BULLDOG GRIDDERS WIN CONFERENCE TITLE

Chest Fund Total Hits 83% of Goal

Chelsea Fails To Top Quota for First Time Since Fund Started

Returns from campaign solicitors Tuesday morning place the Community Chest 1959 fund-raising drive receipts at about 83 per cent of goal, just over $19,000.

While the campaign ended officially on Oct. 30, it will be several days before all returns are in. The present standing, by category, is as follows: Industry, including employees and companies, $5,700; business, $2,385; Residential, $1,145; Schools, $400; Clubs, $130; total, $10,080.

The level of last year's contribution total has been reached. A comparison analysis at this time indicates that $10,000 more may be expected and that a final total of $14,000 will be pledged.

If the projection proves true, it will be the first time that 100 per cent subscription has not been accomplished. However, the Chelsea Chest was asked to support member agencies to the extent of $2,500 more in 1959 which made a 20 per cent increase in funds required. It appears that when final figures are in, contributors will have pledged about 40 per cent of the increase.

Chest campaign officials feel that an excellent job has been done by all, and that only the economic uncertainty resulting from the prolonged steel strike will have kept Chelsea from again going over the top.

Anyone who may not have been given the opportunity to contribute may send his donation directly to the treasurer, Donald Baldwin at the Rockwell Standard Corp.

Police To Enforce Bike Regulations

According to the Michigan Vehicle Code, every bicycle when in use at night must be equipped with a lamp on the front which shall emit a white light visible from a distance of at least 500 feet to the front and with a red reflector on the rear visible for distances from 50 feet to 300 feet to the rear when directly in front of lawful upper beams of head lamps on a motor vehicle. A lamp emitting a red light visible for a distance of 600 feet to the rear may also be used.

Also required is a bell or other device capable of giving a signal audible for a distance of 100 feet; however, sirens or whistles are not permitted.

Another requirement pertains to bicycle brakes which will enable the operator to make the braked wheels skid on dry, level, clean pavement.

These bicycle regulations are to be strictly enforced, Police Chief John Palmer announced yesterday.

Road Commission Employees Earn Safety Award Pins

The annual safety award dinner of the Washtenaw County Road Commission is scheduled for tomorrow night (Friday) at the Dixboro Methodist church, according to an announcement by Howard G. Minier, superintendent-manager.

Among the 49 employees who will receive certificates of merit and safety award pins for their established record of safe driving are nine Chelsea men with safe driving records of from one to 20 years.

The Chelsea list is headed by Victor Miller and Raymond Schumacher, each of whom has a record of 20 years of driving for the Road Commission without an at-fault accident.

Others from this area to receive recognition and the years of no-at-fault accidents to their credit are Fred Houk, 17 years; John Klink, 11 years; Oliver Walker, seven years; John Stoffer, four years; Edward Walker, four years; Harold Wheeler and Lloyd Schneider, each one year.

The pins and certificates will be awarded by Commissioners Raymond L. Koch, H. L. Frisinger and C. O. McLaughlin.

Elementary Schools Plan Open House Wednesday

In observance of National Education Week, Nov. 8-14, North and South Elementary schools plan to hold open house from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 11.

Elementary Principal Arthur Schmunk, in announcing the open house, said no elaborate plays are planned, comparable to the spring open house, since the affair is planned primarily for parents and conversations with the teachers can be carried on in a group on an individual basis, according to the preference of the teacher.

Since there will be no parent-teacher conferences at the end of 12 weeks of school, as has been the plan in recent years, the open house will afford an opportunity for parents and teachers to discuss school situations related to their children.

It is suggested that afternoon kindergarten parents be present from 7:00 to 7:45 p.m. and the morning kindergarten parents be present from 7:45 to 8:30 p.m.

Parents visiting North School could avoid traffic congestions if they will use the north driveway and park far back on the playground; also avoid parking in the driveway. In this way, parents with children in both schools can enter or leave when they please.

Mrs. Bernadine Hill is a patient at Grace hospital, Detroit.

School Board Meet Saline Here Friday In Final Game of Season

Rules Govern Field Trips

Announcement was made this week by Superintendent Charles Cameron that parent-teacher conferences, on school time, have been eliminated from the budget for this school year. Parents wishing to confer with the teachers, regarding the progress of their children, may arrange for conferences by calling Principal Arthur Schmunk or the pupils' teacher. Then conferences will be held before school, during the noon hour or after school, Superintendent Cameron said.

Parents of junior high and senior high pupils may arrange for conferences by calling Principal Charles Lane, Alan Conklin or the pupils' teacher or teachers.

The regular meeting of the Board of Education will be held Tuesday, Nov. 10, instead of Nov. 17. Board of Education meetings are held in the conference room in the high school administration building. All board of education meetings, regular and special, are open to the public.

Among announcements made this week by school officials was a list of rules and regulations governing excursions, field trips and athletic trips, whether by school bus or private cars. Any pupil who does not obey the rules and regulations may be refused future transportation.

Stating that the Board of Education wishes to encourage the use of school buses to supplement the education of pupils, trips must be planned to coordinate with the regular instructional program and not trips just to take a trip.

Among the regulations governing use of buses for approved trips is the requirement that all pupils who ride on the bus going (Continued on page seven)

Distribution Starts Thursday on New Phone Directories

Michigan Bell Telephone Company will begin distributing its new telephone directories Thursday in four local communities, announced Nicholas J. Prakken, manager here for the company.

The communities receiving the new directories, and the quantities being delivered, are: Chelsea, 3,450; Dexter, 2,500; Manchester, 1,625; and Whitmore Lake, 1,700.

