All 1961 graduates who wish to enter the 1960-61 National Merit Scholarship competition should register now at the school office. The principal announced recently. The National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test will be given at 9 a.m. Tuesday, March 8, 1960 or Saturday, March 19, 1960.

To be eligible for the test, Chelsea High School students must be second-semester juniors or first-semester seniors at the time of the examination. Students must pay a $1 fee previous to the day of the test. Any interested student who is unable to pay the fee should consult Mr. Lane.

The tests are given each year by the National Merit Scholarship Corp., as part of the nation's largest independent scholarship program. Last year 550,000 students competed in 14,500 schools for more than $3.5 million worth of four-year scholarships.

Awards are granted on the basis of intellectual merit, but a student's financial needs determine the size of the individual stipends, which are renewable each year without further testing.

The NMS exam, administered by Science Research Associates of Chicago, also is valuable to students for selecting their careers or planning their courses in high school and college, Mr. Lane observed.

After the test, each participating student will receive an interpretive folder that reports individual test results for comparison with scores of high school students across the country. Thus, Mr. Lane said, students may learn their educational strengths and weaknesses—whether or not they plan to attend college.

In addition to the NMSC grants established in 1955 by the Ford Foundation and the Carnegie Corp. of New York, about 90 industrial corporations, foundations, and individuals give scholarships through NMSC.

Science education will be given additional emphasis during the current year at Chelsea High School. Principal Charles Lane's application for participation in the Traveling High School Science Library Program has been accepted by the American Association for the Advancement of Science. A set of 200 outstanding, evaluated, up-to-date books in the sciences and mathematics will circulate to the school library from Washington, D. C. All branches of science will be covered and the reading level will range from books the brilliant junior high student will find interesting to some that will give the outstanding high school senior a taste of advanced work. The collection is valued at more than $1,100.00.

The idea for this experimental program, aimed at interesting more students in scientific and technical careers, originated with the National Science Foundation, an agency of the Federal Government established in 1960 "to promote the progress of science."

The AAAS was organized in 1848 and is the oldest national scientific society. It is a federation of 279 scientific and professional societies and has over 56,000 individual members. It accepted the NSF grant, and in 1955 selected and administered the first library of 150 books which circulated to 66 schools. From this modest beginning the program has expanded until during 1959-60 the library will go to about 1,700 schools in every State in the Union, the American Community School of Paris (France) and to the U. S. Army, Navy, and Air Force dependents' schools throughout the world.

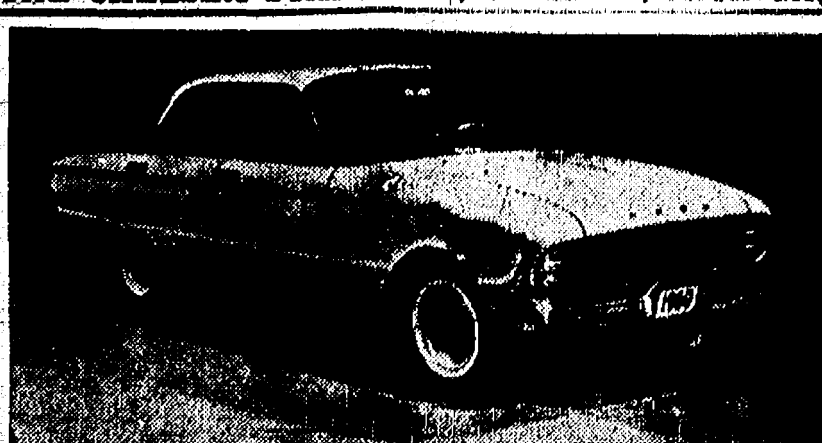

The 200 books are circulated 50 at a time to four high schools in geographic proximity, the cases rotating every two months. In this way new titles with a fresh appeal appear periodically. The books in their traveling cases are on display in the Chelsea High School library, and representatives of PTA, civic groups, service organizations, and interested individuals are invited to examine them.

Journalism club recently elected president, Linda Burghardt; vice-president, Barbara Irwin; and secretary, Ann Schmunk. These officers and the co-editors appointed Judy Summers as treasurer. Tassy Cavadas and Jill Barkley, the co-editors, told the club about their trip to East Lansing last summer which was sponsored by the club. They spent two weeks at Michigan State University learning more about Journalism.

The officers of the Girls' Athletic Association, President Linda Fisher, Vice-President Carol Reddeman, and Past-Secretary Carol Dancer met to select a treasurer and a secretary. They appointed Marilyn Pajot and Nancy McCulla, respectively. They then decided on Monday evenings as proper meeting nights.

Varsity club elected Jerry Ringe, president, Dave Rowe, vice-president, Richie Wood, secretary, and appointed Alton Nixon, treasurer. Members have been selling Chelsea pennants to raise money for operating the club. They also sponsored a dance held last Saturday night.

French club elected Ellen Flisley as vice-president. Judy Weinkauf was chosen treasurer. A committee to make plans for the year's program includes Judy Martin, chairman, Eddie Brown, Charles Walker, and Carolyn Bareis. The club will meet only on alternate weeks.

Heralding a new "breakthrough" in automotive design, the Ford Falcon—shown here with three views of the Ford model—is all-new from the ground up. Functionally styled, the Falcon has a full-length sculptured side panel that adds grace to its lines and provides greater strength for doors and side panels. The Falcon's all-new 96-horsepower six-cylinder engine is designed to give up to 50 per cent better gasoline mileage than standard cars.

Dues of 50 cents per semester are payable any time before the semester ends.

Eight returning projectionists in the high school this year are Patricia Craddock, Thomas Dunlap, Dale Ferris, Peter Flintoff, Roger Herman, Richard Irwin, David McLaughlin, and Malcolm Reinhardt.

To date, 12 new students have enrolled for training in senior high and eleven in the junior high. Both schools have identical, new projectors.

Movies shown so far this year are "How to Remember, How to Study, How to Think," to Miss Fox's classes, and "Safe as You Think" and "Give Yourself a Green Light" to Mr. Taylor's driver training groups.

The Future Teachers Association held its first meeting to find Mr. Sanborn as advisor. They discussed activities of the club during the coming year, and decided to elect officers at the next meeting.

Their first project was a volunteer one, of setting tables, serving and clearing tables for the Region 3 MEA dinner last Thursday. They served 73 teachers from 23 different teachers clubs, and won praise for their efficiency and courtesy.

The Future Homemakers of America invited all girls interested or curious to attend the first meeting of the year. All officers chosen to hold offices this year were introduced, as well as the advisor, Miss Valk.

Installation of officers was to be held Sept. 23 in the evening. The FHA point system for earning pins was explained, along with plans for various future activities.

At the first meeting of the year, the Junior class chose president, Daniel Mayer; vice-president, Ed Brown; secretary, Richard Wood; Susan Grossman was appointed treasurer. A report on the Junior stand was given, showing a profit of over $75.

Peter Flintoff was named chairman of a committee to select the Christmas cards which the class will sell somewhat later. Other members of the committee are Carolyn Miller, Ruth Prentice, Linda Burghardt, Marketa Young, Don Sexton, and Don Blalock.

The possibility of establishing a trip club is being investigated. Further discussion and information must be forthcoming before a decision can be made.

The first Student Council meeting of the 1959-60 school year was held a week ago today on Sept.

popcorn machine purchased by the Council last spring. Tom Dunlap and Victor Blecharczyk will buy $20 worth of dance records for the school.

Party plans were approved for the Senior Class's Homecoming Dance on Oct. 2. The dance will last until 12, with the price being slightly higher than usual—75c and $1. The Council also agreed to buy and serve refreshments for the football players after the Homecoming game on Oct. 2. On the food committee are chairman Richard Halst, Tom Dunlap, Judy Martin, Victor Blecharczyk and Ruth Prentice.

