CHS Baseball Team Has 12 Lettermen

First Home Game Scheduled Monday With Stockbridge

Candidates for the 1960 Chelsea High school baseball team are small in number, but not in experience, and therefore the outlook for the coming season is good, according to coach Robert Taylor.

Since Chelsea's leading 1959 Washtenaw Conference with 13 points, and Saline is close behind in the race for the All-Sports Trophy, the outcome of the baseball season will play a very important part in determining the winning school.

With this thought firmly imbedded in the minds of all spring sports candidates, 18 baseball men reported for early drills about three weeks ago and are working hard to be ready for their conference opener on Tuesday, April 19, with Pinckney, at Chelsea.

Weather conditions being poor, all work-outs have been confined to indoor drills in the gym.

Three non-conference games are scheduled to be played before the

4-H Achievement

More than 1,500 4-H members, parents and friends viewed the exhibits at the Spring Achievement program held at the Ann Arbor High school on Wednesday, March 30.

The exhibits climaxed the winter work for 63 4-H clubs in Washtenaw county.

These club members will now be looking forward to the summer 4-H program and many new experiences which are available through 4-H.

Awards were presented to the following 4-H members for their fine work during this past winter's program, according to James M. Hutchinsan, county 4-H club agent.

Winners of Winter Club Contests presented by State Bank & Trust Co. to the outstanding winter club:

Jolly Farmerettes, Manchester, led by Mrs. Erwin Paul, Mrs. Willa Hassett, Mrs. Bernard Kemner, and Mrs. Reno Erdkamp.

merre-members held their annual election of officers Tuesday evening at a meeting held at the home of Merle Leach. Leach was elected to succeed the outgoing president, Robert Vanderkelen.

Others elected are Lyle Christwell, first vice-president; Daniel Maroney, second vice-president; Charles Galman, secretary; Raymond Steinbach, treasurer; and Jay Hopkins, Gene Shoemaker and George Winchester, directors.

Vanderkelen announced that he and Elton Guenther planned to attend last night's district meeting at Ypsilanti.

Thieves Hit Anderson's Dept. Store

Anderson's Department Store in downtown Chelsea was broken into some time between 1 p.m. Sunday and the time the store was opened for business Monday morning, the break-in netting the thieves $250 in cash.

The remainder of the store was not disturbed and no merchandise was stolen.

Council Okays Proposed Budget Of $165,294

meeting Tuesday night at their regular Tuesday night, the Village Council instructed Harold Strout and the village attorney to draw up, for Council approval, a new sewer ordinance. The new rates are to be based upon sewer usage as determined by water consumption rather than by the current flat rate method now in effect.

The Council feels that the new method will be far more equitable, with all users paying their just share.

The new rates, which will become effective July 1, 1960, are necessary in order to put the disposal plant on a self-supporting basis, which it has not been for some years.

In other action, after lengthy discussion the Village Council approved the 1960 fund raising drive of the local chapter of the American Cancer Society. The approval came only after it was agreed to send letters to the local chapter and the national organization strongly recommending that in the future they join in the Community Chest.

The tax rate set for 1960 remains the same as last year which is 12 mills for the general fund and 1 mill for the library fund; however, because of the election terest and principal payments on the $235,000 borrowed on the general obligation bond issue for financing the project.

Total assessed valuation in the village this year, as reported by Assessor Thomas Smith is $3,822,900. Of the total amount $1,626,400 is on personal property and $2,695,400 on real estate.

The Village budget of $165,204 for 1960 was also accepted at the meeting.

There was some discussion pertaining to the national "Civil Defense Operation Alert" scheduled for May 3, 4 and 5, especially in relation to plans for "evacuation" of Ann Arbor and setting up county seat government headquarters in Chelsea's Municipal building.

Mrs. Lucille Olson, cafeteria director at Chelsea High school, was in Grand Rapids Friday and Saturday to attend the Michigan School Food Service Association convention held at the Pantlind Hotel.

Mrs. Richard Abdon returned home Saturday from St. Joseph Mercy hospital, Ann Arbor, much improved in health.

Dexter Caravan Is 'Terrific' But Wait Until Friday Night!

Dear Boss:

Well, we got home. They don't have parties like that where I came from. Boss. That Dexter at home was so good that if someone had been selling $5 tickets as we drove into town I would have paid to get in.

Why, who ever heard of fellows standing in the center of a main intersection and stopping cars so they could give the drivers hand-kisses.

And did you see that lady do the Charleston right along with the Chelsea dancers. She even got that man with the big hat and the cigar to do a solo dance in front of everyone. Someone said he was the president of the Chamber of Commerce, but it doesn't seem like that could be true.

Anyway, Boss, I've been in town now for three weeks, and you know how a person sort of gets to know the people he works with and a few others. Not so here, at every one of these Minstrel show get-togethers I've met people I wouldn't normally get a chance to meet, and everyone has a terrific time together. What a town!

The next big event is going to be Friday, night uptown at 7:15. They're making arrangements for several hundred people, and if it's anything like it was at Dexter, there will be a regular traffic jam when those Keystone Kops start directing traffic. I know they're going to have some sort of a makeshift orchestra and a piano player for community singing and another guy has imported two burros from Mexico especially for this affair Friday night. Some of the minstrel people will be there, too.

Boss, have you been to one of these affairs yet? Everyone that's going is having more fun than a barrel of monkeys (did you see those barrels on the street corners uptown?)

Say, I almost forgot the most important announcement. Friday night, April 8, at 8 o'clock, the first meeting of all the cast will be held in the gymnasium of the Junior High school on East St. Jerry Niehaus (I know most of these fellows by their first names now, Boss) claims there are more than 180 people signed up to be in the cast, but can you believe it, they still want and need more chorus members. If I weren't a member of the press, I sure would sign up.

The school kids are all going to see a matinee of the show at a reduced price during the last week of rehearsal.

That Vanderkelen fellow mentioned that tickets will be exchanged in the front office of the Municipal Building starting Tuesday, April 12 from 1:30 to 5 in the afternoon. If a fellow shows up early with his dollar coupon he can just about pick the seat he wants in the auditorium, and certainly won't have any problem getting tickets for the night he prefers, April 21, 22, or 23.

Boss, do you ever advance your employees a little on next week's wages. I'm having a lot of fun, but it sure does have a lightening effect on my billfold.

See you Friday night—uptown.

Your faithful
P.S.—Hope everyone comes uptown again. Friday night for special street entertainment like last summer's 128th anniversary Friday night programs.

WHO IS HE?—Here is a contest to stump all you oldtime residents. Perhaps he is your next door neighbor—probably someone you all know well. Try your luck at guessing the man. The first five people to correctly identify the "mystery man," who is a resident of Chelms, will receive free tickets to Chelms's Old Time Minstrel Show and Vaudeville Extravaganza, April 21, 22 and 23. Anyone wishing to guess the identity of this character must, present, in writing, the name he or she thinks best fits the description. The contest is open to one of the three ticket sales offices—Wallace Wood, Secretary of Farmers' Supply.

New Class Series Is Arranged for Expectant Parents

When the new series of Expectant Parents' Classes begins in Room 1 in the basement of the County Building Thursday nights, those present will hear Mrs. Naomi Ament, public health nurse, discuss how the baby grows before birth. Mrs. Ament's discussion will be designed to provide an overview of the entire program of Expectant Parents' Classes as well as to help the parents to develop an understanding of how their baby grows before birth.

This new series of classes will meet each Thursday night in the County Building for the next seven weeks.

Registration may be accomplished at the class meeting and the registration will be open at 7 p.m. to allow ample time for registration before the class begins at 7:30 p.m. Registration fee for the entire series is $2.50 per couple. This includes not only the seven classes, but a special class for the father only. A tour of the maternity wards of the local hospitals is arranged.

Census Supervisor

Urges Prompt Return Of 'Blue' Forms

John R. Thomson, Jr., district supervisor for the 1950 Census of Population and Housing, today urged area residents who have received "sample" questionnaires to fill out the forms and mail them promptly to the district office at 109 Francis St., Jackson.

The sample questionnaires printed on blue paper, were left at every fourth household during the first stage of the census which is now in progress. These questionnaires contained the detailed population and housing questions which are asked of a 25 per cent sample of the population. By using only a sample of the population, the Census Bureau is able to collect important information about the nation's people at a fraction of the cost of a complete canvass.

The success of the Census depends upon the co-operation of local residents in filling out these forms and mailing them promptly, Thomson said. He pointed out that all information furnished to the Census Bureau is kept in strict confidence under federal law and cannot be used for taxation, regulation, or investigation.

Wallace Wood Named To Insurance Firm's Top Ten Agent List

Wallace Wood has been named as one of State Mutual Insurance Company's top ten agents for the month of February according to the firm's president, Holley K. Fisk.

Wood gained his position on the "Top Ten" list through his outstanding sales record for the month.

Wood has been a State Mutual agent since 1947.

The Way the Ball Bounces

With Tom Johnston

Michigan State favors continued post-season athletic contests for teams in the Big Ten.

The school's Athletic Board has voted to oppose a ban on post-season competition and a proposal against individual bids to the Rose Bowl.

Final action on the questions will come up at a Big Ten meeting in East Lansing May 18.

The Big Ten already has voted to end its contract for Rose Bowl competition. At issue now is opposition by some other schools to a Big Ten by-law that would permit individual acceptance.

