Family Night Event Set for Grade Schools

Elementary School Principal Arthur Schmunk announced this week that next Monday evening, April 4, will be Family Night at both North and South Elementary schools. He said this is in line with the custom of several years' standing which designates the first Friday evening after spring vacation as the date for the annual "Family Night."

Children will be taken home from school at noon Monday, April 4, so that the classrooms may be prepared for the event. The rooms will be open for visiting from 6:30 until 8 p.m.

Samples of pupils' written work have been filed by the teachers over a long period of time for this evening.

Principal Schmunk said parents are warmly welcome to visit every classroom in the schools. They are urged to bring their children and allow the youngsters to serve as guides as well as to explain the samples of work which they have seen.

To parents he says, "This is an opportunity to meet the teachers and room mothers of the children which your child attends. It will be impossible to hold conferences in the five minutes available to each of the parents associated with the classrooms but each parent should inquire into the probable value of such a meeting and set a date for it."

Principal Schmunk suggested that parents visiting the North school may find it more satisfactory to park on McKinley street and use the sidewalk for a distance of approximately one block.

Mrs. Joseph Laban spent the weekend at Schiller Park, near Chicago, as the guest of her daughter and family. Mr. and Mrs. David Miller and children.

Arthur Schmunk and son, Charles, spent the week-end visiting relatives in Antwerp, O.

BULLETIN!

Supplies of COMS-VE Patrons tickets are rapidly being exhausted. Local ticket authorities for Chelsea's coming minstrel show report that several choice seats still remain, but many interested people are even buying up groups of Patrons tickets to insure preferred seating for the big show.

A warning was issued by Ticket Chairman Wally Wood that anyone contemplating reselling Patrons tickets at scalper prices over the established level of $3.75 will be referred to proper authorities.

He stated that Patrons tickets will be sold from a booth on Main Street Friday night, April 1. He urged all public-spirited Chelseaites to purchase these tickets. Anton Nielson, Wally Wood, and George Palmer may be contacted to purchase tickets.

Self-Serve Laundry Hit By Thieves

Two coin machines and a coin chute on an automatic washer at the Wash 'n Dry Self-Service Laundry, 114 West Middle St., yielded thieves approximately $400 when they were broken into Monday night. The chute on the washer was broken and the two coin machines damaged.

The theft is believed to have taken place between 10 p.m. and midnight.

First reports to police placed the loss at $300; however, a later check revealed that an additional $100 was included in the theft, according to Robert Towner of Ann Arbor, one of the owners.

The self-service laundry is open day and night and is brilliantly lighted at all times.

Sheriff's Department officers were called to examine fingerprints on the damaged equipment.

TOP SENIOR STUDENTS — Seniors at Chelsea High school whose average for four years of high school was 3.5 or better out of a possible 4.0 were among students recognized at an honors convocation at the high school Friday morning. The four seniors so honored, all girls, are from left, Barrie Fisher, Co-Valedictorians Diane Gary and Jane McLaughlin and Salutatorian Sharon Smyser. Shown with them in the photo are George Bergman, school counselor; Professor Delmont K. Fourth Annual Study Club Event Attended by 350

Old-time bathing suits, dating as far back as 1910, were shown as the surprise feature at the Chelsea Child Study Club's Fashion Show presented Tuesday evening at the Chelsea High school auditorium.

Mrs. Jack Weintz, Mrs. Paul Mann, Mrs. Robert Daniels, Mrs. Fredrick Belser and Mrs. George Knickerbocker modeled old-fashioned beach wear including foot-wear and headwear.

Completing the scene, Mrs. William Rademacher wore an up-to-date bathing suit and matching beach jacket.

Approximately 350 persons attended the Style Show, the club's fourth annual presentation.

Styles modeled were from Anderson's Store and featured dressy Easter outfits along with vacation clothes, play clothes, sleep-ware and beach togs.

The theme of the show "Going Places," carried out in the display of fashions, was further emphasized in the dining room where refreshments were served.

Centering the table was a display of dolls from around the world.

Mrs. Paul G. Schaible, Jr., general chairman of the Fashion Show, said she was pleased with the response of people of the community who attended the event and was especially gratified because of the co-operation of all committees and others who had a part in the undertaking.

Cub Reporter Scores 'Scoop' With Dexter Caravan Plans

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The Standard has made every effort in the past to maintain a high caliber of reporting for its readers. This policy will continue in future issues. In view of this practice, retaining this reporter on our staff much longer is highly questionable.)

Dear Boss:

This is probably uncalled for at this time, sir, but I wonder if you would consider loaning me your station wagon this Saturday night for about 8 or 4 hours?

Do you remember that deal about the Minstrel and Vaudeville Show Chelsea's putting on April 21-23, and by the way, thanks for the real good spot on the front page last week, Boss. I didn't realize you figured I was that sharp a reporter, yet.

Anyway, at this week's meeting this Foster fellow, I think his name is Bob, was lining up all the acts that are going to be part of the big Caravan Show in Dexter Saturday night, and he was telling about the street show with the bands, the minstrel show acts, the dances, and also the gathering scheduled for afterward at the American Legion. Boss, before I gave it a second thought, I had volunteered to drive a whole carload of people over there. All the fellows are going to take their wives and I'm going to take that girl working in the ad department there at the office. Gee, don't say anything to her yet, until I ask her.

The caravan starts from the High School parking lot at 7:00 o'clock Saturday night, April 2. This is going to be just like those caravans last summer during the anniversary. Everyone has a terrific time, so I sure hope you can see fit to let me use your wagon, Boss. There isn't a soul I've talked to that is going to miss it. You and the wife can even ride with us, if you want to.

It seems some Dexter official has written a special letter inviting the people of Chelsea to come over to Dexter in the caravan and see the show. They've arranged special parking and lots of other things. That Bill Lubahn is going to be there leading the old Brush Band they had last summer.

Boss, try to put this next part in another article on the front page with a separate headline if you can, because it's a big deal too.

Tom McClear is organizing some real surprises for uptown, in Chelsea, Friday night, April 1. And you know what that means, because they tell me he's a cousin or something to that Spaulding, who thought up a lot of those stunts last summer during the anniversary. I did overhear him say something about bands, girls, and donkeys, and some other stuff. Guess I'll go uptown Friday night about 7:30 to see what happens.

You know, Boss, there's something real friendly about this little town that grows on you. I'll bet there's a flock of people up there Friday night. This town sure does have community spirit.

If you should decide to keep me on regular, Boss, I thought I might look around for a place to stay. Apparently, that Foster fellow is a sort of honorary mayor somewhere in town. He may have some ideas.