In addition to the local directories, telephone users in these four communities are also receiving separate directories which contain only Ann Arbor telephone numbers. These are special books published for residents in these areas," Prakken said.

He added that as the door-to-door distributors deliver the new books, they are picking up the old ones.

"It is desirable to get the old directories, with their obsolete information, out of circulation as soon as possible," he explained. "But, before doing so, the old books should be checked in case valuable papers might have been placed in them."

Friday's game at Dexter, played before a large contingent of fans from both communities, was a typical Chelsea-Dexter game with both teams playing excellent ball.

Dexter, spurred on by a Dad's Nite crowd, turned in one of their finest efforts of the season but the Bulldogs rose to the occasion and also turned in one of their best games.

The first quarter was scoreless as neither team could move the ball well. One short Chelsea drive was halted by a pass interception while Dexter couldn't move against the Chelsea defense which was never better.

However, the hard-hitting Bulldogs seemed to wear the Dreadnaughts down in the second period as they moved in to score on a sustained drive of 66 yards. The drive required 16 plays as Dexter gave up ground grudgingly. The longest gain in the drive was a blast up the middle for 12 yards by Dave McLaughlin over blocks by Chuck Koenigster, Co-Capt. Roger Herman and Gary Dault, to place the ball on the Dexter five-yard line. On fourth down R.H. Dalice Ferris blasted off tackle, aided by blocks by Dan Mayer, Homer Nixon and Phil McDaniels, to score. On the extra point attempt McLaughlin was stopped short.

After Dexter received the following kick-off the hard-charging Chelsea defense stopped them cold and forced them to punt. Q.B. Ed. Lauson, who turned in a fine defensive game picked up the short punt and returned it to Dexter's 35-yard line.

On the first play Ferris took a pitch-out from Q.B. George Wilson and raced to the Dexter 20. On the next play Phil McDaniels started to his right and then hit end Alton Nixon with a pass on the Dexter five. Dalice Ferris' fine block cleared the last man and Nixon scored. Ferris was stopped short on the extra point attempt.

In the third period the Bulldogs drove deep into Dexter territory only to be stopped by a pass interception. Chelsea held and on fourth down Dexter went (Answers on page seven)

Cecil Cobb's Father Dies Suddenly Tuesday At Veterans' Hospital

Exhibition Basketball Game Scheduled Next Tuesday

Tuesday, Nov. 10, beginning at 8:30 p.m., the New York Harlem Satellites, called the "Sputniks of Basketball," will play an exhibition game in the new Chelsea High school gymnasium.

Members of the team include Rookie Brown, 6 feet 4 inches in height; Jim Daw, known as "Sky Scraper," who is 7 feet tall; Hooks Harvey, 6 feet 6 inches; and a new player, Goose, Jr., of Ocala, Ark., called "the newest clown in basketball." He rocks and rolls and hooks them in from the pivot left and right.

