During the last 60 days Michigan Bell Telephone employees, Earl Quackenbush and Lawrence Smith have been busy in our Dexter Exchange adding repeaters or voice amplifiers to the circuits, that go through Dexter and on to Chelsea. 186 of these repeaters were installed. From our tests we find a decided improvement in the quality of these circuits. We trust that if you have had occasion to call long distance recently that you have noticed the improvement.

"ON MY HONOR, I will do my best to do my duty to God and my country." That's the Boy Scout Oath, and over the last fifty years thousands of boys have grown up to become better men because of it. This month, as the Boy Scouts of America celebrate their Golden Jubilee, we at the telephone company salute them. Many of the men and women of Michigan Bell are active scout leaders, and I'm sure that scouting is just as much fun for all of them as it is to the boys themselves! Happy Anniversary, Scouters!

SHHHHHHHHH-H-H-H... Approaching the outskirts of a small town, a motorist stopped to use an outdoor telephone booth. He was startled to read the sign on the door: "Please don't use this phone booth until the eggs are hatched!"

When he peered into the booth, our friend saw two tiny eggs sitting inside a ready-made hummingbird's nest—the coin return slot. With an understanding grin, he returned to his car and drove on to the next telephone booth.

Freedom Township Man Named Jaycees 'Young Farmer of Year'

The NATIONAL OUTLOOK

By RALPH ROBEY

★ Shared Responsibility

Under the Employment Act of 1946 the President is required to make an economic report to the Congress shortly after the first of each year. This report, prepared largely by the Council of Economic Advisers, always reviews the developments of the previous year and indicates what is ahead, and what the government plans to do about it. The council is composed of three members and under it is a small group of research experts. Chairman of the present council is Dr. Raymond J. Saurin.

Just as the State of the Union and the Budget messages, the Economic Report is, by its nature, a political document, and this must be kept in mind in reading and appraising it. However, the report is more nearly a political showcase than a political platform.

In the 1949 report the term "shared responsibility" is used time after time to describe our economic system. It clearly reflects the conviction of the Administration that government cannot, and must not be expected to, carry the full responsibility for our progress and prosperity.

This, obviously, is a sound philosophy and it is regrettable that it did not become controlling long ago. At present, government is spending an incredible amount of the nation's income. The federal budget itself is just short of $50 billion. This does not include the trust funds. When these are added the total is $60 billion. These are expenditures. Total receipts are over $102 billion.

State and local expenditures are about $40 billion. For the nation as a whole, therefore, government at all levels is controlling about $140 billion of spending. Our national income is a shade over $400 billion. This means that federal, state and local government is directing the spending of approximately one-third of our national income.

It is said that nothing can be done about this volume of spending, and there is a large, articulate

A 38-year-old Holstein and quarter-horse breeder, Leonard Burmeister of 5575 Steinbach Rd., Freedom township, was named the Ann Arbor-area "outstanding young farmer of the year" last night.

The award was conferred on Burmeister by the Ann Arbor Junior Chamber of Commerce at a JCC banquet at the Zai Gas Grotto lodge, Ann Arbor.

Burmeister is now a nominee in the State JCC Michigan Farmer of the Year contest, which is to be held March 5 in Tecumseh.

David Dejanovich of Willis, chairman of the night's event, presented the award.

Burmeister operates a 180-acre farm, producing pastureland and hay, while maintaining a herd of 60 registered Holsteins, a commercial flock of 180 ewes and breeding and selling quarter horses sired by Tersor Tony, a horse that has placed second the past two years at the Michigan State Fair.

The Holstein herd Burmeister maintains is on the Herd Improvement Registry Test program supervised by the Michigan State University.

Burmeister maintains the herd for business operations, he breeds Holsteins for herd improvement throughout the state.

Burmeister raises quarter horses, a fast rodeo, and ranch animal for short runs, as a hobby that has been turned into a profitable business.

He was cited for his soil conservation work and as an accomplished machinist.

Burmeister has built at his farm a bale elevator, bale loader, land roller, lime spreader, power take-off post hole digger, improved plows and modified commercial equipment to make it more adaptable.

In addition, he has built a 84x88-foot horse barn using his own timber and a design he created.

Burmeister is a member of the Saline Area Schools' Advisory Board, has been a 4-H Club leader for the past 13 years, is a member of the Washtenaw Farm Bureau, past president of the County Holstein Breeders' Association and member and past president of the Washtenaw Farm Council.

Judges who selected Burmeister from a field of 30 nominees are Charles Almond, Roy Underwood and Richard Sorenson, all members of the JCC farm committee; Robert Hall, manager of the Federal Land Bank; and H. E. Lang, agricultural instructor at Lincoln High school.

group which maintains that government is not spending enough. There is no justification for increasing total spending, and the only significant argument for insisting that the total cannot be reduced is that the public is demanding all the services and preventing activities of government.

We all know that the public is demanding nothing of the kind. Many of the services and activities of government are the result of pressure groups and they can be cut back anytime the public decides that we have gone too far in turning responsibility and functions over to government.

This is one of the reasons why it is so encouraging to have the Economic Report place such emphasis upon "shared responsibility." The drawback is that the budget and proposed program do not follow through on "shared responsibility." Almost every major item in the federal budget shows 1961 spending higher than 1960, and the aggregate increase is $1.4 billion. And President Eisenhower in his letter of transmittal says: "We are confident that our changing and increasing needs in the future can be met."

There is no doubt that we can meet any needs that are necessary, but we can not go ahead increasing the total of government spending in this nation without its having an effect upon other parts of the economy. This effect is likely to be unfavorable.

The time has arrived when we should call a halt to increased spending. It can be done if the public lets the Congress and state and local government units know that it wants and demands a reversal of the current upward trend of spending.

$430,000 Administration, Classroom Building Under Construction by Cleary

Ypsilanti—Gifts ranging from $5 to $47,500 made possible the new administration and classroom building on the new campus being developed by Cleary College, it was revealed by Owen J. Cleary, president of the college of business.

Cleary said the $430,000 building, now under construction, will be completed next September, but that the drive for funds is continuing to raise another $37,500 for equipment.

In addition to gifts of more than $500,000, Cleary revealed that an anonymous benefactor made an interest-free loan of $110,000 of indefinite duration.

Donald M. Silkworth, president of the Silkworth Oil Co. here and chairman of the Board of Trustees of Cleary College, revealed that the gift of $47,500 was made by Cass Hough, president of the Dalseg Air Rifle Co., now located in Arkansas.

Silkworth said this money will be used for a library to be named in memory of Hough's mother.

"The generosity of the friends, alumni and staff of Cleary College has been a remarkable and gratifying experience," Cleary said.

Construction of the three-story building to accommodate 1,000 students started last October. The new 20-acre campus on the west side of Ypsilanti ultimately will include two dormitories, a dining hall, a combined gymnasium and auditorium, and a power plant.

"After contracts for this first main structure had been signed, and the hole was being dug for the foundation, I awoke one night to the realization that we didn't have nearly enough money," Silkworth told faculty members recently at a dinner. "But we have most of it now, I am happy to announce."

Besides the $100,000 loan and the gift from Hough, Silkworth said $125,000 was contributed by Ypsilanti business and professional men; $30,000 by alumni members of the faculty; and $500 by industries of the metropolitan area.

Cleary College will become a hub of a new Ypsilanti educational center. New schools nearby include West Junior High, Brook Elementary, Cornell Elementary and St. John's High of Catholic Diocese.

Safety Is No Accident

With Michigan continuing to rank high on the list in traffic deaths, it is time each of us who drives a motor vehicle takes a solemn oath to do something about it.

