MINSTREL SHOW CAST—Approximately 1700 people saw the above group of performers present "Chelsea's Off Time Minstrel Show and Vaudeville Extravaganza" at the Chelsea High school auditorium at three performances of the big community project Thursday, Friday and Saturday. A total of 1,185 purchasers of tickets cast their ballot for their choice of three community projects for which the proceeds of the show will be contributed. Proceeds will be divided on a percentage basis, according to the number of votes each received. Chelsea's

Fire Department Building Fund had a total of 841 votes; Pierce Park Improvement Fund, 305 votes; and McKune Memorial Library (for cornice repair) 239 votes. A full accounting of proceeds will not be available until next week. "Interlocutor" Charles Cameron appears at the very top of the photo with Clearwater, Fla., "Miss Fun in the Sun" Pat Marchiselli beside him at the left and Mrs. James Greenwood at the right. Miss Marchiselli, now an all "A" scholarship student at Lake Erie College Painesville, O., was in Chelsea as a goodwill gesture on

Smith Tops Field in CC Road-e-o
Winner of first, second and third place in the Jaycees-sponsored "Road-e-o" here last Sunday are Quentin Smith, Eddie and Ronald Walter, respectively. Smith was awarded a $25 savings bond as first place winner. Brown was awarded a certificate $10. In trade at a gas station his own choice and Walter received a similar certificate for $5. Prizes for the event were Sgt. and Blis of the Jackson State Post; Washtenaw County Sheriff George Peterson; and Elmer and Harold Waller of "Proving Ground."

Jack Wellnitz Named to Head Chest Campaign
Jack Wellnitz has been appointed Chelsea Community Chest campaign chairman. It was announced following a meeting of the board on Wednesday, April 20. Mrs. Robert Daniels and Mrs. Fred Schumm had been acting co-chairmen since the March meeting. Wellnitz will be in charge of the 1961 campaign to be conducted in the community this fall. In other action at the April meeting it was decided to dispense with the regular monthly meetings of May, June and July. Unless an emergency arises in the meantime, calling for official action by the board, the next meeting will be held Wednesday, Aug. 17.

Ex-Reporter Extends Thanks For Enjoyable Job in Chelsea

DEAR BOSS,
Well, I caught that train last Saturday night as you told me to, Boss. It really didn't seem necessary to me to have a big thing like that flung down in Chelsea just so I could get aboard. One fellow kind of joked with me when I got on. He told me that I must be real important or someone was trying to run me out of town. He was just joking, wasn't he, Boss?
Anyway, I thought I'd write you one more letter to say how much I've enjoyed working with you people. All along, during the preparations for the show we had terrific times together. Remember that trip to Dexter, and those Friday nights up town (and how it was so cold people would just drive through Main Street—looking and listening), and the many rehearsals when it seemed no one could possibly ever make a show out of all the confusion. But they did. That Jim Egbert is a real master.
My ticket was for Friday night, but... Denny Moore pulled some strings and got me inside all three nights. And Boss, it was a different show every night.
First of all the lady professional dancer sort of skipped across the stage to open the show, before the endmen took over. That Mr. Brown, the barber, would change his act each night, and I mean he was really good. When he'd finish with a joke and sit down over at the side of the chorus, he'd shake all over and then bounce right off that chair and go five feet straight up in the air. And that Foster fellow and Mr. Houle were just about as professional as you could find.

That man and his wife that run the nursery put on a serious dance act that was a good change of pace, and then there was Vern Parks that played the part of the preacher. He had probably the longest speech in the show and it was wonderful. So inspiring!
Why, Boss, did you know that that big endman named Buckets Orthing is really a very shy person? That's what I heard out in the audience. He sure didn't seem shy up in front of everyone. And then there was Rastus and that 'sleazy' one on the end, they were real good. Boss, the whole show was outstanding. If you people in Chelsea don't take that show on the road to Ann Arbor or some place, you'll be missing a sure bet smash hit.
A fellow can just go on and on naming people who made that thing a success. Mary Jane Dettling sounded like a local Kate Smith to me and George Atkinson was good. Mrs. Cottrill and the singing teacher at the school. One young girl just about passed out when that jeweler that runs the store uptown sung that love song. How does one little town like Chelsea have so many good performers?

Oh! My gosh, Boss! I almost forgot one of the high spots of all three nights. Do you remember the lady that used to wheel the baby carriage around town last summer during the celebration? Well, she sung a song called "Mamma" or something, and six local fellows that everyone knows came out on the stage dressed like women. They all had a letter to hold up so they could spell the word "MOTHER." They were terrific. Boss. You've never seen such honey knees and funny looking characters on a stage before. I felt sorry for the audience dealer—he got pinched by Rastus Ewald under his dress. And that poor lawyer sure did have the wind taken out of his sails. The audience didn't stop clapping and laughing for five minutes. I don't believe anyone heard much of Lulu's song.
Well, that's about it, Boss. The whole cast deserves a real vote of thanks. There were others that were equally as good as those mentioned, but I didn't know their names.
Denny Moore got me the address of that girl from Clearwater, Fla. Boy, was she ever pretty. Do you suppose she would write to a small town reporter, like me?
That train ride was a long one. But it's kind of good to be home. Maybe I can get rested up. Tell those other folks in Chelsea, thanks for all the good times.
Your appreciative ex-employee

CHS Athletes Honored at Kiwanis All-Sports Banquet

At the All-Sports banquet honoring Chelsea High school basketball, football and track team members, Don Dufek, freshman coach at the University of Michigan, stressed the fact that a well-rounded education should be the principal goal of all high school and college students, with athletics relegated to its proper place as an extracurricular activity. Athletics, he said, have their place in the school program as a means of promoting good sportsmanship, the ability to work and play as a team and the development of strong bodies. He also mentioned other advantages of a good athletic program but strongly advised young people to put their education in first place.

Chelsea coaches—Alan Conklin, Robert Taylor and Truman O'Doherty—were introduced by School Superintendent Charles Cameron. They gave brief resumes of the season's games and announced letter winners as follows:
Basketball—Seniors Jack Patrick who is honorary captain, Charles Wilson, Matt Murphy, George Cameron, Dallee Ferris, Junior Alton and Homer Nixon. Charles Koenig, Dan Mayer, Don Sexton; Sophomore Dave McLaughlin and Managers Bob Maynard, Stanley Hand, and Lee Satterthwaite.
Homer Nixon was the recipient of a surprise award—a free throw trophy.

Charles Lane, principal of Chelsea High school, acting for the Kiwanis club, presented to Susan Steger a $50 scholarship grant for her work in the advanced placement program in which she is doing college work at Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti, along with her senior year high school studies at the high school.
It was announced that the first Kiwanis rummage sale pick-up will be held next Monday.

Wilson West Family Fights State Highway Dept. Offer

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson West, whose 10-acre farm west of Chelsea is part of the property being made way for the new highway construction project, protesting that the amount offered for the property is too low. The price offered is $4,800, a $4,000 cash payment if the Wests agree to sell immediately.
Their attorney, Albert J. Rapp, Ann Arbor, has said the land is worth "at least $10,000 and probably closer to $20,000." He has called the action of the highway department in appraising the Wests' land "unfair and unrealistic."
Should the Wests refuse to accept the partial payment, eviction proceedings would likely be instituted.
The Wests are one of several families who, with a number of other places, must give up their land before a three-man commission composed of Washtenaw County, Ann Arbor and Chelsea officials can proceed with the highway project.

Infant Back to Hospital For Corrective Surgery
Danny Cobb, 18-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cobb, re-entered University Hospital, Ann Arbor, Tuesday for additional corrective surgery on his hands. He is expected to be in the hospital about two weeks. He had returned home from a similar hospital stay three weeks ago. At that time his three-year-old sister Katherine was a patient at the hospital for six weeks, also for corrective surgery. She returned home four weeks ago.

Leaders Attend Girl Scout Outdoor Training Course
Hundreds of Girl Scouts in Chelsea, Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, Saline and Manchester will have a better outdoor program than ever before because of the Outdoor Skills Training Course for Girl Scout leaders which was held at Hilltop Lodge, Huron River Drive in Ann Arbor this spring, according to an announcement by the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council this week.
Among the leaders who took the course are Mrs. Kenneth Wilkerson, 533 Chandler St., and Mrs. Robert Foye, 19880 Lehman Rd., Chelsea leaders.
The course was conducted by two members of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council Camping Committee: Mrs. Charles Howe of Ann Arbor, and Mrs. John Polinsky of Dearborn. Mrs. Howe has been a volunteer trainer for five years and is now serving as camping chairman for the Council. She is a past president of the Washtenaw County Council. Mrs. Polinsky has been an outdoor trainer for nine years and has been leader of the same troop of girls for eight years.
The forty-one Girl Scout leaders taking the course received training in the seven basic skills of camping; fire building, use of knots and lashing, tent pitching and striking, use of compasses and other outdoor tools, Girl Scout outdoor ceremonies and outdoor crafts.

Hearing Set On Re-Zoning Two Parcels

Sylvan Township Zoning Board has scheduled a public hearing for Tuesday, May 3, at 7 p.m. in Sylvan Town Hall on the granting of zoning changes from A-1, Agricultural to B-1, General Business, on two parcels of land south of Chelsea.
Brown's Welding is petitioning for one of the changes because the present shop at 20184 US-12 is in the way of the new expressway construction. He proposes to build an attractive new cement block building 40'x80' in size on the three acres of ground he owns at the rear of his present shop. The building, he said, will be erected with structural steel framework and a flat roof.

