George Wisner & Son Are Now Owners of Mystery Farm Known as Fred Wenk Home

Mystery Farm No. 64, located on the west side of Lima Center road, just south of U.S. 12, was recently purchased by George Wisner and his son, Warner, of Scio Church road, after being in the Steabler-Wenk family for approximately 95 years.

Formerly known as the Jacob Steabler place, it was later purchased by his son-in-law, Fred Wenk, and has since been known as the Wenk farm.

Stabler, whose full name was John Jacob, purchased the farm in 1864 before his marriage to Mary Wacker, member of another old Lima township family.

Their family of 10 children included the daughter, Emma, who later became Mrs. Fred Wenk and lived on the farm most of her lifetime. Other members of the John Jacob Steabler family included Mrs. Michael Paul, Mrs. Edith Morris, Minnie, Louise and Clara Steabler, and Fred and Jacob Steabler, all of whom were well known in this area.

The Stablers' neighbors in those early years included the John E. Cooley, Stephen Stocking and E. D. Cummings families and Emily Storms.

The farm property comprises the extreme southeast corner of Section 21, Lima township.

The original house on the farm was replaced with the present home in 1907. In 1917, it was extensively remodeled. That same year a small house was added, south of the large house, for Fred Wenk's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wenk, who had lost their home in the 1917 cyclone which struck the Rogers Corners area where they had lived. (The small house does not appear in the mystery farm photo.)

The large farm home was again remodeled in 1918, while the Fred Wenk family lived there. Fred Wenk also replaced the former barn and other buildings. The Fred Wenk family of four sons and three daughters were Marvin who died in 1917 at the age of nine years; Roland who died in 1939; Lorenz; Leon of Detroit; Hilda, now Mrs. Elmer Pierce and serving as Lima township treasurer; and Una and Oleta Wenk.

In 1931 Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wenk moved to the home of their daughter, Mrs. Elmer Pierce, and family, on U.S. 12, and Mr. and Mrs. Pierce and their family moved into the big house on the farm. The Elmer Pierces lived there for 15 years. During this time, Pierce added a garage and hen house and replaced other small buildings.

In 1939, following Fred Wenk's death, his wife and the two daughters, Una and Oleta, moved back to the home farm and lived in the little house formerly occupied by the Joseph Wenks.

Mrs. Fred Wenk's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Jacob Steabler, had moved to town when she and her husband bought the farm, and lived for a number of years in the house at the southwest corner of South Main and Pierce streets.

After the Elmer Pierces moved back to their own home on U.S. 12, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schlosser and family lived in the Wenk farm house a number of years.

Herbert Hinderer and the late William Henry Seitz worked the 120-acre farm for some time.

The new owners are fitting the barn to accommodate a substantial herd of dairy cows, Warner Wisner who, with his wife and two children, will live on the farm, customarily keeps 25 to 30 cows. He has a preference for the Brown Swiss breed.

Preparations for moving to the farm from the present home on Scio Church road, include construction of a new milk house.

Warner's father, George, will continue to live at the Wisner home at 2140 Scio Church road.

Soviet Challenge To U. S. Will Be Press Club Topic

Ann Arbor—"Communism and Main Street, USA" will be the theme for the 42nd annual meeting of the University Press Club of Michigan at Ann Arbor on Oct. 16-17.

Meredith Clark, president of the club and publisher of the Vicksburg Commercial, has announced that the program will deal with the economic, educational and political challenges which this nation faces.

Reporting on the economic challenge at the opening luncheon on Friday, Oct. 16, will be Edwin D. Canham, editor of the Christian Science Monitor and president of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

The educational challenge will be dealt with by University of Michigan President H. R. Hatcher who visited Russia in April and May of this year on a U. S. State Department sponsored mission which was financed by the Ford Foundation.

Harrison Salisbury of the New York Times will return from Moscow with a first-hand report on the political challenge this nation now faces.

Other highlights of the meeting will include a briefing session by U-M faculty experts on Russia, a press-conference type session in which the program participants will be questioned, and the Northwestern-Michigan football game.

Detling Reunion

The second Detling reunion was held Sunday at Carr Park, Manchester, with 120 people present from Toledo, O., Mt. Pleasant, Ann Arbor, Dexter, Chelsea, and Clinton. The oldest member was Chauncey Detling of Ann Arbor, 75 years old, and the youngest child was Riekey, 3 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hatch of Ann Arbor. It was decided to have the reunion next year at the same place. The same officers were elected for the coming year as follows: president, Victor Detling, Pleasant Lake; vice-president, Leo Detling, Sr., Ann Arbor; treasurer, Mrs. Elmer Detling, Pleasant Lake; secretary, Mrs. Alma Uhr, Manchester; table committee, Mrs. Chauncey Detling, Ann Arbor, and entertainment committee, Raynor Detling of Ann Arbor, and William Detling of Chelsea.

It was not until after April 22, 1958, that any individual was permitted to claim or own land in what is now the state of Oklahoma.

Truman Lehman Honored Aug. 16 on 40th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Truman Lehman were surprised Sunday, Aug. 16, with an open house reception at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Arts. The occasion was an observance of the Lehman's 40th wedding anniversary.

The honor guests received many gifts including a basket of flowers from Central Fibre Products where Mr. Lehman has been employed for many years.

The table from which refreshments were served to the 75 guests present was centered with a beautifully decorated, three-tiered anniversary cake.