The ban on all post-season sports was pushed through by athletic directors in protest against the stand of some faculties on the Rose Bowl.

When the Major League's newest baseball park opens in San Francisco next month the president of the American League will be an honored guest.

It won't matter that this park in San Francisco is the home of a National League team.

Joe Cronin will be one of the happiest and most proud men in the stands. Had it not been for Cronin, Major League baseball still might not be in San Francisco.

Joe is a San Francisco native and always has had a soft spot in his heart for the city by the Golden Gate. As a youngster, Cronin played baseball there. He signed his first professional contract at San Francisco . . . with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

That was in 1925 and a lot of water has passed under the bridge since. After a spectacular playing and managing career, Cronin was named general manager of the Red Sox.

He was instrumental in moving the spring training quarters from Sarasota, Fla., to Scottsdale, Ariz. But, he will be more remembered for the purchase of the San Francisco Seals from a group of citizens in 1956.

The Red Sox had the Seals just two years but in 1957 they won the Pacific Coast League pennant. The next year the New York Giants moved to the west coast.

Cronin was as much responsible for bringing Major League baseball to San Francisco as anyone. He agreed to trade the San Francisco area for the Giants' Minneapolis franchise, and the Seals moved to Minnesota.

When the Red Sox took over the San Francisco Seals, Cronin did not forget an old friend. He named Jerry Donovan, former Pacific Coast League outfielder, as head of the Boston-owned club.

Donovan still is in San Francisco, although now with the Giants. He is business manager of the club and had all the headaches of preparing Candlestick Park for the 1960 season.

The pair grew up as kids together and have always been the closest of friends. When the Seals left San Francisco, Donovan stayed on with the Giants.

Stoneham has never been sorry he took Cronin's suggestion and retained Donovan.

"The big, good-natured Irishman has been invaluable to us," says Stoneham. "And we hope he'll be with us forever. Jerry has done a tremendous job and we are grateful."

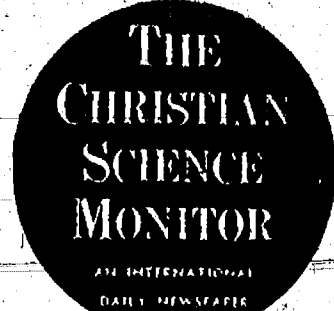

In 1957, Cronin was given a hero's welcome, with a parade and all the trimmings. He probably won't get a parade this time but one thing is certain . . . he has the undying gratitude of every Bay Area baseball fan for his help and co-operation in bringing the Majors to San Francisco.

Cronin will be the special guest of Horace Stoneham at the opener. He will be home again and there won't be a man in the stands any happier.

The pitching staff should greatly improve its win-loss record as four juniors are returning with two years of experience which includes summer ball. Pitchers are Jerry Ringe, Homer Nixon, Don Bialock, and Mike Marsh who is also the returning shortstop.

In the infield, there will be returning lettermen at all positions, which include first baseman Charles Koehn, second baseman Matt Murphy, shortstop Mike Marsh, and third baseman Ed Lauson.

Other infield candidates are Kenny Larson, Roger Lehman, and Gary Cattell, with Charles Waller and Don Brooks being infield and outfield candidates.

The catching is in good hands as Alton Nixon, returning letterman, is available for service again this year. Behind Alton is a fine receiver in Don Atkinson who can also play the outfield or the infield.

The outfield is where real competition for positions is taking place, with returning letterman Richie Wood, George Wilson, and Charles Cameron, plus the mound staff members not working on that particular day.

All in hot contention for positions in addition to these men, sophomore Don Martin is also a candidate, along with Charles Waller, Don Brooks and Don Atkinson. Hitting will no doubt be the determining factor in the race for outfield positions.

Not only will hitting determine who plays in the outfield, but it is also the question that must be correctly answered if the Bulldogs are to improve their offense this year. We know that we should get good pitching, the catching will be good and the infield will be weak at no position, the outfield should be much improved, but will we "hit," that's the question.

The schedule is as follows:

April 8—Lincoln, there, 4:00 p.m.
April 11—Stockbridge, here, 4:30 p.m.
April 15—Leslie, here, 4:30 p.m.

Every now and then we get into an extensive public discussion on how fast the money supply should increase. We are now in one of those periods.

Back of the argument is the belief that a more rapid growth of the money supply would mean faster economic growth for the economy as a whole. This clearly is the viewpoint of the Democratic majority of the Joint Economic Committee under the chairmanship of Senator Paul Douglas. The issue is nothing like as simple as that.

What 'Money Supply' Denotes
 The money supply usually is meant to include the checking accounts, or demand deposits, of commercial banks and the money and currency held outside banks. This is the most restricted definition of money supply. Some persons insist upon including time deposits as well as demand deposits. That gives a much larger total and also shows a much more rapid increase.

The reason for not including time deposits is that under the law one may be required to give notice before withdrawal. In consequence time deposits are quite distinct from demand deposits. In the case of a demand deposit one may write a check transferring an indicated amount to anyone else. With a time deposit the most that one may do is write a check which the bank will cash for the depositor. Savings deposits, of course, are identical in this respect with time deposits.

Velocity of Money Supply
 Another confusing element is the rate of turnover, or velocity of the money supply. The data on this are collected by the Federal Reserve Board. An increase in the rate of turnover is the equivalent of an increase in the total money supply from the point of view of the work done.

At the end of 1957 the total of demand deposits and currency outside the banks was $138.6 billion. By the end of 1958 it had risen to $144.2 billion. And by the end of 1959 it stood at $144.9 billion. Turnover of demand deposits increased 5 percent during 1959.

One further preliminary point needs emphasis. This is that only the Federal government and the commercial banks can increase the money supply. The Federal government can do it by running at a deficit; the commercial banks, by increasing their loans and thereby increasing deposits. The Federal Reserve System can influence the lending power of the commercial banks through increasing or decreasing their legal reserves, but it cannot make the commercial banks grant loans. Savings banks only lend what someone has deposited with them and hence do not have the power to enlarge the money supply.

Greater Growth or Inflation?
 Now, would a more rapid increase in the money supply and its turnover in 1959 have given us a greater economic growth, or would it have resulted merely in more inflation?

It is my judgment that it would have given us more inflation. There were individuals and business concerns that did not get all the credit they wanted in 1959, or who had to pay a higher rate than they liked, but this was primarily because of a lack of savings. The way to get more rapid economic growth is not to have the Federal government operate at a deficit, nor to increase the money supply through generous bank loans. The only sound method for obtaining economic growth at a more rapid rate is to have policies which will increase the volume of savings, and encourage their investment.

She was away approximately six weeks.

Conference On Aging Is Planned

Announcement was made this week that plans are being completed for a Washtenaw County Conference on Aging to be held from 9 a.m. to noon, Saturday, April 30 at the new Saline High school.

Co-chairmen of the conference are Anthony Lenzner, executive secretary of the Michigan Legislative Advisory Council on Problems of the Aging, and Mrs. Daniel S. Ling, director of the Ann Arbor Senior Citizens Guild.

Community organizations, governmental agencies, churches, farm, labor and business groups, older people's clubs and many others groups have been invited to attend the county conference. For further information, persons may call Lenzner at NO 2-2246, or Mrs. Ling, NO 8-9014. Discussions at the conference will include such topics as employment, finances, health, housing, preparation for retirement and old age, use of leisure time, and local, state and national resources for meeting the needs of older people.

Groups and organizations planning to have representatives attend the county meeting are asked to conduct a discussion at a meeting prior to the conference to discover those aspects of aging that are of the greatest interest to the membership of their particular group or organization.

Purpose of such discussion would be to reach an agreement on some specific suggestions for dealing with such problems at the local level and have the group's representative make a report at the county conference.

The delegate should bring a short, written statement indicating what topics his or her organization has discussed; what conclusions were reached; and what recommendations, if any, were made. It is hoped that others besides official delegates will attend the county conference. All are welcome, it was stated.

There will be a nominal registration fee for each organization sending representatives.

THE LETTERBOX

Achel C Booster Says We Don't Need Benches

Dear Mr. Editor:

I read a letter of suggestion in your paper, concerning a worthy project for the use of the profits from our community sponsored minstrel show and vaudeville extravaganza which is scheduled two short weeks from today.

Mr. Im a Sitter wants benches placed at convenient locations around our downtown area. His main desire seems to be to sit on a soft maple bench, sheltered from the sun and rain by a large canopy, while he reads the latest magazines.

Now I can understand his point of view that our present seating arrangement consisting solely of a hard plastic covered stool in our local comfort station, surrounded by four walls leaves much to be desired. Surely the view is limited and congenial good fellowship is lacking.

Therefore, I feel that this should be brought out into the light, referring now to the benches, and some constructive thinking applied to this subject.

I believe that our community does not need these benches because nobody has time to sit down. People around here sail right through our anniversary celebration of last year and now more than 150 have signed up for the minstrel show and the whole town seems to be either planning to attend or be in the production.

I think the downtown seating arrangements are quite adequate as they are now, having any sudden epidemic or mass movement toward the lazy side of life which could be caused by the sudden and belated arrival of Spring.

When the people of our community slow down and become sidewalk bench-sitters instead of spread the story of "Chelsea Spirit" from here to Clearwater, Fla., it will then be time enough for benches.

In the immortal words of Bryant, "He who sits down becomes smaller in stature." Let's continue to stand tall and make everyone wish they lived in OUR community.