County Government To Be Evacuated in Tuesday CD Alert

Special Rubbish Collection Set for Saturday, May 14

Village officials are advising residents to plan now to clean out all the rubbish that has been accumulating since last fall.
The Village Council has proclaimed Saturday, May 14, as "Rubbish Day." That day the village trucks will help William Torns rubbish contractor, in a special pick-up.
Rubbish should be placed at the curb Friday night or very early Saturday morning so the crews may start work at 6 a.m.
Anyone who has objects too large to get to the curb may call GR 9-2921 for help.

Supervisors Plan To Converge on Chelsea in Test

Some time between 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. Tuesday afternoon, supervisors of Washtenaw County, following receipt of "Conelrad" warnings, will converge on Chelsea and take over the Village Council room in the Municipal building as part of a nation-wide Civil Defense "Operation Alert."
It was emphasized by the Civil Defense office at Ann Arbor, that Tuesday's alert does not call for any participation by the general public. In communities where the three-to-five-minute continuous siren signals are sounded, residents should note the time they heard them and from what distance, but there will be no general "take cover" exercise.
Supervisor E. A. Wolter, chairman of the Washtenaw County Board of Supervisors, said yesterday that, according to Civil Defense plans for the removal of governmental agencies in case of attack, supervisors and other county officials will leave immediately for Chelsea as soon as they receive the alert warning. Arrangements were made with the Chelsea Village Council some weeks ago for use of the Conelrad room in the Municipal building.
"Post attack emergency government" regulations will be put into practice at once on Tuesday, while Wednesday's activities will be centered on the collection, evaluation and analyzing of data as to the effect of the supposed nuclear attack weapons on population, equipment, materials, farm produce and stock and the countryside generally.
The entire procedure of the two-day alert will be a general demonstration of simulated emergency conditions as related to government agencies.

The location of the new building if the change in zoning is approved, will be on the new service road to be constructed along with the new US-12 expressway.
The other change requested is for the portion of land between M-92 and the old Manchester road immediately adjacent to the south village limits.
If the zoning change is approved here, several area men plan to form a corporation and build a modern 12-lane bowling alley on the site. According to tentative plans a snack bar and other features for the convenience of patrons would be included.
The area is approximately six acres in size.

Three School Board Posts To Be Filled

Three school board members are to be elected at the annual election of Chelsea School District scheduled to be held June 13. One of these will be for a three-year term and two will be for four-year terms in accordance with the new Michigan law which requires a seven-man board of education in all fourth class school districts. Chelsea is a fourth class district.
Leon Marsh, whose three-year term on the board expires this year, was out of town this week and could not be reached for a statement as to whether he would seek re-election.
The new law states that "After the annual election or annual meeting in 1960, the board of education of all fourth class school districts operating grades kindergarten through 12 shall consist of 7 members. At the annual election or annual meeting in 1960, the voters shall elect by ballot for a term of 4 years, 2 board members and the voters shall elect by ballot for a term of 3 years successors to the members whose terms of office shall expire. At the annual election or annual meeting thereafter, the voters shall elect for a term of 4 years successors to the members whose terms shall expire. After the rotation is established, not more than 2 members shall be elected in any one year to fill vacancies occurring by expiration of terms."

Errors Defeat Ball Team in Saline Game

Plenty of hitting but too many mistakes was the story at Saline last Friday, as the Chelsea Bulldogs lost their first Washtenaw Conference baseball game, 10-8.
The inability of the Bulldogs to hit in previous games was not the problem this time, but what has been a very strong defense, committed two outfield errors in the third inning to allow five unearned runs to score which proved to be too much to overcome.
Chelsea out-hit Saline, 12 to 8, as Charles Koenig led the pack with a double and triple, Mike Marsh collected two doubles, Charles Cameron had a double and a single, Jerry Ringe had a double, Ed Lauhon had two singles, while Matt Murphy and Richie Wood each collected singles.
Totals for Chelsea were 8 runs on 12 hits and 5 errors; for Saline, 10 runs on 8 hits and two errors.

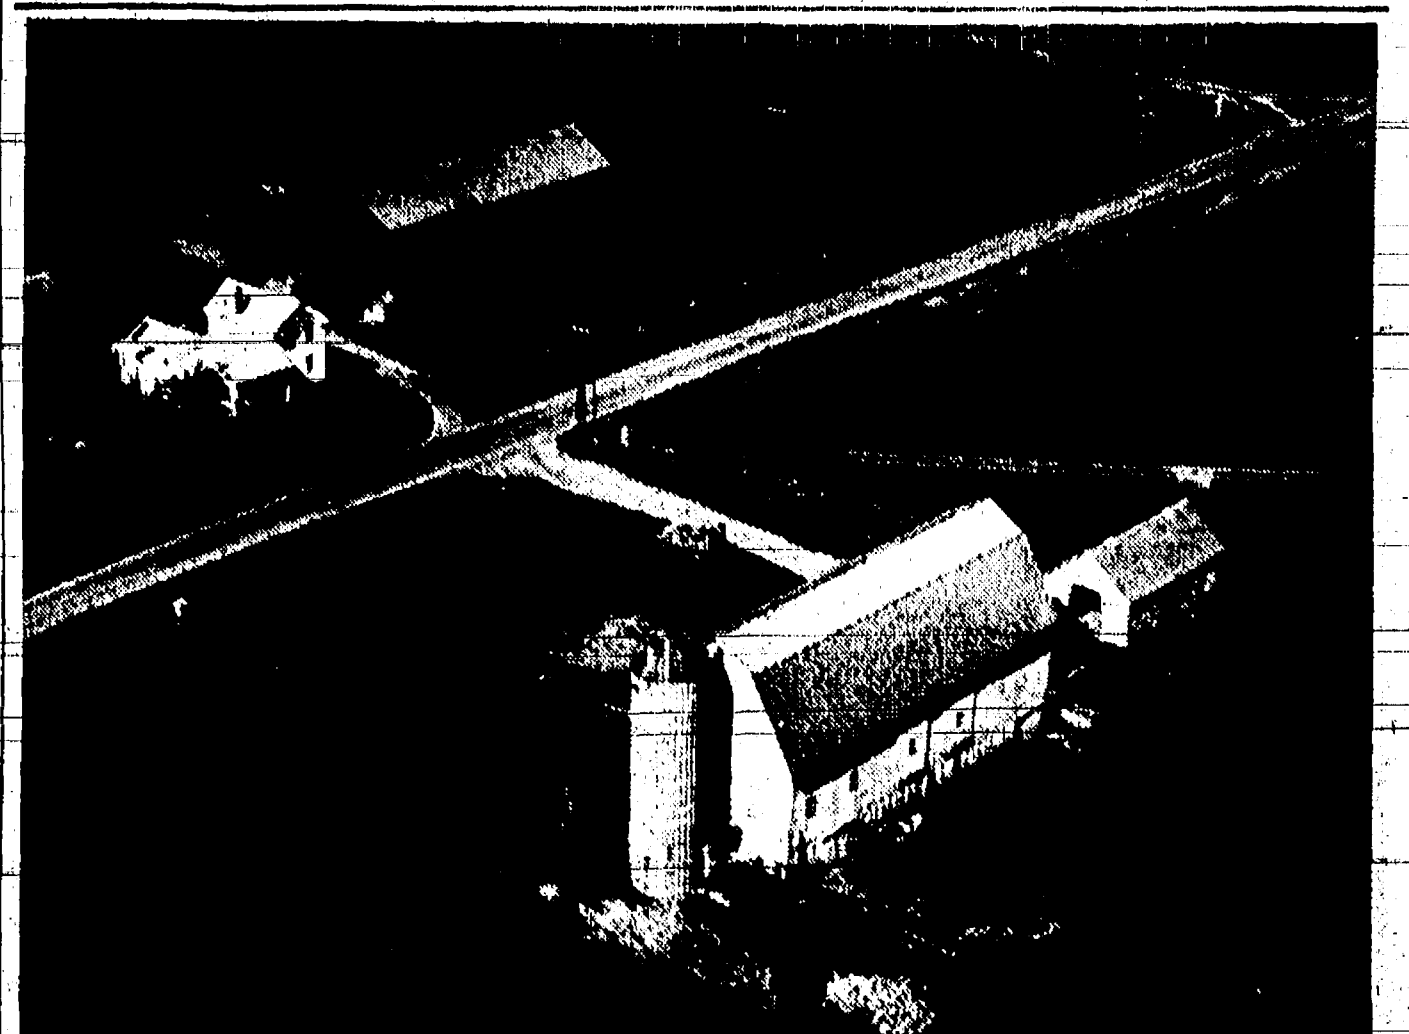

The game with Dexter on Tuesday was postponed until Wednesday because of wet grounds. The Manchester Dutchmen are scheduled to play here today.

Jerry Ringe, a very fine young baseball prospect who had just a week ago pitched a one-hit game against Pinckney in his first start of the season, suffered a fractured leg Tuesday, while sliding during a practice drill. Jerry will be greatly missed by the ball team, but with three other pitchers to take up the slack, his absence can be overcome. Jerry was taken to St. Joseph Mercy hospital, Ann Arbor, where he was expected to spend a day or two, and will then return to school, cast and all. The team wishes Jerry, an outstanding competitor, the best of luck and a very speedy recovery.

Extension Clubs Spring Party Scheduled Monday

The annual spring party of Home Extension clubs in this area, designated as District No. IV, is to be held Monday evening, May 2, at St. Paul's church hall in Chelsea.
The affair begins with an evening luncheon at 7 p.m.
The evening's program will feature Arnold Girbach of near Saline, who spent six months of the past year in Portugal as an International Farm Youth Exchange delegate (IFYE).
Girbach will tell of his experiences and will show the many pictures he took during his stay.
Special music arranged for the program will include vocal selections by the Chellettes, a group of Chelsea High School singers.
Business at the meeting customarily includes election of new district representatives.
Individual clubs in the district will display exhibits of projects of the past year and winning exhibits will be selected.