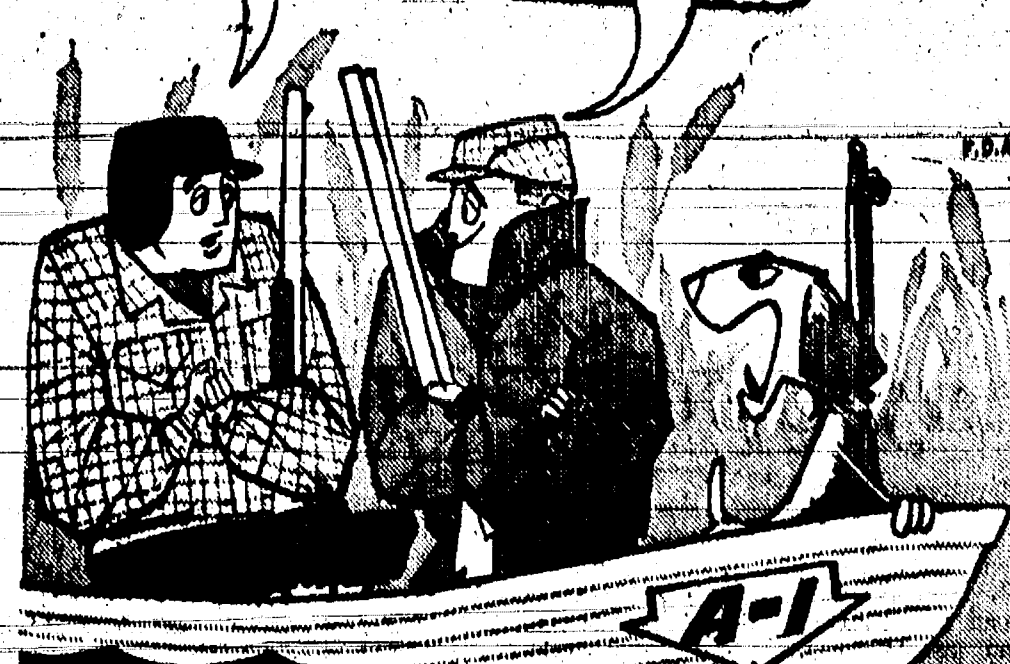

Like the professional truck driver who makes his livelihood piloting a truck or truck-trailer over our streets and highways, we need to know the rules of safe driving and practice them. Safety is no accident—it's planned that way. Obey all traffic laws, be courteous, drive "defensively" (trying to anticipate the other fellow's move), be sure your vehicle is in good mechanical condition. There are other sound rules, but these are four of the most important and if you'll practice them conscientiously you'll help to save a life—and it may be yours!

It's a BADGER—More common than is generally supposed, but seldom seen because of its secretive, primarily nocturnal habits.

badgers rarely are taken by hunters. This one was shot by Richard Knapp of Dexter while he was hunting raccoons at night between Delhi and E. Delhi roads. The heavy, multi-colored fur, wide, flat head and squat, almost pancake-shaped body are badger characteristics. Note the long, heavy claws on the powerful forelegs—a tip-off that the badger is one of nature's best diggers. Given reasonably soft soil, a badger can dig himself underground in a matter of seconds.

schools. The winners will go on to the state contest. Good luck!

Richard Hafstad and Bud Schramm are planning a night meeting for the Hi-Y, which will include some outside entertainment. Membership cards will be given out at this meeting.

Art classes are drawing book-covers and painting them with powder paints. A few of the students are working on murals which are being done in oil paints.

Student Council has again changed its mind about the coat check, and this time assigned it to the Junior class for the remainder of the year.

The Council has invited the student body of the Junior High School to attend coming assemblies, provided they pay half the cost of the assembly. They will attend today's assembly.

Council members Leslie Baxter, Paula Romine, Virginia LeVan, Sherry Frisinger, Pat Carter, and Ed Brown will serve as guides for a Women's Convention to be held April 30 at CHS. The Council also approved Junior plans to serve two dinners on March 19 and April 30.

Future Teachers' Club has appointed committees for various club functions. Charles Cameron was chosen chairman of the social committee, and Marketta Young was chosen chairman of the service committee which will look into ways to serve community, church, home, and self. The membership committee will meet to discuss ways to increase membership. Nancy McCalla was appointed chairman. Nadine Lentz will head the merit committee, and the planning committee appointed Ruth Prentice as their chairman.

Juniors and seniors in PFA are now beginning cadet teaching.

Chorus is preparing for their festival to be held March 24. They will be judged by college professors and will receive a rating as to quality of the choir. "Gloria" from the 12th mass by Mozart and "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," by Bach, are numbers included.

The festival will be held at Eastern Michigan University. Students will lunch at the Men's Union and the choir will perform at the University auditorium.

Freshmen decided to have a Freshman-Sophomore dance on March 18. Refreshments are in charge of Barbara Wenk. Dad Holmes will head clean-up. Chairman of advertising for the dance is Sandy Shavard. Judy Harnatt and Loretta Wahl are in charge of coat check.

Pat Carter reported the money-making projects currently planned are a bake sale, and a dance.

Mrs. LaGoe's sixth hour freshman English class presented a 17-minute play before other freshmen English classes and speech class. The play within a play from "Midsummer Night's Dream" featured Diane Edwards as Theseus, Susan O'Neill as Hippolyta, Rayma Smith as Pyramus, Cecanna McCarthy as Thisbe, and several others took part. All contributed to the humor of the play.

'Ran-Off-Road' Accidents Show Greatest Increase

Are you a "bum" behind the wheel of your car?

That's the question Michigan police officials would like every driver to answer for himself. Traffic "bums" are the problem drivers currently emphasized in the Unwanted Driver posters distributed throughout the state by the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police. The poster calls this driver a "Two-Lane Tramp" because he wanders from lane to lane unnecessarily; straddles the centerline; drives in the wrong lane and is often involved in collisions by being on the wrong side of the road.

The Two-Lane Tramp is also involved in the one-car, ran-off-roadway accident.

Such ran-off-roadway accidents are the second greatest cause of traffic casualties in Michigan's rural areas, accounting for almost 80 per cent of the rural deaths and 25 per cent of the rural injuries. Ran-off-roadway accidents have also been increasing more than other types in recent years. Between 1948 and 1957, according to a study made by the Michigan state police, deaths from rural ran-off-roadway accidents increased 52 per cent, while deaths from collisions between vehicles increased only 11 per cent. The study found that the driver is most to blame for such ran-off-roadway accidents and that primary causes include driving too fast, poor conditions, inattention, fatigue, a high incidence of alcohol influence, and failure to take proper account of reduced visibility at night.

These are the same factors which made "bums" out of the best drivers, police officials point out.

Other elements of ran-off-roadway accidents revealed by the state police study showed that the greatest number occurred on straight roads and more than half happened during hours of dusk, dawn and darkness (with 20 per cent occurring from midnight to 3 a.m. when traffic is less than five per cent of the daily volume.) Drivers under 35 years of age accounted for one out of three ran-off-roadway accidents on state highways and one out of two on other rural roads.

The most common violations reported in ran-off-roadway accidents were "speed too fast for conditions" (97.6 per cent) and driving "under the influence of alcohol" (8.1 per cent). Young drivers, under 24, had the highest percentage of speed too fast violations, while drivers over 25 had the highest for driving under the influence.

All these factors indicate that most ran-off-roadway accidents are completely avoidable if drivers will stop being "bums" behind the wheel and exercise a little common sense and caution.

The police point out that a traffic "bum" is like any other vagrant. The basic characteristic is irresponsibility. Where the vagrant thinks the world owes him a living, the traffic bum depends on the road, his car, or other drivers to keep him alive.

Speed, inattention, fatigue, drinking and darkness are the factors which cause most of the ran-off-roadway accidents. They are factors which any responsible driver can eliminate, or compensate for on any kind of road. Driving conditions are never perfect. The responsible driver recognizes this and drives accordingly, the traffic bum ignores everything.

The traffic vagrancy epitomized by the Two-Lane Tramp cost Michigan citizens an estimated loss of $24 million in accidents last year.

Irish Exchange Teacher Talks To Kiwanians

Robert Foster was in charge of the program for the Kiwanis club meeting Monday evening and had asked Jack Winans to secure a speaker. Winans brought to the meeting a fellow teacher at Ann Arbor's Tappan Junior High School, Joseph Montgomery of Belfast, Ireland.

Montgomery is in the United States as an exchange teacher and has gained considerable recognition in the county because of his method of teaching physical education. During his talk at the Kiwanis club he drew comparisons between the educational systems of the United States and his native Northern Ireland. He also gave a brief resume of the background of Irish history.

While he intimated that he believes American boys are not physically as fit as they ought to be, he was constructive in his criticism.