The Council will soon purchase 500 "big name" buttons in blue and gold with "Chelsea" written across them to sell to the student body for 25c each.

The class of '62 met Sept. 15 and elected Richard Halst as their president. Holding the vice-presidency for the second year is Dave McLaughlin. Acting as secretary is Dot Brown. Officers and advisors are Mrs. Wanda Finch, Mr. George Marshall, and Mr. Robert Taylor will appoint a treasurer. Elaine Pearson gave a report on the float which was built by the class. President Halst appointed Patty Pastor, Barbara Irwin, Roseann Hilt, Carol Dancer, Richard Halst to look into the possibilities and desirability of a trip club. Nancy Carter, Donna Snyder, Richard Halst and Nancy McCulla were appointed to a ways and means committee to plan ways for earning money in future years.

Students in Art I are beginning color charts after finishing an interesting time with designs constructed from colored paper. The lettering which Art II people are doing has turned out very nicely. In their "spare" time, experienced Art II students are working on a mural.

Seniors elected officers to guide them through their final year: president, David Rowe, vice-president, Diane Gary; secretary, Kathy Stephens; and Barrie Fisher was appointed treasurer. Plans were discussed for homecoming—Oct. 2 was approved as the time, the queen will be chosen by the football team members, the ceremonies of crowning the queen will take place indoors in the cafeteria (to ward off pneumonia, no doubt!); no band or orchestra or disc jockey will be used—just records.

Encourage Local Industry, Chamber of Commerce Told

Friendly, close relationship with industries already established in a community and promotion of a "good community climate" to induce new industries to locate there was stressed at a meeting of the Economic Development Committee held last spring at Howell, according to a report of the meeting given Tuesday evening at the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce meeting. The report was given by E. W. Eaton who attended the Howell meeting as a representative of the Chelsea C. of C.

Some of the leaders from various parts of the state who participated in the conference at Howell, have been booked as speakers for Chamber of Commerce meetings here later in the current year's program. It was announced Tuesday that Anton Nielsen has been named chairman of the Chamber of Commerce color tour committee and that this year's color tour is expected to be bigger than ever because of widespread publicity it has received.

The color tour dates are Oct. 1-31 and the Junior Chamber of Commerce chicken barbecue, held annually in connection with the tour is scheduled for Oct. 11.

The Tuesday, Sept. 15 meeting was held in the dining room of the Congregational church with Chamber of Commerce President M. J. Anderson presiding.

Uniform Traffic Marking Signs Would Be Great Help to Motorists

It's strange that a country that is spending billions mapping trips to the moon should not be able to provide motorists with adequate signs to guide them through our towns and cities.

Anyone who drives much soon discovers the signs that are supposed to direct him frequently are confusing, hard to find, can't be seen at night, or else are missing entirely. The result is delay, frustration, and too, often, needless additions to the accident toll.

A simple guide to traffic signs that will do their job is found in a manual on uniform devices that has been developed, after lengthy tests, by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads with the help of the country's top traffic experts. It has been available, with periodic revisions, for more than 20 years. Yet today only eight states claim to follow the accepted national sign standards and the variations are so numerous that "uniformity" in signs is a myth.

If all jurisdictions—state, county and local—can be induced to make their signs conform to the national standards, we will have traffic signs that are clear, correctly placed, visible at night as well as in daylight, and that look the same and mean the same, wherever they are.

All motorists and public officials should be eager to eliminate this confusion of the highways. The public official who is not might well be put in some obscure corner and made to spend his time mapping routes to the moon—and then be made to follow those routes.

Moon Look Any Different?

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

A familiar alarm was sounded as classes opened this fall for 1,645,000 public school students. The schools were short of money, teachers, and classrooms.

The situation was especially critical this year because there was a delay in adoption of a school aid bill. There was further delay when a flaw in the bill was discovered after the Legislature has passed it and recessed.

Even without the mixup in school aid there was enough to cause concern among school officials.

Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of schools, said Michigan is short nearly 8,700 classrooms "in spite of tremendous financial efforts by Michigan citizens."

Bartlett said schools will have to spend about $1,200,000,000 by the fall of 1964 to catch up on classroom construction needs.

Crowded classrooms and half-day sessions faced some students. Also facing student were 9,000 teachers who hold special certificates that allow them to teach on a temporary basis even though they do not meet desired standards.

Nearly 3,000 new teachers were on hand this year, bringing the professional school staffs throughout the state to about 65,000.

Student enrollment increased by about 70,000 from last year. But there were fewer school districts. The number of school districts decreased the past year by 214, bringing to 2,299 the number of districts.

Smaller districts banded together to form large districts and other small districts annexed to larger ones.

The consolidation can't go fast enough for Bartlett. He backed a bill in the legislature that would have hastened school district consolidation. It failed to pass.

Back-to-school movements signaled the end of the summer tourist season.

The Michigan Tourist Council was hopeful the season would gross 650 million dollars, which would top the record 1955 season by 25 million dollars.

Weather clipped the season at the beginning just as schools did at the end.

But unseasonably hot weather late in the summer stimulated the tourist trade and helped offset the slow start.

The boating boom, longer vacations offered by industry, and continued interest in the Mackinac Bridge all helped, although bridge traffic was down from last year.

Competition remains keen within the tourist industry.

Park attendance is up from last year. There were 16,428,388 park visitors through August, an increase of 8.32 per cent or about a million from the first eight months in 1958.

Thousands were turned away from park camp sites.

Resorting business is getting bigger. Areas that used to roll up the sidewalks at summer's end are preparing for autumn visitors.

The fall color season is helping the tourist industry more and more every year, thanks to a large degree to increased advertising.

And then there's the winter sports season.

The Tourist Council is spending $280,000 for advertising to emphasize the state's year-around attractions.

A successful instrument in promoting Michigan—the newspaper—was honored during special ceremonies at the Michigan State Fair.

"This is a mighty force in Michigan," said Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson as he traced the role of the newspaper in the state's development.

Swainson spoke at a program featured by award of Centennial awards to 33 newspapers that have been telling Michigan's story for 100 years or more.

"You have helped make Michigan great and will help make it even greater," Swainson said in closing.

TIRED OF WAITING
LOS ANGELES—"I just got tired of waiting," police said Robert Patrick explained when he was arrested on a charge of stealing a bus and driving it toward his home until he hit a tree.

Cecil Hearn, the bus driver, said the theft occurred after he parked the bus for a 20-minute layover and went into a restaurant.

If you're planning to do landscape work that includes patio construction, fall is a good time to do it, according to landscape specialists. The ground will be dry and settled, and rains aren't so likely to interrupt your work.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

When the weather is right for it, I spend a heap of my time just setting on the front porch and rocking. A feller can do some mighty sound thinking while he's setting and rocking.

I always rock with the grain on account of rocking agin the grain makes the planks squeak and the noise reminds my old lady of a few chores I ain't finished. I reckon most of you folks in town ain't saw a rocking chair in 10 years, and if you had one the chances is you ain't got no front porch to rock it on. When you town folks throwed your rocking chairs away and started building houses without no front porches, is when you started down hill.

There ain't nothing in this world that gives a feller the feeling that he's at peace with himself and the world like setting and rocking for a spell. If Khrushchev and them Russian bandits would git a front porch and some rocking chairs, the world wouldn't need no summit meeting.