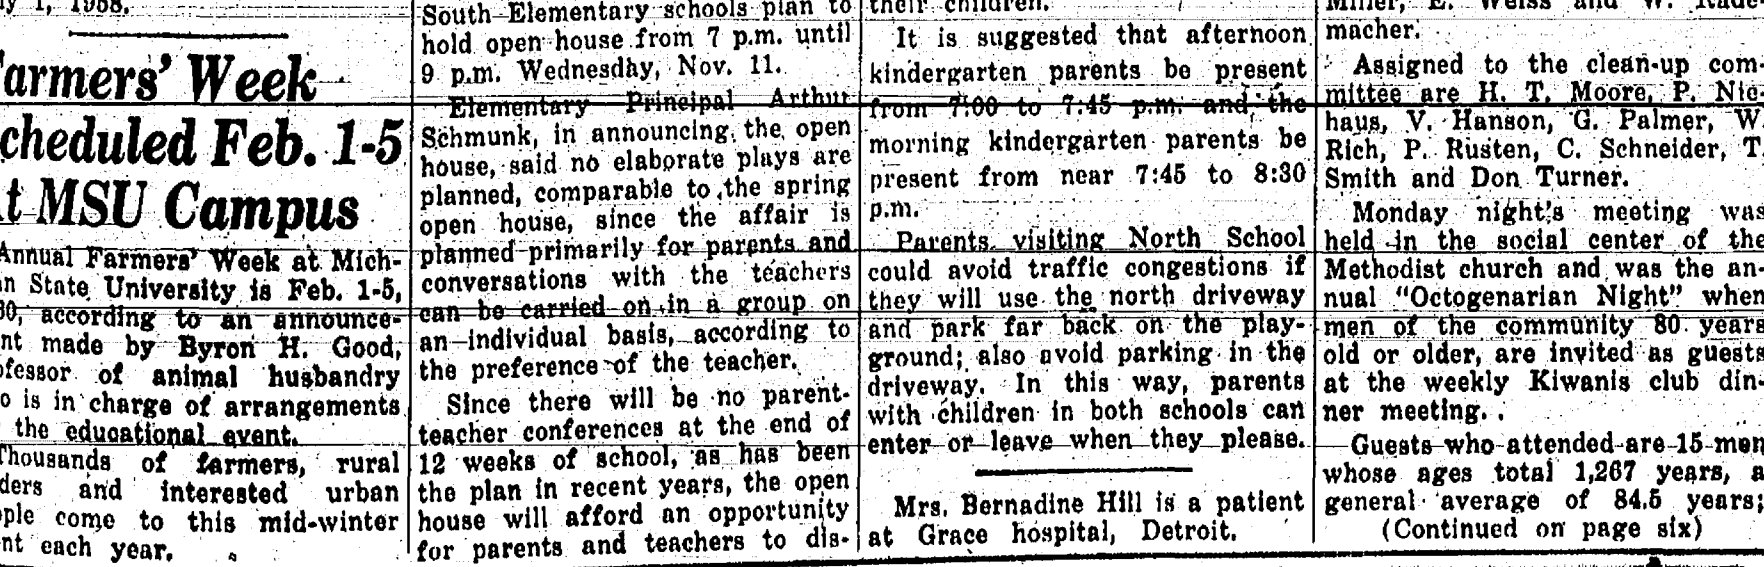

The most exciting act of the evening is the Satellites' magic circle. The Satellites is the only team in the world today that performs this circle in total darkness with only the hands, feet, and the glowing ball made visible by the lights. The Satellites also hold some of basketball's astounding records, playing 7 games in 3 days scoring 805 points. Everyone on the squad is a comedian; taking part in the show.

The Chelsea "braves" who will play against the famous Ted Ratterry's Satellites, a number of them being taller than average, will be dwarfed by the Satellites. They include Tom Eisele, John Thomson, Bob Bertke, Bob DePant, Bob White, Bill Newman, Louis Birch, Jim Gaken, Don Alber, Al Conklin, Bob Taylor and Truman O'Doherty.

Co-sponsors of the exhibition game here are the newly-formed Dad's club and the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Proceeds will go toward the cost of a new scoreboard for the high school athletic field.

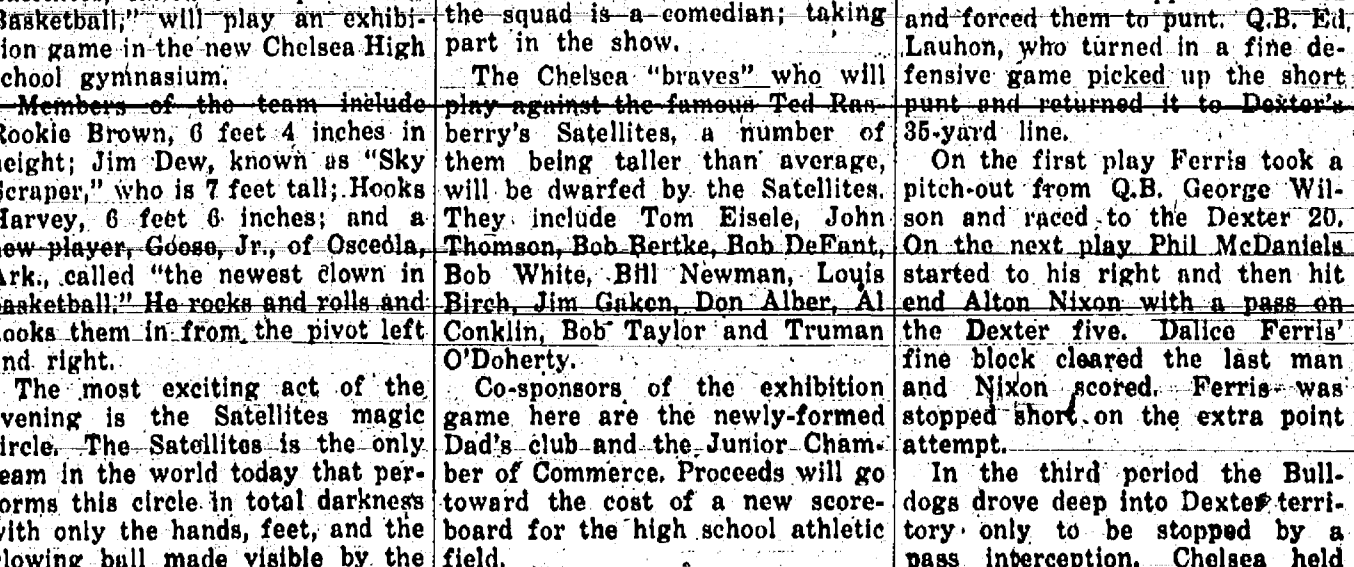

Tickets are on sale at all downtown stores or at the door.

Goetz, 88; and B. H. Chandon, 85. Standing, from left, are E. J. Bahnmiller, 80; Fred Hoffman, 86; T. G. Riemenachneider, 82; George Haist, 81; Otto Schanz, 80; the Rev. M. W. Brueckner, 82; John Lindow, 85; and Martin Wenk, 85.

ROUGH SEAS even for anything in the Dreadnaught class, was the report of conditions on the Dexter field Friday night as the Bulldogs moved in. One Dexter player was down (at left) and John Conley, clutching the ball, was battered down by Chelsea's Co-Captain Roger Herman (92) and Richie Wood, at the bottom of the pile. Headed toward the group to throw in a clincher if necessary is Chelsea's powerful sophomore fullback, Dave McLaughlin (56). Other players in the photo include Dexter's Jack Wiscley (75), Dave Birchmeier (34), and Elton Savery (76). The action took place near Dexter's 25-yard line in the second quarter. On the punt Chelsea gained possession of the ball. The game, played Friday night at Dexter, was won by Chelsea, 28-7, for their sixth consecutive win of the season.

The possibility of asking the School Board to pay for the assemblies was suggested. Money-making projects are to be discussed at the next meeting. This was decided upon when Ruth Prentice announced that the Council had only $23.54. The Council approved the dance plans of the Varsity Club for a post-game dance Nov. 8. The club will also provide refreshments for football players after the game.

Mr. Bergman discussed the possibility of having a Career Day with a few community schools invited in the near future.