"Doc" Sharrard said adults are needed for the Minstrel Show chorus and that they've got a real good, bass fiddle player but no fiddle. Anyone with a fiddle should contact "Doc."

And also that fellow at the drug store, Bob Vanderkelen needs women-volunteers to help in the exchange of coupons for tickets. Anyone willing to help Bob and Wally Wood on this committee should contact either of them, soon.

Boss, I'm not as tired this time as I was last week. You can't be when you listen to these fellows for awhile. They sure are enthusiastic. And Boss, leave the keys to your car on that desk in the office for Saturday night. Thanks, see you payday.

Your rested employee.

Marion Allan returned home Monday after being a patient at St. Joseph Mercy hospital, Ann Arbor, the past two weeks.

Friday night's revue was for girls in three categories, young miss, junior-miss and senior-miss groups. All of the girls in the county participate in the county show, but Friday's elimination event at Dexter picked 20 girls from the young miss group and 10 girls from the junior miss group to enter county competition.

The 150 girls who participated in Friday's event represented 4-H clubs in the northern half of the county which includes Sylvan, Dexter, Lima, Lyndon, Scio, Webster, Salem, Northfield, Ann Arbor and Superior townships.

Girls who are members of 4-H clubs in the southern half of the county held their dress revue at Saline, March 18.

A total of 19 winners were to be picked to represent Washtenaw county at the state show.

Winners in the young miss group at Dexter are Cheryl Grau, Mary Ann LaRosa, Joyce Allan, Alyce Biemenschneider, Cindy Blacklaw, Mary Kay Alher, Arlys Wiseman, Nancy Mahony, Nancy Kuenster, Laurie Reddeman and Judy Wiseman who are members of Chelsea clubs, and Linda

Washtenaw Now Has Total of 73,831 Motor Vehicles

Annual motor registration figures issued this week by James M. Hare, Secretary of State, showed that 73,831 motor vehicles of all types were registered in Washtenaw county on which $1,169,780.24 in taxes were collected.

These included 57,541 passenger cars and 7,528 trucks and commercial vehicles.

Total receipts for all motor vehicle activities, but not including gas and diesel fuel collections, totaled $71,593,087.02 in 1959, a $8,608,057.92 increase over 1958's $62,985,029.20.

According to Hare, income from drivers licenses jumped from $2,194,518.12 in 1958 to $3,098,730.86. Chauffeurs license receipts rose from $494,376.26 in 1958 to $549,085.08 in 1959.

The eleven per cent increase in the number of title transactions reflected improved automobile sales during 1959, when 545,399 were issued compared to 1958's 490,739, Hare said.

The number of title transfers exceeded one million, the highest number ever handled since the Department started issuing these transfers in 1922.

"Worst roads in the world, but this new Chevy takes all the roughness out!"

Out near Wathona, Kansas, farmer Milt Roundy tends 800 acres with only one helper—his 1960 Chevrolet pickup. The truck almost never runs on Kansas's fine state highways—instead it averages about 3,500 miles a month on unimproved back-country trails or on hauls into the fields, off the road. "In my book, these are the worst roads in the world," Mr. Roundy says, "but this new Chevy takes all the roughness out. It doesn't fishtail or whip around like other trucks—I can steer it with one finger!"

They're speaking right up, these owners of '60 Chevrolets. Everywhere you go, they're giving out glowing reports on a revolutionary new truck ride that leads to a bigger day's work at less expense, praising truck power that knows the most about saving money. It's Chevy's total newness they're talking about. And you'll be talking, too, once you turn a new Chevrolet loose on your money runs. Your dealer can get you started, right away!

Still Has Plenty of Pine Seedlings for Sale

Lansing—Although nearly 5,000,000 young trees have been ordered since sales began in January, the Conservation Department's three nurseries still have a good supply of seedlings available to landowners for the spring planting season.

Approximately 3,300,000 red pine, white pine and jack pine seedlings remain on sale for use in erosion control, farm windbreaks and forest plantings. The Department's supply of red pine and white spruce transplants has been exhausted by early orders.

Depending upon the weather, stock shipments will begin about April 20. Orders are filled on a "first come, first served" basis.
Requests for stock must be submitted to the Department's forestry division, Lansing 28, on order blanks obtained from that division.

Behavior of Stock Market

Well over ten million persons own publicly issued stocks of American corporations. Other millions indirectly own stocks through various forms of savings. To all of these, the recent behavior of the stock market has been of concern, and all of them are interested in whether the decline is going to continue.

The measure most commonly used for stock prices is the Dow-Jones industrial average. This is not the best index of the market as a whole, but Dow-Jones is the only organization that reports each individual stock transaction, and its tickers are found in brokers' offices from one end of the country to the other. The average is calculated on an hourly basis, for the high and low of the day, and, of course, for the closing. Taking the latter, the high for this year, and for all time, was last January 5 at 685. Recently the market has been flirting with 600.

This is too much of a decline to be shrugged off. In the old days it was said that anything up to a ten per cent decline was a technical reaction. This has gone beyond ten per cent.

No one ever can explain with positiveness what causes a market decline or a market advance of significance. But unquestionably the following have had an influence:

1. The market had attained an extremely high level—high not only in relation to historical standards, but high in relation to earnings and the return one could receive from bonds. Even U. S. bonds were selling at prices which returned a substantially higher yield than one got on good stocks.

2. Corporate profits were headed up, but it could not be assumed that they would go much higher. This meant that dividends would not be raised enough to lift the yield appreciably, and in many instances there was no basis for hoping for any increase of dividends.

3. Many persons began to revise downward their predictions for both the extent and the duration of the present recovery. And these revisions appeared to get support by a fairly continuous flow of news that was not too favorable.

4. Foreign holders, who in the aggregate own between $10 billion and $15 billion of American securities, began a light liquidation and the market is thin enough to be adversely affected by such selling.

5. The fear of inflation has subsided to a marked extent. This fear had been a powerful factor on the upside. Now, with many investors of the opinion that inflation is not inevitable, there is less urge to hold stocks.

6. In the minds of numerous persons, there is uncertainty about the political situation and the recognition that the current Congress may enact legislation which will hurt business and the growth of the economy, with the danger that the next Congress may be even worse.

How much farther will the decline go, and is there a chance of a real recovery? There is no reason to assume that the decline will continue either much farther or

NEWS & HOLLYWOOD

British actor Anthony Quayle will give Greg Peck and the other actors lots of competition in Carl Foreman's "Navorone"; he plays the head of the Commandos.