Montgomery's method of concentrating on teaching skills instead of merely playing games shows the basic difference between American physical education programs and those of Ireland. He said he advocates team play rather than "star of the team" attitudes.

He said physical education is a very important part of the curriculum in Ireland and all instructors are required to be able to teach it.

Kiwanians, commenting on Montgomery's talk, said it was exceptionally interesting and informative. He will leave Tappan school in June to return to Ireland.

Wars develop whenever any one nation gets the idea that it can do something which it cannot do. About half of the ills that afflict the human body originate in a pampered mind.

K. of C. Plans Annual Dinner for St. Patrick's Day

At the Feb. 28 meeting of the Chelsea Knights of Columbus, conducted by Grand Knight Henry Orling, plans were completed for the annual St. Patrick's dinner at St. Mary's school hall. The affair, customarily held the Sunday before St. Patrick's day has been changed this year to the Sunday following, March 20.

Dennis Murphy was named general chairman of the affair.

Following the meeting a lunch was served and John Ford entertained members by showing slide pictures.

Knights of Columbus have planned a pre-Lenten party for members and their wives and other guests at the hall Saturday evening, Feb. 27, beginning at 8 p.m. There will be dancing and other entertainment and Edward Honick will show hunting and fishing slide pictures.

Members are being asked to bring a dish to pass.

The next regular meeting of the Knights of Columbus is scheduled for March 8.

Washtenaw MSU Alumni Club Formed

Alumni of Michigan State University met recently in Ann Arbor to organize a County MSU Alumni club. According to latest records there are 668 MSU Spartans residing in Washtenaw county.

Don Mason, Assistant Director of Alumni Relations, was the guest speaker. He outlined the need for such an organization as an opportunity for alumni to keep abreast with the developments of the University. Such an organization provides an opportunity for individuals to support the aims and goals of the University.

The club will be under the leadership of Robert Case, president; William Richardson, vice-president; Mrs. William Richardson, secretary; Mrs. Duane Lightner, treasurer; and Duane Lightner, financial and legal advisor. Other members of the Board of Directors are Fred Arnold, Wayne Abbott, Lloyd Burkholder, Jack Sweet, Richard Feight and Don Johnson.

Michigan is blessed with a fabulous supply of salt... estimated by one geologist at 71 trillion tons!

We are, of course, the No. 1 producer of salt in the United States, and geologists say we have at least 26 per cent of the nation's total salt deposits.

One of our salt companies digs rock salt from an underground bed. Four others recover salt by evaporation from natural and artificial brines pumped from subterranean wells.

We produce table salt and rock salt and a variety of 100 chemical salts which place us among the nation's top producers of pharmaceutical products... and the country's foremost source of aspirin.

Our only underground salt mine is 1,187 feet below the southwestern section of Detroit. Owned and operated by the International Salt Company, its 60 miles of tunnels contain the entire population of Detroit.

Evaporated salt for table and other uses is produced from brine wells at St. Clair, Marysville, St. Louis and Manisteg. Chemical companies also produce salt and natural brine for their plant operations at Midland, Ludington, Montague, Detroit, Flier City, East Lake, Manisteg, Stokoe, St. Louis and Wyandotte.

Despite their vast production and consumption of salt, these industries have merely nibbled at the surface of what lies below. The dry-up of a great salt sea millions of years ago... later covered over by the Michigan glaciers... left a huge saucer-shaped deposit of salt below the surface of all but 11 of the 68 counties in the lower peninsula, one of the largest basins of salt deposits anywhere in the world. In places the salt is 500 feet thick, lying a mile below the surface.

We produce well over 5,000,000 tons of salt a year... double the output of any other state... and nearly 25 per cent of the national total. And except for a very few years we have produced more salt than any other state as far back as 1880.

Value of Michigan's annual salt production runs over $41 million. We are 12th among the states in the value of all our mineral production.

In their order of production value, our chief mineral products are iron ore, cement, salt, natural salines, sand and gravel, copper, petroleum, stone, clay products, gypsum, natural gas.

3½-Year-Old Boy Catches
Prize Trout

Jimmie Barkley, 3½-year-old grandson of Mrs. Blanche Barkley, has received wide publicity in hunting and fishing news since the week-end of Feb. 13 when he caught a 22-inch rainbow trout while ice-fishing on Portage Lake with his father, James H. Barkley. The fish weighed 4½ pounds and is believed to be the contender for the honor of being the biggest trout caught in an area trout lake in the past several years.

Jimmie's father, a former Chelsea resident, commented that he'd been fishing for the past 20 years but it took his young son just 20 minutes to "show him up."

The catch is the more remarkable since few rainbow trout have been caught in the area since the sport of fishing through the ice for rainbows became legal Jan. 1. The youngster was using a 58-cent pole purchased for the occasion. It was baited with wood grubs in hopes of catching pan fish.

When the bite came, soon after the line was lowered into the hole in the ice, Jimmie had tugged the big fish half way out of the hole before his father came to his assistance.

The Barkleys live at 8954 Orchard Lane, Portage Lake.

Emotions are valuable, but civilization teaches self-control.

State Police Note Advances
In Summary of 1959 Activity

Michigan lost its goal to reduce traffic fatalities 10 per cent for the fourth consecutive year.

A state trooper was kidnapped and murdered while investigating a crime. At least 818 persons drowned in 446 water accidents, and a new Michigan law enforcement blockade system went into effect. These are some of the major happenings in 1959, reported by the state police in their annual year-end activities summary.

It was feared that projected figures would show that about 1,450 persons were killed in traffic, 75 more than the 1,375 who died in 1958, an increase of five per cent. Final figures will be available at the end of January.

Even with a five per cent increase, however, the state had the same death rate of 4.6 per 100 million miles of travel as the previous year, which was the lowest on record.

The gain in deaths was attributed to increased accident exposure with more cars, drivers and miles of travel on the road due to the upswing in the business economy which started early in the year.

Projected figures also show 64,600 persons injured in 1959, 600 persons injured in 1958, 600 persons injured in 1957, 600 persons injured in 1956, 600 persons injured in 1955, 600 persons injured in ### Sgt. William Schrader Graduates from Army Cold Weather School

Fort Greely, Alaska—Sgt. William D. Schrader, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Schrader, 1250 Wilkinson St., Chelsea, Mich., was graduated from the Cold Weather and Mountain School, Feb. 6 at Fort Greely, Alaska, the Army's northernmost fort.

Sergeant Schrader received three weeks of training in the techniques of cold weather operations and winter mountain warfare. Temperatures at Fort Greely range from 90 degrees above zero in the summer to 65 degrees below in the winter.

Schrader, a platoon sergeant in Company D of the 187th Infantry at Fort Bragg, N. C., entered the Army in 1948.

He attended Chelsea High School.

Richard Schittenhelm Participates in Winter Army Maneuvers

Furth, Germany—Army Specialist Four Richard C. Schittenhelm, 28, son of Mrs. Herman Aschell, Route 3, Grass Lake, Mich., participated with other personnel from the 4th Armored Division in Exercise Winter Shield at the Grafenwohr-Hohenfels training area in southern Germany Feb. 1-7.

Winter Shield, an annual Seventh Army winter maneuver, involved 60,000 troops.

Specialist Schittenhelm, a mechanic in Company C of the division's 67th Armor in Furth, entered the Army in September 1958, completed basic training at Fort Hood, Tex., and arrived overseas last May.

He is a 1951 graduate of Grass Lake High School. His wife, Gayle, is with him in Germany.

MORE ON CIVIL RIGHTS

A House Republican leader has gone on record as saying he saw no need for extraordinary tactics to get a civil rights bill to the floor.

Representative John W. Byrne of Wisconsin, chairman of the Republican Policy Committee, said he was "confident that there will be civil rights legislation this session." He held there was no reason to rush into special tactics.

Stanley Beal Attends IH Service School

Stanley Beal of Chelsea Implement Co. has recently returned from Lansing, where he spent three days attending a special International Harvester service school.

The service school was presented by the service division of the International Harvester district office in Lansing. Specific subjects covered during the three days were engine service, diesel fuel systems, and differential and final drives. Actual work on these three subjects was performed, plus information and instruction was presented on the newest in service and testing equipment.

