Bulldogs Lose Heartbreaker To U. High

Seek To Avenge

First Conference Loss Friday at Manchester

The Chelsea Bulldogs are now holding down second place in the Washtenaw Conference as a result of just too much Jim Beamer, U. High's big 6'4" center who carried them to a very hard-earned 49-46 decision last Friday night.

Beamer-led all scorers with 22 points and dominated both boards. Most of Beamer's shooting was done from 10 to 20 feet out, but there was no stopping "Jumping Jim" as he seemed to hit on nearly everything he threw.

The Bulldogs contributed to their own downfall by hitting on only 17 of 76 field attempts and cashed in only 12 of 27 tries from the free throw line. However, outside of not being able to contain the much taller Jim Beamer, they dominated a great deal of the game as an effective full court was employed most of the game. In the first quarter, with fine scoring balance and the press going well, the Bulldogs led by 10 to 13 lead, but as was true for the entire game, it was all Beamer for U. High, as he scored 10 of their 13 points.

During the second period U. High moved into a zone defense, and into the lead with a 27-25 half-time score. In the period, Chelsea missed a possible nine points as they had four consecutive one-and-one foul shots and missed on all, plus missing a single shot.

The third period saw the Cubs from U. High move into an 11-point lead as the Bulldogs couldn't get a basket and hit on only 2 of 17 shots from the floor. U. High, however, had their best quarter of the game by hitting eight field goals and a free throw for a fine 17-point total.

In the fourth quarter the Bulldogs started to rally with an even greater effort, but it just wasn't in the cards as they came within three points when the basket seemed to close.

In the last minute of play the Bulldogs got several shots and missed several shots, they had several free throws and they missed several free throws; but still they battled on, in a losing cause as the horns sounded and put an end to the hopes of a continued undefeated Conference record.

Individual scoring for Chelsea was as follows: Jack Patrick, 13; Darcy Ferris, 12; Homer Nixon, 8; Daryl Keizer, 6; Dave McLaughlin, 4; and Alton Nixon, 3.

Junior Varsity Becomes Victims of Baby Cubs

The Junior Varsity lost their first game since their opening defeat to Onsted as U. High's JV's came from behind to win, 45-40. Tomorrow evening Chelsea will travel to Manchester where they will do battle with the Dutchmen for second place in the Washtenaw Conference. Manchester, stinging from their defeat at Roosevelt last Friday, will be a very strong opponent, but the Bulldogs are also stinging and are eagerly awaiting the visit to their neighbor on the south.

Mr. and Mrs. Elba-Gage were weekend guests of their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Don Labo and children, of Flint.

SE Michigan Science Fair Dates Are Set

A science fair for high school students in five southeastern Michigan counties will be held April 8-10 at the University of Michigan, according to an announcement by the director of the U-M's Bureau of School Services.

Professor Kent Leach said the fair will be open to junior and senior high school students in Hillsdale, Jackson, Lenawee, Monroe and Washtenaw counties. It will be held in Yost Fieldhouse under the sponsorship of the Ann Arbor Exchange Club, the Ann Arbor News, and the University.

The Bureau of School Services is acting as the co-ordinating agency. Known as the Second Annual Southeastern Michigan Science Fair, the event follows a "pilot" fair held for Washtenaw county students last spring. Professor Leach stated.

The 1959 Fair attracted 135 contestants and several thousand spectators. Prizes valued at more than $800—including expense-paid trips to the National Science Fair for the leading boy and girl students in the senior division—were awarded.

Exam Period Scheduled Next Week

Charles Lane, Chelsea High school principal, announced this week that Junior and Senior High school first semester examinations will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, Jan. 26 and 27.

Students who miss final examinations receive an E for the course. If a student is ill he should notify the school and, upon his return to classes, present a doctor's excuse.

Students who ride the buses to and from school will be provided with a room in which they may study during the time they are not taking an examination. Principal Lane said.

Only the snack bar will be open during the days examinations are in progress.

Next week Thursday and Friday, Jan. 28 and 29, the junior and senior high schools will be closed. Teachers will be correcting examinations and marking records those days.

Elementary schools will have classes as usual.

Slippery Roads Cause 15 Accidents Monday Morning

Sheriff's Department officers report a total of 15 accidents in Washtenaw county Monday, principal cause being slippery road conditions caused by snow and ice.

At 10:30 a.m. a car driven by Leonard J. Osterhouse of Lansing went out of control on M-92, about four miles north of Chelsea, and struck a guard rail post.

Earlier Monday, on US-12 just east of Dancer road, a four-car accident resulted in injuries to two Detroit men.

Jack Raakin, driver of one of the cars involved, suffered body bruises and lacerations, and Robert Mordis, a passenger in one of the other cars, was taken to University hospital, Ann Arbor, with a fractured right arm and body bruises.

Drivers of the other cars involved are listed as Clarence Wright of Detroit, Glen C. Hayes of Chelsea, and Rebecca Proctor of Grass Lake.

At 9:45, on US-12 at Lima Center, three trucks and a car got into difficulties. Drivers of the trucks were Leon Stutz of Stanton, John Julian of Inkster, and David W. Baxter of Detroit, Donald G. (Continued on page 12)

X-Ray Survey Underway in County Plants

A county-wide X-ray survey of approximately 7,500 industrial workers, including those in the Chelsea area, was begun Monday and will be concluded Jan. 29. Dr. Otto K. Engalka, Washtenaw county health officer, announced the X-ray program this week.

The mobile unit will be in Dexter and vicinity Friday, Jan. 29. Workers at Industrial Technics on US-12 will be X-rayed from 8 to 10 a.m. that day and employees at Michigan Polyte Molded Plastics beginning at noon.

Several Ann Arbor area industries were on the first day's schedule and on Tuesday and Wednesday the Chelsea industrial plants were covered.

Tuesday, from 9 a.m. until 10 a.m. the workers at Chelsea Manufacturing Co. were X-rayed.

The mobile unit moved to Central Fibre Products and Rockwell Standard Corp. during the hours of 11 a.m. until 5 p.m. Tuesday, and to Chelsea Products from 8 a.m. until 11 a.m. yesterday and Federal Screw Co. from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m. yesterday.

Rod-Gun Club Sets Annual Fox Hunt Outing for Sunday

Good Skating If Cold Weather Conditions Prevail

If freezing weather continues there should be good skating at the large pond adjacent to Veterans Memorial Park in the north end of the village and at a smaller one at Pierce Park in the south end of the village.

Kelle Allen, Department of Public Works superintendent, said yesterday he planned to flood the north skating area for a fresh skating service and is filling a 20x40-foot plastic pool on the ball diamond at Pierce Park.

The north skating area is lighted at night.

Hunt Area Covers Three Sections of Sharon Township

The sixth annual fox hunt, staged in this area by the Chelsea Rod and Gun club and other sportsmen's groups, is scheduled to be held Sunday.

Calvin Summers, Jr., president of the Chelsea Rod and Gun club, said yesterday that the plan of former hunters will be followed, beginning at the corner of M-92 and US-12 where all hunters are to meet at 8 a.m.

Customarily, from 100 to 150 hunters participate in the annual event and a good turnout is expected Sunday if present favorable weather continues.

Last year, because of the long siege of ice which began New Year's day and continued into February, only 40 hunters appeared for the hunt which took place Jan. 25. They did bag one fox.

Three sections of Sharon township are included in the area to be hunted Sunday. The area is bounded by the following roads—Grass Lake, Haskley, Wingate, Sylvan, Struthers, Sharon Hollow, Washburn, Hayes and Rank roads.

Following the conclusion of the hunt, lunch will be served by the Jackson County Outdoor Club at its clubhouse in Jackson.

Expected for Sunday's big hunt are representatives of Detroit and Jackson clubs as well as a number of clubs in Washtenaw county.

It was reported this week that some of the mailers sent out at the beginning of the campaign are beginning to come in with contributions enclosed.

Mrs. Charles Lancaster, Mothers' March chairman, has appointed captains of eight teams of women who will be participating in the Mothers March Thursday evening, Jan. 28.

Captains are Mrs. Richard Kern, Mrs. Richard Smith, Mrs. William Storey, Mrs. David Strieter, Mrs. John Dettling, Mrs. David Sanborn, Mrs. Stephen Slane and Mrs. Robert Taylor.

Former Pastor To Be Honored

The Rev. P. H. Grabowski, who served as pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church for 37 years prior to his retirement last year, is to be honored at a special service at the church at 10:45 a.m. Sunday during which he will receive the honorary title of pastor emeritus.

The Rev. Henry Kroehler, president of the Michigan-Indiana Synod of the Evangelical and Reformed Church will make the presentation of the honorary title and will also present a certificate of recognition for the Rev. Grabowski's 40 years of service as a pastor.

The certificate is awarded by the Commission of Church and Ministry of the Evangelical and Reformed Church for service in the denomination.