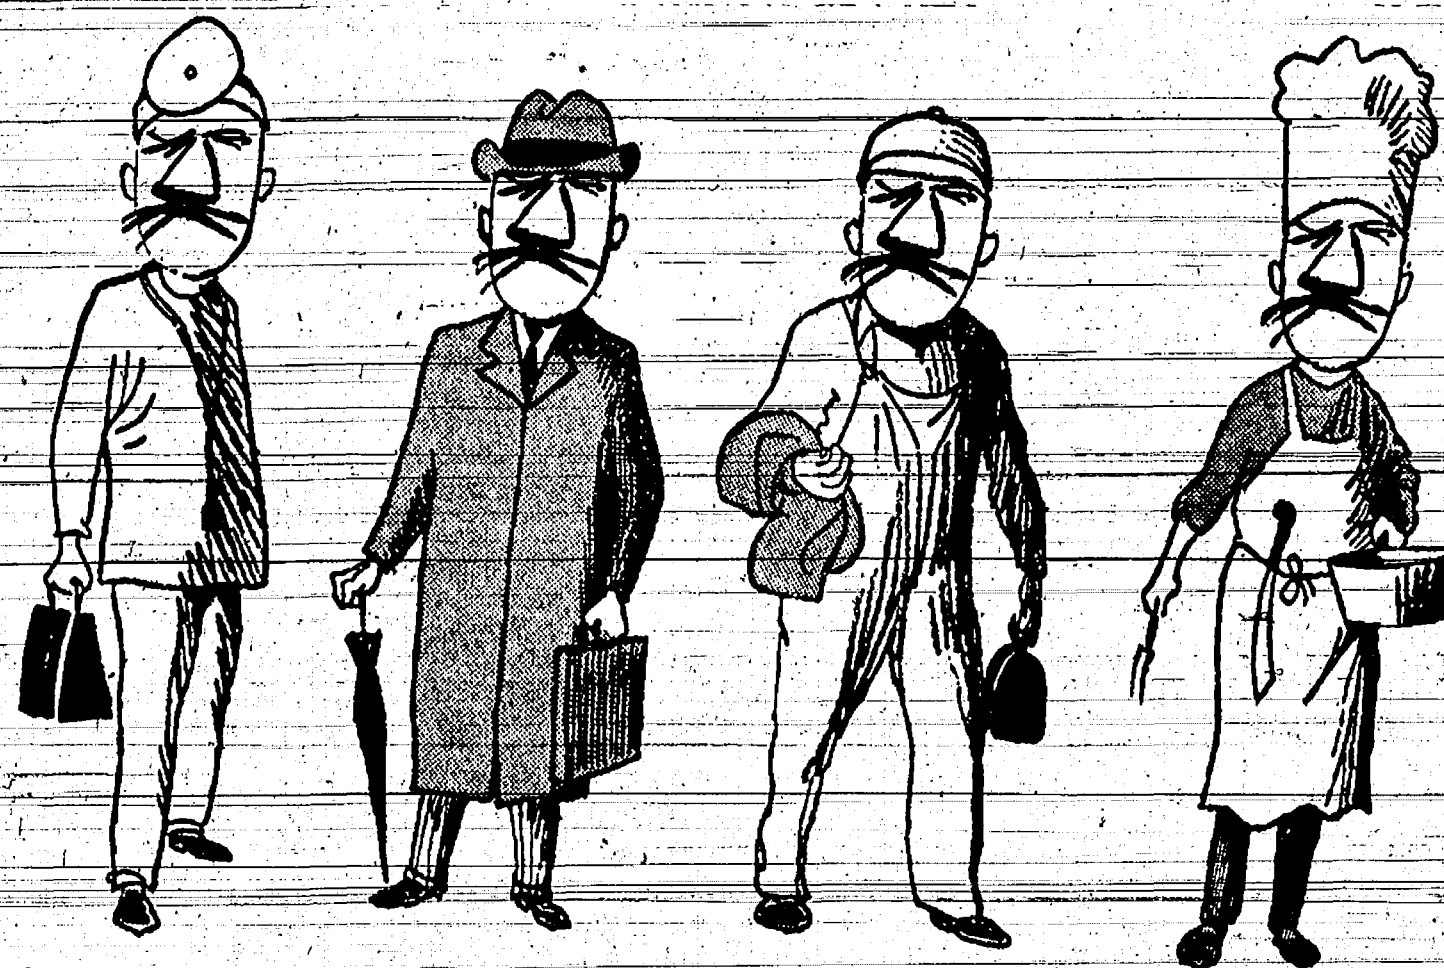

Last night my good neighbor Zeke Grubb come by and me and him rocked and talked for a couple hours. Zeke is a real good rocker and talker. He said he had writ his Congressman for some data last Spring and his letter was referred to the Agriculture Department and from there to several other Departments. Right now, says Zeke, he's hearing from the State Department. He figgers he'll git the data in time for the 1960 elections, along with a letter from his Congressman on how hard he's been working on the project.

Zeke is always good for a fancy yarn or two. He was telling last night about the Sunday morning this feller went to church and nobody showed up but the preacher and him. The preacher come down to the pew and asked this feller, "Brother, if you took a load of hay to the pasture and didn't but one cow show up, would you feed her?" The feller allowed as how he would feed her.

The preacher walked back up in the pulpit, sung a few songs, said a long prayer, preached two hour and 10 minutes, sung a few more songs and said a final prayer. He come down out of the pulpit, shook hands with the feller, and they walked down the aisle together. When they got to the door, the feller stopped and told the preacher, "Reverend, I been thinking about that load of hay and the cow. I'd have fed her alright, but I'll be darned if I wouldn't give her the whole load."

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew,

The man who follows another never gets ahead.

THIS TOWN IS MINE

I am everybody. I am everybody who lives in my town.

A town is made of many things but mostly a town is made of people. A town is made by people, mostly by the people who live there.

A town grows and prospers or it declines, because of many things. Sometimes because of things beyond the control of the people who live there. But more often because of the activities of these people—what they do and say about their town.

There are no finer people than the people who live in my town. I believe in them and I believe in my town.

This town is mine. To me it is the greatest town in the world. It deserves and will get the best I can give to make it so. It deserves and will get a good word from me always.

THE CHELSEA STANDARD

The Way the Ball Bounces

With Tom Johnston

This Friday night will be the big one. Conference play gets underway for all of the area schools, and both the U. of M. and Eastern Michigan swing into action.

All eyes in the new Washtenaw Conference will be on Ann Arbor Saturday night when Chelsea's Bulldogs and University High's Cubes face each other in a key game in the area, and in a game which may decide the championship.

Over at Saline, the Hornets, who are close one to Onstead, will face the league's number one dark horse when Dexter travels to Saline to face the Hornets. These games all will be of importance to the title outcome.

The Cubes, of University High, led by their version of the "Touchdown Twins" in Pete Andrews and Dave Griffith, romped over Flint Valley in 41 to 6 style, while the Bulldogs were having a rough time with Milan's Big Reds. Coach Al Conklin was fairly well pleased with the team's performance, and this reporter was impressed at the team's power.

Times with the Bulldogs' power thrusts up the middle. Chelsea appears to have a group of strong backs who like contact and like to run with that ball. In McDaniel, Wilson, and McLaughlin Conklin may have the backs who will win some ball games for him this fall.

In the Milan clash on Friday, the Bulldogs had lapses in the second and fourth periods, while they looked fine during the first and third quarters. Chelsea's passing attack looked good at times and bad at times, but please note that Flint's only score against U. High was on a pass play. Mike Rotunno at Saline wishes that he had just one more back like Billy Taylor. Taylor, who is one of the league's fastest backs, looked very good in the Onstead opener, once intercepting a pass and going some 70 yards before he was stopped.

But Mike needs some help for Taylor in the backfield to give the Hornets' attack a little variety. In this respect by the way, U. High may have the two best backfield threats in the league, and maybe the area, in Andrews and Griffith.