"Eggs Have Real... Three Meal Appeal" is the slogan used by the Michigan Allied Poultry Industries to promote the use of Michigan eggs. The State of Michigan is helping by proclaiming April "Michigan Egg Month" and April 22 as "Michigan Egg Day." Here, Gov. Williams makes the proclamation official with the aid of Luther C. Klosser, Manchester, president of MAPI, and Mrs. Edmund F. Miller, Jr., Lansing, keeper of a flock of 6,000 laying hens.

Summer is just around the corner and many families will soon be planning their vacations. For the mother of several young girls, one of the problems of family vacationing is that of keeping the youngsters fresh and attractive-looking while traveling or while staying in places away from home. The new fabrics are the answer to this problem. A navy blue dress of cotton and dacron with a white collar or vestee is perfect for travel, or a play suit of striped blue and white, if one is driving through sunny climes. Be sure to take one of the new sweaters along, and a red blazer will add a bright note to many costumes. Light colored rain-coats are also fashionable of Dacron and cotton, and tend to make a rainy day more cheerful than it would otherwise be.

Pro-Wrestling Show Comes To Dexter Thursday, May 5

The big professional wrestling card at Dexter High school on Thursday, night, May 5, promises to be one of the greatest mat programs ever presented in this area. The matches, sponsored by the senior class, will feature nationally and internationally known ring stars, including Dick "Mr. Michigan" Garza and Bulldog Brower. As a special added attraction there will be a six-man Australian tag-team bout following the first three scheduled matches. During this tag bout midweights will be in the ring with heavyweights.

Dick "Mr. Michigan" Garza will meet Bulldog Brower in the ring for one of the headlined attractions. Garza's incredible strength will be pitted against the brutality and aggressiveness of Brower, whose tenacity and ruggedness have made him a ring legend.

Other matches scheduled include midweight Bouncing Bernie Burke and Irish Jackie, who will clash in the ring, and a match in which Louie Papineau will meet "Dynamite" Johnny Gates.

Irish Jackie

Irish Jackie's family name is Cusick. He was born in Lochmore, Ireland 22 years ago. When he was nine years old his family migrated to this country and settled in Flint. He attended Flint General High school. He engaged in baseball, football, wrestling and other athletic activities. During the summer he traveled with a circus as an acrobat, and had a promising future in this field until a sudden accident put an end to his acrobatics. He has made some Hollywood pictures.

Other midweight wrestlers have described his punch as unusually strong. He weighs 80 pounds and is 41 inches tall and a real little bundle of dynamite. His favorite holds include the Boston-crab and the Japanese arm-lock. He is noted for his great combative spirit.

Johnny "Dynamite" Gates

Johnny "Dynamite" Gates is claimed by Windsor, Ontario as a local boy who has made good in a big way. This 195-pound wrestler stands 6'8" tall and enjoys the dubious distinction of being a wrestler whom the customers love to hate. Johnny is one of the biggest drawing cards in the business and once held the Canadian-light-heavyweight championship in the amateur wrestling ring. Though he draws the ire of the fans for his viciousness in the ring and uses any manner or means of getting out of a tough spot, he is given credit for his vast knowledge of scientific wrestling and his ability to break almost any hold which an opponent may have on him.

Louie Papineau

Louie Papineau will be matched with Johnny "Dynamite" Gates in one of the ring attractions beginning at 8:00 p.m. on Thursday, May 5. These wrestling matches are sponsored by the Dexter Senior class.

Spring Is Time For Rabid Animals To Be Found

Although Washtenaw county has had no cases of rabid animals reported so far, Michigan Department of Health figures show a sharp increase in rabies among both domestic and wild animals in other areas, said Dr. Otto K. Engelke, Washtenaw County Health Director.

Dr. Engelke stated that in March alone, there had been 14 cases of rabies in Michigan, 6 dogs, 3 cats and 5 skunks. Appearance of skunk rabies in such numbers is a unique experience this early in the year, he said.

So far no cases of rabid animals in Washtenaw county have been reported. Allegan, Clinton, Genesee, Kalamazoo and Van Buren counties have all had one or more cases.

"Now that spring weather is here," said Dr. Engelke, "domestic and wildlife species will be very active and this will increase the possibility of transmission from wildlife to domestic animals."

Dr. Engelke recommended four steps be taken to help prevent spread of rabies into this county:

1. Make certain that all dogs and cats are vaccinated.

2. Assist the county dog control program by reporting stray dogs to the Sheriff's Department.

3. Keep all domestic dogs and cats from running at large.

4. Leave all wild animals alone, particularly skunks. Any skunks brought in from the woods can be in the incubation stage of rabies, he added.

Washtenaw county has had a compulsory rabies vaccination law since 1958. It has been responsible for the virtual elimination of rabies in the county, Dr. Engelke said. Occasionally, wild animals or dogs from adjacent areas without compulsory vaccination laws are reported, but if domestic pets are prevented from running at large, the danger is lessened, even further, he concluded.

Another reason for keeping dogs restrained is the annual rash of dog bites, he said. So far the City Health Department has had 52 dog bites reported to it since January in the city of Ann Arbor.

Looking busy has become one of the great talents in government work.

The Business and Professional Womens Club of Manchester has been selected to pick "Miss Washtenaw County" for the "Miss Michigan" title. They have set June 11 for their pageant to pick "Miss Washtenaw County" which will be held in the Manchester Civic Auditorium.

The lucky young lady who wins the "Miss Michigan" title will go to Miami Beach, Fla., to compete in the "Miss Universe" contest. The qualifications are that she must be single and 18 years of age prior to July 1, 1960. Girls interested in entering this contest for "Miss Washtenaw County" may phone or write for entry blanks to Mrs. Alma Hamaley, Garden 8-2011 or box 191, Manchester. All entries must be in by May 24.

Complete, Correct Address Needed For Mail Delivery

Although directory service for ordinary mail was discontinued by the Post Office Department ten years ago, letters continue to be received with the notation "Please Give Directory Service" or with illegible or incomplete addresses, according to Postmaster Carl J. Mayer.

First-class letter mail which cannot be delivered because of insufficient address, or which falls for other reasons to reach its intended destination, is carefully scrutinized at the address office by experienced distributors before it is returned. This does not mean, however, that city and telephone directories are searched in an effort to effect delivery.

Prior to the abolition of directory service, mailers were often not aware that they were addressing their mail improperly, as the post office was, in most cases, able to locate the addressee through the use of directories. As a result, patrons continued to address mail improperly and the post office continued to give expensive supplemental assistance. Now, however, mail addressed to carrier delivery offices which does not bear a complete street address or post office box number is usually marked "Insufficient Address" and returned. "The only exceptions," says Postmaster Mayer, "are those instances where the addressee is so well known that directory service is unnecessary."

Present regulations restrict directory service to perishable matter, parcels of obvious value, special services mail, mail from armed forces overseas, and international mail.

"If guess work is used in addressing mail intended for carrier delivery, it stands very little chance of accomplishing its mission," cautions Postmaster Mayer. "On the other hand, mail showing the full name of the addressee, the correct street address or box number, and, of course, the city and state, has most of the basic equipment for reaching its goal."

THANK YOU

My sincere thanks to my neighbors, relatives and friends for their thoughtful kindnesses to me and my family while I was a patient at the hospital and since my return home. Everything is deeply appreciated.

Mrs. Leo Clark.