The Rev. T. R. Schmale, pastor emeritus of Bethlehem Evangelical and Reformed church, Ann Arbor, will speak during the ceremony, bringing a message of commendation, and the present pastor of St. Paul's church, the Rev. Paul M. Schnake, will act as liturgist.

The Rev. Grabowski served only two churches during his ministry, coming here in September, 1922, from a three-year pastorate at Albion. He had become pastor of the Albion church following his graduation from Eden Seminary, Webster, Groves, Mo.

The Rev. Grabowski who had been vacationing in Florida, returned this week. He now makes his home on Elm street.

Library Entrance Canopy Presented as Gift by Mr. and Mrs. W. Daniels

At the McKune Memorial Library board meeting Tuesday evening the group formally accepted as a gift from Mr. and Mrs. Warren Daniels, the newly-constructed canopy over the front entrance of the library.

The canopy is an exact replica of the original one which was removed some years ago. It restores the front of the building to its former appearance as the historical McKune House.

Because of the steel shortage caused by the recent prolonged steel strike, the roof has not been applied; however, the wood has been treated to resist weather damage until spring when the project will be completed.

Village President Reports Progress At C. of C. Meet

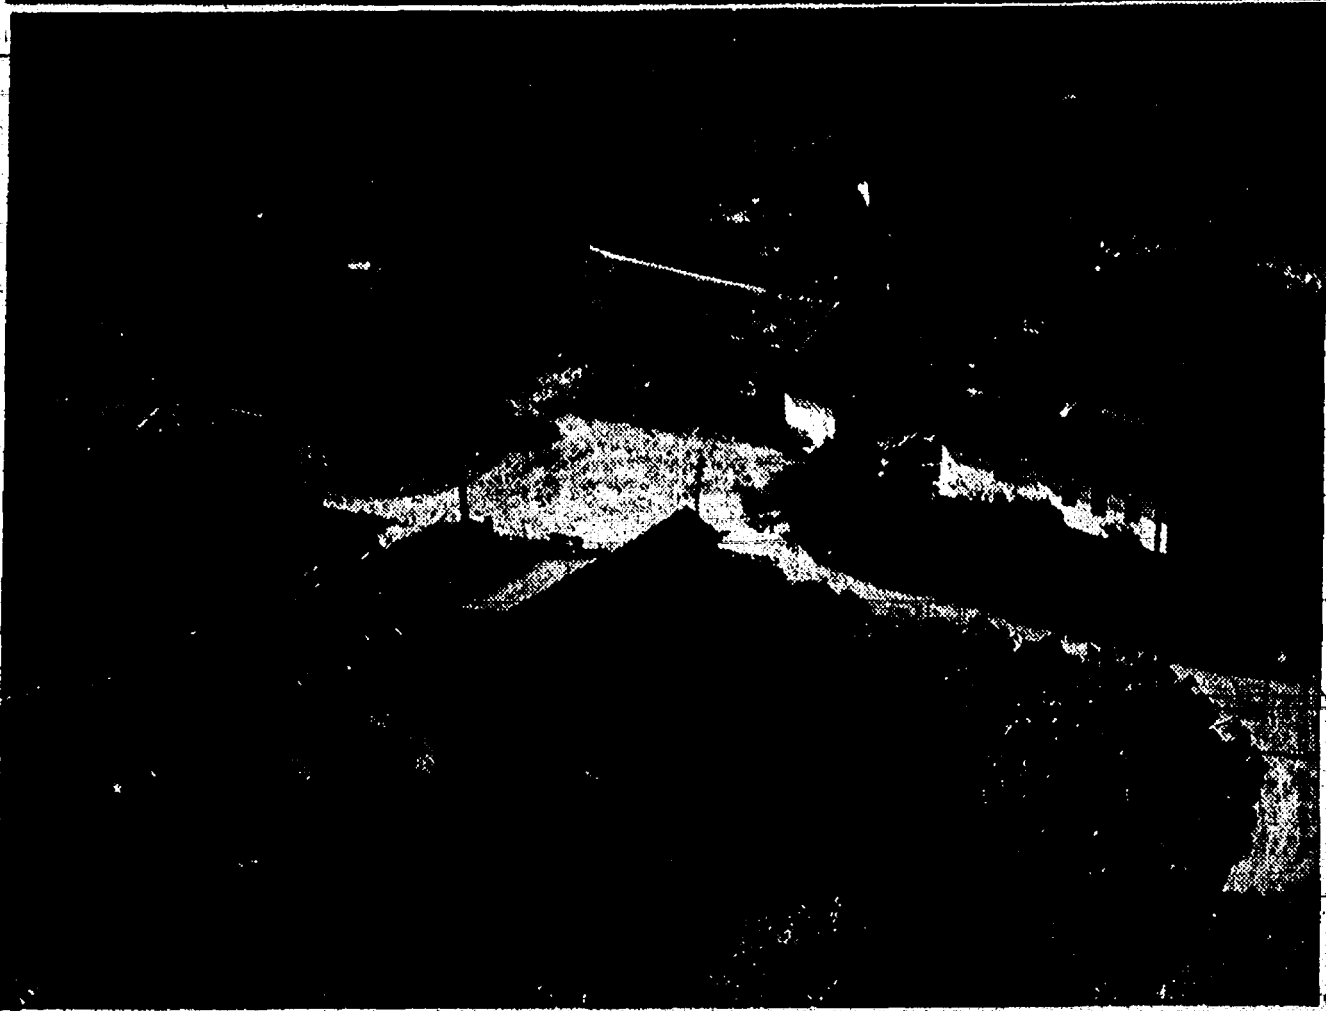

Village President Donald Albor, speaking at Tuesday's meeting of the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce, reviewed the progress of various projects undertaken by the village during the past year and gave a resume of proposed future programs.

Tuesday's dinner meeting was held in the dining room of the Congregational church.

Chamber of Commerce President M. J. Anderson, speaking yesterday of Albor's report, said that a number of members who heard it, had expressed themselves as being pleased with the accomplishments and progress of the present village administration.

MYSTERY FARM NO. 83 is shown in the above photo. It is the 82nd in the series of farm photos published each week without identification. We do not know whose place it is until our readers recognize it and call The Standard office, GR 3-3581. If you know the farm, call at once. The owner is entitled to a free mounted photo if he calls at The Standard office by Saturday.

MYSTERY FARM NO. 81 should have been familiar to many residents west of Chelsea but because of the angle from which the photo was taken, it proved difficult to recognize. It is the Roy Miller farm at 15775 Cavanaugh Lake road and he is the third generation of his family to own the property.

Roy Miller Farm Has Been Owned By Same Family for Past 85 Years

Mystery Farm No. 81, identified as the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Miller, 15775 Cavanaugh Lake road, has been owned by the same family for the past 85 years. The present owner's grandfather, Christian Miller, purchased the farm from Shepherd Pierce in 1875 and his son, John H. Miller, became the owner in 1912.

John Miller died in 1944 and his widow, the former Jennie May Havens, made her home there with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr.

and Mrs. Roy Miller, until her death last year.

Mrs. Roy Miller, before her marriage, was Alice Musgrave of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Miller is not now actively engaged in farming himself, although he did farm until about two years ago. His farm work was in addition to his real estate business as agent for Strödt Realty Co.

First to call in the correct identification of the farm following publication of the photo without identification Jan. 14, were Allen Broesamle, Anton Nielsen, the Harold Wahls, Mrs. James Heim and Arnold Escher; also Bill Kalmbach.

Former Owners of Farm Incorrectly Identified

In the story of Mystery Farm No. 80, published in The Standard last week, the former owners were incorrectly identified as the Thompson family. The name should have been given as the Johnson family. The farm is now owned by Mrs. Vera Khabaef of Ann Arbor.

Maxey Would Strip Juvenile Court Of Items He Calls 'Interference'

By Norm Gibson

Juvenile Director Willard J. Maxey, Jr., believes that the juvenile court juvenile division's major function of adjudicating cases suffers because of the administrative services it provides to neglected children.

Maxey's solution for the problem is unusual but simple: strip the juvenile court of all the administrative functions that interfere with the judicial function.

"There are other agencies in the community which can perform these services better than the juvenile division," Maxey said. "Give the administrative services to them and they will do a better job, and we will do a better job of adjudicating the cases."

The services which Maxey refers to are the boarding homes in which the division places dependent and neglected children and the investigation of circumstances surrounding cases of neglect and the process for bringing them to court.

"Administration of these services has not left the court free to perform its major judicial function and to undertake the investigation, detention and supervision of delinquents," Maxey explains. "I propose that we turn them over to agencies which are better equipped to deal with them."

Saying that "a maze of administration" has been built in the juvenile division over the years "due to the lack of other community resources," Maxey would put the various services under agencies "which could provide the service required and still provide protection to the children."

Maxey said such an arrangement has been made only rarely in other parts of the country. In Kent county, he said, the bureau of social aid is combined with the social welfare department and three private agencies handle supervision of dependent and neglected children under contract with the county welfare department. Similar arrangements are in effect in Buffalo, N. Y., and Columbus, O.