Sincerely,
 Achel C. Booster.

THE PRINCESS PHONE. It's not very often that we devote a whole column to a single subject, but it's a thrill to introduce to you the beautiful new Princess Phone. It's one of our most exciting new products and we want to tell you all about it!

WHAT'S SO WONDERFUL about the Princess Phone? Everything!

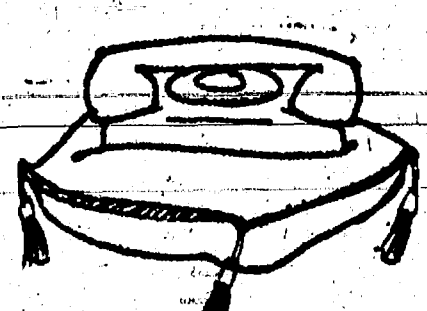

IT'S LITTLE! Small enough to fit easily on top of the narrowest night table (and leave enough room for the alarm clock, too!). The Princess Phone is the most compact telephone you've ever seen.

IT'S LOVELY! Five attractive decorator colors: white, beige, blue, pink, and a brand new color for telephones—turquoise. There's a pretty Princess Phone to go with every color scheme—in every room in your house.

IT LIGHTS! With a dial that glows in the dark so you can find it quickly, the Princess Phone lights up brightly when you lift the receiver.

THE PRINCESS PHONE with its glamorous new features costs only pennies a day after a one-time charge. It goes beautifully

- * in the bedroom where the lightup dial is handy
- * in the living room by your favorite chair
- * in the kitchen to help you run your home
- * in a teen-ager's room to give privacy

Order your new Princess Phone soon. Call or visit your telephone business office—or ask the man in the telephone truck.

PARTING SHOT: Here's one way for a husband to make his wife feel like a queen: give her a Princess Phone!

THANK YOU

I wish to thank all my relatives, friends and neighbors for the cards, plants, gifts and calls while I was at the hospital and since my return home. I especially want to thank the Rev. Paul Schenke for his calls at the hospital and since my return home and especially for his prayers and for his comforting words which were deeply appreciated.

Walter Trinkle.

THANK YOU

I wish to express my grateful thanks for the cards, flowers, and gifts I received while I was a patient at the hospital and since my return home. Thanks, also, to Beckwell-Standard for the use of the radio; the Rev. Paul M. Schenke for his calls; those who visited me and all who remembered me in any way. Sincerely, Honor Kuhl.

THANK YOU

I wish to express my appreciation to my classmates for their remembrances; my neighbors, relatives and friends for cookies, fruit, candy and cards; Sisters of St. Mary's for their prayers and visits; and everyone who inquired about me or visited me during my stay at the hospital and since my return home. Thanks. Sincerely,
Billy Dettling.

THANK YOU

Many thanks to all my relatives, friends and neighbors for cards and flowers; Salem Grove WSCS for fruit; the Rev. Harry Pyscher for his visits; and everyone who so thoughtfully remembered me in any way during my stay at the hospital and since my return home. Mrs. Chester Notten.

THANK YOU

We wish to thank the men of the Chelsea Fire Department for their prompt response to our call for aid, and the efficient way they handled their job. Due to their training and good equipment we thank God that we still have a home in which to live. Chelsea should appreciate and be proud to have such a fine fire department.

NEW EAST ROUND LANE UNDER CONSTRUCTION

LOW BIDDERS were to be determined in Lansing April 6 on this 5.4-mile section of the US-12 expressway eastbound lane in Washtenaw county, the Highway Department announced. It will complete the new highway except for a five-mile gap between Parker Rd. and the end of the expressway west of Ann Arbor. It is one of the 52 contracts which were let April 6. They will provide 35 miles of expressway in six counties. The Washtenaw project also calls for interchanges at Pierce Rd., and M-92 and a grade separation at Freer Rd. Completion date on this job is June 30, 1961.

Michigan Bell Company Introduces New Lightweight 'Princess' Telephone

Michigan Bell Telephone Company is now offering to the public a new small, lightweight telephone representing the first major change in home telephone design in more than a decade.

The new phone, called "The Princess," is a compact, oval-shaped instrument requiring one third less space than current desk-type telephones.

Only 8 1/2 inches wide, 3 1/2 inches deep, and 4 inches high, it saves five inches in depth and stands two inches lower than its predecessor. The Princess weighs 42 ounces, nearly three pounds less than most current desk models.

Designed to take a minimum of space on bed headboards, dressing tables, coffee tables, or wall shelves, the phone is a result of five years of research by Henry Dreyfuss, industrial designer, and Bell Telephone Laboratories.

The premium priced phone comes in five colors—white, beige, turquoise, pink, and blue. It is equipped with a dial that lights when the receiver is lifted, or glows as a night light at the flick of a switch.

Now displayed at local Bell telephone business offices, the Princess represents the sixth major telephone alteration since Alexander Graham Bell's original invention in 1876.

By 1882, the earliest table and wall "voice boxes" were converted to a slightly more simplified and efficient unit placed on the wall. It had a heavy receiver and loose, dangling wires.

In 1886 came the movable stand-up desk set. This model you could clasp in one hand with the receiver held in the other. With variations, it continued through World War I and the Jazz Age.

In 1927, a radical change took place with the handset model, popularly called the "French phone," although invented in this country.

A telephone transmitter and receiver were mounted on the same handle, the handset that was to revolutionize telephone characteristics.

The "300" model, brought out in 1937, adhered to the basic handset pattern, except that the wall-mounted ringing mechanism disappeared into the phone base.

The current model "500" desk set was introduced in 1949. As in previous models, a companion wall set also was offered. It echoed functional design and was the first phone to be offered in colors.

Similarly, the Princess reflects the trend toward miniaturization. Four little "feet" on current models have been eliminated. The new model rests on a molded resilient plastic pad which grips any surface and helps provide a lower silhouette.

Bell Laboratories engineers pared the sizes of internal dial and switch assemblies, wires, and coils. The handset, kept unchanged because it best met the head measurements of tens of thousands of persons in studies, was placed directly over the dial instead of on a cradle to the rear. The plastic base is molded to cradle the handset.

The Bell System plans to produce 2,500,000 Princess phones this year. That figure tops the total number of 2,241,000 Bell System phones in 1956.

Curving her tail over her back, the female opossum carries its young as if they were straphangers on a bus.

RISE IN CRIME

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, says that a preliminary check showed an "alarming" increase of 7 per cent in crimes against the person in the nation's largest cities.

The F.B.I. director said that on an over-all basis, there appeared to have been a 1 per cent increase in crime generally in 1959 over the previous year.

Probable Questions, Answers On Constitution Convention

Editor's Note: The League of Women Voters of Michigan has prepared a list of answers to questions which they anticipate will probably be asked during the coming weeks on the subject of a proposed constitutional convention and constitutional revision for the State of Michigan. Some of the questions and answers are as follows:

QUESTION NO. 1— Isn't it a radical and drastic thing to do to change our Constitution which is the fundamental law of our state?

ANSWER NO. 1— The provision for an automatic vote on the question of calling a Constitutional Convention was written into the Michigan Constitution by its framers in 1908, giving each generation the opportunity to keep its government geared to the times by using a democratic process.

Had the framers of our Constitution considered the use of a Convention to be a drastic move, they would not have provided for an automatic vote on the issue.

Each generation should consider this automatic provision an opportunity for critical review and constructive change, as it was intended to be.

Actually, the people's right to make their Constitutional law is a uniquely American tradition, dating back to the Mayflower in 1620 and the Fundamental Orders of Connecticut in 1639. Since the states gained their independence from England, there have been approximately 180 Constitutional Conventions.

QUESTION NO. 2— The Federal Constitution is older than Michigan's and there is no demand for revising it. It would seem that Michigan's would be more up to date. So why change it?

ANSWER NO. 2— True, the Federal Constitution, written in 1787, is much older than Michigan's written in 1908, but the Federal Constitution is simple, brief, and flexible and leaves details to legislation so that it has been adaptable to changing times.

Michigan's Constitution, like those of most other states, is specific and filled with details more properly left to statute, and consequently, not adaptable to changing needs. It is interesting to note, for instance, that the judicial section in the Michigan Constitution contains over 1,500 words, while the Federal Constitution's judicial section has only 388 words. The Federal Constitution mentions finance and taxation in 11 sentences, while the Michigan Constitution devotes over seven pages to finance and taxation. The Federal Constitution has had only 22 amendments, the first 10 of which were added almost immediately as the Bill of Rights. The Michigan Constitution has had 63 amendments, and many of these contain the kind of specific provisions suitable only for solving a particular problem at a particular time and not adaptable to changing needs.

QUESTION NO. 3— How does one know what is a good state constitution?

ANSWER NO. 3— The yardstick upon which political scientists and students of government agree, and which experience has indicated, is that a constitution should establish the basic framework of government, allowing the elected representatives of the people to pass laws to meet the people's changing needs and at the same time protecting them from the abuse of authority. Many of our present state Constitutions do not measure up to this yardstick because they contain out-of-date statutory details that prevent needed laws from being passed.

QUESTION NO. 4— How can we be sure that a new Constitution would be any better than our present one?