Polly Bergen Will Be Hostess On Bell TV Show

Polly Bergen will be both hostess and singing star on the Bell Telephone Hour over NBC-TV at 8:30 p.m. (EST) Friday (Feb. 26) in a full-hour program called "The Music Makers."

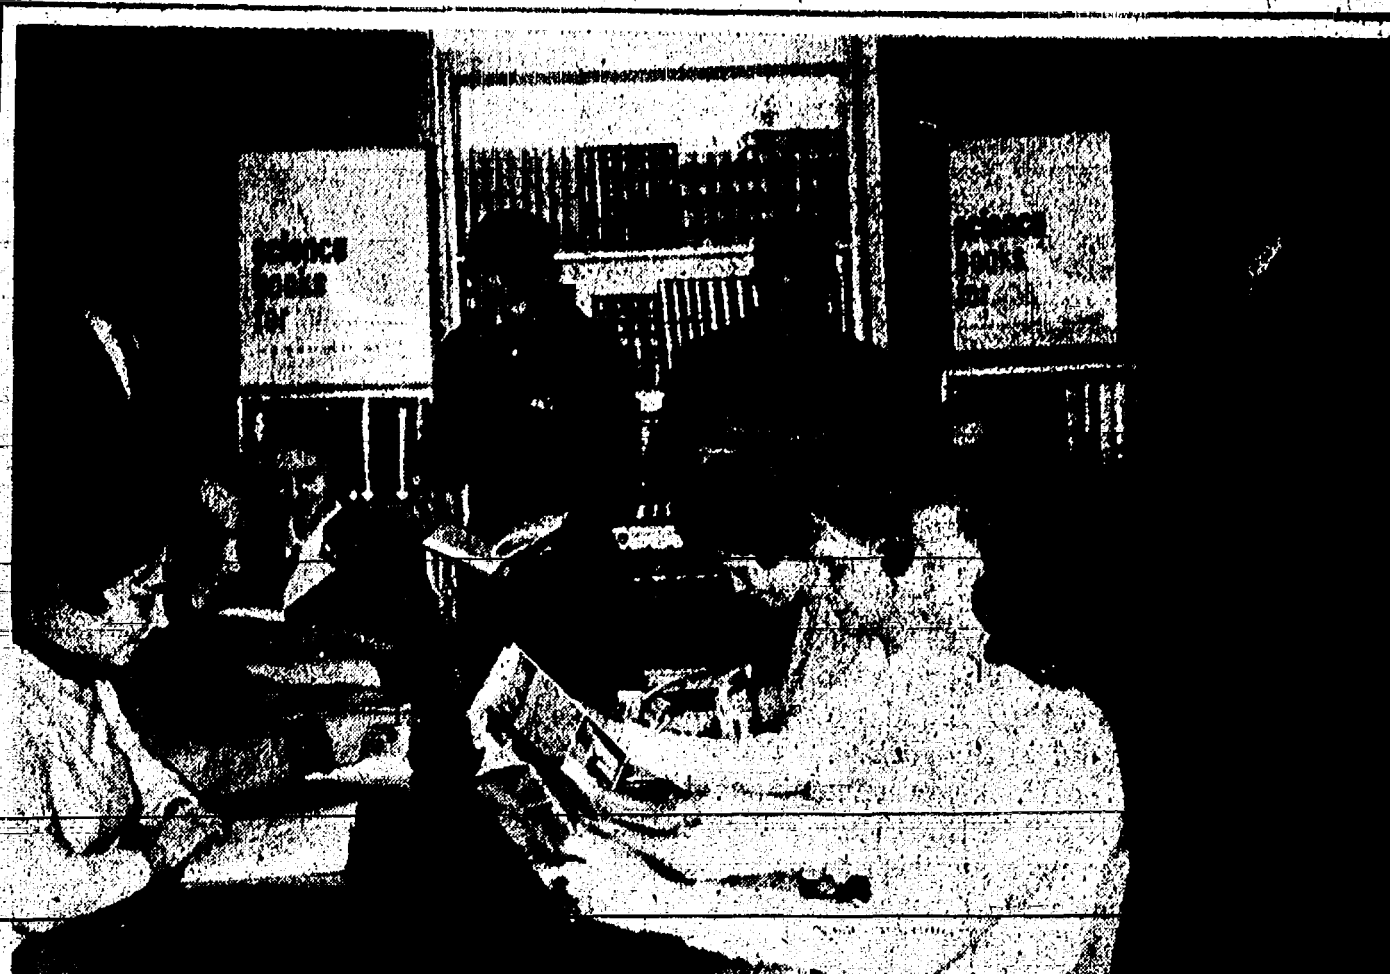

Musical stars joining Polly on the program include John Raitt, Barbara Cook and the Buffalo Bills, piano prodigy Lorin Hollander, the Dukes of Dixieland, and the Bob Hamilton Dance Trio. Donald Voorhees and the Bell Telephone Orchestra will provide accompaniment.

Miss Bergen, a TV star as a singer, dramatic actress, commentator and panelist, will present her own style of music making. She also will explain the musical art of the other stars in her introductions.

Raitt, who has been a top star of stage, screen and TV since his role in "Carousel," will sing a group of Rodgers and Hammerstein favorites. He and Polly also will sing duets from "Show Boat."

Miss Cook and the Buffalo Bills, show crooners in "The Music Man," will sing "Lida Rose" from that musical. They'll also demonstrate the art of "harbor shop" harmony.

Hollander, the 15-year-old piano virtuoso, will play an excerpt from a classical piano concerto, accompanied by Voorhees and the orchestra. The Dukes of Dixieland, who hail from the cradle of jazz, New Orleans—will present selected jazz classics. The Bob Hamilton Dance Trio will show how artists "make music with their feet" in a presentation especially created for the program.

Traveling Science Library Popular With CHS Students

Chelsea High school is one of a number of rural area schools which were selected to participate in a program known as the "High School Traveling Science Library." From time to time shipments of a number of volumes are sent here until a new supply is delivered.

The High School Traveling Science Library is a mobile collection of 200 books chosen primarily for the academically talented student in high school who has the interest and initiative to go beyond his routine textbook assignments.

Titles cover a broad range of subject matter in the major disciplines and indicate the practical application of the sciences and mathematics to research, to the professions, and to industry. A few of the titles are advanced and will provide an incentive to the gifted student.

Books in the second shipment read by Chelsea students included "Deserts On The March," Paul B. Sears; "Up From The Ape," Ernest Albert Hooton; "200 Miles Up," J. Gordon Veach; "Cells and Societies," John Tyler Bowers; "Evolution, Genetics, and Man," Theodosius Dobzhansky; "The Web of Life," A. First Book Of Ecology, John H. Storer; "Six Wings," "Men of Science in the Renaissance," George Santana; "Mammals and Mastodons," Richard Carrington; "The Forseeable Future," Sir George Thompson; "Electronics for Everyone," Monroe Upton; "Electrons, Waves and Messages," John R. Pierce; "Rays," Fred Reinfeld; "Wildlife Managements," Ira N. Gabrielson; "Water," Thomson King; "The World of Plant Life," Clarence J. Hylander; "The Space Encyclopedia," M. T. Bizony; "On the Track of Unknown Animals," Bernard Heuvelmans; "The Astronomer's Universe," by Bart B. Bok.

Others are "Countdown to Tomorrow," Martin Caidin; "Travels and Traditions of Waterfowl," H. A. Hoehbaum; "The Darwin Reader," Marston Bates; "The Machine ery of the Body," Anton J. Carlson; "The Science Book of the Human Body," Edith E. Sproul; "Man, the Chemical Machine," Ernest Borek; "Man Against Germs," A. L. Baron; "Sun, Sea and Sky," Irving P. Krick; "The Wonder of Snow," Corydon Bell; "Great Experiments in Psychology," Henry E. Garrett; "The New You and Heredity," A. M. R. Schinfeld; "Albert Einstein," Leopold Infeld; "One, Two, Three . . . Infinity," George Gamow; "Around the World in 90 Minutes," David O. Woodbury; "Great Adventures in Science," Helen Wright; "Scientific American Reader," "Men of Science in America," Bernard Jaffe; "History of Science and its Relations with Philosophy and Religion," Sir William Dampier; "Kon-Fiki," Thor Heyerdahl; "Celebrated American Caves," Charles E. Mohr; and "New Horizons in Color," Faber Birres.