Such a change in program is becoming more imperative here, because of a noticeable shift in the type of case coming before the juvenile court, Maxey said. The total caseload before the court has been increasing since the State Department of Social Welfare assumed its report early in 1957 and within the past two years the number of non-delinquent cases handled by the court has been increasing faster than the number of delinquents.

Going More Rapidly
"More rapid dispositions are being made of the cases, but not fast enough to hold the line," Maxey said.

With 222 neglect and 136 delinquent cases (a total of 358 cases) carried over from 1957, the division took on 232 delinquent and 173 neglect (a total of 405 cases) during 1958.

Including adoptions, the division handled 1,098 cases in 1958. Of these, 368 were delinquent and 395 were neglected. A total of 480 cases were closed last year. As of Jan. 1, 1959, the total caseload before the juvenile court was 513 children.

The average monthly intake in 1958 was 52.9. Compared with any previous year, the division handled more cases than it ever had. The number in 1957 was 399.

In 1957, the division handled 376 delinquent cases and 382 neglect cases.

Judicial Function Noted
"The court's major function is judicial," Maxey said. "But its judicial function constantly is being impeded by programs that it has inherited through the years. These programs are necessary in aiding the court to do what is in the best interest of a given child, but I don't believe the court is the best agency for carrying out the administration of these programs."

Maxey said the juvenile division needs strengthening in three areas: (1) diagnostic service, (2) community resources and (3) staff.

"We need better and more diagnostic service to aid the court in handling the children," Maxey said. "We need better community resources in the area of child and family service to screen out and/or work with court cases, the schools and police."

Plans Told for Helping Suffering Individuals With Income Tax Job

The Detroit District Office of the Internal Revenue Service today announced plans for assisting taxpayers in preparing their 1959 Federal Income Tax Returns.

This year, the various Internal Revenue offices will designate a Special Assistance Day. On this day, extra personnel will be available so taxpayers visiting the offices will quickly receive answers to their questions. A great number of taxpayers can save a trip by telephoning their local Internal Revenue office.

R. I. Nixon, District Director, urged taxpayers to: (1) Read the instructions and start the return. (2) If you have a question, call your local Tax Information number. (3) If you need further help, visit your nearest Internal Revenue Service office on the Special Assistance Day.

THAT'S QUEER!

Toledo, Ohio—Firemen, burning an old barn to test their techniques, scored better in "arson" than in firefighting.

locations. But 200 fatal and injury accidents involving this violation were in rural areas, compared with 133 recorded as urban. Of the 54 who died when a stop sign was violated, 48 of these were in rural areas. And of the total fatal and injury accidents where the stop sign was violated, 478 were in rural locations contrasted with 125 for urban.

In disregarding other types of warning signs or signals, another 30 people died. Of these 22 were rural location fatalities. Of the total fatal and injury accidents recorded for this violation, 112 were rural and 20 were urban.

Where you live in Michigan has some bearing on whether a tornado can strike you down. Where you drive in Michigan has no special bearing on the possibility of death by "accident." What is important, is how you drive.

Nothing can be done about the capriciousness of a tornado.

But the capriciousness of an automobile driver in obeying traffic laws is inexcusable. That is why Chelsea Police Chief John Palmer calls attention to the "Unwanted Driver" notice posted in this community. The Stop Sign Drifter, the man or woman who goes through stop signs, runs through traffic signals, ignores "caution" and "yield" signs is potentially as destructive as the worst tornado in Michigan's history.

Last year the Stop Sign Drifter killed 108, injured 987 and cost Michigan citizens $14.5 million.

No one knows where the next tornado may strike, nor whom. And no one knows where the next traffic violation will die, nor who will die, nor the violating driver who will be responsible.

The Stop Sign Drifter could be anyone, anywhere.

But his next victim could be you.

Stop Sign Drifter Is Rated Dangerous as Worst Tornado

Several times a year Michigan newspaper headlines tell of the destruction brought by unleashed nature in the black-funnelled clouds of a tornado. More than any other kind of storm known in Michigan, the possibility of a tornado striking suddenly, wiping out whole families, even communities, produces a special anxiety in the tornado belt of the state.

The tornado which hit eastern Michigan from Flint to Lakeport on June 8, 1953 is listed by the U. S. Weather Bureau as one of the most destructive in the nation since the year 1900. It killed 118, it will be remembered by hundreds who suffered injury or the loss of homes and property.

But every year in Michigan, one type of traffic violation results in the death of about the same number of people as died in that record tornado. They don't all die at once, or in the same area, or in an awful environment, so the grim impact of number goes relatively unnoticed.

They die one or two or three at a time, in different places, in common-place surroundings—in traffic accidents produced by a driver who went through a stop sign, ran a red light, ignored a "yield" sign. These little violations happen all the time and there probably isn't a driver, still living, who hasn't committed them on occasion. There are also a considerable number of drivers no longer living who committed the same little violation.

Unlike tornadoes, there is no "tornado belt" across the state in which these fatalities occur. They happen everywhere, anytime of day or night.

Last year 24 people died when a stop sign was violated. Fifteen of these were in urban

DIPLOMACY STRESSED

The proposed series of summit meetings may cause both parties to put a premium on international experience in the choice of their 1960 Presidential nominees.

President Eisenhower, along with the heads of Britain and France, spoke of the desirability of a series of summit meetings recently as they formally proposed a meeting with Premier Khrushchev in Paris in April.

If Russia agrees, the timing of any subsequent sessions would be dictated in part by the progress made in the original Big Four talks. But politicians believe the next President may find himself involved shortly after his inauguration in what could be a decisive meeting with the other heads of states.

Theft, Damage And Destruction Of Property

(This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax tips. The articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Michigan Society of Certified Public Accountants, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.)

YOU can get some relief from casualty and theft losses by taking advantage of the legitimate tax deductions you are allowed.

To help you prepare a correct return and take advantage of legitimate tax savings, this newspaper is printing a series of four articles prepared with the help of the state and national organizations of certified public accountants.

Today's article considers the problems you may have in claiming deductions for theft or casualty losses. Later articles will offer advice on other tax problems of particular interest to homeowners.

Time and Destruction

There are a great many ways in which your property can be damaged or destroyed, as for example, by fire, storm, flood, or explosion. Generally, a casualty which will give rise to a deductible loss must occur with some suddenness. However, there are situations where the casualty occurs over a period of time and still results in a deductible casualty loss. For example, consider the damage caused by termites. Say that you purchased your house in June 1957 and at that time a check by experts showed that there were no termites present. Then, in February 1958, you discover that termites have been eating your house from under you. Can you claim a casualty loss deduction for the termite damage? Yes, you can, even though the damage took place over a nine-month period.

The casualty here, is the invasion of your house by the termites. However, it is probable that a casualty deduction will not be allowed where the termite damage did not occur over a relatively short period of time.

The Property Must Be Yours

You must have ownership of the damaged property to claim a loss deduction. It is quite conceivable that severe damage to the property found your house may cause the value of your property to decline. Although the damage occurred suddenly, you cannot claim a deduction for the loss in value unless your own property was actually damaged. You can claim a deduction for a drop in the value of your car due to an accident. This is true regardless of whether you or another driver is to blame, unless the accident is a result of your willful negligence. However, if you are responsible for an accident and have to pay for damage inflicted on someone else's car, you cannot deduct the payment as a casualty loss.

Proving a Casualty Loss

Determining the amount you can claim as a casualty loss may be very difficult. Generally, you are allowed to claim the amount by which your property decreased in value. In some cases, a repair bill will be considered sufficient to support your deduction.

The best thing you can do is gather together any information that may help support the amount you claim as a deduction. For example, if your house is badly damaged, a qualified architect can often give a reasonable estimate of the before and after value. The appraisal fee, by the way, is a deductible expense.

Theft Losses

You can claim a deduction for the value of property that is stolen. The problem in claiming losses from theft is that you will probably have to show some evidence that the theft took place. Be sure that there is at least a police record of the theft and a report of any findings the police may have come up with. Also, you might keep track of newspaper accounts, insurance reports, and so on. Theft losses are deductible in the year you discover that your property is missing.

You can get additional information on casualty and theft deductions from the instruction booklet issued by the Internal Revenue Service each year.

Student Senate to attend a model political convention to be held on the college campus some time in April. They will pay their own expenses.

The convention will be a reasonably close imitation of the political conventions which the major political parties will hold later in the year.

Those tentatively agreeing to attend are Kathryn Kinde, Marilyn Pajot, Sharon Smyser, Kay Runciman, Scott Chaplin, and Daniel Mayer.