ANSWER NO. 4— Of course, no one can look into the future and foretell exactly what the new Constitution will be, but we have every reason to expect it to be better than our present one. Other states with recently revised Constitutions have found them to be definite improvements. Able delegates have been elected, have met and reviewed the Constitution as a whole in deliberate fashion, have been helped in research by experts in law, government, and political science; have been guided by citizens and citizens' groups in public hearings, and have in the end produced a document much more capable than their old Constitution of meeting present-day needs.

QUESTION NO. 5— What would be changed in the Constitution if it did get revised?

ANSWER NO. 5— One can't give a definite answer to this question. The kinds of changes in Constitutional Convention would probably consider can be predicted in a general way by examining some of the suggestions various groups have made, the recommendations of experts in government, and the changes other states have made in recent years. The goal of these suggested changes has been (a) to write a more flexible state Constitution so that changing needs can be met by statute rather than amendment (b) to strengthen and balance the three branches of government in line with the philosophy of checks and balances according to both federal and state Constitutions have been written. If a questioner wants a more specific article in the Michigan Constitution, 1957, for some of the changes a Constitutional Convention would consider. Additional questions and answers will follow next week.

QUESTION NO. 6— How can we be sure that a new Constitution would be any better than our present one?

HOW MUCH IS TOO MUCH

...to pay for health? Perhaps you believe that today's medicines are too high in price. Some capsules your doctor prescribes may cost 50 cents each... a dollar each... or even more. This sounds expensive.

But is it?

Divide the price of the medicine into four parts, so that you can see what you are getting for your money:

1. A smaller hospital bill - because an effective medication put an end to the ailment in a few days or a few hours.
2. Fewer visits from your doctor - because some new discovery stopped an infection quickly.
3. Wages earned - because a complete recovery was possible sooner than would have been the case a few years ago.
4. A life - because "expensive" drugs helped resist possible serious after-effects (a danger in prolonged illness).

We believe you will agree that today's medicines aren't so expensive after all, because they bring you real value for your money. They represent one of your best investments.

DEATHS

Lawrence McKune Dies Wednesday at Ann Arbor Hospital

Lawrence I. McKune, 65, of 532 N. Main St., died March 30 at St. Joseph Mercy hospital, Ann Arbor, where he had been a patient since March 13.

He was born Jan. 6, 1895, in Lyndon township, a son of Hugh and Catherine Somers McKune. He attended St. Mary's school. For a number of years he was employed by the Ford Motor Co. in Detroit. He also was employed by the State Highway Department for six years, and the Washtenaw County Road Commission for 13 years until his retirement in October, 1959.

He was a widely known baseball player with Chelsea area teams as a young man.

He attended St. Mary's school and from July 1918 until Aug. 1919 served in the U. S. Navy during World War I. He was a member of the Herbert J. McKune Post No. 31 of the American Legion. He also was a member of St. Mary's Catholic church.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Paul Manak of Lawton, Mich., and a sister, Mrs. Agnes Fry of Detroit.

A sister and two brothers preceded him in death.

A Requiem High Mass was sung at 9 a.m. Saturday at St. Mary's Catholic church. The Rev. Fr. Lee officiated. Burial took place in Mt. Calvary cemetery, Sylvan township, in charge of Herbert J. McKune Post No. 31, American Legion.

The Rosary was recited at 8:30 p.m. Friday at the Staffan Funeral Home.

John A. Weber Succumbs Sunday at Ann Arbor Hospital

John A. Weber, of 3750 Musbach Rd., Sylvan township, died Sunday at St. Joseph Mercy hospital, Ann Arbor, where he had been a patient since March 28. He was 84 years old.

Born in Sylvan township Nov. 17, 1875, he was a son of Christian and Christina Kalmbach Weber. He spent his entire lifetime in this area and was married to Leonie to Adah Hannah.

He lived at Grass Lake until 1925 and was employed by the Grass Lake Creamery. He later was employed at the old Chelsea Creamery on Park street operated by his niece, the late Mabel Hoppe. Survivors are a son, Jack Weber of Jackson; a daughter, Mrs. Charles Doty of Pontiac, and two grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. yesterday at the Staffan Funeral Home with the Rev. Harry Pyscher officiating. Burial took place in Salem Grove cemetery.

Charles F. Kantlehner Former Chelsea Resident Dies March 29 in Detroit

Graveside services were held at 2 p.m. Saturday at Oakwood cemetery for Charles F. Kantlehner of Detroit, formerly of Chelsea, who died Tuesday, March 29. He was about 64 years old.

Funeral services had been held at 11 a.m. at the McFarland Funeral Home in Dearborn.

A nephew of Walter F. Kantlehner of Chelsea, he was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John A. Kantlehner. He is survived by a brother John R. Kantlehner of Detroit.

Graham C. Birch Dies Thursday at Ypsilanti Hospital

Graham C. Birch of 204 North Hamilton, Ypsilanti, died Thursday at Beyer Memorial hospital, Ypsilanti, where he had been a patient since March 16. He was 69 years old.

Born Aug. 11, 1890, at Bunkerhill, Ingham county, he was a son of James and Cecilia Graham Birch. He was married Nov. 23, 1914, at St. Thomas Catholic church, Ann Arbor, to Mary I. Devine who survives.

He was a farmer for most of his lifetime and was employed by the University of Michigan in the landscaping department prior to his retirement in 1956.

Survivors, in addition to the widow, include four sons, Francis of Chelsea, Anthony and Stephen of Milan, and Michael of Inkster; three daughters, Mrs. George Ellis (Keta) of Ypsilanti, Mrs. Dale Gauntlett (Irene) of Saline, and Mrs. Arthur Knowles (Patricia) of Milan; 20 grandchildren; one great-grandchild; and a number of nieces and nephews.

The Rosary was recited at 8 p.m. Sunday at the Staffan Funeral Home.

Funeral services were held at 9 a.m. Monday with the Rev. Fr. Lee officiating and burial took place at Mount Olivet cemetery here.

Polio Vaccine Clinics Again Scheduled

Resumption of polio vaccination clinics for those children who received their first and second vaccinations during the spring and summer of 1959 has been announced by Dr. Otto K. Engleke, Washtenaw County Health Officer. Clinics will be held every Saturday morning from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. at St. Joseph Mercy hospital, in the social hall, Ann Arbor, and in the Health Department offices at 10 South Prospect St., in Ypsilanti.

Clinics this year are designed solely for giving the third injection to those children who received their first two injections last year, it was said.

Parents planning to bring their children in for third shots were reminded by Dr. Engleke to bring along the record card given to them at the clinic last year. Unless this card is presented, the parent will be asked to sign a new card requesting that his child be given the vaccination. Dr. Engleke said. The card in question, the Doctor said, shows the date that the two previous injections were given.

The program was set up originally to offer the polio vaccine to children residing in specified areas designated as "soft spot" areas because of the very low level of protection against polio in those areas. "Soft spot" areas were determined on the basis of a survey of entering kindergartners in September, 1959.

Approval of the program by the County Medical Society was given at the beginning of the clinics last May, Dr. Engleke said. Assisting the Health Department and the Medical Society with the clinics is the Washtenaw County Chapter of the National Foundation and St. Joseph Mercy hospital.

"Now is the time to bring immunizing children against polio," Dr. Engleke said. "If a child is started on his immunizations immediately, he can complete his series of injections before the height of the polio season, and it is especially important that a child who has already had one or two injections be given the remainder of the series so that maximum protection may be gained," he concluded.

KENNEDY'S CHANCES AIDED
Politicians now rate Senator John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts as the big winner nationally from the recent presidential primary in New Hampshire.

Some Democrats and Republicans state that this has helped move him toward the Democratic Presidential nomination on an early ballot at the Los Angeles convention, which opens July 11.

ALFRED DETTLING, JR., Dexter's mayor pro-tem, welcomed members of the Chelsea Community Caravan at Dexter Saturday night. The caravan was in Dexter to invite people of the area to the Chelsea Community Minstrel Show and Vaudeville Extravaganza for which rehearsals are now underway. The community-wide project, reminiscent of Chelsea's 125th anniversary celebration last summer, will be held at Chelsea High school Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 21, 22 and 23. Shown with Dettling in the photo are Ann Nielsen, Chelsea Chamber of Commerce president (center), and Jake Krull at left.

U.S.-Canada Good Will Week Scheduled April 24-30

The 39th annual observance of U. S.-Canada Good Will Week will take place April 24-30, under the leadership of Kiwanis clubs in both nations.

The week-long event which is aimed at dramatizing the traditional friendship between the two neighboring countries is scheduled so that it falls at the time of the anniversary of the famous Rush-Bagot Agreement. This is a document, signed April 28, 1817, which virtually demilitarized the boundary between the United States and Canada by calling for a limitation of naval vessels on the waterways between the countries, and insuring those which were deemed necessary to interfere in no way with the peaceful passage of merchantmen of either country. The agreement could and can be terminated by a simple six-month notice to enter Canada?

ice on the part of either signatory nation. It is this document which has made possible the unfortified 3,000-mile U.S.-Canada border, which today stands as a dramatic example of good neighborliness.

Though residents of the United States and Canada are similar in origin, geographically and economically close, and with the exception of eastern Canada, possessed of a common language, some of the citizens on opposite sides of the border know less about one another than they should.

Here are thirteen questions on Canada. Test yourself. The answers appear elsewhere in this paper.