Those present were from Jackson, Grass Lake, Chelsea and Waterloo.

Gale Arts and Cheryl Lehman, grandchildren of the Lehmans, were in charge of the best book.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Danforth

Zoa Jane Niles, Robert Danforth Exchange Vows

Zoa Jane Niles and Robert W. Danforth exchanged wedding vows in a 3 o'clock ceremony performed Saturday afternoon by the Rev. Donald Voss at St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church, United Church of Christ, Rogers Corners. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ray W. Niles of Fletcher road, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Genovese of Park street.

White nylon organza embroidered in scalloped outline fashioned the bride's empire-style gown with its intermission-length a sweep train. Her fingertip-length veil was attached to a crown-shaped seed pearl headpiece. Her bouquet was a cascade of pink and white roses.

Barbara Maynard of North Lake, was maid-of-honor. Her gown of white nylon embroidered in a blue flower design was cinched at the waistline with a blue taffeta cummerbund. The colors were repeated in her bouquet which was an arrangement of blue carnations and white roses. Her handmaid was of matching flowers.

Mary Lou Lindenschmidt of Ann Arbor, a cousin of the bride, and Carol Danforth, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. Their dresses were styled like that of the maid of honor except that the flower embroidery and taffeta cummerbunds were pink and their bouquets and headbands were of white carnations and pink roses.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Niles wore a sheath dress of old rose lace with white accessories, a rose-colored feather hat and a corsage of red roses.

The bridegroom's mother wore pastel blue silk organza with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

William Sorensen assisted the bridegroom as best man while Arden Rogers of Ann Arbor and Douglas Stark served as ushers.

The bride's parents entertained at a reception held immediately after the ceremony in the Zion Lutheran church parish hall where Susan and Carol Coates of Saline, cousins of the bride, were in charge of the guest book.

Following the reception, open house was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

When the couple left for a week's trip to northern Michigan, the bride was wearing a rose-colored suit with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses from her wedding bouquet.

After Sept. 1, the couple will be at home at 287 Park street.

The bride is a graduate of Chelsea High school and attended Hamilton Business College. She is now employed in the Fine Arts department of the University of Michigan.

The bridegroom, also a graduate of Chelsea High school, is a student at the University of Michigan. Pre-nuptial parties honoring the bride included a linen shower given by Kay Kuhl, Lois Stark and Barbara Maynard at the home of Miss Kuhl and a miscellaneous shower given by Esther Sturm and Mrs. Harold Zahn at the Zahn home in Ann Arbor.

Americans are living in the open more and more. The newer houses have a covered porch or uncovered terrace instead of a front porch. For this reason, more women are learning what a pleasure it is to work in the garden and are making the terrace a part of the garden.

Fashion Notes...

Clothes that fit you properly are a must if you are to look your best. It is surprising how many women don't know their correct dress size.

Unless you have an unusual figure problem there is a stock size that will fit you perfectly, or almost so.

Junior sizes—seven, nine, eleven, etc.—are created for the youthful figure. The lines are shorter, arm opening and neck openings are smaller.

There are styles for the small: same size lines as the junior clothes, but more mature in style. The regular sizes—ten, twelve, fourteen, etc., are cut for the average size figure. More women fall into this group than any other. It is the most desirable group to be in, as you have a much larger choice of clothes.

Then, there is another group of sizes designed for the mature, somewhat heavy figure. Lastly, there are a number of clothes houses that design for the really stout figure.

Investigate and decide exactly what group you are in. Never buy a dress or suit which will require extensive alterations. It is always a mistake. No matter how lovely you think the dress is, remember, you will look much smarter in a dress not quite so pretty, if it fits.

Maureen Ducey, Thomas Treciak Wed at Jackson

Maureen Ducey, 1810 East Ganson street, Jackson, and Thomas J. Treciak of 318 South Dwight street, Jackson, were married Saturday morning at St. Stanislaus Catholic church, Jackson, with the Rev. Fr. Joseph Nowaczynski officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Edgar Orbring of Chelsea and Maurice Ducey of Midland. The bridegroom is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Treciak.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of white Chantilly lace over ice blue taffeta, with satin cummerbund and bow in the back. An ice blue crown held her short blue illusion veil.

She carried a heart-shaped bouquet of red roses.

Beverly Ann Walkowicz of Jackson, as maid of honor, wore a gown of coral chiffon with pearl-trimmed bodice.

Ernest Golombek was best man, assisted by William Hughes, Jr., and Thomas Treciak, nephews of the bridegroom, who ushered.

Following a reception held later at the home of the bride's mother here, the couple left for a trip to northern Michigan.

They will make their home in Jackson.

Canned Peaches Keep Color If You Follow Rules Closely

Home-canned peaches should be yellow in color, but sometimes they turn brown. It's an enzyme action, says Robert Hershey, food and nutrition specialist at Michigan State University. It happens when peaches are not processed correctly.

Browning may occur on the surface of the pack. This is a sign there was not enough heat to destroy the fruit enzymes—or the heating process was too slow.

You will seldom see this surface browning on peaches that have been hot-packed and processed correctly in a boiling water bath. The quick heating before peaches go into the jar does the trick.

If the entire jar of peaches discolors soon after canning, perhaps the peaches were overprocessed. This is not likely to occur. However, it may happen when you handle too many peaches at one time, so that some are overcooked. Miss Hershey recommends working with small quantities—just enough fruit to fill two or three quarts at one time.