Inhabitants of the tombs along the Appian Way must have turned over in their graves at the sight of the pep rally skit in CHS last Friday. Latin Club president Linda Koengeter put Wendy Gilbert in charge of a skit which depicted Romans (female) playing basketball inasmuch as the game did not materialize until a couple of thousand years later, the skit was certainly "different." Girls played the game, boys were cheerleaders, victory was the goal. Mr. Taylor talked to the student body about prospects and sportsmanship; the cheer leaders helped the student body to practice, and the school song was sung.

Things are somewhat quiet about school, with exams occupying our attention.

THOSE NUCLEAR TESTS

Senator Albert Gore has urged the Administration to renounce any further nuclear tests in the atmosphere for three years, but to reserve the right to resume them underground.

The Tennessee Democrat, a senior member of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, made his suggestion as a way out of the impasse now developing in the prolonged East-West negotiations in Geneva on a ban on nuclear testing.

The Way the Ball Bounces

With Tom Johnston

This week the U. High-Dexter clash and the Chelsea-Manchester games will hold the Washtenaw Conference spotlight. If Chelsea beats Manchester, they'll all but eliminate the Dutchmen from contention for any title this year. If Manchester wins, it won't do Bob Taylor's boys any good.

Dexter has been a steadily improving ball club these past few weeks, and the Cubs of U. High looked the best they have all season long against Chelsea last week-end.

Unbeaten Saline will host Ypsilanti Roosevelt, and can be expected to take an easy conference win. As it now stands, only U. High and Chelsea have chances of catching the powerful Hornets.

The Cubs, getting top performances from their tall men may well be able to top the Hornets. Chelsea has shown themselves as a hustling and capable quintet which appears to be improving each time we watch them.

The area will see some other top games this week. Brighton's bulldogs will meet league leading Clarensville. Brighton, until their defeat last week, had been ranked 6th in the state, while Clarensville who is undefeated is currently ranked 10th. The Pioneers of Ann Arbor High will travel to Kalamazoo where they'll face the Maroon Giants in a must-win 6 A league game.

Michigan's basketball team will have some time off because of semester exams, which reminds us that we hope that all of you athletes who are regular readers are keeping those grades up. I've known many good athletes from this area who have goofed off, and as a result couldn't accept scholarships to a school because they didn't have the grades.

Gordie Howe of the Detroit Red Wings is nearing the 1000-mark as an all-time point getter in professional hockey.

Howe raised his career total to 950 last week-end when he scored twice and earned an assist against the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Bobby Hull had two assists and a goal in the Chicago Blackhawks' win over the New York Rangers. That gives Hull 55 points for the season, tying him with Bronco Horvath of the Boston Bruins.

In amateur hockey, the U.S. Olympic Rink team had its first setback in six exhibitions. It lost to the Green Bay, Wis. Bobcats, 3-3.

Paul Foytack, the ace right-hander of the Detroit Tigers' pitching staff, heads a list of 65 baseball players scheduled to report to the early training camp at Lakeland, Fla., Feb. 22 through March 6.

Foytack asked for and was given permission to attend the breaking-in camp before regular training starts. Tiger Manager Jimmie Dykes, his three coaches and five scouts as well as Minor League managers from the Detroit farm system will supervise the activity at the camp. The break-in training is under the direction of Tiger Vice-President James Campbell.

Other members of the Detroit player roster who will be at the early camp are Jerry Davie, Wyman Carey, Ray Sempach, Joe Grezda, Dave Reed and Phil Regan, pitchers. Others include Bob Rodgers, A catcher, Frank Kostro, infielder, and Steve Boros, Andy Kosko, Emerit Lindbeck and George Thomas, all outfielders.

The Detroit Pistons hope they're well set on the comeback trail. They've won three in a row now, including a 115-110 victory over the Cincinnati Royals in Detroit, Sunday. That gives them a three and one-half game edge over the Minneapolis Lakers for second place in the Western Division of the NBA. But they're still eight full games behind the St. Louis Hawks.

The Pistons will be idle all this week. Their next game will be next Saturday against Wilt Chamberlain and the Philadelphia Warriors.

Michigan State and Michigan are not in contention now for the Big Ten basketball crown—but three of their players are among the top ten scorers in the conference.

Horace Walker, MSU's six-foot five-inch forward, is second behind Purdue's Terry Dischinger. Lance Olsen, a teammate, is in seventh place. And Terry Miller, of Michigan, is eighth in the Conference list although his team hasn't won a conference game yet.

Bubba Phillips, the third baseman acquired by the Cleveland Indians from the Chicago White Sox, has signed his 1960 contract.

The Indians also received signed contracts from Pitchers Leo Kiley and Dick Stigman . . . bringing to 30 the number of players signed for the 1960 season.

Phillips was a key defensive player in guiding the White Sox to their 1959 pennant. He batted .264 and had 40 runs batted in.

Kiley, a veteran, was obtained from the Boston Red Sox in a trade for infielder Ray Webster, while Stigman is rated as a coming star. He ranked among the strikeout leaders in the Pacific Coast League and now is winning close ones for the Boer Club in the Nicaraguan League.

The University of Michigan will be host to a state-wide Olympic wrestling clinic for high school and club coaches here Saturday.

Wolverine mat coach Cliff Keen will be in charge of the affair which will open at 9 a.m., and continue through the day with panel discussions, demonstrations and explanation of Olympic rules.

The meeting is open to all those interested in Olympic-style wrestling, according to Keen, and is designed to promote interest in AAU tournaments, pre-Olympic trials and to help organize groups, particularly of former collegiate wrestlers, who might provide material for the 1960 U.S. Olympic team.

Keen will head a panel discussion in which participating members will be Gail Miles, assistant mat coach at Michigan State and former NCAA champ; Jim Ferguson, MSU, 1959 Pan-American and AAU 174-pound titlist; Mike Rodriguez, coach at River Rouge high school and former Michigan All-American; Dean Rockwell, Detroit and Joe Scalzo, coach at Toledo University and coach of the Greco-Roman Olympic mat team in 1956.

Senator John Kennedy Off to Fast Start in Presidential Race

Senator John Kennedy, Massachusetts Democrat, has now officially entered the presidential derby.

Kennedy enters the presidential race at a time when he probably commands more delegate votes than any other candidate in his party. His toughest opposition may come from Adlai Stevenson, Senator Stuart Symington, of Missouri, or Senator Lyndon Johnson, of Texas. There are other candidates, of course, and Senator Hubert Humphrey, of Minnesota, could conceivably do the Kennedy cause harm also.

Another possible deflating influence might be that of Governor Edmund Brown, of California, a rising politician who is obviously interested in the July convention.

Concerning Kennedy, and other Democratic candidates, incidentally, their show will be over when the Republican convention meets in August. Republicans meet in Chicago this year, while the Democrats are going to Los Angeles.

However, since the Republican convention is now considered a "cut and dried" affair, the Democratic convention is certain to be the one which attracts the most excitement and interest, and Senator Kennedy is certain to be the leading figure at that convention on the first ballot, or among the two or three leading figures at the worst. The Kennedy campaign is not geared to second-spot on the Democratic ticket. If the youthful Massachusetts Senator does not gain the top spot on the Democratic ticket, however, it is hard for many to believe he would refuse to run as the second-place candidate, where he—like Vice-President Richard Nixon—would automatically assume the logical chair of succession to the Presidency should the Democratic ticket win in November.

Kennedy is certain to make a strong and vigorous campaign, and he plans to do battle in primaries in various sections of the country. Undoubtedly he will make a fine showing in many of these primaries because he is vigorous, intelligent, and makes a good impression. The outcome of the primaries will affect Kennedy's chances in July. Kennedy must make a good showing in these primaries, and he is expected to in order to go to Los Angeles in July with the needed momentum and enthusiasm among his supporters.

We never thought we'd live to see the day when city slickers went back to the country to teach the folks there how to dance the square dances.

Needed: Relief!

★ MICHIGAN MIRROR ★

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

The soaring 60's are off to an appropriate start in Lansing.

If the first month of the first year is any indication, it will be a decade to remember—or maybe one you can't forget.

Top contender for the shocker of the month was the recommendation by a Democratic study group that Michigan should have a one-house legislature.

To abolish the traditional "checks and balances" within the legislature is, to many students of government, to tamper with a proven protective device.

Nebraska is the only state with a unicameral legislature.

But a committee on legislative reform appointed by the Democratic State Central Committee said a one-house legislative body would be worth a try in Michigan.

"Something needs to be done for the people," said Ralph E. Richman, chairman when he announced the recommendation of his study committee.

"We have a legislature that does not represent a majority of the people."

Senate minority leader Harold Ryan (D-Detroit) agrees—something should be done to make the state senate more representative of the people—but he wouldn't go so far as to abolish the Senate.

"Let's tread slowly," said Ryan. "Treading slowly is just what Democrats are doing."

Before charging off on a drive to reorganize the legislature, Democrats want to hear the outcome of the Supreme Court's deliberation on a suit by August Scholle, president of the Michigan AFL-CIO, to force reapportionment of the Senate.