1. What is the population of Canada?

2. Where do I apply for a passport to enter Canada?

3. Which is the larger—the U. S. or Canada?

4. What is the capital of Canada?

5. Who heads the Canadian government?

6. What is the monetary unit of Canada?

7. Are any Canadian provinces as large as Texas?

8. What is Canada's largest city?

9. How long is the St. Lawrence Seaway?

10. What percentage of the Canadian population is of French origin?

11. What would it cost me to mail a letter to Newfoundland?

12. What is the relationship between Canada and the United Kingdom?

Science Fair Set for This Week-End

Present indications are that Patty Pastor, Chelsea High school sophomore, is the only Chelsea student who will be entering an exhibit in the Second Annual Southeastern Michigan Science Fair at Ann Arbor this week-end.

Miss Pastor was one of three Chelsea students who won recognition at the first science fair held in April 1959. She received a certificate of achievement and a certificate of excellence for her exhibit of biology drawings on anatomy.

Gary Berger and Cynthia Klingler were the other Chelsea students who won honors on their exhibits last year—Berger for an x-ray machine and Miss Klingler for a biology exhibit on plant life.

Miss Pastor calls her current exhibit "The Ecological Aspects of Mill Creek." Drawings showing the life cycles of organisms and insects taken from Mill Creek at various intervals provide the principal part of her exhibit. Her drawings show the mutual relation between organisms and their environment.

She prepared her exhibit through the biology department of Chelsea High school with the encouragement of William Hunter, biology instructor.

Entry cards have been received from 150 students in 18 junior and senior high schools in Jackson, Monroe, Lenawee and Washtenaw counties. They are scheduled to bring their scientific projects to Yost Field House on the University of Michigan campus the afternoon of April 8.

A group of 26 judges will evaluate the exhibits that evening and the next morning, and the public will be admitted the afternoon and evening of April 9 and the afternoon of April 10.

The Ann Arbor Junior Chamber of Commerce has offered to leave up the booths which have been erected for the Chamber's annual building show. The young scientists will set up their projects on tables inside these booths.

While the students prepare their exhibits, members of the Ann Arbor Exchange Club are continuing their efforts to raise funds to finance the fair.

The fair is sponsored by the Exchange Club, the Ann Arbor News, and the University.

Special Display Arranged for Library Week

In special recognition of National Library Week, being observed throughout the United States this week, McKune Memorial Library has on display in both the children's and adults' sections of the library, most of the 200 books listed nationally as recommended especially for teen-age boys and girls. This age group is being stressed for special consideration this year.

Open house is being held at McKune Memorial Library all week also, in recognition of National Library Week.

Total circulation of books at McKune Memorial Library for March topped 2,000, an increase of more than 300 over the previous month's total of 1,668.

Junior Play To Be Offered This Week

Marketa Young as "Mrs. Crochet," and Eddie Brown as "The Commodore, T. J. Crochet, Sr.," have the leading roles in the Chelsea High school junior play "The Great Big Doorstep," to be presented in the new high school auditorium Friday and Saturday evening, beginning at 8 p.m.

Others in the cast are Mary Jane Harris, Lynn Lipphart, George Kleis, Sue Eisenbeiser, Judy Speer, Carolyn Miller, Ed Lauson, Peter Flintoft and Daniel Mayer. Mrs. Wanda Finch, as faculty director, and Kay Runciman, student director, are in charge.

"The Great Big Doorstep" is the story of the Crochets and a magnificent doorway they find floating down the Mississippi River. They seek it up in front of their poor, tumble-down shack, and from then on, with both humor and pathos, they try to live up to their great big doorstep by finding a house to match it.

Track Team Opens Season Tomorrow

Tomorrow, Friday, April 8, this year's Chelsea High track team opens its 1960 season by traveling to Lincoln Consolidated school near Ypsilanti.

The Chelsea squad has been working out for the past three weeks in preparation for the opening.

There are five lettermen returning from last year's squad. They are Dalice Ferris, sprints and brook jump; Peter Flintoft, mile and shot put; Don Sexton, 440; high jump and broad jump; Larry Cattell, 880 and pole vault; Jim Maynard hurdles, high jump and shot put; Dave McLaughlin hurdles and shot put. Four of the above boys will also comprise the 880 yard relay team.

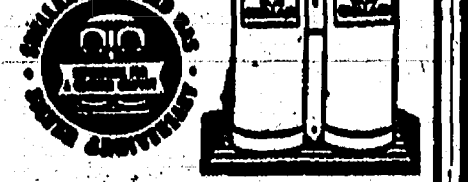

Additional numbers of last year's squad are middle distance men Stan Hand and David Fraser. New men out for track this year include the following: Don Ousley (440), Bill Coltre (100 and 220), Mike Mertes (880 and high jump), John Ashley (100 and 220), Don Wilson (440 or 880 and shot put), William Dettling (relay), James Centilli (relay), Larry Kramer (relay and 440).

Pfc. Arnold Carpenter Participates in Marine Amphibious Exercise

Formosa—Marine Pfc. Arnold L. Carpenter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Carpenter of 128 West Middle St., Chelsea, Mich., took part in a huge amphibious landing exercise, March 22, on Formosa's southern coast with units of the Okinawa-based Third Marine Division.

The exercise, termed "Operation Blue Star," called for the Third Marine Division to assemble in the area on March 20 along with units of the Hawaii-based First Marine Brigade and U. S. Republic of China navy, marine and air force elements.

Purpose of the operation, which comprised more than 15,000 Marines and 70 Navy ships, was to promote closer working relations between U. S. and Republic of China forces in practicing the conventional and vertical assault type amphibious landings.

George Haist Farm on Fletcher Road Identified by Two Granddaughters

A photo of Mystery Farm No. 92, originally published in the 31 issue of The Standard, was identified by readers who recognize it, proved to be George Haist farm at 1185 Fletcher Rd., just east of Jerome St. and his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Hoffman, have made their home there since 1931.

Mr. Hoffman's daughter, Joyce, lives with them until her marriage to Philip Vogel. The Vogels and Linda, now live at 1185 Fletcher Rd., just north of Chelsea.

George Haist has long been known for his interest in registered sheep, an interest shared by his son, Erwin, his grandsons, Ken and Richard Haist, and two daughters, the former Arlene Davis Haist, now Mrs. Bruce Smith, and Mrs. David Crocker.

Mr. Hoffman formerly served for some years as president and later as secretary of the Michigan Black Delaine Sheep Breeders Association.

Mr. Haist has exhibited prize sheep and fleeces at local, state and national levels and in 1957 exhibited the fleece judged the world champion.

The Erwin Haists live on the Haist road farm where George Haist lived until after the death of his wife, the former Martha Eschelbach, in 1930. The Milton Hoffmans went to live with him there following Mrs. Haist's death and after remodeling the home on the Fletcher road farm, moved there in 1931 and have since made their home there.

The son, Erwin, works the 50-acre Fletcher road farm as well as the Haist road farm where he lives.

The large barn at the left front of the photo was built six years ago to replace an old one. Erwin Haist uses it as a sheep barn. The garage on the George Haist farm was also built since he purchased the farm. The glassed-in front porch was added three years ago. The seven-room home is completely modern.

Haist's son-in-law, Milton Hoffman, has been with the Dexter Co-Op Co. at Dexter the past 31 years and has been manager of the business since 1946.

According to ownership records the Fletcher road Haist farm was obtained from the U. S. Government on Feb. 10, 1932, by Calvin Chipman. It changed hands frequently during the years which followed until March 28, 1884 when it was sold by John and Catherine Schoellhamer to Jacob Klein. Klein and later, his widow, Rosina, retained ownership for many years. After her death Haist purchased the property from her estate in 1927. The house was rented at intervals during the next four years until Haist and the Hoffmans moved there in 1931.

In addition to Martha and Linda Vogel, 8 and 6 years old, respectively, those who were among the first to correctly identify the Haist farm are Mrs. Oscar Stierle, Mrs. Charles Curtis, Janet Bollinger, Helen Rothfuss and Gail Kuhl.

April Is History-Filled Month

The month of April has long been associated with the wars of the United States, but it also brings the anniversary of some other rather important events.

April is the anniversary month of the beginning and the end of the War between the States, which began on April 12, 1861, in Charleston Harbor, and ended four years later, on April 9, at Appomattox, Va.

April also gives us, on the 6th, the anniversary of the declaration of war upon Germany in 1917, when the destiny of the United States carried its armed forces across the Atlantic.

In connection with other wars, it should not be overlooked that President McKinley, on April 11, 1898, called upon Congress to intervene in Cuba and that war was inaugurated two weeks later by a formal declaration.

The War of the Revolution began at Lexington, Mass., on April 19, 1775. Eight years later, cessation of hostilities was proclaimed to the American Army and the war came to an end.

The other anniversaries to which we refer include that of the first pony express, which moved out of the frontier settlement of St. Joseph, Mo., on April 3, 1860. The first formally-organized government in the Northwest took place at Marietta, O., on April 7, 1788, when 47 veterans of the Revolutionary War, under General Rufus Putnam, founded the city on the river bank.

Other events of considerable importance in the history of this nation occurred during April, including the birth of Thomas Jefferson, on the 13th, the death of Abraham Lincoln on the 15th, the landing of the first permanent English settlers at Jamestown, on April 26, 1607, and the inauguration of George Washington as the first President of the Republic on April 30, 1789.

Hail to the French . . .

Americans are prone to assume that the talents of the French are confined to perfume, champagne, and women's fashions; but, let's face it.