John Langowskis Tell Engagement Of Their Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. John Langowskis have announced the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Ann, to Gladwin Emmons, son of Charles Emmons of Fitchburg. No wedding date has been set.

Harvey Fischers' 25th Anniversary Honored Thursday

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Fischer observed their silver wedding anniversary at a family gathering held at their home Thursday evening. Mrs. Fischer had returned home from St. Joseph Mercy hospital on Thursday after being a patient there for two weeks because of a spinal condition. She is still confined to bed at home.

The family had planned a Sunday open house for their parents but were forced to cancel their plans because of Mrs. Fischer's hospitalization.

Present for the family gathering and dinner Thursday were Mrs. John Fischer, Mrs. Alma Bange of Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Kelly and three children, of Wayne, the Rev. and Mrs. Fred Fischer and daughter, Beverly, of Suttons Bay, Mr. and Mrs. David Fischer and two children, of Brighton, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fischer and son, of Ypsilanti, Marvin Fischer who is at home, and Linda and Susan Weaver of Livonia.

The Fischers, whose wedding anniversary date is Aug. 15, received a number of gifts, including a silver "money tree" from their family.

Pheasant Kill Expected To Fall Below Last Year's

Lansing Conservation Department game men expect this fall's pheasant kill in Michigan to dip below the one million mark for the first time since 1952.

Their kill estimate of around 900,000 birds is based on ringneck production which suffered a noticeable drop throughout the state this year, according to brood surveys early this month by rural mail carriers.

In the southern lower peninsula the state's prime pheasant range—ringneck production fell 27 per cent below that of 1958. Production plunged 53 per cent in the fringe pheasant range of Gladwin, Mecosta, Lake, Newaygo and Oceana counties.

A below-average hatching season in 1958 coupled with last winter's severe weather are chiefly blamed for the low production.

A breakdown by regions reveals production was down 34 per cent in central Michigan; 38 per cent in the Thumb area; 32 per cent in western Michigan (Ottawa, Allegan and Muskegon counties); 27 per cent in northwestern Michigan; and 3 per cent in southeastern Michigan.

The summer brood survey is the final index for measuring this fall's pheasant population. It bears out crowing counts which earlier showed the breeding population was down about 35 per cent from that of last spring.

The area of the state of Texas is 265,898 miles. Its fine climate and rich natural resources drew many people to it in early history. While it was a part of Mexico more Americans than Mexicans lived within its borders.

Sealtest Drivers Buy Their Home Delivery Milk Routes

Since Monday, drivers delivering Sealtest milk to Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti and Chelsea homes have been in business for themselves.

The 17 routes were purchased by veteran deliverymen in the area, all members of United Dairyworkers Local 83. Details of the purchase were worked out by union and National Dairy officials at a recent meeting in Ann Arbor.

Members of the union's area unit approved the plan at a special meeting.

While the union tried to forestall the agreement, it faced a choice between agreeing to have members purchase the routes and having the routes sold to others. "Since our men have as much as 27 years seniority on these jobs, we had very little choice," Jack O'Keefe, Local 83 president, commented.

Purchase terms parallel those worked out for Detroit delivery men earlier this year. Home delivery men choosing not to buy their routes have the option of bumping into "hourly rated" classifications. "Since all but one of these jobs is being eliminated by National Dairy, here again the choice was slim," O'Keefe commented.

He said that National Dairy is closing a portion of its Ann Arbor facility. Milk will be delivered daily in refrigerated trucks to the load up point, he added. The union believes that eight of the 40-man National Dairy force in the Ann Arbor area will be out of jobs.

Delivery men buying the routes will lose accumulated pension benefits, health and life insurance coverage and other fringe benefits. The seniority of the delivery men ranged from 2 to 37 years. They will be buying their equipment from National Dairy on an installment basis.

Each member purchasing a route will face the problems common to all small businessmen. They will have to pay their own operating costs including refrigeration, gasoline and insurance, be solely responsible for collecting delinquent accounts and the future of each will depend on whether the number of his customers increases or decreases.

One union spokesman summed up the changed status. "While we seem to be caught squarely in the middle, with a choice between looking for a new job and taking a big chance, we're certainly all going to try to make the best use of the challenge."

In Detroit, Borden and National Dairy sold routes to drivers at approximately the same time. Approximately 70 per cent of all Detroit home deliveries are by independent drivers.

and economy, too—
a gas dryer dries this big wash for less than 2¢

When it comes to making molehills out of mountainous loads of wash, nothing beats a modern gas dryer. Many things that otherwise need ironing come out fluffy and wrinkle-free, ready to fold. No lugging heavy baskets, no weather worries, when you own a gas dryer. And the ultraviolet sanitizing lamp gives the wash a fragrance like sunshine.