Junior High Library club has been discussing dues, fines for overdue books, student behavior in the library. Junior High Science club has been working on animal dissection, astronomy, animal raising and care, and plant production. The group plans a dance for the purpose of raising money for operational expenses.

Home Ec. III girls are beginning to cook, some of them using their lunch hour for cooking. A variety of things have been prepared, everyone has fun and good luck.

Home Ec. II girls are still working on woolen outfits. The girls are proud of their projects and are eager to begin wearing them.

The quick-breads that first-year Homemaking students have been making are delicious. They tried several recipes but most girls preferred the coffee cake. Preparation of luncheons and luncheon dishes are being studied currently. Miss Doris Valk asked the girls to turn in their notebooks, Oct. 30. Notebooks include everything from good grooming to receipts.

Sixteen members of the Chelsea Future Farmers will attend Chapter Farmer Initiation at Clinton on Nov. 10. The delegates will receive a silver emblem followed by a formal initiation. The delegates have to be on the second year of FFA and must have earned $50 on the first project. Six other schools besides Chelsea will attend, each of which will have their own delegates.

MYSTERY FARM NO. 73, originally published without identification in the Oct. 29 issue of The Standard, proved to be the Frank Grieb farm at 2401 Fletcher road. It has been in the Grieb family

Mystery Farm No. 73, on Fletcher Road, Has Been in Grieb Family for 98 Years

Mrs. Frank Grieb is the owner of Mystery Farm No. 73. The farm photo, published in the Oct. 29 issue of The Standard, was quickly identified by a number of area residents, in spite of the fact the angle at which the picture was taken given the road the appearance of two roads crossing each other. There is a curve in the road to the left which does not show in the photo. The farm is located at 2401 Fletcher road on the dividing line between Lima and Freedom townships. The house, barns and other buildings are in Lima township and the new apple orchard, shown across the road in the foreground, is in Freedom township.

Mrs. Grieb has lived on the homestead farm the past 57 years. She is the former Elizabeth Guenther. She and Mr. Grieb were married Dec. 11, 1902, by the Rev. Paul Irion, who was pastor of the present Bethel Evangelical and Reformed church at that time. She remembers that the Rev. Irion officiated at her baptism, confirmation and marriage. Her home was in Lodi until she came to the present home as a bride.

The Frank Grieb family originally included two daughters, Emma and Edna. The former died Nov. 18, 1948. The latter is now Mrs. William Walker. All are members of Zion Lutheran church at Rogers Corners. Mr. Grieb died Dec. 5, 1948. The Walkers, who operate the farm for Mrs. Grieb, raise hogs, sheep, chickens and cattle.

Originally 116 acres in size, the farm now has a total of 168 acres. This includes 80 acres which Frank Grieb bought in April, 1933, from his mother, Mrs. Salome Grieb, at the corner of Seio Church and Fletcher roads.

Frank Grieb's father, William Grieb, bought the original farm from Ammon Lee in 1887. Frank was born on the place and lived there all his life. He was one of a family of eight children—Reuben Grieb of M-92, Eugene, now of Lima township, and the late Gustave, Oscar and Charles Grieb. Kate, who was Mrs. George Zahn, Bertha whose husband was Godfrey Elsie, and Martha who was Mrs. Martin Wenk.

First to be listed as having owned the land was William Haffey who secured it from the U. S. Government in 1848. Only two other owners are listed prior to the time it came into the possession of the Grieb family in 1887. They are Philip Starring who bought the place in 1855 and Ammon Lee who owned it from 1863 until 1887.

Volunteer Help Sought To Assist in Mailing Christmas Seal Letters

Volunteers are being sought by the Washtenaw County Tuberculosis Association to assist in preparation for mailing Christmas Seals. A total of 50,000 letters are scheduled to be mailed on Nov. 16.

Groups or individuals who would like to help are asked to call NO-2-2404 and arrange for the time they could work—whether for an hour or two or for a longer period. Hours will be from 8:30 a.m. until approximately 9 p.m. all next week.

The work of stuffing the envelopes with seals and letters is to be done in the basement of the Peters Hotel, 203 East Ann street, Ann Arbor.

Two Boys Injured When Car Overturns

James Boyd, 15, and Thomas Casad, 16, were taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Saturday night after a one-car crash in Sharon township. Reports of the accident state

Thomas Brooks, 17, was listed as the driver of the car.

Success to be proud of was not earned by acts that needed lengthy explanations.

Ronnie Arnett, Kimler Osnicki, Pat Osterle, Sandy Osnicki, Lloyd Shackleton, David Blaess, Sherry Clark, Carolyn Wilkerson. Consumed at the party (in addition to the 12 half pies) were 100 gallons of cider and 150 dozen doughnuts. Paul F. Niehaus acted as master of ceremonies for the program in the gym.

PRIZEWINNING COSTUMES—The corn shocks topped with jack-o-lanterns at the rear of the picture are not Halloween decorations, as such. They are Diane, Drinda, Denise, Debra, David and Duane. West who won the first and second place awards in the division listed as the "most typical of Halloween" at the Kiwanis club's Halloween party for children of the community Saturday evening. Third prize winner in that division was Tom Smith, dressed as a tramp. In the "most original" category the upside-down clown, third from right, portrayed by John Bolling, won first place; the "Pupnik I from Mars" (upper left) entered by Kenneth and David Blaess, won second place; and John Potts, as the Blue Ox, won third prize. First place in the "neatest" division were "Sgt. Bilko and Girl Friend," Paul and Mark Lancaster, seated fourth and fifth from the left. The flapper, Linda Nelson, fourth from right, won second place, and the leopard, Terry Blacklaw, center front, won third prize in the division. Other prizewinners were Sally Johnson as a mummy, Thomas Bolling, headless horseman, and Gary Craven, as a chimp in the "spookiest" division. After the parade, cider and doughnuts were served around a bonfire on the Junior High school playground, followed by entertainment in the gym, including a trampoline act by Knute Loken, gymnastics coach at the U. of M., and his daughter, Chris. Three cartoon movies were shown. Judges were Mrs. George Frisinger, Mrs. Douglas Lange, and Mrs. Francis Smyser.