French scientists have succeeded in producing an atom bomb—making France one of only four nations in the world to accomplish this feat.

French aircraft designers have turned out a jet transport plane, the Caravelle, that tops anything in its class—a plane that U. S. airlines are buying and that a U. S. plane builder (Douglas) plans to build under license.

French auto engineers, plus French management talent, have built that country's Renault works into the world's sixth largest motor car manufacturer—with a product good enough to attract nearly 100,000 buyers last year in the U. S. alone.

So it appears that the French are not only good perfume makers, vintners and courtiers; they are also top-notch scientists, engineers and mass-production experts.

Then too, the French have Brigitte Bardot . . .

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Improvement of the curriculum in Michigan schools is receiving more attention today than ever before.

Advent of the "space age," among other things, has resulted in increased interest in what subjects should be taught in schools.

With society getting more complex every year, there is a growing feeling among educators that the traditional three "R's" must be updated to meet today's needs.

Actually, Michigan has had a curriculum planning program for nearly 25 years.

The Michigan Department of Public Instruction (DPI) launched the "Michigan Curriculum Program" in 1936 in an effort to help schools improve their educational quality.

Annually, the State Superintendent of Public Instruction appoints about 30 state educators to a Curriculum Planning Committee (CPC).

This Committee makes recommendations to him after studying reports made by 30 specialized advisory committees on areas ranging from agricultural education to foreign language instruction.

Many educators have high praise for the DPI program and feel most shortcomings in planning are the fault of local school systems.

"Many schools simply haven't accepted the responsibility which is theirs," said CPC Chairman Perry Chatterton of Warren.

"They may think they have, but they haven't even established a policy for operation of a local curriculum planning program."

Chatterton, who is Assistant Superintendent at Fitzgerald Public School, said every teacher in the Warren school system has two assignments—one to teach and the other to serve on a curriculum planning committee.

East Lansing Superintendent Cecil MacDonald believes "open-mindedness" is the top qualification for both members of the State CPC and educators at the local level if the program is going to be a success.

"I feel we have a great many closed minds in education—good people, well-trained and with lots of experience—who think that things must continue along a certain plane just because that's the way they've always been done," MacDonald said.

"I'm not for change for change's sake, but I do think we have to be open-minded if we are going to really study curriculum and instruction programs."

"There have been some specific accomplishments under the Michigan Curriculum Program during the last 24 years," said DPI-Associate Superintendent G. Robert Koopman. "But there haven't been as many as we would like and that's why our curriculum is not up-to-date."

Dr. Koopman said the DPI has undertaken "the most ambitious attempt yet to make the program more effective—the Impact Project."

Goals of the project include: publishing of a directory listing instructional specialists, members of curriculum committees and experts on the faculties of Michigan universities and colleges.

Establishments of new channels of communication with local curriculum workers.

Continuation of in-service education for instruction specialists and regional services.

Wider representation on state curriculum committees.

Chatterton feels the DPI could do a much better job if it had more money to spend on the program.

"Funds should be made available to the Department of Public Instruction so that it can step up its co-operative effort with local schools in establishing some minimum state standards through consultants and course of study guides," Chatterton said.

This year's Michigan Week celebration is shaping up as the biggest in the seven-year history of the event.

An estimated 6,000 persons are taking part in the planning for the week-long program May 15-21. That's an increase of about 1,000 committee workers over a year ago.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I ain't got out much this week to get any news first hand and all I know is what I been reading in the papers. And I ain't got any of that confirmed official yet on account of not getting to the country store Saturday night.

But several little items struck me as unusual and I aim to take 'em up at our next meeting. Fer instance, I see where the Tonga Islands out in the Pacific has got a population of 40,000 and has got no taxes, no public debt and no juvenile delinquency. I think steps should be took at once to bring civilization to them poor islands.

It's plain that they ain't got none. And I was mighty interested in that piece about a Baltimore dentist breaking a patient's leg while pulling a wisdom tooth. The wisdom in most people don't go that far down but I reckon this is a unusual feller in Baltimore.

I see where them Congressmen is still talking about reducing taxes. This is normal for the Congress in a election year. It's hard to believe that this nation was founded to get away from taxation and today that's about all we got. The American Revolution started over one tax and now we got enough of 'em to keep a revolution going till the end of time. Congress spends about half its time talking about taxes and the other half talking about inflation. I've done give up on taxes and

I ain't losing no sleep worrying about inflation. In 1933, fer instance, I was broke and had to eat sardines for a week. In 1960 if I eat sardines for a week I'd be broke again. Inflation or deflation, it's the same difference, the way I see it. In the end, I don't reckon it makes much difference one way or the other. In this world of today man is bogged in a hurry and forgotten in a hurry, and judging from what the preacher says at his funeral and the newspapers says in his obituary, he has lived the good and full life. If he has managed to have a TV set on his roof and a two-tone car parked in front of his house, I reckon the preacher and the newspapers is right.

I think it's a waste of time for Congress to keep making new laws trying to cover the situation. We got so many laws now that the new ones is meeting the old ones coming back. And then my preacher says the big trouble with this country is that there ain't enough respect for law. The big trouble is that we got so many laws there just ain't enough respect to go around. Them Congressmen has been solving our financial problems, including the national debt, for years with a revolving mirror and I don't see why we need any more laws far that operation.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lews,

By FRANK C. MORRIS

University Prexies Fight for Appropriation

The exciting day finally has arrived when the taxpayers can step back and watch the presidents of the three major Universities swing punches at each other instead of at the legislature.

Arguing about the divvy of the loot for the next fiscal year, the dignified prexies are blackening each other's eyes for a change. Until last week they had worked as a united trio, aiming solar-plasma blows only at lawmakers who hesitated to cough up dough for university branches in Vietnam or in South America.

The hair-pulling fracas was bound to happen.

As long as the universities were under-nourished, rattling their bones like starved orphans from a backward wilderness, no legislator questioned their need.

Year after year, the frightened lawmakers have been throwing millions after millions to the three universities—not daring to ask where the money was to be spent. But the pot to be divvied by the three universities has grown to 10 years from $22 million (that was before Wayne University was taken over from Detroit) to $75 million for the next fiscal year.

Well, $75 million is a sum worth scrambling for.

So now the three presidents apparently hate each other.

It's a great break for the taxpayers.

The finger-pointing by Dr. Clarence B. Hilberry, president of Wayne, will compel the University of Michigan and Michigan State College to open up for the first time and tell the legislature what happens to the $75 million being appropriated for the three institutions.

Non-Residents Cost $12 Million One of the first discoveries by the taxpayers, when the academic wall of secrecy is broken, will be the fact that the University of Michigan and Michigan State College are charging the taxpayers with a bill of $12 million a year to educate students who come from out of state, mostly from California and New York.

Dr. Hilberry raised the curtain a little when he revealed that it is costing Wayne $2,346 a year to accept scholars from out of state who are working for Masters and Doctorate degrees.

This is the basement, bargain store cost.

At Michigan and MSU, still reluctant to reveal family intimacies, the cost is higher.

These bright young men and women from other states pay tuition of only $555 a year. Most of their education is being provided by Michigan taxpayers.

Both U. of M. and MSU have argued before the Senate finance committee that a leading university must take students from other states, and that Michigan students frequently are admitted to universities in the East and West.

There are 15,000 non-resident students in U. of M. and MSU. Explanations Are Needed

If your son or daughter is listed below the middle of the school class, you cannot get son or daughter into U. of Michigan, he must be in the third of his class to be admitted for work on a Masters Degree.

Yet the bright boys and girls from New York and California invited to sponge off Michigan taxpayers.

When the hot secrecy curtain finally collapses, the taxpayers may ask why appropriations for the three universities have increased by 125 per cent since while enrollment went up only per cent.

For instance, the University of Michigan, which is to receive $22 million for the next fiscal year, was satisfied with $13.1 million in 1950 and $21 million in 1954.

Michigan State got only $10 million in 1950 and is unhappy because it is being allocated $22 million for the next fiscal year.

How come U. of M. spends $12 million last year, exclusive of hospital?

Having Constitutional status of U. of M. and MSU have had right to say to the legislature "None of your business."

Now that Dr. Hilberry has on the ice, however, the new appropriation bill provides that U. of M. and MSU shall face station next year if they do not their books.

Commission on Aging To Be Created

Lansing—After ten years of earnest effort on the part of numerous interested groups a breakthrough has been made in the important field of providing services for our senior citizens.

The state Senate last week passed, by a 31 to 0 vote, a bill which creates a Commission on the Aging. Previously passed by the House of Representatives, this measure fills a growing need.

Since I first recommended a Commission on the Aging, back in 1954, additional support for this program developed each year. Last week the long, consistent effort finally paid off.

Great credit must go to those devoted persons who served on task forces including the Inter-departmental Committee on Problems of the Aging in 1950; The Governor's Study Committee on Aging, from 1951 to 1953; the Legislative Advisory Council on problems of the Aging; the Michigan Society of Gerontology; and many other groups such as the American Association of University Women and spokesmen for religious groups. I wish also to express my appreciation to legislators of both parties. The vast majority of them realized the importance of this legislation and in this session worked hard and successfully for its adoption.

Under this measure, there is created a commission composed of eleven members, five state officials and six appointed by the Governor. Purposes of the commission would be:

1. Conduct and encourage other organizations to conduct studies of the state's older people.

2. Encourage local programs and services for the aged. Assist in designing surveys to determine local needs of the aged and to serve as clearing house for information on the aging.