Ruth Roman and Bud Moss are enjoying a trial separation.

Olivia de Havilland is set for the title role in "Mother Cabrini," the story of the dedicated Italian-born American nun, now a saint. Curtis Bernhardt will make the movie in Rome.

Dorothy Lamour is going into training for "Road to Hong Kong," with BOB Hope and Bing Crosby, of course.

lace to mark the arrival of what he hopes will be the first of many bouncing Bautzers.

Today's picture review:

SUDDENLY LAST SUMMER

Here is typical Tennessee Williams at his most suspenseful and morbid best. Montgomery Clift plays the part of a neuro-surgeon called on to perform a brain operation on Elizabeth Taylor, who plays the part of the insane niece of a fabulously wealthy woman (Katharine Hepburn). In return for this, Mrs. Venable (Katharine) will build a new building for the hospital in memoriam to her son, Sebastian.

Probing deeply, the good doctor discovers that Cathy (Elizabeth) has become insane because she witnessed Sebastian's horrible death—the preceding summer and Mrs. Venable wants her memory destroyed so that she can never tell the truth about the episode.

Definitely good performances, but equally definitely not for the nervous type!

What Is the Church of Christ?

We of the Church of Christ are pleading for a restoration of first century Christianity. That is Christianity as it was during the time the apostles were living on the earth.

We try to preach the same Gospel that the apostles preached, and teach the same conditions of salvation, that is, faith in Christ, repentance of sin, confession of Christ, and Baptism (immersion) for the remission of sins.

AFTER NOON PRAYER
As I grow older, Lord, I pray
That I will not impatient be

That I will smile and hold my

At antics which I might deplore.
For understanding, Lord, I pray—
And to recall I had my day!

Census Taker Will Be Easy To Identify

Householders will not have any difficulty identifying the takers of the 1960 Census of Population and Housing when they start their rounds on April 1, District Supervisor John R. Thomson Jr. pointed out today.

Each census taker will be provided with a red, white, and blue identification card to be worn on the lapel. This card bears the seal of the Department of Commerce and the words "Census Enumerator, Official Credential" are printed across its face. Persons purporting to be Census takers who do not have this identification card should be reported immediately to the local district Census office.

Census takers will be further identified by the portfolio containing their supplies. The portfolio is brown and bears the legend, "1960 Census of the United States," printed in green ink. In the portfolio, the census taker carries his supplies of report forms, maps, pencils, and other tools of his trade.

Michigan Leads N.E. States In Toll-Free X-Way Mileage

Lansing—Michigan has more miles of toll-free expressway open to traffic on the National Interstate System than any other state in the northeastern United States, the National Highway Users Conference reported recently.

At the same time, the report showed Michigan has more mileage on the Interstate System than is "fully adequate for 1975 traffic" than any other state in the U.S. with the exception of Texas.

The report, based on information provided by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, listed the status of the Interstate System as of last Nov. 30.

The Users Conference, in its current issue of "Highway Highlights," said Michigan's Interstate expressway construction program "has shown remarkable progress."

The report said Michigan had 265 miles of Interstate expressway open to traffic at the end of 1954, following the completion of about 30 miles during December.

In addition, Michigan has approximately 100 additional miles of expressway that is not on the Interstate System, for a total of 365 miles of expressway open to traffic.

Olivet Receives $20,000 Grant from Mott Foundation

Olivet College is the recipient of a $20,000 grant from the Charles Stewart Mott Foundation of Flint, it was announced today by President Gordon Rietzhammer.

The purpose of this grant is to enable the college to conduct a community service program in Economics and allied areas. One purpose of this project is to demonstrate the effectiveness of the small liberal arts college rendering such services to communities in a comparatively rural area.

The techniques to be used are those already tested and proved by the University of Chicago in larger communities. They will be applied to communities in this area, such as Charlotte, Eaton Rapids, Marshall, and other cities as the program develops.

Dr. Robert K. Burns, Professor of Business and Social Science at the University of Chicago, will assist Olivet in its service program. Services to the public schools will also emerge, and an expanded program of Economics and Business Administration at Olivet College is also implied.

President Rietzhammer says "we are mightily enthusiastic about the possibilities and implications of this project, and are eager to get it under way."

plays to catch the interest of teenage boys and girls.

With this thought in mind, McKune Memorial Library will have on display several exhibits of books especially appropriate for this age group. A wide range of subjects will be included.

Inaugurated in 1958, National Library Week is sponsored by the National Book Committee, Inc., a non-profit citizens' organization, in co-operation with the American Library Association. In Michigan, it is sponsored by the Michigan Library Association, the State Library, and the Michigan Council for Better Libraries, an advisory group of citizens interested in the future of Michigan's libraries.

Purpose of National Library Week is to promote public co-operation with libraries, schools, and civic groups to stimulate lifetime reading habits and to encourage the use and support of libraries of all kinds.

President Eisenhower, speaking of the observance made the following statement: "The strength of our nation is founded in the minds and hearts of its citizens—individuals who have sought out the truth and have formed their own convictions. In this search, the freedom to read is an indispensable asset. During National Library Week, I hope that all Americans will make a special effort to seek out the treasures of knowledge, ideas and spiritual insight provided by our libraries across the land."

According to information listed in "American Library Annual," the first state to make provision for public libraries in a state constitution was Michigan, in 1838.

Michigan also was credited with being the first state offering in its state University a formal course in bibliography for credit (University of Michigan, 1883).

Library Records Show Continued Increase in Use

Tuesday afternoon, March 22, when school was closed because of bad road conditions, McKune Memorial Library was a busy place. Students were in and out picking up and returning books and approximately 15 young people remained at the library throughout the afternoon using the reference facilities and reading materials.

Use of the library at every available opportunity is steadily increasing, not only by adults but by young children and those of elementary and high school age.

During February, incidentally the shortest month of the year, a total of 1,668 books were taken out by patrons. Of these, 884 were adults and 884 juveniles.

With the exception of February, 1959 (a month of extremely bad weather) circulation at the public library has increased steadily during the past five years.

Using February of each of the years for purposes of comparison the month's figures for the five years are as follows: February 1956—total circulation, 1,201 books with 740 adults and 511 juveniles; 1957—1,427 books, with 629 adults and 798 juveniles; 1958—1,483 books, 814 adults and 669 juveniles; 1959, 1,164 books, 696 adults and 468 juveniles; and 1960—1,668 books, 884 adults and 884 juveniles.

Addition of new books to the McKune Memorial Library during the month of February for the five years are listed as follows: 1956, 54 books; 1957, 67 books; 1958, 26 books; 1959, 21 books; and 1960, 74 books.