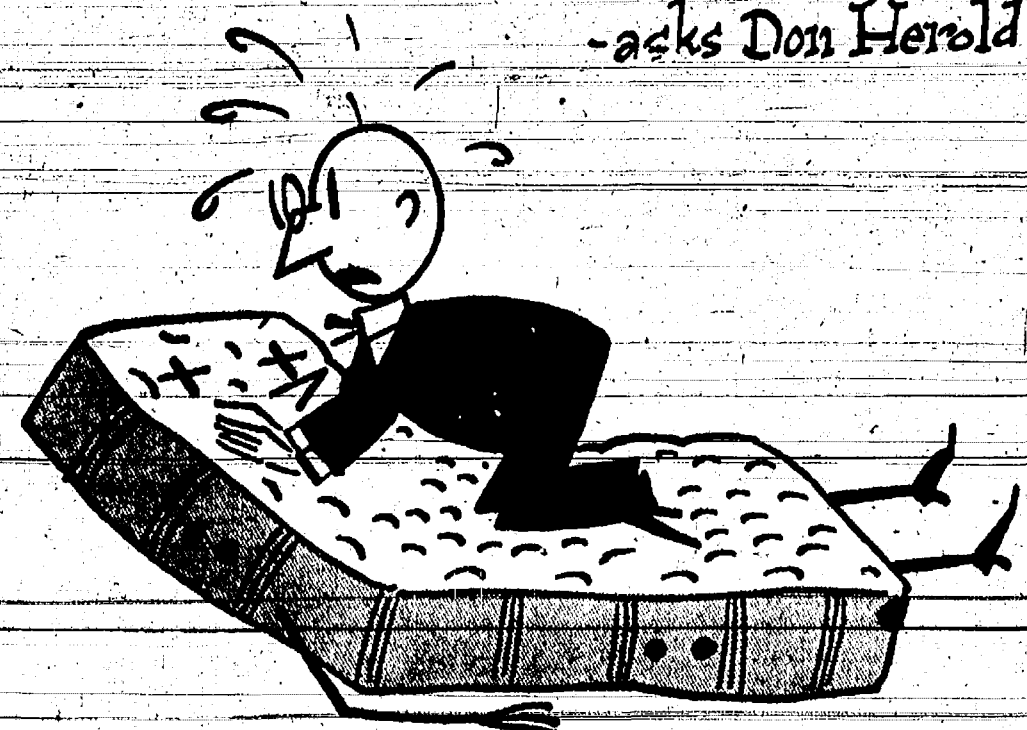

Savings? Plenty! A 9-lb. load, including heavy items like towels, dries for under 2¢. Dry at just 1/5 the cost—See the new gas dryers at your Gas Company or dealer showrooms.

Mrs. Alma Montague remained to make her home with her son, Stanley Montague, and family.

Guests last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Robling were the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Robling of Petersburg, Ind. Week-end guests, in addition, were the senior Roblings' son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Robling of Mattoon, Ill. The R. W. Roblings and Mr. and Mrs. John Robling spent Sunday in Detroit with another son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Robling and children.

Pfc. M. Hubert Brown left Sunday by plane to return to Camp Pendleton, Calif., where he is stationed with the U. S. Marines. Pfc. Brown had spent a 28-day furlough at the home of his mother, Mrs. Margaret Brown.

NUCLEAR AIRPLANE PROJECT

The Administration has ground- ed the nuclear airplane project once again by rejecting proposals for early construction of a flying model.

The Administration's decision was criticized by members of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy as "a backward step" that would postpone the first flight of a nuclear airplane by at least two years.

Michigan ranks fourth in the volume of sugar beets, from which sugar is made. Production of 1,112,000 tons last year brought growers $12,768,000. It is retailed under two brand names and the fact it is Michigan beet sugar is proudly displayed. There is enough to go around too, an estimated 280 million pounds. Nearly 83 pounds for each of Michigan's 3 million men, women and children.

Michigan Near Top in Value Of Manufactured Products

Today, we find competition growing in just about every phase of our business world. Various businesses compete against each other for a greater share of the market they serve. Towns and states compete against each other for new industries and business.

The competition between cities and states for new business and industry has come to be a highly organized effort, well-financed in many cases and certainly highly promoted. The town or state that is not prepared to meet this type of competition is bound to see business and payrolls reduced, thus affecting every businessman and private citizen because the amount of money spread in the economy of the town or state is going to be reduced.

Among the states, Michigan stands fifth in the value of products manufactured, according to latest census. If Michigan industry remains at its present level or higher, the people of the state will benefit accordingly. If Michigan slips from its position, because some towns fail to do their part to retain present industry and attract new industries, the whole state and its people suffer from loss of income.

A great deal of the answer as to what happens depends on each individual community. If Michigan communities make themselves attractive to the industries they now have, by co-operating with those industries and helping them in every way possible, so they may prosper, this is the best possible advertising for more industry. Companies seeking locations for new plants look to towns with a warm and friendly climate for industry as evidenced by the way they treat the firms they now have.

Michigan occupies prominent stature on a map which shows the size of the states in proportion to the value of their manufactured products.

This map is part of an advertisement captioned "Our Town Stands Tall On the Map," which appears in this edition. This is "For whom the bells toll" proves to be her family, say the nation's bankers. According to a recent survey on family money management, it's the housewife who handles the payment of 85 percent of the family bills today; and she pays 80 percent of these bills by check. One explanation for the popularity of the family checkbook is that it provides a "built-in" bookkeeping system and the cancelled checks give proof of payment recognized in any law court.

Professor Beer hopes that his research not only will be valuable to agriculturists, but also feels that in determining the various relationships of mites to plant hosts he may find important fundamental relationships applicable to other parasites and to human hosts.

Measly Mite Causes Asthma In Honeybees

Pellston—What mites might do to help or hinder humans is undergoing intensive research this summer at the University of Michigan Biological Station.