Why is this legislation so important?

With advances in science and medicine, our Michigan people are living much longer than they did before the beginning of the twentieth century. Back in 1890 there were only 92,357 Michigan residents of the age of 65 years or older. The senior citizens at that time represented only 4.4 per cent of our State's population. The number of people now in their golden years has exceeded 600,000 and they represent 7.5 per cent of Michigan's population. Each year they become a larger segment of our people and they have earned the consideration which this bill provides for them.

I was Winston Churchill who once observed: "One of the distinguishing marks of greatness in a nation is the manner in which it treats its responsibility to its older people." The same thing can be said of a state. With the passage of this bill, Michigan adds another quality which enhances our greatness.

By any measurement, this need a great forward step in legislation in Michigan.

HOUSE STUDY

The United States foreign program is attempting to write too many projects, one of the House Foreign Policy subcommittee has said.

In reporting on a 40,000 study mission around the world for the House Foreign Committee, the group of representatives also said that some projects were "grandiose and costly. Their report called for "reappraisal and revision" of foreign aid program.

T. Payne Seeks Democratic Nomination for Congress

Thomas P. Payne, Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti businessman, announced yesterday that he will seek the Democratic nomination for Congress from the Second District.

Payne's announcement came at a dinner in Ann Arbor Tuesday night.

In setting forth his candidacy, Payne said "I was approached by friends in the district to make the race. I have always had the desire to serve in the public interest. I believe that we should all respond to our social conscience instead of to our desire for private profit. It is this lack of social responsibility which has led to the general decay of public ethics."

"If I am honored with the nomination," Payne stated, "I intend to conduct a dedicated, enthusiastic campaign, and it is my opinion that Democrats can win in the district this year. For my part, I would devote full time and energy to the task."

Payne, 38, was born in Fort Smith, Ark., where he grew up in a large family of five boys and two girls. He spent three years in the Marine Corps and then graduated from the University of Arkansas with a B. S. degree in Public Administration in 1947.

He studied law at Arkansas and at Wayne State University in Detroit and served as State Chairman of the Young Democrats of Michigan in 1952. He was named "Mr. Young Democrat of 1952" by the national young Democratic organization, and was an alternate to the National Convention that year.

Payne has been in the automobile business since 1952. He now has the Volkswagen dealership in Ypsilanti and the Fiat and Volvo dealerships in Ann Arbor. He is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, a charter member of the Sales Executive Club, and a member of the Michigan Automobile Dealers Association. He sponsors a Junior League baseball team. His church affiliation is Unitarian, and he is a member of the NAACP.

Payne lives with his wife Nan and their three sons at 2124 Wallingford, Ann Arbor.

Saline Minister, Former Immigrant, Tells Kiwanians Why He Loves America

M. J. Anderson, in charge of the program at the Kiwanis club meeting Monday evening, introduced the Rev. Robert Richards as the evening's speaker.

The speaker, who came to the United States from Wales 32 years ago, gave a number of reasons in explanation of his topic pertaining to why he loves America. He is now pastor of the Methodist church at Saline.

Plans were discussed at Monday's meeting for the Kiwanis club's annual Easter Flower Sale to be held at Hilltop Plumbing and store Friday and Saturday, April 15 and 16. Co-chairmen for the sale are Leob Bishop and Donald Baldwin.

It was announced that 15 Chelsea Kiwanians will participate in the state Kiwanis bowling tournament at Mt. Pleasant this weekend.

DON'T OVERDO IT

It's a fact, Roberta Hershey, nutritionist at Michigan State University, says modern science is proving that a young child may get too much Vitamin D. That overdose can interfere with growth and appetite. Vitamin D is important to help form bones and teeth, but 400 units a day is usually enough for a young child.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

TROOP 76

On the week-end of March 26, one troop went on a camp-out at Burns Lodge. A couple of boys made a tracking course for a distance of one fourth mile. The boys who were pacing it off, said it was easy. There were no electric lights and no stove to heat the cabin. There were lanterns to light the cabin and a fire place to heat it.

On April 2, our troop had a camp drive. We met at the Chelsea Lumber Co. and went through-out Chelsea and in the country collecting scrap.

Gary White, scribe.