John L. Tice Announces Candidacy for Sheriff's Post

John LeRoy Tice, co-ordinator for welfare services of the county office of Civil Defense and Washenaw county undersheriff from March 3 until Dec. 31, 1958, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for sheriff in the Aug. 2 primary.

In announcing his candidacy Tice said "I'm not making any campaign promises except good law enforcement," and went on to explain that this would mean impartial enforcement of the law regardless of personalities or groups involved.

He states, "It has always been my belief that if a person commits a crime he should be arrested and brought before a court of justice. The judge or magistrate then must determine the punishment, the officer already having done his duty. Because a violator is a 'friend or has influence' does not determine his guilt or innocence. His guilt is only up to the courts to decide."

If elected, Tice said, he would institute a program of schools and training programs for all deputies on a continuing basis and when this was well under way he would seek the establishment of civil service in the department to provide job security for sheriff's department personnel.

Stating that good law enforcement requires competent, well trained, courteous, efficient personnel and the only sure method of maintaining such personnel is through short courses and schools for police officers such as those offered at Michigan State University and other colleges.

He said he would also seek to have a continuing educational program for all deputies installed.

Lack of job security, Tice said, endangers morale in all sheriff's departments in the state since a man who is wondering if he stands to lose his job any day cannot be expected to do top-flight work.

Tice was born in Ann Arbor 56 years ago. Some years ago he and his parents lived on South street in Chelsea while his father, John Tice, was employed by the late Henry Fenn in what is now Fenn's Drug Store.

He is a veteran of World War II, having served in the regimental intelligence office, correlated to phases of police work at the Army's intelligence school at Camp Ritchie, Md. He also served as company commander, battalion commander and as training officer for an infantry regiment.

Following World War II, in 1947, he was appointed by "Pat" Cleary, chief of staff, to be responsible for National Guard reorganization throughout the state north of Saginaw.

Tice was appointed night turnkey at the County Jail in December, 1954, by the late Sheriff Erwin L. Klager. Later he served civil papers for the department and was assigned to road patrol duty. On Dec. 28, 1956, he was appointed a detective sergeant and on March 3, 1958, former Sheriff Robert E. A. Lillie named him undersheriff to succeed Charles W. Shaw, the post he held until Dec. 31, 1958.

He said he will continue in his present post in the office of Civil Defense while seeking the GOP nomination.

SHERIFF GEORGE PETERSEN

Petersen Will Seek Re-Election

Sheriff George A. Petersen announced this week that he will be a candidate for re-election on the Republican ticket in the Aug. 2 primary election.

Petersen, 52, of 3795 Scio Church rd., Freedom township, is the third Republican to announce his candidacy for the GOP nomination for sheriff. John L. Tice, 56-year-old former undersheriff, entered the race March 17 and last Saturday Elmer F. Klump, 66, of Whitmore Lake, now a uniform deputy, said he will seek the Republican nomination for sheriff.

Sheriff Petersen, a former sheriff's captain, defeated incumbent Robert E. A. Lillie for the Republican nomination in the summer of 1958. His margin in that primary was 1,331 votes. In the November general election Petersen won his first two-year term as sheriff by defeating Democrat Lawrence P. Oltersdorf by about 10,000 votes.

Petersen has been with the Sheriff's Department in various capacities for the past 18 years. He was appointed a fee deputy in 1941 and two years later became a full-time officer.

In 1951, former Sheriff John Osborn moved him up to sergeant and on Dec. 29, 1954, the late Sheriff Erwin L. Klager appointed him captain of the uniform division. He held that position until April 2, 1958, the day he announced he would run for the sheriff's post. Hours later the then-Sheriff Lillie fired him.

Petersen is married and the father of a son and daughter. He is a member of the Southern Michigan Law Enforcement Association and the Washtenaw County Industrial Security and Law Enforcement Association.

To date, no Democrats have announced themselves as candidates for nomination.

Four CHS Band Members To Participate in State Finals

Four members of the Chelsea Senior Band will participate in the state finals of the annual Solo and Ensemble Festival to be held Saturday, April 2, at Michigan State University, East Lansing.

The clarinet quartet, composed of Sharon Smyser, Carol Cameron, Judy Grove, and Kathy White, by virtue of their winning a first division rating at the District Solo and Ensemble Festival at Eastern Michigan College on Feb. 13, will be one of Chelsea's two entries this year.

Kathy White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn White, is Chelsea's lone solo entry on the clarinet. She will be judged by Edgar Ross, clarinet instructor at Central Michigan College at Mt. Pleasant. She will be one of 25 clarinetists performing in her section.

The clarinet quartet will be judged by Edgar Kirk, music instructor at Michigan State University. They will be one of 22 quartets playing in their section. Approximately 8,000 instrument-alists from high schools all over Michigan will take part in the event, all having received division ratings in their respective Festivals.

The Festival is sponsored by the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association.

Census Taker Will Be Easy To Identify

Householders will not have any difficulty identifying the takers of the 1960 Census of Population and Housing when they start their rounds on April 1, District Supervisor John R. Thomson Jr. pointed out today.

Each census taker will be provided with a red, white, and blue identification card to be worn on the lapel. This card bears the seal of the Department of Commerce and the words "Census Enumerator, Official Credential" are printed across its face. Persons purporting to be census takers who do not have this identification card should be reported immediately to the local district census office in Chelsea which is in charge of Mrs. Allan Reed.

Census takers will be further identified by the portfolio containing their supplies. The portfolio is brown and bears the legend, "1960 Census of the United States," printed in green ink. In the portfolio, the census taker carries his supplies of report forms, maps, pencils, and other tools of his trade.

SQUARE DANCE GRADUATES—Members of the group in the above photo have just completed a series of square dance lessons. Graduation exercises for the group were held at South Elementary school Wednesday night, March 23, each graduate receiving a diploma. The square dance class met each Wednesday evening for 12 weeks. Callers and instructors were "Ike" and "Neva" Eichhorn of Ann Arbor. Members of the Promenaders and Whirlwinds were present for the graduation ceremonies and held a coffee hour for the graduates. Members of the class who appear in the photo are, front row, from left, Marilyn Chandler, Donna

MYSTERY FARM NO. 91, pictured without identification in the March 24 issue of The Standard, was the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Reinhardt and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Reinhardt and sons, Arthur Paul was the first one to correctly identify the place.