But getting back to Saline. The Saline coach was fairly well pleased with his team's performance, but the Hornets couldn't move the ball over when it was necessary. They lost too many scoring opportunities. In Dexter this week, they'll be meeting an all-veteran club which is led by one of the Huron Valley's best linemen in Alton Savory. Coach Don McIntyre's club tied in last week's action, and has 15 letterwinners back from last year. At Dexter they feel that this is their year. And it just might be.

Michigan will swing into action at Ann Arbor against Missouri.

Saturday afternoon. Bump Elliott will be making his coaching debut at the Wolverines reins and from where I sit it's going to be a rough year for the youthful mentor.

Michigan should win Saturday against a club which lost to Penn State last Saturday, 19 to 6. But the Wolverines will face tough sledding the rest of the way, beginning with Michigan State the following week. Michigan will have a good offensive team. But lack of depth and defensive strength will keep them from winning very many conference games.

Northwestern, Ohio State, Purdue all have veteran clubs back this fall, while Michigan State has a fine group of sophomores led by East Detroit's Gary Ballman.

Wisconsin is a strong favorite to cop the Big Ten title with ace quarterback Dale Hackbart returning, so it looks like a long season at Ann Arbor this fall. Michigan will be exciting to watch, however, and here are some boys to watch: Darrell Harper, a fine all-around veteran who will be booting many field goals this fall; Bennie McKee, a speedy back who reminds everyone of Jim Pace when he started. Not as big, but a little faster. Wilbur Franklin, a real fast breakaway back, Don Hannah, Joh Stamos and Stan Noskin, all top quarterbacks. If Michigan goes this fall, those are the boys who will make the difference.

Who will be this week's winners? In the big one at Ann Arbor when the Cubes and the Bulldogs meet, Chelsea by 2 points if their passing attack is working.

Dexter over Saline by 6 points. The Dreadnaughts have too much depth.

Michigan over Missouri, if they don't win this one, they never will win this fall.

"Any deer" hunting will be open in 39 food shortage and crop damage areas in Michigan this fall. Hunters have until midnight, October 10, to submit their applications for approximately 100,000 special permits which are being offered for hunting in these areas. Application cards should reach all license dealers in the state by September 15. Applicants are reminded that special areas have been made since last season. Hunters must apply for permits by these numbered areas rather than by counties. No person may submit more than one application. According to present plans, drawings will be held in Lansing, October 22, for areas where applications outnumber special permit quotas. Each permit will be valid for only one area.

Austin Balmer Has Winner in Cleveland Race

Austin Balmer, of this vicinity, put Chelsea in the foreground of news at the Cleveland race track last week when his horse, Chelsea B., came in first.

The clipping from the Cleveland Plain Dealer reads as follows:

"First in the last race on the last day of the recent Randall meeting was a plenty-to-one petter—he paid $61.60 for $2, to be precise—and thereby hangs a bang tale. It's a little tale told as follows by ex-jockey Willie Pool, one of the Randall-patrol judges:

"A lot of the other horsemen at the track were feelin' sorry for Mr. Austin Balmer, a fine old gentleman out of Michigan whose colors hadn't come home on top at Randall since the last race on the last day of the meetin' in 1950.

"It was a long shot by the name of Dark Pass that won for Mr. Balmer back there nine years ago, with the help of a jockey by the name of Willie Pool. And Dark Pass is the proud father of Chelsea B., the 30-1 shot that win the last race on the last day out there this year—and him in the colors of Mr. Balmer, too!

"Like the good old gent said, talk about your happy endin's, but it was sure a long time between 'em. Which made this last one all the happier, for him and his load of friends."

The purse for the 1-10 mile race for three-year-olds and upward was $1,500 with a claiming price of $2,000 and net value to the winner, $975.

TROOP 76

Starting our fall term we are holding our scout meetings at Bill Adams' house.

New patrol leaders were elected. We discussed the National Jamboree in Colorado Springs, Colo.

The new Senior Patrol Leader is Jack Howard.

There is to be a Green Bar camp-out at Camp Kirolex on Oct. 24-26.

Gary White, scribe.

TROOP 25

The meeting was held last Monday at the North Elementary school. We held an election of patrol leaders.

We also talked about football game wearing.

Pvt. Troy Lewis Completes Marine Basic Training

Camp Pendleton, Calif.—Marine Pvt. Troy L. Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Lewis of 4988 Kalmbach road, Chelsea, Mich., completed four weeks of individual combat training Sept. 8 at the Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

The course included the latest infantry tactics, first aid, demolitions, field fortifications and advanced schooling on weapons.

Trainees learn that all Marines are basically infantrymen, whether they serve as cooks, typists, truck drivers, or with aviation units.

SCORES USE OF G.I.'S

Senator Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) has said that nearly 5,000 service men were being used as "grocery store clerks" in military commissary stores.

"We are losing the equivalent of two full combat regiments by having enlisted personnel sell bread, meat and canned goods," Douglas claims. He also said that "A farce has been made of the law" governing such establishments inside the United States.

More than 8,000 volumes were added to the Flint College Library of the University of Michigan bringing the total collection to 19,000 volumes.

FORT MICHILIMACKINAC:

Michigan's Past Blends With Future at Mackinac

(This is a rather in the famous Forts of Michigan series prepared by the Michigan Tourist Council.)

High up in Michigan's north country where the Mackinac Bridge begins stands a small stockade.

It covers a scant three-quarters of an acre, but more history was made on this tiny parcel of land than on any similar tract in the Great Lakes territory.

This is Fort Michilimackinac (pronounced Mish-i-l-mack-i-naw).

At one time it was France's Gibraltar of the west, Britain's Gibraltar of the north. Its garrison was massacred once, the fort was partially burned more than once and it was the jumping-off place for explorers and traders ranging a thousand miles north and west to Great Slave Lake and the Bad Lands of the ferocious Sioux. It also seems to have been a jinx for many of the fort's commanders.

Today Fort Michilimackinac stands in the very shadow of the mighty Mackinac Bridge, and scores of travelers make the old stockade a favored sightseeing stop on their vacation itineraries. For the Bridge represents one era, the weathered palisades another; and the legend and mystery surrounding the old fort are enhanced by the contrast.

From the gate of the fort in Mackinaw City the visitor has a framed view of the five-mile long bridge that spans the Straits of Mackinac to link Michigan's two peninsulas.

An aura of mystery surrounds even the date of Fort Michilimackinac's establishment. But officially, the Michigan Historical Commission marker says 1712. This was the year Gov. de Vaudreuil of New France set tame the coureurs de bois—the wild-free traders who refused to pay for passes into the interior and who periled the lives of those who abided by frontier regulations.

DeLignery had his troubles. His garrison consisted largely of trader-adventurers rather than trained soldiers.

"There are at present at this post about 40 deserters, who in all their conduct, only consult their own interests," he complained in 1713, asking for reinforcements.

He got them in 1716, but they left immediately to fight the Fox Indian tribe in Wisconsin and Iowa at Delignery's expense.

Originally Fort Michilimackinac was only about 100 feet from the shore and at times its walls were lashed by the choppy waters of the straits. In shape nearly square, with bastions at the four angles, the stockade was armed with four brass cannon and two guardhouses—small affairs set over and above the two gates, taking the place of watchtowers and serving defensive purposes.

Here, in the 1760's, Indians were recruited by the French for the war against England and her colonies in the east. Leader of the Indians was the famed halfbreed, Sieur de Langlade, who fought at General Montcalm's side at the Battle of Quebec in a losing cause. Earlier Langlade had commanded the Indians at Braddock's Defeat.

In 1765 at Fort Duquesne (now Pittsburgh), in which a young colonel—one George Washington—had fought on the British side against the French and Indians.