Children's Book Week Being Observed Locally

Children's Book Week is being observed this week on local, national and international levels. Schools, libraries, newspapers and various mediums are publicizing its importance.

Children's Book Week has its inception during a crusade instituted in 1917 by Franklin K. Mathews, Librarian for the Boy Scouts of America. The slogan of this crusade was "Better Books for Young Readers" and it succeeded in making generally available inexpensive editions of standard boy's books, to some extent combatting the dime store novel and the "penny dreadful."

Since that time, thousands of schools have come to accept Book Week as a part of their customary activities, and public and college libraries, book stores, youth magazines and radio bring their annual Book Week message. Book Week activities are built around a theme expressing various contributions that books can bring to the lives of readers.

Today, Book Week is enthusiastically welcomed by national youth organizations, educational groups, intercultural and international organizations because all of them have become increasingly aware of the important part children's books can play in building greater understanding and friendship among the peoples of the world.

Because of this new awareness, Book Week is rapidly coming international. During 1944, contacts were established with many other countries, who welcomed the idea of the celebration with great enthusiasm. Programs are already in progress in England, Australia,

Brazil, New Zealand, and Russia for the celebration of Book Week and the expansion of year-round children's book activities.

New books on display in the foyer of the Methodist church's new unit for Christian education, in observance of Children's Book Week, include volumes listed as basic books, some specifically for parents and teachers and others especially suitable for boys and girls.

Members of the library committee at the Methodist church are Mrs. Edith Hoffman, librarian; Mrs. Helen Harrison, children's assistant librarian; and Mrs. Mary Beth Scott, member of the church's Commission on Education. Exhibits of new children's books, emphasizing the national Book Week theme, "Go Exploring in Books," have been on display this week in Merkel Brothers store and in North and South Elementary schools.

Robert Merkel arranged the display at Merkel Brothers, using a mannikin supplied by Anderson's store.

The book displays at the two elementary schools and at Merkel's store will be moved to the all-purpose rooms in the elementary schools for next week's observance of American Education Week. This will give parents an opportunity to view them when they attend the annual elementary school open house planned for Wednesday, Nov. 11.

Another interesting display in observance of American Education Week, Nov. 8-14, is the one planned for showing in the window of the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., 103 North Main street. Featured will be recent books on education and some books about famous teachers and leaders in education.

into punt formation but Earl Navarre went to his left and went down the sideline to the Chelsea 13-yard line. Dexter then picked up a first down on the two. The Bulldog defense, spearheaded by Jerry Ringe and Dan Ellenwood, held for three downs, but on fourth down H.B. Jerry Brown slipped over to score. Earl Navarre scored the extra point and the Bulldogs only led 12-7 as the third quarter ended.

However, two plays later the Bulldogs pulled the most spectacular play of the night to score again. On the first play after Dexter kicked off, Dave McLaughlin went around end for a 12-yard gain. On the next play McLaughlin started what looked like the same play as he ran to his left and then behind perfect protection, faked back and threw a 40-yard pass to Dalice Ferris who was behind the Dexter secondary. Ferris caught the ball on the 20 and went on in to score. McLaughlin swept behind blocks by Charles Cameron, McDaniels and Wilson to score the extra point.

The Bulldogs added their final score a few minutes later as the hard-charging defensive line, led by Alton Nixon, partially blocked a Dexter punt and Chelsea took over on Dexter's 15. On the first play Ferris went off tackle for the T.D. as Gary Dault threw the key block. Phil McDaniels hit over Co-Capt. David Rowe's block for the extra point.

The second team then took over and turned in a fine effort that paid off in a two-point safety as Rich Wood and Dick Irwin trapped a Dexter ball carrier in the end zone.

Taking the following kick-off Chelsea moved down field as Matt Murphy, Al Schauer and Jim Maynard alternated carrying the ball and linemen Charley Waller, Irwin and Ringe opened the holes. Finally, Jim Maynard scored through a hole opened by Wilson Morley and Mike Marsh, only to have it nullified by a penalty. The Bulldogs couldn't make up the lost ground and shortly after the game ended.

The win was a fine team performance as every player gave a 100 per cent effort.

Seeing action for the first time this season was Pete Flintoff who broke his hand before the first game.

This Friday night the Bulldogs will close their season as they go after their seventh victory in a home contest with Saline.

In addition, Friday's game will be Dad's Night as fathers of varsity players will be honored at half-time ceremonies.

In addition to the honor guests, those present included Mr. and Mrs. Grant Goslin of Webberville; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Parks and Mrs. Mina Moeckel and daughter, Odema, of Jackson; Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Blikken and sons of Ypsilanti; Mrs. Edna Walls of Stockbridge; and Miss Ida and Dan Emmens.

must return on the bus, unless requested by parent or guardian, in person, to return in another manner; also that a staff member shall be in charge of each bus and responsible for the pupils at all times.

Cost of gasoline, oil, bus operation and bus drivers for approved excursions, field and athletic trips will be paid by the Board of Education. Approval of the superintendent, principal and bus manager is necessary for the use of buses for such trips.