The mite study is led by Robert E. Beer (Ph.D.), associate professor of entomology at the University of Kansas in Lawrence.

"One type of mite under investigation causes a terrible disease in European honeybees and we are fearful of its entry into the U. S.," Professor Beer explains.

"What happens is that the mites get into the bees' breathing tubes and give them asthma. The 16 breathing holes get clogged up and the bees apparently do everything humans do to get rid of asthma, including sneezing."

"If you laid the mites end to end, you could get 20 across just the diameter of a pin head. The mites, by the thousands, walk up and down the bees' breathing tubes like gophers in a culvert."

If the mites run out of room inside the bee, they hang on the outside and may be brushed onto a bee from another colony, thus spreading asthma. "This can represent quite an economic loss in areas where asthma wipes out entire bee colonies," Professor Beer says.

It may be possible to get mites to work for us, he continues. Grasshoppers are known to be infested with mites which clog their breathing tubes just as in the honeybees. If we could incite an epidemic of such infections, causing death to grasshoppers, farmers would benefit enormously.

At the station Professor Beer is studying the life cycles of mites and how they spread to grasshoppers.

Professor Beer hopes that his research not only will be valuable to agriculturists, but also feels that in determining the various relationships of mites to plant hosts he may find important fundamental relationships applicable to other parasites and to human hosts.

Non-Field Use Of Tractors Is Danger Time

Every time you hop on your tractor, you're only a few seconds from death or serious injury.

This is especially true if you aren't working in the field with the tractor—most accidents result during highway travel and in other than field-work operations.

Richard Pfister, agricultural engineer at Michigan State University, issued these warnings while pointing out that the non-field work accidents in Michigan are increasing this season.

An alarming number of accidents are occurring, he says. Tractors on a straight-highway run off the road and tip, sometimes with no apparent reason. Pfister says these accidents can come from a moment's inattention to driving. He notes the basic instability of tractors at highway speeds.

For example, a three or four-inch bump can tip a tractor moving at 20 miles per hour if it hits it just right. Tractors are just plain dangerous at highway speeds, and he offers these suggestions for increasing safety:

1. Keep both wheels either on the paved surfaces or on the shoulder. When they run on different surfaces, instability increases.

2. Pay close attention to driving. A moment's lapse in observation will present a new hazard.

3. Don't play with tractors. They are dangerous.

4. Don't let persons too young operate the tractor. And avoid carrying extra riders—the tractor was built for a single operator.

William Jennings Bryan of Nebraska was nominated for the Presidency of the U. S. three times by the Democratic party.

Michigan State Park Attractions Offer Wide Variety To Interest Everyone

Lansing—Michigan's 58 state parks and recreation areas are well spaced for public use and enjoyment.

Varying greatly in size, kind and quality of their natural features and attractions, their types run the scale from the vast wilderness setting of Porcupine Mountains state park to the historical bearing of Fort Wilkins state park.

Although they all are designed for recreational uses, each is singularly distinctive from the standpoint of its natural features. Unfortunately, many of these intrinsic values go unnoticed by visitors.

Recognizing this, representatives of the Conservation Department, National Park Service and Michigan State University have laid the grounds for a long-range interpretive program. The program calls for awakening the public's interest in these values.

Tools to be used in this program will vary, depending upon each park's particular attractions. Each unit will be analyzed to determine the central theme of its values. After this theme has been established it will be carried out through appropriate information devices.

In general, visitor reception facilities will furnish signs, maps and literature depicting this theme. Where possible, interpretive centers, museums or landmarks will be utilized to orient the visitor.

Tours, trails and roadside exhibits, lectures and supplementary publications will be other tools used to tell the park's story. Some units will use all of these methods while others will use but one or two.

Basically, information will consist of origin, geology, flora, fauna, history and documentation and bibliography. Additional information will include local factors influencing the park's development, patterns of public use, concessions and inventory of facilities.

Fort Wilkins, Wilderness and Bay City state parks and Proud Lake recreation area have been chosen as pilot projects to develop an overall state plan. The Fayette state park site—latest addition to Michigan's parks system—is also being inventoried this summer by Alex Fraus, Director of the Public Museum at Kalamazoo.

OUR TOWN STANDS TALL ON THE MAP

They've mapped the anatomy of a nation. This is the map.* It shows the exact proportions of 48 states according to the value of their manufactured products, as determined by the latest U. S. census of all manufacturing.

Michigan stands proudly fifth among the states in value of manufacturing . . . and our town is part of Michigan.

So our town stands tall on the map. Keeping it there is our problem. The surest way is to keep our town attractive to industry. The surest key to attraction of new industry is attention to the needs of present industry.

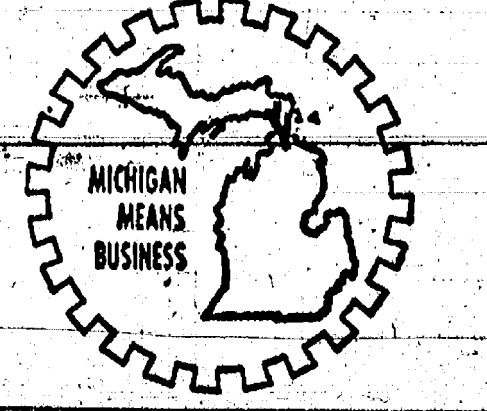

No town stands still. It goes ahead or it slips back. Let's keep our town standing tall.