When the French lost the war and retired to the Illinois settlements, Langlade was left in charge of the fort. He must have subscribed to the "if-you-can't-lick-'em, join 'em" philosophy, for he soon became a trusted British subject. Yet, the Indians apparently still held him in high regard, for when he massacred the British garrison in 1763 during the Pontiac Conspiracy and his family, he also heeded his instructions about not harming British traders.

Langlade later turned the fort back to the British and went on with his fur trading. The old mainland fort was abandoned in the summer of 1780, a victim of the growing threat of American forces in the Illinois country. The Americans never came within 400 miles of Fort Michilimackinac, but they caused its destruction as surely as if they had stormed it.

★ Progress of the Business Recovery

From some of the current comments one might conclude that the recovery is grinding to a halt. This is far from the truth. Recovery not only is continuing, but is becoming broader and more sound. Some recent evidence of this includes:

Gross national product, the value of all goods and services produced in the nation, advanced in the first quarter by an estimated $11 billion, to an annual rate of $464 billion. These are current dollars but during this period the price level was virtually stable, which means that actual production increased by the indicated amount. This carries the total to a new high, as did the fourth quarter figure. The total now is some $37 billion above the recession low in the first quarter of last year.

Industrial production, as measured by the index of the Federal Reserve Board, rose another point in February, which lifted it to 44 percent above the average of 1947-49. The pre-recession high was only 45 percent above 1947-49, so the recovery in production has almost reached the previous peak. The February advance, too, was general, with durable goods showing a rise pretty well across the board. Non-durables continued their advance of earlier months.

Outstanding in the rise was steel production. Buying in that field has been exceptionally heavy because of the fear of a strike on July 1. It is anticipated that in the third quarter steel production necessarily will decline, but in the fourth quarter it should rise again.

Personal income in February made another new high. It was $14 billion above January. The largest increase was in payrolls, which advanced $750 million. Transfer payments rose by $200 million as a result of the increased payments under social security. Agricultural income declined further and now is at an annual rate of one half billion below last December.

Hourly earnings of factory production workers remained unchanged for the third consecutive month at $2.19. Weekly earnings were $87.16 and for every major industry group this was above the figure for a year earlier. In primary metals and rubber products the increase is more than $16 above February 1958. Both of these industries have shown a sharp increase in hours of work and both have given substantial wage increases.

Retail trade remains on the upgrade, and is running appreciably above a year ago. It still is too early to draw final conclusions as to how large an automobile year this will be, but recently sales have shown an encouraging increase. Officially the industry is still staying with its early forecast of a 5 1/2-million car sales this year; however, there is some question as to whether that total will be reached.

The liquidation of inventories has come to a halt. In the first quarter of 1959 such liquidation was taking place at an annual rate of over $9 billion, and it continued as a drag on the economy throughout the year. With inventory accumulation, which probably already has started, there will be a lift given to business activity.

Business investment in plant and equipment, which also was a drag on the economy most of last year, turned slightly upward in the fourth quarter—the latest figures available—and is anticipated to continue to increase throughout 1959. The change is small, from a low of $29.6 billion to $32 billion in the second quarter, but at least it is on the upside.

Private housing starts, at an annual rate and seasonally adjusted, declined in February to 1,320,000. This is 90,000 below the December rate, but still indicates a good housing year. Construction over-all remains strong.

Prices at the consumer level, as measured by the Bureau of Labor Statistics index, remain stable. In February the index was 123.7 as compared with 123.5 for 1958 as a whole.

There are, of course, still some segments of the economy which have not recovered from the recession. Some industries still are low and some localities still have serious problems. And unemployment is troublesome—so much so that it deserves treatment all by itself.

But taking the economy as a whole, recovery clearly is continuing and shows every sign of remaining on the upgrade for the remainder of this year.

INFLATION EASING?

The Administration believes the battle against inflation is being won.

This confidence, which is shared by most of the Administration's leading economists, was expressed through the Cabinet Committee on Price Stability for Economic Growth.

President Eisenhower created the committee last January, as a sort of Economic Security Council.

★ Running from Trouble . . .

Recently I mentioned that Ben Heldeman had given me a good piece of advice.

Here it is:

THE WAY TO AVOID TROUBLE IS TO AVOID IT

Like most wise sayings, this is exactly right—and exactly wrong.

Have you ever played the game of picking a proverb and then trying to find another proverb that says exactly the opposite? For example, "Clothes make the man," is refuted by the proverb, "Fine feathers do not make a fine bird." On the subject of promptness, you may choose between "A stitch in time saves nine," and "Haste makes waste."

Ben's motto, quoted above, is certainly a gem of wisdom. Many of us, and I must number myself among the blundering herd, often walk into trouble with both eyes open and both arms outstretched. If we would only ask ourselves before we make a sarcastic remark, "Is this going to lead to bloodshed?"

The other side of the picture is that anyone who spends the major portion of his time and effort in trying to avoid trouble is not going to get much else done in life, and he is going to deteriorate into a mere misanthropic non-entity. People, like turtles, can't make much progress unless they are willing to stick their necks out.

Ben Heldeman himself is a sterling example of a man who has consistently valued integrity and honor more than reputation. If he thought something was right and necessary, he set about doing it, even though it might lead to disagreement. Like a true gentleman, though, I suspect he never insulted anyone unintentionally.

To avoid trouble is hardly a worthy goal in life for a free man. I question the peace of mind of an officer of the law who was headed to say, at a public celebration, "I'm going to have to clear out of here if they don't stop selling liquor to minors."

Bent Grass in Bluegrass Sod

Hard To Manage

A little bent grass seed goes a long way in a lawn, says James Tyson, turf specialist at Michigan State University. Blue grass lawns are hard to manage when bent gets too thick.

Many lawn seeds now on the market have about 3 to 5 percent bent figured on a weight basis, the specialist points out. This amount seems small. But one pound of tiny bent grass seed gives three times as many plants as a pound of Merion bluegrass.

A bent grass lawn can be beautiful, Tyson adds. A home owner with lots of bent has two alternatives:

1. He can shift over to a set of management practices designed for bent grass lawns.

2. He can fumigate to kill all plants. Then he can re-plant to easier-to-manage species.

County extension agents have copies of a leaflet by Tyson on raising a bent grass lawn.

Bent grass seed has what it takes to compete with other lawn grasses. Bent comes up faster than most other species. Yet some seeds remain in the ground and germinate a year or two after planting.

Sodded bluegrass lawns pick up bent grass in several ways, Tyson explains:

"Seed may be in the sod grower's field before he plants bluegrass. He may have grown bent in recent years.

"Seed may have been in the old lawn before the sod was added. "Seed could come in during broadcast re-seedings years after planting. Certified Merion bluegrass seed often has very small amounts of bent. But the bent multiplies rapidly."

University of Michigan undergraduate students in engineering will have their first chance to take courses in meteorology, the study of weather, this fall.

Pride, Enthusiasm Help Make Home Town Prosper

Nothing is so important to a town as the people who live in it. They make all the difference between a town that is dead and one that is alive with progress. Towns of comparable size and population, with similar economic opportunities can be as different as day and night, depending on the people who make up the community.

That's the idea behind an advertisement entitled "This Town is Mine," which appears today in The Standard. It is another in the series of ads which have been appearing in The Standard as a public service in co-operation with the Michigan Press Association and the Michigan Economic Development Department. More than 300 other Michigan newspapers are in this program.

All of us have had the experience of visiting a small town that just seems to be filled with magnetism. Its people bubble with enthusiasm. They point with pride and chests expanded to the things their town has to offer. Its playgrounds, its good streets, its fine stores, tennis courts and swimming pools—its community groups and social activities.

It is their town and not only are they proud of it—they think it's the best place in the world in which to live and they believe in showing its praises at every opportunity.