Rules governing out-of-town trips by private car for school activity away from school require adult supervision in each car. Adults, preferably, should be drivers. Pupils shall return in the same vehicle in which they rode going, or changes must be approved by person in charge on request of the parent in person.

The school will take no responsibility for out-of-town trips unless the above provisions are complied with completely.

Regarding athletic contest trips the regulations state that only participants, coaches, or school officials may ride on buses and pupils must ride on the bus in order to participate in the contest.

Further provisions state that all participants who ride on the bus going to the contest must return on the bus and the head coach or athletic director shall be in charge of the participants at all times.

Field trips, limited to the immediate area and supplementing the instructional program, are encouraged; however, teachers are requested to limit field trips to two per year, if possible. On field trips, the teacher is in charge of the pupils at all times and all pupils who ride on the bus going must return on the bus unless requested by the parent or guardian, in person, to return in another manner.

The same regulations apply on special school excursions—the teacher in charge at all times and all pupils required to return on the bus.

The itinerary of the trip, including time of leaving, route, rest and lunch stops, approximate time of arrival at destination, and approximate time of arrival at starting point, will be arranged by the teacher, with the approval of the administration.

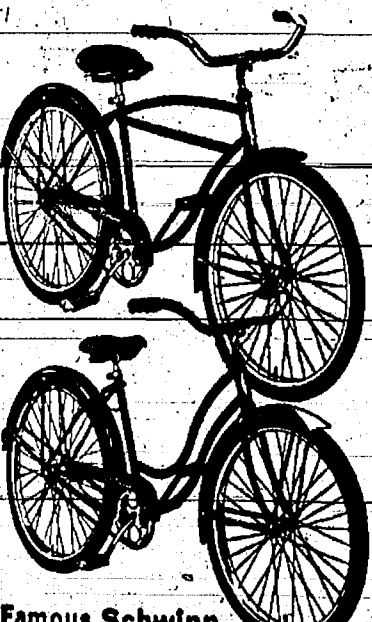

Special school excursions are limited to a 25-mile radius for safety reasons, since trips of that length would assure daylight travel.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wackenhut of Livonia and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Koen and children, of Detroit, were guests Sunday of Mrs. Ola Hildinger and Miss Lillie Wackenhut.

Leave Nov. 10 for Maplewood, N. J., where they will visit the senior Harold Lynde and then will return by plane to their home in Oregon.

NEWS

No Hollywood actress has ever kept a secret such as Gina Lollobrigida has done for years. She always looks so well groomed, with every hair in place.

Well, that beautiful head of hair is a wig. She has seven. Her own hair is so fine that under the lights it goes limp. So she decided to save herself much trouble by wearing wigs. She and her maid dress them.

Pat Boone has bought an English best seller, "Beyond the Mountain," by Alexander Romati, which he'll produce for his own company.

There'll be no singing; he plays a Polish youth who escapes from a Siberian prison camp and makes his way to Turkey. This is a switch!

When you play secretary to Joan Crawford things happen, as they did to Linda Hutchins. Linda brought her dog in her car to the studio for "The Best of Everything." When she went to see her dog at lunchtime, there were three new puppies.

Clifton Webb bowed out of "Center of the Earth" because of a slight heart murmur.

Today's picture review: LOOK BACK IN ANGER

Starring Richard Burton as our hero (Jimmy Porter) and Marie Ure (in the role of the submissive Alison), together with Claire Bloom as the girl friend and Dame Edith Evans as an elderly widow, this picture packs plenty of wallop.

From Jimmy's point of view, the times are all out of joint. Of lower class origin, he is a university graduate who hasn't been able to make a place for himself in English society suitable to his education and intelligence.

His wife, Alison, comes from the hated (by Jimmy) upper classes, and this is somewhat of a handicap to the happiness of the marriage. Complications ensue when an actress friend of Alison arrives for a brief visit.

In spite of its rather depressing theme, and scenes, the performances are gems in themselves and should not be missed by the movie goer who enjoys fine acting.

Heroic Efforts of Unsung Doctors Provide New Progress in Surgery

In our book, the heroes of the day are those anonymous doctors out in California who succeeded in putting back on the leg of a young foundry worker after it had been chewed off by a crane.

The company doctor applied a tourniquet to the stump and sent the worker to a hospital in Castro Valley, Calif. The lower leg was attached by a two-inch strip of skin, according to the report of the accident. An orthopedic surgeon looked at the victim and decided, he says, on the "spur of the moment" to attempt to save the leg. He called in a vascular surgeon who agreed to help. The operation, which involved shortening the leg by two inches to compensate for the damaged tissue, was begun three and one-half hours after the accident.

It is now three months later, and the doctors have just allowed the story to be told. They are sure now that Billy Smith will walk again, although he must still have some skin grafts and an operation to link up the nerves of his lower leg. His leg won't be as good as new, but, say the doctors, he'll be better off than with "anything he could buy in a store."

We have read of fingers being cut off and successfully stuck back on again. So have ears, and we once heard of a case where the tip of a sliced-off nose was restored, but, according to medical authorities, there is no previous record in medical annals of sewing a completely severed limb back on again.

This, we think, is real progress. We would be far more proud to have had ever so little to do with this victory than to have controlled the lunatic camera that supposedly photographed the back-side of the moon.

Even the Slaves Had 'Security'

Out in the little town of New Plymouth, Idaho, the editor has sounded off with some ideas we think are worthy of a larger audience.

In the course of his brief editorial, he makes this point: "We used to put a pretty high price on freedom in this country."