These are the subjects covered by books read by high school students here: agriculture, conservation, anthropology, aeronautics, biology, history of science, paleontology, mythology, natural history, science in general, engineering, physics, atomic science, botany, astronomy, rockets, missiles, zoology, satellites, biometrics, physiology, anatomy, medicine, microbiology, meteorology, psychology, mathematics, biography, space flight, exploration, geology, and architecture.

Most popular books are "The Science Book of the Human Body," "Scientific American Reader," "Electronics for Everyone," "The Machinery of the Body," and "One, Two, Three . . . Infinity."

One ninth-grade girl read four books in this collection and one ninth-grade boy read three books. "Boys and girls who choose good books when they are available" says Miss Joan Wiese, school librarian. "For proof," she said, one need only look over the titles of the books read by students in the senior high school. These science books are displayed in special racks. Students are browsing during all hours of study hall.

Although the books are primarily for high school students, adults who wish to borrow any of the books may do so. Adults may come in to the high school library to get the book or may call Miss Wiese to have the book sent out.

Max Roedels Now Own 173-Acre Mystery Farm on Grass Lake Road

Mrs. Max Roedel and her family have purchased the 173-acre Mystery Farm No. 86, which was owned by the late Max Roedel. The farm is located on Grass Lake road, approximately 4 1/2 miles from Chelsea-Manchester road. The Roedels have owned the farm since 1945.

Max is a native of Chelsea and graduated from Chelsea High School. Later, he became a pharmacist and for a number of years he operated his own business in Detroit. However, he said, he never had a desire to live in the city.

He operates the 173 acres of land as a dairy farm and customarily keeps about 24 registered Jersey cows. The farm has modern equipment enabling him to operate with a minimum of hired help.

He is affiliated with the Washtenaw county and Michigan state Jersey Cattle clubs.

The setting of the Roedel home is exceptionally attractive, with the lawn and trees which appear in the photograph and other features which do not show, such as two artificial ponds at one side of the house where Mrs. Roedel cultivates many beautiful pond lilies.

The Roedels found when they purchased the farm that the house needed very little modernizing or improvement since the previous owner, William Alber, had already improved the property during the 36 years he had owned it.

Alber bought the place as a tenant house in 1909 and later moved there, himself.

Prior to the Civil War and until about 1974, William Behee owned the farm.

A. P. Burtch was the next owner, retaining ownership until Alber bought it in 1909.

The men at Blass Elevator were the first to call The Standard.

Nation Presently in Great Need of Drastic Reform in Fiscal Policies

Looking back over the past decade—the fifties—most economists are coming up with some interesting facts. Among other things, they found we spent more money in the fifties than we did in the forties.

The fact that the U. S. government spent more money in the fifties than it did in the 1940's, which included all of World War II, came as a surprise to us.

Moreover, the national debt was increased considerably in the period, until in 1959 it was about to top $290,000,000,000.

And while there is again talk, in this election year, of having a nicely balanced budget next year, and putting some money into a reduction of the national debt, such double talk is often heard in election years. Seldom is this done, and even though the Eisenhower administration was elected partly on an economic and sound fiscal policy platform, last year's budget featured a whopping $12,000,000,000 deficit. Present forecasts are for a slight surplus in this year's budget which may amount to about $200,000,000.

While 1960 is expected to be a prosperous year, no one can hide the fact that the inflationary spiral in the past decade has wiped out savings or reduced them seriously for millions of Americans. No one can hide the fact that our dollar has become worth less and less. And no one can hide the fact that the drain on our dollar reserves has begun, and has sucked some $4,000,000,000 out of the country in recent years.

Every American should impress upon his elected representatives in the Senate and House the seriousness with which he views our extravagance and waste. Unless great numbers of Americans, acting jointly, exert a restraining influence on government, the country's security and financial stability is seriously threatened by a continuation of the fiscal policies of the past decade.

Lesun in Sailsman'ship...

Perhaps the educators among those who read the following letter won't appreciate the humor fully, but we think it worth a few laughs. It concerns a letter written by a hard-working salesman and first appeared in the employee publication of the Wellman Bronze & Aluminum Co. of Cleveland.

"Dear Boss: I seen this outfit which they ain't never bought a dime's worth of nothing from us and I sole them a couple hundred thousand dollars worth of goods. I am now going to Chawgo."

Two days later a second letter arrived at the home office: "I cum hear and I sole them half a millyon," it said.

Both letters were posted on the bulletin board with a note written by the company president:

"We bin spendin to much time hear tryin to spel, insted of tryin to sel. Let's watch thosesails. I want everyboddy shud read these letters from Gooch who is on the rode doin a grate job for us, and you shuld go out and do like he does."

Weights and Measures Bureau Finds Well Pipe Misrepresented

The Washtenaw County Bureau of Weights and Measures was alerted this week by a county well-fitter who discovered that well casing pipe he had purchased was improperly marked as to weight.

Marked as weighing 11 pounds per foot, the pipe actually weighed only 10 pounds per foot. The one pound of difference makes the pipe 40 thousandths of an inch thinner than the 11-pound casing.

The office of the Bureau of Weights and Measures alerts people of the county so they may be on the look-out if they are contemplating having a new well drilled. The lighter weight pipe could result in costly replacements.

Because the pipe comes from a manufacturer in Missouri, the matter of its false representation is being taken up with Federal government agencies.

In the meantime, people of the county are being advised to check and make certain that any well casing pipes they may have need are of the proper size and weight.

★ MICHIGAN MIRROR ★

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

A pressing problem facing Michigan lawmakers this year is the search for means of stemming the tide of juvenile delinquency.

Juvenile delinquency affects less than 3 per cent of school-age youngsters, yet it constitutes a major factor in the eventual total cost of crime.

The Legislature recognized this problem two years ago and set up a study committee, headed by Rep. Harry DeMasco (R-Battle Creek), to study it.

Drastic measures, at least for those involved, were proposed in a bill from by DeMasco's committee. A state-wide curfew proposal would set 10 p.m. as deadline for children under 12 and midnight for those under 18.

One proposal called "revolutionary" by DeMasco would provide up to 200 fine for parents violating probation court orders on child supervision.

Conservation camps for youthful offenders and a juvenile delinquency study center also were proposed.

A "shock attack" approach to the juvenile delinquency problem is gaining support.

Perhaps the most startling approach has been the sentencing practices of Calhoun Circuit Judge Alfonso A. Magnotta, who has put youthful offenders in solitary confinement on meager diets of bread, milk, water and vitamin pills.

A church group asked the state Supreme Court to investigate Magnotta's practice. The court refused.

Justice George Edwards let it be known several weeks later he didn't think much of Magnotta's approach. He said he considered such practices to be in violation of state law, public policy and judicial ethics.

"The restricted diet provision is neither original nor novel," said Edwards. "In varying forms it has been used in the history of punishment for centuries. In most civilized countries it has been abandoned simply because... experiences showed that it did not work."

Edwards is of the school that says social revenge and harsh punishment rarely help.

Sometimes, either to one extreme or to the middle, there may be an answer to juvenile problems. Michigan is a leader in the search.

An Exodus of aides from Governor Williams' camp early this year just about cleared out the original crowd around the Governor when he first took office.

In a brief period it was announced that Paul Weber, Williams' press secretary, was going to work for the Civil Service Commission; legal aide Alfred B. Pitt was going to work for a U. S. Senate subcommittee; and administrative aide William Montag was going to the faculty of Pennsylvania State College.

Weber was the only male old-timer left. Pretty Julie Lawler, Williams' personal secretary, and other secretaries on the original staff remained.

A clue that Williams would not seek re-election was seen by many in the staff exists, but few were willing to bet on it.

Weber insists the Governor's decision was not known at the time his aides made their decisions.

Weber said Montag wanted to return to the campus life. Pitt wanted to broaden his experience as a lawyer, "and I want to make a buck."

A former governor's son is making a bigger than usual splash in his maiden plunge into politics. Although a newcomer, Sen. John Fitzgerald (R-Grand Ledge) is considered to be in the "inner" circle of that exclusive club, the State Senate.