Before long, the visitor is pretty apt to agree with them. After all, unless there is some reason for it, how can people be so proud of their home town?

Such a town is most likely to be a prosperous town of good stores and attractive homes. It's certain to have a lot of people working diligently to make it an even better town in every way.

Then we have all seen the other type of town, where people are disgruntled and complaining. Many are frank to say it is a terrible place in which to live. Factions probably are fighting each other instead of working together. That town is being pulled in all directions and getting nowhere. A town never will prosper until the people start working and pulling together, building a community of which they can be proud.

You've been asking for them!

WITH REVOLUTIONARY
TORSION-SPRING SUSPENSION
THAT GIVES ASTONISHING NEW
SHOCKPROOF ACTION!!!!

Chevy's done the next best thing to paving every road in America!

First they threw out the front axle and put in torsion-spring independent suspension. Then they built wide-base coil-rear springs into most light-duty models, variable-rate leaf springs into heavies. That made it a ride you have to feel to believe. A ride that lets you move faster to get more work done in a day's time.

Brawlier-bulldozer build!

Frames are stronger, cabs 67% more rigid. Front wheels and tires are precision-balanced. And that new suspension cushions jars and road shock that used to spell slow death for the truck's body and sheet metal.

More comfortable cabs!

Easier to hop in and out of too. Many models are a whole 7 inches lower outside. Yet there's more head room inside, plus more width for shoulders and hips. More real comfort!

Big in the power department!

With the industry's most advanced gas-saving 6's. With high-torque Workmaster V8 performance in heavyweights.
With new 6-cylinder or V8 power available in L.C.F.'s.

More models than ever!

New 4-wheel-drive models and tandems and high-styled Suburban Carryalls. It's the handsomest, hardest working Chevy fleet ever to report for duty.

Why we built two cars for 1960... as different as night and day

On October 2—for the first time in Chevrolet's 49-year history—you will be able to walk into your dealer's showroom and see two totally different kinds of cars. ■ One is the conventional 1960 Chevrolet, brand new in appearance and more beautifully refined and luxurious than you can imagine. ■ The other is unlike any car we or anybody else ever built—the revolutionary Corvair, with the engine in the rear where it belongs in a compact car. ■ We'd like to tell you why we built two such different cars, how we built them—and for whom we built them.

Why two kinds of cars? Because America itself has been going through some big changes—in the past few years. Our cities have been straining at their seams. Traffic is jam-packed. Parking space is at a premium.

And our suburbs have spread like wildfire. People are living farther from their work, driving more miles on crowded streets. There is new leisure time—but more things to do. There's a new standard of living—and more need for two cars in the family garage.

In short, America's automobile needs have become so complex that no one kind of car can satisfy them completely. That is why we at Chevrolet, keeping tab on these trends, have had a revolutionary compact car in the planning stages for more than nine years.

Thus, when we decided three years ago to prepare for production of such a car we were ready to build it the way it should be built. There was no need for a hasty "crash" program that would create only a saved-off version of a conventional car.

That is why the two cars you will see in your dealer's showroom October 2 will be two entirely different kinds of cars. One is the conventional '60 Chevrolet—brand new in beauty, with new space inside, new spirit under the hood, a new feeling of sumptuousness and luxury never before attained by any car in its field. There is great V8 power linked with new thrift, plus Chevrolet's superb 6-cylinder engine. It is a traditional car that comes even closer to perfection—in silence, in room, in ease of control, in velvety ride—than any other car we have ever made.

The other is the Corvair, a compact car that is astonishingly different from anything ever built in this country. It has to be—because this is a six-passenger compact car, with a really remarkable performance... a car designed specifically to American standards of comfort, to American traffic needs.

The engine is in the rear. Among the basic advantages resulting from this engine location are better traction on a compact 108-inch wheelbase and a practically flat floor. But to be placed in the rear, the engine had to be ultra-light and ultra-short. So Corvair's engine is totally new—mostly aluminum and air cooled; it weighs about 40 per cent less than conventional engines. It is a "flat" horizontally opposed six—so it is only three cylinders long... and that leaves a lot more room for passengers.

Another weight saving: like modern airplanes, the Corvair has no frame; the body-shell supplies it great structural strength... it's a welded unit that is virtually rattle-free.

The ride is fantastic. But to get it we had to design independent suspension at every wheel; conventional springing would give a compact car a choppy ride. Right now we'll make one prediction: no other U.S. compact car will ride so comfortably, hold the road so firmly and handle so beautifully.

Now there are two kinds of cars from Chevrolet—because it takes two kinds of cars to serve America's needs today. If you love luxury—the utmost in luxury—and if you want generous interior space, breath-taking performance, automatic drives and power assists—then the conventional '60 Chevrolet may be your choice.

If easy parking, traffic agility and utmost economy are high on your list—then you should seriously consider the Corvair. But the best thing to do is to look these two new cars over at your Chevrolet dealer's... take them out for a drive. It may be that the only logical choice for your family between two cars like this is—both. They make a perfect pair.

AFTERNOON PHILATHEA

Hostesses for a luncheon meeting of the Afternoon Philathea Circle of the Methodist Women's Society of Christian Service, at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 16, were Mrs. Roy Kalmbach, Mrs. Irwin Klump, Mrs. Russell Baldwin, Mrs. Wilbur Pearson and Mrs. Harold Craven. The meeting was held in the social center of the church with 28 members and three guests present.

Following the luncheon the afternoon meeting was opened by the circle chairman, Mrs. George Stanford.

Mrs. Loring Bates presented a devotional service on the topic "Good Living Isn't Cheap" and this was followed by an interesting talk pertaining to the first half of the year's study book, "The Bible," given by the afternoon's guest speaker, the Rev. George Stanford, chaplain of the Methodist Home.

RACHEL CHAPTER

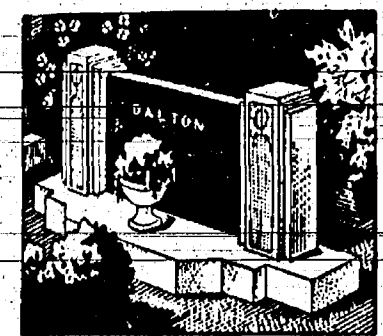

Rachel Chapter of the Women's Fellowship of the Congregational church met Wednesday evening, Sept. 16, at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Philip Rusten.

Mrs. Vernon Parks stressed the program theme, "Women of the Bible," in the opening devotional service and Mrs. George Marshall, in charge of the program, gave resumes of the life and work of various women of the Bible.

The program was concluded with Bible quiz games.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Rusten and her co-hostess, Mrs. Philip Vogel.

The next regular meeting is scheduled for Oct. 14 at the home of Mrs. Paul Boehler.

Morning Philathea Circle Holds First Meeting of Fall

Inspiration for the year's work was the general theme of the program at the first fall meeting of Morning Philathea Circle of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church. The meeting was held Wednesday, Sept. 16, at the home of Mrs. Warren Daniels at Cavanaugh Lake. There were 23 members and guests present.

Mrs. Daniels in her opening remarks at the meeting, mentioned the central thought in the year's study theme was "to be ever mindful of others." The Christian social relation topic for the year is, "There's a Light Upon the Mountains."

Mrs. Chandler Rogers read appropriate Scripture passages during the devotional period and then Mrs. Robert Harris and Mrs. Charles McDaniels, in a dramatic dialogue presentation, evaluated their summer vacation in relation to the new year's responsibilities.

Principal thought stressed impressively during the dialogue emerged as the following statement of intention, "I am going to do whatever I am asked to do if it is within my ability to meet the requests. I shall try to remember not to pray for tasks equal to my powers but for powers equal to my tasks."