"As the settlers headed west for the privations and hardships of months of crawling, dusty travel, all they asked of government was to keep foreigners out of their hair while they fought off the Indians, starvation and any other obstacles to their freedom to make and build a life in a new land. "Today we seem to be willing to piddle away this freedom for 'security,' security from hunger, want, and hardship, guaranteed by government."

"We forget that the plantation slaves of the south had all these things we prize so highly today as long as they had kind, benevolent masters. The only price they paid for it was their freedom."

"We, too, can have complete security at the same price, but who can guarantee that our masters will always be kind and benevolent?"

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Internal bickering is being expressed in both camps as Republicans and Democrats point for the 1960 elections.

Rebellion within the state GOP is averted whenever there is a clash between "liberals" Lawrence B. Lindemer, the state chairman, and Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield, the "conservative" pictured in some circles as losing his grip in Michigan. Much of this has been in the news lately.

Intra-party disputes among Democrats are more subtle. Personalities, not philosophies, are at odds within Democratic ranks.

The Iron Man of state Democrats, Party Chairman Neil Stabler, has managed to keep the lid on the pot of candidates eager to try for Gov. G. Mennen Williams' seat if he declines to run for a seventh term.

It hasn't been easy with men like Secretary of State James M. Hare, whose strong showing in leading the ticket in the 1958 elections puts him in a commanding position for the 1960 election.

At least one 1958 election winner is not expected to be among the Administrative Board candidates in 1960. Frank S. Szymanski, twice elected Auditor-General, resigned to become a probate judge.

His replacement is expected to make a strong candidate a year from now. Otis M. Smith, elevated to the Administrative Board after building a solid reputation as chairman of the Public Service Commission, is the first Negro to serve on the Board.

Williams' appointment of Smith was whisked through the Senate for confirmation with almost unprecedented speed. The only objections came from senators who said Smith would be hard to replace on the commission.

State money woes are not the only matters commanding attention of the Administrative Board members this fall. When the Supreme Court decided to throw out the penny use (sales) tax increase, Attorney General Paul L. Adams, who led the fight to have it tossed out, was arguing a U. S. Supreme Court matter.

Adams was in Chicago for hearings ordered by the nation's highest court on Chicago's attempt to divert more water from Lake Michigan.

A victory on the water diversion case, should it come before the 1960 elections, would do much to boost Adams' stature.

Power, navigation, recreation and fishery interests have a vital interest in the case, as do all property owners along Michigan's Great Lakes shoreline.

Unlike the tax case, the water diversion case finds almost every one in Michigan on the same side. Adams' fight against the water "steal" can only win friends here. It's like being against sin.

Traffic safety is a major concern of Secretary of State James M. Hare when he is not wrestling with state fiscal problems or patronage squabbles in his auto license branch office system.

Hare, once seriously injured in an auto crash, credits his work in traffic safety for his success at the polls.

Michigan has a major traffic safety promotion on tap Nov. 15. It is Safety Sabbath, an interfaith program intended to focus attention on the moral responsibility of the individual driver.

"We need local enthusiasm and an understanding that spiritual serenity and a brotherhood attitude is a basic element in maintaining sound and care-free driving habits," Hare said.

"Un-American" is the brand Sen. Edward Hutchinson (R-Penn.) put on one traffic safety proposal mentioned by Hare at a Safety Commission meeting.

Hare who said he was not necessarily endorsing it, submitted a proposal worked out by Dr. F. J. Margolis, Director of the Audio-Visual Department of Wayne State University's Medical School. Under the proposal, motorists would inform on each other by postcard if they see a traffic violation.

Said Hutchinson, "We don't want to institute anything that even begins to resemble the system in Russia and other totalitarian countries where children are told to inform on their parents and neighbors to inform on neighbors for real or suspected acts against the regime."

Hutchinson fears the proposal could lead to abuse through spite and personal feelings.

Economic Development Committee Blasted

Concurrent with Gov. Williams' latest message urging income tax cuts on individuals and industry, the Michigan Economic Development Department announced to the press that 17 industries have built or started new plants in this state within the last nine months.

The department, which has spent a million dollars of the taxpayers' money during the last three years, claimed it was directly responsible for the arrival of eight of these 17 factories.

The story had big headlines in many newspapers. Its tenor was to refute the charge that industry does not regard Michigan with misgivings because of high taxes and an unfavorable labor climate.

It was a sprightly and encouraging release at an opportune moment in the history of the Williams administration—except for several overights.

It did not name the new factories.

It did not list the locations. Most important, it did not estimate how many new jobs would be provided by this parade of manufacturers into the state.

Now it is not much of a walk from the State Capitol press room to the Stevens T. Mason Building, where the Economic Development Department has extensive offices on the main floor.

Had reporters ventured on this expedition, they would have made several interesting discoveries.

The 17 "new" factories together will not provide jobs for 1,000 workers. (Without the lay-offs due to the steel strike, Michigan's permanently unemployed figure has shaken down to a minimum of 150,000.)

Four of the "new" factories are relocations of plants already existing, and four are expansions. (They expanded in Michigan and not in another state, the department pointed out with pride.)

At least a dozen of the 17 will not have more than 50 employees on their payrolls at peak production.

Eight of the factories were lured to their new sites by the cities and villages on their own initiative, although the state agency extended aid.

One of the 17—Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical, of Oakland, Calif., was persuaded to build a branch in Midland by the Dow Chemical Co., which acted independently from the state. This company will employ about 200 workers.

WORLD'S LARGEST RADAR

The United States plans to build a huge missile-detecting radar machine in Puerto Rico to scan the area between the equator and Florida.