He is sponsor of the resolution that will, if given a two-thirds vote in the Legislature, put a sales tax bike proposal on the Nov. 8 ballot.

Capitol veterans say John has the same mannerisms of his father, the late Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald.

His grandfather, after whom he was named, was a member of the House of Representatives just before the turn of the century.

Before he was elected to the Senate in 1953, Fitzgerald was legal adviser to the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Like most GOP senators, Fitzgerald is often critical of the liberal leadership of the Republican State Central Committee.

When the committee adopted a resolution favoring calling of a constitutional convention, Fitzgerald said he feared it was trying to "ram" something down the throat of the voter.

However, he has been more prone to compromise than many senate Republicans.

After a few years of seasoning, it could be that John Fitzgerald may try to follow in his father's footsteps.

Chrysler Exec. Cites Need for Tax Reform

Two developments last week, one of them ignored by the daily newspapers, emphasized the extent of the revolution underway in Michigan.

The first was a secret meeting of the Democratic members of the boards that control the three state universities and five colleges, with all Republican members of these boards excluded.

And then came the frank warning by a spokesman for the Chrysler Corp. that Chrysler may not remain in this state.

The warning was publicized in narrowing headlines by many of the newspapers that ridiculed and sneered at Republican state senators through most of 1954 for their unyielding stand against new corporation taxes.

When the GOP senators pleaded for support on grounds that they were fighting to prevent an industrial catastrophe in Michigan, they were called nincompoops. Yet they stood firmly against pressure from all sides, even from some of the leaders of their own party.

No one seemed to care when they pointed out that the Ford Motor Co. was building new plants in Ohio and would make all of its compact cars—and a big percentage of larger cars—outside the so-called automobile state.

They were derided when they produced figures showing how the Big Three were expanding rapidly in neighboring states, with a consequent loss to Michigan of feeder industries.

The automobile companies hesitated to reveal details because, at the start of the exodus, they were accused of "amazing" Michigan whenever they attempted to tell the truth.

But William C. Newberg, executive vice-president of Chrysler, abandoned all defensive double talk last week when he told the suburban Rotary Clubs of Detroit that his company will not quarantine to stay in Michigan.

Newberg said with emphasis: "Chrysler's future here is going to be determined in part by the kind of business climate that metropolitan Detroit and the State of Michigan provide."

"Tax reform is essential to the growth and well-being of this state. There is plenty of evidence that our present tax system is in serious need of legislative correction."

Newberg's warning should clear the air and silence the glib critics of Republican legislators, particularly those critics who have been calling the lawmakers "clowns" because they refused to swallow a tax program written for the segment of the Democratic party at Solidarity House.

Every voter who loves Michigan must realize at last that the state's distressing economic ills will not be improved if Democrats succeed this year in winning control of both branches of the legislature.

The UAW, holding tight control on the Democratic party, has published its legislative program based upon a radical shift of more taxes to industry. That program would be enacted without delay.

If Democrats win control of the House, and Republicans remain in power in the senate, the health of the state will continue to decline because of an impossible tax situation.

Guy Nunn, radio and TV former hired by the UAW, the air every day blasting the state and sneering at Republican legislators. For the union doesn't believe automobiles are made anywhere, and the 800 workers still will be paid $80,000,000 a year to build House, whether their jobs are in Ohio, Missouri or elsewhere.

Should that development alarm every father, mother in Michigan, consider the locked doors at Kalamazoo on the campus of Michigan State University.

For the first time in the four years that control of universities and colleges has been restricted to members affiliated with a particular party.

Therefore, the members of these boards shunned politics or taking office. They were together, with mutual respect, in the halls of the university college, not alone.

But Democrats now control these boards.

They did not even invite the public members to sit down with them at this joint session. The new dictatorship of the UAW, holding tight control on the Democratic party, has published its legislative program based upon a radical shift of more taxes to industry. That program would be enacted without delay.

Five Major Bills Reported from Committee

Lansing—Encouraging signs came from the state legislature last week when five bills cleared their first hurdle when they were reported from committees. These five measures are among the 20 points I recommended to the legislature in my message opening the 1955 session.

This is a real accomplishment. It shows a sincerity of purpose and a real spirit of co-operation. At this time, I wish to express my appreciation to the Democrats who sponsored the bills, and to the Republican Representatives on the committees who put the interest of all the people first to place them before the House of Representatives where an early vote is expected.

The Agriculture Committee reported out the Seal of Quality bill which has the endorsement of all major farm organizations. This bill, if passed by the Senate, would provide for affixing a Seal of Quality to Michigan agricultural products which meet required standards of quality, size and condition.

In the field of public health, the committee on Public Health reported one bill which would require inoculation against polio of all children entering school for the first time. Another bill reported by the same committee seeks to prevent air pollution.

The advances made against polio and its crippling effects encourage us to continue our efforts against this dread disease. With vaccine now available, it is important that we do all possible to protect our children. It is made for those with no convictions against inoculation.

The State Affairs Committee has under consideration 29 recommendations in my message. Last week this committee reported out two bills: one on the creation of a Commission on Aging, and the other for a Small Business Division in the Economic Development Department. Both of these are important.

The Commission on Aging encourages local programs to our senior citizens. This commission would provide a focal for the coordination of all ties in this field, and would provide the facility for a strong, adequate and humane program of the aging and bring wider recognition of the problems continually increasing group aging.

Small business is one of the important phases of our economy. More than 100,000 our business firms employ

Michigan agricultural products are among the nation's best. Official recognition of this quality would place them on an equally competitive basis with products of other states.

The bill reported out by the committee is the same as one which was approved by the House of Representatives by a vote of 88 to 11 in 1953, but which died in a Senate committee. An identical bill was introduced last year, but failed to get out of the House committee.

If you think we're enthusiastic about Corvair, leaf through the leading automotive, sports and science magazines and see what the experts are saying. Then, by all means, drive one yourself.

"Corvair's steering is so light that at parking speeds it feels power assisted; it is so precise as to be absolutely without play, and it is fast enough to allow complete control over every situation."

—L. H. Houck, Automotive News

"So far as shopping goes, the Corvair is a housewife's dream. It's small and easily maneuvered without any power steering, and so easily parked... it's a lot easier to unload a cart full of groceries into a front trunk at the supermarket than it is into a rear one."

—Rosemary Francis, Popular Science

"Most surprising thing to me outside of the excellent handling characteristics was the feeling of roominess inside... I didn't have the sensation of driving a small car and the headroom was greater."

Bishop Emrich Will Visit St. Barnabas Next Sunday

A special service of worship has been scheduled for 9 p.m., Sunday, Feb. 28, at Saint Barnabas' Episcopal Church, Old US-12 at the Fairgrounds.

This service will mark the occasion of the annual visit of the Bishop of the Diocese of Michigan to the Chelsea Mission. The Bishop, the Right Reverend Richard S. Emrich, is required by canon law to visit each parish and mission under his spiritual care at least once each year to offer his care and concern, and to inspect the official records of the church.

Bishop Emrich, who has served as diocesan bishop since 1948, came to Michigan as suffragan bishop in 1946 after serving for 10 years as instructor, assistant professor and professor at the Episcopal Theological School at Cambridge, Mass.

During that time he also served as rector of churches in Massachusetts.

He has lectured and preached throughout Michigan and the nation and is the author of numerous articles and pamphlets. He writes regularly on religious subjects for a Detroit newspaper.

He was born in Mardin, Turkey in 1910, of missionary parents. Following graduation from Phillips Andover Academy, he attended Brown University, the Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge, Mass., and Union Theological Seminary in New York City. He then went to Germany and studied at the University of Marburg, receiving the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. In recent years he has several times received honorary degrees from American and Canadian Universities, and in 1958 was made an Honorary Commander of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire by Queen Elizabeth II.

Bishop Emrich is a member of the National Council of the Episcopal Church.

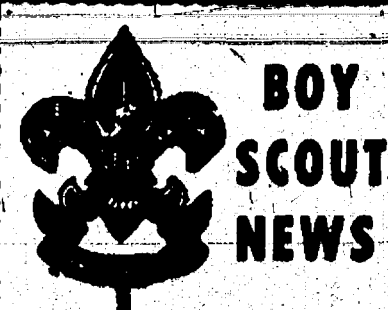

He also is a member of the Southeast Michigan Metropolitan Community Research Corp., and is active in community services in the Detroit area.