Bible Verse To Study

"Will a man rob God? Yet ye have robbed me. But ye say, Wherein have we robbed thee? In tithes and offerings."
1. Who wrote the above?
2. What position did he hold?
3. What is a tithe?
4. Where may this verse be found?
(Answers on page eight)

The agriculture of the state of Oklahoma is varied, combining the production of both the north and south. Corn, cotton and wheat are the largest among the many products of the farms of the state.

The first co-operative dairy in America was established in Orange county, New York, in 1856.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PEOPLE OF CHELSEA

DELIVERING MILK TO YOUR HOME IS OUR BUSINESS

Dear Fellow Citizens:

Starting Monday, the man delivering your Sealtest milk will own his own route. Faced with an ultimatum from National Dairies to either buy the routes of selves or permit them to be sold to others, we choose to buy. After all, some of us have been serving you for more than two decades.

We now face the challenge which all independent businessmen must meet — how well we survive depends on our ability to satisfy our customers. As old friends and neighbors, we feel you will be sympathetic to our position. While we expect to be judged on the merits of our service, we will appreciate any consideration you can give us during this changeover period.

It is our goal, as independent milkmen, to assure you, our customers, a dependable, convenient supply of milk and other dairy products AT THE LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICE. That lowest possible price, however, must provide enough to give farmers, processors and distributors sufficient income to survive. Any price which does not do that will soon drive first independent milkmen, then small dairies and farmers, too, out of business. Like many others, we are fighting to stay alive as independent businessmen against the trend toward bigness.

We believe, the convenience, the added assurance of a fresh supply of milk make home delivery service an integral part of good living. We're a part of the American way. With home delivery, there's always milk in the refrigerator when the youngsters want it (a healthful habit); always fresh milk available to the housewife when she wants it for a meal inspiration.

Now that we've had this big change in our lives, more than ever we hope that you make having milk delivered to your home an integral part of your life, too.

Sincerely,

Your Independent Milkmen

Prayers, Not Cheers Urged on Nation To Greet Premier Khrushchev on Visit

Nikita Khrushchev's 12-day itinerary in the United States appears already to have been worked out in considerable detail—with official Washington taking the brunt of it and the only other cities to be infected being New York, Pittsburgh, Los Angeles and San Francisco—and an Iowa farm. The Soviets themselves have turned down more elaborate and extensive inspection of the nation for the fairly obvious reason that they do not wish to be obligated to show President Eisenhower very much of the "people's paradise" on a return visit.

And yet, there are those who hope that a mighty public protest against the visit may still cause its "indefinite postponement," plus vague reports from behind the Iron Curtain that Red forces are opposed to the exchange of visits and may perhaps persuade Khrush to stay home.

More realistic, perhaps, is the thinking and planning of Admiral Ben Moreell, USN (Ret), who, as chairman of Americans for Constitutional Action, is urging that the blight of the Khrushchev visit be offset by prayer.

In a letter to churchmen, Admiral Moreell reported that he had invited members of 19 patriotic organizations representing 10,000,000 Americans to discuss with them "an appropriate posture" regarding the Khrushchev visit.

"There was general agreement," he wrote, "that... since we are a people whose trust is in God... the moral implications of the visit far outweigh all the others."

"The question arises then whether, by inviting this visitor to our shores, we give implied moral sanction to his past record and... whether, by our action, we endorse the extreme cruelties visited by the Soviet Union on enslaved peoples."

"In light of these thoughts, there was general consensus that, while we should refrain from any demonstrations of hostility, it would be right and proper that Mr. Khrushchev's arrival... be set aside as a day of prayer in all the churches of the land... In like manner, special church services should be conducted in each city on the day of Khrushchev's visit."

Swift approval of the Moreell plan came from Evangelist Billy Graham who said: "I heartily endorse Admiral Moreell's proposal that Premier Khrushchev's day of arrival should occasion a day of prayer on the part of the nation... May this be an occasion that we conform our national life with our usual boast that God is our trust."

And finally, may those who love their country and detest the things that Khrush stands for, do their very best to see that this ogre is paraded through empty streets.

Just when Congressmen were despairing of passing a labor reform bill this session, AFL-CIO vice-president James B. Carey took pen in hand to threaten House members who voted for the Landrum-Griffin bill, and pat the heads of those who voted against the measure. That ought to do it!

In Missouri a tax collector posted this notice: "All persons are hereby notified to pay their dog tax by April 1, otherwise they will be killed."

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

A steady effort is underway to guarantee the food purchaser that she gets her money's worth of wholesome products. Key people in this campaign are 59 food inspectors in the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Basic inspections conducted by this crew involve checking of scales used to measure fruit, meats and vegetables; checking to see that such products are accurately labeled as to weight and grade; checking sanitary conditions in the store or restaurant where food is served.

While it is realized that most food outlets are operated by honest people, trying to run their businesses according to law, it is also apparent that there are also those merchants who need to be kept in line by the knowledge that a state inspector may call at any time. And the thought of such inspections reduce chances that the latter type merchant will take unfair advantage of the legitimate storekeeper by bending or breaking the law.

For example, records of the state agriculture department for May show that 11,909 packages were reweighed to check the accuracy of the label. While 9,724 packages contained as much or more than was represented, 2,245, almost 19 per cent, were short. These were boiled down to 79 arrests for violations of which 77 resulted in conviction.