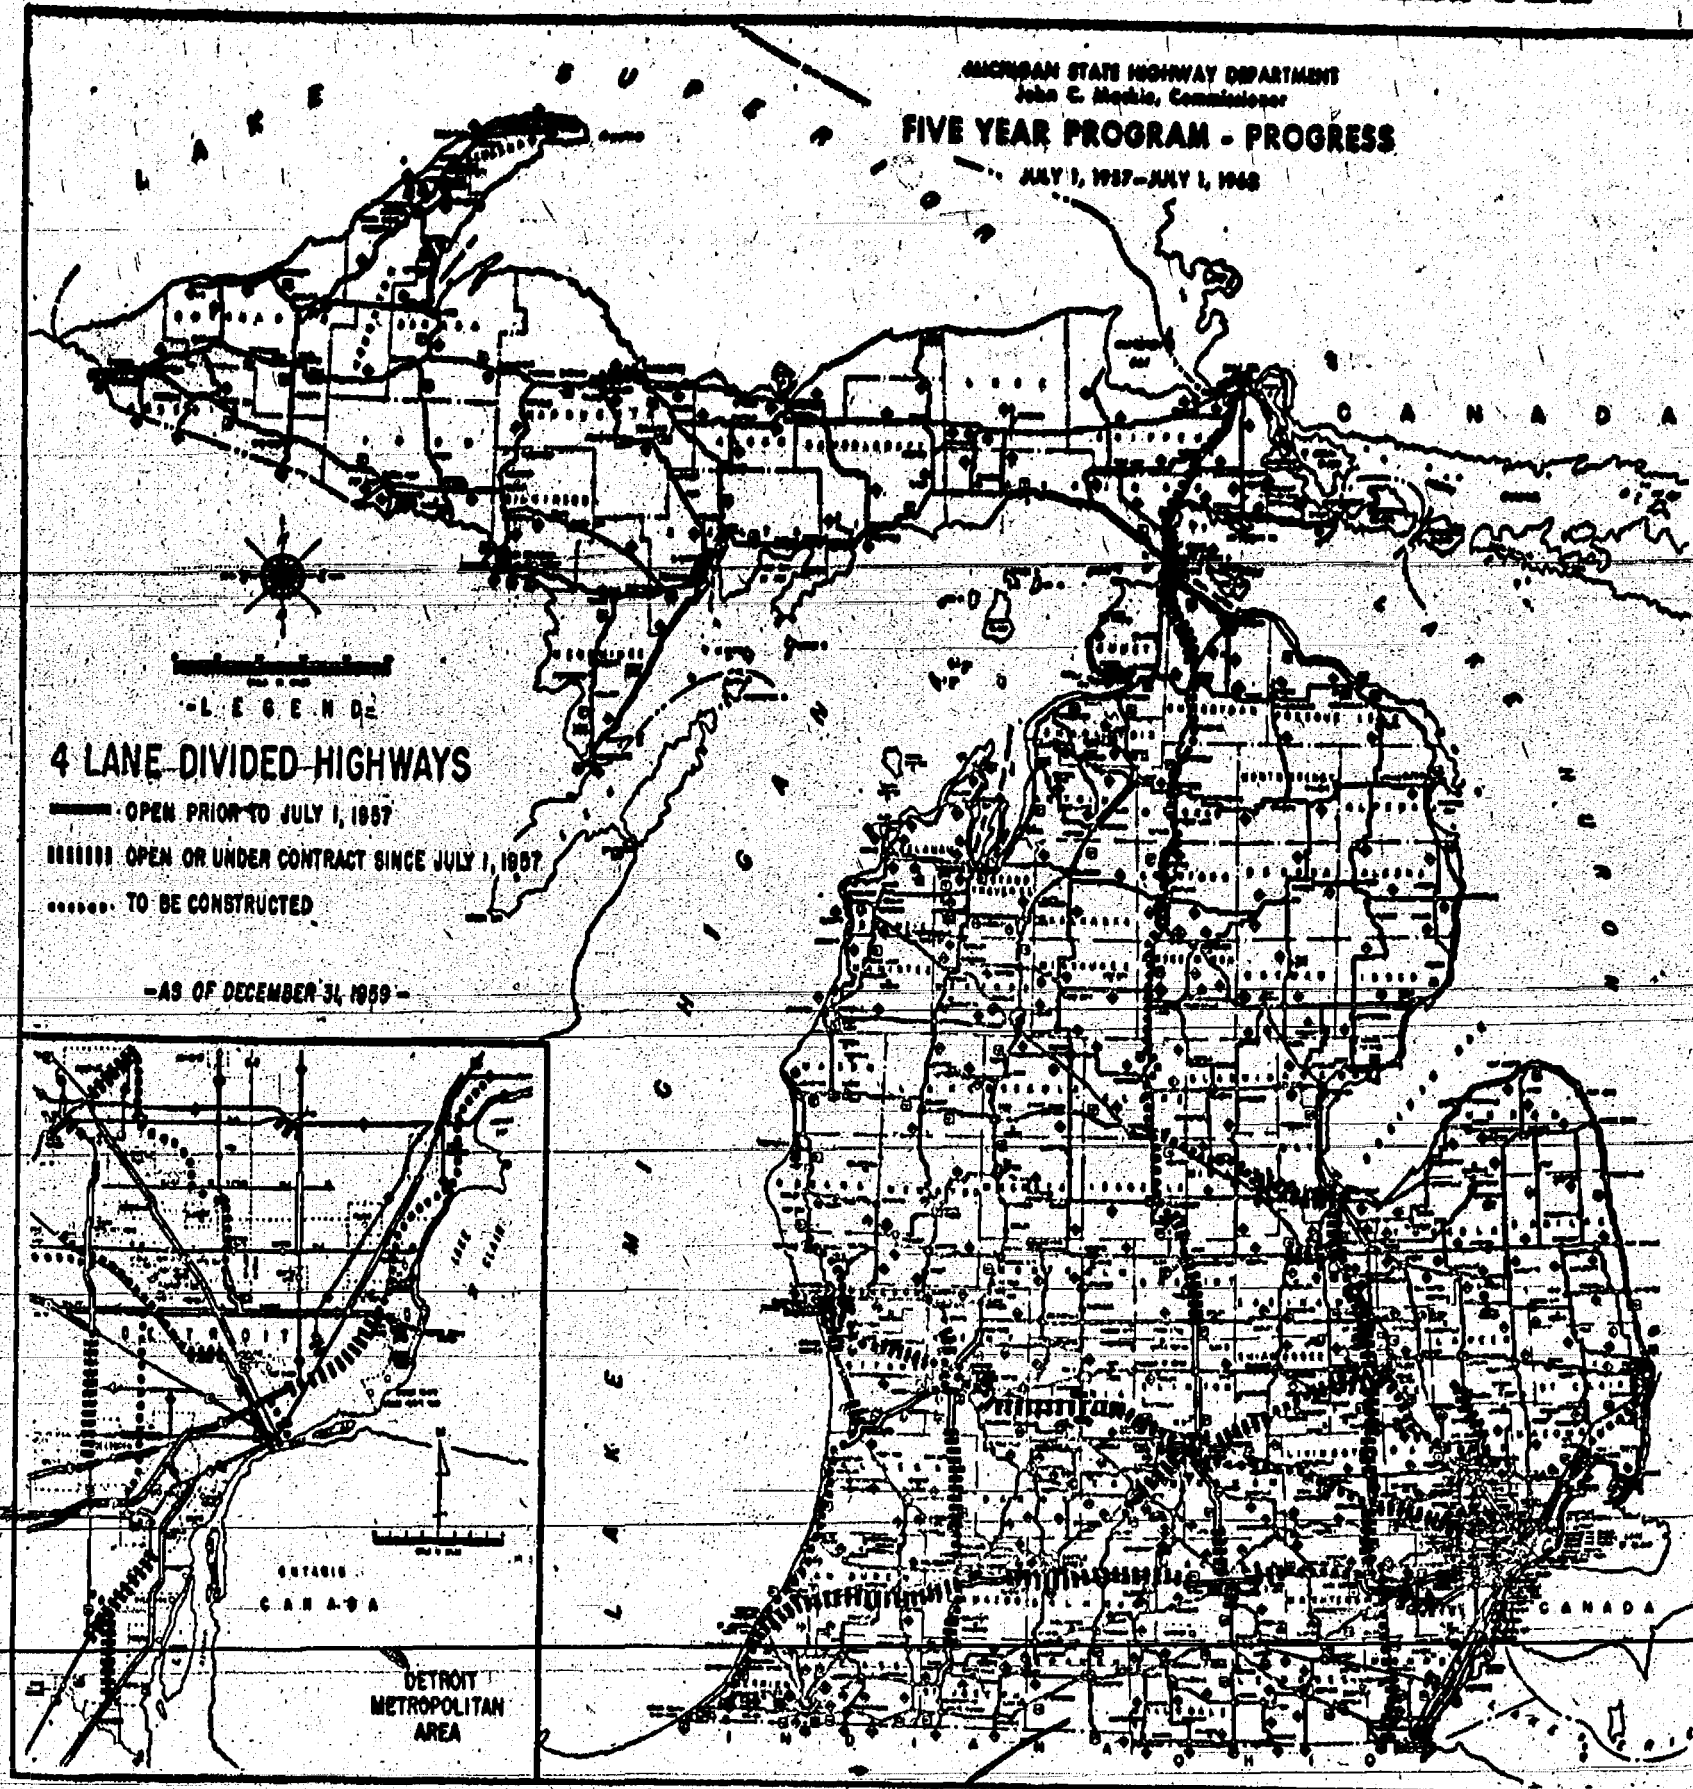

CARD ON THANKS

I wish, in this way, to thank my friends and neighbors for their kindness and thoughtfulness during my wife's illness and following her death. The many acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy are deeply appreciated.

Arthur H. Ohlgart.

FIVE-YEAR ROADBUILDING PROGRAM ON SCHEDULE

Michigan's five-year, one billion 250 million dollar highway construction is on schedule at the midway mark, according to State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie.

During the first two and one-half years—from July 1, 1957 to Dec. 31, 1959—some 418 miles of divided four-lane highway was opened to traffic and another 160 miles is now under contract.

In addition, nearly 1,000 miles of two-lane highway was modernized and the amount of gravel road mileage on the state trunkline system was reduced from 800 to 454 miles.

Final sections of the state's three major expressways—Detroit to Chicago, Detroit to Muskegon and Ohio line to Sault Ste. Marie—are scheduled to be placed under contract during final phase of the five-year program.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish by this means to extend sincere thanks to the many friends who were so kind and thoughtful, expressing sympathy by means of cards, flowers and deeply appreciated acts of kindness during our recent bereavement; also, to the Rev. Louis Calister for his comforting words.

The NATIONAL OUTLOOK

By RALPH BOBBY

★ March Employment and Unemployment

Everyone now knows that in March both employment and unemployment were a disappointment. In both categories the movement was contrary to normal seasonal behavior. Employment went down and it should have gone up; unemployment went up and it should have gone down.

The actual figures were: employment 64,287,000, a decrease of 253,000; unemployment 4,205,000, an increase of 275,000.

The seasonal correction which has been developed by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, which collects and publishes all the data on labor, is as good as can be devised. The current corrections are as follows—the size of the figure indicating whether the total should increase or decrease from the preceding month, and by what per cent:

Employment	Unemployment
Jan. 96.9	114.2
Feb. 97.0	116.3
Mar. 97.7	111.1
Apr. 98.6	103.1
May 100.1	99.4

This variation of employment, it will be noted, is not great. The low month is January and the high month is July. In contrast there is a wide variation in the number of unemployed. The low month is October and from this month to the year's high the following February, there comes a decline through May, then, as a result of persons getting out of school and looking for work, there is a sharp jump in June. The variation from the low to the high is almost seven times as great for unemployment as it is for employment.