Mystery Farm on Joslin Lake Road Owned by Edw., Alvin Reinhardt

The photograph of Mystery Farm No. 91 was quickly identified as the Edward and Alvin Reinhardt farm on Joslin Lake road, following its publication without identification in the March 24 edition of The Standard. First to call the correct identification was John Paul.

Alvin Reinhardt and his mother, Edward Reinhardt, have lived on the place since 1920. His father, the former Clara Mester, had inherited the farm following the death of their father, John Mester, and Alvin bought his share.

In addition to work on the 105-acre farm, Alvin Reinhardt is employed at Chrysler Proving Ground. His mother has been employed as a nurse at Colonial Manor Nursing Home the past 10 years. The Edward Reinhardt's live in an upstairs apartment of the home which was built by Mrs. Reinhardt's father to replace the original house. The Alvin Reinhardt's occupy the first floor of the home.

The barn is the one which was on the place when John Mester bought the farm 40 years ago from his sister, Clara Bouvier who had owned it only about five months.

According to information on the abstract, the farm was secured from the U. S. Government in 1887 by Alfred Brauer.

Charles and Emily Burkhardt became the owners in 1875 and in 1879 James Cunningham purchased it. A lake on the place is still known as Cunningham Lake.

The Edward Reinhardt's family included the son, Alvin, and a daughter, now Mrs. Charlotte Hannah of Lansing.

The Alvin Reinhardt's have two sons, Malcolm, 18, and Kenneth, 13. Both help with the farm work and attend school in Chelsea. Malcolm is a member of the Chelsea Future Farmers of America Chapter and Kenneth is active in Boy Scout work. Mrs. Reinhardt is the former Rosemary Hollinger.

In addition to Arthur Paul, those who correctly identified the Reinhardt farm are Donald Knight, John Otto, Chris Fitzsimmons, Mrs. Oscar Bollinger, and Richard and Donald Bollinger.

8,760 Washtenaw Residents Have Free Chest X-Rays

Tabulation of figures for the Chest x-ray program just completed in Washtenaw county show that a total of 8,760 people took advantage of the opportunity for free x-rays. This was approximately 800 less than last year's total.

In Chelsea, 200 people were x-rayed March 17 and 254 on March 18. In Dexter the following week 170 were x-rayed March 24 and 198 on March 25.

The Washtenaw county Health Department expects that reports of the x-rays should be available in approximately three weeks.

Census of Population, Housing Will Begin April 1 Throughout Nation

Sixty million householders will be interviewed by census officials beginning April 1 in all the 50 states of the nation. This is the 18th census of population and housing in the United States—and in some ways—it might be the most interesting ever taken. The first census was taken 170 years ago, in 1790. Thomas Jefferson was then Secretary of State.

Among other things, the census, which is taken every 10 years, is expected to show trends which will influence business, cities and states, and even sections of the country. The states and sections will be interested to know how their population is being affected, where it is growing, and where citizens are decreasing in number.

The census will also show what is happening to farm and city populations, whether the suburbs are continuing to grow, or growing faster, and whether people are leaving the farms at a fast rate to go to the cities, etc.

One of the major political results of the census will be the fact that on it will be based Congressional representation, as elected in 1962. Because the House of Representatives is limited to 435 seats, after the census is taken it will be determined how many persons each representative will represent. As a result of this census, some states are expected to lose Congressional representation, and others are expected to gain.

For example, California, Texas, Florida and Michigan will undoubtedly gain members in the lower House. The Senate is not affected, since two senators are elected from each state.

A number of eastern states, including New York, will lose Congressional representation as a result of the census.

Predictions are that the population of this country will be about 179 million, which will reflect a rapidly increasing rate of growth for the country.

All in all, we will know much more about ourselves, some of it in a few months, and all the information within a year after the census is completed.

April Fool's Day Approaches....

There is no general agreement among historians as to the origin of April Fools' Day, although it is a day which is observed in most areas of the world, and not just in this country.

It is customary in various countries of the Western world to attempt to catch friends with foolish pranks or jokes on April 1. Anyone fooled by such pranks in France is called a Poisson d'Avril. In French that means April fish. There are some who believe that this is based on the fact that fish are caught easily in April, when the sun is leaving the zodiacal sign of Pisces.

In Scotland, those caught by April Fool pranks are called April gowks. The gowk is a cuckoo.

In the United States, there is no particular term for anyone fooled on April 1, but the custom has, in the past, become so annoying that telephones have been known to be disconnected on April Fools' Day.

Fortunately, April Fools' Day in the United States has developed into a more sane observance in recent years than formerly. As in the case of Halloween, the country's intellect seems to be showing definite improvement in its observance of these prankster days. Maybe this refutes the observation by many who claim that the younger generation is going to the dogs and becoming worse each year.

★ MICHIGAN MIRROR ★

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

New voices in Congress and the Michigan Legislature will be among results of the 1960 census.

Michigan is expected to send two new Congressmen to Washington in 1963 because of a requirement that Congress must reapportion the House of Representatives after each federal census.

Under provisions existing as the new count started, the census will authorize additional representation in the Michigan House. But it would be 1965 before the legislative redistricting takes effect.

The timetable for reapportionment shifts according to population shifts recorded by the census may be too leisurely for proponents of redistricting. Adoption of a reapportionment amendment to the state constitution could change the schedule.

Senate districts created under the 1952 reapportionment amendment would remain frozen no matter what is revealed by the census—unless the 1952 provision is wiped out. This is just what state AFL-CIO President Gus Scholle has asked the Supreme Court to do.

It is possible attempts will be made to revise the apportionment of both the Senate and House through a vote of the people before 1965 rolls around.

The amendment adopted in 1952 stipulated that the House must be reapportioned in 1963 according to outcome of the census, with the new districting to take effect two years later.

The state Board of Canvassers would draw up the new districts if the legislature failed to act on reapportionment in 1963.

Census-takers are expected to find that Michigan has a population of about 2,000,000, or 1,700,000 more than she had when the 1950 census was taken.

This population gain is expected to give Michigan two more Congressmen, bringing the total to 20. One Congressman was added after the 1950 census.

The big question is the boundaries for the new districts. But it's a cinch the populous Wayne-Oakland-Macomb area can expect a louder voice ultimately in Washington and Lansing.

Michigan highways—and the men building them—will be in the forefront of the news this Spring.

The dollar value of trunkline projects let in April is expected to surpass that of any month in state history. More miles are expected to be involved in the April lettings than were in operation throughout the state in 1955.

Already Michigan has completed 20 per cent of its share of the new interstate system, which is 10 per cent complete nationally.

Republicans will concede that Democratic Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie has had success with his ambitious five-year building program.