During May 10, 127 weighing and measuring devices were checked. While 9,039 proved to be accurate, 1,085, about 10 per cent, were in need of adjustment.

During the same month 16 official unsanitary notices were served upon proprietors ordering them to correct filthy conditions. The state inspection service which shows that most merchants do give full measure, is also ready to check complaints from people who think they have received less than they paid for. Such reports are received at the Department of Agriculture in Lansing, and relayed to field inspectors in the appropriate district for investigation. It's almost impossible to see modern earth moving equipment at work building highways without wanting a closer look.

Plans for Michigan's first Highway Week include the chance for everyone to inspect such dramatic machinery at close quarters. County road commissions and dealers in road-building equipment will be requested to hold open houses during the Oct. 4-10 observance. There will also be tours of construction projects. The public will learn about the importance of a good street-and-highway system from newspaper stories, radio and television programs, billboards, placards, and by other means.

Michigan Highway Week is sponsored by the Michigan Good Roads Federation and the Michigan Highway Users' and is, naturally enough, receiving co-operation from the state highway department.

The week will emphasize the value of a better road system, but the real glory of modern highways can be appreciated best when one drives along a recently completed road and remembers for comparison's sake how slow and congested was the inadequate pavement the new system replaced.

More than a quarter million dollars in advertising space was donated by newspaper of Michigan in a one year campaign to develop a closer understanding between industry and the people in local communities.

The 25th advertising message appeared this month in most of the 319 newspapers in the state which took part in the campaign. Ads were quarter page in size and featured several themes, including the following: an industry is an advantage to the community where it is located; an industry has a responsibility to the community where it is; an understanding, co-operative attitude by individual people in the community is of great value in attracting new industry; organized planning to provide for normal industrial needs makes a better community.

Millions of readers were contacted by these messages, which were scheduled to appear twice a month. Ideas for copy and art came from the Industrial Promotion Committee of the Michigan Press Association, which met with officials of the Michigan Department of Economic Development. The organization and MPA were listed as sponsors of the ads in conjunction with each publication.

More than 80 per cent of the state's newspapers pledged space to this campaign. The list included the largest and the smallest newspapers; both daily and weekly. Editors reported appreciative response from people in their communities. Hundreds of letters and personal conversations demonstrated local interest. There was great interest displayed from other states, and the Economic Development office received numerous requests for the entire series of ads.

Participating newspapers received personal letters of commendation from Don Pears, Speaker of the House, and a resolution of appreciation was passed in both the Senate and House.

The campaign came at a time when Michigan was receiving much bad publicity as a state where industry is not appreciated or treated fairly and was a graphic demonstration that such reports were over-emphasized.

Develop Plans Now for Fall Tree Planting

Interested in increasing the value and livability of your home?

Shade trees are one way of doing it. And now is a good time to decide where you want to put them, according to Joseph T. Cox, landscape specialist at Michigan State University.

Now, while the foliage is thick, you can see where the shade from present trees falls, and where you want to put other trees to complete or fill out the pattern.

Hints offered by Cox for locating trees include: put the trees off the corner of the house, when convenient, to avoid blocking window views and lawns. Put in a stake where you want the tree to be put, and come transplanting time this fall, you'll know just where it should go.

Keep the trees from drain lines—you're only asking for root-plugged lines if you put them too close. A minimum distance from drain lines would be 25-30 feet. Roots spread at least as far as branch tips.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I got a heap of sympathy for that feller they picked up in Washington the other day walking around in a daze. He said he couldn't recall if he was connected with the War Department or the State Department. We got a heap of 'em like him in Washington, only they don't get picked up.

And back here at home it's getting harder and harder for a feller to tell whether he's on his way to the pore house or coming home from the boobey hatch.

For instant, this piece I was reading in the papers last night said a pore man today ain't as pore as a pore man was 10 year ago. I reckon that means the money he ain't got today ain't worth as much as the money he ain't got 10 year ago. It got me so confused I caught myself walking backwards to slop the hogs this morning.

And on the political front one Congressman says we ain't spending too much money, just ain't taking in enough for our needs. The Democrats say the treasury is half empty and the Republicans smile and say it's half full. The Federal Housing Commission says there ain't no shortage of houses, just a over consumption of space. On top of all that, The American Collectors Association holds a convention and votes that they'll no longer be known as "bill collectors" but as "adjusters of delinquent obligations." In a month or two they'll shorten that to ADO and when a pore man gits his notice he won't know whether he's charged with moral delinquency or hiding from his obligations.

Well, on the brighter side, on account of the politicians having no control over it, we've been having some mighty fine weather lately for setting out under a tree. Ever time my old lady catches me taking it easy I remind her that lazy men has made most of the great discoveries in life. Old James Watt's was setting in the kitchen watching his old lady work when he got interested in the steam coming out the kettle and figured out the first steam engine. And Newton discovered the law of gravity when he was laying in the shade under an apple tree watching apples fall. When I gits to quoting the scriptures like that to my old lady, she puts the stopper in the bottle by allowing as how, when she got married she aimed to make one husband do for a lifetime, but now it looked like it wasn't going to work. How's a feller going to combat that kind of talk? If any of your subscribers knows the answer, Mister Editor, please tell 'em to write.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Hydro-cooled peaches are peaches that will keep longer in the market and in your home, report home economists. These peaches have been cooled after picking to remove field heat and to slow down the ripening process. They are usually sprayed with ice water, and the spray also removes any undesirable residue that might be on the peach.