The Sunday evening service at Saint Barnabas church will include the order of baptism for David Edwards II, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Edwards, 13021 Old US-12. Mrs. Edwards herself was only recently welcomed into the Episcopal church.

Of special significance to the community is the building program which Saint Barnabas church recently began. Bishop Emrich is expected to speak to the congregation after the service about the needs and opportunities.

TROOP 76
At the meeting of Boy Scout Troop 76 Feb. 18, Scouts decided to have a camp-out at Burns Lodge on Feb. 27.

Later in the meeting patrols broke up into corners and discussed what new neckerchiefs they want. The decision was that they would have green ones.

So far there are three or four new members of the troop.

It was decided that if the Scouts go on a winter camp-out only the First Class Scouts may go.

Scolding Squirrel Leads Hermit Life, Says U-M Prof.

Ann Arbor—In spite of being the neighborhood "scold" or maybe because of it—the fox squirrel lives all alone in his leaf-nest, a large part of the year, says George Hunt, University of Michigan assistant professor of wildlife management.

"Built in summer, the squirrel nests—or drays—are apparently for loafing and sunning purposes mainly, and the animal keeps to himself," Hunt says. "But in winter, four or five squirrels may stay in a hollow tree for warmth, being careful to keep back from growing over the tree opening. Squirrels den and bring forth their young in hollow trees."

The male generally stays with the female for rather a short period of time during breeding. As soon as the young are about to be born, the female drives the male away, Hunt says.

"The fox squirrel has two periods of breeding during the year—one in December or January, the other in May or June," he points out. "Generally they have their litters in March and July. About three squirrels are born in a litter. Naked and blind, they require a fairly long time of parental care. The young stay with the female for about three months."

"Squirrels live only about a year or a year and a half. Occasionally there's a tough old individual—some people swear there are lots of them—who will live ten years."

The fox squirrel is named for his reddish color, although the upper parts are mixed with grey and the under-parts are almost orange. The bushy tail serves as a balancing appendage for the animal in his leaps from tree to tree.

"The fox squirrel, although arboreal, spends many daylight hours on the ground searching for food," Hunt says. "It's more apt to be found on open woodlands than are some of our other tree squirrels such as the grey squirrel, which is more commonly found in brushy woodland."

"Before the white man cut the timber, the fox squirrel was plentiful only in the southwest part of the state. Now it is found all over the Lower Peninsula."

"Vegetarian animals with a strong preference for nuts, squirrels seldom cache a large quantity of food in one spot. Almost always food items are buried individually and in scattered locations. The squirrel depends on his sense of smell to remind him where he buried choice nuts. Many are overlooked and grow up to be fine nut trees."

Science Library . . .

"It is a privilege to have been selected to be on the list of rural schools to receive the titles of the Travelling Science Library from time to time. Any or all of these titles would be highly desirable permanent acquisitions to the high school library in Chelsea," Miss Wiese concluded.

Instructors in science subjects at Chelsea High School, all of whom have their students use the books in the traveling science library to augment their own textbooks, include John McGill, Richard Rogers, Stephen Hayden, Jack Musser, Wesley Cowell and William Hunter.

ATOM ROCKET DELAYED

Development of a nuclear-powered space rocket would be delayed at least a year by budget cuts imposed by the Administration.

This estimate has been given to the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy. The committee, which has a successful record of championing such developmental projects as the nuclear submarine and the hydrogen bomb, is becoming increasingly concerned over what it feels is the lack of sufficient budgetary and administrative support for the nuclear rocket program.

CURE ON ARMS

Planning must begin now at all levels of government to prevent unnecessary economic hardship if disarmament is achieved, the National Planning Association has warned.

It made public a study, which said that the economic adjustment to a major cut in arms production would not be easy. However, it added, there is no valid argument that arms reduction would bring about an economic depression.

The major problem of disarmament, it said, would be in shifts of production from one industry to another, and from one region to another.

Conservation Dept. Operating on Tight Austerity Budget

Lansing—Conservation Department officials are doubtful that fishing license fee increases will be enacted during the legislature's current session.

To date, efforts to introduce a license bill have failed. If the increases are not enacted this year, reductions in the state's game, fish, and law enforcement programs will be sharp, immediate, and will continue in effect for at least the next 17 months.

During the Feb. 11 Conservation Commission meeting, Gaylord A. Walker, Department chief deputy director, spelled out the following emergency measures which will be ## forced into effect:

- 1) No conservation officer school will be held this year.
- 2) Workers who resign, retire, or die in service will not be replaced.
- 3) Public fishing site and game land purchases will be "all but stopped."
- 4) Equipment replacements, construction, and new services will be halted.

The officer school was planned this year to replace 25 men who have left the Department's field force since the last school was held in 1956.

The Department has been on an austerity budget for about two years and reductions in services are already causing public concern. Further reductions in the next year and a half are expected to be heavy.

Walker said he hoped some ## money could be held out for top priority game and fish land purchases, but added that he didn't expect there would be very much.

All normal purchases will be halted, public programs that were "in the making" will be curtailed. In addition to the cuts mentioned, game, fish, law enforcement, and several other programs will be expected to reduce expenses in other ways to meet the emergency.

Walker said even if fishing license increases were enacted now, they would not increase revenue before 1961. He added that since increases now appear deferred at least for this year, all programs have to expect setbacks at least until additional revenues are forthcoming.

OPENHANDED!

East Northport, N. Y.—An 11-year-old boy has admitted to local police that he found $2,000 in a paper bag along a road a month ago, and that he has spent almost $1,400 of the money.

The lad, whose name was not made public, treated his friends to excursions to New York City, went to the beach, and took rides all over the area. He bought $100 worth of sporting goods for himself. He was picked up at a store, still laughing.

15-Acre Wheat Exemption Details Explained by ASC

Several factors affecting wheat producers who have wheat allotments of less than 15 acres for 1960 were called to the attention of farmers today by Max M. Kalmbach, chairman of the Washtenaw County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The law that authorizes marketing quotas provides that in commercial wheat-producing states as much as 15 acres of wheat may be produced on any farm without being subject to marketing quota penalties. This provision applies to farms with no wheat allotments as well as to farms with wheat acreage allotments of less than 15 acres.

However, wheat on such farms is subject to marketing quota penalties when more than 15 acres of wheat is produced. When the 15-acre limitation is exceeded, the excess bushels of wheat is determined by multiplying the normal yield for the farm by the number of acres of wheat above the farm allotment.

Kalmbach cited the following as an example: A farmer with a wheat allotment of 12 acres for 1960 produces 20 acres of wheat. The difference between the allotment and the wheat acreage produced—eight—would be considered excess acres. The eight acres excess would be used in determining the amount of wheat subject to the marketing quota penalty. However, if the acreage over 15 is disposed of, the wheat would not be subject to marketing quotas.

Farmers who have applied for the feed wheat provision under which they may produce as much as 30 acres of wheat for use on the farm are not subject to marketing quota penalties unless they produce more than 30 acres.

The deadline for adjusting wheat acreage into compliance with the farm wheat allotment is June 10 in Washtenaw county.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vicarys of Waterloo, will quietly observe their 55th wedding anniversary next Wednesday, March 2. No formal observance of the event is planned; however, their daughter and granddaughters, Mrs. Annabelle Woolley and her daughter, Judy, will entertain them at a dinner on Sunday.

The Vicarys have made their home at Waterloo since 1914 after making their home in Detroit, Duluth and Milwaukee where Mr. Vicary had been a manager for the Baltimore Lunch chain of restaurants.

Waterloo had been Mr. Vicary's boyhood home.

He and Mrs. Vicary were married March 2, 1905 at the home of her parents, former Detroit Police Commissioner and Mrs. Ernest Marquardt.

The Vicarys have been active members of the Waterloo Village Evangelical United Brethren church since they moved to Waterloo 46 years ago.

JOLLY TWELVE EUCHE CLUB

The Jolly Twelve euche club was entertained Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stevens.

Prize winners were Mrs. Paul Feldkamp and Alfred Kuhl, high; Mrs. Henry Niehaus and Wilbert Okengeter, consolation; and Don Leggett, traveling award.