Surveys among state party members, evaluation of editorial comment, a study of the Nebraska plan, and debate among party leaders can be expected before the Democratic State Central Committee takes up the unicameral recommendation at a special meeting Feb. 28.

Bull in the china shop this month was the Supreme Court's Eugene F. Black a protocol-busting justice from Port Huron.

As a Republican attorney general in 1948, Black argued a constitutional convention could be ordered by a majority of those voting on the convention issue.

Twelve years have not changed his mind. He's still fighting.

A Democrat now, Black is arguing that a constitutional convention was properly called in 1958 when 821,282 voted for it and 608,356 opposed.

Attorney General Paul L. Adams contends the court was right in 1948 when it said a majority of those voting in an election must approve calling of a constitutional convention, and that this ruling holds for the 1958 vote.

Black, angry with judicial delay, sure that "my brothers" on the court were going to hold with Adams, and convinced he has been right for more than a decade, issued a 60-page opinion from the bench before the court went into conference on the case.

A "rancid injunction against the people" is what Black called the 1948 decision. He said it was the prime cause of Michigan's financial troubles.

It wasn't so much what he said as the way he said it. There is no precedent in modern times for issuance of a written opinion from the bench as a case is being heard.

Apparently Black considers it good legal procedure for a judge to write his decision before all the arguments are submitted to the court and to release the opinion without further thought.

Porter, Blissfield Republican, thought that such action showed contempt for the judicial procedure and demanded Black's resignation.

Black has served notice he doesn't intend to stand on protocol the remaining four months of his term.

Times change: When Patrick V. McNamara decided to run for the U. S. Senate in 1954, most Democratic leaders couldn't have cared less. Although a long-time friend of labor, McNamara was given little chance in the primary against Blair Moody.

Moody died suddenly and McNamara got the nomination. Even after he beat Homer Ferguson, McNamara was far from a solid favorite in high party circles.

There was talk of running someone against him when the time came for him to run again.

That time is approaching, but there is no longer such talk.

Praise flows for McNamara from state party headquarters.

A resolution adopted by the Democratic State Central Committee said he has established "an enviable record and stature" in Washington. It commended him for "his leadership and for the outstanding degree of integrity and conscience which Pat McNamara exemplifies in the United States Senate."

Governor Williams, at one time himself considered a possible challenger for McNamara's seat, said McNamara's senior senator, has "grown into the job and into the hearts of all of us."

McNamara should get the nomination with little trouble this year.

Age, they say, is not a matter of years, but a state of mind—so it's probably alright if Grandpa wants to whistle at the girls on the street.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The way things are working out it looks like we get more and more bad seasons in this country every year. We got the hurricane season, the tornado season, the polio season and the hay fever season, just to name a few.

And one of our very bad seasons is gitting to be what we might call the "Item 4 Minus Item 3" season. Them brass hats in Washington figgers farmers is a little dumb, so they make the farmers get their income tax report in a month afore normal folks has to turn theirs in. I always start on mine the first week in January so's to allow plenty of time for prayer and meditation.

I been workin on this jig-saw puzzle for three straight days and I git a new answer ever time I figger it out. I got a good notion to wrap up my Sunday suit and that nine dollars I got in the bank, send it to 'em and tell 'em this is what I'm holding and fer them to work it out. I'll add a note advising that if there's anything left over, I'd like to have my Sunday pants back.

"Subtract item 4 from item 3, then carry it to Schedule A Line 9" or somesun, it says. I can't even find Schedule A, much less Line 9. Ever year about this time I git out that old motto I won at the county fair, dust it off and hang it over my bed: "I will lay me down and bleed awhile and rise to fight again."

Taxes is gitting to be a religion amongst them folks we elect to public office. I see where the U. S. Tax Foundation says there's 151 different taxes on a loaf of bread, 93 on a egg, 116 on a man's suit, and around 600 on a house. And when they run out of regular taxes they come up with a "temporary" tax fer some emergency. When the emergency is over they just make the tax permanent and hike it a little. It's got so I never ask the price of nothing no more, just ask about the tax. I figger that if I can pay the tax they'll credit me fer the balance. A fellow that runs a grocery store over in town told me the other day he had to hire three clerks, two to wait on the trade and one to keep books fer the Government.

From the looks of things right now, Mister Editor, I figger Uncle Lew is fer a good, long run in this country.

A fellow said once that whenever three business men git together in this country, sooner or later they form a company and one is president, one is vice-president and one is treasurer. And it looks to me like ever time we elect three candidates to office, one turns out to be tax collector, one assistant tax collector, and one tax inspector.

Well, I got to quit now and git back to Item 4 Minus Item 3. It's a funny thing to me that when we owe Uncle Sam money he's got to have it right away, but he'll wait 80 years fer England to pay him.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew

Governor Asks for 13 New Commissions

Governor Williams was caught in a despairing dilemma when he climbed to the rostrum of the House of Representatives to launch his 12th—and probably last—regular session of the legislature.

He knew the people are in no mood now for another round of higher taxes.

At the same time he was committed to the UAW-controlled Democratic party to carry on his fight for at least part of the costly Utopian government that has been his goal for a decade.

The Governor tried to escape from his predicament by dancing to two tunes with both feet. His performance pleased neither Democrats nor Republicans.

So if the taxpayers will walk gently and breathe quietly, and keep fingers crossed, the lawmakers may pass their appropriation bills and get out of Lansing early in April without storm or strife.

Governor Williams' first tune was an admission that public opinion prevents him from pressing his tax bills at this time.

"Let us waste no more time arguing about it," he said, thus surrendering to the power of the Republican Senators who blocked his income tax last year and are prepared to block it again.

With the pontifical solemnity he had exhibited the previous Sunday when the newspapers photographed him in the robes of the Episcopal church, the Governor concluded this section of his address with: "So be it, then!"

After promising the legislators he would keep his budget within present income, or very near it, Williams shuffled immediately into his second tune and demanded enactment of a long list of new and expensive government frills and expensiveness.

The package would cost at least $65 million.

It would create 13 new commissions and departments.

Instead of holding expenditure within income, it would send the government on another spree toward bankruptcy.

Republicans caustically pointed out that by advocating projects the state cannot afford in 1960—many of them attractive—Governor Williams still was aiming to force passage of his income tax.

His apparent subterfuge especially angered Senators Charles Feenstra, of Grand Rapids; Paul Younger, of Lansing; and Arthur Delmon of Unionville.

In the end, Governor Williams' double-talk was accepted as political license because members of both parties well knew that the Governor was compelled to perform lip service to the UAW in this election year.

Even Democrats will not press for the Governor's scheme to raise unemployment insurance costs to Michigan industry in the midst of the state's fight to escape from its disastrous economic blight.

(No state has higher unemployment payroll taxes than Michigan.)

With neat twirls, the Governor tried to imply that his program would not cost much. He proposed a $30 million bond issue to rehabilitate the state park system, although he vetoed the Republican bill two years in a row to charge $2 for an annual admission ticket to the parks.

He proposed a $30 million bond issue for new state buildings, and said the bonds could be retired by the simple process of renting the space to the state departments using it.

He ignored the fact that the state departments would get this extra rent money from their only available source—the taxpayers.

Little attention has been paid to a recommendation that could be dynamic to the local governments.

That is his plan to create an office under the Governor's direct command to be responsible for relations between the state government and the townships, villages and counties.

Some of the planners who work at Williams' side long have dreamed of eliminating townships and counties, just as the Governor once predicted that state sovereignty ultimately will be surrendered to the federal government.

This proposed new office could be the first step toward firm control of townships and villages by Lansing.

He also asked better control by the state over the water the people drink and the air they breathe.

By GOV. C. MENNEN WILLIAMS

Broad Program Outlined for '60 Legislature

Lansing—The Michigan legislature has an opportunity to compile a record of affirmative action and accomplishment in its 1960 session.

In my message last week, I placed before the legislature a 28-point program which will make a sound start on the needs and problems of this new decade of the 1960's. Enactment of these recommendations would, indeed, provide the foundation for a program which would make this decade the Splendid Sixties for Michigan.

To begin with, it is obvious that no progress can be made on the tax question at this session. When the legislature last year adopted the Republican "nuisance tax" program, it left no doubt that an adequate and permanent tax must be written by the people and not the legislature. That means we should set aside the bitterness of last year's tax controversy, and get to work on a constructive and affirmative program for the betterment of Michigan.

This is expected to be a short session of the legislature. That does not mean it should be devoid of accomplishment.

The only proposal which I placed before the legislature that will require additional funds—but no additional taxes—is the addition of 50 additional State Police. This would be in addition to filling the present 48 vacancies in State Police strength. The additional State Police are vitally needed. If we are to curb our highway deaths which last year, for the first time in several years, showed an increase: This traffic slaughter must be curbed.

Greatest among the needs of this new decade is the strengthening, expanding and diversification of Michigan's economy so that it will provide employment opportunities for our exploding population.