But Mackie's bulldozers have crushed some toes.

Sen. John Stahlin (R-Belding) claims the second year of his investigation of the Highway Department will produce evidence backing up his contention state highway matters have been mismanaged.

While Mackie builds road, Stahlin will be trying again to build a fire under Mackie.

The latest Detroit official to run for governor is cut from different cloth than the late Detroit Mayor Albert E. Cobo, who never quite got across to the outside voters when he ran against Gov. G. Mennen Williams in 1950.

Detroit Councilman Edward Connor sparks more enthusiasm in his speaking engagements than Cobo did in his campaigns.

But Connor, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, still has the problem of overcoming resistance among some outstate voters who are not quick to accept an elected Detroit official for state-wide office.

The name Connor probably means less to outstate voters at this point than the name Cobo did when he first announced.

However, Connor's work in the State Association of Supervisors is expected to win him support

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Me and my old lady was going to church Sunday morning and I had to drive 10 mile a hour for about two mile behind a fool woman driver on account of not being able to get around her. I finally passed her just as we had to stop afore getting into the highway, giving her a mighty mean look as I went by. She pulled up aside me at the highway, stuck her head out the window and hollered "If you're going to church, get in a better humor!" It shore did make me feel cheeper'n a wood nickel.

They wasn't many folks at church on account of a little rain and the preacher started off by saying it was a funny thing to see how 50 drops of rain could keep 100 folks from church. It got him in a bad humor and he worked the congregation over good, especially them that was absent. He finally got on the subject of people being money crazy and allowed as how the pore and humble and ignorant would git to heaven first. I been humble and ignorant all my life but I ain't never been able to work up any great joy over the blessings of poverty. Just between me and you, Mister Editor, that woman hollered in about 10 words than our preacher give us in a hour and 10 minutes. I reckon preachers, like everybody else, has their off days.

Well, the tax assessor was out our way sneaking around last week, which is mighty bad in a election year. But I found out a long time ago it gits you no place to argue with a tax assessor. His mind was made up afore he ever looked at your property, maybe afore he got out of bed that morning. Arguing with them tax fellers is worse than arguing with a woman, which is about like trying to read the newspaper in a high wind. I give up on the fair sex when we got girl bull fighters and wimmen rasslers, and when the tax assessor got to measuring the pitch of my barn roof, I sold my head and got me a rocking chair. Them cannibals out on that island in the Pacific has got the only fool-proof solution I've ever saw for the tax situation. They eat the tax collector.

My old lady come home this morning from shopping and got out her old trunk and started counting her Great-Grandpas' Confederate money. I was curious but didn't let on I was looking. Wimmen is funny that way and sometimes you git more information if you just keep quiet. But I finally give up and ask her what she was doing with that Confederate money. She said she had just decided that Confederate money was now worth about the same as U. S. money and she wanted to see how much she had.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

Miriani Offers Detroit Welfare Load to State

Detroit's Mayor Miriani has a gift for the taxpayers of all Michigan. It's called a "Welfare Empire."

This empire has become so costly a part of his municipal government, the benevolent Mayor wants the taxpayers from the Indiana line to the Minnesota border to take it off his hands and thus relieve the burdened people of his Democratic citadel.

Miriani doesn't offer his whole government for adoption by the state, understand. Just the welfare agencies which are eating tax dollars faster than he can collect them—agencies such as direct relief, aid to dependent children, health and social services.

You can picture the quick-thinking Mayor meeting last week with his department heads to wrestle with the problem of high taxes.

Most of Detroit's big industries, and scores of small manufacturers and businessmen, had been pleading unsuccessfully for a reduction in their high tax assessments.

Municipal taxes, added to high state taxes on business, is strangling them, the industrialists and small businessmen complained.

Chrysler has been threatening to move out, Kit and Kaboodle. So Miriani looks from his window pensively, noticing Cobo Hall nearing completion at a cost of $57 million to Detroiters. Maybe he concluded correctly that the state wouldn't take off his hands this biggest and ugliest white elephant in all white elephant history.

He turns to his advisers with a bright idea.

"Let's give the state all our welfare agencies," Mayor Miriani says. "Then we will be able to balance the budget and cut taxes."

Probably everyone applauded the brilliance of their leader. Maybe Miriani was thinking that if he is elected Governor some day, he could shift the package back to the city and thus strengthen himself with voters outstate.

It happens that there is an astonishing and factual article on Detroit's welfare woes in the April issue of "The Atlantic," one of the nation's most respected and literate magazines. The piece is titled "Detroit's Welfare Empire." The author is Ray Moseley, a young Texan who is a reporter on "The Detroit Free Press."

Moseley tells how Detroit's industries, harried by the labor shortage during World War II and the Korean War, sought manpower in the south. The article continues:

"Today there are 45,000 people on the city's welfare rolls, 75 per cent of whom are migrants and 80 per cent of whom are Negroes. The cost of supporting them is almost $30 million a year."

"The state and county governments spend another $30 million or so throughout Wayne county on general relief and aid to dependent children, and total welfare spending in the state in these two areas runs to about $114 million a year."

The article points out that unemployment in Michigan is twice the normal rate and totals 95,000 in the Detroit area alone.

Moseley continues: "Most of the migrants who come to cities such as Detroit from the south generally find that it is much easier to get public assistance in their new homes than it was in the places they left behind. If they are Negroes, they find that potential voters they have more political power than they could dream of possessing in the south."

"Political officeholders are eager to cultivate them in every possible way. Public welfare is one of the ways. As a rule, they like to see it burdened with restrictions."

"In Michigan, migrants technically must live in the state one year to be eligible for public assistance, but the law provides that 'temporary assistance' be given to those with less than a year's residence. They can add to the length of their residence while they are receiving temporary aid, and the law defines 'temporary'."

"So hundreds of welfare citizens have been getting temporary assistance for years, rendering residence requirement useless."

For the details of this happy arrangement, and specific case histories, get "The Atlantic for April."

Members of the State Welfare Commission, all of whom are Democrats, over the whole cost of Detroit's direct relief program last January without consulting the legislature.

This arrangement is supposed to end July 1, for the law stipulates that, under normal circumstances, the state government shall pay only 30 per cent.

It would be surprising, indeed, if taxpayers throughout Michigan accept Mayor Miriani's profit gift.

Yet the offer is not out of line with the program of the Democratic party for bigger and better social assistance—emanating from Lansing.

Legislators Work Under Difficult Conditions

Lansing—As this session of the legislature moves into its final weeks, it is appropriate to ask whether the people are getting the kind of service they should be getting from this branch of their state government.