All kinds of things cause these fluctuations, but weather is the most important, and that is officially blamed for the March showing. March, according to the United States Weather Bureau, was the coldest on record from the plains states eastward. The details of the figures support this thesis. Farm employment, which normally increases substantially in March, declined this year. Construction jobs declined by 120,000 although they usually increase, 80,000. Workers in trade activities declined rather than increased.

Some 2,000,000 full time workers were forced on to part time shifts, and over 800,000 did not get to their jobs at all during the week that the unemployment survey was made.

Two basic conclusions may be drawn. First, the counter-seasonal behavior of both employment and unemployment does not mean that we have started another recession. It means nothing in terms of the business outlook.

Secondly, the next report, that for April, should show a sizable increase in employment, and an equally large decline in unemployment. Whether the changes will be large enough to off-set the seasonal factor for both months is an open question. It should be at least this large, granting the economic trend is still upon the upgrade; and there is no evidence to justify even questioning that the recovery is continuing.

THE FARM ISSUE

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has asserted that farm issues and problems are being distorted by three Democratic Presidential aspirants.

Mr. Benson says he intends to do everything in his power to get the facts before the public to keep farmers and agriculture from being damaged in the public eye.

Dr. Harold Skidmore Accepts Church Board Post in New York

It was announced this week by the Michigan Congregational Conference that Dr. Harold N. Skidmore of East Lansing, has accepted an appointment as associate to Dr. William Kincaid Newman in the national offices of the Annuity Fund and Pension Boards of the Congregational Christian Churches in New York City.

For the past 19 years Dr. Skidmore has been Superintendent of the Michigan Conference of Congregational Christian Churches. His resignation, made public following a special meeting of the Conference Board of Trustees in East Lansing Monday, will be effective Sept. 1.

In his new position Dr. Skidmore will work primarily in the Ministerial Relief Division of the national Congregational organization, and will over-see various concerns for retired Congregational clergymen throughout the country. Residents of East Lansing since 1941, Dr. and Mrs. Skidmore will move to the New York City area in a late summer. Plans for the selection of a successor to Dr. Skidmore will be announced when the Michigan Conference holds its annual meeting in Battle Creek in mid-May.

MILITARY PAY BILL

The House Armed Services Committee has approved a bill to increase retirement pay for 114,000 officers and enlisted men.

The increases would range from $6 a year for retired privates to $4,586 a year for retired chiefs of staff.

AID TO AGED

Democratic leaders in the House of Representatives have agreed to try to add hospitalization insurance to the benefits available to the aged under the Social Security program.

The agreement came at a conference at the Capitol between House Speaker Sam Rayburn, John W. McCormack, majority leader, and Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers.

The success of the American way of life depends upon the public schools of the nation.

NEWS

With half a million dollars invested in their Arizona ranch, Stewart Granger and wife Jean Simons are optimistic that this year of 1960 will see a profit on their investment. They have put all their earnings into the 10,000 acres and the best cattle that money can buy.

Gale Storm, exhausted after eight years of TV series, and her recent back operation, promises to take it easy for most of the rest of 1960.

Princess Grace and her Rainier will be hosting Ingrid Bergman in Monte Carlo when she tapes "24 Hours In The Life Of A Woman" this June. Swedish Ingrid plays an English widow in this one.

Elvis Presley's price per spectacular is now $150,000 by order of his manager, Colonel Parker. The man who made Presley a millionaire has also decreed that Elvis will own a big part of whatever he does, movies, television, records, and anything else.

Marilyn Monroe is filling the six cashmere sweaters husband Arthur Miller brought back from his trip to see John Huston in Ireland.

The happiest lad in the United States is Alan Ladd's actor son, David. Because his hero Ingemar Johannson, who taught him how to box while acting for his father, will train at Alah's hidden valley ranch for the big fight with Patterson.

Tommy Sands telephoned Nancy Sinatra from Australia with the good news that he's bringing her some black opals from down under, to be set with diamonds. Mr. Sands can afford it. He's currently getting $18,000 a week, plus expenses. Meantime Nancy is proudly sporting the five-carat diamond given her by Tommy.

STORY ON PAGE ONE

Written and directed by Clifford Odets, "The Story on Page One" is a hard-hitting often tense account of the trial for murder of a man and a woman accused of shooting the latter's loud-mouthed bully of a husband.

Although, by means of the good old flashback system, the audience is apprised early in the game of what went on, and who is guilty of what, this doesn't eliminate the element of excitement to be derived from the trial itself.

Rita Hayworth (deglamorized and really acting for once) does an excellent job as the accused wife, who is presented as an essentially good woman, a fine mother, who is driven into an affair because of her husband's propensity for meanness. Her lover, portrayed as a pleasant, decent, mother-dominated widower who has just lost a son in an auto accident, is played, surprisingly enough, by Gig Young, who departs from his more familiar comedy style role in this instance. Anthony Franciosa is splendid as the intense young defense lawyer, while Mildred Dunnock is perfect as a possessive mother, and Katherine Squires is equally splendid as a devoted one.

Well worth seeing.

THE POLARIS MISSILE

The United States is prepared to equip Western Europe with Polaris missiles when they are ready about September, 1961. These specially designed missiles could be launched from mobile platforms on land or rivers.

An authoritative source said that this plan, now before the North Atlantic Treaty Council, was one of the reasons behind the British decision to abandon development of fixed-base long-range missiles.

Track Team Overpowered In Two Meets

Last Thursday the Chelsea High track squad took a sound defeat from a power-laden Grass Lake team, 83-26. Chelsea's Don Sexton was the meet's only double winner as he won both the high jump and the broad jump. Don's leap of 5 ft. 7 in. set a new Chelsea high school record. Sexton emerged as the second-place finisher in the 440-yd. dash to account for 13 of the 28 points. Chelsea's other first went to the medley relay team of Don Ousley, Bill Coltra, Al Schauer and Larry Cattell. Jim Maynard took second in the high hurdles as did Don Wilson in the half mile. Dal Ferris rounded out Chelsea's scoring by placing third in both dashes.

On Tuesday of this week the Chelsea track team lost a heart-breaker to Ypsil Roosevelt, 55-54.

Three boys accounted for seven firsts for the Bulldogs. Dave McLaughlin, back in action after a week's inactivity with a knee injury, paced the Bulldogs as he won three events, the shot put and both the high and low hurdles to account for 16 points. Dal Ferris was a double winner for Chelsea as he won both the 100-yd. and 220-yd. dashes. Ferris also placed second in the broad jump to account for 13 pts. Don Sexton was also a double winner as he won the broad jump and the high jump. Sexton, who in the Grass Lake meet set a new school high jump record of 20 ft. 2 inches. Don also took a second in the 440-yd. dash to account for 13 points. Jim Maynard took second in the high hurdles and third in the shot put to pick up 4 points.

One of the most encouraging signs was the return to form of miler Pete Flintoft who ran a good mile race only to be edged out in the final few yards. Gary Cattell, running the mile for only the first time, ran a strong third. Other third places went to Al Schauer in the pole vault, Don Wilson in the half-mile and Larry Cattell in the 100- and 220-yd. dashes.

This Saturday the Chelsea squad will compete in the Tecumseh Relays at Tecumseh. Finals in the running events will begin at 1:30 p.m. On Monday the squad travels to Brooklyn.

New Official State Road Map To Be Published

Lansing—The first official state highway map in two years will be published by the Michigan State Highway Department soon.

Otis Hardy, Director of the Department's Motorist Services and Reports Division, said specifications for the new map have been sent to half a dozen map makers and bids will be opened May 11.

Six hundred thousand maps will be printed for free distribution. "We would like very much to have the new maps by the last week in June so they could be made available to the thousands of tourists who will flock to Michigan during the Fourth of July week-end but it's too early to say whether it can be done," Hardy said.

"However, we definitely will have maps in early July," Hardy noted that commercial reproduction of the official state highway map by private concerns, on payment of a small royalty to the state, has been authorized since 1958 when the map was copyrighted for the first time on orders of Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie.

He said only one concern has reproduced the map to date. Nearly 165 miles of new highway—mostly freeways—will appear for the first time on the new map, Hardy said.

The Highway Department's mapping and graphic section is now making final revisions of a large base map which will be used by the successful bidder to prepare the new state map, he added.

GREAT SNAKES!

Corpus Christie, Tex.—For good, fresh rattlesnake steaks it's hard to beat George Dismuke's ranch here. The 17-year-old boy not only will sell you live rattlesnakes for cooking at $1.50 a pound, he'll also sell you eighteen ways the meat can be prepared.

Dismuke estimates he rounds up 500 snakes a month. He also supplies frogs, alligators and other reptiles to zoos and restaurants.

Mothers Interested In Brownies Asked To Attend Meeting

The Chelsea Neighborhood of Girl Scouts is sponsoring a meeting of mothers of second and third grade girls who are interested in the Brownie program. The meeting will be held May 5 at 3:45 p.m. in the South School all-purpose room. Kay Kimball, district director, will be present to speak in explanation of the program and to encourage the support of the mothers in the work.

Mrs. Wally Impola, Brownie organizer, has announced that two new troops will be started this fall; however, one troop needs a co-leader to work with Mrs. Franklin Gee. Mrs. Impola and Mrs. Gerald Frisbie will lead the other. These troops are for the present second graders. There is one troop of third graders now, but there are several third grade girls on a waiting list. If enough interest is shown a troop will be organized for them.

Mrs. Impola, in announcing the meeting, said "mothers of these girls must realize that only through their active interest will their daughters be able to participate."

She said committee women are also needed for the new troops.

Mrs. Impola mentioned that a "Sing-o-Rama" is being planned for May 16, one of the first projects to be arranged in accordance with the new policy of the Chelsea Girl Scout Neighborhood—that of promoting more inter-troop activities.