Grape Harvest Begins in State With Big Crop Seen

Although the greater part of Michigan's grape production finds its way into processing channels, there should be plenty of this year's $6,000-ton crop available for eating fresh or for making jellies and jam.

The harvest of early varieties is just beginning and quality is excellent. Cutting of the bunches in the vineyards will continue until killing frost arrives.

The state's 1959 yield is expected to be the second largest east of the Pacific coast. It will be 5,500 tons more than last year, the Michigan Department of Agriculture reports. Smaller crops than in 1958 are forecast for all other major eastern grape states. The average annual Michigan grape production for the years 1948 to 1978 was 37,650 tons.

Michigan's principal grape variety, as in all other eastern states, is the large blue Concord. Earlier blue varieties than the Concord are coming onto retail markets now. Several of these are more tart than the Concord, are high in pectin, and are ideal for home-made jam and jelly.

Ample Michigan grapes will be available in retail outlets, but the bulk of the state's huge tonnage is bought by juice plants, wineries, jelly manufacturers and other processors. Packages moving to retail stores bear the name and address of the grower or packer, grade, variety and net contents.

Grape vineyards are to be seen in various parts of Michigan, but commercial production is mainly in the extreme southwestern area of the state. Four of these counties rank high nationally among the country's more than 3,500 counties. Michigan's four leading grape counties and their standing in the nation as grape producers are Van Buren 14th, Berrien 17th, Kalamazoo 37th and Allegan 57th.

Mrs. William Weber and daughters, Mary Kathryn and Phyllis, have returned from a 10-day trip during which they toured South Dakota and visited the Black Hills and Mount Rushmore. They also visited the late Mr. Weber's brother, Dr. Robert Weber, at Mitchell, S. D., and enroute home traveled through Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Jeanine Dvorak returned home Sunday from Eustis, Fla., where she had been a guest since June 22 at the home of Col. and Mrs. Peter Carpenter, formerly of Sugar Loaf Lake.

RESORT AND MARKET AREA TO EXPAND—The map above depicts the expanded resort area penetration which will result from the completion of an expressway-type highway from Michigan's southern border to Sault Ste. Marie, according to a preliminary report submitted by Dr. Frank Suggitt, Michigan State University, to the Michigan Good Roads Federation. Using the Cincinnati-Houghton Lake route as an example, Suggitt points out that the expressway connections to it will permit out-of-state tourists from Cincinnati to travel into areas touched by the outer arc in the same time-period as present routes permit them to cover the distance to Houghton Lake. The expressway, with conventional connecting roads, will permit persons to travel to areas touched by the inner arc in the same time-period as present routes permit covering the distance to Houghton Lake. As a result of this future time-distance change, Suggitt predicts a great increase in Michigan's tourist-resort business. In the reverse of this example, Suggitt pointed out that the time-distance change, resulting from the expressway, will provide a market area expansion of 5 million more people in Illinois, Kentucky and West Virginia, who will be as close time-wise as Cincinnati is today.

Mrs. Florence Howlett's Teaching Record Is Part of Display at Educational Conclave

Mrs. Florence Howlett's record as a schoolteacher, together with pictures and stories pertaining to her, was accorded during Chelsea's recent 125th Anniversary celebration, have been incorporated in an exhibit which is now on display at the national convention of Pi Lambda Theta. The convention is being held Aug. 26-29 at University of California, Santa Barbara College, at Goleta, Calif.

The exhibit pertaining to Mrs. Howlett was a project of Xi Chapter, the University of Michigan branch of the national Pi Lambda Theta organization of women in education.

Theme of the convention, "What is the Role of the Teacher in Society?" appeared to the Ann Arbor group to be exemplified by the long teaching career of Mrs. Howlett as well as by her continuing interest in educational and community affairs.

Mrs. Howlett taught in Chelsea area schools for more than 30 years. Now 92 years old and totally blind, she is still interested in affairs of the day.

In the exhibit are pictures of Mrs. Howlett taken July 11 on the veranda of McKim Memorial Library where she was presented with a certificate of honor, with Eastern Michigan University President Eugene B. Elliott acting for the University and Pi Lambda Theta. The presentation was made in conjunction with Pioneer Day ceremonies of Chelsea's 125th Anniversary Week.

Also included in the exhibit are a letter of congratulation Mrs. Howlett received from Lynn Barlett, state superintendent of public instruction, and a July 16 edition of The Chelsea Standard in which a picture and story about Mrs. Howlett appeared. The picture was of herself and her 1912 fourth grade pupils.

Since the anniversary program which honored her, Mrs. Howlett has received letters of congratulation from the White House, Michigan's Governor G. Mennen Williams, Congressman George Meader and others.

Mrs. Kari Karlsen of Ann Arbor, a teacher at Ann Arbor High school and president of Xi Chapter, Pi Lambda Theta, is representing the Ann Arbor group at the convention.

In keeping with the theme of the convention, some mention undoubtedly will be made regarding fellowships which the national group sponsors.

These fellowships are for a year of graduate study to women who show unusual promise in the educational field and wish to continue research on educational themes or practice.

Applications for these fellowships must be made before Dec. 1 by contacting the national Pi Lambda Theta office, Room 307, Portland building, 1129 Vermont Ave., N. W., Washington, 5, D. C.