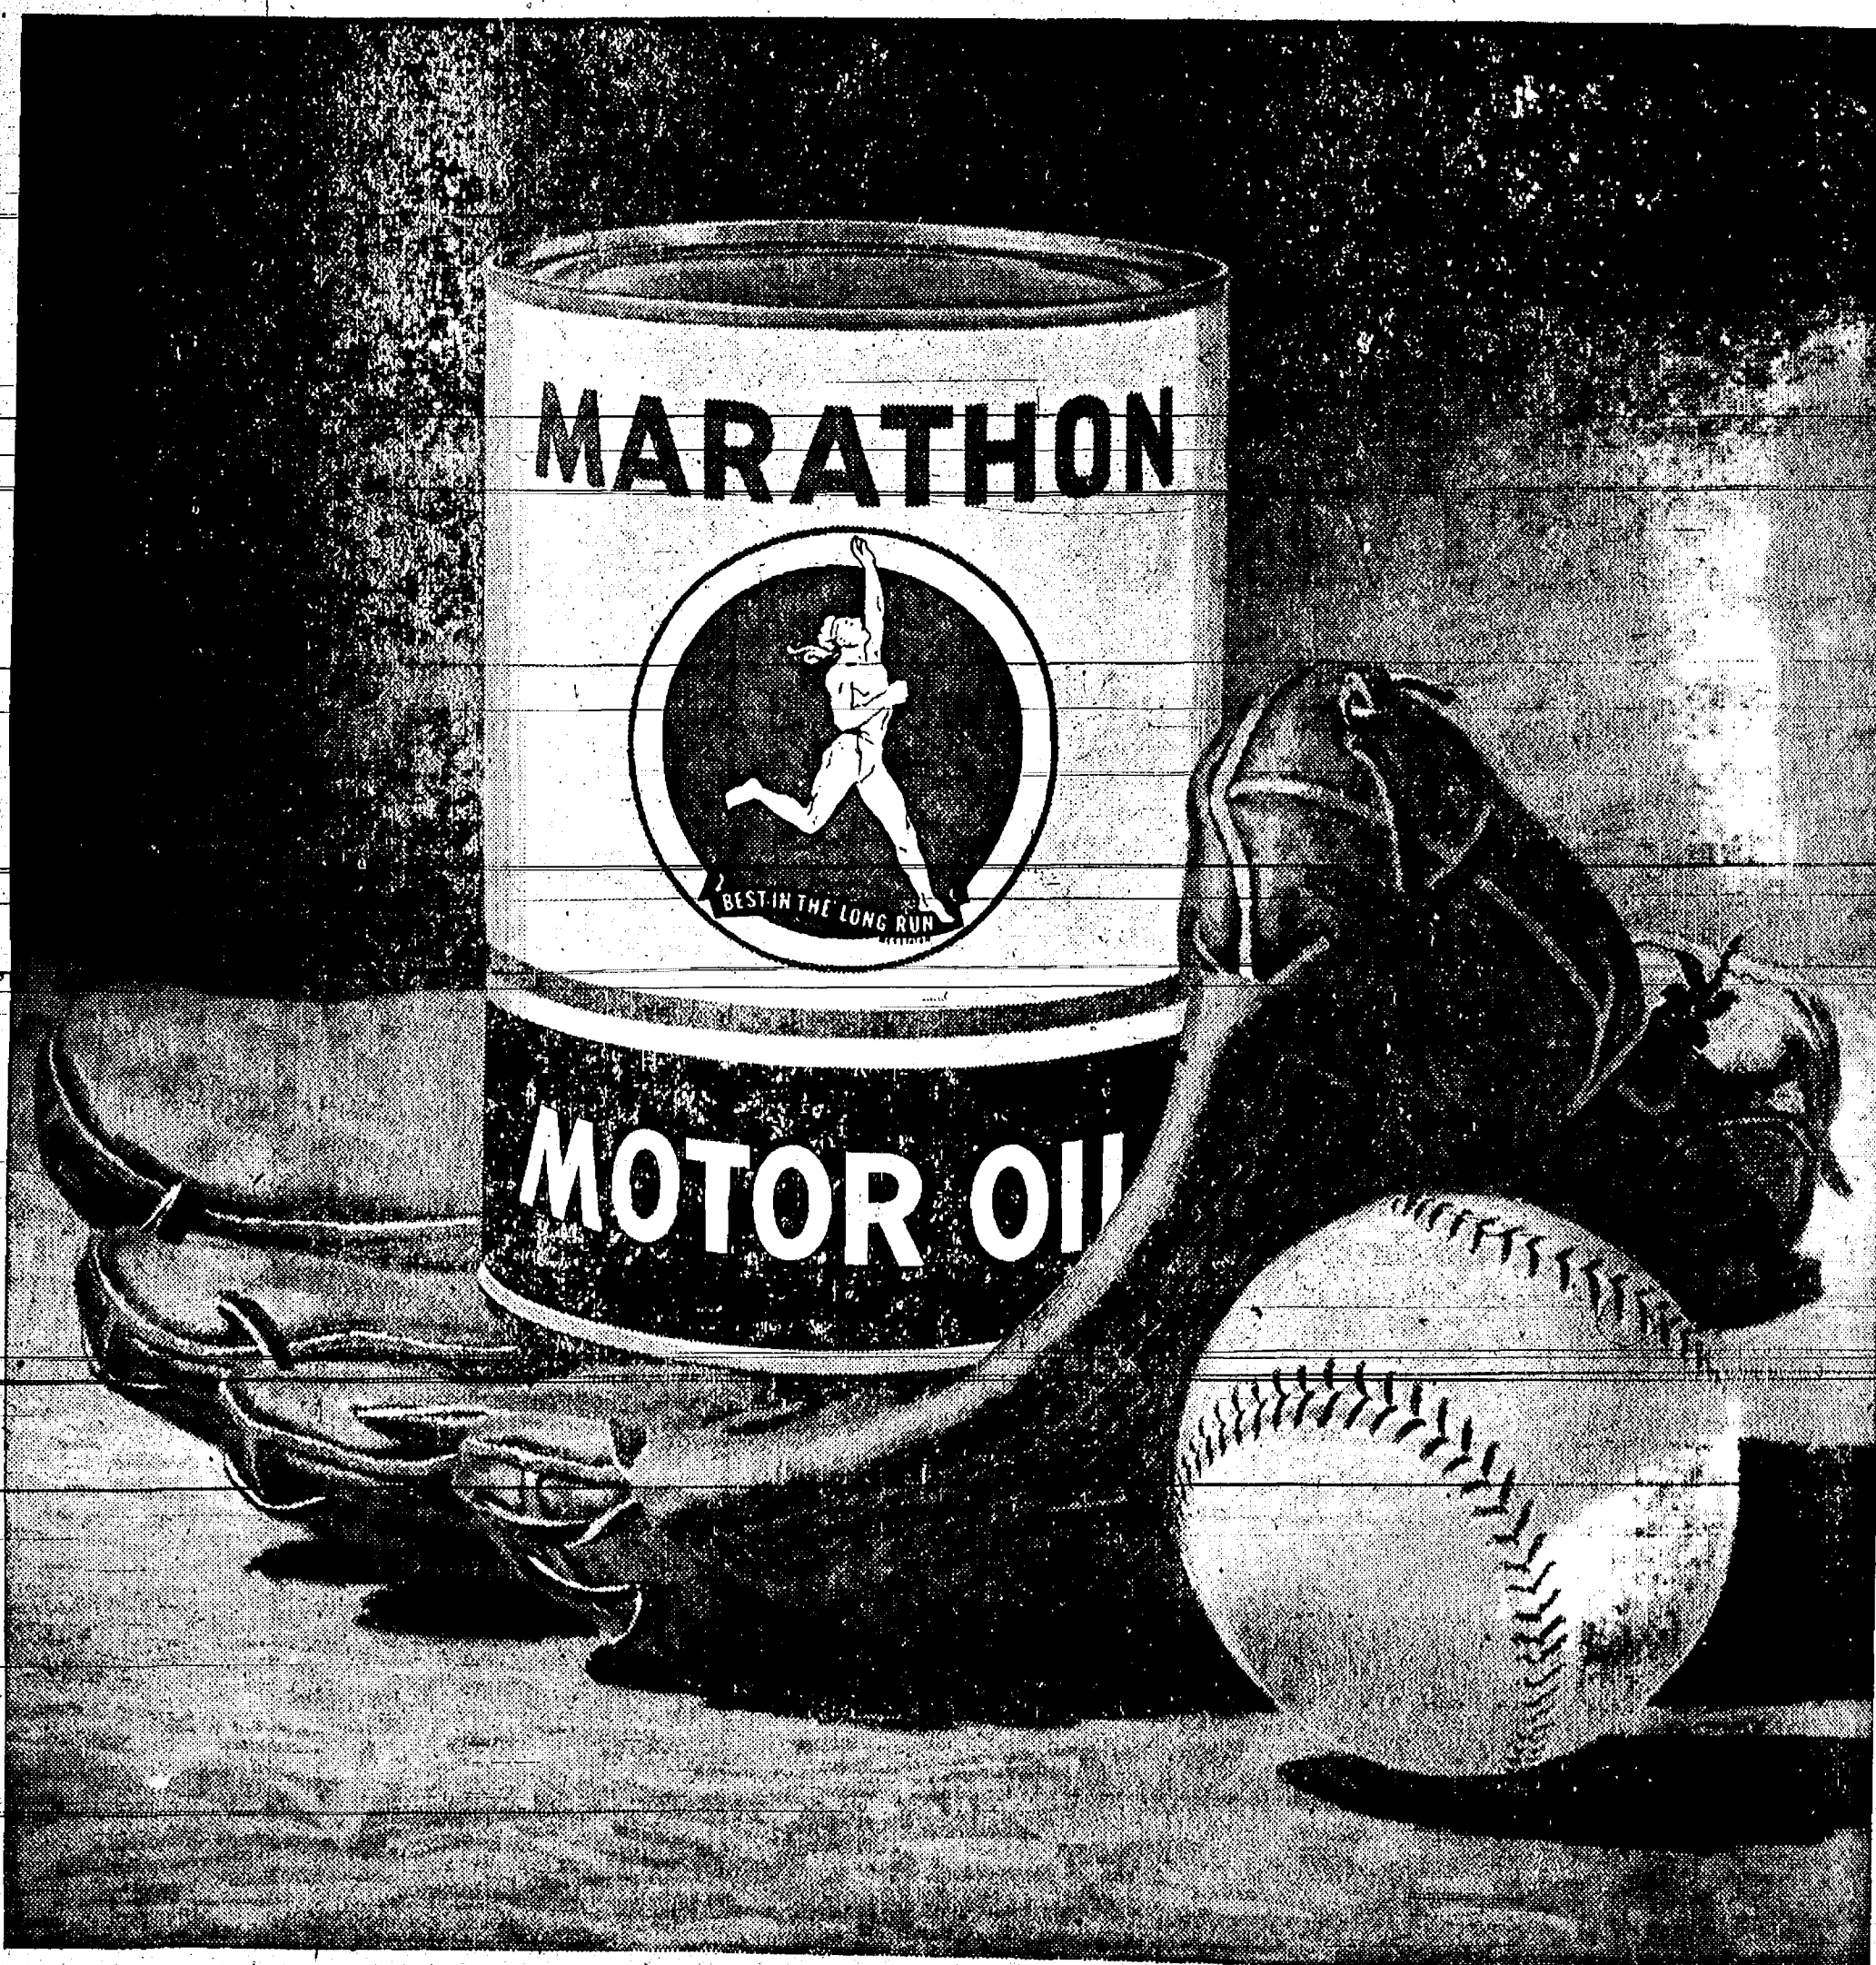

TROOP 25

Troop 25 will have a camp-out at Crooked Lake. We will leave from headquarters at 2:00 p.m. Saturday and will be back at headquarters Sunday at 8:00 a.m.

Bill Altenberndt, scribe.

Deputy Elmer Klump Announces Candidacy for Nomination as Sheriff

ELMER F. KLUMP

Elmer F. Klump, a uniform deputy with the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, has announced that he is a candidate for the Republican nomination for sheriff in the Aug. 2 primary election.

He is the second Republican to announce his candidacy for his party's nomination for the post now held by Sheriff George A. Petersen, also a Republican. John L. Tice, a former sheriff's officer, entered the GOP nomination race March 17.

Sheriff Petersen has announced he will seek re-election as candidate for the post.

Klump said that if he were nominated and elected he would abolish a "code of censorship" which he claims is "a dangerous practice." He claims that "the people have a right to know how their tax money is being used" and for that reason he advocates that complaint books will be "open in their entirety to the press—without deletions or omissions—at any time of day or night."

Klump further said he will seek "equal rights and equal working conditions" for deputies if he is nominated and elected.

"For years the uniform deputy—the man who is out on the road day and night, winter and summer—has been neglected, abused and forgotten by the heads of the Sheriff's Department. These men, who are risking their lives each day in performance of their duty, have never been given proper consideration," Klump asserted. "If I am nominated and elected I mean to remove these officers from the status of second class citizens."

Klump served as Northfield township constable from 1952 until

Regional Officers Are Named by Municipal League

New regional officers were elected at the annual meeting of Region II of the Michigan Municipal League, held on March 31 in Tecumseh.

Elected were Dr. Lawrence Frost, mayor of Monroe, chairman; Robert Onweller, mayor of Hudson; vice-chairman; and Robert Buschner, city manager of Brighton, secretary.

Outgoing Region II officers are Herbert Fowle, mayor of Hillsdale; Hugh H. Hanna, mayor of Tecumseh; and City Administrator Guy C. Larcom, Jr., of Ann Arbor. Mayors, village presidents, councilmen and other elected and appointed officials from League member cities and villages attending the Region II meeting heard sessions on industrial development and municipal financing, and a dinner-report on the League Legislative Program for 1955; closing with an address by Dr. J. Donald Phillips, president of Hillsdale College.

Region II is made up of cities and villages in Hillsdale, Ingham, Jackson, Lenawee, Livingston, Monroe and Washtenaw counties.

Wherever you find the Church of Christ today you will find people trying to be what the original Church was 1900 years ago. We are pleading for the one true apostolic Church. . . . Going back beyond the centuries of departure, error, and apostasy . . . we try to make the Church today as it was in the beginning.

More next week.