It is my belief they are not. And this is not necessarily the fault of individual legislators.

Many times I have disagreed sharply with the actions of particular legislators, but I have recognized at the same time that the legislature as such needed help if it was to do its job.

It is an accepted fact that even the best men may not be able to do a good job under a bad system. Conditions under which our legislators must do their work are far from favorable.

There is lack of adequate office space for the legislators, lack of caucus and hearing rooms, and a lack of stenographic, clerical and expert assistance. The Legislative Service Bureau is cruelly overworked.

To improve the operations of the legislature, I am urging a series of improvements. The work of this branch of government is far too important to be hampered by inadequate tools. I would like to see action taken to:

1. Improve the physical facilities for legislators.

2. Improve the staff services of the legislature. I suggested a Legislative Council which sets up a council of about 15 legislators from both Houses plus a "corps of experts" to work the year-around to develop legislative policy.

3. Improve the pay for legislators. It is my opinion that the present $4,000 annual salary plus $1,000 expenses is far too low.

4. Reapportion the legislature to achieve more nearly the ideal of every man's vote counting the same as every other man's vote.

5. Hold the disruptive spring elections at another time. Spring election, in odd-numbered years seriously disrupts the legislative session.

Legislators of both parties forced to work under almost impossible conditions. They have the office facilities, the hearing rooms, or the staff help to their job right. The conditions (Continued on page four)

The Way the Ball Bounces

With Tom Johnston

★ Baseball Practice Gets Underway Slowly . . .

Well, I finally feel as if I've gotten reorganized after the last few weeks of basketball, including tournament play. The tournaments themselves bought up some items worth making a comment on. First, the downfall of University High, who in our opinion should have gone at least to the state semi-finals. That is if they hadn't had what I call the worst second half letdown that I've ever watched. Of course, the Cubs and Chelsea will be the favorites when another season rolls around. Both clubs will have a good group of regulars back, which should provide an exciting race again next year.

By the way, our broadcasts of the basketball season went so well this year, and met with such a fine response, that the broadcast of the "game of the week" in football is all but a reality.

The long lasting winter weather has really cramped spring baseball practice. On the high school level, workouts on the gym, which by the way, had been limited, have been able to get in. This was true too of the University of Michigan. Coach Don Lund however was able to take his team to the great southwest, where they got off to a winning start. This will be the second season for the "Tiger" at the helm of Wolverine baseball fortunes, and from all points of view, it should be a winning one. Don will have an all-veteran team returning, and is certain to be a power in the Big Ten race. I think that the U. of M. was fortunate to get a fellow like Lund to take over their baseball program. He has served in the majors as a player, as a scout, and as a coach. In our opinion, Don Lund will do much to build baseball at Ann Arbor.

Speaking of Michigan, this is the time of year when you'll see unhappy coaches around the land. Why? Because they'll be receiving letters from boys across the nation requesting admittance to the University, and the letters will say, "I've got a 'C' average. And fellows, it's getting so that's just not good enough anymore. It may already be too late for you seniors, so I hope that the juniors listening in will make the effort at least during their last year."

Wilt Chamberlain announced this past week that he had about all he could take in the National Basketball Association.

He said he was quitting the NBS. Philadelphia Warriors owner Eddie Gottlieb—Chamberlain's boss—was stunned by the announcement. He said it just couldn't be so.

But according to Wilt, there's not enough money in the NBA to bring him back. Certainly Chamberlain is leaving the NBA on a high note. He topped just about every scoring and rebounding record in sight—eight to be exact—and finished the regular campaign with an amazing 37.6 average.

Reports were flying all over the place at week's end. One was that Wilt will rejoin his old boss, Abe Superstein, and the Harlem Globetrotters. Another was that the seven-foot-plus center would hook up with a club in a new pro league. But that circuit is still very much in the talking stage.

Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson has been named College Basketball Player of the Year for the second time by the Helms Athletic Foundation.

Robertson also made the Helms Foundation All-American team for the third year. The Cincinnati athlete, who set the National College scoring record during his three-year career, was placed at a forward spot on the 10-man team.

Other forwards on the Helms All-American first team are Tom Sanders of New York University, Jerry West of West Virginia, and Tom Stith of St. Bonaventure. Darrell Imhoff of California and Jerry Lucas of Ohio State were picked as the team's centers. The All-American Guards are Tom Wilkins of Providence, James Darrow of Bowling Green, William Kennedy of Temple and Roger Kaiser of Georgia Tech.

Lucas is the only sophomore honored by the Helms Foundation this year. Stith and Kaiser are juniors and the rest of the team members are seniors.

Most Major League baseball managers play a hunch once in a while—some oftener than others. When they guess right and the hunch pays off, they're heroes in the eyes of the fans. . . . when the strategy backfires, they're branded as bums. . . . at least for the moment.

Connie Mack was one manager who didn't play hunches very often. He didn't have to. In 1929, he was managing one of the best teams ever assembled.

His Philadelphia Athletics had finished the season 18 full games ahead of second-place New York . . . and they had a fine pitching staff.

There was George Earnshaw who won 24 games that year and lost only eight. . . . Lefty Grove with an 20-and-6 record. . . . Rube Walborg at 18-and-11. . . . Ed Rempel with 12-and-2. Even 44-year-old John Quinn had won 11 and lost nine.

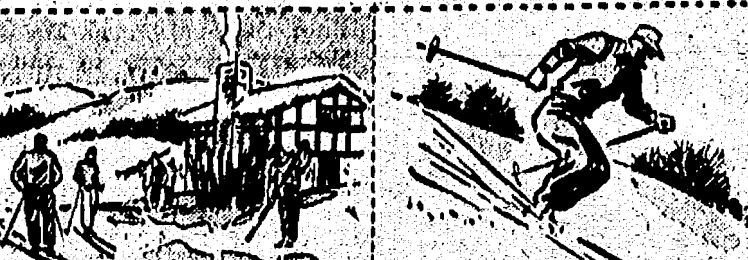

When it came time for the first World Series game with the Chicago Cubs, everybody figured he

John Lixey Wins Cubs' Derby

John Lixey was the first place winner in the Pinewood Derby sponsored by Cub Scout Pack 125 and held last Thursday at South Elementary school. Lixey received a trophy for winning the event. Jack Risner, whose miniature car earned him second place was presented with a Scout knife as his prize and Mike Grob, whose car won third place, was given a tie clasp as a prize.

Preliminary run-offs had been held at South Elementary school the previous Saturday.