Rep. James Warner Seeks Re-Election to Legislature

Expressing a conviction that Michigan citizens, especially Washtenaw county residents, "are more tax-conscious today than ever before," State Representative James Warner announced today that he will seek re-election to the Michigan legislature to continue a fight for "more economies" in operations of the state government.

Rep. Warner, seeking a third consecutive term in the State House of Representatives, will be a candidate in the Aug. 2 primary for the Republican nomination as representative from Washtenaw county's Second District. He was first elected in 1956, filling the post left vacant by the death of his father, the late Rep. Joseph Warner, who had been the District's representative in Lansing for 30 years.

In announcing his candidacy today, Rep. Warner said, "The average citizen is carrying a tremendous tax load, and I'm firmly convinced that people of the state of Michigan, especially the Washtenaw county area, are more tax-conscious today than ever before."

"People expect to pay for necessary functions of good state government, but they also expect the legislature and administration to be as careful and economical in spending the tax dollar as they would be with their own pocket-books."

A member of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee continuously since elected to the legislature, Rep. Warner said he has fought "to eliminate waste and make for more economies in certain departments of state government."

Recently, he voted against pay raises for Legislators and all other state officials, "for the simple reason that if we don't have the money in the state treasury, we can't afford any raises."

The incumbent is believed to be the only representative with two large state universities and a large institution—Ypsilanti State Hospital—in his immediate district. The hospital, plus Eastern Michigan University and the University of Michigan, are receiving "direct appropriations from the legislature this year of more than $45,000,000, not counting tuition, fees and other charges," he explained.

Rep. Warner more than a year ago introduced a resolution to permit voters to decide at the April 1960 spring election whether they favored increasing the state sales tax levy in order to end Michigan's financial plight, but the issue was defeated in the legislature. However, he helped sponsor the same resolution which was overwhelmingly passed by the House recently, placing the sales tax hike before voters in the November general election.

Compared to a state income tax, Rep. Warner commented, a 1 percent hike in the sales tax levy "is far more equitable, and the vast majority of citizens in this area would prefer it rather than be burdened with another income tax which is adopted at 2 percent could be revised upward as the federal income tax."

Rep. Warner, 60, a life-long Ypsilanti area resident, is a former dairyman, farmer, and businessman. He was president of the Ypsilanti Board of Commerce four years ago, and formerly served on the County Board of Supervisors as director of the State Bureau of Dairying and as president of the Michigan Allied Dairy Association.

Rep. Warner and his wife, Marion, married since 1921, live at 1305 Grant St. in Ypsilanti. They have two married daughters and seven grandchildren.

County Conference on Aging Set for Saturday at Saline

Mrs. Daniel Ling, director of the Ann Arbor Senior Citizens Guild, said yesterday that more than 50 organizations in Washtenaw county are sending delegates to the April 30 Washtenaw County Conference on Aging to be held at Saline High school. A total of approximately 125 representatives are expected to be present.

Mrs. Ling and Anthony Lenzler, also of Ann Arbor, are co-chairmen for Saturday's conference which precedes the Region II Conference on Aging to be held at Adrian, in the Consumers Power Co. building, on Monday, at 8 p.m.

Registration at the Saline meeting is set for 9 a.m. with the general session scheduled to begin at 9:30.

Saline Mayor Frank Deede and Leo Jensen, superintendent of Saline Area schools will welcome the delegates and Anthony Lenzler will explain the purposes of the conference. Lenzler is executive secretary of the Michigan Legislative Advisory Council on Problems of Aging.

The entire Washtenaw county committee on planning for the conference will participate in an unrehearsed panel discussion on changing the "image" of aging to a more positive one in keeping with the conference theme "Aging—A Plus Side of Life."

In order to accomplish this change in the outlook and actions of the aging, the panel will discuss three areas of responsibility—that of the senior citizen's responsibility to himself; the community's responsibility to the senior citizen; and, finally, the senior citizen's responsibility to the community.

Acceptance of responsibility, the conference will attempt to prove, helps the aging man or woman to gain respect, benefits resulting from this feeling of respect including a change to a positive attitude toward the later years of life—the years with a greater degree of freedom of action and freedom to "be yourself" and do the things there was no time for during the years when children were growing up.

Problems and recommendations gleaned from Saturday's meeting will be reported, along with those from the other four counties in Region II will be reported at the Region II Conference on Aging to be held Monday at Adrian. Other counties in Region II are Monroe, Lenawee, Hillsdale and Jackson.

The county and regional meetings are being held in preparation for the State Conference on Aging. The state meeting, in turn, precedes the White House Conference scheduled for January, 1961.

All interested people in the county are welcome to attend both the Washtenaw county meeting at Saline on Saturday and the Regional meeting at Adrian on Monday.

Charles Trinkle Family Lives on Place Known Here as Mystery Farm No. 95

Mystery Farm No. 95, originally published identification in the April 21 edition of the Standard, was quickly identified as the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Trinkle and family on Trinkle Rd. Owners of the farm are Trinkle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Trinkle who now live in a new home they built at 947 Steinbach Rd. at the opposite end of the farm.

Mystery Farm No. 95 is another of the area farms that have remained in the same family for years. The present owners, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Trinkle, have worked it on a partnership basis with eventual purchase of the place as his goal.

Mr. Wilbert Trinkle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bauer, at the farm 55 years ago and there until 1926 when the Trinkles bought it. Mrs. Trinkle is the former Bar of feeder and beef cattle are kept on the Trinkle road farm, while 850 feeder lambs, 100 ewes and a large number of swine are quartered and pastured on the Erwin Trinkle place.

The Trinkles raise all the heifers they require for replacements in their herd, composed principally of grade-Holsteins.

Principal crops on the Trinkle road farm are wheat, oats, corn and hay.

Wilbert Trinkle and sons also are in the hay and straw business; have a fertilizer sales contract, and in addition, find time to do custom work, such as silo filling, corn picking and combining.

Another son of the Wilbert Trinkle, Harold, lives on a farm across the road from the Charles Trinkle place.

A fourth son, Carl, was killed when struck by an automobile in Ann Arbor in 1933 when he was seven years old.

The Wilbert Trinkle put up all the buildings on the Charles Trinkle farm, with the exception of the main barn, during the time they lived on the place.

Since the above photo was taken last fall, the Charles Trinkle erected a big open style stock barn, 20 by 70 feet in size, including a shop area.

The men at Bless Elevator were the first to call The Standard office with the correct identification of the Charles Trinkle home.

Others who called include Mrs. Harold Wahl, Wilbert Trinkle, Bob Jacobs, Walter Trinkle, Mrs. Walter Beutler, Mrs. Charles Trinkle and William K. Stark.

Progress Being Made in Attempts To Prevent Air Pollution by Exhausts

As research work progresses in the laboratories of the auto makers, the petroleum refiners and many others, the road tests checking effectiveness and searching out weak points, it becomes apparent that the long-baffling problem of stripping exhaust fumes of their noxious properties is nearing solution.

The most impressive evidence of this, perhaps, comes from Los Angeles (where the concern over smog has been most vocal). Here, 80 school buses are completing their fourth year of testing afterburner mufflers of stainless steel, in which the exhaust gases from the engines are burned again, consuming about 97 per cent of the remaining hydrocarbons. There are, in addition, no less than four other types of equipment for this purpose in various stages of development and testing.

But, however impressive the accomplishments of the scientists and engineers, there still remains the big hurdle of adapting effective test units to mass production at costs that are in line with what Mr. and Mrs. America have learned to expect from their automotive dollar. We think they are prepared, however, to pay for this increasingly vital advance in automotive engineering and ask in return just two things:

First, if they are to pay for this protection for the other fellow they want to be assured that he will do the same for them. In other words, once the afterburner or other exhaust purifier is a production item, it must be as mandatory as brakes, or lights or horn.

Second, it must stand up. It must continue functioning under the most rugged service conditions and at minimum maintenance or service cost. There are already enough "gadgets" available.

These are demands that the car manufacturer should anticipate and consider. He must build it well and still price it reasonably.

In facing up to its responsibility for providing anti-pollution exhaust systems, the industry should be fully aware that unless it does the job effectively, and to the satisfaction of the public, Congress will write the rules.

Psychologists say no person should keep too much to himself. We're sure the Internal Revenue Service is of the same opinion.

★ MICHIGAN MIRROR ★

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

If your political tensions are soaring during this election year, take heart: Michigan law makes it possible for the average voter to take an active part in many areas of politics.

First, state law opens the nominating process to all voters through the direct primary. Secondly, state law makes every effort to see that the average citizen can vote and even take part in running the election machinery.

Under Michigan's primary election law voters nominate the governor, lieutenant governor, members of the legislature, United States senators and representatives in Congress, and all county officials.

No one needs party sanction nor the approval of any group to run for office. Any qualified voter may become a candidate and circulate nominating petitions.

All you need is a few signatures and your name will appear on the primary ballot. The number needed is small. For governor, for instance, a candidate needs signatures equal in number to only one per cent of the vote cast in the last general election for his party's candidate for secretary of state.

If you run for a state office the secretary of state will tell you how many signatures you need. If you run for a local office, the county clerk can give you the information.

If you cannot get the required number of signatures you may, in some instances, pay a filing fee and get your name on the ballot anyway.

This right is limited to candidates for county offices and for the state legislature where the county alone sends one or more representatives to the legislature. The fee is $100 and if the candidate is nominated, or is a runner-up, the fee is returned. Otherwise it goes into the general fund. The filing fee method of securing a place on the primary ballot is not widely used. However, it is a process, but it guarantees that minorities, no matter how small or unsuccessful, can always appear directly to the voters in a general election.