Among the things I recommended that state government do to aid in our economic development are:

Economic Growth Act, patterned after the Federal Full Employment Act, which would bring continuity to enable the state to bring its best efforts to bear on the expansion of our economy and the creation of new jobs.

Industrial FHA which would permit use of the state's faith and credit to guarantee loans for industrial construction.

Industrial Parks Authority which would permit a governmental unit, singly or with other units of institutions of higher learning, to develop new industrial areas.

These I have recommended previously and I renew my support for their adoption.

Other measures which I recommended, many of which I have presented previously, include a Commission on Automation to assemble facts on this new technique and to assist those whose jobs are discontinued; retraining of unemployed; an Atomic Energy Commission.

WORTH MORE BECAUSE THEY WORK MORE

Chevy's new torsion springs and Sturdi-Bilt design are changing everybody's ideas about how much work a truck can do. Last year's schedules are out—Chevrolet trucks ride faster over the rough runs to get in more trips a day! Big repair bills are no longer a problem—Chevrolet trucks soak up punishment that means downtime to other makes! And trade-in time's put off for extra thousands of miles—'60 Chevrolet trucks stay new like never before!

New Dollar-Saving Prices

Step-Vans, 4-Wheel Drives, many light-duty models with automatic transmissions—all are lower priced. Prices have also been reduced on all optional V-8's.

New Torsion-Spring Suspension

Eliminates I-beam shimmy and wheel fight! With torsion springs up front there's a brand-new, smoother, easier handling feel behind the wheel. New rear suspensions include wide-based coil springs in most light-duty models; tougher variable-rate leaf springs in medium and heavy-duty models.

Electronically Balanced Wheels

Front wheels and tires are balanced at the factory. Helps make that new ride revolutionary!

New Cabs—Wider, Safer, More Comfortable

Many models are a whole 7 inches lower (without sacrificing road clearance), so it's easier to hop in and out of cabs. Still there's more space inside: more room for hats and hips, more foot room with suspended pedals. Cabs are safer, too; new build makes them 67% more rigid.

Plus Improvements All Through the Line

A new steering linkage system that cuts vibration, means better control. There's new V-8 efficiency. Sixes—long famous for saving. New key-turn starting. Higher, wider visibility. Talk to your Chevrolet dealer about the world's most advanced trucks.

Speakers stressed the wide scope of the work being done by the churches in the world today.

Ann Arbor Bank Officer Will Direct Michigan Week

James Beamer, vice-president of the Ann Arbor Bank, will serve as 1960 Michigan Week chairman for Washtenaw county.

His appointment to head committee planning for the seventh annual state celebration in Washtenaw county was announced today by Thomas Adams, president of Campbell-Ewald Advertising Agency, Detroit, and regional chairman for the five-county area of southeastern Michigan.

In accepting the county chairmanship, Beamer said: "Through past years, the observance of Michigan Week has become a tradition in our state. We have every reason to take pride in Michigan, to learn more about its advantages and to tell of its great opportunities during this year's celebration."

Planning for the 1960 Michigan Week is already far advanced, according to T. Austin Saunders, Muskegon, president of the General Telephone Co. of Michigan, and state chairman for the seven-day observance to be held next May 15-21.

"Michigan—Your Opportunity," the suggestion of a 15-year-old Lansing newspaper carrier, will be the slogan for the 1960 Michigan Week, and the subject for special emphasis will be "People of Michigan."

Other county chairmen announced by Adams for this region are: Phil de Beaubien, publisher, the Detroit Times, for Wayne county; Mort Neff, Birmingham, producer of "Michigan Outdoors," for Oakland county; Dale Hornung, sales promotion manager for Monroe Auto Equipment Co., for Monroe county and George M. Holley, Jr., president of Holley Carburetor Co., Mt. Clemens, for Macomb county.

School Library Volunteer Helpers Meeting Today

Members of the Chelsea Parent-Teacher Associations volunteer group active in assisting with the work of the school libraries, are holding a meeting in the conference rooms of the High School library today. Mrs. Carl Schweiger, PTA book and reading chairman, arranged the program.

Miss Joan Weiss, school librarian, spent Friday morning with several members of the volunteer group at the Junior High school where they observed the library in action under the supervision of selected junior high school library assistants and study hall teachers. The Junior high school library was opened for grades 7 and 8 about one year ago with a collection of 1,000 new books. Initial clerical work was performed by a number of students from the school's office practice class under the supervision of Miss Delores Scripser, now a student at Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant.

To keep the library in the junior high school at its usual level of service and to assess results of the first year of operation, Miss Weiss has delegated a number of clerical duties to Mrs. Carl Schweiger, Mrs. Cecil Bernath, and Mrs. Chester White. The heavy use of books by students makes it necessary to type new book cards; to withdraw from the shelves books in need of repair or replacement; and to perform other technical processing jobs.

Present members of the volunteer group, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Carl Schweiger, are Mrs. Wilbert Grieb, Mrs. Chester White, Mrs. Richard Ringe, Mrs. Curtis Farley, Mrs. Ralph Swanson, Mrs. Ted Balmer, and Mrs. Philip Vogel.

Others are Mrs. Edmund Kayser, Mrs. Fred Schumm, Mrs. Louis Bernath, Mrs. Norwood Bush, Mrs. Bob Fitzsimmons, Mrs. Edward Visel, Mrs. Franklin Gee, Mrs. William Rich, Mrs. Walfrid Impola, Mrs. Basil Kelley, Mrs. Bud Wilson and Mrs. Leo Tuttle.

Democrats Launch Campaign for Dues Paying Members

The Michigan Democratic Party will launch a drive to sign up 100,000 dues paying members during 1960, Neil Staebler, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, announced this week.

The paid membership campaign, never tried before on a state-wide basis in Michigan, gets underway in January and will continue throughout the year, Staebler said.

"Paid party membership programs have been very successful in other states," Staebler said, "and we are confident that the Democrats of Michigan also will choose this method of identifying themselves with their party and supporting its activities."

"The paid membership program will serve the dual purpose of strengthening and broadening the Party's financial base and of encouraging more people to become active politically."

Five types of membership will be offered, Staebler said. They are a basic membership of $2.50 a year, or monthly dues plans in the amounts of $1, $2, $3, and $10 a month. A year's subscription to the Michigan Democrat, publication of the state party, will be included in the basic membership. Those who select the monthly dues plans in addition to the Michigan Democrat, also will receive the Democratic Digest, published in Washington.

Dues receipts will be divided equally between the state party and the Democratic county organization where the dues-paying member resides, Staebler said.

The attractive wallet-sized membership card will be white with a green border, and will bear pictures of President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Governor G. Mennen Williams.

and Industrial Technicians on US-12, 8-10 a.m. Jan. 29; and Michigan Panelyte Molded Plastics at Dexter, beginning at noon on Jan. 29. The X-ray survey is being made by means of mobile units operated by the Michigan Department of Health, purpose of the survey being to help discover previously unknown cases of tuberculosis, lung cancer, heart conditions and other chest abnormalities.

Industries co-operating in the program are allowing their employees to obtain the chest X-rays during working hours. Reports on abnormalities discovered by the X-rays will be sent to the family physician named by the employee so that they can arrange for a follow-up for further medical care.

In cases where employees are found to have active tuberculosis hospitalization in a state tuberculosis sanatorium is advised.

Neither the industries nor their employees are charged for the chest X-ray service according to the announcement by Dr. Engelke.

Republican Women's Club To Meet Monday

Chelsea's Republican Women's club will hold its annual meeting Monday evening, Jan. 25, at the McKune Memorial Library. The meeting is to begin at 8 p.m.

Announcement of the meeting states that it is an important one and all members should plan to be present. The meeting is open to anyone interested.

Science Fair

who won awards at the first science fair last year are Gary Berger, Cynthia Klingler and Patty Pastor.

Berger's entry was an x-ray machine; Miss Klingler's was a plant life exhibit; and Miss Pastor's an exhibit of drawings on anatomies. Berger and Miss Klingler won cash awards in addition to certificates of excellence which all three Chelsea students received. Berger was also selected as one of a team of seven youths who won a trip to the Nevada atomic testing grounds.

Prizes and medals will again be available this year, with the top boy and girl in the senior division of the fair to be sent to the National Fair in Indianapolis, Ind., May 11-14.

The junior division will be made up of students from grades 7 and 8. Professor Leach said. The senior division will include contestants from the 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th grades.

Deadline for entries in the coming fair will be March 31, Professor Leach said. Entry cards will be sent to science teachers and administrators in schools of the five counties within a few weeks, he added.

School principals also are being invited to send representatives to an organizational meeting at the Michigan Union at 6 p.m. Jan. 28, Leach pointed out.

Major expenses of the fair will be met by funds solicited from area business firms by the Exchange Club. Last year the club raised $3,300 for this purpose.

Science fairs are collections of exhibits conceived and prepared by students. They show scientific principles, laboratory or other procedures, industrial processes, or scientific materials.