At the conclusion of the program each member told of her summer activities—both work and recreation and other enjoyment.

Announcement was made of the group's service project, "Paper Bag Year." Members were told to send a message, in writing on a paper bag, for a friend who is ill, or plan a "snack in a bag" to take along on a friendly visit with an older friend, the main idea being to use the paper bags for furthering friendships.

Each member was given a paper bag and asked to make a booklet to be used for the year's program and then each one filled her booklet with the calendar for the year. Many artistic and original ideas were displayed when the booklets were completed.

Barbara Balmer Becomes Bride of Gary Roderick

The Methodist church here was the setting for the wedding of Barbara Balmer and Gary F. Roderick which took place at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon with the Rev. S. D. Kinde officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Balmer, 16610 Roe road, and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd D. Roderick, 143 Lincoln street.

Mrs. Francis Smyser, accompanied on the organ by Claude Isham sang "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

For her wedding, the bride chose a princess style ballerina length dress of white lace over satin and wore a small hat with a short veil. Her bouquet was of stephanotis.

Mrs. Edward LaRoe of Ann Arbor, a cousin of the bridegroom, wore a green floor-length gown. Her flowers were red roses.

Edward LaRoe assisted his cousin as best man, while Robert Balmer, William Sorenson of Ann Arbor, Larry LaRoe of Dexter, and Donald Alexander, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, seated the 125 guests.

Marilyn Balmer, a sister of the bride, kept a guest book at the reception held in the church social center following the ceremony. Others who assisted are Mrs. Donald Alexander, sister of the bridegroom, who cut the cake; and Mrs. Richard Roberts and Mrs. Jacob Crockett of Beaverton, aunts of the bride, who served punch and coffee.

After a week-end trip to the Upper Peninsula, the new Mr. and Mrs. Roderick are at home at 643 West Middle street. The bride's going-away costume was a blue suit with white accessories and a corsage taken from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a 1959 graduate of Chelsea High school, while the bridegroom graduated in 1958 and is now an employee of Pinckney Fabricated at Pinckney.

Shirley Jean Parker, Ralph Trinkle Wed Saturday Evening

Shirley Jane Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer R. Parker, 501 Parker road, and Ralph E. Trinkle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Trinkle, 205 North Freer road, were married at Bethlehem church, Ann Arbor, Saturday evening. The ceremony was performed at 7:30 p.m. with the Rev. Ernest Klaut officiating.

Soloist for the ceremony was Arthur Tahnke of Ann Arbor. He sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride's gown was of chintilly lace over taffeta styled with a sabbina neckline, long sleeves and a bouffant, floor-length skirt. Her fingertip-length veil was attached to a tiara of pearls and she carried a white prayer book topped with a floral arrangement which included a white orchid encircled with stephanotis.

A sister of the bride, Mrs. Robert Fiegel of Ann Arbor, served as matron of honor. She wore for the occasion a street-length dress of aqua colored organza over taffeta with a matching headpiece and carried a bouquet of mums in white and two shades of pink.

Carolyn Fiegel, a niece of the bride, was identically gowned for her role as flower girl and Keith Warner, a nephew of the bride, served as ringbearer.

Eve and Ruth Ann Trinkle, sisters of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Max Cosgray of Stockbridge, were bridesmaids. Their street-length dresses were styled like that of the maid of honor except that they were in shrimp color. Matching headpieces and bouquets of mums in white and two shades of blue completed their ensembles.

The bride's mother, in royal blue crepe with matching accessories, and the bridegroom's mother in royal blue with white accessories, each had a corsage of pink camellias.

The bridegroom's brother, Robert Trinkle, was best man, and Stanley Parker, brother of the bride, Steven Trinkle, nephew of the bride, and Donald Bauer, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, served as ushers.

Assisting at the reception which followed in the church parlors were sisters of the bride and bridegroom, Mrs. Willis Warner of Ann Arbor, who cut the wedding cake, Mrs. Harold Trinkle who served ice cream, and Elmer Dibble and Mrs. Ellis Pratt who poured coffee and punch, respectively.

Mrs. Donald Bauer was in charge of the guest book.

When the couple left for a two-week Florida honeymoon, the bride was wearing an aqua satin princess style dress with black and patent leather accessories. Her corsage was the orchid she had carried on her Bible during the wedding ceremony.

The bride is a graduate of Dexter High School and is employed at the Ann Arbor Bank.

The bridegroom operates the Ralph Trinkle Gravel and Excavating company here.

The couple will reside on Scio Church road.

Pre-nuptial parties for the bride included four miscellaneous showers given by the Luckhardt family; Mrs. Max Cosgray and Mrs. Walter Thornton; Mrs. Robert Fiegel; and fellow employees at Ann Arbor Bank.

Michigan Travelers Get Fall Color News

Autumn travelers are reminded that the Michigan Tourist Council offers a personalized service to keep them informed on the progress of the state's fall color spectacular.

Persons requesting the service will be sent individually addressed cards, telling them where and when autumn's display is at its best.

A card or letter to the tourist council office, Lansing 26, is all that's necessary to insure against the disappointment of missing any of fall's fleeting beauty, council spokesmen said.

The post card mailing system—only of its kind in the nation—is set in motion as soon as the first patches of color appear in Upper Peninsula woodlands.

The program is designed to aid autumn travelers in planning Michigan color tours, fall vacations and week-end outings.

Football . . .

The coaching staff was pleased by the brand-of-football the Bulldogs showed, especially in the second half.

The Chelsea gridders will have to play that type of ball Saturday night if they expect to defeat U-High in their first Washtenaw Conference game.

U-High trounced Flint U-High 41-7 in their opener.

The game will be played at Ann Arbor High's Halloway field at 7:30 p.m. Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. George Knoll and Mrs. Adam Alber spent Saturday at Indian Lake, near Lake Orion, as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Van Conant. Mrs. Van Conant is a sister of Mrs. Alber and Mr. Knoll.

DEATHS

Mrs. J. M. Koenigster Was Life-Long Member of Zion Lutheran Church

Mrs. Jacob M. Koenigster, formerly of Freedom township and a life-long member of Zion Lutheran church at Rogers Corners, died Saturday evening at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edwin L. Haab in Ann Arbor, following a long illness.

Mrs. Koenigster was the former Martha M. Klumpp, a daughter of Matthew and Sophia Klumpp. She was born in Freedom township, Oct. 15, 1881 and on Dec. 15, 1899, was married to Jacob M. Koenigster. They lived in Freedom township until his death, Jan. 29, 1946.

Mrs. Koenigster had made her home in Ann Arbor since then. In addition to membership in the Rogers Corners church she was a member of the Women of Zion of the church.

Survivors are the daughter, Mrs. Haab of Ann Arbor; two sons, Wilbert Koenigster of Rogers Corners, and the Rev. Alton Koenigster of Andover, Ia.; three grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Also surviving are four sisters, Mrs. Louise McNutt of Winn, Mich.; Mrs. Christine Kinsey of Berrien Springs; Mrs. Wesley Merrill of Mt. Pleasant, and Mrs. Elizabeth Fraser of Ann Arbor; four brothers, Otto, Ernest and Walter Klumpp, all of Mt. Pleasant, and Matthew Klumpp of Dexter.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at Zion Lutheran church, Rogers Corners, with the Rev. C. J. Renner officiating. Burial took place in the church cemetery.

Look for Quality When Buying Ready-Made Blouse

Top price and top quality do not always go together in ready-made blouses.

Bernetta Kahabka, clothing specialist at Michigan State University, suggests you compare different blouses when you shop. She lists points you might like to check.

Buttonholes get a lot of wear, so stitches should be deep enough, close enough and well-fastened enough to last the life of the blouse. They should be on the grain of the fabric. Buttonholes are more apt to stay buttoned if they are cut crosswise rather than vertical.