It has kept minority parties such as the Prohibition party, Socialist Labor, and Socialist Worker

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Right about now the folks in this country are as busy as a bobtailed bull in fly time. The mob-folks is putting the final touches on Form 1040 and Item 4 Minus Item 3, and the wimmen is trying to get their Easter outfit as loud and conspicuous as possible.

It would be fitten and proper this year to call April the "Uicer Month" on account of what that doctor in Chicago said the other day. He allowed as how ulcers was strictly a 20th-century disease. He said they was caused by cars, taxes, and wimmen's hats. Taxes and wimmen's hats is what we'll have the most of this April, and cars is more plentiful than ever.

Them insurance companies that figgers these things out claims that more and more passengers will get killed every year as cars get thicker on our city streets. But I think mother nature will help out in this situations. As cars get thicker, the jump of the pedestrian will get longer and longer and quicker and quicker, helping to hold the casualty list down a little.

As for wimmen's hats, the outlook ain't so bright. In fact, it ain't never looked worse. They're putting everything on 'em now but a sprinkling of salt and pepper and I expect to see some of that at church some Sunday. Considering the kind of clothes wimmen wear these days, it seems a great waste of time to spend so much of it on designing wimmen's hats. They ain't one feller in a hundred this day and time that ever looks at a wimmen's hat. For instant, I was walking down the means of opening the primary election to more candidates.

Michigan law protects not only individuals, but it protects groups. The major parties are protected not only by statute, but by the fact that they have a large, active following.

Minority parties may not have much of a following, but in Michigan the law safeguards their right to express their opinions and compete for support through the election process.

Any minority party can get a place on the ballot by filing with the secretary of state petitions bearing names equal to one per cent of the vote for the successful candidate for secretary of state in the last general election. In this year's election, according to the secretary of state's office, this would mean that a new party would have to file petitions bearing 12,708 names.

A party which was on the ballot in the general election might receive so few votes that it would be dropped from the ballot in the next election. This happened to all the minority parties in 1958, but they can get back on the ballot just as if they were a new party.

However, since none of the minority parties polled as much as five per cent of the total vote cast for all candidates for secretary of state in the 1958 general election, they can't take part in the August primary this year.

Instead, they must nominate all their candidates at conventions or caucuses and certify the names to the secretary of state. Then if they petition to get their party back on the ballot these candidates can run in the November election.

This may seem like a tedious process, but it guarantees that minorities, no matter how small or unsuccessful, can always appear directly to the voters in a general election.

It has kept minority parties such as the Prohibition party, Socialist Labor, and Socialist Worker street Saturday behind a woman wearing one of them "gaze-magood" dresses and I couldn't tell you today to save my life if she was bare headed or wearing a sun bonnet.

Some feller claimed here a while back that wimmen was getting more bow-legged all the time on account of these big ear-bobs was causing 'em to bend a little, but I think what they're wearing on their head is also helping it along.

As for taxes and their effect on the ulcer situation, it would take a whole issue of your paper, Mister Editor, for me just to jot down a brief outline, so I won't go into the matter at this time.

Well, I better stop exposing the wimmen and get to doing some of my chores around the house. My old lady says I'm getting pretty sorry in my old age. I told her I've noted that no matter how sorry a feller gets, a hound dog will take up with him and some woman will always marry him. That was yesterday and she ain't spoke to me since.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Executive Asks Change in Business Climate

In 1919 Glenn Bixby was 10 years old and in high school in Cass City in Tuscola county. He had been born in the nearby village of Deckerville, where his father had been a carpenter.

Young Bixby was a top student and athlete. Most important, he had faith in the teaching that in this great nation of opportunity any young man could achieve his dreams through hard work and courage.

In Detroit that same year, a group of 45-a-day Ford workers were possessed of a similar vision and a similar faith. There were 17 of them, each skilled more or less in the craft of toolmaking.

These Ford employees started a part-time business at night, manufacturing tools. They foresaw tremendous industrial growth in the east and midwest, and especially in Michigan.

They were called stupid visionaries when they finally quit their safe jobs at Ford to form their own company.

They called their little company Ex-Cell-O Corporation.

Today, Ex-Cell-O does an annual business of $150,000,000. It makes many products, from machinery to milk cartons.

Today, Glenn Bixby is president of Ex-Cell-O, and a director of a dozen other enterprises in this state.

Getting through college was a financial problem, but Bixby managed to earn most of the money that paid his way in Ann Arbor. He was graduated with an A.B.

by the University of Michigan in

The following year Bixby went to work for the General Motors employees. Within 12 months he was made assistant secretary of Ex-Cell-O. The climb had started that was to lead to the top. The dream was becoming reality.

The story of Ex-Cell-O is the story of Michigan since the first World War—constant growth, freedom to expand, mounting income for workers and for employers—and then the frustrating period in which industry became a target in this state for condemnation and attack.

Less than a decade ago, no official of Ex-Cell-O dreamed of expanding anywhere in the United States outside of Michigan. This was a Michigan firm, created and nurtured by Michigan men. Its heart was here, and its faith in the future.

Yet in the last few years Ex-Cell-O has been moving out. The company today has five plants in Ohio and one in Indiana. If these new plants were in the East or in California, the requirements of a competitive market could be an excuse.

But the plants are next door to Michigan and have operations exactly like the operations which are on a decreasing scale in Michigan.

With regret and sadness, Bixby gave the reasons for the trend at a meeting last week of the Detroit Economic Club. At the same time, he proposed a remedy.

Discussing economic climate, he pointed out that Michigan has been losing jobs while employing neighboring states has been increasing, and that Michigan's per capita income is lower than that of Ohio, Indiana, and Pennsylvania.

He said: "Morality, in the thinking and actions of government officials and the error down. We talk about justice and equality under the law, but these appear as idle phrases.

"When we examine the political climate of Michigan, we are palled. There is great ineptness on the executive, legislative and on a large part of our judicial branch of the state government by a small group of people who expound philosophies which actually opposes to job opportunities."

Bixby revealed that the first that Ex-Cell-O's tax bill in Michigan is 2 1/2 times higher than in Ohio, 1 1/2 higher than in Indiana.

"Business does not seek to favor," Bixby said, "but it asks for an even break toward opportunity—to make a profit. If business cannot do job opportunities in Michigan are competitive, it becomes easy to look elsewhere for locations."

Bixby's solution is a change in the atmosphere in Lansing, business and labor and government can work together harmoniously to produce a million new jobs.

He asked elevation of business men to the status of first citizens.

Education Appropriations Receive Attention

While the legislature is in recess, conference committees are seeking to iron out differences between the Senate and the House of Representatives on certain measures.

One that is receiving conference attention is the appropriation for education. For many of our institutions of higher learning, agreement has been reached on the appropriations. The final decisions, I believe, are inadequate, but that is where the appropriations stand.

In three instances, Wayne State University, Northern Michigan College and the College of Mining and Technology, the appropriations have not been resolved and are being studied by conference committees. It is my sincere hope that the Republican controlled Senate will see fit to replace the amounts by which it reduced the House appropriations for those schools. In the case of Wayne State, it amounts to $600,000. For the College of Mining and Engineering it is $129,000 and for Northern Michigan it is $26,800.

It is never sound business to short change education. Northern Michigan and the College of Mining and Technology meet important needs in our educational system. They serve the young people of our Upper Peninsula, many of whom could not continue their college education if they were forced to go to college elsewhere. Michigan Tech attracts many students from the Lower Peninsula and other parts of the world and is considered an outstanding college in its field. To short change them would do serious harm.

You have heard and read that the legislature has not seriously hampered our educational program by reducing my recommendation of $112 million for education to $109 million. That is not the complete picture.

Because of Michigan's serious financial situation, I recommended minimum appropriations. Appropriation requests from our education institutions totaled $134.8 million. This was slashed to $112 million before it went to the legislature.

Even if the appropriations for education which I recommended were met, our colleges and universities would continue on austere budgets. This points up the necessity for a realistic look at our education appropriations by the next legislature. New money must be provided for state institutions either by an increase in the sales tax or by an income tax. When the new source of revenue is determined, it must be certain that education will be given appropriations sufficient to the requirements for progress. Facilities must be expanded. Facilities must be provided so that our outstanding faculty members will remain must hold to the high standards which have made our Michigan colleges and universities outstanding throughout the world.

To do less would stunt intellectual growth and delay industrial progress. The hand in hand. Failure to fund education will inevitably lead to industrial decline.

A bill which provides a state-wide curfew of 10 p.m. under 12 years old and night for those between 12 and 19 years arrived on my desk week. This is a bill on which I great diagrams among pers who have made the studies of juvenile behavior cause of these varying opinions. I decided not to sign this bill.

Chevy middleweight shows the big rigs how it's done!

That's a 6303 medium-duty Chevrolet powered by a 283-cu.-in. V8. But there's sure nothing medium-duty about the load. Mr. J. E. Blankinship, Arkansas logging contractor, says both of his torsion-spring 6303's "move along at 40 to 50 miles per hour with 55,000 pounds gross weight and maintain a 3-trip-a-day schedule with no trouble at all." Figure the money you save when you've got a medium-duty truck that can cover 30,000 back-country miles a year with a high-tonnage load!

We've never seen anything like the amount of praise truck owners are heaping on Chevy's new torsion spring suspension. Owners like the fact the truck handles a whole lot easier, can move faster off the road without beating the driver to death and shaking loose all the sheet metal. They like the idea of extra thousands of miles before trade-in. . . . Drive a '60 Chevy just once. It's a whole new experience.

Charles Laughton's 90-minute "A Midsummer Night's Dream," filmed in London and originally planned for Ford Starline, will now be held back by producer Hubbell Robinson until next season, when it will be aired as a special.

