours of devoted service.

Identification Bungled On Published Picture of Charleston Dancers

The couple at the extreme right in the photograph of Charleston dancers, originally published July 28, were incorrectly identified as "Mr. and Mrs. James Miller." Actually they are Mr. and Mrs. Dan Ewald, the latter being the former Clara Miller. The incorrect identification was pure absent-mindedness on the part of the writer who unconsciously used the lady's maiden name and then added the name of her brother, James! The Charleston dancers appeared in the "Roaring 20's" scene of the anniversary program.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Miller spent the week-end at Fulton and on Sunday attended the Fulton school reunion. They were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Miller.

Michigan Economy Changes Balance In Past Decade

East Lansing—Michigan's two-thirds share of all automotive jobs has slipped in just ten years to less than half (45 per cent) of the industry's employment.

The decentralization of the automobile industry is cited by Dr. Andrew F. Brimmer, Michigan State University economist, as a major factor in the relatively slow recovery of the state's durable goods industries.

Michigan's automotive jobs shrank from 460,000 in 1949 to 284,000 at the end of 1958, and were only 307,000 as recently as last May, he writes in the July-August issue of Michigan Economic Record, published by the MSU Bureau of Business and Economic Research.

Between 1953 and 1958, the economist points out, 220,000 jobs were lost in the nation's automobile industry, "and 84 per cent of the loss centered in Michigan plants."

Michigan also suffered from the shift in defense contracts away from tanks, wheeled vehicles and other armaments associated with Michigan industry.

Production has picked up in other areas, however, and Dr. Brimmer writes that "the future of durable goods in the state seems to depend partly on the rate at which existing industries other than motor vehicles and equipment can expand, and partly on the rate at which new industries can be introduced to locate here."

The steel industry, he points out, "has been expanding capacity in Michigan at a much faster rate than in the nation as a whole," giving the state nearly one-tenth of the industry's new production capacity added since 1946.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Guiter and family, of Kalamazoo, spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. Mildred Jarvis.

MRS. ELIZABETH PETTIBONE observed her 100th birthday last Thursday at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Pettibone where she has made her home since last August. Mrs. Pettibone kept house for herself until eight years ago and has made her home since then with her daughter, Mrs. Grace Parker-Geddes, and her sons, Roy of Farmington and Earle of Dancer road. She has nine grandchildren, 17 great-grandchildren and five great-great-grandchildren. Members of her family visited her on her birthday and she was remembered with cards and gifts. Her daughter, Mrs. Parker, baked and decorated a birthday cake for her. Mrs. Pettibone's husband, Lyman, to whom she was married May 30, 1882, died 19 years ago.

Parcel Post Handling Easier when Addressed On Only One Side

There aren't very many people who would plan deliberately to hamper the delivery of their mail. There are a good many people, however, says Postmaster Carl J. Mayer, "who accomplish this unfortunate result by trying too hard to be helpful."

Much of the process of killing mail with kindness relates to parcel post. It involves putting both the principal address and the return address on more than one side—sometimes all sides—of a package. Postmaster Mayer would like to thank those who do parcel post business with his office for their consideration in wanting to make work easier for his employees. And he appreciates the obvious concern that dual addresses indicate about delivery of a given package if the address side is obliterated. But there are better ways of accomplishing these worthy ends.

"So far as physical safety is involved," says Postmaster Mayer, "if the package is well wrapped and well tied, and if the contents are well packed, the chances of loss or damage are very small." So far as helpfulness to post office employees is concerned, addressing on one side only contributes to simplicity and accuracy in mail handling. Multiple addresses sometimes cause the markings on parcel post sent as special handling, special delivery, insured, or C.O.D. mail to be overlooked.

"The public can avoid unnecessary work, and the post office can avoid unnecessary trouble," says Postmaster Mayer, "if packages carry a single main and return address. All we ask is that the job be done properly just once."