Exhibits will be evaluated by teams of judges from area industry, the University, and from schools outside the five counties. Exhibits will be set up April 8, judged that evening and the next morning, then viewed by the public the afternoons of April 9 and 10. The fair will close at 5:30 April 10.

Chelsea Steer Club Members, Sponsors Get Acquainted

Wednesday evening, members of the Chelsea Steer club, their individual sponsors, representatives of the sponsoring Chelsea Chamber of Commerce and club members, parents had a get-together meeting in the cafeteria at Chelsea High school.

Youths who are members of the club were introduced to their sponsors and Paul Mann, speaking for the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce, explained about the formation of the club and its purpose in the community—to encourage local youths to raise fine beef stock and assuring them of the sale of the steers at the annual Community Fair. Only steers owned by Chelsea and Dexter Steer club members will be sold at the fair.

Paul G. Schaible explained to Steer Club members and their parents about the requirements for insurance on the animals.

Following the meeting, coffee, milk and doughnuts were served. Approximately 100 persons attended the gathering.

Testimonial Luncheon Set for Vernon J. Brown

Mrs. Donald Baldwin of Chelsea, Mrs. Russell T. Dobson, of Ann Arbor, and Mrs. Betty Wismer of Ypsilanti have been named Washtenaw county chairmen of the Republican "Recruit for '60" drive to enlist the services of volunteer workers for the 1960 election campaign.

First state-wide meeting of county co-chairmen will be held at Lansing, Jan. 23, said Gordon Getzinger of Bloomfield Hills, State Chairman of "Recruit for '60." Richard Root of Wayne is vice-chairman of the committee, and Mrs. E. W. Mayo, of Kalamazoo, secretary-treasurer, will assist with the meeting.

Claude Jasper of Wisconsin, national chairman of the program, will address the Michigan meeting, which will follow a Republican State Central Committee session and a state-wide testimonial luncheon honoring Vernon J. Brown, elder statesman of the Michigan Republican party.

"Recruit for '60" is a national program, aimed at enrolling three new GOP volunteers in every voting precinct.

"The coming election is an extremely important one and we expect to enlist 10,000 new volunteers in Michigan to work for a Republican victory," Getzinger said. "The response has been excellent with a greater interest in political activity shown by the people this year than ever before."

The "Vern Brown Testimonial Luncheon" before the "Recruit for '60" meeting will honor Brown for 62 years of service to the people of Michigan in various elective and appointive positions. A former Auditor General and Lieutenant Governor, Brown resigned his last state post as a member of the State Civil Service Commission.

last year at the age of 85. Brown is well known as publisher of the Ingham County News and as a farm leader in addition to his public positions. He is a former president of the Michigan Press Association.

George Smith Cottage Extensively Damaged By Fire Tuesday Evening

The George Smith cottage at 215 Cavanaugh Lake was extensively damaged by fire Tuesday evening. Chelsea firemen were called to the scene at 5:30 p.m. and fought the blaze for two hours.

According to Fire Department records, the blaze started near the furnace. Contents of the house as well as the structure itself suffered damage.

The cottage was rented as quarters for employees of the Sarnia Inspection Co. who are in this area in connection with the new Consumers Power Co. pipeline being constructed.

Medical Care Begins With You

In time of sickness you want—and demand—the best of care. But do you know that much of this care must come from yourself?

Too many people consider that a doctor's advice is something to be taken or ignored—depending on how they feel at the moment. These people do not receive the fullest benefit from their physician's attention.

Care begins when you conserve your strength and follow your doctor's orders. Keep him accurately informed about your condition; take your medicines according to directions; and follow his instructions carefully. By so doing, you become a good patient, one who gets the greatest possible benefit from the care he receives.

Bring your doctor's prescriptions to our Pharmacy to be filled by our highly skilled personnel.

Troy Donahue has been one of Sandra Dee's favorite dates—or had you heard? Troy was so good with Sandra in their movie that he will next play the role of a young Method actor, with Patsy

Kelly as his agent, in "The Crowded Sky."

Audrey Hepburn says the part she's dying to play on the screen is Liza Doolittle in "My Fair Lady." It's been a dream of many years.

The latest "steadies" are Fabian and Tuesday Weld.

Debbie Reynolds says she is not going to give any more fan magazine interviews. They have misquoted her once too often, says Debbie.

Lindsay Crosby is keeping the phone hot to Susan Woods, whom he met and dated constantly in Las Vegas.

Today's picture review:

THE F.B.I. STORY

Authentic and thrilling, this version of the grim struggle that the F.B.I. engages in against killers, hoodlums, saboteurs and other gangsters, will keep the viewer nailed to his seat.

James Stewart plays Chip Hardesty, and the story of his courtship and marriage to Lucy (played by Vera Miles), the birth of their children, and later the death of their only son in World War II, is interwoven in this story of the thrilling adventures which befall him as an F.B.I. man.

The viewer will laugh and weep with the all too human Hardesty family as he thrills to the inspirational and dramatic elements of this gripping movie.

Motorists, the hospitals are all filled up now, so please take it easy.

Marching Mothers to Collect Facts, Funds

"If you can answer no to the questions inside, be thankful! If you must answer yes, take hope!"

American mothers will carry this message to over 30 million homes this month. The mothers, volunteers in the annual Mothers' March, will be seeking information and support for The National Foundation's fight against birth defects, arthritis and polio. These crippling, initial targets in The National Foundation's campaign to prevent crippling disease, affect the lives of one of every four American families.

Two Million in March
An estimated two million women will join the nationwide mothers' appeal for facts and funds. In most communities the mothers will march Thursday evening, Jan. 28, bringing to a climax the New March of Dimes January campaign.

The mothers will present each household with a copy of "Door Count," a concise fact-finding folder in which a family may indicate if any of its members has a birth defect, arthritis or polio and how many have had three or more Salk vaccine shots. Each family record will be confidential.

Salk Shot Reminder

The Mothers' March door count will focus family and community attention on the majority of Americans still without Salk shot protection against paralytic polio. It will remind the unvaccinated to start shots in time for summer polio protection and it will help communities plan local programs to further encourage

DOOR COUNT		If you write number of persons who were:
NAME	AGE	Not yet vaccinated	Vaccinated
1. Does any person in this household have arthritis?
2. Was any person in this household born with a defect?
3. Has any person in this household had polio?
4. How many persons live in this household altogether?
5. How many persons in this household have had 3 or more Salk polio shots?

If you care to give your name, please do so. Thank you for your help.

NAME _____ AGE _____

ADDRESS _____

CITY _____ STATE _____

ZIP _____

This questionnaire will go to more than 30 million homes in every part of the country to provide information about three crippling diseases that affect one of every four American families.

Although the house-to-house poll is in no way planned as a statistically valid survey, the sum of information taken in the door count will provide a working estimate of the number of persons suffering from arthritis, the number born with birth defects and the number who have been victims of paralytic polio. This tabulation will help guide National Foundation county chapters in formulating local programs to aid the disabled.

Mothers making the house-to-house door count will also seek contributions to the New March of Dimes for its attack on birth defects, arthritis and polio. The New March of Dimes is combating these disabling disorders with the same effective weapons used to conquer paralytic polio: medical scientific research to find causes, cures, preventives; patient aid for medical care; and training for medical workers needed to treat the sick and disabled.

Two million mothers like this one will conduct a house-to-house door count this month seeking information and support for the New March of Dimes campaign against birth defects, arthritis and polio.

Ever see a rocket riding the highway? Or a tankful of flour? Or a load of oxygen? ... Most people—when they think of trucks—think only in terms of the van or pick-up models they see carrying miscellaneous freight. These are in the majority, it's true. But it takes literally dozens and dozens of different types of trucks—many very special and very costly—to serve America's broad and bustling economy. Trucks are designed to transport almost every kind of cargo you can imagine—and to do so safely and efficiently. That's why it's truly said that everything you eat, wear or use—and more—comes to you by truck!

THE NATIONAL OUTLOOK

By RALPH ROBEY

* Reduction of Public Debt Predicted

From the viewpoint of business the most important statement in the State-of-the-Union message by President Eisenhower probably was that on retirement of the public debt.

Back of this was a projected surplus of $200 million for the current fiscal year ending next June 30 and an estimate of $4.2 billion surplus for the following fiscal year.

The projection for this year is another revision by the Administration. In the mid-year review by the Budget Bureau it was predicted that there would be a surplus of $100 million. Then, a few weeks later, Budget Bureau Director Stans said that the chances were we would have a deficit this year. The difference was continuation of the steel strike and the influence of this upon both corporate profits and individual income.

This current revision, however, can be accounted for by other than settlement of the steel strike. Only a few days ago the Federal Reserve System adopted a new formula for the retention of its earnings, and this resulted in an increased payment to the U. S. Treasury of $266 million—or by more than the estimated surplus.