Collar should be neat with even stitches. Collar facing and interfacing should fit smoothly and lie flat.

All blouse seams should have adequate seam allowances so they will not pull out, and they should have suitable seam finishes so they will not ravel. Seam stitches should be smooth and neat—with no puckers.

Check buttons, too. Miss Kahabka suggests you look at the rim edge to see that buttons are of uniform thickness. Button-center should be strong.

If the blouse passes the quality check, try it on for size. It should have an easy fit through the bustline. Neckline and collar should be smooth and should not gap. Tail should be long enough to stay tucked in.

If the blouse is a poor fit, or if it needs too much reinforcing, Miss Kahabka concludes it is a poor buy at any price.

85 Attend Panel Program on Foster Homes for Children

Mrs. Elida Kahle, Washtenaw county Juvenile Court worker, and Mrs. Ruth Beyers and Mrs. Saranne Bohula, representing the Michigan Children's Institute, were members of a panel who discussed the subject of foster homes for children during the program period at the Sept. 16 meeting of St. Paul's Women's Guild.

Approximately 85 women attended the 8 p.m. program in the church hall. Representatives were present from a number of area churches as well as from Dexter and Manchester, to hear the panel discussion on what foster homes are and how very much they are needed for Washtenaw county children.

A social hour followed a question and answer period, hostesses including Mrs. Floyd Wala, Mrs. Sam Bohner, Mrs. Frederick Wagner, Mrs. Fred Voelm, Mrs. J. Lippert and Mrs. Joseph Wright.

Announcement was made of the Regional Fall Workshop at Bethlehem church, Ann Arbor, Oct. 28. It was also announced that the October meeting of the Guild will honor "senior-citizen" women of the Guild with a pot-luck supper preceding the program.

Mrs. P. G. Schabale was re-elected president of the Women's Guild and Mrs. Henry Karner was elected secretary.

Tremendous Growth in Motor Vehicle Registrations Complicates Road Problems

From only 20,000 registered vehicles in Michigan 50 years ago, we are faced with 3,500,000 vehicles today. In the period from 1940 to today, the number of motor vehicles registered in Michigan has almost doubled. At the same time, motor vehicle travel increased from 16 to 27 billion vehicle miles. In the period to 1976, it is estimated that minimum registrations and travel will almost double once more.

This is one of the major problems faced by county road commissions, today. Under their jurisdiction they have 86,000 miles of Michigan's total 109,000 miles of roads. They have met the challenge of the past—they will meet the challenge of the future.

Club and Social Activities

KINDER KLUB

Kinder Klub Child Study club, with 19 members present, met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Keith Boylan. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Donald Cook and Mrs. Donald Doll.

Principal activity at the meeting was an auction of miscellaneous items conducted by Mrs. Donald Schradner.

The next meeting of the club will be a husbands' night gathering, which is to take place Saturday, Oct. 17, in the home economics room at Chelsea Junior High school.

BEACON LIGHT EXTENSION

Beacon Light Extension club members began their fall activities Sept. 22 when they met at 8 p.m. in Sharon Town Hall with Mrs. Lawrence Kruse as hostess and 12 members and one visitor present.

The guest was Mrs. Raymond Jacob, Sr., who is the district senior council representative. She installed the new officers of the club as follows: Mrs. Floyd Parr, chairman; Mrs. Raymond Jacob, Jr., vice-chairman; Mrs. Reno Feldkamp, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Ellis Pratt, senior project leader; Mrs. Armin Kuhl, junior project leader; Mrs. Ruth Sodi, historian; Mrs. Elmer Mayer, reporter; Mrs. L. Dean Sodi, community chairman; Mrs. J. L. Barkley, sick committee chairman; and Mrs. Lawrence Kruse, recreation leader.

It was announced that Oct. 12 and 13 are workshop dates at Ann Arbor and that the next regular meeting of the club will be held Oct. 28 at the home of Mrs. Armin Kuhl.

Meeting date of the club has been tentatively changed to the fourth Wednesday of the month and it was decided to hold an invitational card party some time in October.

BIRTHS

A son, Donald Lester, Monday, Sept. 21, at St. Joseph Mercy hospital, Ann Arbor, to Mr. and Mrs. Duane L. Hall. Mrs. Hall is the former Eleanor Schmidt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Schmidt.

MODERN MOTHERS

Modern Mothers Child Study club, with 12 members present, met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Paul Boehler.

Business at the meeting included voting to sponsor a Girl Scout troop and naming delegates to the fall Child Study Clubs Association convention at the Kellogg Center in Lansing, Oct. 7 and 8.

Delegates are Mrs. Ralph Osterie and Mrs. Jack Musser, while alternates are Mrs. Philip Vogel and Mrs. William Wade.

The evening's program was a discussion of the year's work and announcement was made that the Oct. 13 meeting will be held at Merkel Brothers store and has been titled "Window Shop with Bob."

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Boehler and Mrs. Osterie.

CHILD STUDY CLUB

Dr. George Lowrey of the poison control center at Ann Arbor, was the guest speaker at the Chelsea Child Study Club meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Jack Wehntz.

In his talk he stressed the various accidents involving poisons in the age group of children one to three years old.

It was decided to send three delegates to the Child Study Clubs Association conference at Kellogg Center, in Lansing, Oct. 7, and members interested in attending are to contact Mrs. Thomas Bust.

The next meeting, Tuesday, Oct. 13, is to include a trip to Hawthorne Center. Drivers are to check with Mrs. Bust. It is expected cars will leave Chelsea at 7 p.m. and on their return members will go to the home of Mrs. William Brees for a short business session.

Coffee will be served there by the co-hostesses, Mrs. Eldon Gordon and Mrs. John Alber.

WOMAN'S CLUB

Woman's Club of Chelsea met Tuesday evening with Mrs. Chandler Rogers at Cavanaugh Lake and the 25 members and five guests present enjoyed a pot-luck supper served at tables on the lawn near the water.

Mrs. Leigh Palmer, president of the club, opened the business session and read an item entitled, "Gift for Girls."

The evening's program was an introduction to the year's theme "Freedom and Responsibility." Mrs. Byron Soule, chairman of the program committee, introduced the subject and called on Mrs. John Hale who explained the evils of too much freedom.

This was followed by a talk on the responsibilities of freedom by Mrs. Louis Ramp, and a raffle and evaluation of both vehicles by Mrs. P. G. Schabale who mentioned plans for a bibliography of the year's program.

Culmination of a discussion of points brought out in the program was a decision to investigate whether the Woman's club could do something toward eventual improvement of television program.

The committee in charge of the pot-luck supper included Mrs. L. Gadhery, Mrs. P. G. Schabale and Mrs. Louis Ramp.

Correct Size Fuse Helps Protect Your Electric Circuits

You have a watchdog in your house, even if you have to dig it's the fuse box, which keeps track of electric power in your home, says Richard Pfister, agricultural engineering safety specialist at Michigan State University.

Any time there is too much build-up of power, the fuse says "no" by blowing out. Electric current stops altogether until you replace the fuse.

The 15 amp. fuse is right for most home wiring, since most homes have size 14 wire. Don't use a larger fuse unless a qualified electrician recommends it. Otherwise, you have very little control over the amount of electric current which circulates in your home. Your "watchdog" is not on duty.

If you have trouble with fuses blowing, it may be due to the extra strain on circuits when electric motors, such as your freezer or water pump, start at the same time.

There's a remedy for this, and it does not mean using a larger fuse. Pfister suggests you install a time-delay or Fusotron type fuse, made to handle the extra surge of power needed when an electric motor starts. This type fuse fits into your regular fuse box.