The next meeting of the club will be held March 20 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kaseman in Detroit.

DEBORAH CIRCLE

Deborah Circle of the Methodist Women's Society of Christian Service met Wednesday morning, Feb. 17, with Mrs. Richard Kern and Mrs. Ormel Schiller at the Kern home.

Following a devotional service conducted by Mrs. Charles Spencer, the program was in charge of Mrs. Benjamin Bower who presented a review of a part of the year's study book, "The United Nations."

Deborah Circle members have been invited to be guests of Mary Martha Circle for the April 19 meeting.

KINDER KLUB

Sixteen members and two guests were present for the Kinder Klub meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Donald Harker. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Ronald Eder and Mrs. William Storey.

Baldwin-Ferris Engagement Told

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baldwin of Grass Lake have announced the engagement of their daughter, Arlene Mary, to Haldon D. Ferris, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Dale Ferris of Waterloo.

Miss Baldwin is a senior at Grass Lake High school and will enter a school of nursing this fall.

Mr. Ferris is a sophomore at Jackson Junior College and will continue his studies for the ministry at North Central College in Illinois, next fall. He is at present student pastor at the EUB Church at Doverdale, Mich.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Social Science Teacher Addresses Woman's Club

George Marshall, social science instructor at Chelsea High school, was the speaker at a guest night meeting of the Woman's club, held Tuesday evening at McKune Memorial Library.

Title of his talk was "Economic Freedom." He traced the history of man and his development through the ages to the real beginning of free enterprise in America following the Revolutionary War.

Because of this free enterprise (right to own property, etc.) the speaker pointed out, Americans have a responsibility to people of less favored countries. In order to contract Communist influence, he said, the United States should concentrate on "exporting" skills and technology to these countries. This would be of infinitely more real help to the underprivileged nations than material help—helping them to help themselves in their efforts toward economic freedom.

A discussion period followed and later refreshments were served by Mrs. Loring Bates, Mrs. Dwight Gadsby and Mrs. H. T. Moore.

During a brief business session at the meeting announcement was made that April 25 is the tentative date for the club's spring rummage sale.

GIRL SCOUTS

TROOP 48

Girl Scouts of Troop 48, at their Feb. 16 meeting, made plans for the bowling party held Feb. 20. Patrol II was in charge of the opening ceremony; Patrol I conducted the closing; and Patrol III was in charge of serving guests.

Refreshments were served by Janet Haifer and Sandy Severn.

TROOP 49

Girl Scouts of Troop 49 met at the Junior High school Wednesday, Feb. 17. They didn't have a meeting as most of them went to the "Baby Sitting" course. The meeting dates have been changed to Mondays and the next meeting will be Monday, Feb. 28.

Gayle Schaules, secretary.

TROOP 148

Girl Scouts of Troop 148 met Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 17, at South Elementary school, together with girls of Troop 149, for a lesson on health and first aid.

In the evening the girls of the troop took part in a skit at the PTA Founders' Day program. The skit was about PTA activity throughout the world.

At the afternoon meeting refreshments were served by Lee Fauldine and Bonnie Wadsworth.

CONSERVATIVE DEFINED

A Democratic congressman has come up with this definition of a conservative: "A man who worships dead liberals."

The proof, says Representative Denton (Ind.), is that the conservative Eisenhower Administration has relied on laws of the Franklin Roosevelt Administration to prevent another depression.

Gottlieb Rothmans 40th Anniversary Honored Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Gottlieb Rothman were pleasantly surprised Sunday by their family in honor of their 40th wedding anniversary, Feb. 25. When they returned home from church all was in readiness for a dinner which was prepared and served by the children and sister.

Children and grandchildren present were Mr. and Mrs. Willard Ponto of Ann Arbor, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vsetula of Corunna, Mr. and Mrs. Minor Brand of Metamora, O., Mr. and Mrs. William Claydon of Pontiac, and Mrs. Rothman's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Grandell of Vandercook Lake. There were 23 guests present.

It was also the birthday of a grandson, Robert Brand.

Agricultural Entrepreneurs Discuss Schools

Agricultural Entrepreneurs Farm-Bureau group met Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leigh Beach. There were 17 families represented and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Golds were welcomed as new members.

The evening's discussion on the topic, "Present-Day Issues in the School System," was led by Charles Powers and the group went on record with the following recommendations: (1) Schools should put more emphasis on the "three R's," especially reading; (2) Schools should have and apply supervised methods of teaching in high school; (3) Rotation between schools of specialized teachers in speech, art and music.

During the business session Raymond Schairer, as minuteman of the group, reported on bills to come before Congress and recommended that members write to Congressmen stating their views on the issues involved.

Schairer also distributed cards showing the telephone numbers of the new Dexter weather dial service and explained about the project. He mentioned that members who had heard a talk by Theodore Gibson, president of Great Lakes Weather, Inc., at a recent meeting were probably familiar with the weather dial method of weather prediction.

Mrs. LeRoy Feldkamp gave a report about the Dexter Blood Bank and asked members to donate blood at a clinic scheduled to be held in Dexter, May 31.

Mrs. Charles Trinkle, a member of the Entrepreneurs group, speaking for the Chelsea Co-Operative Nursery, invited members to the open house to be held Sunday at the Co-Operative Nursery in the former Beach rural school building on Chelsea-Dexter road.

Euche was played and refreshments were served at the close of the business session and program period.

The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Parker on Parker road.

After asking the group's wishes on the matter, Mrs. Lloyd Boyce was instructed to invite the Dexter Junior Band to play for a program of the Entrepreneurs Farm-Bureau group at a date to be arranged for a meeting to be held in the Lima Center Community hall.

OPPORTUNITY-KNOCKS

Detour, Mich.—Detour, a town of 611 persons in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, wants a doctor. Mayor Maurice Ainsworth said a physician should earn from $14,000 to $18,000 there. That is what the townspeople pay to doctors in Sault Ste. Marie, 60 miles away, the closest town where service is available.

On top of that, the mayor promised that the town will provide the doctor free hunting and fishing guide service.

If you ever had doubt about the two-sided-to-every-question, just listen to the campaign orators.

Harriet Johnsen Chosen a Camp Counselor in Denmark

HARRIET JOHNSEN

Harriet Johnsen, daughter of former Chelsea School Superintendent Albert Johnsen and Mrs. Johnsen, is to serve as a camp counselor in Denmark this summer, according to information published in the school paper at Texas Women's College, Denton, Tex., where she is a sophomore.

Miss Johnsen will work at International Ranger Camp Viking in Frederikavaerk during two three-week camp sessions beginning July 1 and continuing through Aug. 11. She will leave the United States about June 15 in order to give her time to visit relatives who live in Denmark before she is scheduled to report June 26 for a pre-camp training program.

Assignment of her duties as counselor will be based on her interests, abilities and camp needs.

Experiences as a regular summer camper led to her becoming a counselor-in-training in 1958. The University of Michigan sponsors the CIT program at the National Music Camp at Interlochen. She was a counselor at Interlochen in 1959, teaching swimming to girls of junior high school age.

Camp Viking is for 100 campers between the ages of 8 and 16 years. It is dedicated to the promotion of friendship and understanding between young people of different national cultures; however, English is the official language spoken at the camp.

The program includes tours of historical places in the country. Miss Johnsen is a granddaughter of Mrs. Edith Irwin of Chelsea. Her mother is the former Jean Irwin.

Present for the occasion were Mrs. Adeline Ophim of Ypsilanti, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Betts, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Layher and children, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Layher and son Michael, of Dexter, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Layher and children, of Ann Arbor.

On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Layher entertained at a birthday dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Betts and daughter, Patty Anne, of Birmingham, arriving as surprise guests. Others present included Mrs. Ophim, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Layher and children and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Layher and children, in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Betts.

BIRTHDAYS HONORED

Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Layher entertained at a family party honoring their daughter, Mrs. Wesley Betts and their granddaughter, Julie Layher, whose birthdays occur the same day, Feb. 21.

Present for the occasion were Mrs. Adeline Ophim of Ypsilanti, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Betts, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Layher and children, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Layher and son Michael, of Dexter, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Layher and children, of Ann Arbor.