The indicated surplus for fiscal 1961 is of quite a different character. Expenditures are estimated at $79.8 billion, as compared with an anticipated $81 billion. Revenues are forecast at $84 billion, which is appreciably higher than had been expected. This a good sized surplus, but the President had this to say about it.

"Personally, I do not feel that any amount can be properly called a surplus as long as the nation is in debt. I prefer to think of such an item as a reduction on our children's inherited mortgage. And once we have established such payments as normal practice we can profitably make improvements in our tax structure and thereby truly reduce the heavy burdens of taxation."

At first glance this appears to be a conservative and appealing point of view. But analysis of its implications raises some fundamental issues. If we can not have tax relief with income exceeding expenditures by $4.2 billion; how much surplus must we have before beginning a program of tax rate reform?

Everyone is interested in getting a reduction of the public debt, but must that be given absolute priority over tax rate reform?

Since the historical record shows that within a short period a reduction of taxes brings more revenue to the government, might we not be better off if we started on tax reform immediately?

Finally, inasmuch as we have a shortage of venture capital, and that is holding back the growth of the nation, would it not be wise to aid the accumulation of such capital by tax reform?

In my judgment a surplus of $4.2 billion is more than enough to justify a tax-rate-reform program this year. Further, there already is a program before the House Ways and Means Committee that is particularly suited for the present situation. This is the five-year program of the Helms-Baker bill. This reduces taxes across the board by using the revenue which comes from economic growth for this purpose rather than increased government spending. It is a genuine tax-rate-reform measure, and involves no shifting of taxes from one group to another.

FRIENDS IN NEED
Vista, Calif.—An avocado rancher, Charlie Miller, has been giving his crop away the last two years. Almost blind and in poor health, he could not pick the fruit himself and could not pay anyone to do it for him.

This year will be different; he will get paid for his crop. Miller's neighbors have decided to pick, pack, and deliver his 10-acre crop to a buyer as a present for Miller's 83rd birthday anniversary.

WINTER'S ARRIVAL has again set the stage for ice fishing on thousands of inland lakes in Michigan. Scenes such as this soften the sting of freezing temperatures and other encumbering elements—fishermen must endure. A special season for rainbows on some 200 lakes during January and February will add more sport for many of these anglers of the iceways. Spearing also joins the scene during these months for a host of species on inland non-trout waters. Fishermen must wait until February to spear sturgeon.

Thousands of Sportsmen Are Poised, Awaiting Start of Ice Fishing Season

Lansing—Thousands of anglers, with their trusty spuds poised, are ready to "break the ice" on another season of winter fishing. From the time chips start flying until thawing temperatures arrive, these hardy harbingers of Michigan's winter sports season will be busy on thousands of inland lakes in the state.

Awaiting the first challenge of these anglers of the iceways are perch, bluegills, white bass, walleye, crappies, lake trout, muskellunge and others.

Come Jan. 1, rainbow trout will become fair winter catches for the first time in more than 200 lakes designated by the Conservation Department. A few tips may be helpful for those planning to take advantage of this special winter season.

Rainbows feed along shoal edges in about 15 feet of water and occasionally make runs on the shoal. They travel well above the lake's bottom.

If perch begin to bite, chances are you're in a good spot for rainbows because the two are frequently found in the same areas. Bluegills and rainbows, however, seem to have little in common. A four to five-foot limber ice fishing rod is considered ideal for rainbows. For large trout, a good spool or free-running reel should be used instead of the usual line-winding cleat.

The small spoon jigs and ice flies used for bluegills, combined with a "boom-boom" "mousetail" grub, are quite effective baits for smaller trout. Live minnows ordinarily do the best job with large trout.

Lists of lakes open to winter rainbow fishing may be obtained from the Department's Lansing office or any of its district field headquarters. Information and regulations covering other seasons and limits are included in the 1960 Michigan Fish Law Digest.

St. Paul's Guild Plans Annual Family Get-Together Event

The January meeting of St. Paul's Women's Guild was held Wednesday, Jan. 13, at the church. Approximately 45 members were present.

The president, Mrs. P. G. Schable, by special request, used for her devotion a challenge she prepared for the fall workshop in October. She stated that the Women's Guild should be a promotion and that they should strive to be a part of the church program.

She said church work is part of God's plan and with the modern conveniences, no woman should use as an excuse, "I don't have time." Mrs. Schable said "Christianity cannot be bought on 'easy terms' as can material things we see advertised in windows and newspapers. Noble things cannot be obtained with no effort involved. We must go forward with the times and look for new methods, new moods, and new types of encouragement. There is amazing power in everyday witnessing for Christ. We must share our faith with all men and use God's gifts to us for His purpose. A good Christian will accept certain disciplines."

The presentation of next year's program entitled, "Disciplined for Christian Living" was in the form of an executive board meeting with all officers and department chairmen taking part.

Mrs. Eugene Fisher presented the 1960-61 Women's Guild budget and urged participation of Guild members in the current stewardship poster and essay contest of the Church.

Announcement was made of the annual church family get-together scheduled for Feb. 4. It was also announced that Ann Arbor area church council members will meet at St. Paul's church Feb. 3 and women of the Guild will serve a meal for those who attend.

Closing devotions were in charge of Mrs. William Beach.

Hostesses who served refreshments following the meeting included Mrs. Robert Bauer, Mrs. Walter Bauer, Mrs. Albert Notten, Mrs. J. W. Metzger and Mrs. Alfred Lindauer. Ushers were Mrs. Martha Weinmann and Mrs. Theodore Faust.

A newly appointed publicity committee includes Mrs. Ellsworth Smith, Mrs. Louis Burghardt and Mrs. Alfred Lindauer.

HIGHER GAS TAX?

The American Automobile Association expects the Administration to plan to ask Congress soon for an additional rise in Federal gasoline taxes of a half-cent a gallon.

Most people think of Michigan as the automobile state.

Our fame as car makers is worldwide . . . as it should be.

Michigan manufacturers produce 85 per cent of all cars, trucks and other automotive vehicles made in the United States, including the output of their assembly plant operations in other states.

All but a handful of the major trade names of the American automotive industry designate products made or originated in Michigan.

Michigan is the home of the automobile "Big Three"—Chrysler, Ford and General Motors—as well as the business headquarters for the smaller American Motors Corp.

And it's also the home of Continental Motors of Muskegon, the world's largest manufacturer of internal combustion engines.

While the auto industry is decentralizing its production facilities, to place assembly plants closer to east coast, west coast and southern markets, Michigan continues to be the core area and brain center of the industry. Of the 113 new plants built by automakers since World War II, 44 were built in Michigan, including executive office headquarters and research and testing laboratories.

Primarily centered in Detroit, motor capital of the world, the automobile industry also reaches into many other Michigan cities . . . the automaking plants in Dearborn, Flint, Lansing, Pontiac, Wayne, Willow Run, Wixom, Kalamazoo . . . and the parts and sub-assembly plants in Grand Rapids, Muskegon, Saginaw, Bay City, Jackson, Port Huron, Ypsilanti and many others.

Famed the world over for our manufacture of motor cars, Michigan is also industrially pre-eminent in scores of other ways.

We lead the nation in the production of cereal foods . . . metal-working machinery . . . mobile homes . . . salt . . . sporting goods . . . furniture for public buildings . . . steel springs, window shades . . . and many other products . . . and we are the nation's leading builder of ships and pleasure boats.

Our greatest manufacturing industries are those engaged in production of metal products and machinery . . . processed foods . . . chemicals and allied products . . . printed materials and paper products . . . and, of course, transportation equipment, including boats, buses, trucks, tractors, trailers and automobiles.

From our factories come an amazing variety of more than 2,200 manufactured products, which we can proudly label "Made in Michigan."

We have the world's largest cement plant at Alpena . . . the world's largest concentration of gray-iron foundries at Muskegon . . . the largest forge at Detroit . . . the largest book-paper mill at Kalamazoo . . . the largest horseshoe tannery at Rockford. We have the nation's No. 1 baby foods plant at Fremont . . . the "Magic Capital of the World" at Colon, whose leading industry is the manufacture of magicians' equipment . . . the nation's only wooden shoe factory at Holland . . . the world's largest factory for making billiard table and bowling alley equipment at Muskegon . . . the world's largest pharmaceutical plant at Kalamazoo.

Bay City is rated a major center of the nation's welding machine industry . . . Marquette is the world's chief producer of charcoal briquettes . . . Lansing has been called the nation's production leader in drop forging . . . "E.O.B. Detroit" has become an industrial byword around the world.

Recently our industries have moved into the space age, with production of Jupiter missiles and Redstone missile boosters at Chrysler's Michigan Ordnance plant near Detroit . . . guided missile destroyers by Defoe Shipbuilding Company at Bay City . . . electronic computers by Burroughs Corporation in Detroit . . . avionics equipment by Lear, Inc., in Grand Rapids . . . and missiles, communications satellites and upper space weather recording instruments by Bendix Aviation Corporation in Detroit and Ann Arbor.