One boy from each of nine dens was chosen to participate in the finals. The boy chosen was the one in each den whose miniature wooden derby racer won over the others in his den.

The nine finalists were Mike Grob of Mrs. Orlovski's Den No. 1; Eltia Borders, Mrs. Holliday's Den No. 2; Tom Gardner, Mrs. Saul's Den No. 3; John Lixey, Mrs. Hoelzer's Den No. 5; Paul Schnake, Mrs. Worden's Den No. 6; John Potts, Mrs. Blackwell's Den No. 7; Harry Burnett, Mrs. Weatherwax's Den No. 8; Jack Risner, Mrs. Burghardt's Den No. 9; and Daniel Maurer, Mrs. Marshall's Den No. 10.

Each boy who participated received a comb and case and each runner-up was given a rope trick as a prize.

The derby event is an annual father and son project in Cub Scout Pack No. 125. The kits containing the material for building the derby racers are purchased through the Cub Scout Pack and fathers assist their sons in preparing for the race.

Following the preliminary run-offs the racers of the semi-finalists were put on display in the window of Strider's Men's Wear store and remained there until the final Thursday.

The Pinewood Derby championship finals took place at the monthly meeting of Cub Scout Pack 125.

The meeting was opened with a prayer by the Rev. Paul M. Schnake and an opening ceremony by Mrs. Blackwell's Den No. 7.

Mrs. Orlovski's Den No. 1 sang, Dens 1, 3 and 7 had exhibits on display; and Mrs. Blackwell's Den No. 7 had charge of the closing ceremony.

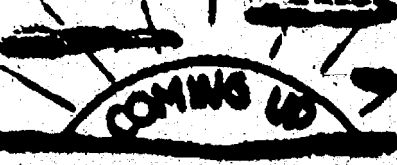

Cubmaster W. J. Grossman presided at the meeting.

Awards earned by Cub Scouts were presented by their parents. It was announced that to gain Webelos rating, Cub Scouts must have their Lion's badge and the book must be signed by the Cubmaster.

Committee meetings hereafter are to be held on the first Thursday of the month, according to announcements at Thursday's Pack meeting.

Chelsea High School Choir went to Pease Auditorium at Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti on March 24. After a ten o'clock arrival they listened to choirs from Taylor Center and Ann Arbor High. CHS choir then changed into robes and sang "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desire" and "Gloria."

After a luncheon at McKenny Hall, they went back to Pease Auditorium to listen to other choirs about 30 of which participated. They turned in a splendid performance.

The purpose of such an expedition is to give choirs a chance to compare their achievement with others' achievements; to get technical criticism from well-trained experts; and pick up an inspiration and incentive to do better.

Our choir rated a "2" with an "A" on sight-reading.

Prof. Delmont K. Byrn, co-director of guidance and counseling at the University of Michigan, addressed CHS honor students Friday at the first such ceremony in the new school.

Speaking to the 10 seniors, the 18 juniors, the 15 sophomores, and 93 freshmen on the honors list, he told them that the habits they formed in high school would follow them through life. "If you succeed here, you may and can succeed anywhere you choose to go," he said, referring both to higher education and to vocation.

Of the 87 on the honors list, 12 had at least an A- average for the first semester of 1959-60. The choir and the band also participated.

Marine Scouts Sue Eisenbeiser, Carol Cameron, Diane Hayes, Kathryn Kinde, Sue Grossman, Pat O'Neill, Susie McCarty, Herman and Cesann McCarthy, chaperoned by Mrs. Cameron and Mrs. Eisenbeiser, made a land voyage to Detroit last week-end. The purpose of the trip was to give the girls experience in making reservations, plans, budgeting the cost, etc., but the chief purpose was for a good time. They attended cinerama, did some shopping, made a tour of a beauty salon, and attended a big church in downtown Detroit. They claim they had a wonderful time.

Student Council treasurer Ruth Prentice made a complete financial summary of the year's activities at a recent meeting. The group also completed the plans for the seating arrangement at the honors assembly; planned an assembly for April.

Sherry Williams, 10th grade, is a new member of the high school library club. She works with Alice Eschelbach on science books.

Dave Talbot, 10th grade, is a student typist for the high school library club.

Mrs. Ed Kayser and Mrs. Fred Schumm did volunteer work in the library the week before Spring Vacation.

SPECIAL REQUESTS
Requests for information include calls for back issues of Seventeen magazines for new hairstyles for girls; the name and address of the company which publishes car manuals; Detroit telephone numbers; limericks (five-line humorous poems); wedding plans; how to do hair and make-up (needed for a job at a summer camp); the problems during the reign of Queen Esther; entrance requirements for Eastern Michigan University; and airline routes of the U. S.; and hints on how to study.

HONOR STUDENTS IN LIBRARY
Elaine Eder, 9th grade, and Dorothy Martin, 9th grade, library assistants in the high school library, were among the honor students at the Honors Assembly, Friday, March 25.

Mrs. J. V. Fisher, State Chairman, Reading and Library Service, Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers, was a discussion leader at the 10th Annual Conference of Michigan School Librarians in Ann Arbor on March 19 at which the new 1960 American Library Association School Library Standards were presented.

In her recent letter to school librarians in Michigan Mrs. Fisher stated that "there is an increased interest on the part of librarians in working with this committee as a means of publicizing the new 'ALA School Library Standards'."

and through this committee (with the approval of school authorities) in taking positive action to meet the standards in their own communities.

Mrs. Carl Schwieger is the Reading and Library Service Committee chairman for the Chelsea PTA.

To celebrate National Library Week, April 3-9, the school libraries of Chelsea will have open-house during the school day to acquaint parents and friends with the program of the libraries.

Members of the Reading and Library Service Committee and the library staff are looking forward to meeting visitors at the North Elementary School, the South Elementary School, the Junior High School, and the Senior High School.

Inasmuch as the Reading and Library Service Committee plans to hold a used-book sale at the annual PTA Carnival, parents are invited to bring books, magazines, and records which are no longer needed at home. Students may also contribute books for the Carnival.

Special displays will be in the exhibit cases at the schools. The doll collection in the Holmes family will be at the South Elementary school. Copies of the books on the 1959 American Library Association list of interesting adult books and the 1959 ALA list of Notable Books will be on display in the senior high school library. Prize-winning Newbery-Caldecott Award library work as a career.

Hated Crabgrass Meets Its Match

Think of all those crabgrass seeds in the soil, just waiting to sprout. Think how you can frustrate them, with HALTS® One winter application lays down a "barrier" that picks off crabgrass as it sprouts. Protect your lawn from ugly crabgrass.