It will be the world's largest known radar, with an aluminum mesh disk antenna 1,000 feet in diameter.

The Pentagon estimates the radar will cost about $4,500,000 and will be operating within two years.

Another of the biggest is a new plant at Lapeer being constructed by Howell Industries, which produces automotive stampings. It eventually will employ about 200.

The others range from a potato chip plant at Rogers City (an expansion of Nicolay-Dancey, Inc., of Detroit) to a whisky barrel factory at Marshall.

Small industries are needed badly in Michigan, and finding 17 is a creditable achievement in view of the adverse publicity the state received nationally when Gov. Williams unnecessarily skipped to partially close the universities and colleges.

The fakery was the sly attempt by the Economic Development Department to conceal the names of the new industries, the locations and the size of payrolls.

The department consumed $382,272 of the taxpayers' money during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1958. It was cut to $300,000 last fiscal year, and is receiving $317,000 from current appropriations.

Senator Perry W. Green, (R) of Grand Rapids, has tried unsuccessfully for years to kill the entire undertaking, contending that the cost is not worth the results and that the local communities have programs of their own to attract industries that might be looking for sites in Michigan.

The need for decisive action to change the state's economic climate will become even more clear when the U. S. Census Bureau releases its 1959 population estimates next month.

The report will show that 17 of Michigan's 83 counties have been losing population continuously since the start of Gov. Williams' second term, and that population is stagnant in 15 others.

It probably will show a drop in Michigan's population for the first time since authoritative records have been kept.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I'm getting a little out of patience with them Japs. They give us the Japanese beetle, then they about ruin our textile business with cheap goods, and now they've got a new one.

By cross-breeding they've been raising roosters that'll crow non-stop for 55 seconds. It says here that the first shipment of these alarm clocks for farmers and ranchers reached the West Coast last week.

The good old American rooster is a reasonable bird that has woken up the farmer in this country for 200 years without much complaint. He gives the farmer a ordinary three-second cock-a-doodle-do.

Wait, a decent spell—and gives him another three second warning. Two or three of these and he quits and lets a feller get up in peace and quietude.

A rooster that'll stretch his cock-a-doodle-do for 55 second non-stop will give half the farmers and ranchers in this country a nervous breakdown afore the year is gone. Between the Japanese beetle and this new rooster business, it looks like they is now out to kill off American agriculture fer good.

I think our Government should put a very high duty on them new Japanese alarm clocks. I aim to write my Congressman about it today. The farmer in this country has enough troubles without starting his morning all shook up by one of them perpetual-motion roosters. The old fashioned three second cock-a-doodle-do was good enough fer George Wash.

But you tell your readers, Mister Editor, that we get along fine. One reason we get along so good is that I learned right after the ceremony that a feller shows a great command of the English language to say nothing when his old lady has got the floor.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew

The Way the Ball Bounces

★ Congratulations, Bulldogs ...

Congratulations to the Bulldogs on their efforts this fall which have brought them the first Washtenaw Conference title. The win over Dexter, last Friday was a climax to a fine football season, despite the fact that there is still one game remaining, that being with Saline this Friday night. I asked Coach Conklin how it felt to win Chelsea's first football title in 21 years, "real fine," said the coach. "We came out of the Dexter game in good physical condition," he commented. "I hope that nothing happens in practice this week." The Bulldogs will be facing a fired up Saline team when the two meet Friday. Mike Rutunno's eleven defeated Ypsilanti Roosevelt 45-0 last week for their biggest win of the season. Junior quarterback John Thos fired four touchdown passes for the Hornets. In Bill Taylor, the Saline club has one of the area's better all-around backs. The Hornets will be hoping for a Chelsea letdown after the conference clincher last week, and will be ready, willing and maybe able to spring a much desired upset.

Over Dexter way Don McIntyre's footballers have closed out league competition. Don was pleased with the team's performance against the powerful Bulldogs. In Elton Savery, he feels that he has one of the area's best footballers, and we're inclined to go along with him on that one.

As the football season comes to a close there can be little doubt of the great interest that the new Washtenaw Conference has created. The communities involved are all natural rivals. I think that during the up and coming basketball season you'll see even keener competition. For basketball you really need only 5 or 6 good boys, this will tend to balance the league even more. Chelsea, U. High and Saline will be early season favorites, but Manchester will be right up there paced by big Bud England, a fine all-around athlete. As I glance forward to the basketball season, I see that the Washtenaw Conference title race will be one of the best in many a year and should really create lots of interest. But, it's still football season, so lets drop the basketball and swing back to the gridiron.

Early Michigan Textbooks Wanted For CHS Library

Mrs. J. V. Fisher, state chairman of reading and library service for the Michigan Association of Parents and Teachers, has donated a number of early Michigan school textbooks to the memorial textbook library in the Chelsea high school. This memorial collection was started during the 128th Anniversary celebration in Chelsea.

Among the science books are Stoddard's Primary Arithmetic, 1880; Robinson's Theoretical and Practical Treatise on Algebra, 1847; Legendre's Elements of Geometry and Trigonometry, 1851; and Hitchcock's Elementary Geology, 1847. Mayhew's Practical Bookkeeping, 1851, and Willson's History of the United States, 1888, are among the special items.

A number of the books in the collection were on the recommended list of textbooks for schools in this area. The collection is still in need of titles. Anyone who wishes to contribute an old textbook is asked to contact Miss Joan Wiese, school librarian, in the high school library. An attempt is being made to build up a library of school books in common use in this area between 1850 and 1900.