The first-year homemaking girls are planning their dream homes. With the help of their teacher, Miss Doris Volk, they have learned more about the "basics" of interior decoration. After learning about coordinating colors, each girl brought examples from magazines. They have just finished working on furniture problems they have in their own bedrooms.

When the second-year home economics girls have finished their action unit, they will advance into "consumer education." They will learn how, why, and where to buy goods.

President Richard Halst called a sophomore class meeting April 13 to decide whether to change the $10 dues. Treasurer Velma Wiseman listed cash on hand ($100.00) as $1,023.84. It was explained that the dues go into the Junior-Senior Prom fund, and any excess would be transferred to the Trip Club. Suggestions and arguments were presented for rates of dues. It was decided that a vote by ballot would be held in home rooms the following day. Results showed a retention of the $10 rate.

Bard has been improving its ability to play the songs to be sung by the chorus, which will accompany, at the spring concert. The date for Bob-lo has been discussed but has not definitely been chosen.

Due to the Minstrel show, only the members of chorus who are participating in it have been attending choir. Extra rehearsals of special groups have been called frequently, hence the change.

Disappointed donors to the funds of the McKune Memorial Library will now find that their names, previously omitted through error have now been added to the donors' book.

The 125 books provided by the Chrysler Corporation to help commemorate the 125th anniversary celebration have now been purchased, processed, and are on the shelves. The completed list may be seen upon request.

The library, first as the Chelsea Public Library, and now as the McKune Memorial Library, has now completed 15 consecutive years of membership in the Literary Guild, which supplies (for a price) from five to seven books each month, at least five of which are children's books.

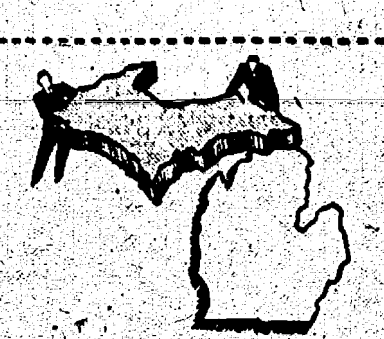

The Golden Record Library, consisting of 12 long-playing records, is now available. Topics on the records include songs we sing together, the instruments of the orchestra, great classical music, story-songs from the Bible, folk songs of America, American patriotic and marching songs, great classic treasury of fairy tales, America on the move, the best of Gilbert and Sullivan, music of the great composers, dances for everyone, songs of faith, prayer, and hymns.

Conference Baseball Race Underway

The weather has been wonderful and the spring sports season has really gotten underway. This University of Detroit 9, Central Michigan 2 (1st game), Michigan 2 (1st game), University of Detroit 10, Central Michigan 1 (2nd game), Southern Illinois 6, Eastern Michigan 5 (1st game), Southern Illinois 5, Eastern Michigan 3 (2nd game).

The University of Michigan relay squads dominated the annual Ohio Relays Saturday by winning five events. Hayes Jones of Eastern Michigan also won with a new meet record in the 120-yard high hurdles.

Big Barry MacKay smashed to a straight set win over Neal Fraser of Australia, to win the River Oaks Invitational Tennis Tournament at Houston.

It took MacKay only one hour and 25 minutes to turn back Fraser, 7-5, 6-3, 6-4. Fraser was guilty of 15 errors, with many of them at the net.

On the collegiate scene, Michigan's baseball team, now sporting a 2-1 conference record, will remain in Big Ten competition, while the Wolverines track, tennis, and golf teams will all swing into action.

Of course when you mention baseball, you can't forget the Tigers who have really been doing a terrific job.

Last Saturday morning on our program, we had Ray Meyer, a Michigan scout for the Detroit Tigers as our special guest, and Ray apparently is impressed with Bill DeWitt as much as this reporter was when we met earlier in the year. The fans, too, have certainly been impressed with Bill's desire to make the Tigers into a winning ball team. The big trade he made with Cleveland sure has the Tigers and Michigan fans looking for what some may call a "Pie in the sky," but after all, one of our friends commented on Sunday, "If they start thinking they're that good, they just might convince themselves, and then watch out!"

The Lakeview baseball race still looks like it will shape into just as good a battle as did the football and basketball battles. Pinckney certainly pulled a surprise when they topped Manchester in last week's action. All in all, it looks like it will be a good race.

As president of the Huron Valley Babe Ruth league, I'm enjoying watching the fellows who have been in that program for the past couple of years really developing into ball players. As any scout will tell you, you've got to play a lot of baseball to improve at the game, and the summer baseball programs of a community offer boys a chance to play a lot. I only wish we could see a rejuvenation of the old town teams that used to play every Sunday afternoon. As it is now, it's difficult for a fellow over 15 or 16 to find a place to play.

The pro basketball Minneapolis Lakers are negotiating to move to Los Angeles.

Bob Short, owner of the Lakers, and Walter Brown, boss of the Boston Celtics, have been meeting with the Coliseum Commission, the group that oversees the Los Angeles sports arena. Brown is sitting in as a spokesman for the National Basketball Association.

A public hearing on the matter is scheduled for this week. If the Sports Arena is available, Short says he will fly to New York to seek official NBA sanction to move the club out of Minneapolis.

Short indicates the Los Angeles arena can be leased at a favorable price.

He says, "I'm not trying to get the arena for nothing. But if we move here we'll have to make concessions to other NBA clubs." Such concessions would involve subsidized traveling. Short says he has offered NBA clubs playing in Los Angeles the additional fare from Minneapolis to Los Angeles. That would mean about $2,000 extra per trip.

They auctioned off Ebbets Field last week... memory by memory.

The famous home of the old Brooklyn Dodgers is being torn down to make room for a housing project. Objects remaining from the years of Dodger victory and sometimes defeat... were auctioned off with the proceeds going for the erection of a little league ball park to adjoin the Ebbets Field site.

Base racks, team schedules, lockers, grandstand seats, and photographs of famous Brooklyn Dodger teams were sold. Bids ranged from 25 cents to several hundred dollars. Flower pots... filled with "Ebbets Field soil"... were given away free.

The cornerstone that was laid in 1912 was opened. It contained faded photographs of former Dodger stars and Charley Ebbets and a copy of Admiral Perry's message to America from the North Pole.

There also were letters congratulating the Dodgers on opening day 45 years ago... correctly forecasting the rich baseball years in store for the Brooklyn Dodgers and Ebbets Field.

Halfway across the nation the same day, St. Louis defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers, 7-2.

Here are the week-end college baseball scores:

Albion 12, Olivet 7 (1st game)
Albion 6, Olivet 5 (2nd game)
Alma 13, Hope 7 (1st game)
Alma 7, Hope 2 (2nd game)
Purdue 4, University of Michigan 2 (1st game)
University of Michigan 5, Purdue 3 (2nd game)
Flint J-C 4, Hillsdale 3 (1st game)
Hillsdale 11, Flint J-C 4 (2nd game)
Michigan State 1 (1st game)

Bill Nieder has bettered world record in the shot put the second time this month.

The 240-pound army lieutenant, formerly of Kansas University, heaved the shot 63 feet 10 inches and one-fourth inches in a final event of the Kansas Relays at Lawrence, Kan.

The unofficial mark was 61 feet and one-quarter inches better than Barry O'Brien's world mark. It was one of Nieder's own best of 65 feet seven inches, April 2 in the Texas relays.

In the decathlon, defending champion Phil Mulkey of Michigan came from behind to win with a second 777 points. In final event, he pole vaulted 14 feet three inches. Steve Anderson of Portland, Ore., was second, 6,826 decathlon points.

A 19-year-old University of Oregon sophomore became the second American ever to run the mile under four minutes.

Dwight Burleson was clocked officially at three minutes, 58 six-tenths seconds in a dual meet at Eugene, Ore. The broke the American record of 3:58 held by California's Don Bowe.

No man knows, as few are ignorant as others think they are.

Last Friday in April Set Aside Annually as Arbor Day

The last Friday in April annually has been designated by the Governor of Michigan as Arbor Day since 1885 to give special attention to trees as they benefit man and animals. Arbor Day is a time of commemorating trees by song, words and deeds, as many schools throughout the state and nation will be participating in ceremonies of planting trees on their school grounds.

It is interesting to note that man has progressed through several stages of development in his attitude toward trees. In the very early days of history, he held trees in "spiritual" reverence and worshipped them. During the medieval times, man developed a fear of the woods, believing that evil spirits were found there, along with large-eyed owls, bats and slimy snakes.

During the pioneer days, man developed a destructive attitude about forests because they were obstacles preventing developing, and history records this devastation as the era of forest exploitation and destruction. However, in time, man discovered that the products of the forest had commercial value, and these products became marketable at home and abroad. Michigan made lumbering history during the latter part of the 19th century, when sawmills were busy all over the state, and the peak was reached in 1890 when 5 1/2 billion board feet of lumber was sawed.

After Paul Bunyan and his crew went westward, and the ravages of many forest fires left this state as a broad area of pine stumps, man's ideas about forests changed to one of conservation and wise use. A much needed study and research program had to be developed to find out more about forests and their values.

A large reforestation program was undertaken in this state after World War I, and has been continued at a rapid rate until recently. This started became the first state to reach the million-acre mark for tree plantations on private, state and federal lands.

Forests are valued for several reasons; they produce primary forest products, they produce secondary forest products, they produce food, shelter, and habitats for wildlife, they provide opportunities for outdoor recreation, they protect watersheds, regulate streamflow, check floods, and conserve soils; they serve as windbreaks, they provide opportunities for employment for woods workers, and they beautify the earth. Without the products, influences, and services of forests, it would be impossible for the people of this state and country to maintain their present high standard of living.

The so-called "white-collar" jobs are not as easy as the man in overalls sometimes thinks they are.

A live shopping center depends on two groups: wide-awake merchants and ready buyers.
